L21319 From the narration of Al-Hajjaj ibn Artah, from Abdul Malik ibn Al-Mughirah Al-Taifi, from Ibn Abbas: He was asked about an elderly man whose mental capacity is deemed deficient—should he be placed under guardianship? He replied: Yes. From the narration of Yazid ibn Hurmuz, from Ibn Abbas: He wrote to Najdah ibn Uwaymir in response to his inquiry: “You asked me about when an orphan’s orphanhood ceases. By my life, a man may grow a beard yet remain weak in managing his own affairs and deficient in dispensing from his wealth. If he begins to undertake for himself the beneficial matters that people pursue for their interests, his orphanhood ends. However, orphanhood does not cease for the orphan until he reaches maturity and is perceived to have sound judgment. When he reaches puberty (marriageable age) and is perceived to have sound judgment, his wealth is entrusted to him—thus his orphanhood is terminated.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ الطَّائِفِيِّ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ سُئِلَ عَنْ الشَّيْخِ الْكَبِيرِ يُنْكَرُ عَقْلُهُ أَيُحْجَرُ عَلَيْهِ؟ قَالَ: نَعَمْ. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ يَزِيدَ بْنِ هُرْمُزَ

عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ: أَنَّهُ كَتَبَ إِلَى نَجْدَةَ بْنِ عُوَيْمِرٍ وَكَتَبْت تَسْأَلُنِي عَنْ الْيَتِيمِ مَتَى يَنْقَضِي يُتْمُهُ؟ فَلَعَمْرِي، إنَّ الرَّجُلَ لَتَنْبُتُ لِحْيَتُهُ، وَإِنَّهُ لَضَعِيفُ الْأَخْذِ لِنَفْسِهِ، ضَعِيفُ الْعَطَاءِ مِنْهَا، وَإِذَا أَخَذَ لِنَفْسِهِ مِنْ مَصَالِحِ مَا يَأْخُذُ النَّاسُ فَقَدْ ذَهَبَ عَنْهُ الْيُتْمُ، وَإِنَّهُ لَا يَنْقَطِعُ عَنْ الْيَتِيمِ الْيُتْمُ حَتَّى يَبْلُغَ وَيُؤْنَسَ مِنْهُ رُشْدٌ، وَإِذَا بَلَغَ النِّكَاحَ وَأُونِسَ مِنْهُ رُشْدٌ: دُفِعَ إلَيْهِ مَالُهُ، فَقَدْ انْقَضَى عَنْهُ يُتْمُهُ.

L21320–21321 Abu Muhammad said: We have gathered all these terms because they are part of what we transmitted through paths of transmission entirely traceable to Yazid ibn Hurmuz from Ibn Abbas. We restricted ourselves to mentioning only those through whom all of them were transmitted, and all of them have sound chains of transmission.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: جَمَعْنَا هَذِهِ الْأَلْفَاظَ كُلَّهَا، لِأَنَّهَا مِمَّا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طُرُقٍ كُلِّهَا رَاجِعٌ إلَى يَزِيدَ بْنِ هُرْمُزَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، فَاقْتَصَرْنَا عَلَى ذِكْرِ مَنْ رُوِيَ جَمِيعُهَا عَنْهُ فَقَطْ، وَكُلُّهَا صَحِيحُ السَّنَدِ.

L21322 Narrated through Sharik, from Simak, from Ikrimah, from Ibn Abbas regarding the verse {If you perceive in them sound judgment} [An-Nisa: 6]: The orphan is handed over his property when he attains puberty, intellect, and dignity. We know of no other opinion from the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) besides this. This ruling entirely contradicts their view, stands as evidence against them, and mostly aligns with our position.[13]

L21323 From the Tabi’in, Al-Hasan Al-Basri commented on the verse, “If you perceive sound judgment in them, then deliver their property to them” [4:6], stating: “Integrity in his religious conduct and safeguarding of his wealth.” From Al-Sha‘bi: “A man might grow grey-haired without sound judgment being perceived in him.” It has been narrated to us that similar statements are attributed to Shuraih, Al-Qasim ibn Muḥammad, Rabi‘ah, and ‘Aṭā’. We have narrated from Al-Ḍaḥḥāk: “No wealth is to be delivered to him until integrity is perceived in him. However, no narration has come from Shuraih or Al-Qasim prohibiting him from manumission, charity, or sales that do not harm his wealth. Such restrictions are only narrated from Rabi'ah and 'Aṭā'."[14]

L21324 Ali said: We do not know of anything from the Successors (Tabi'in) regarding them other than this, and part of it aligns with our opinion.

L21325 Abu Muhammad said: As for Allah's statement, Exalted is He: {Test the orphans until they reach the age of puberty. Then, if you discern sound judgment in them, deliver their wealth to them} [An-Nisa: 6], it is imperative to determine what constitutes the "sound judgment" that Allah commands to be recognized in them to justify transferring their wealth. We examined the Quran—which elucidates what Allah has obligated upon us—and found that "sound judgment" therein refers solely to adherence to faith and opposition to misguidance, not at all to knowledge of earning wealth. He said: {There is no compulsion in religion. Sound judgment has been clearly distinguished from misguidance. Whoever rejects idolatrous tyranny and believes in Allah has grasped the firmest handhold} [Al-Baqarah: 256]. He also said: {These are the people of sound judgment} [Al-Hujurat: 7], and: {Pharaoh's command was not sound} [Hud: 97].[15]

L21326–21328 It is established that whoever reaches the age of discernment distinguishing faith from disbelief has had the sound judgment - for which no other sound judgment exists whatsoever - recognized in him. Thus, it becomes obligatory to hand over his wealth to him. No believer or disbeliever doubts that Pharaoh and his companions were the most severe. He demonstrated greater care for wealth, managed it more meticulously, acquired it in greater abundance, and possessed deeper knowledge of the diverse avenues for accumulating it than Moses, peace be upon him. Indeed, Pharaoh was never defrauded in any matter pertaining to his wealth.

L21329 And indeed Moses—peace be upon him—and Khidr—peace be upon him—came to the people of a village and asked them for food, but they refused to قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: مَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُمْ عَنْ التَّابِعِينَ غَيْرَ هَذَا، وَبَعْضُهُ مُوَافِقٌ لِقَوْلِنَا.

وَلَقَدْ أَتَى مُوسَى - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، وَالْخَضِرُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، إلَى أَهْلِ قَرْيَةٍ فَاسْتَطْعَمَاهُمْ؟ فَأَبَوْا أَنْ يُضَيِّفُوهُمَا، فَبَاتَا لَيْلَتَهُمَا بِغَيْرِ قِرًى، وَمَا بَلَغَ فِرْعَوْنَ فِي مُلْكِهِ قَطُّ هَذَا الْمَبْلَغَ.

host them. So they spent the night without hospitality, and Pharaoh, in his kingdom, never reached this extent.

L21330 Similarly, there is no doubt that the affluent among Quraysh such as Abū Lahab, al-Walīd ibn al-Mughīrah, and Ibn Judʿan were more astute and swifter than the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings of Allah be upon him, in acquiring wealth through any feasible means—whether by exploiting the labor of female slaves, usury, or other such practices.

L21331 We have been narrated through the chain of Imam Muslim: Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and ʻAmr al-Nāqid, both of whom said together: Aswad ibn ʻĀmir narrated to us from Ḥammād ibn Salamah, who narrated from Hishām ibn ʻUrwah and Thābit al-Bunānī. Hishām narrated from his father, from ʻĀ'ishah, the Mother of the Believers, while Thābit narrated from Anas. Then they concurred—Anas and the Mother of the Believers—in narrating the ḥadīth of date palm pollination, wherein the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: "You know best your worldly matters." Thus, it is confirmed that sound judgment is neither earning wealth nor withholding it from rightful dues and acts of righteousness, for that is prodigality. True sound judgment lies in obeying Allah the Exalted, earning wealth through means that neither harm religion nor tarnish one's honor, spending it on obligations and in ways that draw near to Allah the Exalted for deliverance from the Fire, preserving what sustains oneself and dependents through moderation and contentment. This is sound judgment.

L21332 And He, the Exalted, said: "I will turn away from My signs those who act arrogantly on earth without right. If they see every sign, they will not believe in it. If they see the path of guidance, they will not take it as a path, and if they see the path of error, they will take it as a path" [Al-A'raf: 146]. And likewise, every place in the Quran where guidance is mentioned.[16]

L21333 Similarly, we have not found in any part of the Arabic language that rushd refers to being astute in accumulating wealth and managing it. Thus, their interpretation of rushd based on the verse is invalidated, as is their transfer of wealth based on instilled confidence.

[16] Qur'an references (L21332): Qur'an 7:146 (Al-A'raf).

L21334–21336 And it is established that this aligns with our position, and that Allah's intended meaning with certainty is that whoever reaches maturity as a sane, discerning Muslim, it becomes obligatory to hand over his wealth to him, and what is permissible from the actions of all people is permissible in all his actions. All of them, and his actions are rejected as are rejected the actions of all other people entirely, with no distinction. And whoever attains adulthood without mental capacity or discernment in religious matters, their wealth shall not be given to them.

L21337 If what they asserted regarding sound judgment and recklessness were a valid statement—and God forbid such a thing—then factions among the Jews, Christians, and worshippers of idols would possess sound judgment, while factions among the Muslims would be reckless. God is far removed from this!

L21338 As for the statement of Allah the Exalted: {Do not entrust the foolish with your property} [An-Nisa: 5] and His statement: {If the party liable for the claim is foolish or weak} [Al-Baqarah: 282], the term "foolishness" (safah) in the Arabic tongue—the language in which the Quran was revealed and through which we are addressed—applies exclusively to three meanings, with no fourth meaning whatsoever.[17]

أَحَدُهَا - الْبَذَاءُ وَالسَّبُّ بِاللِّسَانِ، وَهُمْ لَا يَخْتَلِفُونَ أَنَّ مَنْ هَذِهِ صِفَتُهُ لَا يُحْجَرُ عَلَيْهِ فِي مَالِهِ - فَسَقَطَ الْكَلَامُ فِي هَذَا الْوَجْهِ.

L21339 One of these [cases] is vulgarity and verbal abuse. The scholars unanimously agree that someone characterized by these traits cannot have their legal capacity over their property restricted—hence, the discussion on this matter is dismissed.

L21340 The second aspect—disbelief. Allah the Exalted said: {When it is said to them, "Believe as the people have believed," they say, "Should we believe as the foolish have believed?" Unquestionably, it is they who are the foolish, but they do not know} [Al-Baqarah: 13]. And the Almighty said, quoting Moses, peace be upon him, that he said to Allah the Exalted: {Will You destroy us for what the foolish among us have done?} [Al-A'rāf: 155], referring to the disbelievers of the Children of Israel.[18]

L21341 And He, the Exalted, said: {The foolish will say, "What has diverted them from their qiblah which they used to face?"} [Al-Baqarah 142]. And He, the Exalted, said: {And who would turn away from the religion of Abraham except one who fools himself?} [Al-Baqarah 130].[19]

L21342 And He, the Exalted, said—narrating from the believing jinn whom He affirmed and was pleased with—their statement: "And that the foolish among us would utter outrageous falsehood about Allah" [Al-Jinn: 4]. This constitutes a second meaning. There is no disagreement from them nor from us that disbelievers are not to be deprived of their wealth, that all their transactions in buying, selling, and gifts—all such dealings—are permissible, and that His statement, the Exalted: "Do not entrust the foolish with your wealth" [An-Nisā': 5] and His statement: "If the one liable is foolish or weak" [Al-Baqarah: 282]—He, the Exalted, never intended by this the disbelievers, nor those given to obscenity in their speech.[20]

L21343–21345 The third meaning is the absence of a rational faculty that negates eligibility for legal accountability, such as the insane and young children alone. By consensus between us and them, these are the ones God the Exalted intended in the two verses. Those characterized by this attribute do not... They are granted their wealth, yet clothed from it, sustained, and spoken to gently. Their own acknowledgment is not accepted, but their appointed guardian acknowledges on their behalf. This is confirmed as valid with certainty.

L21346 Whoever claims that a person disadvantaged in transactions and incapable of properly safeguarding his wealth—even if he is mentally competent, religiously accountable, and discerning in matters of faith—falls under the designation of "financial imprudence" mentioned in the two verses has certainly spoken falsehood. He has ascribed to Allah—the Exalted—what he knows nothing about, blindly followed matters beyond his knowledge, and asserted claims without evidence. All of this is unlawful, and it is impermissible to endorse such an opinion.

قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَأَنْ تَقُولُوا عَلَى اللَّهِ مَا لا تَعْلَمُونَ} [البقرة: ١٦٩] . وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {قُلْ هَاتُوا بُرْهَانَكُمْ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ} [البقرة: ١١١] فَإِذْ لَا بُرْهَانَ لَهُمْ فَلَيْسُوا صَادِقِينَ فِيهِ بِلَا شَكٍّ.

L21347 He, the Exalted, said: "And that you assert about Allah what you do not know" [Al-Baqarah: 169]. He also said: "Say, 'Bring forth your proof if you are truthful'" [Al-Baqarah: 111]. Since they have no proof, they are undoubtedly untruthful in it.[21]

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ الْآيَتَيْنِ مُوَافِقَتَانِ لِقَوْلِنَا مُخَالِفَتَانِ لِقَوْلِهِمْ، وَمَا سَمَّى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى قَطُّ فِي الْقُرْآنِ وَلَا رَسُولُهُ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَلَا الْعَرَبِيُّ الْجَاهِلُ بِكَسْبِ مَالِهِ، أَوْ الْمَغْبُونُ فِي الْبَيْعِ: سَفِيهًا. " وَالسَّفِيهُ " الَّذِي ذُكِرَ فِي الْآيَةِ هُوَ الَّذِي لَا عَقْلَ لَهُ لِجُنُونِهِ، وَالضَّعِيفُ الَّذِي لَا قُوَّةَ لَهُ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {ثُمَّ جَعَلَ مِنْ بَعْدِ قُوَّةٍ ضَعْفًا} [الروم: ٥٤] وَالَّذِي لَا يَسْتَطِيعُ أَنْ يُمِلَّ: هُوَ مَنْ بِهِ آفَةٌ فِي لِسَانِهِ تَمْنَعُهُ نُكَرَسٍ، أَوْ نَحْوِ ذَلِكَ.

L21348 Thus, it is established that the two verses align with our position and contradict their position. Neither Allah the Exalted in the Quran, nor His Messenger—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—nor the Arabs have ever referred to one who is inexperienced in managing his wealth or swindled in trade as safih. The safih mentioned in the verse is the one who lacks reason due to mental impairment, and the "weak" is the one who lacks strength. Allah the Exalted said: Then He made, after strength, weakness [Ar-Rum: 54]. The one who is unable to dictate is someone who has a defect in his tongue that prevents him, such as muteness or similar conditions.[22]

L21349 It is not permissible to interpret the words of Allah, the Exalted, except by His own words, or by the words of His Messenger—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—or by the Arabic language in which Allah, the Exalted, has informed that He revealed the Quran in it, and with certainty that leaves no doubt that it is the intended meaning of Allah, the Exalted. This is the path of salvation. As for interpretations based on conjectures and that which has no proof upon it, Allah forbid such a thing.

L21350 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr—who narrated to us from Jarīr, from Manṣūr, from Mujāhid—regarding the statement of Allah the Exalted: "If you perceive in them sound judgment" [4:6]. He said: (This refers to) rational judgment. Do not hand over the orphan's wealth to him—even if he turns gray-haired—until sound judgment is perceived in him. This is the unequivocal truth.[23]

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا يُونُسُ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ فِي قَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَلا تُؤْتُوا السُّفَهَاءَ أَمْوَالَكُمُ} [النساء: ٥] قَالَ: السُّفَهَاءُ: الصِّغَارُ، وَالنِّسَاءُ: مِنْ السُّفَهَاءِ.

L21352–21354 And through him to Sa’id ibn Mansur, Awn ibn Musa narrated to us: I heard Mu’awiyah ibn Qurrah saying: Accustom women to “no,” for she lacks judgment; if you obey her, she will destroy you. And through the chain of Ismāʿīl ibn Isḥāq from Yaḥyā ibn ʿAbd al-Ḥamīd al-Ḥimmānī, who narrated from his father, Ḥumayd al-Ruāsī, and ʿAbd Allāh ibn al-Mubārak. Al-Ruāsī reported: From al-Ḥasan ibn Ṣāliḥ, from al-Suddī - who attributed it to ʿAbd Allāh - concerning God’s verse “And do not give the foolish your wealth” [Quran 4:5], he stated: “Women and children.” Ibn al-Mubārak reported through Ismāʿīl from Abī Mālik: “Women and children.” He said: And my father reported from Salamah ibn Nubayṭ, from al-Ḍaḥḥāk, who said: “Women and children.”[25]

L21355 Through the same chain to Ismāʿīl: Naṣr ibn ʿAlī and Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn Numayr narrated to us. Naṣr said: Abū Aḥmad narrated to us from Ibn Abī Ghaniyyah from al-Ḥakam ibn ʿUtaybah. Ibn Numayr said: My father narrated to us: al-Aʿmash narrated to us from Mujāhid. Then al-Ḥakam and Mujāhid concurred regarding Allah’s statement: {Do not give the foolish your wealth} [4:5]. Both said: “Women and children.”

Through the same chain to Ismāʿīl: Yaḥyā ibn Khalaf narrated to us: Abū ʿĀṣim narrated to us from ʿĪsā: Ibn Najīḥ narrated to us from Mujāhid concerning Allah’s statement: {Do not give the foolish your wealth which Allah has made a foundation for you} [4:5]. Mujāhid said: “Allah forbade men to give their wealth to women. The foolish are those who are wives, mothers, or daughters.”[26]

L21356 To Ismail: Yahya ibn Abd al-Hamid al-Himmani narrated to us through Shurayk, from Salim, from Saʿid—who is Ibn Jubayr—regarding the verse “And do not entrust those lacking in judgment with your wealth” [4:5]. He said: “Women.” Abu Muhammad said: Al-Hasan, Al-Hakam, Mu‘awiyah ibn Qurrah, Mujahid, Al-Dahhak, Sa‘id ibn Jubayr, Abu Malik, and Abdullah—either Ibn Mas‘ud (the more evident) or Ibn Abbas—agreed that women are considered lacking in judgment and that they are among those intended in this verse.[27]

وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ - إمَّا ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ وَهُوَ الْأَظْهَرُ، وَإِمَّا ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ - عَلَى أَنَّ النِّسَاءَ سُفَهَاءُ، وَأَنَّهُنَّ مِنْ الْمُرَادِ فِي هَذِهِ الْآيَةِ.

L21357 Mujahid unequivocally declared that they are the mothers, wives, and daughters. Where, then, are those who vilify [others] in opposition to the majority? All present dissenters who disagree with us on this issue reject this opinion.

L21358 Abū Muḥammad said: As for children, yes; but as for women, no—because neither Quranic verse nor Sunnah has stated that they are prodigal. Rather, Allah the Exalted has mentioned them alongside men in righteous deeds, as He said: “And the men who give charity and the women who give charity…” [al-Aḥzāb 35] and in all other righteous deeds. Thus, their reliance on this verse is invalidated—and praise be to Allah, Lord of the worlds.[28]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: أَمَّا الصِّبْيَانُ فَنَعَمْ، وَأَمَّا النِّسَاءُ فَلَا، لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَأْتِ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، بِأَنَّهُنَّ سُفَهَاءُ، بَلْ قَدْ ذَكَرَهُنَّ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مَعَ الرِّجَالِ فِي أَعْمَالِ الْبِرِّ فَقَالَ: {وَالْمُتَصَدِّقِينَ وَالْمُتَصَدِّقَاتِ} [الأحزاب: ٣٥] وَفِي سَائِرِ أَعْمَالِ الْبِرِّ، فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهَذِهِ الْآيَةِ - وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ.

L21359–21360 As for the prohibition by Him, Exalted is He, of squandering, extravagance, and excessive giving to the fullest extent—this is the truth and our doctrine, while they oppose all of this wrongfully. They permit one who is not deceived in trade to give away his entire wealth either as charity, as a gift to a poet, or as a dower for a woman. Indeed, they even permit him to incur a heavy debt for her after transferring all his wealth to her. This constitutes the prohibited squandering, the prohibited extravagance, and the prohibited excessive giving until he becomes blameworthy and depleted. We, however, forbid all of this, invalidate it, and reject it.

وَأَمَّا تَحْرِيمُهُ تَعَالَى التَّبْذِيرَ، وَالْإِسْرَافَ، وَبَسْطَ الْيَدِ كُلَّ الْبَسْطِ فَحَقٌّ، وَهُوَ قَوْلُنَا، وَهُمْ مُخَالِفُونَ لِكُلِّ ذَلِكَ جَهْلًا، فَيُجِيزُونَ مِنْ الَّذِي لَا يُخْدَعُ فِي الْبَيْعِ إعْطَاءَ مَالِهِ كُلِّهِ إمَّا صَدَقَةً وَإِمَّا هِبَةً لِشَاعِرٍ، أَوْ فِي صَدَاقِ امْرَأَةٍ، نَعَمْ، حَتَّى إنَّهُ لَيَكْتُبُ لَهَا عَلَى نَفْسِهِ بَعْدَ خُرُوجِهِ لَهَا عَنْ جَمِيعِ مَالِهِ الدَّيْنَ الثَّقِيلَ، وَهَذَا هُوَ التَّبْذِيرُ الْمُحَرَّمُ، وَالْإِسْرَافُ الْمُحَرَّمُ، وَبَسْطُ الْيَدِ كُلَّ الْبَسْطِ حَتَّى يَقْعُدَ مَلُومًا مَحْسُورًا، وَنَحْنُ نَمْنَعُ مِنْ هَذَا كُلِّهِ وَنُبْطِلُهُ وَنَرُدُّهُ.

L21361 Then they prevent others from giving charity of a dirham during his lifetime, and permit one who frees his slave even if he owns a hundred slaves. They enforce the execution of their wills even if they are extensive after their death, yet restrict charity and emancipation involving small or large amounts upon those deceived in transactions. They impose no restrictions on those who purchase intoxicants, pay wages for immorality, spend on companions, or engage in gambling—even if done extensively—provided they are fully aware of acquiring wealth through oppression or lawful means, controlling it through lawful and unlawful channels while withholding Zakāh and charity. These are contradictions of utmost absurdity, with evident error lacking any rational basis. At times, they freely allow the total reckless waste of wealth in falsehood; at others, they exercise excessive caution by rejecting charity of a dirham or the emancipation of a single soul, though neither causes harm to the estate.

L21362 At times, they permit deception in sales of thousands and do not disapprove of it, saying, "A sale is deception." At other times, they invalidate a valid sale containing no deception out of fear that someone might be deceived again. This is a contradiction akin to the preceding one, and constitutes upholding what is irrational—neither attested by the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor rational basis, nor sound opinion.

L21363 As for us, we reject deception and fraud wherever they occur—whether rare or frequent—and from whomever they occur. We permit valid sales free of deception wherever found, and from whomever found. We reject every gift given for wrongful purposes—whether small or large—and validate every gift given rightfully—whether small or large. This is what the revealed texts have established, what sound intellects testify to, and what the correct opinions they adhere to confirm. By these principles, they judge according to the religion of Allah, the Exalted. All praise is to Allah, Lord of the worlds.

L21364 Abu Muhammad said: With the help of Allah the Exalted, we interpret squandering, extravagance, and stretching one's hand to the utmost limit of excess—all that Allah the Exalted has forbidden and rebuked—unlike their interpretation, which they neither understand nor understand at all. There is no might nor power except with Allah, the Most High, the Almighty.

L21365–21367 Ali said: These prohibited actions—their entire meaning is one, and it encompasses that every expenditure Allah the Exalted has permitted and enjoined—whether abundant or modest—is neither wastefulness, nor squandering, nor complete extravagance in the fullest sense, because it... Exalted is He. He does not permit what He has prohibited at the same time. There is no doubt that what He permits is entirely distinct from what He forbids—and this is precisely our doctrine, and all praise is due to Allah.

L21368 Every expenditure that Allah the Exalted has prohibited—whether small or large—is extravagance, squandering, and excessive spending in full measure. For there is no doubt that what Allah has explicitly prohibited in detail corresponds to what He prohibited in general terms. Praise be to Allah abundantly, and this is supported by authentic reports—it has been transmitted to us through the chain of Ismail ibn Ishaq, from Muhammad ibn Kathir, from Sulayman ibn Kathir, from Husayn, from Ikrimah, from Ibn Abbas, who said regarding the squanderer: "He is the one who spends unlawfully."

وَكُلُّ نَفَقَةٍ نَهَى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَنْهَا - قَلَّتْ أَمْ كَثُرَتْ - فَهِيَ الْإِسْرَافُ وَالتَّبْذِيرُ وَبَسْطُ الْيَدِ كُلَّ الْبَسْطِ، لِأَنَّهُ لَا شَكَّ فِي أَنَّ الَّذِي نَهَى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَنْهُ مُفَسَّرًا هُوَ الَّذِي نَهَى عَنْهُ مُجْمَلًا - وَلِلَّهِ الْحَمْدُ كَثِيرًا، وَبِهَذَا جَاءَتْ الْآثَارُ -: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ إسْحَاقَ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ كَثِيرٍ أَنَا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ كَثِيرٍ عَنْ حُصَيْنٍ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ قَالَ فِي الْمُبَذِّرِ: هُوَ الَّذِي يُنْفِقُ فِي غَيْرِ حَقٍّ.

L21369 And from the chain of Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Qattan, from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Abu'l-'Ubaydayn, from Ibn Mas'ud regarding the saying of Allah, the Exalted: {And do not squander extravagantly} [Al-Isra: 26], he said: Spending in ways contrary to its rightful purpose.[29] وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي الْعُبَيْدَيْنِ عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ فِي قَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَلا تُبَذِّرْ تَبْذِيرًا} [الإسراء: ٢٦] قَالَ: الْإِنْفَاقُ فِي غَيْرِ حَقِّهِ.

L21370 And through the chain of Ibn Wahb, Khalid ibn Humayd reported to me from 'Uqayl ibn Khalid from al-Zuhri that he would comment on Allah's words: {Do not make your hand tied to your neck, nor stretch it out completely} [Al-Isra: 29], saying: Do not withhold it from a right, nor spend it in falsehood.[30] وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي خَالِدُ بْنُ حُمَيْدٍ عَنْ عُقَيْلِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَقُولُ فِي قَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَلا تَجْعَلْ يَدَكَ مَغْلُولَةً إِلَى عُنُقِكَ وَلا تَبْسُطْهَا كُلَّ الْبَسْطِ} [الإسراء: ٢٩] قَالَ: لَا تَمْنَعْهُ مِنْ حَقٍّ وَلَا تُنْفِقْهُ فِي بَاطِلٍ.

L21371 Al-Zuhri said: Similarly, the words of Allah, the Most High – "And those who, when they spend, are neither extravagant nor miserly" [Al-Furqan: 67].[31]

قَالَ الزُّهْرِيُّ: وَكَذَلِكَ قَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَالَّذِينَ إِذَا أَنْفَقُوا لَمْ يُسْرِفُوا وَلَمْ يَقْتُرُوا} [الفرقان: ٦٧] .

L21372 Abu Muhammad said: It has been confirmed that these verses are the explicit قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَصَحَّ أَنَّ هَذِهِ الْآيَاتِ هِيَ نَصُّ قَوْلِنَا وَأَنَّهُمْ مُخَالِفُونَ لَهَا أَوْضَحَ خِلَافٍ.

L21373 Ali said: Every purchase for food, clothing, or a ride, every act of manumission, charity, or gift that preserves sufficiency is permissible—and the permissible is that which avoids wastefulness, extravagance, or excessive liberality.

L21374–21376 The lawful may not be rejected. Whatever does not maintain sufficiency from that which one cannot do without constitutes extravagance and squandering. Total lavish expenditure is entirely null and void for whoever commits it and must be rejected. Likewise, any spending on prohibited matters – such as alcohol, payment for immoral acts, gambling, or similar things, whether little or much – is null and void. And with Allah, the Exalted, lies all success. Thus, everything they clung to from the Quran is rendered void from them. As for the prohibition of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—against squandering wealth, it is correct and our doctrine. Squandering wealth means pouring it onto the road or spending it on unlawful matters, as we stated regarding wastefulness, extravagance, and reckless open-handedness.

L21377 The proof of that is the statement of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) which we previously mentioned concerning sharecropping: "Whoever owns land should cultivate it himself or let his brother cultivate it. If he refuses, then let him retain his land." The Prophet (peace be upon him) did not consider leaving the land unworked to be a squandering of wealth if its owner has no need for that.

L21378 We know of no disagreement that it is permissible for one who has sufficient provision for himself and his dependents to abandon seeking to increase wealth through acquisition, and that his turning at that time to deeds for the Hereafter is superior to his immersion in pursuing additional wealth—thus, the corruption of their argument is manifest in every aspect.

L21379 The most astonishing thing is their statement: "Indeed, whoever fails to make his wealth fruitful is financially incompetent," yet they permit one who wrongfully consumes people's wealth through usurpation, sale, or any feasible means. Then when claimants demand their rights and seize what is found for him—or if nothing is found—he must refrain from earning anything to equitably fulfill the rights of those entitled before his own. This opposes realities: at times they forbid him from charity, manumission, or sale for lacking wealth management skills; at others, they permit him to leave his wealth unproductive even when harming those entitled to rights against him. What contradictions!

L21380 It was narrated to us through the chain of Muḥammad ibn al-Muthannā: from Yaʿlā ibn ʿUbayd al-Ṭanāfisī, from Muḥammad ibn Sūqah, from Ibn Saʿīd ibn Jubayr, who said: My father was asked about squandering wealth, and he replied: "It is when Allah the Exalted grants you wealth and you spend it on what He has prohibited for you."

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْمُثَنَّى نا يَعْلَى بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ الطَّنَافِسِيُّ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سُوقَةَ نا ابْنُ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ قَالَ: سُئِلَ أَبِي عَنْ إضَاعَةِ الْمَالِ؟ فَقَالَ: أَنْ يَرْزُقَك اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مَالًا فَتُنْفِقَهُ فِيمَا حُرِّمَ عَلَيْك.

L21381 Abu Muhammad said: The sons of Saʿīd ibn Jubayr are three: ʿAbdullāh, ʿAbd al-Malik, and Isḥāq. All of them are well-known, trustworthy narrators. Whichever one it was, he is trustworthy.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: أَوْلَادُ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ هُمْ ثَلَاثَةٌ، عَبْدُ اللَّهِ، وَعَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ، وَإِسْحَاقُ: كُلُّهُمْ ثِقَاتٌ مَشَاهِيرُ، فَأَيُّهُمْ كَانَ فَهُوَ ثِقَةٌ -.

L21382 It has been narrated to us from Mālik that wasteful spending is expenditure on acts of disobedience. Thus, it has become evident that this narration aligns with our opinion and contradicts theirs.

L21383 As for the other report: "Any man under whose care an orphan resides, who prevents the orphan from marrying, and the orphan commits adultery—the sin is shared between them."

وَأَمَّا الْخَبَرُ الْآخَرُ «أَيُّمَا رَجُلٍ كَانَ عِنْدَهُ يَتِيمٌ فَحَالَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ أَنْ يَتَزَوَّجَ فَزَنَى فَالْإِثْمُ بَيْنَهُمَا» .

L21384–21386 If it were valid, it would constitute the greatest argument against them and the strongest opposition to their claim, for it contains nothing but a prohibition against the guardian interposing between the orphan and marriage under the severest threat. This is their view, because they... They command the guardian of the orphan to intervene between him and marriage, and they invalidate his marriage if he marries without his guardian's permission, so that the guardian becomes the one who gives him in marriage to whomever the guardian desires, not to whomever the one under guardianship desires.

فَلَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ أَعْظَمَ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ، وَأَشَدَّ خِلَافًا لِقَوْلِهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ إلَّا نَهْيُ الْوَلِيِّ عَنْ أَنْ يَحُولَ بَيْنَ الْيَتِيمِ وَبَيْنَ التَّزْوِيجِ بِأَشَدِّ الْوَعِيدِ، وَهَذَا هُوَ قَوْلُهُمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ يَأْمُرُونَ وَلِيَّ الْيَتِيمِ بِأَنْ يَحُولَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ التَّزْوِيجِ وَيَرُدُّونَ زَوَاجَهُ إنْ تَزَوَّجَ بِغَيْرِ إذْنِ وَلِيِّهِ حَتَّى يَكُونَ وَلِيُّهُ هُوَ الَّذِي يُزَوِّجُهُ مِمَّنْ أَرَادَ الْوَلِيُّ، لَا مِمَّنْ أَرَادَ الْمُولَى عَلَيْهِ.

L21387 What could be more astonishing than a people invoking as proof what stands as a greater proof against them? Thus, it became invalid for them to have any attachment to anything from the Quran, anything from the Sunnahs, or any narration whatsoever. It became evident that the Quran and the Sunnahs contradict their assertions in this matter.

فَأَيُّ عَجَبٍ أَعْجَبُ مِنْ احْتِجَاجِ قَوْمٍ بِمَا هُوَ أَعْظَمُ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ. فَبَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمْ مُتَعَلَّقٌ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ الْقُرْآنِ، أَوْ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ السُّنَنِ، أَوْ بِرِوَايَةٍ أَصْلًا وَلَاحَ أَنَّ الْقُرْآنَ، وَالسُّنَنَ مُخَالِفَانِ لِأَقْوَالِهِمْ هَهُنَا.

L21388 As for the narrations from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—none of them constitute valid evidence for their position; rather, these narrations undermine it. Regarding the report from Uthman in his statement to Ali: "Will you not impose legal restraint on your nephew and curb him? He purchased a salt flat belonging to the family of so-and-so for sixty thousand [units]—I wouldn't take it even for my sandal!" There is no doubt that Ibn Jafar was never placed under legal restraint. If legal restraint were obligatory, why did Uthman neglect to impose it, thereby treating it as a mere personal view? This confirms he did not consider legal restraint obligatory. Even if Ali or Uthman had viewed it as obligatory, they would not have been permitted to forgo its implementation. This is an incomplete narration we have transmitted in full through Hammad ibn Zayd's chain from Ayyub al-Sakhtiyani, from Muhammad ibn Sirin: Uthman said to Ali, "Curb your nephew. He purchased the salt flat of the family of so-and-so for sixty thousand [units]—I wouldn't take it even for my sandal!" then he retracted. Abdullah ibn Jafar divided it into eight shares, deployed laborers, and the land became productive. When Uthman passed by it, he asked, "To whom does this belong?" They replied, "Abdullah ibn Jafar." He said, "O nephew, grant me two shares." Abdullah responded, "No, by Allah—not until you bring those before whom you denounced me as imprudent to plead with me!" Uthman complied, whereupon Abdullah said, "By Allah, I will not sell you two shares for less than one hundred twenty thousand!" Uthman replied, "I have taken them."

وَأَمَّا الرِّوَايَاتُ عَنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - فَكُلُّهَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهَا، بَلْ هِيَ عَلَيْهِمْ -: أَمَّا الرِّوَايَةُ عَنْ عُثْمَانَ مِنْ قَوْلِهِ لِعَلِيٍّ: أَلَا تَحْجُرُ عَلَى ابْنِ أَخِيك وَتَأْخُذُ عَلَى يَدِهِ اشْتَرَى سَبَخَةً بِسِتِّينَ أَلْفًا مَا أُحِبُّ أَنَّهَا لِي بِنَعْلِي؟ فَلَا شَكَّ فِي أَنَّ ابْنَ جَعْفَرٍ لَمْ يُحْجَرْ عَلَيْهِ قَطُّ، فَإِنْ كَانَ الْحَجْرُ وَاجِبًا فَلِمَ تَرَكَهُ عُثْمَانُ وَلَمْ يَحْجُرْ عَلَيْهِ، حَتَّى يَخْرُجَ ذَلِكَ مَخْرَجَ الرَّأْيِ يَرَاهُ؟ فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَرَ الْحَجْرَ وَاجِبًا وَلَوْ رَآهُ عَلِيٌّ، أَوْ عُثْمَانُ وَاجِبًا، لَمَا حَلَّ لَهُمَا أَنْ لَا يُمْضِيَاهُ - وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ نَاقِصٌ رُوِّينَاهُ بِتَمَامِهِ مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ أَنَّ عُثْمَانَ قَالَ لِعَلِيٍّ: خُذْ عَلَى يَدِ ابْنِ أَخِيك اشْتَرَى سَبَخَةَ آلِ فُلَانٍ بِسِتِّينَ أَلْفًا، مَا أُحِبُّ أَنَّهَا لِي بِنَعْلِي فَأَقَلَّ، قَالَ: فَجَزَّأَهَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ ثَمَانِيَةَ أَجْزَاءٍ، وَأَلْقَى فِيهَا الْعُمَّالَ فَأَقْبَلَتْ الْأَرْضُ، فَمَرَّ بِهَا عُثْمَانُ فَقَالَ: لِمَنْ هَذِهِ؟ قَالُوا: لِعَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ جَعْفَرٍ فَقَالَ: يَا ابْنَ أَخِي وَلِّنِي جُزْأَيْنِ مِنْهَا؟ فَقَالَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ: لَا وَاَللَّهِ حَتَّى تَأْتِيَنِي بِالَّذِينَ سَفَّهْتَنِي عِنْدَهُمْ فَيَطْلُبُونَ إلَيَّ؟ فَفَعَلَ، فَقَالَ: وَاَللَّهِ لَا أَنْقُصُك جُزْأَيْنِ مِنْهَا مِنْ مِائَةٍ وَعِشْرِينَ أَلْفًا؟ قَالَ عُثْمَانُ: قَدْ أَخَذْتُهُمَا -.

L21389 Thus, it became evident that this statement was an opinion of Uthman which he had recanted, because he did not restrict it at all from his prohibition of the purchase until the land yielded produce.

L21390–21392 As for the other narration reported from Ali: he informed Uthman that he was imposing interdiction on Abdullah ibn Ja'far regarding a sale he had made. Az-Zubayr then said to him: "I am his partner in this." This is a narration we vehemently reject because this sale must either necessitate interdiction over the one involved or not necessitate it. If it necessitates interdiction, then interdiction becomes obligatory on Az-Zubayr just as it is on Abdullah. If it does not necessitate interdiction over Az-Zubayr, then it does not necessitate interdiction over Abdullah or anyone else. Allah protected Uthman—may Allah be pleased with him—from neglecting any obligatory right [text incomplete]. Because Az-Zubayr was on the path, and Allah protected Az-Zubayr - may Allah be pleased with him - from intervening between the truth and its implementation, and Allah protected Ali - may Allah be pleased with him - from speaking about what was not clear to him.

وَأَمَّا الرِّوَايَةُ الْأُخْرَى عَنْ عَلِيٍّ: أَنَّهُ ذَكَرَ لِعُثْمَانَ أَنَّهُ يَحْجُرُ عَلَى عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ جَعْفَرٍ فِي بَيْعٍ ابْتَاعَهُ فَقَالَ لَهُ الزُّبَيْرُ: أَنَا شَرِيكُهُ فِيهِ، فَرِوَايَةٌ نُنْكِرُهَا جِدًّا، وَلَا يَخْلُو ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعُ مِنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ يُوجِبُ الْحَجْرَ عَلَى صَاحِبِهِ أَوْ لَا يُوجِبُهُ، فَإِنْ كَانَ يُوجِبُ الْحَجْرَ، فَالْحَجْرُ وَاجِبٌ عَلَى الزُّبَيْرِ، كَمَا هُوَ عَلَى عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ لَا يُوجِبُ الْحَجْرَ عَلَى الزُّبَيْرِ فَمَا يُوجِبُهُ عَلَى عَبْدِ اللَّهِ وَلَا عَلَى غَيْرِهِ، وَقَدْ أَعَاذَ اللَّهُ عُثْمَانَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ - مِنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ يَتْرُكُ حَقًّا وَاجِبًا مِنْ أَجْلِ أَنَّ الزُّبَيْرَ فِي الطَّرِيقِ، وَقَدْ أَعَاذَ اللَّهُ الزُّبَيْرَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ - مِنْ أَنْ يَحُولَ بَيْنَ الْحَقِّ وَبَيْنَ إنْفَاذِهِ، وَقَدْ أَعَاذَ اللَّهُ عَلِيًّا - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ - فِي أَنْ يَتَكَلَّمَ فِيمَا لَمْ يَتَبَيَّنْ لَهُ.

L21393 If it is said: Uthman only refrained from imposing interdiction upon Abdullah because of Az-Zubayr, since he knew Az-Zubayr would not be deceived in the sale, thus he knew through Az-Zubayr's involvement that this was a sale where interdiction does not apply in such cases? We respond: Indeed, Ali proceeded in error when he sought to impose interdiction in a sale where interdiction is not permissible. All this confirms that this was an opinion from those among them who held it, yet Abdullah ibn Ja'far opposed them and did not deem interdiction upon himself applicable in that matter, though he was a Companion. Thus, their reliance on these two narrations is nullified.

L21394 As for the narration concerning Ibn al-Zubayr, it constitutes an enduring calamity. We do not comprehend how a Muslim could legitimize citing as proof a sin, oversight, or lapse committed by Ibn al-Zubayr—though Allah the Exalted forgives him—when someone like him, being among the youngest Companions, presumed to impose interdiction over the Mother of the Believers, whom Allah the Exalted extolled with the ultimate praise in the Quranic text, while he scarcely merits a share compared to her before Allah the Exalted. This is a report we transmitted through Abd al-Razzaq's chain from Ma'mar, from al-Zuhri, from Awf ibn al-Harith—nephew of Aisha, Mother of the Believers—through his mother (who was the sister of Aisha), that Aisha, عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ لِأُمِّهَا أَنَّ عَائِشَةَ أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ حَدَّثَتْ " أَنَّ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ الزُّبَيْرِ قَالَ فِي بَيْعٍ أَوْ عَطَاءٍ أَعْطَتْهُ: وَاللَّهِ لَتَنْتَهِيَنَّ عَائِشَةُ أَوْ لَأَحْجُرَنَّ عَلَيْهَا؟ فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ: أَوْ قَالَ هَذَا؟ قَالُوا: نَعَمْ، فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ: هُوَ لِلَّهِ عَلَيَّ نَذْرٌ أَنْ لَا أُكَلِّمَ ابْنَ الزُّبَيْرِ كَلِمَةً أَبَدًا - ثُمَّ ذَكَرَ الْحَدِيثَ بِطُولِهِ وَتَشَفُّعَهُ إِلَيْهَا، وَبُكَاهُ لِعَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ الْأَسْوَدِ بْنِ عَبْدِ يَغُوثَ، وَالْمِسْوَرِ بْنِ مَخْرَمَةَ الزُّهْرِيَّيْنِ حَتَّى كَلَّمَتْهُ وَأَعْتَقَتْ فِي نَذْرِهَا أَنْ لَا تُكَلِّمَهُ أَرْبَعِينَ رَقَبَةً.

وَأَمَّا الرِّوَايَةُ عَنْ ابْنِ الزُّبَيْرِ فَطَامَّةُ الْأَبَدِ، لَا نَدْرِي كَيْفَ اسْتَحَلَّ مُسْلِمٌ أَنْ يَحْتَجَّ بِخَطِيئَةٍ، وَوَهْلَةٍ، وَزَلَّةٍ كَانَتْ مِنْ ابْنِ الزُّبَيْرِ وَاَللَّهُ تَعَالَى يَغْفِرُ لَهُ إذْ أَرَادَ مِثْلُهُ فِي كَوْنِهِ مِنْ أَصَاغِرِ الصَّحَابَةِ أَنْ يَحْجُرَ عَلَى مِثْلِ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ الَّتِي أَثْنَى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَلَيْهَا أَعْظَمَ الثَّنَاءِ فِي نَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ وَهُوَ لَا يَكَادُ يَتَجَزَّأُ مِنْهَا فِي الْفَضْلِ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى. وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ عَوْفِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ ابْنِ أَخِي

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ ابْنَ الزُّبَيْرِ أَخْطَأَ فِي قَوْلِهِ، وَعَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ فَقَدْ اخْتَلَفَتْ الصَّحَابَةُ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَإِذَا اخْتَلَفُوا فَالْوَاجِبُ الرُّجُوعُ إلَى الْقُرْآنِ، وَالسُّنَّةِ كَمَا أَمَرَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى، وَفِي الْقُرْآنِ، وَالسُّنَّةِ: إبَاحَةُ الْبَيْعِ الَّذِي لَا خَدِيعَةَ فِيهِ وَلَا غِشَّ، وَالْحَضُّ عَلَى الصَّدَقَةِ، وَالْعِتْقِ: فِيمَا أَبْقَى غِنًى وَالْمَنْعُ مِمَّا عَدَا ذَلِكَ - فَوَاجِبٌ إمْضَاءُ ذَلِكَ كُلِّهِ مِنْ كُلِّ مَنْ فَعَلَهُ؛ لِأَنَّ الْكُلَّ مَنْدُوبٌ إلَى ذَلِكَ، مُبَاحٌ لَهُ ذَلِكَ، وَوَاجِبٌ رَدُّ كُلِّ بَيْعٍ فِيهِ خَدِيعَةٌ وَغِشٌّ، وَكُلِّ صَدَقَةٍ وَعَطِيَّةٍ لَمْ يَبْقَ بَعْدَهُمَا غِنًى مِنْ كُلِّ مَنْ فَعَلَهُ؛ لِأَنَّ الْكُلَّ مَنْهِيٌّ عَنْ ذَلِكَ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

Mother of the Believers, recounted: "Abdullah ibn al-Zubayr declared regarding a sale or gift she had granted: 'By Allah, Aisha must desist, or I shall legally restrict her!' Aisha responded: 'Did he truly utter this?' They affirmed. Thereupon Aisha declared: 'I vow to Allah never to speak a single word to Ibn al-Zubayr ever.'" The narration then mentions the hadith in full, detailing his intercession to her and his weeping before Abd al-Rahman ibn al-Aswad ibn Abd Yaghuth and al-Miswar ibn Makhramah, the two Zuhris, until she conversed with him and emancipated forty slaves in fulfillment of her vow.

L21395 Abu Muhammad said: Aisha—may Allah be pleased with her—had brought him to the point of being censured. Thus, the matter can only be one of two scenarios: either Ibn al-Zubayr erred and she was correct—and this is undoubtedly so—in which case no argument can be made based on a statement in which its proponent erred; or Ibn al-Zubayr was correct and she erred. But Allah forbid this, and Allah forbid that the Mother of the Believers should be described with folly or deemed worthy of legal interdiction. We seek refuge in Allah from such a claim.

L21396–21398 Thus, it is correct that Ibn al-Zubayr erred in his statement. In any case, the Companions differed regarding that matter, and when they differ, it is obligatory to refer back to the Qur'an and the Sunnah as Allah the Exalted commanded. In the Qur'an and the Sunnah is the permissibility of a sale in which there is no deceit or fraud, and the encouragement toward charity. Manumission is obligatory if it preserves sufficiency, while prohibition applies to what is contrary to that. It is incumbent to enforce all these rulings upon every person who performs such acts, for they are collectively deemed recommended and permissible. Similarly, it is obligatory to nullify every transaction involving deception or fraud, and every act of charity or gift that leaves the giver without sufficiency afterwards, as all such acts are divinely prohibited. Ultimate success lies with Allah, the Most High.

L21399 As for the narrations from Ibn Abbas, there is no valid proof in any of them, for they only state that facial hair may grow on one who is weak in receiving and giving, and that when a youth acquires for himself the sound of what people take, his orphanhood ceases—and this is our position: when sound judgment is ascertained in a youth and he acquires for himself the best of what people take, his orphanhood ends. They are seven, as we mentioned: Uthman, Ali, al-Zubayr, Ibn al-Zubayr, the Mother of the Believers, Abdullah ibn Ja'far, and Ibn Abbas.

L21400 It has been narrated to us in this matter statements aligning with our view, which we will mention at the end of the chapter if God Almighty wills. Three of them - ʿUthmān, ʿAlī, and Ibn al-Zubayr - have reports attributed to them about indicating ḥajr without elaboration, clarification from them, or any of them: What defines this ḥajr? If it refers to rescinding a sale involving fraud, then this is our doctrine - not the opponents' position. In any case, it is not [valid] to rescind charity, manumission, marriage, or a sale through it - and there is no fraud in it. Three others among them - ʿĀ'ishah, Ibn Ja'far, and al-Zubayr - are reported to have rejected both the ḥajr itself and the opinion advocating it.

L21401 As for Ibn Abbas, there is nothing reported from him that aligns with those who oppose us. Rather, he only stated regarding an elderly person whose mental capacity is disputed that they should be placed under guardianship—and this is our very position concerning one whose mental state has altered. They disagree, as we have noted, but even if they were to agree, there is no one with proof except the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him.

L21402 And how many instances are there where they opposed more Companions than these—may Allah be pleased with them—with none of the Companions opposing them? The closest example is this very issue, for it is definitively established that no report has come from any Companion supporting what they mentioned regarding the invalidation of manumission.

وَرَدِّ الصَّدَقَةِ فِي الْمَحْجُورِ - فَبَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمْ مُوَافِقٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ فِي هَذِهِ الْمَسْأَلَةِ - وَقَدْ خَالَفُوا أَكْثَرَ مِنْ هَذَا الْعَدَدِ فِي الْمَسْحِ عَلَى الْجَوْرَبَيْنِ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ.

L21403 The invalidity of charity given by an interdicted person—since the possibility of their having any Companion's agreement on this matter is nullified—and they opposed more Companions than this number regarding wiping over khuffs and similar matters.

وَأَمَّا التَّابِعُونَ فَقَدْ اخْتَلَفُوا كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا، فَمَا الَّذِي جَعَلَ قَوْلَ عَطَاءٍ، وَالْقَاسِمِ، وَرَبِيعَةَ، وَشُرَيْحٍ: أَوْلَى مِنْ قَوْلِ إبْرَاهِيمَ، وَابْنِ سِيرِينَ، وَعُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ؟

L21404 As for the Successors, they differed as we mentioned. What then makes the view of Aṭā', al-Qāsim, Rabīʿah, and Shurayḥ more authoritative than the view of Ibrāhīm, Ibn Sīrīn, and ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz?

هَذَا وَلَيْسَ عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ، وَشُرَيْحٍ إبْطَالُ صَدَقَةٍ، وَلَا عِتْقٍ، وَلَا بَيْعٍ، وَإِنَّمَا عَنْهُمَا إمْسَاكُ مَالٍ عَنْهُ فَقَطْ، وَإِنَّمَا جَاءَ إبْطَالُ الْبَيْعِ، وَالْعِتْقِ، وَالنِّكَاحِ عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ، وَعَطَاءٍ فَقَطْ.

L21405–21406 This—there is no annulment of charity, manumission, or sale attributed to al-Qāsim and Shurayḥ. Rather, only the withholding of property from him is attributed to them. The annulment of sale, manumission, and marriage is reported only from Rabīʿah and ʿAṭāʾ.

L21407 It has been reported, as we cited, from seven Followers and one Companion that "the foolish ones are women." These authorities are: al-Ḥasan, al-Ḥakam, Muʿāwiyah ibn Qurrah, Abū Mālik, al-Ḍaḥḥāk, Mujāhid, and Saʿīd ibn Jubayr from the Followers, along with one Companion. Yet they were all opposed. How can one consider the opinion of two Followers - though three from their own ranks contradicted them - as authoritative evidence, while not granting the same status to the opinion of seven Followers?

L21408 As for Al-Ḥasan and Al-Shaʿbī, nothing reported from them contradicts our position in any way. This is because Al-Ḥasan said: "Right guidance consists of righteousness in religion and preservation of wealth"—and we hold the same view. Every Muslim has a share of righteousness, yet none after Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—can fully attain righteousness in religion. There must inevitably be a shortcoming compared to his standard. Whoever does not expend his wealth in disobedience has indeed preserved it.

وَقَالَ الشَّعْبِيُّ: إنَّ الرَّجُلَ لَيَشْمَطُ وَمَا أُونِسَ مِنْهُ رُشْدٌ، وَصَدَقَ: قَدْ يَبْلُغُ الشَّيْخُ وَهُوَ مَجْنُونٌ، فَبَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمْ مُتَعَلَّقٌ أَصْلًا.

L21409 Al-Shaʿbi said: "A man may turn gray without any sign of maturity being perceived in him," and he spoke the truth: an old man may reach old age while remaining mentally incompetent. Thus, there remains no valid basis for their stance at all.

L21410 It was narrated to us through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar from ʿAbd al-Karīm al-Jazarī, who said: "'Umar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz wrote to ʿAdī ibn ʿAdī al-Kindī: 'Whatever you limit the imprudent in, do not limit them in three matters: emancipation, divorce, and marriage.'"

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْكَرِيمِ الْجَزَرِيِّ قَالَ: كَتَبَ عُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ إِلَى عَدِيِّ بْنِ عَدِيٍّ الْكِنْدِيِّ: مَهْمَا أَقَلَّتَ السُّفَهَاءَ فِيهِ مِنْ شَيْءٍ فَلَا تُقِلْهُمْ فِي ثَلَاثٍ: عِتْقٍ، وَطَلَاقٍ، وَنِكَاحٍ.

L21411 Abu Muhammad said: We say to them: When do you impose interdiction upon a person? Is it when he is first disadvantaged in a sale, or after being repeatedly wronged in transactions? If they say: Upon the first instance, we say: Then according to you, there is no one on earth except that he deserves interdiction, since no one can engage in trade without being disadvantaged.

L21412 And if they say, "But for each instance after another?" We respond: Define for us the specific number which, when attained by he who reaches it, nullifies his prohibition from selling, invalidates his emancipation and marriage, and necessitates the return of his charity - these are grave matters not to be trivialized through recklessness nor leniency, for Hellfire lies at their extremity. Should they define it, they become obligated to furnish proof, thereby increasing their arbitrary enforcement of falsehood in the religion of Allah the Exalted. If they fail to establish a defined limit for this, they thereby admit their ignorance of when the ruling they apply becomes binding upon them or ceases to be so, acknowledging that they judge through acts of ignorance and blindness.

L21413–21414 Similarly, we ask them: When do they impose interdiction on him if he is defrauded by an amount exceeding what people tolerate as common practice in similar transactions, or when defrauded by a substantial amount? If they respond: "By what exceeds customary tolerance in comparable exchanges," we counter: In your view, there is no one on the face of the earth who would not warrant interdiction, for every person who buys and sells may be defrauded to this extent. If they say: "Only when it exceeds that?" they must then define the legal threshold at which such grave consequences become obligatory—invalidating his sales, exempting him from liability for what he consumed of others' wealth through purchases while withholding payment, revoking his charitable donations, annulling his emancipations and L21415 It suffices concerning this that they are unable—until the end of time—to produce a single known, non-fabricated narration at the time it was in the Prophet's era (peace and blessings be upon him), nor in the era of Abu Bakr, nor the era of Umar—truly, nor the era of Uthman, nor the era of Ali (may Allah be pleased with them)—[narrating] about any religiously knowledgeable Muslim who prevented through legal interdiction from [giving] charity, emancipation, or marriage—none of which would harm his wealth—nor from a sale free from fraud. This they will never find. Woe to every legal ruling devised after their time! And with Allah, the Most High, is success.

L21416 Among the grave evils and abominations of this worldly life is their assertion that a legally restricted person need not atone through emancipation for his dhihār, nor for his intercourse during Ramadan, nor for accidental killing, nor for his oaths—except by fasting—even if he owns wealth beyond enumeration except by Allah the Exalted. This contradicts the Quran and the Sunnah, yet they obligate him to pay zakāh, provide maintenance for relatives, and support his wife. Is there any distinction between these two matters? The obligation of emancipation in what we have mentioned is established in the Quran, just as zakāh is mandated—alike, alike. Would that I knew from where this corrupt categorization emerged! Verily, this is truly astounding!

The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said to him: 'When you conduct a transaction, say: "There is no deception."' He said: "Thereafter, whenever the man engaged in a transaction, he would say: 'There is no deception.'"

Ibn ʿUmar said: "I heard him say whenever he conducted a transaction: 'No deception, no deception.'"

L21422 Ali said: These two narrations are of the utmost authenticity. Whoever advocates after hearing them for imposing interdiction on those deceived in sales transactions, or for enforcing a sale involving deceit, is none other than someone heedless of the truth, emboldened to commit major sins. For the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) neither considered their statements "Impose interdiction on him" nor "There is no interdiction," nor prohibited him from selling. Rather, he granted him the right of option to annul his purchase for three days, and commanded him not to sell except with full disclosure to prevent deceit. This is our position - and all praise belongs to Allah.

L21423–21425 From the chain of Al-Bukhārī: Yaḥyā ibn Bukayr narrated to us, Al-Layth ibn Saʿd narrated to us from ʿUqayl ibn Khālid, who said: Ibn Shihāb reported: ʿUrwah ibn Al-Zubayr informed me that ʿĀ'ishah, the Mother of the Believers, related in a lengthy ḥadīth about the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him). She mentioned his arrival in Medina after emigrating from Mecca, then he—meaning the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him)—mounted his she-camel and traveled until it knelt near his mosque (peace and blessings be upon him) in Medina. And he was praying there at that time, along with Muslim men. It had been a drying ground for dates belonging to Suhayl and Sahl, two orphan boys under the guardianship of... As'ad ibn Zurārah narrated: Then the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) summoned the two youths and haggled with them over the price of the Mirbad [a date-drying area] to build it into a mosque. They said, "Rather, we gift it to you, O Messenger of Allah!" But the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) refused to accept it from them as a gift until he purchased it from them. Then he built it as a mosque.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ: نا يَحْيَى بْنُ بُكَيْرٍ نا اللَّيْثُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ عَنْ عُقَيْلِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ قَالَ ابْنُ شِهَابٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي عُرْوَةُ بْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ: أَنَّ عَائِشَةَ أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ قَالَتْ فِي حَدِيثٍ طَوِيلٍ «عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ذَكَرَتْ فِيهِ إتْيَانَهُ إلَى الْمَدِينَةِ إذْ هَاجَرَ مِنْ مَكَّةَ ثُمَّ رَكِبَ -. تَعْنِي رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَاقَتَهُ فَسَارَ حَتَّى بَرَكَتْ عِنْدَ مَسْجِدِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بِالْمَدِينَةِ وَهُوَ يُصَلِّي فِيهِ يَوْمَئِذٍ رِجَالٌ مِنْ الْمُسْلِمِينَ، وَكَانَ مِرْبَدًا لِلتَّمْرِ لِسُهَيْلٍ وَسَهْلٍ غُلَامَيْنِ يَتِيمَيْنِ فِي حِجْرِ أَسْعَدَ بْنِ زُرَارَةَ، ثُمَّ دَعَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْغُلَامَيْنِ فَسَاوَمَهَا بِالْمِرْبَدِ لِيَتَّخِذَهُ مَسْجِدًا، فَقَالَا: بَلْ نَهَبُهُ لَك يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، فَأَبَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَقْبَلَهُ مِنْهُمَا هِبَةً حَتَّى ابْتَاعَهُ مِنْهُمَا، ثُمَّ بَنَاهُ مَسْجِدًا» .

L21426 So this Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—knew they were two orphans under another's guardianship. Yet he neither bargained with him, nor consulted him, nor bought from him. Rather, he bargained with them and validated their sale of it. He did not grant the one in whose care they were any authority in that matter.

L21427 If it is said: "Did he not accept their gift to him?" We reply: He had done the same with Abu Bakr about a month or less prior, when he (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) intended to emigrate. Abu Bakr (may Allah be pleased with him) offered him one of his two she-camels, saying: "This is for you, O Messenger of Allah." But the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) refused to ride it unless he paid its price, so he purchased it. Thus, his (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) rejection of the orphans' gift paralleled his rejection of Abu Bakr's gift—there being no distinction. This was not because such gifts were impermissible for them to offer.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: لَمْ يَقْبَلْ هِبَتَهُمَا إيَّاهُ؟ قُلْنَا: قَدْ فَعَلَ مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ بِأَبِي بَكْرٍ قَبْلَ ذَلِكَ بِأَقَلَّ مِنْ شَهْرٍ، أَوْ شَهْرٍ، «إذْ أَرَادَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - الْهِجْرَةَ فَقَدَّمَ إلَيْهِ أَبُو بَكْرٍ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ - إحْدَى نَاقَتَيْنِ لَهُ، وَقَالَ لَهُ: هِيَ لَكَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، فَأَبَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَرْكَبَهَا إلَّا بِالثَّمَنِ فَابْتَاعَهَا مِنْهُ» فَرَدُّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - هِبَةَ الْيَتِيمَيْنِ كَرَدِّهِ هِبَةَ أَبِي بَكْرٍ وَلَا فَرْقَ - لَيْسَ؛ لِأَنَّ ذَلِكَ، لَا يَجُوزُ مِنْهُمْ.

L21428 The proof for this is his permission—upon him be peace—regarding their sale, with no disagreement among opposing schools that whoever is unrestricted in selling remains unrestricted in gift-giving within this context. They differentiated between gift and sale solely in cases involving a sick person or a married woman, specifically regarding preferential treatment exceeding one-third. This is an authentic narration without flaw. ʻUqayl—one of al-Zuhrī's exclusive specialists, verified in his transmissions, and his constant companions—is reported thus, as is ʻUrwah's association with ʻĀ'ishah (may Allah be pleased with her).

L21429 We have been narrated a report which—if others had obtained its like—they would have transgressed with it, just as we have been narrated through the chain of Abū Dāwūd: from Aḥmad ibn Ṣāliḥ, from Yaḥyā ibn Muḥammad al-Madanī, from ʿAbdullāh ibn Khālid ibn Saʿīd ibn Abī Maryam, from Saʿīd ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Ruqaysh, that he heard his elders from Banū ʿAmr ibn ʿAwf and his maternal uncle ʿAbdullāh ibn Abī Aḥmad say: ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib said: I memorized from the Messenger of Allāh (peace and blessings be upon him): "There is no orphanhood after puberty."

L21430 Abu Muhammad said: At minimum, this narration constitutes a mawqūf report attributed to Ali ibn Abi Talib. This contradicts their reliance on his position regarding legal interdiction [al-hajr]—which lacks explicit textual basis—as being fully aligned with their opinion in any circumstance.

Were it not for them, I would not have preferred anyone over you." Suhayb said to him: "What are they, for you are a fault-finder?" Umar said after a remark: "I see you squandering your wealth, adopting a kunya named after a prophet, and claiming Arab lineage while your tongue is non-Arab." Suhayb replied: “As for my spending, I expend wealth only in rightful causes. As for my kunya, the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—named me Abu Yahya. Shall I discard it due to your objection? As for my Arab lineage, the Romans captured me as a child. I recall nothing of my kin—if a dung heap were to split open for me, I would claim lineage to it!” Thus, Umar deemed Suhayb’s conduct wasteful yet did not legally forbid him. This suffices as evidence. And success is by Allah, the Exalted, alone.

عَرَبِيًّا، وَلِسَانُك أَعْجَمِيٌّ، فَقَالَ لَهُ صُهَيْبٌ: أَمَّا تَبْذِيرِي مَالِي فَمَا أُنْفِقُهُ إلَّا فِي حَقِّهِ، وَأَمَّا اكْتِنَائِي فَإِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - كَنَّانِي بِأَبِي يَحْيَى، أَفَأَتْرُكُهَا لِقَوْلِك؟ وَأَمَّا انْتِسَابِي إلَى الْعَرَبِ فَإِنَّ الرُّومَ سَبَتْنِي وَأَنَا صَغِيرٌ، فَإِنِّي لَا أَذْكُرُ أَهْلَ أَبَيَاتِي وَلَوْ انْفَلَقَتْ عَنِّي رَوْثَةٌ لَانْتَسَبْت إلَيْهَا - فَهَذَا عُمَرُ يَرَى فِعْلَ صُهَيْبٍ تَبْذِيرًا وَلَمْ يَحْجُرْ عَلَيْهِ، وَفِي هَذَا كِفَايَةٌ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

Issue: The ill, the pregnant woman, the one detained for execution, and the captive in confinement are equal.

1395 - Question: A person afflicted with a terminal or curable illness, a pregnant woman from conception until childbirth or death, one sentenced to lawful execution for qisas, ḥadd, or unjustly, a captive held by those who kill prisoners or spare them, one facing imminent destruction, and a combatant engaged between two battle lines—all are equal. As for the rest of people, their wealth remains [subject to ordinary rulings], with no distinction in their charities, sales, emancipations, gifts, or the rest of their wealth.

١٣٩٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَالْمَرِيضُ مَرَضًا يَمُوتُ مِنْهُ أَوْ يَبْرَأُ مِنْهُ، وَالْحَامِلُ مُذْ تَحْمِلُ إلَى أَنْ تَضَعَ أَوْ تَمُوتَ، وَالْمَوْقُوفُ لِلْقَتْلِ بِحَقٍّ فِي قَوَدٍ أَوْ حَدٍّ أَوْ بِبَاطِلٍ، وَالْأَسِيرُ عِنْدَ مَنْ يَقْتُلُ الْأَسْرَى أَوْ مَنْ لَا يَقْتُلُهُمْ، وَالْمُشْرِفُ عَلَى الْعَطَبِ، وَالْمُقَاتِلُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَّيْنِ كُلُّهُمْ سَوَاءٌ، وَسَائِرُ النَّاسِ فِي أَمْوَالِهِمْ، وَلَا فَرْقَ فِي صَدَقَاتِهِمْ، وَبُيُوعِهِمْ، وَعِتْقِهِمْ وَهِبَاتِهِمْ وَسَائِرِ أَمْوَالِهِمْ.

A school of jurists ruled that legal restriction (ḥajr) must be imposed upon these individuals concerning any portion of their estate exceeding one-third.

Abu Sulayman said: Our companions hold the same opinion as ours except specifically and exclusively regarding manumission, for they stated that the manumission of a sick person exclusively—excluding the rest of those we mentioned—only takes effect within one-third of the estate, regardless of whether he recovers from his illness or dies during it, irrespective of the nature of the illness.

وَقَالَ أَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ: وَأَصْحَابُنَا كَقَوْلِنَا إلَّا فِي الْعِتْقِ خَاصَّةً فَقَطْ، فَإِنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: عِتْقُ الْمَرِيضِ خَاصَّةً دُونَ سَائِرِ مَنْ ذَكَرْنَا لَا يَنْفُذُ إلَّا مِنْ الثُّلُثِ، سَوَاءٌ أَفَاقَ مِنْ مَرَضِهِ، أَوْ مَاتَ مِنْهُ - أَيِّ مَرَضٍ كَانَ.

It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: ʻAlī ibn Mushir narrated to us: Ismāʻīl ibn Abī Khālid narrated to us from al-Shaʻbī from Masrūq that he was asked about one who emancipated his slave during his illness while possessing no property besides him. Masrūq said: “I uphold the emancipation in full - a thing God has decreed. I do not reject it." Shurayḥ said: "I uphold one-third of it and require the slave to work for the remaining two-thirds."

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا عَلِيُّ بْنُ مُسْهِرٍ نا إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ أَبِي خَالِدٍ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ مَسْرُوقٍ أَنَّهُ سُئِلَ عَمَّنْ أَعْتَقَ عَبْدًا لَهُ فِي مَرَضِهِ وَلَيْسَ لَهُ مَالٌ غَيْرُهُ؟ فَقَالَ مَسْرُوق: أُجِيزُهُ بِرُمَّتِهِ، شَيْءٌ جَعَلَهُ اللَّهُ لَا أَرُدُّهُ - وَقَالَ شُرَيْحٌ: أُجِيزُ ثُلُثَهُ وَأَسْتَسْعِيهِ فِي ثُلُثَيْهِ.

L21438 Al-Shaʿbī said: The legal view of Masrūq is most favored by me in issuing fatwas, the legal view of Shurayḥ is most favored by me in judicial verdicts - and the legal view of al-Nakhaʿī corresponds to that of Shurayḥ.

قَالَ الشَّعْبِيُّ: قَوْلُ مَسْرُوقٍ أَحَبُّ إلَيَّ فِي الْفُتْيَا، وَقَوْلُ شُرَيْحٍ أَحَبُّ إلَيَّ فِي الْقَضَاءِ - وَقَوْلُ النَّخَعِيِّ كَقَوْلِ شُرَيْحٍ.

L21439 Narrated via Qatadah, on the authority of Al-Ḥasan, on the authority of Ibn Masʿūd regarding a person who manumits his slave while on his own deathbed when the slave is his sole property: He said, "The emancipation is valid for one-third of his estate."

L21440–21441 From the chain of Maʾmar via ʾAbd al-Rahman ibn ʾAbd Allah via al-Qasim ibn ʾAbd al-Rahman: A man purchased a slave girl during his illness and freed her at his death. Those who sold her came to collect her price but found no wealth belonging to him. Ibn Masʾud said: "Work to pay your price."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ أَنَّ رَجُلًا اشْتَرَى جَارِيَةً فِي مَرَضِهِ فَأَعْتَقَهَا عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ فَجَاءَ الَّذِينَ بَاعُوهَا بِثَمَنِهَا فَلَمْ يَجِدُوا لَهُ مَالًا فَقَالَ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ: اسْعِي فِي ثَمَنِك.

L21442 From the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāʾah, from Qatādah, from Al-Ḥasan: ʿAlī was asked about someone who emancipated his slave at the time of his death while owning no property besides the slave and owing debts. He said: "The slave is emancipated but must work to settle the debt equivalent to his assessed value."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ سُئِلَ عَلِيٌّ عَمَّنْ أَعْتَقَ عَبْدًا لَهُ عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ، وَلَيْسَ لَهُ مَالٌ غَيْرُهُ وَعَلَيْهِ دَيْنٌ؟ قَالَ: يَعْتِقُ وَيَسْعَى فِي الْقِيمَةِ

L21443 Al-Nakhaʿī ruled regarding one who emancipates a slave at the time of his death while possessing no property other than the slave and owing debt: the value of the slave is assessed and utilized to settle the debt. If any surplus remains, one-third is allocated to the emancipated slave as a grant from the estate, and two-thirds belong to the heirs.

وَقَالَ النَّخَعِيُّ فِيمَنْ أَعْتَقَ عَبْدًا عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ لَا مَالَ لَهُ غَيْرُهُ وَعَلَيْهِ دَيْنٌ: أَنَّهُ يَسْعَى فِي قِيمَتِهِ فَيَقْضِي الدَّيْنَ، فَإِنْ فَضَلَ شَيْءٌ فَلَهُ ثُلُثُهُ وَلِلْوَرَثَةِ ثُلُثَاهُ.

L21444 Al-Ḥasan and ʿAṭāʾ said: The manumission by a gravely ill person is drawn from the third of the estate - and this is the opinion of Qatādah, Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib, Abān ibn ʿUthmān, Sulaymān ibn Mūsā, and Makhūl. They later disagreed: some invalidated what exceeded the third, while others enforced the full manumission, obliging the enslaved person to work for the heirs regarding what exceeded the third.

وَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ، وَعَطَاءٌ: عِتْقُ الْمَرِيضِ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ قَتَادَةَ، وَسَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ، وَأَبَانَ بْنِ عُثْمَانَ، وَسُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ مُوسَى، وَمَكْحُولٍ - ثُمَّ اخْتَلَفُوا، فَمِنْ مُرِقٍّ مِنْهُ مَا زَادَ عَلَى الثُّلُثِ، وَمِنْ مُعْتِقٍ بِجَمِيعِهِ وَيَسْتَسْعِيهِ فِيمَا زَادَ عَلَى الثُّلُثِ.

L21445 As for his selling and buying: It has been narrated through the chain of Sufyān al-Thawrī, from Jābir al-Juʿfī, from al-Shaʿbī regarding a sick person who engages in selling and buying. Al-Shaʿbi said: Such transactions are valid within the third of his estate, even if he remains alive for ten years.

L21446 As for the pregnant woman: It was narrated to us through Sufyan al-Thawri, via Jabir al-Juʿfi, al-Shaʿbi, and Shurayh, that he held the view that whatever the pregnant woman disposes of during her pregnancy is limited to the allowable third. Sufyan said: “We do not accept this position; rather, we maintain that whatever she disposes of is valid unless she is ill from a cause unrelated to pregnancy or her delivery is imminent” (meaning childbirth could harm her). ‘Ata’ said: “Is whatever the pregnant woman disposes of during her pregnancy considered a bequest?” I asked: “Is this your personal opinion?” He replied: “No, we received it through narration”—this being the view of Qatadah and ‘Ikrimah. Al-Hasan, al-Nakhaʿi, Makhūl, and al-Zuhri stated: “The gift of a pregnant woman holds the same legal weight as that of a legally competent person.”

وَأَمَّا الْحَامِلُ: فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ جَابِرٍ الْجُعْفِيِّ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ شُرَيْحٍ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَرَى مَا صَنَعَتْ الْحَامِلُ فِي حَمْلِهَا مِنْ الثُّلُثِ؟ قَالَ سُفْيَانُ: وَنَحْنُ لَا نَأْخُذُ بِهَذَا، بَلْ نَقُولُ: مَا صَنَعَتْ فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ، إلَّا أَنْ تَكُونَ مَرِيضَةً مِنْ غَيْرِ الْحَمْلِ، أَوْ يَدْنُو مَخَاضُهَا - يُرِيدُ أَنْ يَضُرَّ بِهَا الطَّلْقُ وَقَالَ عَطَاءٌ: مَا صَنَعَتْ الْحَامِلُ فِي حَمْلِهَا فَهُوَ وَصِيَّةٌ؟ قُلْتُ: أَرَأْيٌ؟ قَالَ: بَلْ سَمِعْنَاهُ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ قَتَادَةَ: وَعِكْرِمَةَ - وَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ، وَالنَّخَعِيُّ، وَمَكْحُولٌ وَالزُّهْرِيِّ: عَطِيَّةُ الْحَامِلِ كَعَطِيَّةِ الصَّحِيحِ.

L21447 From the chain of narration of Ibn Wahb, from ʿAmr ibn al-Ḥārith, from Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, that he heard al-Qāsim ibn Muḥammad ibn Abī Bakr al-Ṣiddīq say: “Whatever a pregnant woman gives to an heir or spouse must come from her principal wealth, unless she is terminally ill.” Rabīʿah said: “The ruling remains the same, except if her pregnancy reaches an advanced stage or she enters childbirth.”

L21448–21450 Ibn Wahb said, and I was also informed of this from Ibn al-Musayyib, Yahya ibn Saʿid, and Ibn Hujayrah al-Khawlani—and this is the opinion of Ahmad and Ishaq—. And al-Nakhaʿi, Makhul, and Yahya ibn Saʿid al-Ansari said. Al-Awzaʿī, ʿUbaydullāh ibn al-Ḥasan, and al-Shāfiʿī hold the same opinion as

قَالَ ابْنُ وَهْبٍ وَأَخْبَرَت بِهَذَا أَيْضًا عَنْ ابْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ، وَيَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ، وَابْنِ حُجَيْرَةَ الْخَوْلَانِيِّ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَحْمَدَ، وَإِسْحَاقَ - وَقَالَ النَّخَعِيُّ، وَمَكْحُولٌ وَيَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ

Sufyān al-Thawrī regarding the grant to a pregnant woman—this is also the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah.

الْأَنْصَارِيُّ وَالْأَوْزَاعِيُّ، وَعُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ فِي عَطِيَّةِ الْحَامِلِ كَقَوْلِ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ.

L21451 It is narrated from Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib: "The bequest for a warrior is to be taken from the third [of the estate]." Makḥūl said: "Rather, it is from the principal of his wealth, unless he is actively engaged in battle. The bequest for a maritime traveler is subject to the same ruling."

وَرُوِيَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ: عَطِيَّةُ الْغَازِي مِنَ الثُّلُثِ - وَقَالَ مَكْحُولٌ: بَلْ مِنْ رَأْسِ مَالِهِ، إِلَّا أَنْ تَقَعَ الْمُسَايَفَةُ وَعَطِيَّةُ رَاكِبِ الْبَحْرِ كَذَلِكَ.

L21452 Al-Ḥasan said: He is like the healthy person, and similarly the seafarer, and whoever is in a land where a plague has occurred. Makḥūl said: Likewise in the case of the seafarer as long as the sea has not become turbulent.

وَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ: هُوَ كَالصَّحِيحِ، وَكَذَلِكَ رَاكِبُ الْبَحْرِ، وَمَنْ كَانَ فِي بَلَدٍ قَدْ وَقَعَ فِيهِ الطَّاعُونُ. وَقَالَ مَكْحُولٌ: كَذَلِكَ فِي رَاكِبِ الْبَحْرِ مَا لَمْ يَهِجِ الْبَحْرُ.

L21453 Al-Ḥasan said regarding Iyās ibn Muʿāwiyah when al-Ḥajjāj imprisoned him: "He is entitled to nothing of his wealth except a third." When Iyās learned of this statement, he remarked: "No one gains jurisprudential understanding without their opinion of people becoming poor."

وَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ فِي إِيَاسِ بْنِ مُعَاوِيَةَ لَمَّا حَبَسَهُ الْحَجَّاجُ: لَيْسَ لَهُ مِنْ مَالِهِ، إِلَّا الثُّلُثُ، فَقَالَ إِيَاسٌ إِذْ بَلَغَهُ قَوْلُهُ: مَا فَقِهَ أَحَدٌ إِلَّا سَاءَ ظَنُّهُ بِالنَّاسِ.

L21454 Al-Shaʿbī said: "What the traveler allocates is from the third, from where his saddle is fixed in the insertion." Al-Nakhaʿī said: "Rather, it is from the principal of the estate."

وَقَالَ الشَّعْبِيُّ: مَا صَنَعَ الْمُسَافِرُ فَمِنَ الثُّلُثِ مِنْ حَيْثُ يَقَعُ رَحْلُهُ فِي الْغَرْزِ - قَالَ النَّخَعِيُّ: بَلْ مِنْ رَأْسِ الْمَالِ.

L21455 And Az-Zuhri said: Whatever the captive commits is to be taken from the Third of the estate.

وَقَالَ الزُّهْرِيُّ: مَا صَنَعَ الْأَسِيرُ فَمِنَ الثُّلُثِ.

L21456 Abu Hanifah said: A sick person may not settle debts with some creditors without settling with others.

L21457 They held that his preferential pricing in sales, his gifts, his charitable donations, and his manumissions—all these acts are charged against the third of the estate if he dies from that illness. However, the manumission is fully executed, and the heirs are required to make up the portion exceeding the third. If he recovers from that illness, all these acts are fulfilled from his entire estate.

وَرَأَوْا مُحَابَاتَهُ فِي الْبَيْعِ، وَهِبَاتِهِ، وَصَدَقَاتِهِ، وَعِتْقِهِ، كُلُّ ذَلِكَ مِنَ الثُّلُثِ إِنْ مَاتَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ الْمَرَضِ، إِلَّا أَنَّ الْعِتْقَ يَنْفُذُ كُلُّهُ وَيُسْتَسْعَى فِيمَا لَا يَحْمِلُهُ الثُّلُثُ مِنْهُ، فَإِنْ أَفَاقَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ الْمَرَضِ نَفَذَ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ مِنْ رَأْسِ مَالِهِ.

L21458 As for one prevented from completing pilgrimage and one stationed in battle formation, their rulings are treated as those of a person in full legal capacity.

وَأَمَّا الْمَحْصُورُ، وَالْوَاقِفُ فِي صَفِّ الْحَرْبِ فَكَالصَّحِيحِ. وَأَمَّا الَّذِي يُقَدَّمُ لِلْقَتْلِ فِي قِصَاصٍ، أَوْ رَجْمٍ فَكَالْمَرِيضِ.

As for one designated for execution in cases of qisas (retaliation) or rajm (stoning), his ruling is equivalent to that of one with a valid legal excuse.

وَمَنْ اشْتَرَى ابْنَهُ فِي مَرَضِهِ الَّذِي مَاتَ فِيهِ فَإِنْ خَرَجَ مِنْ ثُلُثِهِ عَتَقَ وَوَرِثَهُ، وَإِنْ لَمْ يَخْرُجْ مِنْ ثُلُثِهِ عَتَقَ وَلَمْ يَرِثْهُ، وَاسْتَسْعَى فِيمَا زَادَ عَلَى الثُّلُثِ كَسَائِرِ الْوَرَثَةِ، فَإِنْ أَقَرَّ بِوَلَدِ أَمَتِهِ فِي مَرَضِ مَوْتِهِ لَحِقَ بِهِ وَوَرِثَهُ، وَإِنْ وَطِئَ أَمَةً فِي مَرَضِ مَوْتِهِ فَحَمَلَتْ فَهِيَ أُمُّ وَلَدٍ مِنْ رَأْسِ مَالِهِ وَيَرِثُهُ وَلَدُهَا. وَوَافَقَهُ عَلَى ذَلِكَ كُلِّهِ أَبُو يُوسُفَ، وَمُحَمَّدٌ، إِلَّا أَنَّ الَّذِي يَشْتَرِي وَلَدَهُ فِي مَرَضِهِ وَلَا يَحْمِلُهُ الثُّلُثُ فَإِنَّهُمَا قَالَا: يَرِثُهُ عَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ، وَيُسْتَسْعَى فِيمَا يَقَعُ مِنْ قِيمَتِهِ لِلْوَرَثَةِ فَيَأْخُذُونَهُ.

L21459 If a man purchases his son during his terminal illness and the emancipation falls within the third of his estate reserved for discretionary bequests, the son is emancipated and inherits from him. If it does not fall within the third, he is emancipated but does not inherit, and he is required to work to compensate for the excess over the third like the rest of the heirs. If he acknowledges a child born to his female slave during his terminal illness, the child is recognized as his and inherits from him. If he has intercourse with a female slave during his terminal illness and she conceives, she becomes an umm walad (mother of a child by her master) from the assets of his estate, and her child inherits from him. Abū Yūsuf and Muḥammad agreed with all of this except regarding the purchase of one's son during an illness when the third does not encompass the cost. They held that the son inherits in all cases, and he is required to work for the portion of his value that pertains to the heirs, which they claim.

وَقَالُوا كُلُّهُمْ: إِنَّمَا هَذَا فِي الْمَرَضِ الْمُخِيفِ كَالْحُمَّى الصَّالِبِ وَالْبِرْسَامِ، وَالْبَطْنِ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ، وَلَمْ يَرَوْا ذَلِكَ فِي الْجُذَامِ، وَلَا حُمَّى الرِّبْعِ، وَلَا السُّلِّ وَلَا مَنْ يَذْهَبُ وَيَجِيءُ فِي مَرَضِهِ.

L21460–21461 And all of them said: This applies only to a dreaded illness such as ardent fever, pleurisy, abdominal ailment, and the like, but they did not consider this applicable to leprosy, nor to quartan fever, nor to consumption, nor to those whose illness comes and goes.

L21462 Malik said: His opinion aligns with Abu Hanifah's in all we have mentioned except regarding the pregnant woman, for her legal acts in his view remain valid like those of a healthy person until she completes six months of pregnancy. When she completes the six months, her financial acts are treated as those of an ill person. He even prohibited her from resuming the marriage with her husband who had divorced her with one or two irrevocable divorces, unless appointing arbitrators was sought – but he rejected this. Rather, he ordered the sale [of assets] provided the third [of the estate] was not exceeded, except in the case of one who ransomed his son [from slavery] during his illness without the third [of the estate] being exceeded. In that scenario, he emancipated the portion equivalent to a third and sold the remainder.

L21463 Al-Shafi'i and Sufyan al-Thawri stated that a sick person may settle some creditors while excluding others. Al-Shafi'i said: Acts performed by a person afflicted with a serious illness are deducted from one-third of his estate. If he recovers, such acts are drawn from his personal wealth. His rulings differed regarding one sentenced to execution - sometimes stating he is considered like a healthy person, and other times like a sick person.

L21464–21466 Abu Muhammad said: As for the statement of Mālik and Abū Ḥanīfah that a sick person may not repay some creditors while excluding others - this is an error in their distinction between the rulings for the healthy and the sick in this matter. The truth regarding... That is to say that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—commanded that every rightful claimant be given their due. Thus, in his equitable treatment of some creditors while excluding others, he granted what fulfilled the right of those he treated justly. Whoever acts according to this command performs benevolence, and benevolence is not rejected. If the creditor who was not given their due is present demanding their right, the debtor transgresses by withholding it. These are two cases: in one he was correct, in the other he committed injustice. The right itself is not nullified by the debtor's wrongdoing in another matter. The creditor's right resides solely in the debtor's personal obligation, not in specific property, as long as the debtor lives and remains solvent. Since this is so, what the debtor rightfully gave to one creditor remains validly discharged, while he remains obligated to fulfill the remaining creditors' rights—which persist in his personal obligation, not in the specific property given to others. No explicit text distinguishes between healthy and sick persons in this matter, and we know of no earlier predecessors for their opinion in this statement.

L21467 As for their statement regarding one who purchased his child during his illness, such that the third [of the estate] did not suffice for it—[asserting] that the child does not inherit him—but if the third sufficed, the child is emancipated and inherits—this is a statement at the peak of corruption and contradiction. We know of no predecessor among earlier scholars who upheld their view, for if this were considered a bequest, a bequest to an heir is invalid. By their own principles, the emancipation should not take effect at all, whether the third suffices for it or not. Indeed, some Shāfiʿī scholars have held this view.

L21468 Others among them said: The purchase is invalid because it constitutes a bequest to an heir. Even if it is not considered a bequest, why would he not inherit when emancipated through his father's ownership of him? Their contradiction is evident in the case of a sick man who has intercourse with his female slave and impregnates her - thus she is freed at the expense of his estate, and her child inherits him. If they argue: "Her pregnancy is not his act?" We respond: But his intercourse with her is his act, his acknowledgment of the child's parentage is his act, while the child's manumission in any case is not his act. As for Mālik's ruling regarding the pregnant woman, it is an opinion for which we know no prior precedent. Some of his followers sought to justify it by citing Allah's statement: {When he had intercourse with her, she carried a light burden and went about with it. When she became heavy, they both supplicated to Allah, their Lord} [Al-Aʿrāf 7:189].[32]

L21469 Abu Muhammad said: This is their misleading implication to argue using what provides no valid proof for them whatsoever, for Allah the Exalted did not state that undue burden is restricted to the completion of six months. Thus their obfuscation by means of what they have no valid basis for is laid bare.

L21470 Then, if only I knew who among them would assert that burdens in their entirety are included under the ruling applicable to the sick—when indeed a carrier may bear a heavy burden, yet would not thereby fall under the ruling of the sick in their view.

L21471–21472 If they say: She can give birth after six months? We say: She may miscarry before that, and miscarriage is more dangerous than childbirth or similar to it. Thus, the invalidity of this statement is completely evident. And success is through Allah, the Most High.

L21473 Ali said: "Then we take by the power and strength of Allah the Exalted in the opinion of those who say that the actions of a sick person or one feared to be near death are taken from one-third?" Abu Muhammad said:

"They cited as evidence the well-established, renowned report through Ibn Sirin and Abi Al-Muhallab, both narrating from Imran ibn Al-Husayn: 'A man freed six slaves he owned at his death, having no property other than them. The Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—summoned them, divided them into thirds, then drew lots among them. He freed two and enslaved four.'"

L21474 In some narrations, it is mentioned that he—peace be upon him—spoke firmly regarding it. According to the authentic, well-established report transmitted via the chains of Mālik, Ibn ʿUyaynah, and Ibrāhīm ibn Saʿd from al-Zuhrī, from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd ibn Abī Waqqāṣ, from his father, who said: "Allah's Messenger—may Allah's blessings and peace be upon him—came to visit me during an illness that had severely afflicted me. I said, 'O Messenger of Allah, the pain I endure is as severe as you witness, and I possess wealth, yet none will inherit me except a daughter. Should I donate two-thirds of my wealth?' He—peace be upon him—replied, 'No.' I asked, 'Then half?' He said, 'No.' Then he—peace be upon him—said, 'A third, and a third is a significant portion. Indeed, leaving your heirs wealthy is better than leaving them impoverished, reduced to begging from people.'" He then related the rest of the report.

L21475 They said: He (peace be upon him) did not permit him to allocate charitable bequests exceeding a third of his estate.

L21476–21478 And with a report we have narrated through the chain of Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ayman: narrated to us Yazīd ibn Muḥammad al-ʿUqaylī; narrated to us Ḥafṣ ibn ʿUmar ibn Maymūn, from Thawr ibn Yazīd, from Makhūl, from al-Ṣunābiḥī, from Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Indeed, Allah has bestowed upon you the charity of a third of your wealth to bequeath at the time of your death, as a mercy to you and an increase in your deeds and virtuous acts."

L21479 And through the chain of Sulaymān ibn Mūsā, I heard that the Messenger of Allah—may Allah's blessings and peace be upon him—said: "A third of your wealth has been ordained as an increase in your deeds."

L21480 And from the chain of Ma’mar from Ayyub from Abu Qilabah: The Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said in a narration from Allah the Exalted: “I have made a portion of your wealth existent at the time of your death by which I will have mercy on you.” And from the chain of Ma’mar from Qatadah, he said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: “Redeem yourselves before your Lord, O people! Behold, nothing belongs to any person. Beware! Let it not be that I come to know of a man who withheld Allah’s rightful due until when death approaches him, he begins to scatter his wealth in every direction.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ عَنْ أَبِي قِلَابَةَ «قَالَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي خَبَرٍ عَنْ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: أَنَّهُ قَالَ: جَعَلْتُ لَكَ طَائِفَةً مِنْ مَالِكَ عِنْدَ مَوْتِكَ أَرْحَمُكَ بِهِ» . وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «ابْتَاعُوا أَنْفُسَكُمْ مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ، أَلَا إنَّهُ لَيْسَ لِامْرِئٍ شَيْءٌ، أَلَا لَا أَعْرِفَنَّ امْرَأً بَخِلَ بِحَقِّ اللَّهِ حَتَّى إذَا حَضَرَهُ الْمَوْتُ أَخَذَ يُذَعْذِعُ مَالَهُ هَهُنَا هَهُنَا» .

L21481–21482 And from the chain of Wakīʿ, from Ṭalḥah—he is Ibn ʿAmr al-Makkī—from ʿAṭāʾ, from Abū Hurayrah, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said: “Verily Allah has given you a third of your wealth as charity (ṣadaqah) upon your death, as an increase for your deeds.” From the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym narrated to us: Ḥajjāj from al-ʿAlāʾ ibn Badr, from Abū Yaḥyā al-Makkī: “A man manumitted his slave at his death when he owned no property other than the slave and owed debts. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—commanded the man to have the slave work to pay his value.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ طَلْحَةَ - هُوَ ابْنُ عَمْرٍو الْمَكِّيُّ - عَنْ عَطَاءٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إنَّ اللَّهَ تَصَدَّقَ عَلَيْكُمْ بِالثُّلُثِ مِنْ أَمْوَالِكُمْ عِنْدَ وَفَاتِكُمْ زِيَادَةً لَكُمْ فِي أَعْمَالِكُمْ» . وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا حَجَّاجٌ عَنْ الْعَلَاءِ بْنِ بَدْرٍ عَنْ أَبِي يَحْيَى الْمَكِّيِّ: «أَنَّ رَجُلًا أَعْتَقَ غُلَامًا لَهُ عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ لَيْسَ لَهُ مَالٌ غَيْرَهُ، وَعَلَيْهِ دَيْنٌ، فَأَمَرَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَسْعَى فِي قِيمَتِهِ» .

L21483 Via the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym reported to us, saying, “I [heard] from Khālid, from Abī Qilābah, from a man of Banī ʻUdhrah: A man among them manumitted a slave at his death while owning no property besides him. This matter was presented to the Messenger of Allāh (peace be upon him), who manumitted one-third of the slave and obligated him to work for the remaining two-thirds.” They said: It is authentically established from Abū Bakr that he told ʻĀ’ishah (may Allāh be pleased with her) at his death: “I irrevocably gifted you twenty wasqs from my property. Had you taken possession and secured it, it would have been yours. But today, it belongs to the heir’s property.” They said: Abū Bakr declared this before the Companions, affirming that when one approaches death, his property becomes the heir’s property.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا خَالِدٌ عَنْ أَبِي قِلَابَةَ عَنْ رَجُلٍ مِنْ بَنِي عُذْرَةَ «أَنَّ رَجُلًا مِنْهُمْ أَعْتَقَ غُلَامًا عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ وَلَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُ مَالٌ غَيْرَهُ، فَرَفَعَ ذَلِكَ إلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَأَعْتَقَ مِنْهُ الثُّلُثَ وَاسْتَسْعَى فِي الثُّلُثَيْنِ» : وَقَالُوا قَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرٍ أَنَّهُ قَالَ لِعَائِشَةَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا - عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ " إنِّي كُنْتُ نَحَلْتُكِ جَادَّ عِشْرِينَ وَسْقًا مِنْ مَالِي فَلَوْ كُنْتِ جَدَدْتِيهِ وَحُزْتِيهِ لَكَانَ لَكِ، وَإِنَّمَا هُوَ الْيَوْمَ مَالُ الْوَارِثِ " قَالُوا: فَأَخْبَرَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ بِحَضْرَةِ الصَّحَابَةِ أَنَّ مَنْ قَارَبَ الْمَوْتَ فَمَالُهُ مَالُ الْوَارِثِ.

L21484 They said: What we have cited from Ali and Ibn Mas’ud has indeed been established, and no dissenting opinion opposing them is known among the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) - thus it is consensus (ijmaʿ). They further said: We have analogically compared it to the testamentary will.

وَقَالُوا: قَدْ جَاءَ مَا أَوْرَدْنَا عَنْ عَلِيٍّ، وَابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ، وَلَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُمَا يُعْرَفُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - فَهُوَ إجْمَاعٌ، وَقَالُوا: قِسْنَاهُ عَلَى الْوَصِيَّةِ.

L21485 Abū Muḥammad said: This is all they have disputed, and none of it provides valid evidence for them. As for the narration of a man from Banū ʻUdhrah: it is a mursal report transmitted from an unknown narrator. Moreover, even if it were authentic, it would contradict the positions of Mālik and al-Shāfiʻī, for they do not recognize the validity of istisʻā'.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذَا كُلُّ مَا شَغَبُوا بِهِ، وَكُلُّهُ لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ -: أَمَّا حَدِيثُ رَجُلٍ مِنْ بَنِي عُذْرَةَ: فَمُرْسَلٌ، وَعَنْ مَجْهُولٍ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ مُخَالِفًا لِقَوْلِ مَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ؛ لِأَنَّهُمَا لَا يَرَيَانِ الِاسْتِسْعَاءَ.

L21486 As for the report of Abū Yaḥyā al-Mālikī: it is invalid because it is _mursal_ (transmitted without a complete chain), and from Ḥajjāj—who is discarded. Moreover, even if it were authentic, it would contradict the doctrines of Mālik and al-Shāfiʻī.

L21487 As for the ḥadīth of Abū Hurayrah, its chain includes Ṭalḥah ibn ʻAmr al-Makkī - and he is a fabricator.

L21488–21490 As for the ḥadīth of Qatādah: it is mursal. Furthermore, even if it were authentic, they would have no valid proof in it, because stinginess in a right... By Allah, the Exalted, we do not disagree with them that it is impermissible, and that profligate dispersal of wealth here and there is not permissible according to us; neither in a state of health nor sickness. Therefore, this report does not conflict with our view.

L21491 As for the ḥadīth of Abū Qilābah, it is mursal, and likewise the ḥadīth of Sulaymān ibn Mūsā is mursal.

L21492 As for the narration of Abū Bakr, its chain of transmission is not widely recognized, and we do not know the status of Ḥafṣ ibn ʻUmar ibn Maymūn. Even if this narration and all the other traditions we mentioned were authentic, they would not constitute any valid proof whatsoever, because all of them merely indicate that Allah—Exalted and Glorified—bestows upon us as charity a third of our wealth at the time of our death. This corresponds to the bequest, which is indisputably valid after death. It is established in the linguistic convention by which the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—addressed us that Arabs say: "Such an affair occurred at the time of so-and-so's death," as in "The Arabs apostatized at the time of the Messenger of Allah's death—peace and blessings be upon him—" and "'Umar was appointed leader at the time of Abū Bakr's death." This is a widely recognized and established matter. All these narrations conform perfectly to this interpretation and align with our actual position, excepting the narration of Al-ʿAlāʾ ibn Badr from Abū Yaḥyā al-Makkī, which cannot be reconciled with our view or the view of any of them. They have no right to cite a narration they themselves contradict, for Abū Ḥanīfa states: "If the debt does not exhaust the slave's entire value, he is required to work solely to repay the debt, then for two-thirds of the remaining value thereafter"—which coincides with our ruling when emancipation is bequeathed. We maintain: "If the debt exhausts his entire value, the manumission is invalid"—and this is the position of Mālik and Al-Shāfiʿī.

L21493 Each group among them has contradicted that ḥadīth. Moreover, all of them oppose these narrations entirely, for there is nothing in them except the phrase "at the time of his death" and "at the time of your death," with no mention whatsoever of illness in any of them. Illness is an element they added through their personal opinions—no explicit text in any narration nor any evidence supports it. A healthy person may die suddenly or from a minor ailment, so from where did their restriction to illness originate? Why did they not adhere to what the narrations explicitly state—"at the time of his death"—and thus deem valid the act of whoever performed it "at the time of his death," whether healthy or as a sick person (bequeathing) from the third? Why did they not treat what people enact during health or illness—if death follows thereafter—as deriving from the capital of their wealth? Thus, it becomes evident that all these narrations contradict their opinion, and that they belong to the category of evidence they cite for their rulings, though none of these narrations pertains to what they argue for. This constitutes a repugnant ambiguity on their part and deception in matters of religion—thereby nullifying their reliance upon them.

L21494–21495 As for the hadith of Sa'd, we have narrated it through the chain of Sufyan al-Thawri from Sa’d ibn Ibrahim from ’Amir ibn Sa’d ibn Abi Waqqas from his father.

L21496 And from the route of Maʿmar from al-Zuhri from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father. And from the route of Marwān ibn Muʿāwiyah al-Fazārī from Hāshim ibn Hāshim ibn ʿUtbah ibn Abī Waqqāṣ from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَعْمَرٍ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَرْوَانَ بْنِ مُعَاوِيَةَ الْفَزَارِيِّ عَنْ هَاشِمِ بْنِ هَاشِمِ بْنِ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ.

L21497 And via the chain of Abd al-Malik ibn Umayr, from Musʿab ibn Saʿd ibn Abi Waqqas, from his father.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ عُمَيْرٍ عَنْ مُصْعَبِ بْنِ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ.

L21498 And via the chain of Ayyub al-Sikhtiyānī from ʿAmr ibn Saʿīd from Ḥumayd ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān from three from among the children of Saʿd, all of whom narrate from Saʿd.

L21499 And via the chain of Qatadah, from Yunus ibn Jubayr, from Muhammad ibn Sa‘d ibn Abi Waqqas, from his father [Sa‘d ibn Abi Waqqas].

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ يُونُسَ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ.

L21500 And via the chain of ʿAṭāʾ ibn al-Sāʾib, from Abū ʿAbd al-Raḥmān al-Sulamī, from Saʿd ibn Abī Waqqāṣ.

L21501 And through the chain of Wakīʿ from Hishām ibn ʿUrwah from his father from Saʿd and ʿĀʾishah, the Mother of the Believers—all of whom related in this report: "Shall I bequeath all my wealth, two-thirds of it, or half of it, O Messenger of God?"—this being a single report. Thus, it is confirmed that those who transmitted the wording "Shall I give in charity" from al-Zuhrī undoubtedly intended by it the bequest, not charity during one's lifetime, for it is entirely a single report concerning a single situation, from one man, regarding one ruling. Every bequest is charity, but not every charity is a bequest. Furthermore, this report has been transmitted to us through the chain of Abū Dāwūd: Abū al-Walīd al-Ṭayālisī narrated to us, saying: ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz ibn al-Mājishūn and Ibrāhīm ibn Saʿd both narrated from al-Zuhrī from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father, who said: "I fell severely ill and recovered. The Messenger of God—peace and blessings be upon him—visited me, and I said: 'O Messenger of God, I have abundant wealth, and only one daughter will inherit me. Shall I give all my wealth in charity?' He replied: 'No.' I asked: 'Shall I bequeath half?' He said: 'No.' I said: 'O Messenger of God, what then should I bequeath?' He answered: 'A third—and a third is ample. Indeed, leaving your heirs wealthy is better than leaving them dependent, begging from people.'"

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ عُرْوَةَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ سَعْدٍ، وَعَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ، كُلُّهُمْ قَالَ فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ: أَفَأُوصِي بِمَالِي أَوْ بِثُلُثَيْ مَالِي يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ ثُمَّ بِنِصْفِهِ - وَهُوَ خَبَرٌ وَاحِدٌ. فَصَحَّ أَنَّ الَّذِينَ رَوَوْا لَفْظَ " أَفَأَتَصَدَّقُ " عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ إنَّمَا عَنَوْا بِهِ الْوَصِيَّةَ بِلَا شَكٍّ، لَا الصَّدَقَةَ فِي حَالِ الْحَيَاةِ، لِأَنَّهُ كُلَّهُ خَبَرٌ وَاحِدٌ، عَنْ مَقَامٍ وَاحِدٍ، عَنْ رَجُلٍ وَاحِدٍ، فِي حُكْمٍ وَاحِدٍ، وَكُلُّ وَصِيَّةٍ صَدَقَةٌ. وَلَيْسَ كُلُّ صَدَقَةٍ وَصِيَّةً. نَعَمْ: وَرُوِّينَا هَذَا الْخَبَرَ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد نا أَبُو الْوَلِيدِ الطَّيَالِسِيُّ قَالَ: نَا عَبْدُ الْعَزِيزِ بْنُ الْمَاجِشُونِ، وَإِبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ قَالَ: «مَرِضْتُ مَرَضًا شَدِيدًا فَأُشْفِيتُ مِنْهُ فَدَخَلَ عَلَيَّ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَقُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إنَّ لِي مَالًا كَثِيرًا وَإِنَّمَا تَرِثُنِي ابْنَةٌ لِي وَاحِدَةٌ، أَفَأَتَصَدَّقُ بِمَالِي كُلِّهِ؟ قَالَ: لَا، قُلْتُ: فَأُوصِي بِالشَّطْرِ، قَالَ: لَا قُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَبِمَ أُوصِي؟ قَالَ: الثُّلُثَ وَالثُّلُثُ كَثِيرٌ، إنَّك أَنْ تَدَعَ وَرَثَتَك أَغْنِيَاءَ خَيْرٌ مِنْ أَنْ تَدَعَهُمْ عَالَةً يَتَكَفَّفُونَ النَّاسَ»

L21502–21503 Malik narrated from al-Zuhri from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father: "Should I give charity?"; Ibn ʿUyaynah narrated from al-Zuhri from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father. Ibrāhīm ibn Saʿd narrated from al-Zuhri from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father in one version: "Should I give charity?" and in another: "Should I make a bequest?" Maʿmar and Saʿd ibn Ibrāhīm narrated from ʿĀmir ibn Saʿd from his father: "Should I make a bequest?" They are not inferior to Malik and Ibn ʿUyaynah in the chain.

فَرَوَى مَالِكٌ، وَابْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ أَفَأَتَصَدَّقُ؟ وَرَوَى إبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ مُرَّةَ: أَفَأَتَصَدَّقُ، وَمَرَّةً: أَفَأُوصِي؟ وَرَوَى مَعْمَرٌ، وَسَعْدُ بْنُ إبْرَاهِيمَ عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ أَفَأُوصِي؟ وَلَيْسَا دُونَ مَالِكٍ، وَابْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ.

L21504 All those we have mentioned agreed on the wording: "I bequeath," thereby entirely removing the difficulty.

L21505 Moreover, there is no explicit text or evidence in this narration—in any manner—indicating that this ruling applies exclusively to illness to the exclusion of health. Therefore, whoever claims it is specific to illness has certainly lied and fabricated statements against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) that he did not utter, and this is among the gravest major sins.

L21506 Moreover, the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) knew that Sa'd would recover and leave significant contributions in Islam, thus it invalidated the ruling that this illness would be fatal. It was narrated to us through the chain of Abū Dāwūd: 'Uthmān ibn Muḥammad ibn Abī Shaybah narrated to us, from Jarīr, from Al-A'mash, from Abū Wā'il, from Ḥudhayfah, who said: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stood among us and left nothing related to what would occur in that position until the establishment of the Hour except that he informed us of it. Those who preserved it did so, and those who forgot it did so. These companions of mine know that when I convey something, I recognize it and mention it, just as a man remembers another's face in his absence, and he recognizes him upon seeing him.

L21507 Abu Muhammad said: Sa'd achieved the greatest victory, deposed the Persian king from his throne, seized his palaces, homes, and cities, thereby invalidating any claim they had to this matter.

L21508–21510 As for the report of 'Imrān ibn al-Ḥuṣayn concerning the six slaves, the people least worthy of being cited as evidence are Abū Ḥanīfah and his companions who feel no shame in declaring: "Is this not gambling? Is it not a void action and a ruling of injustice?" May the face of whoever says such things about the judgment of Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—be disgraced! The discussion regarding it thus persists with the Mālikīs, Shāfi'īs, and our companions who assert it. 'Alī said: We say—and success comes from Allah—that they have no valid proof whatsoever for three reasons. First: It concerns emancipation alone. Their insertion of all a sick person's actions alongside emancipation is erroneous, a transgression of Allah's boundaries, and an invalid analogy. Even if valid in principle, it would remain void here because they... They differentiate between the ruling of manumission and other judgments, obligating that if one frees their share of a slave, the remaining portion must be appraised against him to emancipate the slave entirely. Yet they do not deem it necessary—for one who donates half their slave, endows half their house, half their horse, donates half their garment, or half their agricultural estate—to appraise the remainder against him or validate his act over the entirety. From where, then, did they derive the obligation to analogize to manumission in this case, while exempting it in those? This is indeed a baseless presumption.

The second consideration: There exists no explicit wording, implication, or allusion in the sick person's act. The text merely states "he freed upon his death." Thus, their obligation should have been to apply this ruling exclusively to one who emancipated upon death—whether healthy or ill—and died immediately afterward, not to one who freed while sick or healthy but whose death was delayed. For the latter undeniably did not free at the point of death.

Herein lies their contradiction of the very textual evidence they cited as proof: they inserted into it what it does not contain and invoked it for matters entirely absent from it. These are grave, ruinous corruptions—we seek refuge in Allah from such.

L21511 The third point is that this narration serves as decisive evidence for us against them, for this individual retained absolutely nothing for himself. As the ḥadīth states, he owned no property besides them. According to our school, such an action is invalid whether the person was healthy or sick, and it is impermissible for anyone to perform voluntary manumission, voluntary charity, or an irrevocable donation from their wealth unless they retain sufficient means to remain self-sufficient, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Charity is given from what suffices you."

L21512 The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—nullified the emancipation of a healthy man owned by someone possessing no property other than the slave, as transmitted through the chains of Al-Bukhari and Ahmad ibn Shuʿayb al-Nasāʾī. Al-Bukhari stated: Narrated to us by ʿAsim ibn حَقًّا لَكَانَ هَهُنَا بَاطِلًا؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ يُفَرِّقُونَ بَيْنَ حُكْمِ الْعِتْقِ وَسَائِرِ الْأَحْكَامِ، فَيُوجِبُونَ فِيمَنْ أَعْتَقَ شِقْصًا لَهُ مِنْ عَبْدٍ أَنْ يُقَوَّمَ عَلَيْهِ بَاقِيهِ فَيَعْتِقُهُ، وَلَا يَرَوْنَ فِيمَنْ تَصَدَّقَ بِنِصْفِ عَبْدِهِ أَوْ أَوْقَفَ نِصْفَ دَارِهِ، أَوْ نِصْفَ فَرَسِهِ، أَوْ تَصَدَّقَ بِنِصْفِ ثَوْبِهِ أَوْ بِنِصْفِ ضَيْعَتِهِ: أَنْ يُقَوَّمَ عَلَيْهِ بَاقِي ذَلِكَ، وَيَنْفُذَ فِعْلُهُ فِي جَمِيعِهِ -: فَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَجَبَ أَنْ يُقَاسَ عَلَى الْعِتْقِ هَهُنَا؟ وَلَمْ يَجِبْ أَنْ يُقَاسَ عَلَيْهِ هُنَالِكَ؟ إِنَّ هَذَا لَتَحَكُّمٌ فَاسِدٌ؟ وَالْوَجْهُ الثَّانِي: أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ: مِنْ فِعْلِ الْمَرِيضِ كَلِمَةٌ، وَلَا دَلَالَةٌ، وَلَا إِشَارَةٌ بِوَجْهٍ مِنْ الْوُجُوهِ: إِنَّمَا فِيهِ " أَعْتَقَ عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ " فَكَانَ الْوَاجِبُ عَلَيْهِمْ: أَنْ يَجْعَلُوا هَذَا الْحُكْمَ فِيمَنْ أَعْتَقَ عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ - صَحِيحًا أَوْ مَرِيضًا. فَمَاتَ إثْرَ ذَلِكَ، لَا فِيمَنْ أَعْتَقَ مَرِيضًا، أَوْ صَحِيحًا، ثُمَّ تَرَاخَى مَوْتُهُ، فَإِنَّ هَذَا لَمْ يَعْتِقْ عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ بِلَا شَكٍّ - وَهَذَا مِمَّا خَالَفُوا فِيهِ الْخَبَرَ الَّذِي احْتَجُّوا بِهِ فِيمَا فِيهِ، وَأَقْحَمُوا فِيهِ مَا لَيْسَ فِيهِ وَاحْتَجُّوا بِهِ فِيمَا لَيْسَ فِيهِ مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ أَصْلًا، وَهَذِهِ قَبَائِحُ مُوبِقَةٌ - نَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْهَا.

'Ali. Ahmad said: Narrated to me by 'Ubaydullah ibn Sa'd ibn Ibrahim from my father and uncle—Ya'qub ibn Ibrahim ibn Sa'd. Then the chains of 'Asim, Sa'd, and Ya'qub—the sons of Ibrahim—converged. All said: Narrated to us by Ibn Abi Dhi'b from Muhammad ibn al-Munkadir from Jabir ibn 'Abdullah: "A man emancipated his slave while owning no property besides him. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—reversed this, and Nu'aym ibn al-Naḥḥām purchased the slave from him." The narrators from al-Zuhri's school stated: "He nullified it—peace be upon him." This is a chain like the sun, leaving no room for anyone's opposition.

It is established that the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—rejected L21513–21515 the emancipation of those particular slaves solely because their emancipator had no property other than them. His emancipation—peace and blessings be upon him—pertained to a third of them—and Allah knows best—as narrated in certain reports: "When Allah had accepted his repentance, he—peace and blessings be upon him—said to Ka'b ibn Mālik after he had imposed an obligation upon himself: 'This will suffice you for that matter.'" "One-third," even if this wording is not authentic, he (peace be upon him) said to him: "Keep some of your wealth for yourself," so he retained his share in Khaybar. It may be that the emancipator attained sufficiency among four of them.

وَبُرْهَانُ هَذَا -: أَنَّ الرِّوَايَةَ الثَّانِيَةَ فِي ذَلِكَ الْخَبَرِ: أَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِنَّمَا أَعْتَقَ اثْنَيْنِ، وَأَرَقَّ أَرْبَعَةً وَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ قِيمَةً، وَالثُّلُثُ عِنْدَ الْمُحْتَجِّينَ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ لَا يَكُونُ هَكَذَا أَصْلًا، وَلَا يَكُونُ إِلَّا بِالْقِيمَةِ.

The proof of this is that the second narration in that report states he (peace L21516 be upon him) emancipated only two and kept four as slaves, without mentioning value. According to those who uphold this narration as proof, the third is not like this at all, nor can it apply except through valuation.

A fourth perspective—and it is that we have transmitted this report through L21517 the chain of Muslim: Isḥāq ibn Ibrāhīm (he is Ibn Rāhwayh) and Ibn Abī 'Umar narrated to us, both from al-Thaqafī (he is 'Abd al-Wahhāb ibn 'Abd al-Majīd), from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, from Abī Qilābah, from Abī al-Muhallab, from 'Imrān ibn al-Ḥuṣayn: "A man, upon his death, emancipated six slaves whom he owned exclusively. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—summoned them, divided them into thirds, then drew lots among them. He emancipated two and retained four in bondage, rebuking him harshly." Thus, it is confirmed that this emancipation constituted a bequest, with no dispute that the ruling applies equally to the healthy and the terminally ill, being permissible only within a third of the estate. If the two narrations are a single ḥadīth—which is the most evident interpretation, nearly impossible to disregard and impermissible to contradict—then the dispute is resolved, invalidating their reliance on it. If they are two distinct reports—a remote possibility—both nevertheless align with our position and oppose theirs. In any case, none of the texts mention illness, any action during illness whatsoever, or that the rejection stemmed from emancipation occurring during an illness—success is from Allah, the Exalted. Thus, all the embellished narrations they cited collapse, for they are the first to contradict them, and all these narrations have reverted as decisive proofs against them in our favor.

L21518–21520 As for what they reported concerning that from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—the matter is likewise. They are only three: Abu Bakr—may Allah be pleased with him—Ali—may Allah be pleased with him—and Ibn Mas'ud. Regarding Abu Bakr, they rely solely on his statement: "Indeed, it is now the heir's property." This provides them no valid basis whatsoever, for there is no disagreement between two parties—and they too concur with us—that he—may Allah be pleased with him—meant only that it becomes the heir's property after the ill person's death. He did not intend that the property of an ill person who dies from that illness belongs to the heir while any soul remains in the ill person. There is no dispute that if Asma' had died—when he said... Abu Bakr said this to her when her children—Abdullah, Urwah, and Al-Munthir—inherited from his wealth neither a mustard seed, nor its value, nor anything beyond that.

وَأَمَّا مَا رَوَوْا فِي ذَلِكَ عَنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - فَكَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا، وَإِنَّمَا هُمْ ثَلَاثَةٌ: أَبُو بَكْرٍ، وَعَلِيٌّ، وَابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ -: فَأَمَّا أَبُو بَكْرٍ فَإِنَّمَا تَعَلَّقُوا عَنْهُ بِقَوْلِهِ: وَإِنَّمَا هُوَ الْيَوْمَ مَالُ الْوَارِثِ وَهَذَا لَا مُتَعَلَّقَ لَهُمْ بِهِ أَصْلًا، لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَخْتَلِفُ اثْنَانِ - وَهُمْ مَعَنَا أَيْضًا - فِي أَنَّهُ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ - إنَّمَا عَنَى أَنَّهُ مَالُ الْوَارِثِ بَعْدَ مَوْتِهِ، وَأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَعْنِ بِذَلِكَ أَنَّ مَالَ الْمَرِيضِ الَّذِي يَمُوتُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ الْمَرَضِ لِلْوَارِثِ مَا دَامَ شَيْءٌ مِنْ الرُّوحِ فِي الْمَرِيضِ، وَلَا خِلَافَ فِي أَنَّ أَسْمَاءَ لَوْ مَاتَتْ - إذْ قَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ هَذَا الْقَوْلَ لَهَا - لَمَا وَرِثَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ، وَعُرْوَةُ، وَالْمُنْذِرُ، أَوْلَادُهَا مِنْ مَالِ أَبِي بَكْرٍ حَبَّةَ خَرْدَلٍ، وَلَا قِيمَتَهَا، فَمَا فَوْقَ ذَلِكَ.

L21521 If the sick person's property had become the heir's property during his illness, the heir's own heirs would inherit from him should he die during the sick person's lifetime. This is something no one asserts—neither a fool nor a sane person.

وَلَوْ كَانَ مَالُ الْمَرِيضِ. قَدْ صَارَ مَالًا لِلْوَارِثِ فِي مَرَضِهِ لَوَرِثَهُ عَنْهُ إنْ مَاتَ وَرِثَتُهُ فِي حَيَاةِ الْمَرِيضِ، وَهَذَا لَا يَقُولُهُ أَحَدٌ، وَلَا أَحْمَقُ، وَلَا عَاقِلٌ.

L21522 Furthermore, there is no disagreement—whether among us or among them—that if an heir were to have intercourse with the female slave of a terminally ill person before his death, he would be deemed an adulterer liable to the ḥadd punishment, just as he would be punished had he done so while the man was healthy, with no distinction. Similarly, if he were to steal from the sick person's property before his death, amputation would be mandated in such a case—his hand would be severed just as it would be severed had he stolen from him while he was healthy. Thus, their obfuscation, fabrications, and deception in religion have been exposed through their implantation of falsehood in those deluded by them and their promotion of misguided confidence in their methodologies.

L21523 If they come to us seeking to divert the reports we previously mentioned from their apparent meaning with a proof like this, it becomes obligatory to submit to the truth. But if they bring us nothing but sheer falsehood, corrupt conjecture, and deceptive obscurity, then the disgrace thereof and its fire [of punishment] will have no end—neither for them nor for us—and success is by Allah, the Exalted. Thus, their reliance on the report of Abū Bakr—may Allah be pleased with him—is wholly invalidated.

L21524 As for the report concerning Ibn Masʿūd, it is a narration with an interrupted chain since al-Ḥasan and al-Qāsim ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān did not meet him. Moreover, even if it were authentic, it would not serve as authoritative evidence for their position, for in one of the two narrations about him, it is mentioned that he purchased her during his illness, upheld the sale as valid, emancipated her at his death, and instructed her to work to earn her price for the creditor.

L21525 In the other case, a man freed his slave during his illness while owning no property other than him. Ibn Masʿud said: "He is freed [as] one-third." The opinion regarding this aligns with some of the earlier narrations, which indicate that this was invalidated because he owned no property besides the slave, thereby preserving his self-sufficiency.

L21526 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah, from Ḥafṣ—who is Ibn Ghiyāth—from Ḥajjāj, from al-Qāsim ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān, who said: A woman freed a slave girl she owned, though she had no property other than the slave girl. ʿAbdullāh ibn Masʿūd ruled: "She must labor to compensate for the slave girl's value." Thus, ʿAbdullāh deemed it obligatory for her to labor in compensation for the slave girl's value since she owned no other property, and he did not mention at all that this occurred during an illness. Therefore, Ibn Masʿūd's ruling—if authentic—would itself constitute evidence against their position. How can this be, when no valid proof exists in the words or deeds of anyone apart from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him? Does this not invalidate their reliance on Ibn Masʿūd and expose their contradiction of him?

L21527–21528 As for the narration attributed to ʿAlī, it is disconnected because al-Ḥasan did not hear anything from ʿAlī. Even if it were authentic, they would have no valid basis for their argument whatsoever, because ʿAlī—may Allah be pleased with him—did not state that he acted thus solely due to emancipating the slave during his illness. Nor does that narration mention—neither by explicit text nor implicit indication—that this occurred during an illness. It merely states that he emancipated him at the time of his death. The most evident view is that ʿAlī obligated the istisʿāʾ in that case because he possessed no wealth other than the slave and had outstanding debts. This is the explicit content of the report, which conforms to our position, not all of their opinions. Similarly, we affirm the istisʿāʾ in such a scenario if the value of emancipation exceeds the debt—whether little or much. There is no contradiction between this ruling and that report. Thus, it is manifestly clear—and to Allah belongs abundant praise—that every textual evidence they cite, whether sound or weak, or attributed to a Companion, contains nothing whatsoever supporting their claim. Their invocation of such evidence constitutes obfuscation, insinuation of falsehood, and baseless conjecture. In truth, all or most of it substantiates our position and aligns with our doctrine. Praise be to Allah, Lord of the worlds.[1]

L21529 As for their argument citing the Followers and their claim of consensus in that matter, this is unsurprising given their trivialization of lying against all Muslims. We have already presented at the outset of this issue - through the most authentic chain of transmission from Masrūq - a contradiction of their view: that the manumission by a sick person from his capital remains valid even if he dies from that illness, and that Masrūq maintained this position because it constitutes an act consecrated to God Almighty, which cannot therefore be revoked.

L21530 It has been established that whatever a sick person does for Allah Almighty - whether he dies from his illness or survives - comes from his principal wealth according to Masrūq. Thus, their lie in the claim of consensus became evident. How could this be, when there have come narrations regarding this matter from only fourteen Successors: Shurayh; al-Shaʿbī; al-Nakhaʿī; Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab; al-Qāsim; Sālim; al-Zuhrī; Rabīʿah; Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī; ʿIkrimah; Makḥūl; ʿAṭāʾ; al-Ḥasan; and Qatādah? Most of these are not authentically attributed to them, as they come through Jābir al-Juʿfī and others like him.

L21531–21533 Then they differ. Among them are those who hold that a traveler, from the moment he places his foot in the stirrup, cannot validly execute any testamentary decree concerning his wealth except from one-third of it. Among them are those who apply this ruling comprehensively to pregnant women. Among them are those who apply it universally to captives. The Malikis, Hanafis, and Shafi'is oppose all these positions. Their interpretation of terminal illnesses further contradicts all the aforementioned schools. If these schools are considered a consensus, they have effectively admitted their own contradiction of consensus. If it is not a consensus, they possess no valid proof against the opinion of those who— [text ends abruptly]. Other than the Companions when there was no consensus among them, how can this be valid when we have received narrations from Masruq and al-Sha'bi contradicting this matter?

ثُمَّ هُمْ مُخْتَلِفُونَ، فَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ رَأَى الْمُسَافِرَ مِنْ حِينِ يَضَعُ رِجْلَهُ فِي الْغَرْزِ لَا يَنْفُذُ لَهُ أَمْرٌ فِي مَالٍ إِلَّا مِنْ ثُلُثِهِ - وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَرَى ذَلِكَ فِي الْحَامِلِ جُمْلَةً. وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَرَى ذَلِكَ فِي الْأَسِيرِ جُمْلَةً، وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ، وَالْحَنَفِيُّونَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّونَ: مُخَالِفُونَ لِكُلِّ هَذَا. ثُمَّ قَوْلُهُمْ فِي تَفْسِيرِ الْأَمْرَاضِ مُخَالِفٌ لِجَمِيعِهِمْ، فَإِنْ كَانَ هَؤُلَاءِ إجْمَاعًا فَقَدْ أَقَرُّوا عَلَى أَنْفُسِهِمْ بِخِلَافِ الْإِجْمَاعِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ لَيْسَ إجْمَاعًا فَلَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِي قَوْلِ مَنْ دُونَ الصَّحَابَةِ إذَا لَمْ يَكُنْ إجْمَاعًا عِنْدَهُمْ، فَكَيْفَ وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا عَنْ مَسْرُوقٍ، وَالشَّعْبِيِّ، خِلَافَ هَذَا.

L21534 It was narrated to us via Muḥammad ibn al-Muthannā from ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Mahdī from Sufyān al-Thawrī from Ibn Abī Laylā from al-Ḥakam ibn ʿUtaybah from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, who said: "If a woman releases her husband from her dowry during her illness, this is permissible." Sufyān said: "It is not permissible." Thus, it was established that Ibrāhīm specifically meant her terminal illness from which she would die. He did not consider the one-third [limit], nor did he consider it a bequest.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ قَالَ: كَتَبَ عُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ فِي الرَّجُلِ يَتَصَدَّقُ بِمَالِهِ كُلِّهِ؟ قَالَ: إذَا وَضَعَ مَالَهُ كُلَّهُ فِي حَقٍّ فَلَا أَحَدَ أَحَقُّ بِمَالِهِ مِنْهُ، وَإِذَا أَعْطَى بَعْضَ الْوَرَثَةِ دُونَ بَعْضٍ فَلَيْسَ لَهُ إلَّا الثُّلُثُ.

L21535 Through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq from Ma'mar, who said: Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz was asked about a man who donates all his wealth as charity. He replied: If he dedicates his entire wealth to a rightful cause, no one has a stronger claim to it than himself. But if he gives to some heirs while excluding others, he may not exceed one-third.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: لَا يَخْلُو عُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ مِنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ أَرَادَ الصَّحِيحَ، وَالْمَرِيضَ مَعًا، أَوْ الْمَرِيضَ وَحْدَهُ، أَوْ الصَّحِيحَ وَحْدَهُ -: فَإِنْ أَرَادَ الصَّحِيحَ فَقَطْ فَقَدْ رَدَّ فِعْلَهُ فِي صَدَقَتِهِ بِمَالِهِ كُلِّهِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ أَرَادَ الْمَرِيضَ -: فَقَدْ أَمْضَى فِعْلَهُ فِي مَالِهِ كُلِّهِ - فَهَذَا خِلَافٌ ظَاهِرٌ؟ وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ، وَعُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ نَافِعٍ: أَنَّ رَجُلًا رَأَى فِيمَا يَرَى النَّائِمُ: أَنَّهُ يَمُوتُ إلَى ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ فَطَلَّقَ نِسَاءَهُ طَلْقَةً طَلْقَةً، وَقَسَّمَ مَالَهُ؟ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ لَهُ: أَجَاءَك الشَّيْطَانُ فِي مَنَامِك فَأَخْبَرَك: أَنَّك تَمُوتُ إلَى ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ فَطَلَّقْتَ نِسَاءَك وَقَسَّمْتَ مَالَك؟ رُدَّهُ وَلَوْ مِتَّ لَرَجَمْتُ قَبْرَك كَمَا يُرْجَمُ قَبْرُ أَبِي رِغَالٍ؟ فَرَدَّ مَالَهُ وَنِسَاءَهُ، وَقَالَ لَهُ عُمَرُ: مَا أَرَاك تَلْبَثُ إلَّا يَسِيرًا حَتَّى تَمُوتَ؟ وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ نا يُونُسُ بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ: أَنَّ امْرَأَةً رَأَتْ فِيمَا يَرَى النَّائِمُ أَنَّهَا تَمُوتُ إلَى ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ فَشَذَّبَتْ مَالَهَا وَهِيَ صَحِيحَةٌ، ثُمَّ مَاتَتْ فِي الْيَوْمِ الثَّالِثِ فَأَمْضَى أَبُو مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيُّ فِعْلَهَا.

L21536 Abu Muhammad said: Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz could only have intended either the healthy and the sick together, the sick alone, or the healthy alone. If he intended solely the healthy, he invalidated his own act of donating his entire wealth as charity. If he intended the sick, he validated his act concerning his entire wealth. Is this not a clear contradiction? Through the chain of Hammad ibn Salama from Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani and Ubayd Allah ibn Umar, both from Nafi': A man saw in a dream that he would die within three days, so he divorced each of his wives once and distributed his wealth. Umar ibn al-Khattab said to him: "Did Satan come to you in your sleep declaring you would die in three days, making you divorce your wives and dispose of your wealth? Reverse your actions! Even were you to die, I would stone your grave as Abu Righal's grave is stoned." The man revoked his wealth and [the divorces of] his wives. Umar told him: "I foresee you will not endure except briefly before death." Through the chain of Hammad ibn Salama: Yunus ibn Ubayd reported from Muhammad ibn Sirin: A woman saw in a dream that she would die within three days, so she disposed of part of her wealth while healthy, then died on the third day. Abu Musa al-Ash'ari upheld her action.

L21537–21539 If the legal status of one certain of death concerning his wealth is that of a sick person, then Abû Mûsâ upheld this. This contradicts their opinion. But if his legal status is that of a healthy person, then 'Umar revoked it and did not authorize even a third or any portion of it. This too contradicts their opinion. Success is attained only through Allah, the Exalted. And who is more reprehensible in open defiance than one who treats the opinions of those we previously mentioned as consensus, then indifferently contradicts Abu Bakr, Umar, Uthman, Khalid ibn al-Walid, Abu Musa, Ibn al-Zubayr, others as well as groups among the Followers regarding retributive punishment for a slap or whip strike - when no dissenter from the Companions is known regarding their rulings? Such cases are extremely numerous, and we have already examined a sufficient portion of them elsewhere.

L21540 As for their statement, "We analogized that to the bequest," all analogy is invalid. Even if analogy were valid, this case would itself be the epitome of invalidity, because the bequest only takes effect after death - and it is from the sick person.

L21541 The sound opinion is unequivocal—without disagreement—that a bequest is only permissible within one-third or less of the estate. When the act of a sick person is analogized to it [the ruling on the third], it is necessary that during life, the sick person's act be exactly the same as the legally competent person's act in every respect.

L21542 Furthermore, if analogy were valid, nothing would be more similar between two things or more deserving of analogy than the two matters between which the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—established a comparison. We have been narrated through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: from Qutaybah, from Abū al-Aḥwaṣ, from Abū Ḥabībah, from Abū al-Dardāʾ, that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Freeing a slave on one's deathbed is like giving a gift after being satiated."

L21543 Ali said: They do not differ regarding the fact that he who gives a gift after being satiated, his gift is from his capital. If analogy is valid, then the one who manumits a slave at the approach of death is exactly the same. It is therefore obligatory that it be from his capital. He, the Exalted, said: "And spend from what We have provided you before death comes to one of you, and then he will say, 'My Lord, if only You would delay me for a brief term so I might give charity and be among the righteous!' But never will Allah delay a soul when its time has come" (al-Munāfiqūn 63:10–11).[2]

وَهَذَا نَصٌّ جَلِيٌّ لَا يَحْتَمِلُ تَأْوِيلًا عَلَى جَوَازِ الصَّدَقَةِ لِلصَّحِيحِ وَالْمَرِيضِ مَا لَمْ يَأْتِهِ الْمَوْتُ وَيَجِئْ حُلُولُ أَجَلِهِ دُونَ تَأْخِيرٍ قَرِيبٍ أَوْ بَعِيدٍ، وَلَكِنَّهُمْ لَا النُّصُوصَ يَتَّبِعُونَ وَلَا الْقِيَاسَ يُحْسِنُونَ. وَأَيْضًا: فَلَا خِلَافَ بَيْنَهُمْ أَصْلًا فِي أَنَّ مَا اشْتَرَاهُ الْمَرِيضُ مِنْ فَاكِهَةٍ، وَلَحْمٍ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ مِمَّا هُوَ عَنْهُ فِي غِنًى، وَمَا تَصَدَّقَ بِهِ عَلَى سَائِلٍ بِالْبَابِ، فَإِنَّهُ مِنْ رَأْسِ مَالِهِ، فَلَوْ كَانَ فَعَلَهُ فِي مَرَضِهِ مِنَ الثُّلُثِ لَكَانَ هَذَا مِنَ الثُّلُثِ، بَلْ لَوْ لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُ مِنْ مَالِهِ إِلَّا الثُّلُثُ، فِي مَرَضِهِ الَّذِي يَمُوتُ مِنْهُ لَمَا وَجَبَ أَنْ يُعَدَّ أَكْلُهُ وَنَفَقَتُهُ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ وَعِيَالِهِ إِلَّا مِنَ الثُّلُثِ؛ لِأَنَّ بَاقِيَ ذَلِكَ لَا حُكْمَ لَهُ فِيهِ وَهُمْ لَا يَقُولُونَ بِهَذَا - فَظَهَرَ مِنْ تَخَاذُلِهِمْ وَتَنَاقُضِهِمْ وَفَسَادِ أَقْوَالِهِمْ فِي هَذِهِ الْمَسْأَلَةِ مَا بَعْضُهُ يَكْفِي - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

This is an explicit text that does not admit interpretation regarding the permissibility of charity for the healthy and the sick before death approaches them and their appointed term arrives without delay, whether near or far. Yet they neither follow the scriptural texts nor apply analogy correctly. Moreover, there is absolutely no disagreement among them concerning what a sick person purchases, such as fruits, meat, or similar items. That is from what he has no obligation over, and whatever he gave in charity to a petitioner at the door is from his original estate. If he had done so during his illness, [the charity] would be from the third [of his estate]. Indeed, if he possessed nothing from his wealth except the third during his terminal illness from which he dies, his sustenance and expenses for himself and his dependents would not be counted except from the third, as the remainder has no legal validity for him—and they [the jurists] do not uphold this opinion. Thus, the extent of their negligence, contradiction, and the invalidity of their statements in this matter becomes evident—some of which suffices. And success is by Allah's grace, the Exalted.

Issue: Interdiction on a married woman.

1396. Issue: Similarly, interdiction is also impermissible on a married woman, nor on a virgin, whether she has a father or not. Their sadaqah (charitable acts) and gift transactions are valid; all such transactions are valid directly from the principal wealth when she attains puberty (marked by menstruation), exactly equal to a man, without exception. This is the opinion of Sufyān al-Thawrī, Abū Ḥanīfa, al-Shāfiʿī, Abū Thawr, Abī Sulaymān, and their adherents.

Malik said: A wife has no entitlement except one-third only, which she may gift or donate—whether her husband approves or disapproves. When a period has elapsed for her, she becomes entitled to dispose of one-third of what remains also as she wills—whether her husband approves or disapproves—and this applies perpetually. If her subsequent transaction resembles her initial one, the subsequent transaction is annulled. If she exceeds one-third, the entire transaction is invalidated from beginning to end, unlike the case of the sick person: if her husband wishes to reject it, he may do so, but if he ratifies it, it is upheld. Should this remain concealed from her husband until her death or his divorce of her, the entirety is upheld. Al-Mughīrah ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān, his companion, said: Rather, the husband may only reject what exceeds one-third, while the one-third remains valid for her—as with the sick person.

أَنْ يَرُدَّهُ، وَإِنْ أَنْفَذَهُ نَفَذَ، فَإِنْ خَفِيَ ذَلِكَ عَنْ زَوْجِهَا حَتَّى تَمُوتَ أَوْ يُطَلِّقَهَا نَفَذَ كُلُّهُ - قَالَ الْمُغِيرَةُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ صَاحِبُهُ: بَلْ لَا يَرُدُّ الزَّوْجُ إِلَّا مَا زَادَ عَلَى الثُّلُثِ فَقَطْ، وَيَنْفُذُ لَهَا الثُّلُثُ كَالْمَرِيضِ.

L21550 Malik said: If she has gifted all her wealth to her husband, that is valid. As for her selling and purchasing, it is permissible—whether her husband likes it or not—provided there is no favoritism.

L21551 He said: As for the never-married woman, she remains under guardianship in all circumstances—whether she has a father or not—and is prohibited from taking any action regarding her wealth or any portion thereof. She may not reduce any part of the dowry owed by her husband, even if she remains unmarried, until she enters her husband's home and her circumstances become known. If she gave a gift before marriage and later married, she has the right to reclaim what she gifted unless it was of nominal value. He said: As for the woman who was married and then became widowed, she holds the same legal capacity as a man regarding the validity of her financial dispositions over all her wealth.

قَالَ: وَأَمَّا الْبِكْرُ فَمَحْجُورَةٌ عَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ - ذَاتَ أَبٍ كَانَتْ أَوْ غَيْرَ ذَاتِ أَبٍ - لَا يَجُوزُ لَهَا فِعْلٌ فِي مَالِهَا، وَلَا فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ، وَلَا أَنْ تَضَعَ عَنْ زَوْجِهَا مِنْ الصَّدَاقِ وَإِنْ عَنَسَتْ حَتَّى تَدْخُلَ بَيْتَ زَوْجِهَا، وَيُعْرَفُ مِنْ حَالِهَا فَإِنْ وَهَبَتْ قَبْلَ أَنْ تَتَزَوَّجَ ثُمَّ تَزَوَّجَتْ: كَانَ لَهَا أَنْ تَرْجِعَ فِيمَا وَهَبَتْ إِلَّا إِنْ كَانَ يَسِيرًا، قَالَ: وَأَمَّا الَّتِي كَانَ لَهَا زَوْجٌ ثُمَّ تَأَيَّمَتْ فَكَالرَّجُلِ فِي نَفَاذِ حُكْمِهَا فِي مَالِهَا كُلِّهِ.

L21552–21554 As for the early scholars: narrations have been conveyed to us from them. It was transmitted to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah—Wakīʿ narrated from Ismāʿīl ibn Khālid and Zakariyyā ibn Abī Zāʾidah, both from al-Shaʿbī, from Shurayḥ, who said: "He entrusted to me..." Umar ibn al-Khattab would not validate the gift of a female slave until she gives birth to a child or completes a full year in her house.

L21555 From the narration of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Ḥushaym reported to us, Ismāʿīl ibn Abī Khālid reported to us, al-Shaʿbī said: Shurayḥ said: ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb commanded me not to approve a gift for an owned female slave until she has remained in her husband's household for a full year or gives birth to a child. I said to al-Shaʿbī: Did ʿUmar write this to him? He replied: Rather, he conveyed it to him verbally through direct speech.

L21556 On the authority of Ibn Abi Shaybah, from Ibn Abi Za'idah, from Mujalid, from Al-Sha'bi, who said: I read 'Umar's letter to Shuraih concerning this ruling. This occurred when a Qurashī girl - while being legally competent - was told by her brother: "Donate your inheritance from your father to me as an irrevocable charity (ṣadaqah)." She complied, but later demanded her inheritance back, and he restored it to her.

L21557 We have also narrated it via the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhal: Yazīd ibn Zuraiʿ narrated to us from Dāwūd ibn Abī Hind from Khilās ibn ʿAmr, who said: ʿUmar ibn Al-Khaṭṭāb wrote: "Do not approve the dower of a virgin woman until she completes a year in her husband's house or gives birth to a child."

وَرُوِّينَاهُ أَيْضًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ حَدَّثَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ زُرَيْعٍ عَنْ دَاوُد بْنِ أَبِي هِنْدَ عَنْ خِلَاسِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ: وَكَتَبَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ: لَا تُجِيزُوا نَحْلَ امْرَأَةٍ بِكْرٍ حَتَّى تَحِيلَ حَوْلًا فِي بَيْتِ زَوْجِهَا أَوْ تَلِدَ وَلَدًا.

L21558 Abū Muḥammad said: This is the opinion of Shuraīḥ, as narrated to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah from Qatādah, Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, and Hishām ibn Ḥassān—all of them from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn—that Shuraīḥ said regarding a woman who donates from her wealth: Her donation is not valid until she gives birth to a child or reaches puberty, whichever occurs, and it is a sunnah.

L21559 And through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah from Abu Dawud al-Tayalisi from Sa'id ibn Abd al-Rahman from al-Hasan and Muhammad ibn Sirin: Muhammad said, "A woman's gift is not valid unless a full year has elapsed or she has given birth to a child." Then al-Hasan said, "Until she gives birth to a child or reaches maturity—on what basis is that?"

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ عَنْ أَبِي دَاوُد الطَّيَالِسِيِّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ، وَمُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ، قَالَ مُحَمَّدٌ: لَا تَجُوزُ لِامْرَأَةٍ عَطِيَّةٌ حَتَّى تَحُولَ حَوْلًا أَوْ تَلِدَ وَلَدًا، فَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ: حَتَّى تَلِدَ وَلَدًا أَوْ تَبْلُغَ، أَنَّى ذَلِكَ.

L21560 From the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: ʿUbaydullāh ibn ʿUthmān ibn al-Aswad narrated to us from ʿAṭāʾ and Mujāhid, both of whom said together: "An orphan girl is subject to two restrictions: she is not permitted anything from her wealth until she bears a child or completes a year in her husband's house." This is the opinion of Qatādah and al-Shaʿbī, though a differing report is narrated from al-Shaʿbī if she reaches ʿAnis (spinsterhood) before that period. We were narrated via Wakīʿ's chain from Ismāʿīl ibn Abī Khālid, who said: "I asked al-Shaʿbī, 'What is your view if she reaches ʿAnis—is her [act of] gifting [wealth] permissible?' He replied, 'Yes.'"

L21561–21563 And it has been narrated to us from him through the chain of Ibn Abī وَرُوِّينَا عَنْهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ عَنْ إِسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ أَبِي خَالِدٍ قُلْت لِلشَّعْبِيِّ: أَرَأَيْت إنْ عَنَسَتْ؟ قَالَ: لَا يَجُوزُ، كِلَاهُمَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ عَنْ وَكِيعٍ، وَابْنِ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا أَبُو الْأَحْوَصِ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ قَالَ: إذَا حَالَتْ فِي بَيْتِهَا حَوْلًا جَازَ لَهَا مَا صَنَعَتْ، قَالَ الْمُغِيرَةُ، وَقَالَ إبْرَاهِيمُ: إذَا وَلَدَتْ الْجَارِيَةُ أَوْ وَلَدَ مِثْلُهَا جَازَتْ هِبَتُهَا - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الْأَوْزَاعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ، وَإِسْحَاقَ بْنِ رَاهْوَيْهِ.

Zāʾidah from Ismāʿīl ibn Abī Khālid: I said to Al-Shaʿbī, "What is your view if she remains unmarried past the usual age?" He said, "It is not permissible." Both are transmitted through Ibn Abī Shaybah's chain—from Wakīʿ and Ibn Abī Zāʾidah, respectively. And through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah who narrated to us: Abū al-Aḥwaṣ reported from al-Mughīrah from al-Shaʿbī, who said: If she has completed a year in her home, what she has done becomes permissible. Al-Mughīrah said, and Ibrāhīm said: If the female slave gives birth, or one like her does, her gift is deemed permissible—and this is the view of al-Awzāʿī, Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal, and Isḥāq ibn Rāhawayh.

L21564 Another opinion is narrated from Anas ibn Malik, stating that a married woman may not donate any portion of her wealth without her husband's permission. Through the chain of Al-ʻAzrami ʻAbd al-Malik, from ʻAta', from Abu Hurayrah, who said: "It is impermissible for a woman to give charity from her husband's property except with his permission." It is also reported that Safiyyah bint Abi ʻUbayd, who was sixty years old, would not emancipate without the permission of Ibn ʻUmar.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذَا لَيْسَ فِيهِ دَلِيلٌ عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا يَرَى لَهَا ذَلِكَ جَائِزًا دُونَ إذْنِهِ، لَكِنَّهُ عَلَى حُسْنِ الصُّحْبَةِ فَقَطْ.

L21565 Abu Muhammad said: This provides no evidence that he does not deem it permissible for her to do so without his permission; rather, it pertains solely to good companionship.

L21566 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah from ʿAbdullāh ibn Ṭāwūs from his father, who said: A woman's gift is not valid except with her husband's permission. This has been reported from al-Ḥasan and Mujāhid, and it is the opinion of al-Layth ibn Saʿd. He did not permit a married woman to emancipate a slave, exercise legal authority over her dowry, nor engage in any other such matter without her husband's permission. An exception is made for a trivial amount essential for maintaining kinship ties or what is used to draw closer to Allah, the Almighty.

وَمِمَّنْ رُوِيَ عَنْهُ مِثْلُ قَوْلِنَا: كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ الْغُبَرِيُّ نا حَمَّادُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ ابْنِ أَبِي مُلَيْكَةَ أَنَّ أَسْمَاءَ بِنْتَ أَبِي بَكْرٍ الصِّدِّيقِ قَالَتْ:

L21567–21569 Among those from whom a statement similar to ours has been narrated: As reported through the chain of Muslim, Muḥammad ibn ʻUbayd al-Ghabarī narrated to us, Ḥammād ibn Zayd narrated to us from Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī from Ibn Abī Mulaykah that Asmā' bint Abī Bakr al-Ṣiddīq said: "I used to serve al-Zubayr with household chores, tend to his horse, gather fodder for it, and care for it. Nothing was more burdensome to me than tending to the horse. Then a captive was brought to the Prophet (peace be upon him), and he gave her a servant." She then mentioned a hadith in which she stated that she sold the servant. She said: "Al-Zubayr entered while he appraised her in my lap, and he said, 'Gift her to me.' I replied, 'How could I? I have already given her as charity.'" Thus, al-Zubayr and Asmā' bint al-Ṣiddīq: she donated the proceeds from her servant's sale as charity and her selling [the servant] without her husband's permission, perhaps because she owned nothing else, or it was most of what she had. As reported through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shu'ayb — I, al-Ḥasan ibn Muḥammad (Ibn al-Ṣabbāḥ), from Ḥajjāj (Ibn Muḥammad al-A'war), from Ibn Jurayj, who informed me from Ibn Abī Mulaykah from 'Abbād ibn 'Abdullāh ibn al-Zubayr from Asmā' bint Abī Bakr that she came to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and said, "O Prophet..." "By Allah, I have nothing except what al-Zubayr provides me. Is there any blame on me if I give a portion of what he provides?" He said: "Give as much as you can, and do not withhold, lest it be withheld from you." Al-Zubayr did not reject that.

L21570 It has been narrated to us via Hammad ibn Salamah, who reported from Yunus ibn 'Ubayd, from Muhammad ibn Sirin, that a woman saw in her dream that she would die in three days. She devoted herself to memorizing the remaining portion of the Quran incumbent upon her, organized her wealth, and did this while in good health. On the third day, she visited her neighbors and proceeded to say repeatedly: "O so-and-so, I entrust you to God's care and bid you farewell with peace." They responded, "You will not die today, you will not die today—God willing." Yet she died. Her husband asked Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari about this, and Abu Musa said, "What kind of woman was your wife?" He replied, "I know no one more deserving of Paradise than her except a martyr. Yet she did all this while she was in good health?" Abu Musa said, "She is as you say. She did what she did while in good health," and Abu Musa did not challenge his statement.

L21571 From the narration of Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from ʿAdī ibn ʿAdī al-Kindī, who said: I wrote to ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz inquiring about a woman giving from her wealth without her husband's permission. He responded: If she is either a spendthrift or acting harmfully, it is impermissible for her; but if she is neither a spendthrift nor acting harmfully, it is permissible.

L21572 From the narration of Abd al-Razzaq, from Ma'mar, from Simak ibn al-Fadl, who said: Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz wrote concerning a woman who gave from her wealth: If she is neither wasteful nor causing harm to herself, then validate her gift.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ سِمَاكِ بْنِ الْفَضْلِ قَالَ: كَتَبَ عُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ فِي امْرَأَةٍ أَعْطَتْ مِنْ مَالِهَا: إنْ كَانَتْ غَيْرَ سَفِيهَةٍ وَلَا مُضَارَّةٍ فَأَجِزْ عَطِيَّتَهَا.

L21573 A woman must not be prevented from exercising moderation in using her wealth to preserve a life, uphold kinship ties, or engage in recognized acts of kindness. If she is not permitted to give anything from her wealth, it is better for her not to marry, for she would then be akin to a bondwoman.

L21574 And from the narration of Hammad ibn Salamah from Qays—who is Ibn Sa'd—that 'Ata' ibn Abi Rabah said: A woman's gift from her wealth is permissible.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ قَيْسٍ - هُوَ ابْنُ سَعْدٍ - قَالَ: قَالَ عَطَاءُ بْنُ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ: تَجُوزُ عَطِيَّةُ الْمَرْأَةِ فِي مَالِهَا.

L21575–21576 Through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī from Ibn Sīrīn, who said: If a married woman who has recently reached puberty gives a gift before the year, and does not retract it until she dies, then it is permissible.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: إذَا أَعْطَتْ الْمَرْأَةُ الْحَدِيثَةُ السِّنِّ ذَاتُ الزَّوْجِ قَبْلَ السَّنَةِ عَطِيَّةً، فَلَمْ تَرْجِعْ حَتَّى تَمُوتَ، فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ.

L21577 From the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq, from Maʿmar, from al-Zuhrī, who said: If a woman donates from her wealth in the absence of imprudence or harm, her gift is permissible, even if her husband dislikes it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ قَالَ: إذَا أَعْطَتْ الْمَرْأَةُ مِنْ مَالِهَا فِي غَيْرِ سَفَهٍ وَلَا ضِرَارٍ جَازَتْ عَطِيَّتُهَا، وَإِنْ كَرِهَ زَوْجُهَا.

L21578 Abu Muhammad said: As for Mālik's statement, we do not know of any basis for it—neither from the Quran, nor from the Sunnah, nor from a weak narration, nor from the opinion of a Companion, nor a Successor, nor anyone before him that we are aware of—except for a narration from ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz, though authentic reports from him contradict that narration, as we mentioned earlier. Moreover, the aforementioned categorization of Malik and his school's does not originate from him, nor from anyone we know, nor from any analogical reasoning, nor from any sound opinion. Rather, what we have mentioned contradicts his statement here, as we will clarify, God, the Exalted, willing.

الْمَذْكُورُ وَلَا عَنْ أَحَدٍ نَعْلَمُهُ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، بَلْ كَانَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا مُخَالِفًا لِقَوْلِهِ هَهُنَا - عَلَى مَا نُبَيِّنُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى.

L21579 The narration from ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz—reported via ʿAbd al-Razzāq, from Maʿmar, from al-Zuhrī—states: ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz ruled for a woman who said, "I wish to uphold what Allah has commanded [of kinship ties]," while her husband objected, "She is causing me hardship." He thereby authorized her to allocate a third [of the property] during her lifetime.

وَالرِّوَايَةُ عَنْ عُمَرَ رُوِّينَاهَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ قَالَ: جَعَلَ عُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ لِلْمَرْأَةِ إِذَا قَالَتْ: أُرِيدُ أَنْ أَصِلَ مَا أَمَرَ اللَّهُ بِهِ؟ وَقَالَ زَوْجُهَا: هِيَ تُضَارُّنِي؟ فَأَجَازَ لَهَا الثُّلُثَ فِي حَيَاتِهَا.

L21580 They have opposed ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz regarding his prostration at "When the sky is split apart" and in dozens of juridical matters—and here they have opposed ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, Anas ibn Mālik, Abū Hurayrah, Abū Mūsā al-Ashʿarī, al-Zubayr, Asmāʾ, all the Companions (as we shall mention, God willing, the Exalted), Shurayḥ, al-Shaʿbī, al-Nakhaʿī, ʿAṭāʾ, Ṭāwūs, Mujāhid, al-Ḥasan, Ibn Sīrīn, Qatādah, ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz, and others.

L21581 It is astonishing that they imitate ʿUmar—may Allah be pleased with him—regarding the ruling on the wife of a missing man, the hadd punishment they ascribe to him for drinking wine as eighty lashes, his stipulation to delay the impotent man for a year, and his prohibition against a man who marries and consummates a marriage during the waiting period ever marrying her again—despite other Companions opposing him in all these matters and his own retraction of some rulings. Yet they do not imitate him here.

L21582 Why did they not say here: Such a matter is not determined by opinion, as they said regarding many of the matters we mentioned? For indeed, ʿUmar and those we mentioned with him invalidated the woman's act wholly before she gives birth or remains in her husband's house for a year. Later, he permitted it wholly and did not grant the husband any involvement in such matters, nor did he set a limit of one-third, whether from a lesser or greater amount.

وَهَلَّا قَالُوا هَهُنَا: مِثْلَ هَذَا لَا يُقَالُ بِالرَّأْيِ، كَمَا قَالُوهُ فِي كَثِيرٍ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا فَإِنَّ عُمَرَ وَمَنْ ذَكَرْنَا مَعَهُ أَبْطَلُوا فِعْلَ الْمَرْأَةِ جُمْلَةً قَبْلَ أَنْ تَلِدَ، أَوْ تَبْقَى فِي بَيْتِ زَوْجِهَا سَنَةً، ثُمَّ أَجَازَ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ جُمْلَةً وَلَمْ يَجْعَلْ لِلزَّوْجِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ مَدْخَلًا، وَلَا حَدَّ ثُلُثًا مِنْ أَقَلَّ، وَلَا مِنْ أَكْثَرَ.

L21583–21584 As for the Ḥanafīs, the same applies to them equally, for they followed ‘Umar’s precedent in the prescribed punishment (ḥadd) for wine, in granting a man unable to consummate marriage a year’s delay, and in their allegation that he drank intoxicating nabīdh—and they lied in that. So why did they not follow him here and say: “Such a matter is not established through opinion”? But these people are not upon the truth. And we praise Allāh, Exalted is He, for His blessings.

L21585 Abu Muhammad said: The Malikis justified their stance by citing the authentic report from the Prophet (peace be upon him): “A woman is sought in marriage for her wealth, beauty, lineage, and religion.” They argued that if a man marries her for her wealth, he thereby acquires a right to her wealth. They added that they had analogized this ruling to the terminally ill person and the testator.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَا تَحْرِيفٌ لِلسُّنَّةِ عَنْ مَوَاضِعِهَا وَأَغَثُّ مَا يَكُونُ مِنَ الْقِيَاسِ وَأَشَدُّهُ بُطْلَانًا - أَمَّا الْخَبَرُ الْمَذْكُورُ فَلَا مَدْخَلَ فِيهِ لِشَيْءٍ مِنْ قَوْلِهِمْ فِي إِجَازَةِ الثُّلُثِ وَإِبْطَالِ مَا زَادَ، وَإِنَّمَا يُمْكِنُ أَنْ يَتَعَلَّقَ بِهِ مَنْ يَذْهَبُ إِلَى مَا رُوِيَ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ، وَأَنَسٍ، وَطَاوُسٍ، وَاللَّيْثِ تَعَلُّقًا مُمَوَّهًا أَيْضًا عَلَى مَا نُبَيِّنُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى.

L21586 Ali said: “This is a distortion of the Sunnah from its proper contexts, the most baseless form of juristic analogy, and the most utterly void. As for the aforementioned report, it leaves no room for their assertions about permitting a third and invalidating anything beyond it. Only those who adhere to what has been reported from Abu Hurairah, Anas, Tawus, and Al-Layth could speciously rely on it - a specious reliance, as we shall clarify, God the Exalted willing.”

L21587 As for their analogy of a woman to a sick person, it constitutes an analogy of falsehood upon falsehood and arguing error with error. Even if their position regarding the sick person were valid, they would still have erred in multiple aspects. The first of these is that the woman is healthy, whereas, by their claim, they only applied precaution to the sick person, not the healthy one. Analogizing the healthy to the sick is false according to all proponents of analogy. For they only analogize a thing to its equivalent, not its opposite.

L21588 The second [reason] is that there is no legal cause (‘illah) connecting the ritually sound woman and the sick one, nor any analogical resemblance between them whatsoever. The legal cause, according to those who uphold it, either rests on a comprehensive legal cause bridging the two rulings or on an analogical resemblance between them.

وَالثَّانِي - أَنَّهُ لَا عِلَّةَ تَجْمَعُ بَيْنَ الْمَرْأَةِ الصَّحِيحَةِ وَبَيْنَ الْمَرِيضِ وَلَا شَبَهَ بَيْنَهُمَا أَصْلًا، وَالْعِلَّةُ عِنْدَ الْقَائِلِينَ بِهِ إمَّا عَلَى عِلَّةٍ جَامِعَةٍ بَيْنَ الْحُكْمَيْنِ، وَإِمَّا عَلَى شَبَهٍ بَيْنَهُمَا.

L21589 The third [point] is that they execute the acts of the sick person within the third and invalidate anything beyond it. Yet here, they invalidate both the third and what exceeds it—thereby invalidating their own analogy.

L21590 The fourth is that they permit a woman to allot a third after a third, yet they do not permit this for a sick person. Thus, they have, in this matter, combined both a contradiction of Analogical Reasoning (Qiyās) and a nullification of their basis in safeguarding the husband's share, for she may keep allocating a third after a third until she depletes the entire estate except for a negligible portion—this constitutes a confusion without parallel.

L21591–21592 If they say, "Did we analogize it to the testator?" we respond: The executor is not the same as the testator, and all that we introduced earlier in their analogy to the sick person also applies to them.

L21593 If they say: "Does the husband have a claim over her property since he married her with wealth?" We will—God, the Exalted, willing—subsequently present in our discourse against those who deny her authority over any part of her property what invalidates this assertion. For this argument in fact belongs to them, not the Malikis; rather, it counters their own stance. Were it valid, it would necessitate preventing her from even a small or large amount of her property. However, we ask them about the free woman married to an enslaved husband, the non-Muslim woman married to a Muslim man, and the woman who embraces Islam while married to a non-Muslim: Are these women prohibited from giving charity beyond a third of their property or not? If they say "No," they contradict themselves. If they say "Yes," they compound inconsistency.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: إنَّ لِلزَّوْجِ طَرِيقًا فِي مَالِهَا إذْ قَدْ تَزَوَّجَ بِالْمَالِ؟ فَسَنَذْكُرُ مَا يَفْسُدُ بِهِ هَذَا الْقَوْلُ إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى إثْرَ هَذَا فِي كَلَامِنَا عَلَى مَنْ يَمْنَعُهَا مِنْ الْحُكْمِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ مَالِهَا؛ لِأَنَّ هَذَا الِاحْتِجَاجَ إنَّمَا هُوَ لَهُمْ، لَا لِلْمَالِكِيِّينَ، بَلْ هُوَ عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ مُوجِبًا لِلْمَنْعِ مِنْ قَلِيلِ مَالِهَا وَكَثِيرِهِ. لَكِنْ نَسْأَلُهُمْ عَنْ الْحُرَّةِ لَهَا زَوْجٌ عَبْدٌ، وَالْكَافِرَةِ لَهَا زَوْجٌ مُسْلِمٌ، وَالَّتِي تُسْلِمُ تَحْتَ كَافِرٍ، هَلْ لِهَؤُلَاءِ مَنْعُهُنَّ مِنْ الصَّدَقَةِ بِأَكْثَرَ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ أَمْ لَا؟ فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَا، تَنَاقَضُوا، وَإِنْ قَالُوا: نَعَمْ، زَادُوا أُخْلُوقَةً.

L21594 If they say: She is in need of means to draw nearer to God Almighty, so it is impermissible to bar her from all her wealth—yet a third is deemed insufficient? We respond: This argument is invalid for several reasons: First:

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: هِيَ مُحْتَاجَةٌ إلَى مَا يُتَقَرَّبُ بِهِ إلَى اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ فَلَمْ يَجُزْ مَنْعُهَا مِنْ جَمِيعِ مَالِهَا، وَكَانَ الثُّلُثُ قَلِيلًا؟ قُلْنَا: هَذَا يَفْسُدُ مِنْ وُجُوهٍ: - أَحَدُهَا: أَنَّهَا إنْ كَانَتْ مُحْتَاجَةً

If she is in need of means to draw nearer to God Almighty, what justifies preventing her from drawing closer to Him through the excess over a third, as others are permitted, without distinction? Second: We say to them: By your own admission, the legally restricted spendthrift (سفيه) is obligated to acts that draw him nearer to God Almighty—just as you obligate him to prayer, fasting, zakāh, pilgrimage, and other religious obligations. By this very absurd rationale, you should likewise permit him the excess over a third of his wealth.

إِلَى مَا يُتَقَرَّبُ بِهِ إِلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَمَا الَّذِي أَوْجَبَ أَنْ تُمْنَعَ مِنْ التَّقَرُّبِ إِلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى بِالْكَثِيرِ الزَّائِدِ عَلَى الثُّلُثِ كَغَيْرِهَا، وَلَا فَرْقَ؟ وَثَانِيهَا: أَنْ نَقُولَ لَهُمْ: وَالْمَحْجُورُ السَّفِيهُ بِإِقْرَارِكُمْ إِلَى مَا يَتَقَرَّبُ إِلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى بِهِ كَمَا تُوجِبُونَ عَلَيْهِ الصَّلَاةَ. وَالصِّيَامَ، وَالزَّكَاةَ، وَالْحَجَّ، وَسَائِرَ الشَّرَائِعِ فَأَبِيحُوا لَهُ الثُّلُثَ أَيْضًا بِهَذَا الدَّلِيلِ السَّخِيفِ نَفْسِهِ.

L21595 If they say: A woman is not deemed prodigal in financial matters.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: الْمَرْأَةُ لَيْسَتْ سَفِيهَةً.

L21596 We said: Let her keep her wealth and abandon this confusion—this irrationality! The third point is that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "A third—and a third is much." Yet you said: "It is little." Let this suffice you—we seek refuge in God from the like of this!

L21597–21599 The fourth objection is that according to your view, the third portion is sometimes deemed excessive—so you reject it as in cases of crop blight—and sometimes considered insufficient, so you implement it in situations like this and similar cases. How grave is this contradiction! How can one speak about Allah's religion using such arbitrary opinions? The fifth objection is that the husband's legal claim to her wealth equates to that of a child, parent, or sibling. Indeed, the inheritance shares of these heirs are greater, for when the husband exists alongside a child, he receives only a quarter while the child receives three-quarters. Like the husband, the parent and child cannot be excluded from inheritance under any circumstance. Therefore, you must bar her [from disposing of her wealth] along with the child... And the parent, from charity exceeding a third through this corrupt precaution—particularly since the parents' right in what is obligatory according to their school and ours outweighs the spouse's right. For if parents become impoverished, the jurists rule that she must provide their sustenance, clothing, housing, and care from her wealth, whether she likes or dislikes—while they do not rule for the spouse to receive anything from her wealth, even if he were to perish from hunger or cold. How then did they take precaution for the lesser right while neglecting the greater right? Thus, the corruption of this opinion becomes evident. We cannot fathom how the heart of anyone with the slightest discernment could find ease in blindly following one who erred in such an unmistakable error, opposing every predecessor we know—except for a narration from ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz, which is authentically reported to contradict this view. Nor is there [any basis] in their apportionment of this matter. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

L21600 As for those who prevent her from disposing of anything in her wealth without his permission, they have cited as evidence the aforementioned report, the words of Allah the Exalted: {Men are caretakers over women by what Allah has favored some with over others and by what they spend from their wealth} [An-Nisa': 34], and what we have narrated via Al-Layth ibn Sa'd from Ibn 'Ajlan from Sa'īd al-Maqburī from Abū Hurayrah: "It was said to the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him), 'Which women are best?' He said: 'She who pleases him when he looks at her, obeys him when he commands, and does not oppose him regarding herself or her wealth in what he dislikes.'"[3] unnamed man and from ʿAbd Allāh ibn Ṭāwūs. The unnamed man reported from ʿIkrimah, and Ibn Ṭāwūs from his father. Then their chains meet: that the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him—said: "It is not lawful..." "A woman has no right to dispose of anything in her property without her husband's permission"—this is the wording of Tawus, while the wording of Ikrimah is "anything in her property." We do not know of any other opinion from them besides this at all.

رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «لَا يَحِلُّ لِامْرَأَةٍ شَيْءٌ فِي مَالِهَا إِلَّا بِإِذْنِ زَوْجِهَا» هَذَا لَفْظُ طَاوُسٍ، وَلَفْظُ عِكْرِمَةَ " فِي مَالِهَا شَيْءٌ " مَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُمْ شَيْئًا غَيْرَ هَذَا أَصْلًا

L21605 All these texts—the verse and the reports, those authenticated and those unauthenticated—are both definitive proof against the Malikis and an invalidation of their opinion permitting the third and their prohibition of what exceeds it.

وَكُلُّ هَذِهِ النُّصُوصِ الْآيَةِ وَالْأَخْبَارِ مَا صَحَّ مِنْهَا وَمَا لَمْ يَصِحَّ حُجَّةٌ عَلَى الْمَالِكِيِّينَ، وَمُبْطِلٌ لِقَوْلِهِمْ فِي إِبَاحَةِ الثُّلُثِ وَمَنْعِهِمْ مِمَّا زَادَ.

L21606 As for the ḥadīth, "A woman is married for four [things]," there is no inducement to pride in that, nor encouragement toward it, nor its permissibility—let alone anything beyond that. Rather, it contains a reproof against marrying her for anything other than religion, due to his statement—peace be upon him—in this very ḥadīth: "So, seek a woman of religion," thereby restricting his command to a woman of religion. Thus, whoever marries for wealth is not praised in that intention of his.

L21607 Then, suppose it is permissible and recommended? What evidence exists to prohibit her from her wealth merely because he is among those who greedily seek wealth that is unlawful for him—nothing being lawful for him from it except what would be lawful regarding his neighbor's wealth? For this is limited to what her own soul and the neighbor's soul willingly accept, with no excess.

L21608 Moreover, Allah the Exalted has decreed in the Quran and the Sunnah—which the people of Islam have unanimously agreed upon with a conclusive and certain consensus—that husbands are obligated to provide for their wives' maintenance, clothing, housing, and dower (mahr). He has granted women inheritance from men just as He has granted men inheritance from them, with absolute parity. Thus, it is firmly established in the mind of every person of sound mind that a wife's right to her husband's wealth is an obligatory, binding, and lawful entitlement, daily, monthly, yearly, at every moment, and in the blink of an eye. His responsibility is never free of her rightful claim to his wealth. This contrasts starkly with his total exclusion from her wealth and the prohibition against him taking anything from it except what she willingly permits. Furthermore, she is entitled to inherit from him after his death, just as he is entitled to inherit from her, with no difference. If this necessitates a man's restriction of her access to her wealth, then it is even more incumbent for a woman to restrict his access to his wealth unless she permits it—for she has a legally mandated share in his wealth, whereas he has no claim to hers except total abstention and legal prohibition. How astonishing is the inversion of rulings!

L21609 If her right is not absolute—such that his preventing her from his wealth due to fear he might become impoverished would nullify her inalienable right—then by Allah, it is far-fetched and invalid that such a scenario could justify his depriving her of wealth in which he has neither right nor share, any more than an elephant has a portion in flight.

فَإِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ ذَلِكَ مُطْلَقًا لَهَا مَنْعَهُ مِنْ مَالِهِ خَوْفَ أَنْ يَفْتَقِرَ فَيَبْطُلُ حَقُّهَا اللَّازِمُ؟ فَأُبْعِدَ وَاللَّهِ وَأُبْطِلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ ذَلِكَ مُوجِبًا لَهُ مَنْعَهَا مِنْ مَالٍ لَا حَقَّ لَهُ فِيهِ، وَلَا حَظَّ إِلَّا حَظُّ الْفِيلِ مِنْ الطَّيَرَانِ.

L21610–21612 The utmost perplexity stems from their authorization for him to prohibit her wealth or any portion thereof... and he, if [text breaks off here]. He died of hunger, exhaustion, emaciation, or cold, yet they did not allocate to him from its wealth even a seed to eat nor an animal skin to cover himself with. How, then, did they deem this permissible? Verily, this is indeed astonishing! Thus, their reliance on this claim is entirely invalidated.

L21613 As for Allah the Most High's statement: "Men are protectors and maintainers over women by virtue of what Allah has favored some of them over others, and by virtue of what they spend from their wealth" [An-Nisā': 34], Allah the Most High did not restrict this statement to a husband acting as a paternal or fraternal guardian.[4]

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {الرِّجَالُ قَوَّامُونَ عَلَى النِّسَاءِ بِمَا فَضَّلَ اللَّهُ بَعْضَهُمْ عَلَى بَعْضٍ وَبِمَا أَنْفَقُوا مِنْ أَمْوَالِهِمْ} [النساء: ٣٤] فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى لَمْ يَخُصَّ بِهَذَا الْكَلَامِ زَوْجًا مِنْ أَبٍ، وَلَا مِنْ أَخٍ.

L21614 Moreover, had there been an explicit text in it concerning husbands exclusively, there would have been no text or evidence in it indicating his right to prevent her from her wealth or any portion thereof. Rather, it would have stipulated that others should oversee the management of their wealth—since they categorically do not grant this authority to the husband. Indeed,

[4] Qur'an references (L21613): Qur'an 4:34 (An-Nisa).

according to them, she may delegate whomever she wishes to manage her wealth, even against her husband's objection. There is no dispute that her husband's sale of any part of her wealth—whether minor or substantial—is not binding on her, neither for oversight nor any other purpose, nor does his purchasing on her behalf hold any validity at all. Thus, the verse contradicts their interpretation of it. It is established that the intended meaning of Allah's statement, Men are guardians and maintainers of women [al-Nisāʾ 4:34], refers to what is undisputed: the obligation to provide for the women's maintenance and clothing. A wife's provision falls upon her husband, while an unmarried woman in need is solely the responsibility of her family—and success comes from Allah, the Most High. Thus, the verse stands as a decisive proof against them, shattering their claim.[5]

L21615 As for the narration of Abu Hurairah: Yahya ibn Bukayr reported it from al-Layth—who is the most trustworthy in narrating from him—from Ibn ʿAjlan, from Saʿid al-Maqburi, from Abu Hurairah, from the Prophet (peace be upon him), who said: "She must not oppose him concerning herself or his wealth in anything he dislikes."

وَهَكَذَا رُوِّينَاهُ أَيْضًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ: أَنَا عَمْرُو بْنُ عَلِيٍّ نا يَحْيَى - هُوَ ابْنُ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانُ - نَا ابْنُ عَجْلَانَ نا سَعِيدُ بْنُ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْمَقْبُرِيُّ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: «سُئِلَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ خَيْرِ النِّسَاءِ؟ قَالَ: الَّتِي تُطِيعُ إذَا أَمَرَ، وَتَسُرُّ إذَا نَظَرَ، وَتَحْفَظُهُ فِي نَفْسِهَا وَمَالِهِ» ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ - وَمَالَهَا دُونَ مُعَارِضٍ - لَمَا كَانَ لَهُمْ فِي تِلْكَ الرِّوَايَةِ مُتَعَلَّقٌ؛ لِأَنَّ هَذَا اللَّفْظَ إنَّمَا فِيهِ النَّدْبُ فَقَطْ لَا الْإِيجَابُ، وَإِنَّمَا الطَّاعَةُ فِي الطَّاعَةِ، وَالْمَنْعُ مِنْ الصَّدَقَةِ، وَفِعْلِ الْخَيْرِ لَيْسَ طَاعَةً، بَلْ هُوَ صَدٌّ عَنْ سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى - فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ.

L21616–21618 And likewise, we have narrated it through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: From ʿAmr ibn ʿAlī, from Yaḥyā—he being Ibn Saʿīd al-Qaṭṭān—from Ibn ʿAjlān, from Saʿīd ibn Abī Saʿīd al-Maqburī, from Abū Hurayrah: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—was asked about the best of women. He replied: 'She who obeys when commanded, delights him when he gazes [upon her], and safeguards his rights concerning herself and his wealth.'" Even if this were authentic—with her wealth being undisputed and uncontested—they would find no grounds in that narration, for this wording merely denotes a recommended act (mandūb), not an obligation. Obedience pertains solely to obeying Allah, and the prohibition pertains to [...] Charity and performing good deeds are not acts of obedience; rather, it is a deterrent from the path of Allah, the Exalted - thus their reliance upon this report is invalidated.

L21619 As for the report of Ibn Umar: it is rejected because it includes Musa ibn

[5]Qur'an references (L21614): Qur'an 4:34 (An-Nisa).

A'yan—who is unknown—and Layth ibn Abi Sulaym—who is not reliable. As for the hadith of Abdullah ibn Amr: it is a disconnected written record. Furthermore, even if it were authentic, it would be abrogated by the report of Ibn Abbas, which we will mention hereafter if God, the Exalted, wills.

L21620 As for the reports of Ṭāwūs and ʿIkrimah, they are mursal reports—thus, all that they argued with is invalidated. And success is from Allah, the Exalted. Abū Muḥammad said: Since these opinions have been refuted, the restriction transmitted from ʿUmar—may Allah be pleased with him—and those who followed him in the ruling that it is not permissible for her to grant a gift until after she gives birth or remains in her husband's house for a year, holds no authority. For there is no proof in the opinion of any person apart from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him. Indeed, Allah, the Exalted, has ordained recourse to the Quran and the Sunnah in case of disputes, not to the opinions of anyone apart from these two sources. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

L21621 Ali said: All statements were rendered void except our statement; and all praise is due to Allah, the Exalted.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: فَبَطَلَتْ الْأَقْوَالُ كُلُّهَا إلَّا قَوْلَنَا وَلِلَّهِ تَعَالَى الْحَمْدُ.

L21622 Among the proofs for our position is Allah's statement: {It is not lawful for you to inherit women by coercion} [al-Nisā': 19]. This invalidates preventing her from accessing her wealth out of hope that the preventer - whether he be a father or husband - might inherit it. Allah also states: {The charitable men and charitable women} [al-Aḥzāb: 35], and says: {Spend from what We have provided you before death approaches any of you} [al-Munāfiqūn: 10]. The Almighty made no distinction between men and women in urging charity - neither between a virgin under her father's guardianship, nor a previously married woman without paternal guardianship, nor a married woman, nor a widow. Therefore, differentiating between these categories constitutes certain invalidity and manifest injustice from those who, after L21623 We have mentioned at the beginning of this chapter that "the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—commanded Asmā' to give charity without requiring her to seek al-Zubayr's permission, nor stipulating anything less or more than a third. Rather, he told her: 'Give what you can, and do not withhold—or it will be withheld from you.'"

L21624–21626 From the transmission of Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah, Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī reported to us that he heard 'Aṭā' say: "I heard Ibn 'Abbās…" He said: "I testify concerning the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) that he prayed before the sermon, then delivered the sermon. When he realized he had not made the women hear, he went to them, reminded them, admonished them, and commanded them to give charity. The majority of those who gave charity were women." This constitutes the Prophet's - peace and blessings be upon him - general command to women to give charity.

A legal question regarding a woman giving charity from her husband's wealth.

L21631 Issue 1397: A woman has an additional right - she may give charity from her husband's wealth whether he likes it or dislikes it, and without his permission provided she does not cause harm. She is rewarded for this. He is absolutely forbidden to give any charity from her wealth unless she permits it. Allah the Exalted said: {No soul bears the burden of another} [6:164]. Thus, by this, any ruling of anyone over another's wealth is invalidated.[7]

L21632 It is therefore obligatory to single out from that which Allah, the Exalted, singled out through the words of His Messenger—peace be upon him—as we mentioned through the narration of Asmāʾ bint Abī Bakr al-Ṣiddīq in the previous chapter.

L21633 It was narrated to us via the narration of Muslim: Muhammad ibn Rafi' narrated to us, from Abd al-Razzaq, from Ma'mar, from Hammam ibn Munabbih, from Abu Hurayrah, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "A woman must not fast while her husband is [at home and] present except with his permission, and she must not..." L21634–21635 She is not permitted in his house while he is present unless he consents. Whatever she spends from his earnings without his command, half the reward thereof is his.[8]

L21636 And from the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: Aḥmad ibn Ḥarb informed us

L21637 She said: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "When a woman spends from her husband's household without causing corruption, he receives his reward for what he earned, she receives an equal reward for what she spent, and the treasurer receives the same as well - none of their rewards being diminished." We have also narrated it through the chain of Muhammad ibn Jaʿfar who informed us: Shuʿbah reported from ʿAmr ibn Murrah, who said: I heard Abu Wa'il narrating from ʿAishah, the Mother of the Believers, from the Prophet (peace be upon him), who said, "When a woman gives in charity from her husband's household, she receives a reward, the husband receives an equal reward, and the treasurer receives the same. None of the two [the woman and husband] has their reward diminished by the other's share."[9]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: أَبُو وَائِلٍ أَدْرَكَ الْجَاهِلِيَّةَ، وَأَدْرَكَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَغَيْرُ مُنْكَرٍ أَنْ يَسْمَعَهُ مِنْ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ وَمِنْ مَسْرُوقٍ عَنْهَا أَيْضًا.

L21638 Abu Muhammad said: Abu Wa'il lived through the pre-Islamic era and met the Messenger of Allah, may Allah bless him and grant him peace. It is not denied that he heard the narration from the Mother of the Believers and from Masruq, who narrated it from her as well.

L21639 Ali said: Some ignorant people have objected to these strong narrations by citing a narration resembling them through the chain (isnād) of al-ʿArzamī from ʿAṭā' from Abū Hurayrah: "It is not permissible for a woman to give charity from her husband's household without his permission." This is profound ignorance, for the narration is not authentically ascribed to Abū Hurayrah due to al-ʿArzamī's weakness as a transmitter.

L21640–21642 Then, even if it were authentic, the statement of Allah's Messenger - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him - cannot be opposed by the opinion of anyone beneath him except a transgressor. If they say: "Abu Hurairah narrated this and then abandoned it?" We respond: "The answer has already been given. We are only obligated to submit to what is authentically established from the Prophet - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him - not to baseless claims that remain unauthenticated from those beneath him. Indeed, not even to what is authentically reported from others beneath him. The decisive proof lies in Abu Hurairah's transmission, not in his personal opinion. We have devoted an extensive chapter to their contradictions in this matter. How could this be, when the same position has been authentically transmitted from others besides Abu Hurairah?" As reported to us through Abd al-Razzaq's chain from Sufyan ibn Uyaynah, from Ismail ibn Abi Khalid. From Qays ibn Abī Ḥāzim's wife: She was with ʿĀ'ishah, the Mother of the Believers, when a woman asked, "May a woman give charity from her husband's household?" ʿĀ'ishah replied, "Yes, provided she does not substitute her own share with his wealth."

كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ إِسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ أَبِي خَالِدٍ عَنْ قَيْسِ بْنِ أَبِي حَازِمٍ عَنْ امْرَأَتِهِ: أَنَّهَا كَانَتْ عِنْدَ عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ فَسَأَلَتْهَا امْرَأَةٌ هَلْ تَتَصَدَّقُ الْمَرْأَةُ مِنْ بَيْتِ زَوْجِهَا؟ فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ: نَعَمْ، مَا لَمْ تَتِ مَالَهَا بِمَالِهِ.

L21643 If they mention what was narrated to us through the transmission path of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Ismāʿīl ibn ʿAyyāsh from Shuraḥbīl ibn Muslim al-Khawlānī from Abū Umāmah al-Bāhilī: "I heard the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—say: 'A woman must not spend anything from her husband's household except with her husband's permission.' It was said: 'O Messenger of Allah, not even the food?' He replied: 'That is the most precious of our possessions.'"

L21644 And what has been narrated to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salmah from Qatādah from Muwarriq al-'Ijli: "A woman asked the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him), 'What is permissible from their husbands' wealth?' He replied, 'Fresh dates—you may eat them and give them as gifts.'"

L21645 And through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah from Yūnus ibn ʿUbayd from Ziyād from the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—a similar narration is reported, except that he said "al-raṭbu" with the ra' with a fatha (opening) and the ṭā' with a sukun (resting), whereas in the first narration, the ra' with a ḍammah (rounding) and the ṭā' with a fatha (opening).

L21646–21648 Abū Muḥammad said: All of this is baseless. The ḥadīth of 'Abd al-Razzāq from Ismāʿīl ibn 'Ayyāsh—who is weak—from Shuraḥbīl ibn Muslim, who is unknown, cannot counter the established reports mass-transmitted through the chains of Asmā', 'Ā'ishah, and Abū Hurayrah: via Ibn Abī Mulaykah, 'Abbād ibn 'Ubayd Allāh ibn al-Zubayr, Fāṭimah bint al-Mundhir from Asmā';

Masrūq and Shaqīq from ʻĀ'ishah; al-Aʻraj; and Hammām ibn Munabbih from Abū Hurayrah. This constitutes a mass-transmitted (tawātur) report that yields certainty, conveyed through eminent and renowned figures, unlike this narration whose unreliability and weakness are such that even if it were solitary without opposing reports, it would not be permissible to rely upon it. The other two reports are disconnected (mursal), though they contain elements contradicting the opponent's position, as they include the permissibility of consuming fresh dates. In sum, its value may be significant, and mursal narrations superior to this have been reported, contrary to their claim - as we have transmitted through the chain of al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhal, narrated by Yazīd ibn Zuraiʿ, narrated by Yūnus ibn ʿUbayd from al-Ḥasan: "A man said to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), 'My wife gives charity from my wealth and feeds from my food?' He replied, 'You are both partners.' The man said, 'What if I forbid her from that?' He said, 'She gets what she intended, and you get what you withheld due to stinginess.'"

L21649 وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ امْرَأَةً قَالَتْ لَهُ آخُذُ مِنْ مَالِ زَوْجِي فَأَتَصَدَّقُ بِهِ؟ قَالَ: الْخُبْزُ وَالتَّمْرُ، قَالَتْ: فَدَرَاهِمُهُ؟ قَالَ: أَتُحِبِّينَ أَنْ يَتَصَدَّقَ عَلَيْكِ؟ قَالَتْ: لَا، قَالَ: فَلَا تَأْخُذِي دَرَاهِمَهُ إِلَّا بِإِذْنِهِ - أَوْ نَحْوُ هَذَا.

Through the chain of narration of Ibn Abbas, a woman asked him: "May I take from my husband's wealth and give it in charity?" He replied: "Bread and dates." She asked: "What about his dirhams?" He said: "Would you like him to give charity to you?" She said: "No." He said: "Then do not take his dirhams except with his permission—or something similar."

L21650 قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: يَكْفِي مِنْ هَذَا قَوْلُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - " غَيْرَ مُفْسِدَةٍ " فَهَذَا يَجْمَعُ الْبَيَانَ كُلَّهُ.

Ali said: "This suffices from the statement of Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him): 'Without corruption,' for this encompasses all clarification entirely."

L21651 وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {النَّبِيُّ أَوْلَى بِالْمُؤْمِنِينَ مِنْ أَنْفُسِهِمْ} [الأحزاب: ٦] . وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَمَا كَانَ لِمُؤْمِنٍ وَلا مُؤْمِنَةٍ إِذَا قَضَى اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَمْرًا أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمُ الْخِيَرَةُ مِنْ أَمْرِهِمْ} [الأحزاب: ٣٦] فَمَنْ خَالَفَ هَذَا لَمْ يُلْتَفَتْ إِلَيْهِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

And He, the Most High, said: {The Prophet has more right over the believers than their own selves} [Al-Ahzab: 6]. He also said: {It is not for a believing man or a believing woman, when Allah and His Messenger have decided a matter, to have any choice in their affair} [Al-Ahzab: 36]. Thus, whoever contradicts this, he is not to be heeded. And with Allah, the Most High, is success.[10]

L21652 In legal terms, a slave's capacity regarding charity (ṣadaqah), gifts, selling, and purchasing holds the same legal status as a free person.

L21653 1398. Issue: The male slave, regarding the permissibility of his charity, gift, selling, and buying, is equivalent to a free man, and the female slave is equivalent to a free woman, provided their master does not seize their property.

L21654 The proof of that is:— what we have previously mentioned regarding Allah the Exalted's command to give charity, and His Messenger's—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—command concerning it. And His words the Exalted: "O you who believe! Let not your wealth nor your children divert you from Allah's remembrance. For whoever does this—it is they who are the losers. And spend from what We have bestowed upon you before death approaches any of you, whereupon he will plead: 'My Lord, if only You would grant me respite for a short term, that I might give charity and be among the righteous!'" [Al-Munāfiqūn: 9–10][11]

L21655 And His statement, the Exalted: "Allah has permitted trade and forbidden usury." [Al-Baqarah: 275][12]

L21656–21658 There is no disagreement that the male slave and the female slave are addressed by Islam and its laws, and are obligated to purify, Their two selves and drawing near to Allah the Exalted through righteous deeds are both promised Paradise and both threatened with Hellfire like free people, with no distinction. Thus, differentiating between them is erroneous except where the text establishes a distinction between them? Ali said: As for the Malikis, their grave contradiction here lies in permitting concubinage with his master's permission, while Allah the Exalted states: "And those who guard their private parts except from their spouses or those whom their right hands pos-

L21659 There is no disagreement among anyone that if a slave has intercourse with his master's female slave, is he not an adulterer? Thus, it is said to the Mālikīs: This concubine whose private part you have permitted to the slave must either be lawfully owned by him—and this is our position, for his ownership of her as his property is valid, thereby exposing their contradiction—or she is not lawfully owned by him but rather lawfully owned by his master, making him a transgressing adulterer. There is no escape from this. If he owns her, he undoubtedly owns both the price for which he purchased her and the price for which he may sell her.

L21660 And He, the Exalted, said: {And whoever among you cannot afford to marry free believing women, then [let him marry] from the believing female slaves whom your right hands possess. Allah knows best about your faith—you are [all] from one another. So marry them with the permission of their masters, and give them their bridal gifts in fairness.} [An-Nisa: 25]. Thus, the Exalted commanded that the female slave be given her bridal gift (mahr), declaring it her property and right. For Allah, the Exalted, does not command anyone to give away the wealth of another. Therefore, it is established that they are proprietors just as free women are, and there is no distinction.[14]

L21661 As for the Ḥanafīs and Shāfiʿīs, they stated: A slave fundamentally does not own anything, and they did not permit him to take a concubine. However, the Shāfiʿīs contradicted themselves, for they obligated him to provide his wife's maintenance and clothing. For were it not that he owns, it would not be valid to hold him financially responsible for the expenses of maintaining and clothing one who is not permitted to own, nor one who lacks the capacity to own.

L21662 As for the Ḥanafīs, they did not impose any maintenance obligation upon him whatsoever. Rather, they deemed him—through his marriage—a perpetrator of a criminal offense necessitating the surrender of his person to his wife, whereby the marriage becomes annulled if she gains ownership over him. Has anything more preposterous than these baseless notions—contradicting the rulings of the Qur'an, the Sunnah, and rational principles without any evidence whatsoever—ever been heard? Those who prohibit owning slaves argued by citing Allah's statement: {Allah sets forth the example of an owned slave who has no power over anything, and one whom We have granted good provision from Us, so he spends from it} [16:75].[15]

L21663–21664 Abu Muhammad said: They argued that a slave neither inherits nor is inherited from, so is it valid that he owns nothing? They argued: A slave is a commodity among commodities. We know of no foundational basis for their position other than this—(the entirety of their claim lacks proof). As for Allah's statement, "Allah presents the example of an owned slave who has no power over anything" [16:75], this contains no evidence for them for several reasons. First, Allah did not state this as a universal description of all owned slaves, but rather mentioned among slaves one possessing this attribute. Similarly, He said, "Allah presents the example of two men: one mute, powerless over anything, a dependent burden on his master—wherever he directs him, he brings no good" [16:76]. Would it then follow from this that such a description applies to every mute person, or that a mute person owns nothing? This is something they would never say, and there is no distinction between the two verses.[16]

L21665 We do not deny that among the free and the enslaved there may be those who possess nothing of justice, are incapable of anything - and are not all of them like that? The second point is that this verse contains no explicit text, evidence, or allusion to the mention of ownership or wealth. Rather, it negates only capability and power, whether due to weakness, illness, or similar causes.

L21666 The third [point] is that if they invalidate his ownership through this verse, then it is more incumbent upon them to exempt him from prayer and fasting based on it—because they are two things—as the verse [itself] states his incapacity to perform anything. Thus, the invalidity of their entire reliance on it becomes evident.

L21667 As for their statement that a slave neither inherits nor can be inherited from - indeed, this is correct, as the Sunnah has established it. Yet this does not serve as evidence that he cannot own property. The paternal aunt does not inherit, but this does not indicate that she cannot own property. Allah the Exalted singles out for inheritance whom He wills, as He says: "Allah instructs you concerning your children: for the male a share equivalent to that of two females" [An-Nisa: 11].[17]

L21668 And He, the Exalted, said: {And the wives of your sons who are from your loins} [An-Nisa: 23]. Thus, the sons of daughters are included in this ruling and excluded from the former category, yet there was no evidence in that to indicate they are not our children. As for their statement that a slave is a commodity—yes, what then? If they claim that because he is a commodity, they render him unable to own—so as to exempt him from prayer, ritual purity, fasting, and prescribed penalties—since commodities are not bound by any of these obligations.[18]

L21669–21670 Abū Muḥammad said: Sufficient regarding this is Allāh the Exalted's statement: "And marry those unmarried (including widowed or divorced) among you and the righteous among your male slaves and female slaves. If they should be poor, Allāh will enrich them from His bounty" [24:32]. For Allāh the Exalted has promised them enrichment, and He has informed that poverty and wealth may apply to male and female slaves. It is not permissible to describe someone as poor except one who owns property and thus experiences destitution at one time and enrichment at another. As for one who owns nothing at all, it is not permissible to describe them as poor or wealthy, like camels, cattle, predators, and inanimate objects. This is evident. The Qur'an and Sunnah, in most of their contexts, attest to all of this, affirming the correctness of our view here, since no command has been revealed that differentiates between free persons and slaves in matters of wealth. And success is from Allāh, the Exalted.[19]

L21671 It has been authentically established that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) would accept the invitation of a slave. Had he not owned his property, he (peace be upon him) would not have accepted his invitation. He (peace be upon him) accepted the gift of Salman while he was a slave and ate it. As informed to us by Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Talamanki: Ibn Mufarrij narrated to us; Ibrahim ibn Ahmad ibn Farras narrated to us; Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Salim al-Naysaburi narrated to us; Ishaq ibn Rahawayh informed us: Yahya ibn Adam narrated to us; Ibn Idris (who is Abdullah) narrated to us; Muhammad ibn Ishaq narrated from Asim ibn Umar ibn Qatadah from Mahmud ibn Labid from Ibn Abbas: "Salman al-Farisi narrated to me directly, saying: 'I was among the people of Isfahan and strove earnestly in Zoroastrianism'—then he mentioned the hadith at length—'and that I contracted with a caravan from the tribe of Kalb to carry me to their land. They wronged me and sold me as a slave to a Jewish man, who then sold me to a Jew from the tribe of Banu Qurayzah.' He then mentioned the Prophet's arrival (peace be upon him) in Medina: 'When evening came, I gathered what I had and went to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) at Qiba, where he was with a group of his companions. I said: "I had something set aside for charity and considered you the most deserving of it, so I brought it to you." He (peace be upon him) said: "Eat," but he himself refrained. Then he (peace be upon him) moved to Medina. I gathered another offering, came to him, greeted him, and said: "I noticed you do not eat from charity. I have something I wish to honor you with as a gift." He and his companions ate it. I then embraced Islam, but enslavement preoccupied me until I missed the Battle of Badr. Later, the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said to me: "Write your contract of manumission,"' then he mentioned the hadith. Thus, he (peace be upon him) permitted the charity and gift of a slave, leaving no valid argument for anyone against this. Success comes solely from Allah, the Most High."

L21674 Some of them cited as evidence the words of Allah, the Most High: “He sets forth a parable for you from yourselves: Do you have among those whom your right hands possess any partners in what We have provided you, so that you share equally in it?” [Ar-Rum: 28][20]

L21675 Abu Muhammad said: There is no valid proof for them in this matter, because we do not disagree with them regarding the fact that our slaves neither own our wealth nor share partnership with us in it. Our disagreement with them lies solely in whether they own their own wealth and earnings or not. Abu Muhammad said: As for the master’s appropriation of his slave’s property, this is permissible. The Sunnah has affirmed this in the case of the enslaved boy who performed cupping for the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him). The boy asked the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) about his share, and when he was informed of it, the Prophet (peace be upon him) commanded that his required portion be reduced.

L21676 It is valid that the master may claim the earnings of his slave. If the master states, “I have confiscated your earnings,” the slave’s ownership over them is nullified, and they become the master’s property. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

[20] Qur’an references (L21674): Qur’an 30:28 (Ar-Rum).

نَعَمْ، وَأَجَازَهَا مَعَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - الْحَاضِرُونَ مِنْ أَصْحَابِهِ وَلَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُمْ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ أَصْلًا.

وَاحْتَجَّ بَعْضُهُمْ بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {ضَرَبَ لَكُمْ مَثَلا مِنْ أَنْفُسِكُمْ هَلْ لَكُمْ مِنْ مَا مَلَكَتْ أَيْمَانُكُمْ مِنْ شُرَكَاءَ فِي مَا رَزَقْنَاكُمْ فَأَنْتُمْ فِيهِ سَوَاءٌ} [الروم: ٢٨]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَلَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهَا، لِأَنَّا لَمْ نُخَالِفْهُمْ فِي أَنَّ عَبِيدَنَا لَا يَمْلِكُونَ أَمْوَالَنَا، وَلَا هُمْ شُرَكَاءُ لَنَا فِيهَا، وَإِنَّمَا خَالَفْنَاهُمْ: هَلْ يَمْلِكُونَ أَمْوَالَهُمْ وَكَسْبَهُمْ أَمْ لَا؟ قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَأَمَّا انْتِزَاعُ السَّيِّدِ مَالَ عَبْدِهِ فَمُبَاحٌ، قَدْ جَاءَتْ السُّنَّةُ بِذَلِكَ فِي «الْغُلَامِ الَّذِي حَجَمَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَسَأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ خَرَاجِهِ؟ فَأُخْبِرَ، فَأَمَرَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بِأَنْ يُخَفَّفَ عَنْهُ» .

[مَسْأَلَةُ الْحَجْرِ عَلَى مَنْ لَمْ يَبْلُغْ]

from three: the child until they reach puberty, and the insane until they recover their sanity."

L21679 If the insane person regains consciousness at times and is rational, and becomes insane at others, his actions are valid during the hours when he is conscious, and his actions are invalid during the hours when he becomes insane, for the reasons we previously mentioned and because he is legally accountable during his hours of sanity but not during his hours of insanity.

L21680 Ali said: It is the same for one whose property is restricted due to minority or insanity—whether appointed a guardian by a father or a judge—any sale, purchase, or action conducted with the guardian's sound judgment remains valid, binding, and irreversible. If the guardian implements what lacks proper judgment, it becomes impermissible, based on Allah's words—"Be upholders of justice, witnesses for Allah" [4:135]—may Allah have mercy on them—and "Cooperate in righteousness and piety, and do not cooperate in sin and transgression" [5:2].[21]

لِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {إِنَّمَا الْمُؤْمِنُونَ إِخْوَةٌ فَأَصْلِحُوا بَيْنَ أَخَوَيْكُمْ} [الحجرات: ١٠] .

L21681–21682 Allah, the Exalted, says: "The believers are only brothers, so reconcile between your two brothers" [Surah Al-Hujurat 49:10].[22]

وقَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَالْمُؤْمِنُونَ وَالْمُؤْمِنَاتُ بَعْضُهُمْ أَوْلِيَاءُ بَعْضٍ} [التوبة: ٧١] وَلِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الْمُسْلِمُ أَخُو الْمُسْلِمِ لَا يَظْلِمُهُ وَلَا يُسْلِمُهُ» .

L21683 And the statement of Allah the Exalted: {The believing men and believing women are allies of one another} [At-Tawbah: 71], and the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—: "The Muslim is the brother of the Muslim; he does not wrong him nor forsake him."[23]

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ كُلَّ مُسْلِمٍ فَهُوَ وَلِيٌّ لِكُلِّ مُسْلِمٍ، وَأَنَّهُ مَأْمُورٌ بِالنَّظَرِ لَهُ بِالْأَحْوَطِ وَبِالْقِيَامِ لَهُ بِالْقِسْطِ، وَبِالتَّعَاوُنِ عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَى؛ فَكُلُّ بِرٍّ وَتَقْوَى أَنْفَذَهُ الْمُسْلِمُ لِلصَّغِيرِ، وَالَّذِي لَا يَعْقِلُ فَهُوَ نَافِذٌ بِنَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ، وَلَمْ يَأْتِ قَطُّ نَصٌّ بِإِفْرَادِ الْوَصِيِّ بِذَلِكَ وَرَدَ مَا سِوَاهُ.

L21684 Thus, it is established that every Muslim is a guardian to every other Muslim, and that he is commanded to consider the most precautionary approach for him, to establish justice for him, and to cooperate in righteousness and piety. Every act of righteousness and piety that a Muslim implements for a minor or for one lacking legal capacity is valid by the explicit text of the Quran. No text has ever specified the guardian exclusively for that while excluding others.

[21] Qur'an references (L21680): Qur'an 4:135 (An-Nisa); Qur'an 5:2 (Al-Ma'idah).
[23] Qur'an references (L21683): Qur'an 9:71 (At-Tawbah).

L21685 If it is said: “Then permit this for a minor who has a father?” We say: “Yes, thus we hold, and even if his father were to mishandle his oversight, he would be prevented from doing so.”

L21686 If they say: “Then permit this among the Muslims—some having authority over others on this very night?” We respond: We are prevented from this by Allah’s statement, the Exalted: {No soul earns [anything] except against itself} (6:164). Thus, the legally accountable person addressed by the law who owns his property—none may impose upon him what another has earned. As for one who is neither addressed by the law, nor legally accountable, nor entrusted with his property, there is no doubt that another is commanded to manage his property. Whoever hastens to fulfill this obligation has the right to do so. Similarly, in the case of an absent person who neglects his property, whoever first undertakes proper oversight of it may implement that, except in prohibited matters if carried out, where there is no harm in abstaining from implementation. In such cases, none may implement it upon him, for the reason we have mentioned. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.[24]

L21687 An issue: It is impermissible to give anything to one who has not attained any portion of his wealth.

L21688 Issue 1400: It is impermissible to hand over anything from the minor’s wealth—nor even the daily expense, let alone anything beyond that—except what is consumed at its proper time and what he wears to ward off heat and cold, such as clothing suitable for his peers. He is to be amply provided for in all such matters.

L21689 1401. Issue: If someone sells what must be sold for a minor, a non-discerning person under guardianship, a bankrupt individual, or an absent party with a rightful claim; or purchases for them what must be purchased; or sells in executing a deceased’s will; or transacts with himself on their behalf (whether selling his own property to the ward, minor, creditors of the bankrupt, or absent party, or purchasing from himself for them) – this is equivalent to purchasing for them from others or selling to them from others. There is no distinction, provided he does not favor himself or others in any of these matters. If he refrains from favoritism, it is valid. But if he favors himself or others, it becomes void, for he is commanded to uphold justice and cooperate in acts of goodness. When he fulfills his duty, he is doing good, and "there is no blame upon those who do good" (Quran 9:91). Moreover, has any Quranic text or Sunnah ever prohibited a guardian from purchasing his own property for those under his care or buying from himself on their behalf?[25]

بِالْقِسْطِ، وَالتَّعَاوُنِ عَلَى الْبِرِّ، فَإِذَا فَعَلَ مَا أُمِرَ بِهِ فَهُوَ مُحْسِنٌ، وَإِذْ هُوَ مُحْسِنٌ، فَ {مَا عَلَى الْمُحْسِنِينَ مِنْ سَبِيلٍ} [التوبة: ٩١] وَلَمْ يَأْتِ قَطُّ نَصُّ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا سُنَّةٍ بِالْمَنْعِ مِنْ ابْتِيَاعٍ مِمَّنْ يَنْظُرُ لَهُ لِنَفْسِهِ أَوْ يَشْتَرِي لَهُ مِنْ نَفْسِهِ؟

L21690–21691 If it is said: Indeed, Ibn Mas'ud prohibited that—as we have related through the chain of 'Abd al-Razzaq from Sufyan from Abu Ishaq from Silah ibn Zufar, who said: A man came to Ibn Mas'ud on a horse and said: My uncle bequeathed his estate to me, and this horse is part of [the estate]. May I buy it [from the estate]? He said: No, and do not borrow anything from their wealth. We said: We have indeed related what Ibn Mas'ud narrated to us. Abu Sa'id al-Ja'fari said: Abu Bakr Muhammad ibn 'Ali al-Muqri narrated to us; Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Isma'il al-Nahwi narrated to us from al-Hasan ibn Ghulayb ibn Sa'id; Yusuf ibn 'Adi narrated to us; Abu al-Ahwas narrated to us; Abu Ishaq narrated to us from Yarfa', the freed slave of 'Umar ibn al-Khattab, who said: I placed the wealth of Allah the Exalted in my possession at the status of an orphan's wealth. If I needed it, I took from it, and when I was able, I repaid. This shows that 'Umar does not disapprove of borrowing from the orphan's wealth.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: إِنَّ ابْنَ مَسْعُودٍ قَدْ مَنَعَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ -: كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ عَنْ أَبِي إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ صِلَةَ بْنِ زُفَرَ، قَالَ: جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ عَلَى فَرَسٍ، فَقَالَ: إِنَّ عَمِّي أَوْصَى إِلَيَّ بِتَرِكَتِهِ وَهَذَا مِنْهَا أَفَأَشْتَرِيهِ؟ قَالَ: لَا، وَلَا تَسْتَقْرِضْ مِنْ أَمْوَالِهِمْ شَيْئًا قُلْنَا: قَدْ رُوِّينَا مَا حَدَّثْنَاهُ. أَبُو سَعِيدٍ الْجَعْفَرِيُّ قَالَ: نا أَبُو بَكْرٍ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ الْمُقْرِي نا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ إِسْمَاعِيلَ النَّحْوِيُّ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ بْنِ غُلَيْبِ بْنِ سَعِيدٍ عَنْ يُوسُفَ بْنِ عَدِيٍّ نا أَبُو الْأَحْوَصِ نا أَبُو إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ يَرْفَا مَوْلَى عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ قَالَ: أَنْزَلْت مَالَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى مِنِّي بِمَنْزِلَةِ مَالِ الْيَتِيمِ، إِنْ احْتَجْت إلَيْهِ أَخَذْت مِنْهُ، فَإِذَا أَيْسَرْتُ قَضَيْت. فَهَذَا عُمَرُ لَا يُنْكِرُ الِاسْتِقْرَاضَ مِنْ مَالِ الْيَتِيمِ.

L21692 Similarly, it has been authentically reported from Ibn 'Umar. There is no distinction between taking the orphan's wealth as a loan and returning its equivalent afterward, and purchasing it for its equivalent price or value and giving its equivalent in cash.

L21693 If they say, "Is he suspected in that?" We reply, "He is also suspected of deceiving in what he purchases for the ward from others or sells to the ward from others, thereby misappropriating and breaching the trust in both scenarios. There is no distinction between one who deems the specific bequest permissible and one in guardianship who buys from himself for the ward or purchases from the ward for himself, and one who deems it permissible to engage in such acts when acquiring for the ward from others or selling to the ward from others. Allah has never at all established any discernible distinction between these two matters."

ذَلِكَ فِيمَا يَبْتَاعُ لَهُ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ، أَوْ يَبِيعُ لَهُ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ - وَمَا جَعَلَ اللَّهُ قَطُّ بَيْنَ الْأَمْرَيْنِ فَرْقًا يُعْقَلُ.

L21694 Abu Hanifa said: He may not purchase anything for himself from his orphan's property. This has been reported from Al-Shafi'i. Abu Hanifa also stated in another ruling: If he buys from it for more than its value, it is permissible; but if at the value or less, it is not. Malik said: It must be taken to the market. If its value reaches more, his contract is invalidated; otherwise, it remains binding upon him.

وَالْعَجَبُ أَنَّهُمْ مَنَعُوا مِنْ هَذَا وَأَجَازُوا أَنْ يَرْهَنَ عَنْ نَفْسِهِ مَالَ يَتِيمِهِ، وَأَبَاحَ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ أَنْ يُعْتِقَ عَبْدَ يَتِيمِهِ - وَهَذَا تَنَاقُضٌ وَعَكْسٌ لِلْحَقَائِقِ.

L21695 It is astonishing that they prohibited this yet permitted pledging the orphan's property for himself, while the Malikis permitted manumitting the orphan's own slave - this constitutes a contradiction and an inversion of fundamental truths.

وَقَالَ بِقَوْلِنَا أَبُو يُوسُفَ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ، وَسُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ فِي أَحَدِ قَوْلَيْهِ فَعَلَى، كُلِّ حَالٍ قَدْ خَالَفُوا ابْنَ مَسْعُودٍ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L21696 Abu Yusuf, Abu Sulayman, and Sufyan al-Thawri in one of his two opinions adopted our view. In any case, they have opposed Ibn Mas'ūd—and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

L21698–21700 Issue 1402: Addendum – It is impermissible for an executor to consume from the wealth of those under his supervision. Prohibition of squandering. However, if the guardian requires it, the judge must hire someone for him with a wage equivalent to the required work, in accordance with the words of Allah, the Exalted: "And do not approach the wealth of the orphan except in the best manner" (6:152).[26]

L21701 If they mention Allah's statement: {And whoever is poor, let him eat according to what is customary} [4:6], we respond: Some predecessors affirmed that this commanded consumption applies solely to one's own wealth, not to an orphan's property—and this is the most apparent view, for Allah says: {Those who unjustly consume orphans' wealth merely consume fire into their bellies,

[كِتَابُ الْإِكْرَاهِ] [مَسْأَلَةٌ الْإِكْرَاهُ يَنْقَسِمُ قِسْمَيْنِ]

Book of Coercion: Issue – Coercion is divided into two categories.

١٤٠٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: الْإِكْرَاهُ يَنْقَسِمُ قِسْمَيْنِ: إكْرَاهٌ عَلَى كَلَامٍ، وَإِكْرَاهٌ عَلَى فِعْلٍ -: فَالْإِكْرَاهُ عَلَى الْكَلَامِ لَا يَجِبُ بِهِ شَيْءٌ، وَإِنْ قَالَهُ الْمُكْرَهُ، كَالْكُفْرِ، وَالْقَذْفِ، وَالْإِقْرَارِ، وَالنِّكَاحِ، وَالْإِنْكَاحِ، وَالرَّجْعَةِ، وَالطَّلَاقِ، وَالْبَيْعِ، وَالِابْتِيَاعِ، وَالنَّذْرِ، وَالْإِيمَانِ، وَالْعِتْقِ، وَالْهِبَةِ، وَإِكْرَاهِ الذِّمِّيِّ الْكِتَابِيِّ عَلَى الْإِيمَانِ، وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ فِي قَوْلِهِ مَا أُكْرِهَ عَلَيْهِ إنَّمَا هُوَ حَاكٍ لِلَّفْظِ الَّذِي أُمِرَ أَنْ يَقُولَهُ، وَلَا شَيْءَ عَلَى الْحَاكِي بِلَا خِلَافٍ وَمَنْ فَرَّقَ بَيْنَ الْأَمْرَيْنِ فَقَدْ تَنَاقَضَ قَوْلُهُ وَقَدْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إنَّمَا الْأَعْمَالُ بِالنِّيَّاتِ وَلِكُلِّ امْرِئٍ مَا نَوَى» فَصَحَّ أَنَّ كُلَّ مَنْ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى قَوْلٍ وَلَمْ يَنْوِهِ مُخْتَارًا لَهُ فَإِنَّهُ لَا يَلْزَمُهُ.

Issue 1403: Coercion is divided into two categories: coercion to speak and coercion to act. Coercion to speak does not obligate anything, even if the coerced person speaks it, such as disbelief, slander, confession, marriage, contracting a marriage, revocation of divorce, divorce, sale, purchase, vow, declarations of faith, manumission, gift, coercing a dhimmi from the People of the Book to embrace faith, and other such matters. This is because, in his statement of what he was coerced to do, he is merely reproducing the words he was compelled to utter, and there is no obligation upon the one who reproduces them—this is agreed upon without disagreement. Whoever differentiates between the two matters has contradicted his own statement. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Actions are only by intentions, and every person will have what they intended." Thus, it is established that anyone who is coerced to make a statement and did not willingly intend it is not bound by it.

Coercion regarding an action is divided into two categories: one of them includes all matters permitted by necessity, such as eating and drinking. Coercion renders such acts permissible because it constitutes a necessity. Therefore, whoever is coerced into any of these actions incurs no sin or liability, as he has performed an act that was permissible for him to do.

وَالثَّانِي - مَا لَا تُبِيحُهُ الضَّرُورَةُ، كَالْقَتْلِ، وَالْجِرَاحِ، وَالضَّرْبِ، وَإِفْسَادِ الْمَالِ، فَهَذَا لَا يُبِيحُهُ الْإِكْرَاهُ، فَمَنْ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ لَزِمَهُ الْقَوَدُ وَالضَّمَانُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ أَتَى مُحَرَّمًا عَلَيْهِ إتْيَانُهُ.

The second category comprises acts that necessity does not permit, such as killing, wounding, striking, or destroying property. Coercion does not sanction these acts. Whoever is compelled to commit any such act becomes liable to retaliation (qiṣās) and compensatory liability (ḍamān), for he has committed an act that is strictly forbidden for him to commit.

وَالْإِكْرَاهُ: هُوَ كُلُّ مَا سُمِّيَ فِي اللُّغَةِ إكْرَاهًا، وَعُرِفَ بِالْحِسِّ أَنَّهُ إكْرَاهٌ كَالْوَعِيدِ بِالْقَتْلِ مِمَّنْ لَا يُؤْمَنُ مِنْهُ إنْفَاذُ مَا تَوَعَّدَ بِهِ، وَالْوَعِيدُ بِالضَّرْبِ كَذَلِكَ أَوْ الْوَعِيدُ بِالسَّجْنِ كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ الْوَعِيدُ بِإِفْسَادِ الْمَالِ كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ الْوَعِيدُ فِي مُسَلَّمٍ غَيْرِهِ بِقَتْلٍ، أَوْ ضَرْبٍ،

Coercion (ikrāh) refers to anything linguistically designated as coercion and recognized through sensory perception as such. This includes threats of killing by someone from whom there is no assurance they will refrain from executing what they threatened, threats of beating similarly, threats of imprisonment similarly, threats of property damage similarly, or threats against another Muslim involving killing, beating, or... Imprisonment, or corruption of property, based on the saying of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), “A Muslim is the brother of another Muslim; he neither wrongs him nor betrays him.”

L21710 A jurisprudential issue concerning one who is compelled to drink wine or eat pork.

L21711 Issue 1404: If a person is compelled to drink alcohol, eat pork, carrion, blood, some other prohibited things, or unlawfully consume the property of a Muslim or a dhimmi - it becomes permissible for them to eat or drink, and they bear no responsibility toward anyone nor any liability. This is based on the words of Allah, may He be exalted: “He has made clear to you what He has forbidden you, except what you are compelled to [consume]” (Quran 6:119); His statement, the Most High: “But whoever is compelled, neither intending sin nor transgressing, bears no sin” (Quran 2:173); and His words, the Most High: “But whoever is compelled by severe hunger, without inclination to sin” (Quran 5:3).[1]

L21712 If the one compelled to consume a Muslim’s property possesses available wealth, he must pay the value of what he consumed, for this is the ruling applicable to one compelled by necessity. If he possesses no available wealth, he is not liable for what he consumed, due to what we have previously mentioned—and success is by Allah, the Exalted.

L21713 If it is said: “Why do you not permit for the one under duress [to commit] killing a soul, unlawful sexual intercourse, wounding, striking, and destruction of property based on this line of reasoning?” We answer: Because the revealed texts never permit one to repel injustice against himself by committing injustice against others who have not transgressed against him. Rather, what is obligatory is to repel the oppressor or fight him, in accordance with Allah’s saying: “Cooperate in righteousness and piety, and do not cooperate in sin and aggression” [al-Mā’idah 5:2], and the Messenger of Allah—peace أَوْ سَجْنٍ، أَوْ إفْسَادِ مَالٍ، لِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «الْمُسْلِمُ أَخُو الْمُسْلِمِ لَا يَظْلِمُهُ وَلَا يُسْلِمُهُ» .

[مَسْأَلَةٌ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى شُرْبِ الْخَمْرِ أَوْ أَكْلِ الْخِنْزِيرِ]

فَإِنْ كَانَ الْمُكْرَهُ عَلَى أَكْلِ مَالِ مُسْلِمٍ لَهُ مَالٌ حَاضِرٌ فَعَلَيْهِ قِيمَةُ مَا أَكَلَ؛ لِأَنَّ هَكَذَا هُوَ حُكْمُ الْمُضْطَرِّ، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُ مَالٌ حَاضِرٌ فَلَا شَيْءَ عَلَيْهِ فِيمَا أَكَلَ لِمَا ذَكَرْنَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَهَلَّا أَبَحْتُمْ قَتْلَ النَّفْسِ لِلْمُكْرَهِ، وَالزِّنَى، وَالْجِرَاحِ، وَالضَّرْبِ، وَإِفْسَادَ الْمَالِ بِهَذَا الِاسْتِدْلَالِ؟ قُلْنَا: لِأَنَّ النَّصَّ لَمْ يُبِحْ لَهُ قَطُّ أَنْ يَدْفَعَ عَنْ نَفْسِهِ ظُلْمًا بِظُلْمٍ غَيْرِهِ مِمَّنْ لَمْ يَتَعَدَّ عَلَيْهِ، وَإِنَّمَا الْوَاجِبُ عَلَيْهِ دَفْعُ الظَّالِمِ أَوْ قِتَالُهُ لِقَوْلِهِ تَعَالَى: {وَتَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَى وَلا تَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الإِثْمِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ} [المائدة: ٢] وَلِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «مَنْ رَأَى مِنْكُمْ مُنْكَرًا فَلْيُغَيِّرْهُ بِيَدِهِ إنْ اسْتَطَاعَ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ

and blessings be upon him—saying: "Whoever among you sees an evil, let him change it with his hand if he is able; if he cannot, then with his tongue; and if he cannot, then with his heart—that being the weakest degree of faith. Beyond that, there is no faith whatsoever."[2]

L21714 Thus, it is established that He never permitted him to assist in oppression - neither due to necessity nor otherwise - but merely allowed him (if incapable) not to change it through his hand or tongue. It remains obligatory upon him to change it with his heart - and this is unavoidable - and to patiently endure solely the decree of Allah the Most High. By the Quran's explicit text, eating and drinking are permitted in cases of severe starvation, and in necessity. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

L21715 A legal case: A woman was detained until he committed fornication with her.

L21716–21718 1405 – Issue: If a woman is restrained until someone commits zina with her, or if a man is restrained so that his penis is inserted into a woman's vagina, there is no liability upon him or her: whether there was an erection or not, or ejaculation occurred or not. Whether she emitted or did not emit; because they did not perform any action whatsoever, as the spreading and emission are natural functions created by Allah the Exalted inherent in a person—whether one likes it or dislikes it—with no choice existing for him in that matter.

L21719 A jurisprudential issue where someone is engaged in an act of disobedience and finds nothing to eat except carrion.

L21720 1406. Issue: If someone is on a course of disobedience, such as an unlawful journey or illegitimate fighting, and finds nothing to eat except carrion, blood, swine, the flesh of wild beasts, or some of what is prohibited to him, it is not permissible for him to eat unless he repents. If he repents, let him eat lawful food. If he does not repent, then eating constitutes consuming what is forbidden, while abstaining still leaves him disobedient to Allah the Exalted

[2] Qur'an references (L21713): Qur'an 5:2 (Al-Ma'idah).

فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يُبِحْ لَهُ قَطُّ الْعَوْنَ عَلَى الظُّلْمِ - لَا لِضَرُورَةٍ وَلَا لِغَيْرِهَا - وَإِنَّمَا فَسَّحَ لَهُ - إنْ عَجَزَ - فِي أَنْ لَا يُغَيِّرَهُ بِيَدِهِ وَلَا بِلِسَانِهِ، وَبَقِيَ عَلَيْهِ التَّغْيِيرُ بِقَلْبِهِ وَلَا بُدَّ، وَالصَّبْرُ لِقَضَاءِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَقَطْ، وَأُبِيحَ لَهُ فِي الْمَخْمَصَةِ بِنَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ -: الْأَكْلُ، وَالشُّرْبُ، وَعِنْدَ الضَّرُورَةِ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ أُمْسِكَتْ امْرَأَةٌ حَتَّى زَنَى بِهَا]

[مَسْأَلَةٌ كَانَ فِي سَبِيلِ مَعْصِيَةٍ فَلَمْ يَجِدْ شَيْئًا يَأْكُلُ إلَّا الْمَيْتَةَ]

in all cases. This is the opinion of al-Shāfiʿī and Abū Sulaymān. Mālik said: He should eat.

L21721 Abu Muhammad said: This contradicts the Quran without any burden, for Allah the Exalted only permitted him this in a state where he would neither deviate toward sin, act oppressively, nor commit aggression. His consumption of this strengthens him to commit sin and transgression, empowers him to engage in highway robbery, corrupt the rightful way, and kill Muslims. This is an exceedingly grave matter.

L21722 They said the meaning of Allah's words, {غَيْرَ بَاغٍ وَلا عَادٍ} (not transgressing nor aggressing) [Al-Baqarah 2:173], is: "That is, not transgressing in eating nor aggressing in it?" We replied: This is false, and it is attributing to Allah, the Exalted, an addition in the Quran without evidence—which is not permissible at all, as it constitutes distorting the words from their proper positions.[3]

L21723 If they say, "God Almighty has said, 'Do not kill yourselves' [Quran 4:29]—is he not killing himself if he does not eat?" We respond: God's word is true. We have never commanded him to kill himself. Rather, we tell him: "Fulfill what God has obligated upon you—repentance. Abandon what He has forbidden you—striving to spread corruption and oppression on earth. Eat lawful, wholesome food at the proper time." If you add to your opposition the Quran's permission for him to avoid repentance and its command to persist in spreading corruption on earth, then what we sought from you was less than this. The Ḥanafī scholars said: "Compulsion is not valid in enforcing sales, purchases, confessions, gifts, or charitable donations. None of these are permissible under compulsion."[4]

L21724–21726 They said: If he is coerced into marriage, divorce, retraction of divorce, manumission, a vow, or... The oath: all of that became binding upon him and was established through it. That marriage was valid, that divorce was

قَالُوا: فَإِنْ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى النِّكَاحِ أَوْ الطَّلَاقِ، أَوْ الرَّجْعَةِ، أَوْ الْعِتْقِ، أَوْ النَّذْرِ، أَوْ الْيَمِينِ -: لَزِمَهُ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ، وَقُضِيَ عَلَيْهِ بِهِ، وَصَحَّ ذَلِكَ النِّكَاحُ، وَذَلِكَ الطَّلَاقُ، وَذَلِكَ الْعِتْقُ، وَتِلْكَ الرَّجْعَةُ، وَلَزِمَهُ ذَلِكَ النَّذْرُ، وَتِلْكَ الْيَمِينُ.

valid, that manumission was valid, and that revocation was valid. That vow became binding upon him, including the oath itself.

L21727 It was narrated to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Qudāmah al-Jumaḥī, who reported from his father: A man lowered himself on a rope to collect honey, and his wife swore an oath to him: "By Allah, either you cut the rope or you must divorce me three times!" So he pronounced three divorces at once. When he emerged, he went to ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb and informed him. ʿUmar said to him: "Return to your wife, for this does not count as a valid divorce."

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ نا عَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ بْنُ قُدَامَةَ الْجُمَحِيُّ حَدَّثَنِي أَبِي: أَنَّ رَجُلًا تَدَلَّى بِحَبْلٍ لِيَشْتَارَ عَسَلًا فَحَلَفَتْ لَهُ امْرَأَتُهُ لَتَقْطَعَنَّ الْحَبْلَ أَوْ لَيُطَلِّقَنَّهَا ثَلَاثًا؟ فَطَلَّقَهَا ثَلَاثًا، فَلَمَّا خَرَجَ أَتَى عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ فَأَخْبَرَهُ، فَقَالَ لَهُ عُمَرُ: ارْجِعْ إلَى امْرَأَتِك، فَإِنَّ هَذَا لَيْسَ طَلَاقًا.

L21728 Narrated through the chain of Hammad ibn Salamah, from Humaid, from al-Ḥasan: that Ali ibn Abi Talib said, "There is no divorce for one who is coerced."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ حُمَيْدٍ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ: أَنَّ عَلِيَّ بْنَ أَبِي طَالِبٍ قَالَ: لَيْسَ لِمُسْتَكْرَهٍ طَلَاقٌ.

L21729 Al-Hasan said: A man's wife's family detained him and forced him to divorce her if he failed to send her maintenance by the end of a month. When the deadline passed and he sent nothing, they sued him before Ali. He said: "You oppressed him until he declared her divorced," and he restored her to him.

قَالَ الْحَسَنُ: وَأَخَذَ رَجُلًا أَهْلُ امْرَأَتِهِ فَطَلَّقَهَا إنْ لَمْ يَبْعَثْ بِنَفَقَتِهَا إلَى شَهْرٍ، فَجَاءَ الْأَجَلُ وَلَمْ يَبْعَثْ شَيْئًا، فَخَاصَمُوهُ إلَى عَلِيٍّ، فَقَالَ: اضْطَهَدْتُمُوهُ حَتَّى جَعَلَهَا طَالِقًا فَرَدَّهَا عَلَيْهِ.

L21730 Through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl from Hushaym from ʿAbdullāh ibn Ṭalḥah al-Khuzaʿī from Abū Yazīd al-Madanī from Ibn ʿAbbās, who said: "No divorce [is valid] for a coerced person."

L21731 It has also been authentically established through multiple chains from Ibn ʿUmar that he deemed a coerced divorce invalid. Thābit al-Aʿraj narrated: "I asked every jurist in Medina about a coerced divorce, and they replied, 'It is null and void.' Then I approached Ibn al-Zubayr and Ibn ʿUmar, and they restored my wife to me, as I had been forced to divorce her three times."

وَصَحَّ أَيْضًا: عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ مِنْ طُرُقٍ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يُجِزْ طَلَاقَ الْمُكْرَهِ. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ثَابِتٍ الْأَعْرَجِ قَالَ: سَأَلْت كُلَّ فَقِيهٍ بِالْمَدِينَةِ عَنْ طَلَاقِ الْمُكْرَهِ؟ فَقَالُوا: لَيْسَ بِشَيْءٍ، ثُمَّ أَتَيْت ابْنَ الزُّبَيْرِ، وَابْنَ عُمَرَ، فَرَدَّا عَلَيَّ امْرَأَتِي، وَكَانَ قَدْ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى طَلَاقِهَا ثَلَاثًا.

L21732 This has also been authenticated as reported by Jābir ibn Zayd, al-Ḥasan, ʿAṭāʾ, Ṭāwūs, Shurayḥ, and ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz - and it constitutes the opinion of Mālik, al-Awzāʿī, al-Shāfiʿī, Aḥmad, Abū Sulaymān, and all their companions. The permissibility of coerced divorce has likewise been authenticated as reported by Ibn ʿUmar.

وَصَحَّ هَذَا أَيْضًا: عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ، وَالْحَسَنِ، وَعَطَاءٍ، وَطَاوُسٍ، وَشُرَيْحٍ، وَعُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ مَالِكٍ، وَالْأَوْزَاعِيِّ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَجَمِيعِ أَصْحَابِهِمْ. وَصَحَّ إجَازَةُ طَلَاقِ الْمُكْرَهِ أَيْضًا: عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ.

وَرُوِيَ عَنْ عُمَرَ، وَعَلِيٍّ، وَلَمْ يَصِحَّ عَنْهُمَا -. وَصَحَّ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ، وَقَتَادَةَ، وَالنَّخَعِيِّ، وَسَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ.

L21733 It has been reported from ʻUmar and ʻAli—though not authenticated from them. It is authenticated from Az-Zuhrī, Qatādah, An-Nakhaʿī, and Saʿīd ibn Jubayr.

L21734–21736 Proponents of its permissibility cited the generality of the wording of the Most High: {If he divorces her, she is not lawful to him thereafter} [Al-Baqarah: 230]. Abū Muḥammad said: This is obfuscation on their part, for Allah the Exalted—who said this—is the One who said: But He will hold you accountable for what your hearts have earned [Al-Baqarah: 225]. The coerced person has not divorced at all; rather, he was told: “Say: She is divorced three times.” Thus, he only narrated the statement of the coercer.[5]

L21737 It is astonishing how they confuse matters and lack shame by invoking the generality of this verse to justify permitting a coerced person to divorce, yet they do not validate the sale conducted under coercion—even though Allah the Exalted states: {Allah has permitted trade and forbidden usury} [Al-Baqarah: 275]. If they retort: “A sale is only valid through mutual consent,” we counter: “Divorce is only valid if there is consent from the divorcer and intention on their part,” in accordance with the textual evidences we have already established.[6]

ثُمَّ قَدْ خَالَفُوا هَذَا الْعُمُومَ وَلَمْ يُجِيزُوا طَلَاقَ الصَّبِيِّ، وَلَا طَلَاقَ النَّائِمِ، فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَيْسَ هَذَانِ مُطَلِّقَيْنِ؟ قُلْنَا: وَلَا الْمُكْرَهُ مُطَلِّقًا.

L21738–21739 Moreover, they have contradicted this general principle by not permitting the divorce pronounced by a minor or a sleeping person. If they argue: “Are these two not excluded from those who pronounce divorce?” We respond: “Nor is the coerced person considered one who pronounces divorce.”

L21740 The most astonishing aspect is that they presented an argument here, asking: “Can a sale be revoked due to non-disclosure?” We responded: “Yes, but only after its validity is confirmed. Inform us: Was the coerced sale validly executed or not?” If you say: “It was validly executed,” then revocation is only permissible by mutual consent or through an explicit text on the matter. If you say: “It was not validly executed”—which is their position—we reply: “Your analogy comparing invalid transactions to valid ones is flawed in juristic terms, for it analogizes a thing to its opposite and what bears no resemblance to it." We also told them: "Likewise, a divorce issued by the coerced is invalid." They cited unreliable narrations as evidence—including one we have narrated through Abū ʿUbayd: Ismāʿīl ibn ʿAyyāsh reported to us, from al-Ghāzī ibn Jabalah al-Jublānī, from Ṣafwān ibn ʿImrān al-Ṭāʾī: "A man's wife held a knife to his throat and said: 'Divorce me three times, or I will slaughter you!' He implored her by Allah Almighty, but she refused. He then divorced her three times. When this was mentioned to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), he said: 'The divorce is invalid.'"

L21741 We have also narrated it through another chain: from Nuʿaym ibn Ḥammād to Baqiyyah to al-Ghāzī ibn Jabalah to Ṣafwān al-Ṭāʾī to a man among the Companions of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) to the Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him). All of this is baseless, for Ismāʿīl ibn ʿAyyāsh and Baqiyyah are weak narrators, al-Ghāzī ibn Jabalah is undocumented, Ṣafwān is deemed weak, and the narration is mursal (with a broken chain).

L21742–21744 And they mentioned a narration through the chain of Muṭayyin from Ḥusayn ibn Yūsuf al-Tamīmī—and he is unverified—from Muhammad ibn Marwan—who is unknown—narrated from Ata ibn Ajlan from Ikrimah from Ibn Abbas from the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him): "All forms of divorce are permissible except the divorce of a mentally deficient person who is mentally incapacitated." Abu Muhammad said: This demonstrates their impudence—that they would cite the narration of Ata ibn Ajlan, who is known for lying. Yet they themselves assert: "When a companion narrates a report and others contradict him, this indicates the invalidity of that report." However, this narration is only transmitted through the chain of Ibn Abbas.

L21745 It has been narrated to us through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from ʿAbdullāh ibn al-Mubārak from al-Awzāʿī from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, who said: Verily, Ibn ʿAbbās did not consider the divorce of a coerced person valid. Thus, their corrupt foundational principle obliges them to invalidate all these narrations, since Ibn ʿAbbās narrated some of them, yet they opposed him—just as they did when they fabricated lies against Abū Hurayrah concerning his rejection of what he and other Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—narrated regarding washing a vessel licked by a dog seven times. But they are a people who lack understanding. Moreover, they are the foremost in opposing this narration, for they do not validate the divorce of a sleeping person who utters divorce in his sleep, nor the divorce of a minor—neither of these two is insane nor those who have lost control of their faculties.

L21746 They say regarding one who says to his wife in anger: "You are released," "You are finally divorced," "You are absolved," "You are forbidden," or "The decision is yours"—if he intended a single divorce, then it is binding; if he intended three divorces, it remains binding as one; and if he intended two instances, one becomes binding while the other is not legally enforced.

L21747 Who is more lax in faith than one who cites a narration he himself first contradicts, against someone who does not consider it valid evidence at all? They cited the transmitted narrations: "Three matters: their earnestness is earnest, and their jest is earnest." Abū Muḥammad said: All these narrations are weak - none are sound. Even if they were sound, they would contain no valid evidence for the claimants whatsoever, for the coerced person is neither earnest nor jesting in his divorce pronouncement. Thus, it necessarily follows that no ruling applies to them in this matter.

فَمَنْ أَرَقُّ دِينًا مِمَّنْ يَحْتَجُّ بِخَبَرٍ هُوَ أَوَّلُ مُخَالِفٍ لَهُ عَلَى مَنْ لَا يَرَاهُ حُجَّةً أَصْلًا، وَاحْتَجُّوا بِالْآثَارِ الْوَارِدَةِ «ثَلَاثٌ جِدُّهُنَّ جِدٌّ وَهَزْلُهُنَّ جِدٌّ.» قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهِيَ آثَارٌ وَاهِيَةٌ كُلُّهَا لَا يَصِحُّ مِنْهَا شَيْءٌ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّتْ لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُمْ فِيهَا حُجَّةٌ أَصْلًا، لِأَنَّ الْمُكْرَهَ لَيْسَ مُجِدًّا فِي طَلَاقِهِ، وَلَا هَازِلًا، فَخَرَجَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمْ حُكْمٌ فِي ذَلِكَ.

L21748–21749 Ali said: "What is more astonishing than one who relies on these fabrications - which are either narrated by a liar, an unknown figure, a weak transmitter, or constitute a mursal report - then objects to what we have transmitted through the chain of al-Rabiʿ ibn Sulaymān the Muezzin, from Bishr ibn Bakr, from al-Awzāʿī, from ʿAṭāʾ, from Ibn ʿAbbās, from the Prophet - peace be upon him -: 'My nation is pardoned for errors, forgetfulness, and what they are coerced into.'"

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَأَيُّ عَجَبٍ أَكْثَرُ مِمَّنْ يَحْتَجُّ بِهَذِهِ الْأُكْذُوبَاتِ الَّتِي هِيَ إمَّا مِنْ رِوَايَةِ كَذَّابٍ، أَوْ مَجْهُولٍ، أَوْ ضَعِيفٍ، أَوْ مُرْسَلَةٌ، ثُمَّ يَعْتَرِضُ عَلَى مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الرَّبِيعِ بْنِ سُلَيْمَانَ الْمُؤَذِّنِ عَنْ بِشْرِ بْنِ بَكْرٍ عَنْ الْأَوْزَاعِيِّ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «عُفِيَ لِأُمَّتِي عَنْ الْخَطَأِ وَالنِّسْيَانِ وَمَا اُسْتُكْرِهُوا عَلَيْهِ.»

L21750 If he said, "Did ʿAbdullāh ibn Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal ask his father about this ḥadīth?" his father replied: "Indeed, a Shaykh narrated it from al-Walīd ibn Muslim, who narrated from al-Awzāʿī and Mālik."

L21751 Mālik said: From Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar, from the Prophet (ṣallā Allāhu ʿalayhi wa-sallam).

قَالَ مَالِكٌ: عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L21752 Al-Awzāʿī said: On the authority of ʿAṭāʾ, on the authority of Ibn ʿAbbās, on the authority of the Prophet (peace be upon him).

L21753 Ahmad said: This is a lie and falsehood. It is not narrated except through Al-Hasan from the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) - so marvel at this astonishment! Indeed, Ahmad (may Allah have mercy on him) rejected the authenticity of those who narrated this report via Malik from Nafiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar, and via Al-Walid ibn Muslim from Al-Awzaʿi from ʿAta' from Ibn ʿAbbas. Ahmad spoke truthfully in this matter - for this [claim] never occurred through Malik from Nafiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar, nor through Al-Walid ibn Muslim from Al-Awzaʿi from ʿAta' from Ibn ʿAbbas. It only came through Bishr ibn Bakr from Al-Awzaʿi from ʿAta' from Ibn ʿAbbas from the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be upon him. Whoever alters the chains of transmission has erred or lied if he did so intentionally.

L21754 Then, all wonder is directed at them concerning this report—which is a mursal narration transmitted through al-Ḥasan's chain—while they themselves cite as evidence in this very issue the weakest of mursal narrations. Is this not astonishing in itself? Then they said: How can people be absolved of what they were compelled to do when they have already committed it? This constitutes an objection against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him).

L21755 Then their lack of religious adherence and absence of shame led them to this objection which inherently rebounds upon them, just as their lifting of the legal ruling on coercion in sales, purchases, acknowledgments or confessions, and charity rebounds. Moreover, this constitutes frivolous speech on their part, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) never stated that a coerced person did not utter what he was compelled to say or did not perform what he was coerced to do. Rather, he (peace be upon him) informed that accountability for the legal ruling concerning all such matters is lifted from him - just as the praying person is exempted from accountability for his action due to forgetfulness in the Taslim or speech, the fasting person is exempted for unintentional eating, drinking, or intercourse, and the seller is exempted for a coerced sale - and success is with Allah.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَكُلُّ مَا مَوَّهُوا بِهِ فِي هَذَا فَهُوَ مُبْطِلٌ لِقَوْلِهِمْ فِي إبْطَالِ بَيْعِ الْمُكْرَهِ وَابْتِيَاعِهِ، وَإِقْرَارِهِ، وَهِبَتِهِ، وَصَدَقَتِهِ، مِثْلُ قَوْلِهِمْ: إنَّنَا وَجَدْنَا الْمُكْرَهَةَ عَلَى إرْضَاعِ الصَّبِيِّ خَمْسَ رَضَعَاتٍ يُحَرِّمْنَ عَلَيْهِ وَيُحَرِّمُ عَلَيْهِ مِمَّا يُحَرَّمُ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ جِهَتِهَا لَوْ أَرْضَعَتْهُ طَائِعَةً.

L21756–21758 Abu Muhammad said: All the arguments they have deceptively framed in this matter invalidate their own assertions in nullifying the coerced party's sale, purchase, acknowledgment, gift, and charitable act – as in their statement: "Indeed, we hold the coerced party [to be compelled] in breastfeeding..." Five breastfeedings establish prohibition for the boy, forbidding him the same relationships that would be prohibited through her lineage, provided she breastfed him willingly.

L21759 Ali said: This ruling applies to them regarding coercion in selling, purchasing, charitable giving, and legal acknowledgment. Then we say to them: No intention is considered in breastfeeding - rather, the breastfeeding by a mentally incapacitated or sleeping woman equals that of a sane woman, according to the Prophet's statement (peace be upon him): "What is prohibited through lineage is prohibited through breastfeeding." Thus, there is no role for will in breastfeeding, nor is it a commanded act requiring consideration of her intention.

وَقَالُوا: وَجَدْنَا مَنْ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى وَطْءِ امْرَأَةِ ابْنِهِ يُحَرِّمُهَا عَلَى الِابْنِ. قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا عَلَيْهِمْ فِي الْبَيْعِ، وَالصَّدَقَةِ، وَالْإِقْرَارِ -.

L21760 They said: We found that someone compelled to have intercourse with his son's wife renders her forbidden to the son. Abu Muhammad said: And this is upon them in sale, charity, and confession – وَجَوَابُنَا نَحْنُ أَنَّهُ إنْ أُخِذَ فَرْجُهُ فَأُدْخِلَ فِي فَرْجِهَا لَمْ يُحَرِّمْ شَيْئًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَنْكِحْهَا - وَأَمَّا إنْ تُهُدِّدَ، أَوْ ضُرِبَ حَتَّى جَامَعَهَا بِنَفْسِهِ قَاصِدًا -: فَهُوَ زَانٍ مُخْتَارٌ قَاصِدٌ، وَعَلَيْهِ الْحَدُّ، وَتُحَرَّمُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا حُكْمَ لِلْإِكْرَاهِ هَهُنَا.

L21761 Our answer is that if his penis is seized and inserted into her vagina, it does not make her unlawful, because he did not engage with her willingly. As for the case where he is threatened or beaten until he deliberately engages in intercourse with her intentionally, then he is a willing and intentional adulterer. The ḥadd punishment applies to him, and she becomes forbidden to him, for coercion holds no legal weight here.

L21762 Ali said: And we say to them: Suppose you have found these spurious traditions concerning divorce and manumission—what then have you found regarding marriage? By what principle have you obligated him to it? Yet it has been authentically reported from the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—that he invalidated such practices, as transmitted through the chain of Malik, from ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Qāsim ibn Muḥammad, from his father, from ʿAbd al-Raḥmān and Mujammiʿ—the two sons of Yazīd ibn Jāriyah al-Anṣārī—from Khaṅsāʾ bint Khidhām al-Anṣāriyyah: that her father married her off while she was a thayyib, but she disliked it. She came to the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—and he annulled the marriage contract.

عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ، وَمُجَمِّعٍ، ابْنَيْ يَزِيدَ بْنِ جَارِيَةَ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ «عَنْ خَنْسَاءَ بِنْتِ خِذَامٍ الْأَنْصَارِيَّةِ أَنَّ أَبَاهَا زَوَّجَهَا وَهِيَ ثَيِّبٌ، فَكَرِهَتْ ذَلِكَ، فَأَتَتْ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَرَدَّ نِكَاحَهُ» .

L21763 From the path of Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb: Muhammad ibn Dawud al-Miṣṣīṣī narrated to us; al-Husayn ibn Muhammad narrated to us; Jarir ibn Hazim narrated to us from Ayyub al-Sikhtiyānī from Ikrimah from Ibn Abbas: "A virgin came to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and said: 'My father has married me off'—and she was unwilling—so the Prophet (peace be upon him) invalidated her marriage."

L21764–21766 These two chains are of the utmost validity, with no opposing [ruling] to them. Abū Muḥammad said: Whoever rules to uphold the marriage of a coerced person, the divorce of a coerced person, or the manumission of a coerced person... The ruling is perpetually invalid. If he marries the divorced or emancipated woman, intercourse in such a marriage, after such a divorce, or after such emancipation constitutes adultery. The adulterer shall be lashed and executed by stoning if he is a married person, or lashed one hundred times and exiled for a year if he is unmarried.

L21767 It is astonishing that they do not consider coercion into apostasy as effecting the wife's divorce, while apostasy according to them causes her divorce—and this constitutes a contradiction in their endorsement of divorce through compulsion.

وَالْعَجَبُ أَنَّهُمْ لَا يَرَوْنَ الْإِكْرَاهَ عَلَى الرِّدَّةِ تُبِينُ الزَّوْجَةَ، وَالرِّدَّةُ عِنْدَهُمْ تُبِينُهَا - وَهَذَا تَنَاقُضٌ مِنْهُمْ فِي إجَازَتِهِمْ الطَّلَاقَ بِالْكُرْهِ.

L21768 1407 - Issue: If someone is compelled to prostrate before an idol or a cross, let him prostrate to Allah, the Most High, promptly. Let him not concern himself with any direction in which the idol or cross may be. Allah, the Most High, said: "So wherever you turn, there is the Face of Allah" [2:115].[7] from a ruler or bandits.

١٤٠٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَمَنْ أُكْرِهَ عَلَى سُجُودٍ لِصَنَمٍ، أَوْ لِصَلِيبٍ، فَلْيَسْجُدْ لِلَّهِ تَعَالَى مُبَادِرًا إلَى ذَلِكَ، وَلَا يُبَالِي فِي أَيِّ جِهَةٍ كَانَ ذَلِكَ الصَّنَمُ، وَالصَّلِيبُ، قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {فَأَيْنَمَا تُوَلُّوا فَثَمَّ وَجْهُ اللَّهِ} [البقرة: ١١٥]

L21770 Issue 1408: There is no distinction between coercion by a ruler, thieves, or someone without authority. All of that is equal in everything we have mentioned, because Allah the Exalted did not differentiate between any of these matters, nor did His Messenger (peace be upon him).

L21771 An issue: coercion by striking with a whip.

L21772 1409 – Issue: The Hanafis stated that duress by striking a single whip, two whip strikes, or imprisonment for a day does not constitute duress.

L21773 Abū Muḥammad said: This is a flawed categorization, for it is not supported by the Quran, the Sunnah, or rational reasoning. All flogging constitutes lash after lash up to a hundred thousand or more. Yet they censure the statement of the Companion - with no known opposition to him - while we have been narrated through Shu'bah's chain: Abū Ḥayyān Yaḥyā ibn Sa'd al-Taymī reported to us from his father, who said: Al-Ḥārith ibn Suwayd told me: I heard 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd say: "There is no authority holder who seeks to compel me to speak words that would ward off one or two lashes from me except that I would speak them." No opposition to him is known from the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them).

L21774 The Issue of the Binding Nature of Vows and Oaths Made Under Compulsion.

L21775 Issue 1410: They argued for the obligation of vows and oaths made under compulsion using an unsound hadith transmitted through Ḥudhayfah: "The polytheists seized him at Badr while he was intending to reach the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, and made him swear not to approach the Prophet, peace be upon him. He came to the Prophet, peace be upon him, and informed him. The Prophet said: 'Fulfill their covenant in accordance with them, and we seek Allah's help against them.'"

١٤٠٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ إكْرَاهِ السُّلْطَانِ، أَوْ اللُّصُوصِ، أَوْ مَنْ لَيْسَ سُلْطَانًا، كُلُّ ذَلِكَ سَوَاءٌ فِي كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا؛ لِأَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى لَمْ يُفَرِّقْ بَيْنَ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا رَسُولُهُ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ الْإِكْرَاهُ بِضَرْبِ سَوْطٍ]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا تَقْسِيمٌ فَاسِدٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَأْتِ بِهِ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، وَلَا مَعْقُولٌ، وَالضَّرْبُ كُلُّهُ سَوْطٌ ثُمَّ سَوْطٌ إلَى مِائَةِ أَلْفٍ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ. وَهُمْ يُشَنِّعُونَ بِقَوْلِ الصَّاحِبِ الَّذِي لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ -: وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ شُعْبَةَ، قَالَ: نا أَبُو حَيَّانَ يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعْدٍ التَّيْمِيُّ عَنْ أَبِيهِ، قَالَ: قَالَ لِي الْحَارِثُ بْنُ سُوَيْدٌ: سَمِعْت عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ مَسْعُودٍ يَقُولُ: مَا مِنْ ذِي سُلْطَانٍ يُرِيدُ أَنْ يُكَلِّفَنِي كَلَامًا يَدْرَأُ عَنِّي سَوْطًا أَوْ سَوْطَيْنِ إلَّا كُنْت مُتَكَلِّمًا بِهِ - وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - مُخَالِفٌ.

L21776–21778 Abu Muhammad said: This is a fabricated hadith, for the polytheists never prevented the Prophet (may God's blessings and peace be upon him) from proceeding on the route to Badr. Hudhayfah was not among the people of Mecca; rather, he was a confederate among the people of Medina by pact. For the Ansar and the explicit text of the Quran. It informs that they did not assemble at Badr due to any prior promise, nor did some of them know of others until the two armies drew near, with nothing between them but a sand dune. Those akin to them have argued using such reasoning, and far removed is Allah that the Messenger of Allah—may Allah's blessings and peace be upon him—would command the fulfillment of a covenant through disobedience.

لَيْتَ شِعْرِي لَوْ عَاهَدُوا إنْسَانًا عَلَى أَنْ لَا يُصَلِّيَ، أَوْ أَنْ يَأْتِيَ أُمَّهُ، أَكَانَ يَلْزَمُهُمْ هَذَا عِنْدَهُمْ؟ إنَّ هَذَا لَعَجَبٌ؟ وَنَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْ الْخِذْلَانِ.

L21779 I wish I knew: if they were to bind a person by a covenant not to pray, or to commit incest with his mother, would this be deemed binding upon them in their view? Truly, this is indeed astonishing! And we seek refuge in Allah from abandonment.

[كِتَابُ الْبُيُوعِ] [مَسْأَلَةٌ الْبَيْعُ قِسْمَانِ]

The Book of Sales. Issue: The Sale is Divided into Two Categories.

1411. Issue: Sale is of two types: either the exchange of a present, visible, and inspected commodity for another such commodity, or for a specific absent commodity that is known and described, or for dinars, or for dirhams—all of which are either present and received, deferred to a specified term, or due in the liability even if not physically received.

وَالْقِسْمُ الثَّانِي: بَيْعُ سِلْعَةٍ بِعَيْنِهَا غَائِبَةٍ مَعْرُوفَةٍ أَوْ مَوْصُوفَةٍ بِمِثْلِهَا، أَوْ بِدَنَانِيرَ، أَوْ بِدَرَاهِمَ -: كُلُّ ذَلِكَ حَاضِرٌ مَقْبُوضٌ، أَوْ إلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى، أَوْ حَالَّةٍ فِي الذِّمَّةِ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَقْبِضْ.

The second category: the sale of a specific absent commodity that is either known or described by its equivalent, or sold for dinars or dirhams. All such sales are either present and physically possessed, deferred to a specified term, or an existing obligation in the liability—even if the buyer has not taken possession.

أَمَّا بَيْعُ الْحَاضِرِ الْمَرْئِيِّ الْمُقَلَّبِ بِمِثْلِهِ أَوْ بِدَنَانِيرَ أَوْ دَرَاهِمَ حَاضِرَةٍ مَقْبُوضَةٍ أَوْ إلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى، أَوْ حَالَّةٍ فِي الذِّمَّةِ -: فَمُتَّفَقٌ عَلَى جَوَازِهِ.

As for the sale of a present, visible, and examined item for its equivalent, or for Dinars or Dirhams that are present and in hand, or for a specified term, or a deferred debt obligation—there is scholarly consensus on its permissibility.

وَأَمَّا بَيْعُ سِلْعَةٍ غَائِبَةٍ بِعَيْنِهَا مَرْئِيَّةٍ مَوْصُوفَةٍ مُعَيَّنَةٍ، فَفِيهِ خِلَافٌ فَأَحَدُ قَوْلَيْ الشَّافِعِيِّ: الْمَنْعُ مِنْ بَيْعِ الْغَائِبِ جُمْلَةً - وَقَالَ مَرَّةً: هُوَ جَائِزٌ وَلَهُ خِيَارُ الرُّؤْيَةِ، وَقَالَ مَرَّةً: مِثْلَ قَوْلِنَا فِي جَوَازِ بَيْعِ الْغَائِبِ وَجَوَازِ النَّقْدِ فِيهِ وَلُزُومِ الْبَيْعِ إذَا وُجِدَ عَلَى الصِّفَةِ الَّتِي وَقَعَ الْبَيْعُ عَلَيْهَا بِلَا خِيَارٍ فِي ذَلِكَ.

As for the sale of a specifically determined, visibly described absent commodity, there is disagreement. One of the two positions of al-Shāfiʿī prohibits selling absent commodities categorically. He once stated: "It is permissible but grants the buyer khiyar al-ru'yah (option of inspection)." On another occasion, he said: "This aligns with our view permitting the sale of absent commodities, the permissibility of immediate payment in such transactions, and the finality of the contract if the item conforms to the stipulated description without granting any rescission option in that case."

وَأَجَازَ مَالِكٌ بَيْعَ الْغَائِبَاتِ إلَّا أَنَّهُ لَمْ يُجِزْ النَّقْدَ فِيهَا جُمْلَةً فِي أَحَدِ قَوْلَيْهِ -: رَوَاهُ ابْنُ وَهْبٍ عَنْهُ - وَأَجَازَ ابْنُ الْقَاسِمِ عَنْهُ النَّقْدَ فِي الضِّيَاعِ وَالدُّورِ - قَرُبَتْ أَمْ بَعُدَتْ - وَأَمَّا الْعُرُوضُ فَإِنَّهُ أَجَازَ النَّقْدَ فِيهِ إنْ كَانَ قَرِيبًا وَلَا يَجُوزُ إنْ كَانَ بَعِيدًا.

Malik permitted the sale of unseen items, but he prohibited lump-sum cash payment in them in one of his two opinions—as narrated by Ibn Wahb from him. Ibn al-Qasim, applying Malik's position, permitted cash payment for farmlands and houses whether near or distant. As for merchandise, he permitted cash payment if it was nearby but prohibited it if distant.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: بَيْعُ الْغَائِبِ جَائِزٌ مَوْصُوفًا كَانَ أَوْ غَيْرَ مَوْصُوفٍ، وَالنَّقْدُ فِي ذَلِكَ جَائِزٌ. وَكَيْفَ

Abu Hanifah said: The sale of unseen items is permissible whether described or undescribed, and cash payment in such transactions is permissible. However, the option remains with the buyer when he inspects what he purchased. At that point, he may either annul the sale or ratify it, whether it conforms to the description or differs from it.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: بَيْعُ الْغَائِبَاتِ جَائِزٌ مَوْصُوفَةً وَغَيْرَ مَوْصُوفَةٍ، وَالنَّقْدُ فِي ذَلِكَ جَائِزٌ إِلَّا أَنَّ الْخِيَارَ لِلْمُشْتَرِي إِذَا رَأَى مَا اشْتَرَى، فَلَهُ حِينَئِذٍ أَنْ يَرُدَّ الْبَيْعَ، وَأَنْ يُمْضِيَهُ سَوَاءٌ وَجَدَهُ كَمَا وُصِفَ لَهُ، أَوْ وَجَدَهُ بِخِلَافِ مَا وُصِفَ لَهُ.

L21788–21789 He also has the option to annul the sale or confirm it before he sees what he has purchased.

وَلَهُ الْخِيَارُ أَيْضًا فِي فَسْخِ الْبَيْعِ أَوْ إِمْضَائِهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَرَى مَا اشْتَرَى.

L21790 Even if he were to formally attest against himself that he has waived his right of option and that he has finalized the sale and bound himself to it, none of that becomes binding upon him, and he retains the right of option as before. If he sees the face of the female slave he purchased while she is absent (i.e., without full access to inspect her) and does not examine the rest of her, the sale becomes binding, his right of option is forfeited, and he may not return her except due to a defect. The ruling applies equally and without distinction to a male slave.

L21791 He said: If one purchases an unseen animal and subsequently sees its hindquarters, the sale becomes binding on him even if he does not see the remainder of it. He cannot rescind the sale except due to a defect. This ruling applies to all animals, excluding the children of Adam.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ اشْتَرَى دَابَّةً غَائِبَةً فَرَأَى عَجُزَهَا لَزِمَتْهُ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَرَ سَائِرَهَا وَلَا يَرُدُّهَا إِلَّا مِنْ عَيْبٍ - وَكَذَلِكَ سَائِرُ الْحَيَوَانِ حَاشَا بَنِي آدَمَ.

L21792 He said: If someone purchases garments—whether absent or present in a folded state—and inspects their exterior surfaces and folded sections without unfolding them, the sale becomes binding, his right to rescind is nullified, and he may not return them except due to a defect.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ اشْتَرَى ثِيَابًا غَائِبَةً أَوْ حَاضِرَةً مَطْوِيَّةً فَرَأَى ظُهُورَهَا وَمَوَاضِعَ طَيِّهَا وَلَمْ يَنْشُرْهَا فَقَدْ لَزِمَتْهُ وَسَقَطَ خِيَارُهُ وَلَا يَرُدُّهَا إِلَّا مِنْ عَيْبٍ.

L21793 He said: If one purchases Herati clothes in a bag, Zutti clothes in a bale, ghee in skin containers, oil likewise, wheat in a grain sack, goods not measured by volume or weight, or an animal—and has not seen any of these—they retain the right to inspect until they have seen all that was purchased.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ اشْتَرَى ثِيَابًا هَرَوِيَّةً فِي جِرَابٍ أَوْ ثِيَابًا زُطِّيَّةً فِي عِدْلٍ، أَوْ سَمْنًا، فِي زُقَاقٍ، أَوْ زَيْتًا كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ حِنْطَةً فِي غِرَارَةٍ، أَوْ عُرُوضًا مِمَّا لَا يُكَالُ وَلَا يُوزَنُ، أَوْ حَيَوَانًا وَلَمْ يَرَ شَيْئًا مِنْ ذَلِكَ: فَإِنَّ لَهُ خِيَارَ الرُّؤْيَةِ حَتَّى يَرَى كُلَّ مَا اشْتَرَى مِنْ ذَلِكَ.

L21794 If he has seen all the garments except one or all beasts of burden except one, he may rescind the sale if he wishes—regardless of whether what he found matched the description given to him or contradicted it. However, for clarified butter, oil, or wheat: if he saw part of these items and the unseen portion was identical to what he observed, the sale becomes binding and his option is forfeited. The author stated: If one buys a house after viewing its exterior without inspecting the interior, the sale becomes binding, the option of inspection is forfeited, and he may only return it due to a defect. It is narrated from Zufar that the option remains valid unless the buyer inspects part of its land in addition.

وَالزَّيْتَ، وَالْحِنْطَةَ، فَإِنَّهُ إِنْ رَأَى بَعْضَ ذَلِكَ فَكَانَ مَا لَمْ يَرَ مِنْهُ مِثْلَ الَّذِي رَأَى: فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ وَسَقَطَ خِيَارُهُ. قَالَ: فَإِنْ ابْتَاعَ دَارًا فَرَآهَا مِنْ خَارِجِهَا وَلَمْ يَرَهَا مِنْ دَاخِلٍ: فَقَدْ لَزِمَتْهُ وَسَقَطَ خِيَارُ الرُّؤْيَةِ وَلَا يَرُدُّهَا إِلَّا مِنْ عَيْبٍ - وَرُوِيَ عَنْ زُفَرَ: أَنَّهُ لَا يَسْقُطُ خِيَارُهُ إِلَّا حَتَّى يَرَى مَعَ ذَلِكَ شَيْئًا مِنْ أَرْضِهَا.

L21795 Abu Yusuf said: A blind person's physical inspection (by touch) of the door and walls of the house nullifies his right to rescind the sale, binds him to the transaction, and he cannot return it unless a defect is discovered.

وَقَالَ أَبُو يُوسُفَ: لَمْسُ الْأَعْمَى لِبَابِ الدَّارِ وَلِحَائِطِهَا: يُسْقِطُ خِيَارَهُ وَيَلْزَمُهُ الْبَيْعُ، وَلَا يَرُدُّهَا إِلَّا مِنْ عَيْبٍ.

L21796 Abu Hanifa and his companions stated: One may not rescind a sale after viewing the purchased item except in the seller's presence. If two people jointly purchase an unseen item through a single transaction, then inspect it, and one party rescinds the sale while the other approves it, the rescission is not permissible whatsoever unless both rescind it together.

قَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَأَصْحَابُهُ: وَلَيْسَ لَهُ أَنْ يَرُدَّ الْبَيْعَ إِذَا رَأَى مَا ابْتَاعَ إِلَّا بِمَحْضَرِ الْبَائِعِ، فَلَوْ اشْتَرَى اثْنَانِ شِرَاءً وَاحِدً غَائِبًا فَرَأَيَاهُ فَرَدَّ أَحَدُهُمَا الْبَيْعَ وَأَجَازَهُ الْآخَرُ فَلَا يَجُوزُ الرَّدُّ إِلَّا أَنْ يَرُدَّاهُ مَعًا.

L21797–21798 They said: If he sends a messenger to receive what he purchased on his behalf, and the messenger sees the sold item and takes possession of it, the buyer retains his right of option. But if he appoints an agent, and the agent sees the sold item and takes possession of it, the buyer's right of option lapses according to Abū Ḥanīfah's view, whereas it does not lapse in the opinion of Abū Yūsuf and Muḥammad. Abū Ḥanīfah once stated—but later retracted—that the seller also has a right of option if he sells something unseen, just as the buyer does.

L21799 Abu Muhammad said: It has been narrated from the predecessors regarding this matter, and there is a narration concerning it. It states that 'Uthmān sold a plot of land in Kūfah to Ṭalḥah (may Allah be pleased with them both). 'Uthmān was told, "You have been defrauded." He replied, "The option is mine, for I sold what I had not seen." Ṭalḥah countered, "Rather, the option is mine, for I bought what I had not seen." Jubayr ibn Muṭ'im judged between them and ruled that the option belonged to Ṭalḥah, not to 'Uthmān. Ibn Shubrumah said: The option of inspection applies to both the seller and the buyer together, as was related from 'Uthmān.

L21800 From the narration of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Hushaym narrated to us from Ismail ibn Salim, Yunus ibn Ubayd, and al-Mughirah. Ismail reported from al-Sha'bi, Yunus reported from al-Hasan, and al-Mughirah reported from Ibrahim. They all agreed regarding one who purchases something without having inspected it, whatever it may be. They said: "He has the right of khiyar—if he wishes, he may take it, and if he wishes, he may leave it." Ibrahim said: "He retains the right of khiyar even if he finds it as stipulated." This ruling is also narrated from Makhul—and it is the position of al-Awzaʿi and Sufyan al-Thawri—and immediate payment is permissible in all such cases in their view.

وَخَالَفَهُمْ غَيْرُهُمْ، كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: إذَا ابْتَاعَ الرَّجُلُ الْبَيْعَ وَلَمْ يَرَهُ وَنُعِتَ لَهُ فَوَافَقَ النَّعْتَ وَجَبَ فِي عِتْقِهِ. قَالَ الْحَجَّاجُ: وَحَدَّثَنَا حَمَّادُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ: إذَا ابْتَاعَ الْبَيْعَ وَلَمْ يَرَهُ فَوَصَفَهُ لَهُ الْبَائِعُ فَجَاءَ عَلَى الْوَصْفِ فَهُوَ لَهُ.

L21801 Others disagreed with them, as we have reported through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhāl from Ḥammād ibn Salamah from Ayyūb Al-Sikhtiyānī from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, who said: "If a man purchases the sold object without seeing it, and it is described to him, and it matches the description, the slave must be emancipated." Al-Ḥajjāj said: "And Ḥammād ibn Zayd narrated to us from Ayyūb from Ibn Sīrīn: 'If he purchases the sold object without seeing it, and the seller describes it to him, and it conforms to the description, then it is his.'"

L21802 And Al-Ḥasan said: He has the option upon seeing it.

قَالَ أَيُّوبُ: وَلَا أَعْلَمُ رَجُلًا اشْتَرَى بَيْعًا لَمْ يَرَهُ فَوَصَفَهُ لَهُ الْبَائِعُ فَوَجَدَهُ عَلَى مَا وَصَفَهُ لَهُ فَرَدَّهُ عَلَيْهِ إلَّا هُوَ مِنْ الظَّالِمِينَ؟ وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا جَرِيرٌ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنْ الْحَارِثِ الْعُكْلِيِّ فِيمَنْ اشْتَرَى الْعِدْلَ مِنْ الْبُرِّ فَنَظَرَ بَعْضُ التُّجَّارِ إلَى بَعْضِهِ فَقَدْ وَجَبَ عَلَيْهِ إذَا لَمْ يَرَ عُوَارًا فِيمَا لَمْ يَنْظُرْ إلَيْهِ.

L21803–21805 Ayyūb said: I do not know of any man who purchased an item he had not seen, whereupon the seller described it to him and he found it exactly as described, yet he returned it to the seller except that such a man would be among the wrongdoers. Through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Jarīr narrated to us from al-Mughīrah from al-Ḥārith al-'Uklī concerning one who purchased. The just measure from wheat—then when some merchants examine a portion of it, liability becomes binding upon them if they fail to detect defects in what they did not inspect.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ شُعْبَةَ عَنْ الْحَكَمِ، وَحَمَّادٍ فِيمَنْ اشْتَرَى عَبْدًا قَدْ رَآهُ بِالْأَمْسِ وَلَمْ يَرَهُ يَوْمَ اشْتَرَاهُ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: لَا يَجُوزُ حَتَّى يَرَاهُ يَوْمَ اشْتَرَاهُ.

L21806 From the narration of Shu'bah via Al-Ḥakam and Ḥammād regarding one who purchased a slave he had inspected the previous day but did not inspect on the day of purchase, they both said: It is impermissible until the buyer inspects the slave on the day of purchase.

L21807 Abū Muḥammad said: All of this is what we know from the predecessors. As for the statements of Abū Ḥanīfah that we mentioned, they are rulings of extreme corruption, not transmitted from any individual among the people of Islam before him—referring to his distinction regarding what nullifies the option [to rescind] concerning slaves he deems, animals he deems, Zutti garments in bundles he deems, garments not in sealed containers he deems, butter, oil, wheat, and dwellings he deems. All of this comprises baseless notions with no share in reason, no basis in the Qur'ān, the Sunnah, corrupt narrations, the statement of any predecessor, nor any analogy—neither evident nor subtle—nor any opinion possessing a trace of correctness. Whatever is like this, it is impermissible for anyone to uphold it.

L21808 As for Mālik's two opinions collectively, they are precisely equivalent, exactly alike. We do not know of both being transmitted from anyone before him, and there exists no legitimate basis for doubt whatsoever. However, some have claimed practical implementation regarding this matter, yet this is invalid, for both represent conflicting positions from him—as we indicated—each opposing the other. If practice were established upon one of them, it would contradict the practice based on his other opinion. A person's opposition to what he himself considers decisive religious evidence constitutes an extremely grave matter. It is fundamentally impossible for practice to be founded upon both opinions.

L21809 Moreover, his stipulation permitting cash payment if the sold item is nearby and prohibiting cash payment if it is distant—while failing to define the measure of distance that prohibits cash payment and the proximity that permits it—is this not a grave inconsistency? What greater contradiction is there than one who prohibits and permits, yet fails to clarify for his followers the prohibited action to avoid and the permitted action to perform?

L21810 Some of his adherents in taqlīd who prohibited cash payment in that matter—which is the opinion of al-Layth—argued, saying: If he pays cash for it and then finds it not as described, and thus revokes the sale, the seller would have benefited from the price during the interim period, rendering it a salaf loan (interest-free loan) entailing a benefit? Abu Muḥammad said: This argument is more flawed than the opinion it supports.

L21811–21812 We say to them: Yes, so what? There has never been a loan that brought benefit—rather, it is a sale like all other sales with absolutely no distinction. Then where did you find the prohibition of a loan that brings benefit? In which book of Allah the Almighty did you find this? Or in which Sunnah of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him)? Or in which saying of a Companion? The greatest wonder is that there exists no loan on earth except that it brings benefit to the borrower, for had he not benefited from it, he would not have sought it. Have we ever heard anything more absurd or baseless than this claim? Moreover, if their argument were valid, it would necessitate invalidating all sales entirely, for there is no sale in the world without this legal defect existing within it. Every sale inherently carries the possibility of being rightfully revoked or returned due to a defect. Why then do they not prohibit immediate payment in every sale for this reason? For if a sale is revoked, the seller returns the price to the buyer after having benefited from it, thereby making it a loan that brings benefit. How can any pious person deem it permissible to entangle Muslims in such a corrupt argument? We seek Allah's protection—thus this claim is entirely invalidated.

L21813–21815 As for Al-Shafi'i's statement prohibiting the sale of absent goods, his followers argued using the Messenger of Allah's (peace be upon him) prohibition against sales involving uncertainty (gharar), touch-based transactions (mulamasa), and throw-based transactions (munabadha). We know no foundational evidence for their position beyond this, nor any valid proof within it. For when the sale of absent goods is described based on sight, expertise, and knowledge - with verified ownership of the purchased item - where then lies the uncertainty? Should they argue: "The commodity might perish before the time of the sale, rendering the transaction invalid," we respond: "Similarly, the commodity might be lawfully claimed, rendering the sale invalid - and there is no distinction." By this reasoning, if they invalidate all sales due to this type of uncertainty, they would nullify every transaction on earth. Yet no uncertainty exists here at all, except what exists in all other sales collectively - with no distinction.

الْبَيْعُ فَاسِدًا؟ قُلْنَا: وَقَدْ تُسْتَحَقُّ السِّلْعَةُ فَيَقَعُ الْبَيْعُ فَاسِدًا وَلَا فَرْقَ فَأَبْطَلُوا بِهَذَا النَّوْعِ مِنْ الْغَرَرِ كُلَّ بَيْعٍ فِي الْأَرْضِ، فَلَا غَرَرَ هَهُنَا أَصْلًا، إلَّا كَالْغَرَرِ فِي سَائِرِ الْبُيُوعِ كُلِّهَا وَلَا فَرْقَ. وَأَمَّا الْمُنَابَذَةُ، وَالْمُلَامَسَةُ - فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْأَعْلَى نا الْمُعْتَمِرُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانَ [قَالَ] سَمِعْت عُبَيْدَ اللَّهِ - هُوَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ - عَنْ خُبَيْبِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ حَفْصِ بْنِ عَاصِمٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «أَنَّهُ نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعَتَيْنِ: الْمُنَابَذَةِ وَالْمُلَامَسَةِ» ، وَزَعَمَ أَنَّ الْمُلَامَسَةَ أَنْ يَقُولَ الرَّجُلُ لِلرَّجُلِ: أَبِيعُك ثَوْبِي بِثَوْبِك، وَلَا يَنْظُرُ وَاحِدٌ مِنْهُمَا إلَى ثَوْبِ الْآخَرِ وَلَكِنْ يَلْمِسُهُ لَمْسًا وَالْمُنَابَذَةُ أَنْ يَقُولَ: أَنْبِذُ مَا مَعِي وَتَنْبِذُ مَا مَعَك لِيَشْتَرِيَ أَحَدُهُمَا مِنْ الْآخَرِ، وَلَا يَدْرِي كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا كَمْ مَعَ الْآخَرِ، وَنَحْوٌ مِنْ ذَا ".

Regarding munabadha (throw-based sales) and mulamasa (touch-based sales) - we have been narrated through Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb's chain: Muhammad ibn Abd al-A'la reported to us, al-Mu'tamir ibn Sulayman reported to us, saying: I heard Ubayd Allah (son of Umar) narrate from Khubayb ibn Abd al-Rahman, from Hafs ibn Asim, from Abu Hurayrah, that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "He prohibited two types of sales:" The "Munabadha" and "Mulamasa." He stated that Mulamasa occurs when a man says to another: "I sell my garment for your garment," with neither of them looking at the other's garment but merely touching it with a touch. Munabadha occurs when he says: "I cast forth what I have, and you cast forth what you have," so that one of them may buy from the other, while neither knows the quantity the other possesses, and the like of this.

L21816 From the path of Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb: He narrated from Abu Dawud al-Tayalisi, who narrated from Ya'qub ibn Ibrahim ibn Sa'd ibn Ibrahim ibn 'Abd al-Rahman ibn 'Awf, who narrated from his father, from Salih—who is Ibn Kaysan—from Ibn Shihab, that 'Amir ibn Sa'd ibn Abi Waqqas narrated to him that Abu Sa'id al-Khudri—may Allah be pleased with him—said: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—prohibited mulamasah (touch-based sale), and mulamasah is donning a garment without looking at it; and he prohibited munabadah (casting sale), and munabadah is when a man throws his garment to another before examining it by turning it over." Abu Muhammad said: "This is undeniably forbidden, and it is the interpretation of Abu Hurayrah and Abu Sa'id—may Allah be pleased with them both. They are the decisive authorities in Islamic law and the Arabic language, with no dissenting opinion regarding this interpretation. This is categorically not the sale of an absent item, but rather the sale of a present item. Thus, the obfuscation of those who cited these two narrations as evidence has been exposed."

L21817 Ali said: However, these two reports serve as proof against Abū Ḥanīfah regarding his approval of selling absent and present items that are neither described nor seen.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: إِلَّا أَنَّ هَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ هُمَا حُجَّةٌ عَلَى أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ فِي إِجَازَتِهِ بَيْعَ الْغَائِبِ وَالْحَاضِرِ غَيْرَ مَوْصُوفَيْنِ وَلَا مَرْئِيَّيْنِ.

L21818 Ali said: Among what invalidates Al-Shafi'i's opinion is that Muslims have continuously exchanged estates by description, even those located in distant lands. Uthman sold his property in Khaybar to Ibn Umar – may Allah be pleased with them both – in exchange for Ibn Umar's property in Wadi al-Qura. This is a well-known matter.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَمِمَّا يُبْطِلُ قَوْلَ الشَّافِعِيِّ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَزَلْ الْمُسْلِمُونَ يَتَبَايَعُونَ الضِّيَاعَ بِالصِّفَةِ، وَهِيَ فِي الْبِلَادِ الْبَعِيدَةِ، قَدْ بَايَعَ عُثْمَانُ ابْنَ عُمَرَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - مَالًا لِعُثْمَانَ بِخَيْبَرَ بِمَالٍ لِابْنِ عُمَرَ بِوَادِي الْقُرَى، وَهَذَا أَمْرٌ مَشْهُورٌ.

L21819 What if they cite the Prophet's prohibition—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—against selling what is not in your possession?

فَإِنْ احْتَجُّوا بِنَهْيِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ مَا لَيْسَ عِنْدَكَ؟ .

L21820 We said: Yes, and the absent item is considered to be in the seller's possession, not from what is not in his possession. For there is no dispute in the Arabic language regarding the correctness of the speaker's claim when stating: "I have estates," "I have houses," "I have slaves and possessions"—whether absent or present—provided all such items are under his ownership. What is not considered to be in a person's possession is exclusively what he does not own, even if it is physically held by him.

قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، وَالْغَائِبُ هُوَ عِنْدَ بَائِعِهِ لَا مِمَّا لَيْسَ عِنْدَهُ، لِأَنَّهُ لَا خِلَافَ فِي لُغَةِ الْعَرَبِ فِي صِدْقِ الْقَائِلِ: عِنْدِي ضِيَاعٌ، وَعِنْدِي دُورٌ، وَعِنْدِي رَقِيقٌ وَمَتَاعٌ - غَائِبٌ وَحَاضِرٌ - إذَا كَانَ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ فِي مِلْكِهِ، وَإِنَّمَا لَيْسَ عِنْدَ الْمَرْءِ مَا لَيْسَ فِي مِلْكِهِ فَقَطْ، وَإِنْ كَانَ فِي يَدِهِ.

L21821–21822 The proof of the invalidity of Al-Shāfiʿī's opinion is this: the statement of Allah, the Exalted: {Allah has permitted trade} [Al-Baqarah: 275], and His statement: {Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, unless it is a transaction by mutual consent from you} [An-Nisā': 29].[1]

وَالْبُرْهَانُ عَلَى فَسَادِ قَوْلِ الشَّافِعِيِّ هَذَا هُوَ قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] . وقَوْله تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] .

L21823 The sale of an unseen item is a sale included in what Allah the Exalted has permitted and within transactions mutually agreed upon by both parties. All of this is lawful except for a sale prohibited by Allah the Exalted on the tongue of His Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) in the Qur'an and the established Sunnah.

فَبَيْعُ الْغَائِبِ بَيْعٌ دَاخِلٌ فِيمَا أَحَلَّهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى، وَفِي التِّجَارَةِ الَّتِي يَتَرَاضَى بِهَا الْمُتَبَايِعَانِ، فَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ حَلَالٌ إلَّا بَيْعًا حَرَّمَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَلَى لِسَانِ رَسُولِهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي الْقُرْآنِ، وَالسُّنَّةِ الثَّابِتَةِ.

L21824 Among the certainly false matters is that Allah the Exalted would forbid us a specific sale while permitting sales collectively without clarifying it through the tongue of His Prophet—peace be upon him—who was commanded to explain. This is a matter we have previously established—praise be to Allah the Exalted—due to His saying: {Allah does not burden a soul beyond its capacity} [Al-Baqarah: 286]. It is not within our capacity to know what Allah has forbidden for us, permitted for us, or obligated upon us except through the arrival of a revealed text. We find no precedent from earlier scholars regarding Al-Shāfiʿī's stance on prohibiting the sale of unseen, pre-described items.[2]

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَأَيْنَ قَوْلُ الْحَكَمِ، وَحَمَّادٍ، الَّذِي رَوَيْتُمُوهُ آنِفًا؟ قُلْنَا: إنَّهُمَا لَمْ يَمْنَعَا مِنْ بَيْعِ الْغَائِبِ، وَإِنَّمَا مَنَعَا مِنْ بَيْعِ مَا لَمْ يَرَهُ الْمُشْتَرِي يَوْمَ الشِّرَاءِ - وَقَدْ يَرَاهُ فِي أَوَّلِ النَّهَارِ وَيَغِيبُ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ - فَلَمْ يَشْتَرِطَا حُضُورَهُ فِي حِينِ عَقْدِ الْبَيْعِ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يَقُولَ أَحَدٌ مَا لَمْ يَقُلْ بِالظَّنِّ الْكَاذِبِ وَبِاَللَّهِ التَّوْفِيقُ.

L21825 If it is said: Then where is the statement of Al-Hakam and Hammad, which you narrated earlier? We say: They did not prohibit the sale of an absent item, but rather prohibited the sale of what the buyer did not see on the day of purchase—though he may see it at the beginning of the day and it becomes absent afterward. Thus, they did not stipulate its presence at the time of concluding the sale, nor is it permissible for anyone to assert what they did not say based on false presumption. And success is from Allah.

L21826 Ali said: All these opinions were rejected, and the view of those who universally upheld the option of inspection remained—as we have reported from Ibrāhīm, al-Ḥasan, al-Shaʿbī, Makhūl, and one of the two positions of al-Shāfiʿī. We found them citing a tradition we reported through the chain of Wakīʿ, from al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayyin, from al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said: 'Whoever buys something retains the option until he sees it.'"

L21827 Abū Muḥammad said: This is a mursal, and no valid proof exists in a mursal. Furthermore, even if it were authentic, it would not constitute evidence for their position, because it does not state that he has the option if he finds it as described. Its apparent meaning indicates the termination of the option upon inspection. Thus, it entirely contradicts the view of Abū Ḥanīfah—and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

وَهَذَا مِمَّا تَرَكَهُ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ، وَهُمْ يَقُولُونَ بِالْمُرْسَلِ، لِأَنَّهُمْ لَا يَجْعَلُونَ لَهُمْ خِيَارًا قَبْلَ أَنْ يَرَاهُ أَصْلًا. وَذَكَرُوا مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ عَنْ إِسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ عَيَّاشٍ عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي مَرْيَمَ عَنْ مَكْحُولٍ " أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «مَنْ اشْتَرَى شَيْئًا لَمْ يَرَهُ فَهُوَ بِالْخِيَارِ إِذَا رَآهُ، إِنْ شَاءَ أَخَذَهُ، وَإِنْ شَاءَ رَدَّهُ» . وَإِسْمَاعِيلُ ضَعِيفٌ، وَأَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ مَرْيَمَ مَذْكُورٌ بِالْكَذِبِ، وَمُرْسَلٌ مَعَ ذَلِكَ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُمْ فِيهِ حُجَّةٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ يَحْتَمِلُ أَنْ يُرِيدَ لَهُ رَدَّهُ إِنْ وَجَدَهُ بِخِلَافِ مَا وُصِفَ لَهُ.

This is among what the Malikis have rejected, as they uphold the mursal—a hadith with an incomplete chain—since they do not grant the buyer an option before seeing the item as a fundamental principle. They cited what was narrated to us through the chain of Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr from Ismā'īl ibn 'Ayyāsh from Abū Bakr ibn 'Abd Allāh ibn Abī Maryam from Makhūl: "The Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him, said: 'Whoever buys something he has not seen has the option when he sees it: if he wishes, he may keep it or return it.'" Ismā'īl is weak (in narration), and Abū Bakr ibn 'Abd Allāh ibn Abī Maryam is noted for dishonesty, in addition to the hadith being mursal. Furthermore, even if it were authentic, it would not serve as proof for them, because it could be interpreted to mean that the buyer may return it if he finds it contrary to what was described to him.

A case: The buyer of the unseen commodity found the purchased item as it had been described to him.

١٤١٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَإِنْ وَجَدَ مُشْتَرِي السِّلْعَةِ الْغَائِبَةِ مَا اشْتَرَى كَمَا وُصِفَ لَهُ فَالْبَيْعُ لَهُ لَازِمٌ، وَإِنْ وَجَدَهُ بِخِلَافِ ذَلِكَ فَلَا بَيْعَ بَيْنَهُمَا إِلَّا بِتَجْدِيدِ صِفَةٍ أُخْرَى بِرِضَاهُمَا جَمِيعًا.

1412. Legal Case: If the buyer of an absent commodity discovers the purchased item matches its description, the sale remains legally binding. If he finds it contrary to the description, no sale exists between them unless they establish a new description by mutual consent.

The proof of this is that his purchase remains valid if he finds the commodity with the attributes as stipulated in the contract, as we previously mentioned. If he finds attributes contradicting those upon which the sale contract was established, we know with certainty - as agreed by all - that he did not purchase that commodity he encountered. For he purchased a commodity with specified attributes, not one possessing the attributes he discovered. Therefore, what he found is unquestionably distinct from what he purchased. If he did not purchase it, the commodity does not belong to him.

If it is said: "[Objection:] Then obligate the seller to produce a commodity according to the description with which he sold it?" We respond: This is impermissible, for he sold only a specific entity, not a warranted attribute. Thus, it is invalid to compel him to produce what he did not sell. Hence, it is confirmed that his contract is invalid because it did not pertain to anything at all. Success is from Allah, the Exalted. This is the opinion of Abū Sulaymān and others.

A ruling on the sale of something from absent items without a detailed description.

Issue 1413: If an item from unseen goods is sold without description - neither being something the seller has known through sight nor through a credible account from one who saw the sold item, nor being something the seller has made known to the buyer through sight or a credible description - then the sale is inherently void and perpetually annulled, with no validity to the contract whatsoever.

It is permissible for a person to purchase what the seller has described to him, whether he believed him or did not believe him.

It is permissible for a person to sell what the buyer has described to him—whether the seller confirms the description or not. If the sold item is found to match that description, the sale is binding. If it is found contrary to it, the sale is unequivocally invalid.

The Hanafis permitted the sale of an unknown, undescribed object, stipulating within it the option of inspection, as we mentioned. Our statement that it is impermissible unless knowledge of its description exists is the view of Malik in some cases of this matter, or the opinion of Abu Sulayman and others besides these two.

Abu Muhammad said: The Hanafis argued for their position by citing the established report from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that he "prohibited selling grain before it hardens." They stated: This implies the permissibility of selling it after it has hardened while still in its husks, though no one has seen it and its characteristics remain unknown.

Ali said: This is among the deceptions they contrived, creating the illusion of it being proof for their position - though it is not - for this narration contains only the prohibition of selling grain before hardening, without permitting its sale after hardening nor prohibiting it. Marvel at these people's audacity against Allah Almighty through falsehood, as they cite this narration to support what it contains not a single trace of, while opposing its explicit text by permitting grain sales before hardening on the condition of immediate possession. How misguided this approach is!

Abu Muhammad said: Another wonder is their fabrication in this narration by inserting what contains neither explicit text nor trace regarding permitting grain sales after hardening. Not content with this grave error, they mandated through this narration what has no mention or allusion whatsoever: selling unseen items whose attributes are unknown to both seller and buyer, undescribed by anyone. Then they swiftly nullified this like the blink of an eye, prohibiting ram's meat before slaughter, date pits without dates before consumption, olive oil before pressing, and milk in udders - arguing these involve uncertainty in attributes. This constitutes deception and trifling with religion - we seek Allah's refuge from such.

Ali said: We permit the sale of grain after it has hardened as it is in its husks with its husks; the sale of a ram alive and slaughtered - the entirety of its meat with its skin; the sale of a sheep with the milk present in its udder; and the sale of The pits are with the dates because all of it is visibly apparent. It is not permissible to sell them without their spathes, as they are unknown—no one can ascertain their attributes. Similarly, it is not permissible to sell meat without the hide, pits without the dates, or milk without the sheep.

Abu Muhammad said: The sale of all such [items] before their manifestation cannot occur without the production being stipulated either on the seller, the buyer, both of them, someone else, or no one. If the stipulation is on the seller or the buyer, this constitutes a sale with an unknown price or a hire contract with unknown compensation—and this is invalid. For sale is not permissible—by the explicit text of the Quran—except through mutual consent, and mutual consent, by necessary perception, is only possible with what is known, not what is unknown. Similarly, the same applies if the stipulation is on both of them or on someone else.

L21846 Moreover, every condition not stipulated in the Book of Allah the Exalted is invalid. If a condition is not stipulated upon anyone, it constitutes wrongful appropriation of wealth in reality, because the purchaser does not obtain what he purchased. Ali said: "The proof for the invalidity of selling what is not known through visual inspection or description lies in the authenticity of the Prophet's prohibition (peace and blessings be upon him) against the sale of uncertainty (gharar)." This constitutes the essence of gharar, for one does not know what he has bought or sold.

L21847 The statement of Allah, the Most High: {Except when it is trade by mutual consent among you} [An-Nisa: 29]. It is fundamentally impossible for mutual consent to occur regarding something whose quantity or attributes are unknown. We distinguished between two matters: (1) the description given by the seller to the buyer or the buyer to the seller—whether one of them believes the other or not—in which case we permitted the sale based on that, and (2) the description given by someone other than these two parties, which we did not permit unless the one being described confirms it. This distinction exists because the sale is based on the description given by the seller to the buyer or the buyer to the seller, and through this description their mutual consent occurs. If the sold item is later found to match that description, we know the sale was concluded rightfully and according to what validates mutual consent; otherwise, it is not valid.[3]

L21848 If someone other than the two parties described the item to them, and the recipient of the description did not believe the describer, then the sale here did not occur based on any description whatsoever. Consequently, the contract was concluded on an unknown on the part of one of them or both - and this is forbidden and impermissible. But if the describer was someone whom the recipient believed, then this affirmation necessitates knowledge.

وَأَمَّا إذَا وَصَفَهُ لَهُمَا غَيْرُهُمَا مِمَّنْ لَا يُصَدِّقُهُ الْمَوْصُوفُ لَهُ فَإِنَّ الْبَيْعَ هَهُنَا لَمْ يَقَعْ عَلَى صِفَةٍ أَصْلًا، فَوَقَعَ الْعَقْدُ عَلَى مَجْهُولٍ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا أَوْ مِنْ كِلَيْهِمَا - وَهَذَا حَرَامٌ لَا يَحِلُّ. فَإِنْ وَصَفَهُ مَنْ صَدَّقَهُ الْمَوْصُوفُ لَهُ، فَالتَّصْدِيقُ يُوجِبُ الْعِلْمَ، فَإِنَّمَا اشْتَرَى مَا عَلِمَ، أَوْ بَاعَ الْبَائِعُ مَا عَلِمَ، فَالْعَقْدُ صَحِيحٌ، وَالتَّرَاضِي صَحِيحٌ.

Thus, the buyer purchased what he knew, or the seller sold what he knew, making both the contract and the mutual consent valid.

L21849–21851 If he finds the subject matter of the sale as described, he knows the sale was validly concluded; but if he finds it contrary to that description, he knows the sale is invalid. He knew the sale had not been validly concluded, just as if he discovered it had become legally invalid contrary to what he had known, with no distinction between the two cases—and success comes from Allah, the Exalted.

Issue on the Sale of a Single Folded Garment

١٤١٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ الثَّوْبِ الْوَاحِدِ الْمَطْوِيِّ، أَوْ فِي جِرَابِهِ، أَوْ الثِّيَابِ الْكَبِيرَةِ كَذَلِكَ، إذَا وَصَفَ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ، فَإِنْ وَجَدَ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ كَمَا وَصَفَ فَالْبَيْعُ لَازِمٌ، وَإِلَّا فَالْبَيْعُ بَاطِلٌ.

L21853 Issue 1414: It is permissible to sell a single folded garment, or one in its bag, or large garments in the same manner, provided it is described in all those aspects. If all those aspects are found as described, the sale is binding; otherwise, the sale is invalid.

L21854 Ali said: Differentiating between the single and the multiple is erroneous, for there is only prohibition—so both its small and large quantities are prohibited—or permissibility—so both its small and large quantities are permissible. This precise issue is what they magnified and censured the Hanafis for, concerning their allowance of a small quantity of intoxicants while prohibiting their large quantity. Such differentiation cannot be accepted except from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—alone. We know of no substantive objection they raised except their statement: "The matter of a single garment is easy to spread, turn over, and fold, whereas this becomes difficult with many garments." We responded: Where did you find this legal principle that difficulty in action permits prohibited matters and unlawful transactions? Then we ask them: What is your ruling on two garments rolled up in one sack or two sacks? If they permit this, we question them about three garments, then four, incrementally increasing the number. If they prohibit it, we demand evidence for the permissibility they granted, evidence for the prohibition they imposed, evidence for the difficulty they cited to justify permissibility, and evidence for the ease they cited to justify prohibition. This is untenable.

L21855 Moreover, for many garments, spreading them out and folding them is easier than spreading and folding a single garment. This is a matter known by necessity, such as the Mervi fabric imported from Baghdad, which no one can refold after it has been spread out except one in a thousand. The legal ruling in this matter is based on validating mutual consent through knowledge of its attributes and the elimination of gharar (excessive uncertainty) in the sales contract solely from uncertainty. And success comes from Allah, the Exalted.

L21856 The jurisprudential issue of deferred payment sale to a specified term.

L21857 Issue 1415: It is obligatory for both parties in any sale transaction—whether minor or substantial—to have their exchange witnessed by two just men from among the just, or one just man and two just women from among the just. If they cannot find just witnesses, the obligation of testimony is nullified as we previously explained. If they fail to secure witnesses while being capable of doing so, both parties have disobeyed Allah the Almighty, though the sale remains legally valid.

L21858–21859 If the sale involves a price payable at a specified term, it is a farḍ (obligation) upon both parties - along with the stipulated witnessing - to document it. If they do not document it, they have indeed disobeyed Allah, the Exalted and Majestic, and the sale remains valid.

L21860 If they both are unable to find a scribe, the obligation of the written contract is waived from them both.

L21861 The evidence for this is the statement of Allah, the Most High: "O you who believe, when you contract a debt for a specified term, document it. Let a scribe write between you with justice. Let no scribe refuse to write as Allah has taught him; let him write, and let the one liable for the right dictate. Let him fear Allah, his Lord, and not diminish anything from it. If the liable party is immature, weak, or incapable of dictating, let his guardian dictate with justice. Appoint two witnesses from your men. If two men are not available, then one man and two women from those you approve

This is more just with Allah, firmer for testimony, and closer to avoiding doubt, unless it is an immediate trade transaction you conduct among yourselves—then there is no blame upon you for not documenting it. Have witnesses present when you trade. Let no harm be caused to the scribe or the witness. If you do so, it is certainly disobedience by you. Fear Allah, and Allah teaches you. L21862 Abu Muhammad said: These are emphatic, reiterated commands that admit no interpretation. He ordained documentation for deferred debts to specified terms, required witnessing in such recurrent trade transactions, and instructed witnesses not to reject any fair obligation. How then did these people come to consider one command obligatory while neglecting the other? The Almighty declared that if the scribe causes harm - and undoubtedly, refusal to document constitutes a harmful act, while the witness's refusal to testify when summoned is sinful disobedience - then He reinforced this with the strongest emphasis, forbidding us to grow weary of writing what He commanded to be recorded, be it minor or major.

L21863 The Almighty has informed that this is more just in the sight of Allah, more upright for testimony, and closer to preventing doubt. He absolved from sin for omitting written contracts specifically without requiring witnesses in ongoing trade transactions, but He did not absolve from sin for omitting written contracts concerning debts with specified terms.

وَأَخْبَرَ تَعَالَى أَنَّ ذَلِكَ أَقْسَطُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ وَأَقْوَمُ لِلشَّهَادَةِ وَأَدْنَى مِنْ أَنْ لَا نَرْتَابَ، وَأَسْقَطَ الْجُنَاحَ فِي تَرْكِ الْكِتَابِ خَاصَّةً دُونَ الْإِشْهَادِ فِي التِّجَارَةِ الْمُدَارَةِ، وَلَمْ يُسْقِطِ الْجُنَاحَ فِي تَرْكِ الْكِتَابِ فِيمَا كَانَ دَيْنًا إِلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى.

is deferred, he must document it and take witnesses when he finds a scribe – this being the opinion of Jabir ibn Zayd and others.

L21870 From the chain of Ismāʿīl ibn Isḥāq: narrated to us Yaḥyā ibn Khalaf: narrated to us Abū ʿĀṣim—he is Al-Ḍaḥḥāk ibn Khalaf—from ʿĪsā via Ibn Abī Najīḥ, who narrated to us from Mujāhid regarding the statement of Allah the Exalted: {And let no scribe refuse} [Al-Baqarah: 282]. [Mujāhid] said: "He obligated the scribe to write." All of the above is the view of Abū Sulaymān and our colleagues.[7]

L21871 The Hanafis, Malikis, and Shafi'is maintained that neither the witnessing mentioned nor the written document prescribed are obligatory, nor is the scribe compelled to write. It has been narrated to us from Abu Sa'id al-Khudri that he recited this verse, and when he reached Allah's statement: "But if one of you entrusts another, let the one entrusted fulfill their trust" [Al-Baqarah 2:283], he said: "Has this verse abrogated what preceded it?"[8]

L21872–21873 Abu Muhammad said: The apparent meaning of Abu Sa'id's statement—may Allah be pleased with him—is that it abrogated the command regarding the pledge, for it was the one immediately preceding it and connected to it. It is not permissible to presume that Abu Sa'id meant it abrogated all that was written before it of the Quran, nor all that was revealed before it of the Quran. Since there is no doubt about this, it is impermissible to include in Abu Sa'id's statement the claim that it abrogated the command for testimony and written contracts—a far-fetched, invalid assertion without evidence. However, this has been reported from al-Hasan and al-Hakam.

L21874 It has been reported from Al-Shaʿbī that the ruling concerning all these matters is a recommendation—which is the view of Abū Qilābah, Ṣafwān ibn Muḥriz, and Ibn Sīrīn.

L21875 Abū Muḥammad said: A general claim of abrogation is impermissible except with definitive proof, for the speech of Allah the Exalted was revealed to be acted upon and obeyed through its implementation—not to be abandoned.

[8] Qur'an references (L21871): Qur'an 2:283 (Al-Baqarah).

Abrogation necessitates abandonment. Thus, it is impermissible for anyone to assert regarding any matter Allah the Exalted has commanded: "I am not bound to obey this," except through another text from Allah—the Almighty and Majestic—or His Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring its abrogation. Otherwise, such a claim is impermissible.

L21876 Similarly, the claim of recommendation is also invalid unless supported by another piece of textual evidence. This is because the meaning of recommendation is "do it if you wish, or refrain if you wish." In the Arabic language, the imperative "do" followed by "do not do, if you wish" cannot be understood as conveying obligation unless evidence exists to make it obligatory. Thus, both claims are invalidated with unequivocal certainty, leaving no room for ambiguity.

L21877 I wish I knew what the distinction is between Allah's saying, exalted is He: "Hasten to the remembrance of Allah and abandon trade" [Al-Jumuʿah: 9], and His saying, exalted is He: "Do not disdain to write it—whether small or large—for its appointed term" [Al-Baqarah: 282]. The Malikis stated regarding that case: it is obligatory, yet they declared here: it is recommended—asserting this through arbitrary judgment without proof.[9] وَلَيْتَ شِعْرِي مَا الْفَرْقُ بَيْنَ قَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {فَاسْعَوْا إِلَى ذِكْرِ اللَّهِ وَذَرُوا الْبَيْعَ} [الجمعة: ٩] وَبَيْنَ قَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَلا تَسْأَمُوا أَنْ تَكْتُبُوهُ صَغِيرًا أَوْ كَبِيرًا إِلَى أَجَلِهِ} [البقرة: ٢٨٢] وَقَدْ قَالَ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ فِي ذَلِكَ: هُوَ فَرْضٌ، وَقَالُوا هَهُنَا: هُوَ نَدْبٌ تَحَكُّمًا بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ.

L21878 And similarly, the Exalted's statement: "And give them from Allah's wealth which He has granted you" [24:33]. The Shafiʿī scholars affirmed this as obligatory, yet here they declare it merely recommended - an arbitrary ruling without textual basis.[10] وَكَذَلِكَ قَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَآتُوهُمْ مِنْ مَالِ اللَّهِ الَّذِي آتَاكُمْ} [النور: ٣٣] وَقَدْ قَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّونَ: إنَّهُ فَرْضٌ، وَقَالُوا هَهُنَا: هُوَ نَدْبٌ تَحَكُّمًا بِلَا دَلِيلٍ.

L21879 Likewise, the statement of the Exalted: {The Station of Abraham, and whoever enters it is safe} [Āl ʿImrān: 97]. The Ḥanafīs said: "This is an obligation, and no ḥadd penalty is to be enforced in Makkah." Here they said: "It is a recommendation - an arbitrary ruling without proof."[11]

وَكَذَلِكَ قَوْله تَعَالَى: {مَقَامُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَمَنْ دَخَلَهُ كَانَ آمِنًا} [آل عمران: ٩٧] فَقَالَ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ: هَذَا فَرْضٌ وَلَا يُقَامُ بِمَكَّةَ حَدٌّ، وَقَالُوا هَهُنَا: هُوَ نَدْبٌ تَحَكُّمًا بِلَا حُجَّةٍ.

L21880 And what difference is there between His Exalted command regarding testimony and documentation, and His Exalted command concerning the expiation of oaths, the expiation of ẓihār, the ruling on īlāʾ, the ruling on li'ān, and all other commands of the Quran? We seek refuge in Allah from making 'the Quran into parts' [Al-Hijr: 91], thereby enforcing some portions and nullifying others.[12]

L21881–21882 If they cite the words of Allah, the Exalted: {If one of you entrusts another, let the one entrusted fulfill his trust} [Al-Baqarah: 283], we say: This is refuted as pertaining to matters connected to collateral, and it is not permissible to interpret it as abrogating the obligation to require testimony and written contracts through a claim without evidence.[13]

L21883 Similarly, whoever states that "it is a communal obligation"—because all such claims are devoid of proof, and anything characterized thus is invalid and rejected. Allah, the Exalted, said: "Say, 'Produce your proof if you are truthful'" [Al-Baqarah: 111].[14]

L21884 Among the strangest matters is their haste to claim that some Quranic commands are recommended. When we said to them: "What is your proof for this claim?" they answered: "The words of Allah the Exalted: {When you have exited the state of ihram, then hunt} [Al-Ma'idah: 2]."[15]

L21885 "When the Friday prayer is concluded, disperse in the land" [Al-Jumu'ah 62:10].[16]

L21886 So we said to them: "This is truly astonishing! By what religion or reason have you concluded that if a single command of Allah the Exalted is established as abrogated or recommended (mustaḥabb), then all His Exalted commands must be presumed abrogated or recommended?" Never has a more astounding argument than this corrupt one been heard, for they sought through it to demolish the Quran without any proof.

L21887 There is no difference between their action in this matter and one who deliberately selects any verse he wishes from the Quran and declares: “This is abrogated.” When asked: “What is your proof for this?” he responds: “Allah’s naskh (abrogation) of the qibla (direction of prayer) toward Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem), and His naskh of the year-long waiting period (ʿiddah) prescribed for widows.”

L21888 Abu Muhammad said: We do not deny the occurrence of abrogation in some commands, or their reduction to a recommendation or restriction in specificity—provided another text clarifies that. But as for [abrogation] based on mere claim, we do not accept it.

L21889–21891 If it is established in a matter from the Qur’an or Sunnah that it is abrogated, recommended, or specified by another text, should we affirm this ruling and refrain from extending it to cases lacking evidence that diverts it from its original subject and inherent requirement? ʿAlī said: They cited as evidence the transmitted report through al-Zuhrī from ʿUmārah ibn Khuzaymah ibn Thābit—that his uncle informed him: “The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) purchased a horse from a Bedouin and asked him to accompany him so he could give him.” They disagreed about the price, so the Prophet (peace be upon him) hastened while the Bedouin delayed. Men kept haggling with the Bedouin over the horse, and the bid increased. The Bedouin called out to the Prophet: “If you are buying this horse, then buy it; otherwise I will sell it.” The Prophet replied: “Have I not already bought it from you?” The Bedouin said: “By Allah, I did not sell it to you! Bring a witness to testify that I sold it to you!” Khuzaymah said: “I testify that you sold it to him.” The Prophet asked: “On what basis do you testify?” He answered: “Based on my trust in your truthfulness.” Thereupon the Prophet established that Khuzaymah’s testimony would equal the testimony of two men.

L21892 And through the chain of Hammad ibn Salamah from Abu Ja’far from Umarah ibn Khuzaymah ibn Thabit, a similar narration is reported, with an addition: “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—returned it and said: 'O Allah, if he has lied, do not bless the transaction for him.' The next morning, it became lame in its leg." They said: "So here is the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—who bought without having witnesses present."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَنَحْنُ لَا نُنْكِرُ وُجُودَ النَّسْخِ فِي بَعْضِ الْأَوَامِرِ، أَوْ كَوْنَهُ عَلَى النَّدْبِ، أَوْ عَلَى الْخُصُوصِ: إِذَا جَاءَ نَصٌّ آخَرُ بِبَيَانِ ذَلِكَ وَأَمَّا بِالدَّعْوَى فَلَا.

L21893 Abu Muhammad said: This holds no validity as evidence for their stance due to several reasons. The first reason is that it constitutes an unreliable narration, as it is ascribed to Umāra ibn Khuzayma - and he is an unknown narrator.

L21894 The second is that even if it were valid, it would not serve as proof for them, because the narration does not indicate that the matter was delayed for a period allowing sufficient time for attestation by witnesses, and he (peace be upon him) did not have it witnessed. Rather, it states that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) purchased a horse from a Bedouin, then took him along to hand over the payment. The Prophet (peace be upon him) hastened while the Bedouin lingered - and a sale is only concluded through bodily separation. Thus, the Prophet (peace be upon him) separated from him to finalize the sale, otherwise it had not been concluded yet. Attestation by witnesses is only required after the sale's valid completion and legal soundness, not before its conclusion.

L21895 The third argument: Even if their report were sound—though it is not—and even if it were sound in stating that he (peace be upon him) omitted the attestation despite being capable of it after the completion of the sale—and this scenario never occurs—the report contains no indication that this happened after the revelation of the verse. We acknowledge that the obligation of attestation was established solely by the revelation of the verse, not prior to it. It is impermissible to abandon the certain ruling of Allah—the Almighty and Majestic—based on a false presumption that cannot be definitively affirmed. Thus, their entire reliance on this report is rendered completely invalid.

L21896 Abu Muhammad said: Our experience with them is that they say contrary to this narration, for they all assert: A judge may not rule on his own case.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَعَهْدُنَا بِهِمْ يَقُولُونَ بِخِلَافِ هَذَا الْخَبَرِ، لِأَنَّ جَمِيعَهُمْ يَقُولُ: لَا يَحْكُمُ الْحَاكِمُ لِنَفْسِهِ.

L21897 In the Musnad, through both chains of this report, it is stated that he—peace be upon him—ruled for himself. Among the marvels of this world is their abandonment of rulings based on a report in matters where it is mentioned, while invoking it as evidence in matters where there is no trace, explicit text, or proof from it.

L21898–21899 If they say: "We have relied on the mursal report that he—peace be upon him—rejected it," we reply: What makes the mursal report in this narration stronger than the musnad? Moreover, the mursal does not state that he—peace be upon him—rejected it due to an obligation to rule by its rejection. Rather, he—peace be upon him—might have gifted it to him, as he informed about his noble self that if someone asks him for something he is reluctant to give and he grants it, it will not be blessed for him. This is commendable and lawful giving, while supplicating for his punishment due to his falsehood. No other ruling is permissible even if the report were authentic in the first place, for it is unlawful for a Muslim to presume that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—empowered a transgressor over forbidden matters while knowing them forbidden, as this would constitute aiding in sin and transgression, and in deliberately seizing the unlawful through injustice. Allah the Exalted says: "And do not cooperate in sin and aggression" (5:2). Whoever ascribes this to the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—has apostatized from Islam.[17]

L21900 Our position regarding the Hanafis is that they are not ashamed to contradict the established report that "Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) ruled by an oath combined with a witness," because in their view it conflicts with the Quran. They rejected the established report concerning the banishment of a fornicator for one year because it constitutes an addition to what is in the Quran. They stated: "We do not accept single-narrator reports (āḥād) when they add to what is in the Quran." Yet all of them applied this principle in the matter of flogging a married fornicator alongside stoning. Then here they show no concern about adopting a weak, unauthentic report—which they claim contradicts the Quran—though how could this be, when even if it were authentic, it would not conflict with the Quran as we have clarified? And with Allah, the Exalted, lies all success.

الرَّجْمِ، ثُمَّ لَا يُبَالُونَ هَهُنَا بِالْأَخْذِ بِخَبَرٍ ضَعِيفٍ لَا يَصِحُّ، مُخَالِفٍ - بِزَعْمِهِمْ - لِمَا فِي الْقُرْآنِ، فَكَيْفَ وَلَوْ صَحَّ لَمَا كَانَ فِيهِ خِلَافٌ لِلْقُرْآنِ عَلَى مَا بَيَّنَّاهُ؟ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L21901 Abū Muḥammad said: Some of them have indulged excessively in idle talk and mixing, bringing forth numerous authentic reports—such as his death—peace be upon him—with his armor pledged for thirty ṣāʿ of barley, his purchase of the virgin from ʿUmar, the camel from Jābir, the purchase of Barīrah, the purchase of Ṣafiyyah for seven heads, the exchange of one slave for two slaves, and a garment for two garments in gambling.

L21902 Every narration that mentions him (peace be upon him) having sold or purchased something is met with their claim that these accounts contain no mention of witnessing. All of this provides them with no juristic basis, for none of these reports state that he (peace be upon him) did not involve witnesses or that he did involve witnesses.

L21903–21905 We found that most of them contain no mention of a price, and this obligates them to permit sales without mentioning a price, since it is silent about it - just as it was silent about mentioning witnessing. The omission of mentioning all rulings in many narrations does not nullify them, just as the words of Allah the Exalted: "Eat and drink" (2:60) do not imply the permissibility of what He prohibited among foods. As for the methodologies—nay, all texts are interwoven together, taken according to what each contains even if not mentioned in others. What differs from this is corruption in the intellect, corruption of religion, and claims of ultimate falsehood.[18]

L21906 Moreover, however much they may differ with us concerning the obligation of formal witnessing and documentation, they unanimously agree with us that these are virtuous and recommended acts. If the silence regarding the mention of witnessing in these reports constitutes evidence for the cessation of its obligation, then it equally constitutes evidence for the cessation of its preferential status, since he—peace be upon him—does not abandon the superior in all his actions in favor of the inferior.

عَلَى سُقُوطِ وُجُوبِهِ فَهُوَ دَلِيلٌ عَلَى سُقُوطِ اخْتِيَارِهِ، لِأَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لَا يَتْرُكُ الْأَفْضَلَ فِي جَمِيعِ أَعْمَالِهِ لِلْأَدْنَى.

L21907 Among their astonishing aspects (referring to the Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs) is their citation of this verse as evidence in their opposition to the Sunnah's stipulation that no sale is valid between the two parties to the transaction except after physical parting. They argued: "Allah the Exalted said: {And take witnesses when you conduct a sale} [Al-Baqarah: 282], yet He did not mention parting."[19]

وَمِنْ عَجَائِبِهِمْ احْتِجَاجُهُمْ بِهَذِهِ الْآيَةِ - يَعْنِي الْحَنَفِيِّينَ وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ - فِي مُخَالَفَتِهِمْ السُّنَّةَ أَنْ لَا بَيْعَ بَيْنَ الْمُتَبَايِعَيْنِ إلَّا بَعْدَ التَّفَرُّقِ فَقَالُوا: قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {وَأَشْهِدُوا إذَا تَبَايَعْتُمْ} [البقرة: ٢٨٢] وَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ التَّفَرُّقَ.

L21908 Then they invalidated the ruling of this verse through other narrations lacking any mention of the requirement for witnesses. This principle - if validated - would nullify the entire religion from its beginning to its end, for they will inevitably encounter other textual proofs omitting elements present in those hadiths, thereby annulling their rulings. This cycle would persist perpetually: whenever a text emerges omitting certain rulings, all unmentioned rulings must be invalidated. Subsequently, the ruling of that very text would itself be annulled, as it too would be omitted in another text. This is a path whereby whoever treads it merely confirms the corruption of their religion, their lack of modesty, and their intellectual deficiency - and we seek refuge in Allah from being forsaken.

If they argue: "This concerns a matter of widespread practical relevance - had it been obligatory, how could it remain concealed from most scholars?" We counter: Suppose we concede your obfuscation regarding solitary narrations - do you deem this reasoning applicable to the Quran, which none remain ignorant of? Why do you not apply this logic to your own positions: to those among you claiming "A sale is invalid without physical transfer of the sold item" - a matter of frequent occurrence unknown to most people? Or to those asserting "A sale is invalid unless buyer and seller separate" - a widespread practice unrecognized by many? Or to those imposing warranty periods of one and three years for slaves, or calamities affecting crops - matters of common experience unknown except to your own adherents? Thus, the arbitrary imposition of falsehood in their assertions and proofs becomes evident. And with Allah alone lies success.

L21909–21910 We have stated that if one omits witnessing and the written contract, he has disobeyed God Almighty. However, the sale remains valid. The disobedience is due to opposing God's command in this matter. As for the permissibility of the sale, it is because witnessing and the written contract are two acts distinct from the sale itself. God Almighty ordained them only after the sale's completion and validity. Thus, once the sale is concluded, subsequent disobedience does not nullify it, for every act has its own ruling: "So whoever does a speck's weight of good will see it" (Quran 99:7), "and whoever does a speck's weight of evil will see it" (Quran 99:8).[20]

L21911 ## Issue: The Terms of Sale

L21912 Issue 1416: A sale is only valid when conducted using the term "sale," "purchase," "trade," or a term equivalent to "sale" in other languages. If the price consists of gold or silver not taken possession of but either immediately due or deferred to a specified term, it is also permissible to use the terms "debt" or "deferred payment." None of that is valid if conducted using the term "gift," "charity," or any term other than those we have mentioned at all.

L21913 The proof of this is Allah's statement, the Most High: "And Allah has permitted trade and forbidden interest" [Al-Baqarah: 275].[21]

L21914 The words of Allah, the Exalted: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves by false means unless it is trade by mutual consent among you" [al-Nisāʾ 4:29]. And His words: "When you transact a debt for a specified term, write it down" [al-Baqarah 2:282].[22]

وَالثَّلَاثِ، وَبِالْجَوَائِحِ فِي الثِّمَارِ، وَهِيَ أُمُورٌ تَكْثُرُ بِهَا الْبَلْوَى وَلَا يَعْرِفُهَا غَيْرُ الْقَائِلِينَ بِذَلِكَ مِنْكُمْ فَظَهَرَ التَّحَكُّمُ بِالْبَاطِلِ فِي أَقْوَالِهِمْ وَاسْتِدْلَالِهِمْ - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ وَحَرَّمَ الرِّبَا} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] .

[20] Qur'an references (L21910): Qur'an 99:7 (Az-Zalzalah); Qur'an 99:8 (Az-Zalzalah).
[22] Qur'an references (L21914): Qur'an 4:29 (An-Nisa); Qur'an 2:282 (Al-Baqarah).

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ مَا حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ حَرَامٌ، وَمَا أَحَلَّ فَهُوَ حَلَالٌ، فَمَتَى أُخِذَ مَالٌ بِغَيْرِ الِاسْمِ الَّذِي أَبَاحَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى بِهِ أَخْذَهُ كَانَ بَاطِلًا بِنَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ.

L21915 Thus, it is established that whatever Allah, the Exalted, has forbidden is forbidden, and whatever He has permitted is lawful. So, whenever wealth is acquired through other than the name by which Allah, the Exalted, has permitted its taking, it is invalid by the explicit text of the Quran.

L21916 The description of sale and riba is the same, and the transaction in both is identical. Only the name distinguishes between them. They are merely an exchange of one form of wealth for another: one is lawful and wholesome, while the other is forbidden and vile—a major sin among the major sins. Allah, the Exalted, said: And He taught Adam all the names, then presented those to the angels and said, “Inform Me of the names of these, if you are truthful.” [Al-Baqarah: 31] They replied, “Glory be to You! We have no knowledge except what You have taught us.” [Al-Baqarah: 32][23]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {إِنْ هِيَ إِلا أَسْمَاءٌ سَمَّيْتُمُوهَا أَنْتُمْ وَآبَاؤُكُمْ مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ بِهَا مِنْ سُلْطَانٍ} [النجم: ٢٣].

L21917 And He, the Exalted, said: “It is nothing but names that you and your forefathers have named, for which Allah has sent down no authority.” [An-Najm: 23][24]

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ الْأَسْمَاءَ كُلَّهَا تَوْقِيفٌ مِنْ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، لَا سِيَّمَا أَسْمَاءُ أَحْكَامِ الشَّرِيعَةِ الَّتِي لَا يَجُوزُ فِيهَا الْإِحْدَاثُ، وَلَا تُعْلَمُ إلَّا بِالنُّصُوصِ، وَلَا خِلَافَ بَيْنَ الْحَاضِرِينَ مِنَّا وَمِنْ خُصُومِنَا فِي أَنَّ امْرَءًا لَوْ قَالَ لِلْآخَرِ: أَقْرِضْنِي هَذَا الدِّينَارَ وَأَقْضِيك دِينَارًا إلَى شَهْرِ كَذَا، وَلَمْ يَحُدَّ وَقْتًا فَإِنَّهُ حَسَنٌ، وَأَجْرٌ، وَبِرٌّ.

L21918–21920 Thus, it is established that all names are established by divine designation from Allah, the Most High, particularly the names of legal rulings in the Sharīʿah, in which innovation is not permissible. These names cannot be known except through textual sources, and there exists no disagreement among those present from us and... [text cut off]. Our opponents maintain that if a man were to say to another, “Lend me this dinar, and I will repay you a dinar by the month of such-and-such,” without specifying a precise time, then it is virtuous, divinely rewarded, and righteous.

L21921 In our view, if he settles the debt with only two dinars or half a dinar, and both consented to it, then it is valid.

وَلَوْ قَالَ لَهُ: بِعْنِي هَذَا الدِّينَارَ بِدِينَارٍ إلَى شَهْرٍ، وَلَمْ يُسَمِّ أَجَلًا، فَإِنَّهُ رِبًا، وَإِثْمٌ، وَحَرَامٌ، وَكَبِيرَةٌ مِنْ الْكَبَائِرِ - وَالْعَمَلُ وَاحِدٌ، وَإِنَّمَا فَرَّقَ بَيْنَهُمَا الِاسْمُ فَقَطْ.

L21922 If he said to him: “Sell me this dinar in exchange for a dinar deferred until a month [passes],” without specifying a maturity date, then it is usury—sinful, forbidden, and a grave sin among the gravest sins—because the transaction is one and the same, and the distinction between them is merely in name.

L21923 Similarly, if a man were to say to a woman, “Permit me to have intercourse with you whenever I wish,” and she consents with her guardian’s approval, that act—if carried out—would constitute unlawful sexual intercourse, which incurs capital punishment in some jurisdictions according to certain legal schools.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَوْ قَالَ رَجُلٌ لِامْرَأَةٍ: أَبِيحِي لِي جِمَاعَك مَتَى شِئْت؟ فَفَعَلَتْ، وَرَضِيَ وَلِيُّهَا، لَكَانَ ذَلِكَ زِنًا - إنْ وَقَعَ - يُبِيحُ الدَّمَ فِي بَعْضِ الْمَوَاضِعِ.

L21924 If he said to her, “Marry me yourself,” and she did so, and her guardian consented, it would be lawful, proper, and righteous. Such is the case—in our school—in all matters.

L21925 As for the term al-shirā (buying and selling), it is based on what we were transmitted through al-Bukhārī’s chain of transmission: via ʿAlī ibn ʿAyyāsh, from Abū Ghassān Muḥammad ibn Muṭarrif, who reported: Ibn al-Munkadir narrated to me from Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: “May Allah grant mercy to a person who is lenient when he sells, when he buys, and when he demands repayment.”

A legal issue: Physical separation of the contracting parties by bodily departure that renders the sale binding.

[مَسْأَلَةُ التَّفَرُّقُ بِالْأَبْدَانِ الْمُوجِبُ لِلْبَيْعِ]

L21927 1417 - Issue: Any two parties engaged in a currency exchange (ṣarf) or other transaction — the sale between them is never valid, even if they have exchanged the commodity and the price, unless they bodily separate from the place where they concluded the contract. Each retains the right to invalidate that contract whether the other approves or objects — even if they remain in that state for their entire lifetime — unless one says to the other (it does not matter which of them is the speaker after completing the contract): “Choose to ratify the sale or invalidate it?” If he says: “I have ratified it,” the sale becomes binding — whether they separate or not — and neither party may rescind it except due to defect. So long as they do not bodily separate and neither offers the other this choice, the sold item remains the seller’s property as before, and the price remains the buyer’s property as before. The legal ruling pertaining to what each owns is enforced upon them respectively, not the ruling pertaining to the other’s property.

L21928–21930 The proof of that is the statement of the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—which we have reported via the path of al-Bukhārī: Abū al-Nuʿmān (he is Muḥammad ibn al-Faḍl ʿĀrim) narrated to us, Ḥammād ibn Zayd narrated to us from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar. The Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings be upon him - said: "The buyer and seller have the option as long as they have not separated, or one says to his companion: Choose, and perhaps he said: 'or it be an option contract.'"

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: قَوْلُ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الَّذِي رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ نا أَبُو النُّعْمَانِ - هُوَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْفَضْلِ عَارِمٌ - نا حَمَّادُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الْبَيِّعَانِ بِالْخِيَارِ مَا لَمْ يَتَفَرَّقَا أَوْ يَقُولُ أَحَدُهُمَا لِصَاحِبِهِ: اخْتَرْ وَرُبَّمَا قَالَ: أَوْ يَكُونُ بَيْعَ خِيَارٍ» .

L21931 From the transmission of Ahmad ibn Shuʿayb: Muḥammad ibn ʿAlī ibn Ḥarb narrated to us, Muḥriz ibn al-Waḍḍāḥ narrated to us from Ismāʿīl—he is Ibn Jaʿfar—from Nāfiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said: "The two parties engaged in a sale retain the option [to rescind] as long as they have not separated, unless the sale was already based on a stipulated option. For if the sale was based on a stipulated option, then the sale becomes binding."

L21932 Abu Muhammad said: This clarifies that the mentioned option refers solely to one party telling the other: "Choose," not a sale contracted with an option for a specified period. This is because the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: "If the sale is with an option, the sale becomes binding"—and this differs from the ruling of a sale contract established with an option for a specified period according to those who hold this opinion.

L21933 From the path of Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Qaṭṭān, narrated by ʿUbayd ibn ʿUmar, reported by Nāfiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar from the Messenger of Allah (may Allah bless him and grant him peace) who said: "Every sale between two parties: there is no sale between them until they part ways or there is a khiyar."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانِ نا عُبَيْدُ بْنُ عُمَرَ أَخْبَرَنِي نَافِعٌ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «كُلُّ بَيِّعَيْنِ لَا بَيْعَ بَيْنَهُمَا حَتَّى يَتَفَرَّقَا أَوْ يَكُونَ خِيَارًا» .

L21934 Similarly, Hushaym reported via Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Ansari, via Nafi', via Ibn 'Umar, from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that there is absolutely no sale whatsoever between them.

وَهَكَذَا رَوَاهُ هُشَيْمٌ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنَّهُ لَا بَيْعَ بَيْنَهُمَا.

L21935 And thus we have narrated it from Isma'il ibn Ja'far, Sufyan al-Thawri, and Shu'bah—all of them from Abdullah ibn Dinar from Ibn Umar from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him): “There is no sale between them until they separate.”

L21936 From the narration of Muslim: Qutaybah ibn Sa’id narrated to us from Al-Layth ibn Sa’d, who narrated to him from Nāfiʿ from Ibn ʻUmar from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—who said: “When two men conclude a sale, each of them retains the option as long as they have not separated and remain together, or until one of them grants the other the choice. If one grants the other the choice and they finalize the sale upon that condition, the sale becomes binding. If they separate after concluding the sale and neither has withdrawn from it, the sale becomes binding.”[25]

L21937 Abu Muhammad said: This hadith resolves every difficulty, clarifies every ambiguity, and nullifies the fabricated interpretations that opponents have clamored with.

L21938–21939 From the chain of Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ayman: Muḥammad ibn Ismāʿīl al-Tirmidhī narrated to us, from al-Ḥumaydī, from Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah, from Ibn Jurayj, who said: Nāfiʿ dictated to me on my tablets, saying: I heard ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUmar say: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: “When the buyer and seller conclude a sale, each of them has the option in their sale so long as they have not physically separated, or unless their sale is subject to a conditional option.”

One of our companions sold a horse to a young man, and they remained there for the remainder of their day and night. When dawn broke the next day and the time for departure arrived, he approached his horse to saddle it but regretted the sale. The buyer came to claim the horse through the transaction, but the seller refused to deliver it. The buyer said: "Let Abū Barzah, the Companion of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), arbitrate between us." They went to Abū Barzah at the outskirts of the camp and presented the case to him. He asked: "Do you both accept that I judge between you according to the ruling of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ)?" The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: "The buyer and seller retain the option to rescind the transaction as long as they have not separated from one another."

Umar sought to acquire it to expand the mosque, but al-Abbas refused. Ubayy said to them: When Solomon was commanded to build the Holy Temple, its land belonged to a man. Solomon purchased it from him. Upon completing the purchase, the man asked: "Is what you took from me better, or what you gave me?" Solomon replied: "What I took from you is better." The man said: "Then I do not validate the sale," so Solomon withdrew the offer. He increased the price and approached him again, but the man refused. Solomon persisted—raising the offer and attempting to purchase it, inquiring each time—but the man kept rejecting the terms. This continued until Solomon bought it by his own judgment, stipulating that he would not ask him again, having resorted to extensive arbitration. The matter overwhelmed Solomon, whereupon Allah revealed to him: "If you give him from your own wealth, cease. But if you give him from Our provision, continue until he is satisfied." Thus, he ruled in favor of al-Abbas.

I rescind the sale. The established Sunnah was that the two parties to the transaction retain the right of choice until they separate from one another."

أَمِيرِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ عُثْمَانَ مَالًا بِالْوَادِي بِمَالٍ لَهُ بِخَيْبَرَ، فَلَمَّا تَبَايَعْنَا رَجَعْت عَلَى عَقِبَيَّ حَتَّى خَرَجْت مِنْ بَيْتِهِ خَشْيَةَ أَنْ يُرَادَّنِي الْبَيْعَ وَكَانَتْ السُّنَّةُ أَنَّ الْمُتَبَايِعَيْنِ بِالْخِيَارِ حَتَّى يَتَفَرَّقَا.

L21952 And via Al-Layth's narration as well: From Yunus ibn Yazid, from Ibn Shihāb, from Sālim ibn ʻAbdillāh ibn ʻUmar, who said: ʻAbdullāh ibn ʻUmar stated: "When we entered into transactions, each of us retained the option of khiyār so long as the two parties had not separated. I once sold ʻUthmān ibn ʻAffān my asset in the Valley in exchange for his asset in Khaybar. When I concluded the sale with him, I began backing away on my heels, fearing ʻUthmān might revoke the sale before I departed from him."

L21953 Thus, Ibn ʻUmar reports that this is the doctrine of the Companions, their practice, and the doctrine of ʻUthman ibn ʻAffān, because he feared that ʻUthman would revoke the sale before physical separation. Had this not been ʻUthman's doctrine, Ibn ʻUmar would not have feared such from him, and he reports that this is the Sunnah.

L21954–21956 And that has also been narrated to us from Abū Hurayrah, Abū Zurʻah ibn ʻAmr ibn Jarīr, and Tāwus - as has been narrated to us. From ʻAbd al-Razzāq, who narrated to us: Sufyān al-Thawrī narrated from Abū ʻAttāb, from Abū Zurʻah: A man negotiated with him to purchase his horse. When he concluded the sale, he granted him three options to rescind, then said, "Choose." Each of them granted the other three options to rescind. Then Abū Zurʻah said: I heard Abū Hurayrah say, "This sale is by mutual consent." Moreover, ʻUmar and al-ʻAbbās both heard Ubayy ruling to ratify the rescission of the sale after its conclusion, and they did not disapprove of that. Thus, it is confirmed that they all (Umar and Abbas) held this opinion, alongside ʻUthmān, Abū Hurayrah, Abū Barzah, Ibn ʻUmar, and the Companions collectively—may Allah be pleased with them.

L21957 Through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq, from Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah, from Sulaymān al-Aḥwal: I heard Ṭāwus swear by Allah, “There is no option except after the sale.”

L21958 And through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym reported to us: “I am Muḥammad ibn ʿAlī al-Sulamī. I heard Abū al-Ḍuḥā narrate that he witnessed Shurayḥ adjudicating a dispute between two men. One had purchased a house from the other for four thousand dirhams and concluded the contract. The buyer then reconsidered the transaction before departing from the seller, declaring: ’I no longer want it.’ The seller countered: ’I sold it to you and concluded the contract.’ We brought our dispute to Shurayḥ, who said: ’The buyer retains the right to rescind as long as they have not physically separated.’” Muḥammad ibn ʿAlī added: “I witnessed al-Shaʿbī issuing rulings according to this principle.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ السُّلَمِيُّ سَمِعْت أَبَا الضُّحَى يُحَدِّثُ أَنَّهُ شَهِدَ شُرَيْحًا اخْتَصَمَ إلَيْهِ رَجُلَانِ اشْتَرَى أَحَدُهُمَا دَارًا مِنْ الْآخَرِ بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافٍ، فَأَوْجَبَهَا لَهُ، ثُمَّ بَدَا لَهُ فِي بَيْعِهَا قَبْلَ أَنْ يُفَارِقَ صَاحِبَهُ فَقَالَ: لَا حَاجَةَ لِي فِيهَا، فَقَالَ الْبَائِعُ: قَدْ بِعْتُك وَأَوْجَبْت لَك، فَاخْتَصَمْنَا إلَى شُرَيْحٍ، فَقَالَ شُرَيْحٌ: هُوَ بِالْخِيَارِ مَا لَمْ يَتَفَرَّقَا قَالَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ: وَشَهِدْت الشَّعْبِيَّ يَقْضِي بِهَذَا.

L21959 Through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Jarir narrated to us from Mughirah from Al-Sha‘bi that a man bought an inferior horse and sought to return it before they separated. Al-Sha‘bi ruled that the sale was binding upon him. Then Abu Al-Duḥā bore witness before him that Shurayh had been approached with a similar case and returned it to the seller. Thereupon Al-Sha‘bi reverted to Shurayh’s ruling.

L21960 It has also been narrated to us through Ma’mar’s chain from Ayyub al-Sakhtiyani, from Muhammad ibn Sirin, that he witnessed Shurayh adjudicating between two disputants. One had purchased from the other through a sale transaction, whereupon the buyer declared, “I did not consent to this,” while the seller asserted, “You did indeed consent.” Shurayh ruled: “Either you both produce evidence that you mutually retracted consent after the sale, or [evidence of] the rescission option, or he must swear by Allah that you both neither mutually retracted consent after the transaction nor exercised the rescission option.” This position corresponds to the legal view of Hisham ibn Yusuf and his son Abd al-Rahman.

L21965 As we were informed through the chain of Ibn Ayman—Abdullah ibn Ahmad ibn Hanbal narrated—he said: My father told me: "It reached me that Ibn Abi Dhi'b had been informed of Malik ibn Anas's statement: 'The two parties to a sale do not have the option [to rescind]?'" Ibn Abi Dhi'b then commented: "This is a hadith trodden in Medina"—meaning it is well-known.

L21966 Abu Muhammad said: However, Al-Awzaʿī stated: In every sale, the buyer and seller retain the right to rescind the transaction until they physically separate, except in three cases: war booty; co-heirs mutually assessing the value of inherited assets; and trade partners assessing the value of their shared commerce.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: إِلَّا أَنَّ الْأَوْزَاعِيَّ قَالَ: كُلُّ بَيْعٍ فَالْمُتَبَايِعَانِ فِيهِ بِالْخِيَارِ مَا لَمْ يَتَفَرَّقَا بِأَبْدَانِهِمَا، إِلَّا بُيُوعًا ثَلَاثَةً: الْمَغْنَمَ، وَالشُّرَكَاءَ فِي الْمِيرَاثِ يَتَقَاوَمُونَهُ، وَالشُّرَكَاءَ فِي التِّجَارَةِ يَتَقَاوَمُونَهَا.

L21967 Al-Awzaʿī said: The definition of separation is that each of them becomes absent from their companion until they no longer see each other. Aḥmad said: As we have stated, except that he does not acknowledge the takhyīr (option), and he recognizes no separation except solely through physical absence of the bodies.

L21968 And this al-Shaʿbi had annulled his legal ruling afterward and returned to the truth. Abu Hanifah, Malik, and those who followed them deviated entirely from all this. The two said: The sale is concluded by verbal agreement even if the parties have not physically separated, and neither granted the other an option to rescind. They contradicted the established Sunnah and the Companions, and no opposing view is known at all from those we mentioned among them. We know of no predecessors for them among the Followers except Ibrahim alone—as we transmitted through the chain of Sa'id ibn Mansur, who narrated to us from Hushaym, from al-Mughirah, from Ibrahim, who said: When the transaction becomes binding, there is no option.

L21969 From the path of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Wakiʿ reported to us: Sufyān reported to us from Mughīrah from Ibrāhīm, who said: "The sale is permissible even if the two parties have not physically parted ways"—and a fabricated, forged narration is transmitted from al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāʾah (and his rejection as a narrator suffices) from al-Ḥakam from Shurayḥ, who said: "When a man concludes a sale verbally, the sale becomes binding upon him." The authentic report from Shurayḥ conforms to the truth—as we previously cited through the narration of Abū al-Ḍuḥā and Ibn Sīrīn from him.

L21970 By my life, Ibrahim's statement is indeed interpreted as referring to every transaction other than sale, such as leasing, marriage, and gifts, for this is plausible, since he did not mention sale at all, and thus they reached this conclusion without precedent.

L21971 His statement, "The sale is permissible even if the two parties do not physically separate," is valid. We did not declare it impermissible, nor did he assert it is binding; rather, he affirmed it is permissible.

L21972–21974 Abu Muhammad said: They obfuscated [the truth] with utterly devious sophistries - among them their assertion: "Is the meaning of 'separation' [merely] through speech?!" We responded: Had it been as they claim... It would align with our position and contradict yours, for when the two contracting parties state "I accept it for ten," and the other responds "No, rather for twenty," no person of sound judgment doubts that they have diverged through speech. But if one says "Fifteen," and the other responds "Yes, I have sold it to you for fifteen," they have now reached agreement without divergence. Does the right to rescind then become incumbent upon them since they did not part ways without agreement according to the explicit wording of the ḥadīth? Proceed as you wish - whoever opposes the truth is instantly disgraced and exposed.

L21975 Moreover, we say to them: Your assertion that "disunity through speech is a وَأَيْضًا: فَرِوَايَةُ اللَّيْثِ.

L21977 From Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar: What we cited from Rāfiʿah for every dispute clarifies that it entails physical separation from the site with one's body, and this is necessary.

L21978 Some of them said: The meaning of "the two transacting parties" here refers specifically to the buyer and seller engaged in negotiation, just as an animal intended for slaughter is termed "the slaughtered one" prior to the actual slaughter. They cited the Almighty's statement: "So they have approached their prescribed waiting period..." [Al-Baqarah: 231], meaning they have drawn near to the conclusion of their designated term.[26]

L21979 Others among them said: The intent of his statement—peace be upon him—"as long as they have not separated" is merely the period between one of them saying, "I have sold you this commodity of mine for a dinar?" In this scenario, the option persists until the other party says, "I have accepted that," and between one saying to the other party, "I have bought this commodity of yours for a dinar," where the option remains valid until the other says, "I have sold it to you as you stated."

L21980–21982 Others said: It refers solely to the period between the statement of the one who says, "Sell me your commodity for a dinar?" At that point, he has the option as long as... The other says: "I have done," and regarding the statement of one who says: "Buy this merchandise of mine for a dinar," he retains the option as long as the other has not said: "I have done." The response to all these claims is clear and concise: it must be stated that the speaker of this has lied, fabricated, and sinned. For he has distorted the words of Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—from their proper contexts without any foundational proof, merely pursuing frivolity and openly proclaiming false claims. From where do you derive these assertions? Who informed you that this was his intended meaning—peace be upon him? As for your statement: "Like naming the slaughtered one without slaughtering him"—Allah the Exalted never named him "slaughtered," nor has this ever been authentically reported from Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him. Since this is the case, it is merely an absolute layman's statement devoid of proof. Those who employed this term did so either out of leniency or because the Close Friend—peace be upon him—placed the knife against his throat, an act described by its doer as "slaughter." We pay no heed to this labeling, for it has never been established by the Quran or Sunnah. Thus, it cannot constitute valid proof for anything whatsoever.

L21983 As for Allah's statement, the Exalted: "When they have reached their term" [Quran 2:231], Allah has spoken the truth, and those who claim He intended proximity to the end of the term have lied—far be it from Allah! Had their assumption been valid, retaining [wives] or revoking the divorce would only be permissible near the term's completion—not before—yet this is undeniably false. The verse's interpretation conforms to its apparent meaning without falsehood or addition. Without doubt, He the Exalted intended divorced women to complete their waiting period by observing it from the moment the divorce occurs until its conclusion. Throughout this entire duration, the husband may withhold [from finalizing the divorce], revoke it without any disagreement among scholars, or persist in upholding the divorce.[27]

L21984 Even if what they have put forth of falsehood were valid for them, they would have no valid claim to it. For the fact that some speech is interpreted contrary to its apparent meaning due to evidence does not necessitate interpreting all speech contrary to its apparent meaning without evidence. In this lies the corruption of mutual understanding, rational principles, and the entire Sharia. How then [can this be], when the narration of Ubayd Allāh ibn 'Umar from Nāfi' from Ibn 'Umar from the Prophet—peace be upon him—who said, "Every two parties to a sale have no binding sale until they separate," completely debunks this falsehood and invalidates singling out some of those to whom the term ‘sale’ applies from others who fall under the same designation.

L21985 They said: This separation mentioned in the Hadith is like the separation mentioned in Allah’s saying, the Exalted: “And if they separate, Allah will enrich both from His abundance.” [An-Nisā: 130].[28]

L21986–21987 We said: Yes, without doubt, and that separation mentioned in the verse is a separation through speech that necessarily entails physical separation. The separation mentioned in the ḥadīth is likewise a separation through speech that necessarily entails physical separation. Yet you claim that the separation considered in rulings invalidating or validating currency exchange is solely physical separation. Why then do you not say here—on this basis—that the separation mentioned in this ḥadīth is also physical separation, were it not for your baseless imposition driven by whims?

L21988 They disguised [their wrongdoing] with the statement of Allah, the Most High: {Unless it is a trade by mutual consent among you} [An-Nisa’ 4:29].[29]

L21989 So the Exalted permitted consumption after mutual consent. They said, “And this is evidence for the validity of ownership through contract.”

L21990 Abu Muhammad said: The one who brought us this verse is the one through whom we learn: What constitutes permissible trade for us, as distinct from what has been prohibited to us? And what defines mutual consent that transfers ownership as opposed to mutual consent that does not transfer ownership? Were it not for him, we would not have known anything of that.

L21991 He is the one who informed us that a contract is not a sale, nor is it a trade, nor is it mutual agreement, nor does it transfer ownership until it incorporates separation from their original agreement or the offering of choice. This is the sale, the trade, and the mutual agreement—not what the ignorant presume based on their opinions without proof, but through false claims.

وَمَوَّهُوا بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] .

فَأَبَاحَ تَعَالَى الْأَكْلَ بَعْدَ التَّرَاضِي، قَالُوا: وَهَذَا دَلِيلٌ عَلَى صِحَّةِ الْمِلْكِ بِالْعَقْدِ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: الَّذِي أَتَانَا بِهَذِهِ الْآيَةِ هُوَ الَّذِي مِنْ عِنْدِهِ نَدْرِي: مَا هِيَ التِّجَارَةُ الْمُبَاحَةُ لَنَا مِمَّا حُرِّمَ عَلَيْنَا، وَمَا هُوَ التَّرَاضِي النَّاقِلُ لِلْمِلْكِ مِنْ التَّرَاضِي الَّذِي لَا يَنْقُلُ الْمِلْكَ؟ وَلَوْلَاهُ لَمْ نَعْرِفْ شَيْئًا مِنْ ذَلِكَ.

L21992 They cited as evidence Allah's statement: "Fulfill [your] contracts" [Al-Mā'idah: 1], and this is true. However, the One who commanded us through His Prophet's words—He, the Exalted—ordered His Messenger (peace be upon him) to inform us that such a contractual agreement is neither valid nor perfected, nor does it constitute a contract unless the parties depart from their place [of agreement] or one grants the other an option [to annul it] after contracting. Otherwise, fulfilling that contract is not obligatory. They unanimously agree with us that no one is bound to fulfill every contract they make, for indeed fulfilling many contracts is forbidden—such as one who binds himself to commit adultery or drink wine.[30] وَاحْتَجُّوا بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {أَوْفُوا بِالْعُقُودِ} [المائدة: ١] وَهَذَا حَقٌّ إِلَّا أَنَّ الَّذِي أَمَرَنَا بِهَذَا عَلَى لِسَانِ نَبِيِّهِ هُوَ تَعَالَى الْآمِرُ لِرَسُولِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَنْ يُخْبِرَنَا أَنَّهُ لَا يَصِحُّ هَذَا التَّعَاقُدُ وَلَا يَتِمُّ، وَلَا يَكُونُ عَقْدًا إِلَّا بِالتَّفَرُّقِ عَنْ مَوْضِعِهِمَا أَوْ بِأَنْ يُخَيِّرَ أَحَدُهُمَا الْآخَرَ بَعْدَ التَّعَاقُدِ، وَإِلَّا فَلَا يَلْزَمُ الْوَفَاءُ بِذَلِكَ الْعَقْدِ، وَهُمْ مُجْمِعُونَ مَعَنَا عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا يَلْزَمُ أَحَدًا الْوَفَاءُ بِكُلِّ عَقْدٍ عَقَدَهُ، بَلْ أَكْثَرُ الْعُقُودِ حَرَامٌ الْوَفَاءُ بِهَا، كَمَنْ عَقَدَ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ أَنْ يَزْنِيَ، أَوْ أَنْ يَشْرَبَ الْخَمْرَ.

L21993 Yes, and most contracts are not binding in their view or ours, such as contracts to buy, sell, sing, dance, or recite poetry.

نَعَمْ، وَأَكْثَرُ الْعُقُودِ لَا يَلْزَمُ الْوَفَاءُ بِهِ عِنْدَهُمْ وَعِنْدَنَا، كَمَنْ عَقَدَ أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ، أَوْ أَنْ يَبِيعَ، أَوْ أَنْ يُغَنِّيَ، أَوْ أَنْ يَزْفِنَ أَوْ أَنْ يُنْشِدَ شِعْرًا.

L21994–21996 Thus, it was conclusively established that fulfilling a contractual obligation is not required in principle, except for a contract explicitly mandated by name in the scriptural text. The Ḥanafīs maintain that if two parties pledge mutual agreement over an absent item while expressly waiving the right to exercise the option of seeing, such a contract remains revocable.

L21997 The Malikis state: Whoever purchases fruit while stipulating exemption from liability for catastrophic loss and enters such a condition binding himself, this constitutes a contract not binding upon him. How then can their argument hold based on Allah's injunction "Fulfill [your] contracts" [5:1]? Should they retort: "These are contracts for which evidences establish that fulfillment is not required," we counter: The sale contract itself is one for which valid proof confirms that fulfillment becomes binding only after physical separation or the conclusion of the option period - unlike the invalid proofs through which you have arbitrarily restricted certain contractual obligations you specified.[31]

وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ يَقُولُونَ: مَنْ ابْتَاعَ ثَمَرَةً وَاشْتَرَطَ أَنْ لَا يَقُومَ بِجَائِحَةٍ، وَعَقَدَ ذَلِكَ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ، فَإِنَّهُ عَقْدٌ لَا يَلْزَمُهُ، فَأَيْنَ احْتِجَاجُهُمْ بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى {أَوْفُوا بِالْعُقُودِ} [المائدة: ١] . فَإِنْ قَالُوا: هَذِهِ عُقُودٌ قَامَتْ الْأَدِلَّةُ عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا يَلْزَمُ الْوَفَاءُ بِهَا؟ قُلْنَا: وَعَقْدُ الْبَيْعِ عَقْدٌ قَدْ قَامَ الْبُرْهَانُ حَقًّا عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا يَلْزَمُ الْوَفَاءُ بِهِ إِلَّا بَعْدَ التَّفَرُّقِ بِالْأَبْدَانِ، أَوْ بَعْدَ التَّخْيِيرِ، بِخِلَافِ الْأَدِلَّةِ الْفَاسِدَةِ الَّتِي خَصَّصْتُمْ بِهَا مَا خَصَّصْتُمْ مِنْ الْعُقُودِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ.

L21998 They also covered up by citing the words of Allah, the Exalted: {And take wit-

وَمَوَّهُوا أَيْضًا بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَأَشْهِدُوا إِذَا تَبَايَعْتُمْ} [البقرة: ٢٨٢] وَإِنَّ الْحَيَاءَ لَقَلِيلٌ فِي وَجْهِ مَنْ احْتَجَّ بِهَذِهِ الْآيَةِ فِي هَذَا الْمَكَانِ لِوُجُوهٍ -: أَوَّلُهَا - أَنَّهُمْ أَوَّلُ مُخَالِفٍ لِهَذِهِ

nesses when you contract} [Al-Baqarah: 282]. Little shame resides in those who cite this verse as evidence in this context, for several reasons: First—they are the foremost violators of this verse regarding what it addresses concerning the obligation of witnessing. How can they deem it permissible to cite it as evidence when they have disobeyed Allah the Exalted in it, opposed it, and not regarded it as authoritative evidence for the obligation of witnessing in sales? Second—the verse contains neither explicit text nor proof invalidating the dissolution mentioned in the hadith, nor does it even mention this matter at all.[32]

L21999–22001 The third point is that the verse's text specifically obligates witnessing when you engage in trade. The one who brought us this verse—and without whom we would not have known entirely what constitutes a permissible sold item versus a forbidden one—is the same who informed us that there is no valid sale whatsoever except after the parties physically separate from their place of transaction or after the granting of choice. Thus, it is certainly and firmly established that Allah's statement, {And take witnesses when you trade} [Al-Baqarah: 282], is exclusively a command to appoint witnesses after separation from the transaction's location or after the granting of choice—with no sale being valid at all unless one of these conditions is met, even if it displeases the dissenters. They then muddied the waters by citing narrations—some authenticated, others not—such as his saying, peace be upon him: "When you purchase something, do not…" "Accompany him until you take possession of it. The ruling here is exactly the same as that of the Quranic verse, because no sale is valid between them except after parting ways or exercising the option. Otherwise, the buyer has not purchased anything at all, and the seller has not sold anything whatsoever."[33]

L22002 Similarly, the case of one who sells a slave who owns property: his property belongs to the seller.

وَمِثْلِ مَنْ بَاعَ عَبْدًا وَلَهُ مَالٌ فَمَالُهُ لِلْبَائِعِ.

L22003 Similarly, the case of one who sells palm trees that have been pollinated: their fruit belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates it as a condition.

وَمِثْلِ مَنْ بَاعَ نَخْلًا قَدْ أُبِرَتْ فَثَمَرَتُهَا لِلْبَائِعِ إِلَّا أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَهَا الْمُبْتَاعُ.

L22004 Similarly, it is prohibited to sell food until the two sa's have been measured in it.

وَمِثْلِ النَّهْيِ عَنْ بَيْعِ الطَّعَامِ حَتَّى يَجْرِيَ فِيهِ الصَّاعَانِ.

L22005 If the buyer and seller disagree, the seller's statement shall prevail.

L22006 And there are numerous narrations mentioning the contract of sale. The ruling regarding all these narrations—as we stated earlier—is that all these rulings were mentioned concerning the contract of sale. The One who ordained the validity of these rulings is the same who declared, judged, and said: "Indeed, no sale exists between the two parties to the sale while they remain together without separation, or if one grants the other an option." Perdition to whoever disobeys Him.

L22007 What is astonishing is that most of these reports are contradicted by the very people [responsible for them], who oppose what is in their texts. They were not content with this until they added to it the deception of those who assumed the best—misleading them into believing something of which there is absolutely no trace in these reports whatsoever.

L22008 There is no distinction between those who cite all we have mentioned to invalidate the established Sunnah—such as the ruling that no sale is valid between transacting parties until bodily separation or the exercise of choice—and those who cite the Sunnah to permit every sale not mentioned in it, such as those involving usury, uncertainty (gharar), pebble-throwing (al-ḥaṣāh), touching (al-mulāmasah), hurling (al-munābadhah), and the like. Rather, all such practices constitute a single act, from which we seek refuge with Allah.

L22009 Among their marvels is their argument in this matter using the authentic hadith that "a child cannot fully repay a parent unless he finds him enslaved, purchases him, and frees him."

وَمِنْ عَجَائِبِهِمْ احْتِجَاجُهُمْ فِي هَذَا بِالْخَبَرِ الثَّابِتِ مِنْ أَنَّهُ «لَا يَجْزِي وَلَدٌ وَالِدًا إِلَّا أَنْ يَجِدَهُ مَمْلُوكًا فَيَشْتَرِيَهُ فَيُعْتِقَهُ» .

L22010 Abu Muhammad said: Were it not that these people indulge in much falsehood and practice deception in the name of Islam for those deluded by them, this prolonged, meaningless discourse would not be deemed a danger to them.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَلَوْلَا أَنَّ الْقَوْمَ مُسْتَكْثِرُونَ مِنْ الْبَاطِلِ، وَالْخَدِيعَةِ فِي الْإِسْلَامِ لِمَنْ اغْتَرَّ بِهِمْ لَمْ يُخَفْ عَلَيْهِمْ هَذَا التَّطْوِيلُ بِلَا مَعْنًى.

L22011 Yes, the report is correct. One who does not physically separate from his seller, nor exercise his option after the contract, nor ever take ownership has not validly purchased his father as a slave. Rather, he remains in the ownership of his seller as before until the buyer either exercises his option or physically separates from him. At that point, the slave becomes manumitted at the buyer's obligation. Otherwise, he is not freed—by the explicit ruling of Allah Almighty as decreed through the words of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him).

L22012–22013 They also mentioned: "Muslims are bound by their stipulations." This is a fabricated narration, for it was only transmitted by Kathīr ibn Zayd - who is weak - and narrators weaker than him, or as a mursal report from 'Aṭā'.

وَذَكَرُوا أَيْضًا «: الْمُسْلِمُونَ عِنْدَ شُرُوطِهِمْ» وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ مَكْذُوبٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ إنَّمَا رَوَاهُ كَثِيرُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ - وَهُوَ سَاقِطٌ - وَمَنْ هُوَ دُونَهُ، أَوْ مُرْسَلٌ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ.

L22014 Then, if it were valid, it would serve as evidence for us against them, because the conditions of Muslims are not all free from disagreement. Rather, they are only those conditions commanded [by Islamic law] or permitted by their explicit naming in the Quran and authentic Sunnah compilations.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ حُجَّةً لَنَا عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّ شُرُوطَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ لَيْسَتْ كُلَّ شَرْطٍ بِلَا خِلَافٍ، بَلْ إنَّمَا هِيَ الشُّرُوطُ الْمَأْمُورُ بِهَا، أَوْ الْمُبَاحَةُ بِأَسْمَائِهَا فِي الْقُرْآنِ وَصَحِيحِ السُّنَنِ.

L22015 If what they insinuated were true, then the conditions of adultery, procurement, consuming intoxicants, and usury would become binding obligations. Allah is far removed from such deviant notions.

وَلَوْ كَانَ مَا أَوْهَمُوا بِهِ لَكَانَ شَرْطُ الزِّنَى، وَالْقِيَادَةِ، وَشُرْبِ الْخَمْرِ، وَالرِّبَا: شُرُوطًا لَوَازِمَ، وَحَاشَ لِلَّهِ مِنْ هَذَا الضَّلَالِ.

L22016 It has been authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah: "Every condition not in the Book of Allah is void. The Book of Allah is more deserving, and Allah's stipulation is more binding." Allah's condition refers to either the physical separation of parties after concluding the sale contract or the stipulated option - otherwise, no condition there is fundamentally binding. The most astonishing matter is how some argue that when one conducts a sale as binding without the khiyar, the khiyar is thereby invalidated.

L22017 Abū Muḥammad said: I wish I knew who would agree with them in this madness? No, certainly not! Rather, if two contracting parties were to conclude their sale upon nullifying the obligatory right of option granted to them before departing from the contractual session and before exercising the option, it would be a cursed condition, a voidable contract, and a ruling of misguidance - because they stipulated the nullification of what Allah the Exalted and His Messenger (peace be upon him) has established.

L22018 They further argued: Since the marriage contract; divorce contract; lease contract; khulʿ (wife-initiated divorce); manumission; and kitābah (manumission contract) are valid without requiring physical separation, the same principle applies to the sale contract.

L22019 Abu Muhammad said: This is analogy, and all analogy is invalid. Moreover, even if analogy were valid, this would be the epitome of invalidity, due to their consensus with us that every ruling among those they mentioned has distinct legal effects and applications, making it impermissible to combine them in such a ruling. For in a sale, ownership of the corpus of the sold item and its price is transferred – a principle absent in any of the rulings they cited. As for marriage, it permits access to intimacy that was formerly prohibited without ownership of the spouse's person, and it is impermissible at all to stipulate contractual options (such as rescission rights) or deferred terms within it.

L22020–22022 They permit the stipulated option to rescind in sales and deferred-payment transactions, and they do not deem it permissible to analogize one of them to the other in this matter. Divorce prohibits the [previously] lawful marital intimacy, either at its specified time or for a defined period, without transference. Ownership, and no stipulations may be made after its conclusion whatsoever, unlike sale. Leasing permits the use of benefits in exchange for compensation without transferring ownership of the corpus, unlike sale. It is permissible for a free person, unlike sale, and must be for a term—either determinate or indeterminate (if tied to a limited task)—unlike sale.

L22023 Khulʿ is a divorce entailing financial compensation in which—unlike in sales transactions—a conditional option cannot be stipulated according to their view. The same ruling applies to emancipation and the contractual manu-mission (kitāba). This exposes the absurdity of their analogy, demonstrating it to be mere caprice and muddled reasoning.

وَالْخُلْعُ طَلَاقٌ بِمَالٍ لَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِ عِنْدَهُمْ خِيَارٌ مُشْتَرَطٌ، بِخِلَافِ الْبَيْعِ، وَالْعِتْقُ كَذَلِكَ، وَالْكِتَابَةُ - فَظَهَرَ سُخْفُ قِيَاسِهِمْ هَذَا وَأَنَّهُ هَوَسٌ وَتَخْلِيطٌ.

L22024 How many cases have they ruled on regarding the option in divorce, obligating the choice as long as the spouses remain in their gathering, yet nullified it upon their physical separation—where neither the Lord of the Worlds ever obligated it, nor His Messenger (peace be upon him), nor the statement of a Companion, nor any rational basis, nor any analogy falsely compared to it, but rather through corrupt opinions? Then they invalidated it where Allah the Exalted obligated it through the words of His Messenger (may Allah's blessings and peace be upon him). Thus we praise Allah the Exalted for preservation from what He has afflicted them with.

The physical separation of the parties in a currency exchange (ṣarf) before taking possession of the exchanged items.

L22025

وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: التَّفَرُّقُ بِالْأَبْدَانِ فِي الصَّرْفِ قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ يُبْطِلُ الْعَقْدَ - فَمِنْ الْمُحَالِ أَنْ يَكُونَ مَا يُبْطِلُ الْعَقْدَ هُوَ الَّذِي يُثْبِتُهُ.

L22026 Some of them said: Physical separation in a ṣarf [currency exchange] transaction before taking possession invalidates the contract, for it is illogical that what nullifies the contract should simultaneously be what validates it.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَا كَلَامٌ فِي غَايَةِ الْفَسَادِ، وَلَا نُنْكِرُ هَذَا إذَا جَاءَ بِهِ النَّصُّ فَقَدْ وَجَدْنَا النَّقْدَ وَتَرْكَ، الْأَجَلِ يُفْسِدُ السَّلَمَ عِنْدَهُمْ، وَيُصَحِّحُ الْبُيُوعَ الَّتِي يَقَعُ فِيهَا الرِّبَا حَتَّى لَا تَصِحَّ إلَّا بِهِ.

L22027 Ali said: This is an utterly corrupt statement, and we do not deny this when supported by textual evidence, for indeed we have found that immediate payment and abandoning the deferred payment period invalidates the salam contract according to their view, while validating sales involving riba such that they are not valid except through them.

L22028 How can this hold when the meaning they sought to differentiate is one? That is, the two parties to a ṣarf contract neither owned anything nor engaged in any sale prior to taking possession. For any two parties to a sale where the transaction was not finalized before departure [from the contractual session] or the option period (khiyār)—whether they were parties to a ṣarf contract or not—if those we have mentioned depart before the sale is finalized, then whoever concluded a valid contract sees it finalized upon departure. Whoever did not conclude a valid contract has no transaction here that is finalized through departure.

L22029–22031 They also said—interrogating the words of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) and rejecting his teaching—that the two parties in a transaction are only considered "transacting parties" while the contract is in effect, not afterward, like mutually fighting or mutually killing parties. How can they simultaneously be transacting parties and annulling parties? Abū Muḥammad said: This is the speech of one devoid of intellect, knowledge, religion, and shame—for it is feeble sophistry. Indeed, the two transacting parties are only considered as such at the moment of their contractual agreement. However... Their contract in that matter is invalid and is only finalized through separation or the exercise of an option after the contract, as commanded by the One who does not deem anyone's blood inviolable except through submission to Him, or by his payment of jizyah (if he is a Kitabi) while in a state of humiliation.

L22032 Among the curious anecdotes of theirs is their argument in opposing this report with the ḥadīth of ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb—on the authority of his father, on the authority of his grandfather—that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "The buyer and seller retain the option as long as they have not separated, unless it is a transaction involving an option. It is not permissible for one to separate fearing that he may seek rescission." They said: "Rescission cannot occur except after the completion of the sale and the valid transfer of ownership."

L22033 Ali said: Before all else, this narration is unsound, and we are not among those who cite invalid evidence for themselves. Allah the Exalted has protected us from that. Even if it were sound, it would align with our position except regarding preventing separation to avoid rescission alone—this we do not hold, for the mentioned report is unsound. Had it been sound, we would have upheld its prohibition of separation with this intent. The rescission mentioned here is not what these ignorant ones presume, but rather the annulment by the regretful party in the sale—whether the other consents or objects—for Arabs say: “I rescinded from my ailment” and “I rescinded what escaped me,” meaning to reclaim it. The decisive proof validating our position and invalidating their false interpretation is that physical separation does not prevent the rescission they attribute to the report. Rather, rescission remains perpetually possible even after decades. Thus, the report on this basis would lack meaning, reality, or benefit. This confirms that the rescission which separation undoubtedly prevents is physical separation that makes the sale binding and inevitably precludes its annulment. No alternative exists, nor can the report’s wording bear any other meaning. Thus, this report becomes a burden upon their burden, for they authenticated it yet contradicted its content—permitting separation whether fearing rescission or not. Ali said: This is all their obfuscation, wholly rebounding against them, exposing the frailty of their knowledge and paucity of understanding. We—Allah the Exalted willing—shall present what they deem their strongest argument and clarify its decisive refutation for any who might cling to it. And success is only from Allah, the Exalted.

L22034–22035 It was narrated to us through the chain of Al-Bukhari, who said: Al-Humaydi narrated from Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah, who narrated from ‘Amr, who informed us from Ibn ‘Umar—may Allah be pleased with them both—who said: “We were traveling with the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—and I was riding an unruly young camel belonging to ‘Umar. It would overpower me and advance ahead of the group. ‘Umar would rebuke it and bring it back, but it would advance again, and ‘Umar would rebuke it and bring it back. The Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said to ‘Umar: ‘Sell it to me.’ He replied: ‘It is yours, O Messenger of Allah.’ The Prophet repeated: ‘Sell it to me.’ So ‘Umar sold it to the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him. The Prophet then said: ‘It is yours, O ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar—do with it as you wish.’” They said: “This constitutes a valid sale without the parties separating, and it is a gift of that which the رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ قَالَ: وَقَالَ الْحُمَيْدِيُّ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ نا عَمْرٌو «عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا - قَالَ: كُنَّا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي سَفَرٍ فَكُنْتُ عَلَى بَكْرٍ صَعْبٍ لِعُمَرَ فَكَانَ يَغْلِبُنِي فَيَتَقَدَّمُ أَمَامَ الْقَوْمِ فَيَزْجُرُهُ عُمَرُ وَيَرُدُّهُ ثُمَّ يَتَقَدَّمُ فَيَزْجُرُهُ عُمَرُ وَيَرُدُّهُ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لِعُمَرَ: بِعْنِيهِ؟ قَالَ: هُوَ لَكَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، قَالَ: بِعْنِيهِ؟ فَبَاعَهُ مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - هُوَ لَكَ يَا عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ تَصْنَعُ بِهِ مَا شِئْتَ» قَالُوا فَهَذَا بَيْعٌ صَحِيحٌ لَا تَفَرُّقَ فِيهِ وَهِبَةٌ لِمَا ابْتَاعَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - قَبْلَ التَّفَرُّقِ بِلَا شَكٍّ.

Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—had purchased before their separation, without any doubt."[1]

L22036 Abu Muhammad said: This report provides no valid proof for them for several reasons. The first is that even if the contract does not terminate, it inherently allows for the option [to choose] after its conclusion. Silence regarding this does not negate its validity, for the sale's validity necessarily requires it. Furthermore, no price was mentioned in this report either. Thus, they ought to permit sales without any mention of a price whatsoever, since no price was specified in it.

L22037 If they say: "A price is indispensable without doubt, for a sale cannot be valid without it?" We reply: "Similarly, parting or the option is indispensable, for a sale cannot be considered a sale nor is it fundamentally valid except through one of them. There is no difference between their use of this narration to discard the ruling of what was not mentioned in it—the option after the contract—and one who cites it to justify sales involving religiously prohibited (haram) matters, since no price is mentioned in it whatsoever. This is deemed a gift for what was sold before taking possession, contrary to the Hanafi opinion, thus forming an argument against them. Likewise, the ruling regarding attestation is entirely equivalent."

L22038 The second aspect is that even if it were valid for them [to claim] that there was neither choice nor any witnessing at all in this sale—and it is never valid—how can they assert that this incident occurred after the Messenger of Allah's statement (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him): "No sale is concluded between two parties until they separate or one grants the other the choice"? And after Allah the Exalted's command regarding witnessing? Whoever claims knowledge of this is a lying forger who will—if Allah the Exalted wills—occupy his seat in the Fire for lying against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him).

L22039–22041 If this narration predates all of that, then we say: The sale at that time would be concluded through the contract even if they did not separate and neither party granted the other an option, while attestation was not obligatory. Rather, everything we have mentioned became incumbent. Only at the time of the command concerning it, not prior to that. As for us, we firmly assert that the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—does not contradict the command of his Lord, the Most High, nor does he do what he has forbidden his nation to do. This is what is beyond doubt in our view, and whoever doubts this or permits its occurrence is a disbeliever. We draw near to Allah, the Most High, by dissociating from him.

L22042 Similarly, we definitively conclude that he (peace be upon him), had he abrogated any command given to us, would have made it clear so that no scholar well-versed in his Sunnah would doubt that he indeed abrogated what he abrogated and affirmed what he affirmed.

وَكَذَلِكَ نَقْطَعُ بِأَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لَوْ نَسَخَ مَا أَمَرَنَا بِهِ لَبَيَّنَهُ حَتَّى لَا يَشُكَّ عَالِمٌ بِسُنَّتِهِ فِي أَنَّهُ قَدْ نَسَخَ مَا نَسَخَ وَأَثْبَتَ مَا أَثْبَتَ.

L22043 If it were permissible for other than this—and I seek refuge in Allah—then the religion of Islam would be corrupt, with no one knowing what is forbidden for him from what is permissible for him from what his Lord, the Exalted, has enjoined upon him. Far is Allah from this! Indeed, this is the clear misguidance that Allah, the Exalted, declares false, as He says: “the clarification for all things” [An-Nahl 16:89] and “so that you [O Prophet] may clarify to the people what has been sent down to them” [An-Nahl 16:44].[2]

L22044 Guidance has become clear from misguidance, for the entire religion is guidance while opposition to every part of it constitutes misguidance. Had all this not become clear, Allah the Exalted would have been a liar, and the Messenger—peace be upon him—would not have clarified nor conveyed, and the religion would be perishing and corrupted. This is pure disbelief on the part of anyone who permits its existence.

L22045 The third aspect is that they argue: The narrator among the Companions is more knowledgeable about what he transmitted. Ibn Umar—the transmitter of this narration—maintained that a sale is not completed unless physical separation occurs between the parties. Therefore, according to their own principle, he would be the most knowledgeable about what was transmitted.

وَالْوَجْهُ الثَّالِثُ - أَنَّهُمْ يَقُولُونَ: إنَّ الرَّاوِيَ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ أَعْلَمُ بِمَا رَوَى وَابْنُ عُمَرَ هُوَ رَاوِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ، وَهُوَ الَّذِي كَانَ لَا يَرَى الْبَيْعَ يَتِمُّ إلَّا بِالتَّفَرُّقِ بِالْأَبْدَانِ، فَهُوَ عَلَى أَصْلِهِمْ أَعْلَمُ بِمَا رُوِيَ.

وَسَقَطَ عَلَى أَصْلِهِمْ هَذَا تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ جُمْلَةً - وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ.

[2] Qur’an references (L22043): Qur’an 16:89 (An-Nahl); Qur’an 16:44 (An-Nahl).

L22046 And their entire reliance on this report was grounded in their foundational basis—and all praise is due to Allah, Lord of the worlds.

وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ» ، وَمِنْ الْغَرَرِ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمَا خِيَارٌ لَا يَدْرِيَانِ مَتَى يَنْقَطِعُ.

L22047 Some of them said, “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—forbade sales involving uncertainty (gharar).” Among such uncertainties is when both parties retain an option (khiyar) without knowing when it will cease.[3]

L22048 Abu Muhammad said: This is an invalid statement for several reasons. One of them is that a contract formed before physical separation or the option period is not a sale at all—neither a gharar sale nor a salam sale—as the Prophet, peace be upon him, said: “There is no sale between them as long as they remain together.” Thus, it does not fall under the prohibited gharar sale.

L22049–22051 The second aspect is that it is not as they claimed - that both parties have an option whose termination timing they do not know. Rather, whichever of the two wishes to terminate it may do so immediately by offering their counterpart the choice: either to proceed with it, thereby completing the sale and causing the option to be terminated, or to annul it, thereby nullifying the contract’s validity and its continuation. Alternatively, they may stand up and leave their counterpart, as Ibn ’Umar used to do. Thus, the flaw in this objection against the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) was glaringly exposed through a rebuttal that relied on a frivolous opinion and a base intellect.

L22052 The third aspect is that anything the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) commanded cannot entail gharar, for he would never enjoin what he simultaneously forbade—far be it from him. Rather, gharar is what these people have permitted through their corrupt opinions, such as their practice of selling milk that has not yet formed in the udders of the sheep and goats for a month or two.

وَبَيْعِ الْجَزَرِ الْمُغَيَّبِ فِي الْأَرْضِ الَّذِي لَمْ يَرَهُ إنْسِيٌّ وَلَا عَرَفَ صِفَتَهُ، وَلَا أَهُوَ جَزَرٌ أَمْ هُوَ مَعْفُونٌ مُسَوَّسٌ لَا خَيْرَ فِيهِ؟ وَبَيْعِ أَحَدِ ثَوْبَيْنِ لَا يَدْرِي أَيُّهُمَا هُوَ الْمُشْتَرَى.

L22053 And the sale of unseen carrots still in the ground that no human has seen, known their attributes, or determined whether they are viable carrots or rotten, worm-eaten things with no good in them. And the sale of one of two garments without knowing which one is the purchased item.

وَالْمَقَاثِي الَّتِي لَمْ تُخْلَقْ، وَالْغَائِبِ الَّذِي لَمْ يُوصَفْ وَلَا عُرِفَ - فَهَذَا هُوَ الْغَرَرُ الْمُحَرَّمُ الْمَفْسُوخُ الْبَاطِلُ حَقًّا.

L22054 And the growing crops that have not yet developed, and the absent item that is neither described nor known - this constitutes the prohibited uncertainty: invalidated, void, and truly null in reality.

L22055 If they mention what we have narrated through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah from Hashim ibn al-Qasim from Ayyub ibn ‘Utbah al-Yamami from Abu Kathir al-Suhaymi from Abu Hurayrah from the Prophet (peace be upon him): “The two parties to a sale retain the option as long as they have not parted ways from their transaction, or the sale is subject to an option.”

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا عَجَبٌ جِدًّا، لِأَنَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ لَوْ صَحَّ، وَالتَّفَرُّقُ مِنْ الْبَيْعِ لَا يَكُونُ إلَّا بِأَحَدِ أَمْرَيْنِ لَا ثَالِثَ لَهُمَا: إمَّا بِتَفَرُّقِ الْأَبْدَانِ فَيَتِمُّ الْبَيْعُ حِينَئِذٍ وَيَتَفَرَّقَانِ مِنْهُ حِينَئِذٍ، لَا قَبْلَ ذَلِكَ، وَإِمَّا أَنْ يَتَفَرَّقَا مِنْهُ بِفَسْخِهِ وَإِبْطَالِهِ -: لَا يُمْكِنُ غَيْرُ هَذَا؟ فَكَيْفَ وَأَيُّوبُ بْنُ عُتْبَةَ ضَعِيفٌ لَا نَرْضَى الِاحْتِجَاجَ بِرِوَايَتِهِ أَصْلًا وَإِنْ كَانَتْ لَنَا.

L22056 Abū Muḥammad said: This is exceedingly astonishing, for if it were valid upon them, separation from the sale could only occur through one of two matters with no third alternative: either through the separation of their bodies, at which point the sale is completed and they separate from it at that moment—not before—or through separation from it by its rescission and annulment. Is nothing else possible? How then [can this be] when Ayyūb ibn ‘Utbah is weak? We do not approve of using his narration as evidence at all, even if it were in our favor.

L22057 And one of them committed a grave error revealing weakness in his religion and deficiency in intellect, stating: “The meaning of ’what the two had not differed on’ is that he intended ’what the two had not agreed upon,’ just as people say to a group: ’On what did you part ways?’ meaning ’On what did you agree?’ Thus, he meant: ’On what did you two diverge from your statements?’” قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا بَاطِلٌ مِنْ وُجُوهٍ -: أَوَّلُهَا: أَنَّ هَذِهِ دَعْوَى كَاذِبَةٌ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ، وَمَنْ لَكُمْ بِصَرْفِ هَذَا اللَّفْظِ إلَى هَذَا التَّأْوِيلِ؟ وَمَا كَانَ هَكَذَا فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ.

L22058 Abu Muhammad said: This is invalid for several reasons—the first being that this is a false claim without evidence. Who can divert this wording to such an interpretation? And anything that is like this is invalid.

L22059 The second is to say: This is sophistry itself, and to perpetually reduce speech to its opposite. With this, no truth can hold valid, nor could anyone refrain from applying this logic to all that derives from the Quran and the Sunnahs.

وَهَذِهِ سَبِيلُ الرَّوَافِضِ، إِذْ يَقُولُونَ: إِنَّ الْجِبْتَ وَالطَّاغُوتَ إِنَّمَا هُمَا إِنْسَانَانِ بِعَيْنِهِمَا، وَأَنْ تَذْبَحُوا بَقَرَةً إِنَّمَا هِيَ فُلَانَةُ بِعَيْنِهَا.

L22060–22061 And this is the way of the Rawāfiḍ, for they claim that al-Jibt and al-Ṭāghūt are precisely two specific individuals, and that to slaughter a cow refers solely to a specific cow named Fulānah.

L22062 Thirdly: We say to them: How can this be? For if this interpretation were valid, then the hadith narrated by Al-Layth from Nāfiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar from the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—"When two men enter into a sale, each retains the right of rescission as long as they remain together without separating, or until one grants the other the choice. If one grants the choice and they complete the transaction accordingly, the sale becomes binding. If they separate after entering into the sale without revoking it, the sale becomes binding"—would decisively refute this false interpretation asserted without evidence. It demonstrates that the physical separation validating the sale cannot occur at all—despite their objections—except after the transaction is finalized, as the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—explicitly stated, contrary to the presumption of the ignorant who claim it occurs during the transaction or upon concluding their dialogue.

L22063 Abu Muhammad said: This is among the matters wherein they opposed a group of the Companions—no dissenter is known among them—while they themselves hold this in high esteem. This is also among the matters wherein they opposed the majority of scholars, except for a narration from Ibrahim. Then some of them came with an astonishing matter: they increased in lying and brought forth a narration we have transmitted through ʿAṭāʾ's chain, stating that ʿUmar said, "A sale arises from a transaction or option." It is also narrated through al-Shaʿbī's chain, and through al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāh's chain, that ʿUmar said, "A sale arises only from a transaction or option, and a Muslim is at his stipulation." Through al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāh's chain, from Muḥammad ibn Khālid ibn al-Zubayr, from a shaykh of Banū Kinānah, it is narrated that ʿUmar said, "A sale arises from a transaction or option, and every Muslim is at his stipulation."

L22064 Abu Muhammad said: Among the wonders of this world and a manifest proof of complete detachment from modesty is the attempt to cite these narrations in opposition to the Sunnah—all of which have multiple flaws against them. First: none of them are valid, for they are either mursal narrations or transmitted through Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭā'ah—and he is Malik—from some shaykh of Banū Kinānah. Do you even realize what a "shaykh of Banū Kinānah" implies? I wish I knew—will they use this as proof when they stand in the court of judgment on the Day of Resurrection? O Allah, I seek refuge in You from trifling with religion.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: مِنْ عَجَائِبِ الدُّنْيَا، وَمِنْ الْبُرْهَانِ عَلَى الْبَرَاءَةِ مِنْ الْحَيَاءِ: الِاحْتِجَاجُ بِهَذِهِ الرِّوَايَاتِ فِي مُعَارَضَةِ السُّنَنِ، وَكُلُّهَا عَلَيْهِمْ لِوُجُوهٍ -: أَوَّلُهَا - أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ شَيْءٌ مِنْهَا يَصِحُّ؛ لِأَنَّهَا مُرْسَلَاتٌ، أَوْ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ - وَهُوَ مَالِكٌ - عَنْ شَيْخٍ مِنْ بَنِي كِنَانَةَ وَمَا أَدْرَاكَ مَا شَيْخٌ مِنْ بَنِي كِنَانَةَ؟ لَيْتَ شِعْرِي أَبِهَذَا يَحْتَجُّونَ إذَا وَقَفُوا فِي عَرْصَةِ الْقَضَاءِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ؟ عِيَاذُك اللَّهُمَّ مِنْ التَّلَاعُبِ بِالدِّينِ.

L22065 Then, even if they were valid, they would have no valid foundation therein, because there is nothing within them that nullifies what Allah the Exalted decreed as articulated by His Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—regarding "no sale being permissible except after physical separation or the right to rescind."

L22066–22067 This statement of Umar—had we heard it from Umar himself—would not contradict our position, for a valid sale is one concluded upon separation, and a valid option is one established through granting choice, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) ruled: "There is no sale between the two parties to the sale unless they separate or one grants the other the option." How then could this be, when an explicit text matching our view is authentically reported from Umar? As transmitted to us through the chain of Muslim: Qutaybah reported to us: Layth—he is Ibn Sa'd—reported to us from Ibn Shihab from Malik ibn Aws ibn al-Hadathān, who said: I approached saying, "Who will exchange dirhams?" Talha ibn 'Ubayd Allah, who was with Umar ibn al-Khattab, said, "Show us your gold, then return when our attendant arrives, and we will give you your silver." Umar said to him, "Absolutely not, by Allah! You must either give him his silver now or return his dirham to him."

L22068 So this is 'Umar permitting him to return the gold after the completion of the contract and abandoning the transaction.

L22069 If it is said: Was the sale between them not finalized? We respond: This is erroneous, for this is a report we have narrated through the chain of Mālik, from Ibn Shihāb, from Mālik ibn Aws ibn al-Ḥadathān al-Naṣrī, who informed him that he sought to exchange currency for one hundred dinars. He said: Ṭalḥah ibn ʿUbayd Allāh summoned me, and we negotiated until he finalized the exchange with me and took the gold coins. He then turned them over in his hand and said: "Wait until my treasurer comes to me from the Ghābah [a known area]"—while ʿUmar listens. ʿUmar said: "By Allah, you will not leave him until you take them."

L22070 This clarifies that the currency exchange had indeed been concluded between them. Thus, it is established that ʿUmar, along with Ṭalḥah and the rest of the Companions present, hold the view that the sale is annulled before physical parting.

L22071 Moreover, even if what they attributed to Umar were authentic, his statement would neither constitute proof alongside the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—nor against him. How many incidents have they opposed Umar in, whether the Sunnah was with him or not? The first of these is this very report itself, for they narrated from Umar—as you see—"A Muslim is bound by his conditions," yet they invalidate a great many conditions.

L22072 And they forgot their disagreement with ʿUmar concerning his statement: "Water cannot be made impure by anything."

L22073 And the taking of Zakat from enslaved persons is ten dirhams or a dinar per individual.

L22074 And His imposition of Zakat on the growth of the orphan.

وَإِيجَابِهِ الزَّكَاةَ فِي نَاضِّ الْيَتِيمِ.

L22075–22076 His exclusion from zakat in the yield estimation of palm trees regarding what his family consumes—and wiping over the turban [during ablution]—with over a hundred rulings being added—hence, the false presumption in the fabricated narration ascribed to Umar served as a pretext for rejecting the Sunnah.

L22077 How then, when this very narration has been transmitted to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah from al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāh from Khālid ibn Muḥammad ibn Khālid ibn al-Zubayr, that ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb said: "There is no sale except through a transaction and an option"—as indicated by the conjunctive 'and'—and this contradicts their position, aligns with our view, and necessitates that ʿUmar considered a sale valid only when combining the contract and the option, while the option is separate from the contract. We have also previously cited this from ʿUmar through an authentic chain of transmission. Thus, the invalidity of the basis of their reliance becomes evident from every perspective.

L22078 Some of them mentioned the statement of Ibn ʿUmar that is firmly established as being narrated from him: "If you find the transaction intact and complete, it belongs to the buyer"—We narrated it through the chain of Ibn Wahb from Yunus ibn Yazīd from al-Zuhrī from Hamzah ibn ʿAbdillāh ibn ʿUmar from his father.

L22079 Abū Muḥammad said: This is among their peculiarities, for they are the first to contradict this report—the Ḥanafīs say: Rather, it is upon the seller unless the buyer has seen it or the seller delivers it to him. The Mālikīs say: Rather, if it is in a state of extended absence, it is upon the seller.

L22080 Who is more perplexing than one who cites a narration that is against him, not for him, and boldly persists in such a claim? There is nothing in this statement of Ibn Umar that contradicts what has been authentically narrated from him—that a sale is not valid except by bodily separation.

فَمَنْ أَعْجَبُ مِمَّنْ يَحْتَجُّ بِخَبَرٍ هُوَ عَلَيْهِ لَا لَهُ، وَيُجَاهِرُ هَذِهِ الْمُجَاهَرَةَ؟ وَمَا فِي كَلَامِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ هَذَا شَيْءٌ يُخَالِفُ مَا صَحَّ عَنْهُ مِنْ أَنَّ الْبَيْعَ لَا يَصِحُّ إلَّا بِالتَّفَرُّقِ بِالْأَبْدَانِ.

L22081 And so his statement, "I did not finalize the transaction," was meant solely to indicate a complete and binding sale without any doubt.

L22082 And among his famous sayings is that no sale is entirely perfected unless through physical separation or by means of the option to choose after the binding agreement.

L22083 Ali said: The enormity of their outrageousness in this matter became manifest, and the magnitude of their contradiction within it, while they claim that the mursal (report with an incomplete chain) is treated as the musnad (report with a complete chain). Some of them say: "Rather, it is stronger than it," invoking it as evidence whenever it aligns with their position. We have been narrated through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar from

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: فَظَهَرَ عَظِيمُ فُحْشِهِمْ فِي هَذِهِ الْمَسْأَلَةِ، وَعَظِيمُ تَنَاقُضِهِمْ فِيهَا، وَهُمْ يَقُولُونَ: إنَّ الْمُرْسَلَ كَالْمُسْنَدِ، وَبَعْضُهُمْ يَقُولُ: بَلْ أَقْوَى مِنْهُ، وَيَحْتَجُّونَ بِهِ إذَا وَافَقَهُمْ. وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا

Ibn Ṭāwūs from his father that "the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—established the option to retract after concluding the sale."

L22084 Abu Muhammad said: We have previously mentioned from Tawus that the option applies only after the sale, and they say: The narrator is most knowledgeable about what he narrates.

L22085–22086 And through the chain of Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah, who reported to us from Wakīʿ, who reported to us from Qāsim al-Juʿfī, from his father, from Maymūn ibn Mihrān, the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: "A sale is [valid] by mutual consent, and the right of option [exists] after concluding the transaction. It is not lawful for a Muslim to cheat another Muslim."

L22087 These two are among the finest mursal reports, nullifying their vile claim that opposes the Sunnahs. Where do they stand concerning this? Yet they utter what they do not practice. Greatly detestable to Allah is that they say what they do not act upon—we seek refuge in Allah from His Hatred. Ali said: We have previously mentioned that some ignorant and frivolous people asserted: "This is a report transmitted through divergent wordings, rendering it disrupted."[4]

L22088 Ali said: He has indeed lied. Rather, all his words are firmly established, transmitted through mass transmission (tawātur) from the Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings be upon him. None of them is contradictory in essence. Rather, they are expressions that clarify one another, just as he - peace be upon him - was commanded to elucidate the revelation of his Lord, the Exalted.

L22089 An Issue Concerning the Right of Choice in Sale

L22090 Issue 1418: If it is asked, "Why have you not mandated the option (khiyar) in sales three times?" - due to what you narrated through the chain of Hisham al-Dastuwā'ī from Qatādah, from al-Ḥasan, from Samurah - that the

[مَسْأَلَةٌ التَّخْيِيرِ فِي الْبَيْعِ]

١٤١٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَهَلَّا أَوْجَبْتُمْ التَّخْيِيرَ فِي الْبَيْعِ ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ؟ لِمَا رَوَيْتُمُوهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ هِشَامٍ الدَّسْتُوَائِيِّ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ عَنْ سَمُرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ

Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: “The two parties to a sale retain their option until they separate, allowing each party to take what they passionately desire from the sale, or to mutually invoke the option three times.”

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «الْبَيِّعَانِ بِالْخِيَارِ حَتَّى يَتَفَرَّقَا وَيَأْخُذَ كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مِنَ الْبَيْعِ مَا هَوِيَ أَوْ يَتَخَايَرَانِ ثَلَاثَ مِرَارٍ» .

L22091 And through the chain of Al-Bukhari: Ishaq reported to us, Hayyan reported to us, Hammam reported to us, Qatadah reported from Abi Al-Khalil from Abdullah ibn Al-Harith from Hakim ibn Hizam that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: “The two parties to a sale retain the option until they separate.” Hammam said: I found in my book: “He may choose three times. If they are truthful and clarify, blessing is granted to their sale. But if they lie and conceal, perhaps they may gain profit yet erase the blessing of their sale.” We have also transmitted it thus through the chain of Affan from Hammam. We stated: Al-Hasan’s narration from Samurah is disconnected, for nothing was heard from him except the Aqiqah hadith alone.

L22092 As for Hammām’s narration, he did not transmit this wording; rather, he reported that he found it in his book. He neither committed to it, transmitted it, nor provided an isnād for it. Whatever is like this is impermissible to rely upon and cannot constitute valid evidence.

L22093–22094 Hammam has narrated this report from Abu al-Tayyah from Abdullah ibn al-Harith from Hakim, and he did not mention in it three times.

وَقَدْ رَوَى هَذَا الْخَبَرَ هَمَّامٌ عَنْ أَبِي التَّيَّاحِ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ عَنْ حَكِيمٍ فَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ فِيهِ: ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ.

L22095 It was narrated by Shu‘bah, Sa‘īd ibn Abī ‘Arūbah, and Ḥammād ibn Salamah—all of them from Qatādah with his isnād and wording—but none of them mentioned the phrase “three repetitions.”

وَرَوَاهُ شُعْبَةُ، وَسَعِيدُ بْنُ أَبِي عَرُوبَةَ، وَحَمَّادُ بْنُ سَلَمَةَ، كُلُّهُمْ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ بِإِسْنَادِهِ وَلَفْظِهِ، فَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ أَحَدٌ مِنْهُمْ: ثَلَاثَ مِرَارٍ.

L22096 Hisham ibn Sa‘id al-Khayr narrated to us: ‘Abd al-Jabbar ibn Ahmad al-Muqri narrated to us: al-Hasan ibn al-Husayn ibn ‘Abd Rabbihi al-Najirami narrated to us: Ja‘far ibn Muhammad al-Asbahani narrated to us: Yunus ibn Habib al-Zubayri narrated to us: Abu Dawud al-Tayalisi narrated to us: Shu‘bah and Hammam, both from Qatadah. Shu‘bah said in his narration: He heard Salih Abu al-Khalil narrating from ‘Abdullah ibn al-Harith from Hakim ibn Hizam, who said: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: “The buyer and seller have the option [to cancel] as long as they have not separated. If they are truthful and clarify, they are blessed in their transaction. But if they lie and conceal, the blessing of their transaction is eradicated.”

L22097 Abu Dawud said: The hadith of Hammam is similar to this, so the ambiguity was lifted. Hammam remained steadfast in omitting this wording, and when he found it in his book, he did not state that it was from his narration. By Allah, had Hammam—or another trustworthy narrator—affirmed it in his narration, we would have accepted it, for it would have been an addition.

L22098 A case where two individuals mutually transacted a sale on the premises, then one of them exited it or entered his designated commercial space.

L22099 Issue 1419: If two parties conclude a sale within a house and one exits from the house or enters a niche within it, they have parted ways and the sale is concluded. Or if they conclude a sale in a niche of one of them connected to the house, they have parted ways and the sale is concluded.

١٤١٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَإِنْ تَبَايَعَا فِي بَيْتٍ فَخَرَجَ أَحَدُهُمَا عَنْ الْبَيْتِ، أَوْ دَخَلَ حَنِيَّةً فِي الْبَيْتِ: فَقَدْ تَفَرَّقَا وَتَمَّ الْبَيْعُ، أَوْ تَبَايَعَا فِي حَنِيَّةِ أَحَدِهِمَا إلَى الْبَيْتِ: فَقَدْ تَفَرَّقَا وَتَمَّ الْبَيْعُ.

L22100 If two people agree to a sale in the courtyard of a house and one enters the house, they are considered to have separated, and the sale is finalized.

L22101 If they conclude a sale within a house or walled garden, and one of them exits to the road, or if they conclude a sale on a road and one of them enters a house or walled garden, they have parted ways conclusively, finalizing the sale. If they conclude a sale on a ship and one of them enters the hold, the storage compartment, proceeds to the inn, or ascends the mast, they have parted ways conclusively, finalizing the sale.

L22102–22104 Similarly, if the two parties entered into a sale in one of these locations and one of them left for the ship, the sale is deemed concluded. When the two parties part, if they conclude a sale in a shop and one moves to another shop or goes out into the street, the sale is concluded and they have parted ways.

L22105 If two parties contract a sale on the road and one of them enters a shop, the sale is thereby finalized and they separate.

L22106 If they conclude a sale contract during travel or in an open space, the sale is not dissolved unless a barrier—linguistically termed tafrīq (separation)—arises between them, or one party disappears from the other's sight within the traveling group, behind a mound, a tree, or in a ditch—for only what is linguistically defined as tafrīq is taken into account. And success is by Allah, the Exalted.

L22107 A case in which the buyer and seller are in dispute, and one of them said: "We have parted ways and the sale is finalized."

L22108 Issue 1420: If the two parties to a sale dispute, where one says: "We separated and the sale was finalized," or states: "You granted me the option," or declares: "I granted you the option and you chose—or I chose—to finalize the sale," while the other contends: "No, we did not separate until I rescinded it, and you neither granted me the option nor did I grant you one," or acknowledges the option but asserts: "I did not exercise the option," or says: "You are the one who finalized the sale"—then if the sold item is established as belonging to the seller through conclusive evidence or the judge's judicial notice, we disregard at that point which party holds the item or possesses the price. If the item is not established except by being in his possession while the price remains with the buyer—then in all such cases, the statement of whichever party invalidates the sale—regardless of identity—is accepted alongside his oath. This is because he is the one claimed against regarding a sale contract he does not acknowledge, with no evidence established against him. Thus, nothing is required of him except the oath, in accordance with the ruling of Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—that the oath rests upon the defendant.

L22109 If the commodity is in the possession of the buyer and is unknown to the seller, while the price is still with the seller, then the statement of whichever party affirms the validity of the sale is accepted, provided he swears an oath. This is because the claim pertains to transferring something from his possession, and whoever has possession of something is legally presumed to own it. Therefore, he is only required to swear the oath.

L22110 If both the commodity and the price are in the possession of one of the two parties, his statement stands alongside his oath, as he is the defendant. And success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

L22111 The same ruling applies to all disputes between the two parties in a sale. For instance, if one says, "I purchased it for cash," while the other says, "Rather, it was on credit"; or one says, "For such and such," while the other says, "Rather, it was for more"; or one says, "In exchange for goods," while the other says, "In exchange for different goods," or "for a tangible asset."

L22112 Or one of them says, "in dinars," and the other says, "in dirhams" - or one of them specifies a description such as such-and-such and mentions what invalidates the sale, while the other states [their terms].

L22113–22115 Rather, a valid sale. If there was in the statement of either party an admission directed at the other... By a valid supplemental acknowledgment, he is necessarily bound to what he has acknowledged. If the goods are in the seller's possession and the price in the buyer's possession, in such a case each of them is a defendant. The seller shall swear by Allah: "I did not sell it to him in the manner he claims nor for what he claims," and the buyer shall swear by Allah: "He did not sell it to me for what he claims nor in the manner he claims." Each of them is thereby released from liability toward the other's demand, and the sale they mentioned becomes invalidated.

بَلْ بَيْعًا صَحِيحًا -: فَإِنْ كَانَ فِي قَوْلِ أَحَدِهِمَا إقْرَارٌ لِلْآخَرِ بِزِيَادَةِ إقْرَارًا صَحِيحًا أُلْزِمَ مَا أَقَرَّ بِهِ وَلَا بُدَّ -: فَإِنْ كَانَتْ السِّلْعَةُ بِيَدِ الْبَائِعِ وَالثَّمَنُ بِيَدِ الْمُشْتَرِي، فَهُنَا هُوَ كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مُدَّعًى عَلَيْهِ فَيَحْلِفُ الْبَائِعُ بِاَللَّهِ مَا بِعْتُهَا مِنْهُ كَمَا يَذْكُرُ وَلَا بِمَا يَذْكُرُ، وَيَحْلِفُ الْمُشْتَرِي بِاَللَّهِ مَا بَاعَهَا مِنِّي بِمَا يَذْكُرُ وَلَا كَمَا يَذْكُرُ، وَيَبْرَأُ كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مِنْ طَلَبِ الْآخَرِ، وَيَبْطُلُ مَا ذَكَرَا مِنْ الْبَيْعِ.

L22116 A group held the opinion that if the two sellers disagreed, they mutually rescind the sale without oaths - this being the view of Ibn Mas'ūd, Al-Sha'bī, and Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal.

L22117 As we were narrated through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq: Sufyan al-Thawri narrated from Ma'n ibn Abd al-Rahman, from al-Qasim ibn Abd al-Rahman كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ نا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ مَعْنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّ ابْنَ مَسْعُودٍ بَاعَ مِنْ الْأَشْعَثِ بْنِ قَيْسٍ بَيْعًا فَاخْتَلَفَا فِي الثَّمَنِ، فَقَالَ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ: بِعِشْرِينَ، وَقَالَ الْأَشْعَثُ: بِعَشَرَةٍ، فَقَالَ لَهُ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ: اجْعَلْ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَك رَجُلًا؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ الْأَشْعَثُ: أَنْتَ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَ نَفْسِك، قَالَ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ: فَإِنِّي أَقُولُ بِمَا قَضَى بِهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إذَا اخْتَلَفَ الْمُتَبَايِعَانِ فَالْقَوْلُ مَا قَالَ رَبُّ الْمَالِ، أَوْ يَتَرَادَّانِ الْبَيْعَ» .

ibn Abd Allah ibn Mas’ud, that Ibn Mas’ud conducted a sale with al-Ash’ath ibn Qays, but they disagreed over the price. Ibn Mas’ud said, “For twenty,” while al-Ash’ath said, “For ten.” Ibn Mas’ud then said to him, “Appoint a man between me and you.” Al-Ash’ath replied, “You may act as the judge between us.” Ibn Mas’ud said, “Then I say according to what the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—ruled: ’If the two parties in a sale disagree, the statement is what the owner of the property said, or they annul the sale mutually.”’

وَرُوِيَ عَنْ أَبِي عُبَيْدَةَ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: يَحْلِفُ الْبَائِعُ فَإِنْ شَاءَ الْمُشْتَرِي أَخَذَ وَإِنْ شَاءَ تَرَكَ - وَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ عَلَيْهِ يَمِينًا.

L22118–22119 It has been reported from Abu Ubaydah ibn Abdullah ibn Mas‘ud that he said: “The seller takes an oath. Then, if the buyer wishes, he may take it, and if he wishes, he may leave it, and he did not mention an oath being incumbent upon him.”

وَقَالَ قَوْمٌ: إنْ كَانَتْ السِّلْعَةُ قَائِمَةً تَحَالَفَا وَفُسِخَ الْبَيْعُ، وَإِنْ كَانَتْ قَدْ هَلَكَتْ فَالْقَوْلُ قَوْلُ الْمُشْتَرِي مَعَ يَمِينِهِ، هَذَا إذَا لَمْ تَكُنْ هُنَالِكَ بَيِّنَةٌ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ حَمَّادِ بْنِ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَأَبِي يُوسُفَ، وَمَالِكٍ - وَقَالَ إبْرَاهِيمُ، وَالثَّوْرِيُّ، وَالْأَوْزَاعِيُّ فِي الْمُسْتَهْلَكَةِ بِذَلِكَ.

L22120 A group said: If the commodity is present, the two parties swear oaths and the sale is annulled. If it has been destroyed, the buyer’s claim is upheld upon his oath—this applies when no evidence is available. This is the opinion of Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān, Abū Ḥanīfa, Abū Yūsuf, and Mālik. Ibrāhīm, al-Thawrī, and al-Awzāʿī held the opinion concerning the destroyed goods in that case.

L22121 A group of scholars held: If the two parties to a transaction disagree, both shall take oaths. If they swear or recant, the sale is annulled. If one swears while the other recants, judgment is rendered according to the oath-taker’s claim, whether the item remains extant or has been consumed. This is the position of Shuraih, Al-Shafi’i, and Muhammad ibn Al-Hasan, though the latter two specified: They mutually return the price of the consumed item. ’Ata maintained: The sale is revoked unless mutual agreement is reached. Zufar ibn Al-Hudhayl ruled concerning extant merchandise: Both swear oaths and mutually return it. As for consumed goods, if they concur the price belonged to a single category, the buyer’s assertion prevails. If they dispute the category, they swear oaths and mutually return the value of the sold item.

L22122 Abu Sulayman and Abu Thawr said: The opinion concerning this matter—whether the commodity is existing or consumed—is the buyer's assertion, accompanied by his oath.

L22123 Abu Muhammad said: As for the position of Ibn Mas'ud, Al-Sha'bi, and Ahmad, they cited as evidence the hadith in which we mentioned - and we transmitted it with another wording: "If the two parties to a sale disagree, the statement is what the seller said, and the buyer has the option." We transmitted the first wording exactly as we mentioned it.

L22124 We have also transmitted it through the chain of Hafs ibn Ghiyath from Abu Umays, who reported: 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Muhammad ibn Qays ibn Muhammad ibn al-Ash'ath ibn Qays informed me, from his father, from his grandfather, that Ibn Mas'ud said...' Through another chain from Abu Umays as well: 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Muhammad ibn al-Ash'ath reported from his father, from his grandfather, that Ibn Mas'ud said...' Through the chain of Hushaym, who narrated to us from Ibn Abi Layla—who is Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Rahman, the judge—from al-Qasim ibn 'Abd al-Rahman ibn 'Abd Allah ibn Mas'ud, from his father: that Ibn Mas'ud... As for the second wording, we have transmitted it through the chain of Ibn 'Ajlan from 'Awn ibn 'Abd Allah ibn 'Utbah ibn Mas'ud: that Ibn Mas'ud...

L22125–22127 Abū Muḥammad said: None of this contains any proof, nor is any of it valid, because they are all mursal reports— When ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Masʿūd's father—may Allāh be pleased with him—died, ʿAbd al-Raḥmān was merely six years old and had retained no words from him. The narrator transmitting from him is Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Laylā—who was deficient in memory—and ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Muḥammad ibn al-Ashʿath—a tyrant among al-Ḥajjāj's agents of oppression, from whose narration no valid proof can be established. Furthermore, Abū ʿUmayṣ heard nothing from him due to the disparity in their ages preventing any encounter. Moreover, this is erroneous; rather, he is ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Muḥammad ibn Qays ibn Muḥammad ibn al-Ashʿath—an unknown [narrator], son of an unknown [narrator]. Additionally, Muḥammad ibn al-Ashʿath did not hear [any narration] from Ibn Masʿūd. Thus, any attribution to him is entirely invalidated.

هُوَ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ قَيْسِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْأَشْعَثِ - وَهُوَ مَجْهُولُ ابْنُ مَجْهُولٍ - وَأَيْضًا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْأَشْعَثِ لَمْ يَسْمَعْ مِنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ -: فَبَطَلَ التَّعَلُّقُ بِهِ جُمْلَةً.

L22128 As for the statement of Abū Ubaydah ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn Masʿūd, it is substantiated by what we were narrated through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥusayn reported to me, Ḥajjāj—who is Ibn Muḥammad—informed us. Ibn Jurayj said: Ismāʿīl ibn Umayyah informed me from ʿAbd al-Malik ibn ʿUbayd that he heard Abū Ubaydah ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn Masʿūd say: Ibn Masʿūd stated, "The Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—commanded concerning two parties engaged in a sale regarding a commodity, where one says, 'I took it for such-and-such,' and the other says, 'I sold it for such-and-such,' that the seller is put under oath, after which the buyer may choose: if he wishes, he takes it; otherwise, he abandons it."

L22129 We have also narrated it through the chain of Ismāʿīl ibn Umayyah from ʿAbd al-Malik ibn ʿUbayd from a son of ʿAbdullāh ibn Masʿūd from his father from the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him. This is baseless, for when Abū ʿUbaydah ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn Masʿūd was asked, "Do you recall anything from your father?" he replied, "No." ʿAbdullāh—may Allāh be pleased with him—had no children except Abū ʿUbaydah (the eldest), ʿAbd al-Raḥmān (whom he left as a six-year-old son), ʿUtbah (the youngest), and ʿAbd al-Malik ibn ʿUbayd (the aforementioned narrator, who is unknown). Thus, this statement is dismissed. Abū Muḥammad said: As for the remaining opinions, they possess no evidence whatsoever—particularly those who distinguish between existing merchandise and consumable goods, and those who oblige the buyer to swear. This is entirely absent from all transmitted reports, except that they made rulings without restriction, showing leniency in their lack of scrupulous piety—referring to the Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs. They persistently assert in their writings: "The Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—said: 'When the two parties to the transaction disagree while the merchandise remains present, they must swear oaths and nullify the transaction.'" This is never found—neither in unanchored nor L22130–22131 Ali said: And this is among the matters in which they contradicted one another, for they opposed the cited mursal narration and opposed Ibn Masʿūd, and no opposing Companion is known to have disagreed with him – may Allah be pleased with them.

L22132 Some of them cited as proof for their opinion by saying: Since each is both a claimant and a defendant, the oath is jointly required of both. For the seller claims against the buyer either the sale price or a contract that the buyer does not acknowledge, while the buyer claims against the seller a contract that the seller does not acknowledge.

L22133 Abū Muḥammad said: This does not apply universally as they claimed, for when someone possesses an item without acknowledging another's right to it, and a person says to him: "This is mine – I sold it to you for two mithqāls," while the possessor responds: "Rather, I bought it from you for one mithqāl and have treated you fairly," then the possessor is not making any claim against the other party whatsoever. The legal principle is that whatever is in a person's possession belongs to them. If a claimant asserts ownership, the possessor must swear an oath and is thereby absolved, provided he has never acknowledged the claimant's ownership through an absolute admission. Thus, the seller in this case is not the subject of any claim at all.

L22134 Their contradiction here has greatly increased, particularly their differentiation between durable goods and consumable goods. This is something not required by the Qur'an, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor the opinion of a Companion, nor analogy, nor logical reasoning, nor any valid opinion.

L22135 They object by citing the evidence our companions and Abū Thawr advanced in support of their view that the legal presumption always favors the buyer accompanied by his oath, since both parties agreed upon the sale and the transfer of ownership to the buyer. Subsequently, the seller makes a claim against the buyer which the buyer refuses to acknowledge.

وَيُعَارِضُونَ بِمَا احْتَجَّ لَهُ أَصْحَابُنَا، وَأَبُو ثَوْرٍ، فِي قَوْلِهِمْ: إنَّ الْقَوْلَ قَوْلُ الْمُشْتَرِي عَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ مَعَ يَمِينِهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُمَا جَمِيعًا قَدْ اتَّفَقَا عَلَى الْبَيْعِ، وَعَلَى انْتِقَالِ الْمِلْكِ إلَى الْمُشْتَرِي، ثُمَّ

This position is more akin to the foundational principles of the Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs based on their statements concerning legal acknowledgment.

L22136 Abu Muhammad said: This is also not valid, because the seller never agreed to the buyer's claim regarding the property. Rather, he merely acknowledged the transfer of ownership and the sale under terms to which the buyer did not consent. Therefore, it is impermissible to rule in favor of the buyer based on an acknowledgment that is false against him.

L22137 Thus, it is confirmed that the correct opinion is as we have stated: that whatever is in a person's actual possession belongs to them, unless evidence establishing another's ownership exists. This is the doctrine of Īyās ibn Muʿāwiyah, and the Sunnah affirms this.

L22138–22140 It is astonishing that the Hanafis, Malikis, and Shafiʿis maintain an ambiguous stance: they claim to uphold the mentioned ḥadīth while having entirely contradicted it, as we have cited—especially the Shafiʿis, for they assert that ruling by a mursal is impermissible, yet here they have adopted a mursal. If only they had been truthful in their adoption of it! Rather, [...] They opposed him, and all of them contradicted each other. Nevertheless, their legal opinions on the branches of this issue exhibit numerous contradictions—and success comes from Allah, the Exalted.

L22141 The most astonishing thing in this is the Malikis' practice of making the seller and buyer swear oaths: requiring the seller to swear, "By Allah, I sold it for such-and-such amount," and the buyer to swear, "By Allah, I bought it from you for such-and-such amount." Thus they combine two marvels in this practice: first, their swearing concerns their own claims rather than denying what each party alleges against the other; second, they make them swear in this manner yet do not grant them what they swore about. What purpose does making them swear in this way serve? For the defendant should only swear to deny the allegation made against him, thereby being absolved.

حَلَفَا عَلَيْهِ، فَأَيُّ مَعْنًى لِتَحْلِيفِهِمَا بِذَلِكَ؟ وَإِنَّمَا يَحْلِفُ الْمُدَّعَى عَلَيْهِ عَلَى نَفْيِ مَا ادُّعِيَ عَلَيْهِ بِهِ وَيَبْرَأُ.

L22142 As for them and those who hold the view of rebutting the oath: the defendant swears regarding what is claimed against him, and they rule in favor of the claimant based on it. Yet in this case, they have violated their own foundational principles in the most reprehensible and corrupting manner, without any evidence whatsoever.

وَأَمَّا هُمْ وَمَنْ يَرَى رَدَّ الْيَمِينِ: فَإِنَّهُ يَحْلِفُ الْمُدَّعِي عَلَى مَا ادَّعَى وَيَقْضُونَ لَهُ بِهِ، وَنَقَضُوا هَهُنَا أُصُولَهُمْ أَقْبَحَ نَقْضٍ وَأَفْسَدَهُ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ أَصْلًا.

L22143 If one of them claims the validity of the act while the other asserts its invalidity, the ruling favors the claimant of validity—though it is unknown from where this originated for them? And with Allah, the Exalted, is success.

وَقَالُوا أَيْضًا: إِنْ ادَّعَى أَحَدُهُمَا صِحَّةَ الْعَمَلِ، وَالْآخَرُ فَسَادَهُ: الْقَوْلُ قَوْلُ مُدَّعِي الصِّحَّةِ وَلَا يُدْرَى مِنْ أَيْنَ وَقَعَ لَهُمْ هَذَا؟ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22144 The Issue of Cash in Sales with an Option

[مَسْأَلَةُ النَّقْدُ فِي بَيْعِ الْخِيَارِ]

L22145 1421 – Issue: Every sale concluded with a condition of option for the seller, the buyer, both together, or another party – whether the option is for an hour, a day, three days, longer, or shorter – is void, regardless of whether they choose to enforce it or not. If the buyer takes possession of the item with the seller's permission and it perishes in his custody without his own fault, he bears no liability. If he takes possession without the seller's permission – whether by judicial ruling or otherwise – he guarantees it with the liability of misappropriation. Similarly, if he causes damage to it, he guarantees it with the liability of transgression.

L22146 Abu Hanifah said: A sale with an option is permissible for each of the two parties, for both together, and for a third party. If the party entitled to the option rejects the sale, it is annulled, and if they ratify it, it becomes binding. However, he does not permit the option period to exceed three days; rather, the option period must be three days or fewer. If they stipulate an option period longer than three days, the sale becomes invalid. If they conclude the sale with an option without specifying a duration, the option period is valid for up to three days.

L22147–22149 Abū Yūsuf and Muḥammad disagreed with him, stating that the option

(khiyar) is permissible until the time mutually agreed upon by the two parties, whether the period is long or short. They concurred on all other matters. In their view, cash payment is valid in a sale involving an option (khiyar) by mutual consent. The buyer is not bound by any condition originally. If they stipulate cash payment, the sale becomes void. If the party entitled to the option dies during the option period, the sale becomes binding on his estate. If the item is destroyed during the option period: If the option belongs to the buyer, the sale becomes binding on him for the agreed price. If the option belongs to the seller, the buyer is liable for its market value, not the agreed price. The party entitled to the option may affirm the contract without the other's presence, but they may not rescind the sale except in the presence of the other party. The obligation of Zakat al-Fitr rests upon the buyer if the sale is confirmed through consent, and upon the seller if the sale is revoked.

وَخَالَفَهُ أَبُو يُوسُفَ، وَمُحَمَّدٌ، فَقَالَا: الْخِيَارُ جَائِزٌ إِلَى مَا تَعَاقَدَاهُ طَالَتْ الْمُدَّةُ أَمْ قَصُرَتْ - وَاتَّفَقُوا فِي كُلِّ مَا عَدَا ذَلِكَ - وَالنَّقْدُ جَائِزٌ عِنْدَهُمْ فِي بَيْعِ الْخِيَارِ بِتَطَوُّعِ الْمُشْتَرِي لَا بِشَرْطٍ أَصْلًا - فَإِنْ تَشَارَطَا النَّقْدَ فَسَدَ الْبَيْعُ، فَإِنْ مَاتَ الَّذِي لَهُ الْخِيَارُ فِي مُدَّةِ الْخِيَارِ فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ، فَإِنْ تَلِفَ الشَّيْءُ فِي مُدَّةِ الْخِيَارِ -: فَإِنْ كَانَ الْخِيَارُ لِلْمُشْتَرِي فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ بِذَلِكَ الثَّمَنِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ الْخِيَارُ لِلْبَائِعِ فَعَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي قِيمَتُهُ لَا ثَمَنُهُ، وَلِلَّذِي لَهُ الْخِيَارُ مِنْهُمَا إنْفَاذُ الرِّضَا بِغَيْرِ مَحْضَرِ الْآخَرِ، وَلَيْسَ لَهُ أَنْ يَرُدَّ الْبَيْعَ إلَّا بِمَحْضَرِ الْآخَرِ - وَزَكَاةُ الْفِطْرِ إنْ تَمَّ الْبَيْعُ بِالرِّضَا عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي، وَإِنْ لَمْ يَتِمَّ الْبَيْعُ بِالرَّدِّ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ.

L22150 Abū Muḥammad said: These are baseless insinuations, rulings with no established foundation, oaths and judgments not preserved from any predecessor. Mālik stated: "The sale with an option is permissible as Abū Ḥanīfah and his companions held, except that the option period differs in his view. Regarding garments, the option is only valid in his opinion for up to two days. Any duration exceeding this invalidates the option."

L22151 As for the female slave, the option right is permissible in her case only for a week or less. Any period beyond that does not permit the option. One must examine her background, her physical condition, and her conduct.

وَأَمَّا الْجَارِيَةُ فَلَا يَجُوزُ الْخِيَارُ عِنْدَهُ فِيهَا إلَّا جُمُعَةً فَأَقَلَّ، فَمَا زَادَ فَلَا خَيْرَ فِيهِ -: يَنْظُرُ إلَى خَبَرِهَا، وَهَيْئَتِهَا، وَعَمَلِهَا.

L22152 As for the riding animal, a day or less, or the journey of a barid or less.

وَأَمَّا الدَّابَّةُ فَيَوْمٌ فَأَقَلُّ، أَوْ سَيْرُ الْبَرِيدِ فَأَقَلُّ.

L22153 As for the property, the minimum period is a month. The option remains with him solely to consult and examine the sale. Regarding extending the duration for the sake of the option, no option is permitted in such extension, as it constitutes gharar [prohibited uncertainty].

وَأَمَّا الدَّارُ فَالشَّهْرُ فَأَقَلُّ - وَإِنَّمَا الْخِيَارُ عِنْدَهُ لِيَسْتَشِيرَ وَيَخْتَبِرَ الْبَيْعَ وَأَمَّا مَا بَعُدَ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْخِيَارِ فَلَا خَيْرَ فِيهِ، لِأَنَّهُ غَرَرٌ.

L22154 According to his [Abū Ḥanīfah's] view, cash payment is impermissible in an option-based sale - whether stipulated or not. If the two parties mutually stipulate it, the sale becomes invalid. If the one entitled to the option dies, his heirs assume his position [regarding it].

فَإِنْ تَلِفَ الْمَبِيعُ فِي يَدِ الْمُشْتَرِي مِنْ غَيْرِ فِعْلِهِ فِي مُدَّةِ الْخِيَارِ فَهُوَ مِنْ مُصِيبَةِ الْبَائِعِ وَلَا ضَمَانَ عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي، سَوَاءٌ كَانَ الْخِيَارُ لِلْمُشْتَرِي أَوْ لِلْبَائِعِ أَوْ لَهُمَا أَوْ لِغَيْرِهِمَا، وَلِلَّذِي لَهُ الْخِيَارُ الرَّدُّ وَالرِّضَا بِغَيْرِ مَحْضَرِ الْآخَرِ وَبِمَحْضَرِهِ - وَزَكَاةُ الْفِطْرِ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ فِي كُلِّ ذَلِكَ.

L22155 If the sold item perishes in the buyer's possession without any action on their part during the option period, the loss falls upon the seller, and the buyer bears no liability. This applies whether the option right belongs to the buyer, the seller, both parties, or a third party. The option holder may unilaterally rescind or ratify the transaction, whether the other party is present or not. In all these cases, Zakat al-Fitr remains obligatory upon the seller.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ انْقَضَى أَمَدُ الْخِيَارِ وَلَمْ يَرُدَّ وَلَا رَضِيَ -: فَلَهُ الرَّدُّ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ بِيَوْمٍ، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَرُدَّ فِي هَذَا الْقَدْرِ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ.

L22156 He said: If the option period has expired and he has neither revoked nor accepted, then he has the right to revoke for a day thereafter. If he does not revoke during this period, the sale becomes binding upon him.

L22157–22159 These are statements concerning defects similar to those preceding them, not transmitted from anyone before him, with determinations regarding the utmost degree of defect. This is because all that we mentioned—the female slave, the garment, the house, and the beast of burden—may be tested and consulted upon within periods shorter than those they stipulated, and in less than half their durations. Moreover, some of the flaws in all these items may remain concealed. Things within the prescribed multiples of those durations: all of that constitutes legislation which Allah the Exalted has not authorized, nor has the Sunnah established it as obligatory, nor does a weak narration support it, nor does analogy uphold it, nor does a prior scholarly opinion validate it, nor does an opinion with a sound basis justify it.

L22160 I wish I knew their position if the option belongs to a third party who dies during its term: Do his heirs take his place in that matter or not? If they say no, they contradict themselves, making the option inheritable at times and not inheritable at others. If they say yes, we respond: Perhaps the heirs are minors, prodigals, absentees, or there is no heir - thus the option would pass to the Imam or to whom Allah wills. Are these not contradictions? Al-Shāfiʿī stated: The option is permissible for either party or both together, and it may not exceed three days. His rulings differed regarding mutual sales where the option is granted to a third party: At times he permitted it, and at others invalidated the sale unless under the concept of agency.

مَعًا، وَلَا يَجُوزُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ - وَاخْتَلَفَ قَوْلُهُ فِي التَّبَايُعِ عَلَى أَنْ يَكُونَ الْخِيَارُ لِأَجْنَبِيٍّ؟ فَمَرَّةً أَجَازَهُ، وَمَرَّةً أَبْطَلَ الْبَيْعَ بِهِ، إلَّا عَلَى مَعْنَى الْوَكَالَةِ.

L22161 Cash payment is permissible in a sale with an option in his view. If the party entitled to the option dies, his heirs assume his position. If the item perishes in the buyer's possession during the option period: when the option belongs to the seller or to both parties jointly, the buyer is obligated to compensate its value. If the option belongs solely to the buyer, the sale becomes binding on him for the stipulated price. The party holding the option in his opinion may rescind the transaction and consent to it, whether the other party is present or absent.

L22162 He and Abū Ḥanīfah argued that the option cannot exceed three based on the report concerning the sheep whose udder was tied to withhold milk and the report about the man who was deceived in sales, to whom the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—granted the option of three, instructing him to say when selling: "There is no deception."

وَاحْتَجَّ هُوَ، وَأَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: فِي أَنَّ الْخِيَارَ لَا يَكُونُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ ثَلَاثٍ بِخَبَرِ الْمُصَرَّاةِ - وَبِخَبَرِ الَّذِي كَانَ يُخْدَعُ فِي الْبُيُوعِ فَجَعَلَ لَهُ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْخِيَارَ ثَلَاثًا، وَأَمَرَهُ أَنْ يَقُولَ إذَا بَاعَ: لَا خِلَابَةَ.

L22163 The Hanafis cited as evidence for this what we have narrated through the chain of al-Ḥudhāfī Muḥammad ibn Yūsuf, who said: Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥīm ibn Shurūs reported to me, Ḥafṣ ibn Sulaymān al-Kūfī reported to me, Abān reported to me from Anas: "A man purchased a camel and stipulated a legal option of four days, so the Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him) nullified the sale and said: 'The legal option is only three days.'" Al-Ḥudhāfī said: And ʿAbd al-Razzāq narrated to us from a man who heard Abān narrate from al-Ḥasan [al-Baṣrī]: "A man purchased and set the legal option as four days? The Messenger of God (peace and blessings be upon him) said: 'The sale is revoked, for the legal option is only three days.'"

L22164–22166 Abu Muhammad said: As for the argument of Abu Hanifah and al-Shafiʿi citing the hadith of Munqidh—that the Prophet (peace be upon him) granted him a three-day option regarding what he purchased?—this is a wonder, a truly astounding wonder, that they would be the first to oppose this very ruling. The ḥadīth, and their assertion that his sale is entirely invalid—if he warrants guardianship and is deceived in transactions—or entirely permissible, only voidable due to defect—if he does not warrant guardianship—how can a person of piety deem it permissible to disobey the Messenger of Allāh—may Allāh's blessings and peace be upon him—in what he commanded, then attribute to him what he did not say? This report contains no sale enacted with an option for either buyer or seller or both—yet in this they were contested. Alas, my grief for them! As for Abū Ḥanīfah's argument using the ḥadīth of the animal with withheld milk: it is a calamity among the calamities of this age! He was the first to oppose, disparage, and attack it, rejecting all its contents. At times, the person of scrupulous piety among them claims it was abrogated by the prohibition of usury—they lie in this, for usury has no relevance here! At times, they deem it fabricated and malign Abū Hurayrah—may Allāh the Exalted recompense them in this world and the next—for they are the people of falsehood, not the virtuous and righteous Abū Hurayrah—may Allāh be pleased with him and all the Companions. May the slanderer of any among them be cast face-first!

L22167 Then, they do not feel ashamed to cite it as evidence for matters entirely unrelated to its content, for they merely seek to validate sales transactions stipulating an option clause for the seller, the buyer, both parties, or a third party. Yet in the narration concerning al-muṣarrāh there is no trace of this—no explicit text, no allusion, no implied meaning. What could be more astonishing than this? As for the two ḥadīths of al-Ḥudhāfī—the musnad (chained narration) and the mursal (disconnected narration)—both are transmitted through Abān ibn Yazīd al-Raqāshī, a discredited and discarded transmitter. The musnad comes via Ḥafṣ ibn Sulaymān al-Kūfī, likewise discredited and abandoned, while the mursal is narrated by an anonymous man. Both are scandalous and tainted by caprice; none would rely on them in religious matters except one deprived of divine guidance.

ثُمَّ لَا يَسْتَحْيُونَ مِنْ أَنْ يَحْتَجُّوا بِهِ فِيمَا لَيْسَ فِيهِ مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ إِنَّمَا يُرِيدُونَ نَصْرَ تَصْحِيحِ بَيْعٍ وَقَعَ بِشَرْطِ خِيَارٍ لِلْبَائِعِ، أَوْ لِلْمُشْتَرِي، أَوْ لَهُمَا مَعًا أَوْ لِغَيْرِهِمَا، وَلَيْسَ مِنْ هَذَا كُلِّهِ فِي خَبَرِ الْمُصَرَّاةِ أَثَرٌ، وَلَا نَصٌّ، وَلَا إِشَارَةٌ، وَلَا مَعْنًى، فَأَيُّ عَجَبٍ أَكْثَرُ مِنْ هَذَا؟ وَأَمَّا حَدِيثَا: الْحُذَافِيِّ الْمُسْنَدُ، وَالْمُرْسَلُ -: فَهُمَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبَانَ بْنِ يَزِيدَ الرَّقَاشِيِّ - وَهُوَ هَالِكٌ مُطَّرَحٌ - وَالْمُسْنَدُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَفْصِ بْنِ سُلَيْمَانَ الْكُوفِيِّ - وَهُوَ هَالِكٌ أَيْضًا مَتْرُوكٌ - وَأَمَّا الْمُرْسَلُ فَعَنْ رَجُلٍ لَمْ يُسَمَّ، فَهُمَا فَضِيحَةٌ وَشَهْوَةٌ، لَا يَأْخُذُ بِهِمَا فِي دِينِهِ إِلَّا مَحْرُومُ التَّوْفِيقِ.

L22168 By my life, the Malikis have indeed contradicted their principles here, for there is no burden upon them to adopt similar practices in matters of degradation and baseness if it conforms to their juristic tradition. They also claimed: "Have we agreed on permitting a three-day option period but differed regarding any extension?" Abū Muḥammad said: "This is false—they never agreed on this. For Mālik permits the option for a garment only up to two days at most, and for a riding animal only up to one day at most." Thus, all they disguised with such specious arguments is nullified—and success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

وَلَعَمْرِي لَقَدْ خَالَفَ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ هَهُنَا أُصُولَهُمْ فَإِنَّهُ لَا مُؤْنَةَ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنْ الْأَخْذِ بِمِثْلِهَا فِي الدَّنَاءَةِ وَالرَّذَالَةِ إذَا وَافَقَ تَقْلِيدَهُمْ، وَقَالُوا أَيْضًا: قَدْ اتَّفَقْنَا عَلَى جَوَازِ الْخِيَارِ ثَلَاثًا وَاخْتَلَفْنَا فِيمَا زَادَ؟ قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ وَهَذَا كَذِبٌ مَا وُفِّقُوا قَطُّ عَلَى ذَلِكَ: هَذَا مَالِكٌ لَا يُجِيزُ الْخِيَارَ فِي الثَّوْبِ إلَّا يَوْمَيْنِ فَأَقَلَّ، وَلَا فِي الدَّابَّةِ إلَّا الْيَوْمَ فَأَقَلَّ -: فَبَطَلَ كُلُّ مَا مَوَّهُوا بِهِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22169–22171 They are countered by the authentic hadith containing: "There is a prohibition against intercepting incoming traders (talaqqi al-rukban). Whoever intercepts anything through such practice, the seller has the option (khiyar) upon arriving at the market." This is an authentic hadith, and in it, the option remains valid until entry into the market. And perhaps he does not enter it except after a year or more - and we will mention it with its chain of transmission after this, if Allah the Exalted wills. Thus, the invalidity of their statements was wholly exposed as baseless, being mere contradictory opinions they innovated without any basis or precedent from earlier scholars in this matter.

L22172 Ibn Abi Layla said: The stipulation of an option in a sale is permissible for both parties, or for one of them, or for a third party, and it is permissible for a distant or near term.

وَقَالَ ابْنُ أَبِي لَيْلَى: شَرْطُ الْخِيَارِ فِي الْبَيْعِ جَائِزٌ لَهُمَا، أَوْ لِأَحَدِهِمَا، أَوْ لِأَجْنَبِيٍّ، وَيَجُوزُ إلَى أَجَلٍ بَعِيدٍ أَوْ قَرِيبٍ.

L22173 Al-Layth said: The option is valid for three days or fewer.

وَقَالَ اللَّيْثُ: يَجُوزُ الْخِيَارُ إلَى ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ فَأَقَلَّ.

L22174 Al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayy said: It is permissible to stipulate an option in a sale. Even if both parties stipulate it indefinitely, it remains valid. I do not recognize any validity beyond the three [days] except for the buyer: if he sells what he purchased with the option, he has thereby approved it, and it becomes binding upon him. If the purchased item is a virgin slave girl and he has intercourse with her, he has accepted her, and she becomes binding upon him.

وَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ بْنُ حَيٍّ: يَجُوزُ شَرْطُ الْخِيَارِ فِي الْبَيْعِ، وَلَوْ شَرَطَاهُ أَبَدًا فَهُوَ كَذَلِكَ: لَا أَدْرِي مَا الثَّلَاثُ إلَّا الْمُشْتَرِي إنْ بَاعَ مَا اشْتَرَى بِخِيَارٍ فَقَدْ رَضِيَهُ وَلَزِمَهُ - وَإِنْ كَانَتْ جَارِيَةً بِكْرًا فَوَطِئَهَا فَقَدْ رَضِيَهَا وَلَزِمَتْهُ.

L22175 Ubaydullah ibn al-Hasan said: I disapprove of a lengthy option condition in a sale unless the buyer retains the stipulated option with the seller's consent.

وَقَالَ عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ: لَا يُعْجِبُنِي شَرْطُ الْخِيَارِ الطَّوِيلِ فِي الْبَيْعِ إِلَّا أَنَّ الْخِيَارَ لِلْمُشْتَرِي مَا رَضِيَ الْبَائِعُ.

L22176 Ibn Shubruma and Sufyan al-Thawri said: A sale is not permissible if the option to rescind is stipulated in favor of the seller or both parties. Sufyan said: The sale is void because of this. However, if the option to rescind is stipulated in favor of the buyer for ten days or more, it is permissible.

L22177 Narrations have been related to us regarding that matter from the predecessors, as has been transmitted to us through the chain of Waki'—Zakariyya, Ibn Abi Za'idah—from al-Sha'bi, who said: Umar purchased a horse with the stipulation that he would retain it if he approved it, otherwise no sale would be binding between them. Umar then had a man ride the horse, causing it to become injured. They appointed Shurayh as an arbitrator between them. Shurayh said to Umar: "Deliver what you purchased or return what you took." Umar responded: "You have judged with the bitter severity of truth."

وَرُوِّينَا فِي ذَلِكَ عَنْ الْمُتَقَدِّمِينَ آثَارًا كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ نا زَكَرِيَّا - هُوَ ابْنُ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ - عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ قَالَ: اشْتَرَى عُمَرُ فَرَسًا وَاشْتَرَطَ حَبْسَهُ إِنْ رَضِيَهُ وَإِلَّا فَلَا بَيْعَ بَيْنَهُمَا بَعْدُ، فَحَمَلَ عُمَرُ عَلَيْهِ رَجُلًا فَعَطِبَ الْفَرَسُ، فَجَعَلَا بَيْنَهُمَا شُرَيْحًا؟ فَقَالَ شُرَيْحٌ لِعُمَرَ: سَلِّمْ مَا ابْتَعْت أَوْ رُدَّ مَا أَخَذْت؟ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ: قَضَيْتَ بِمُرِّ الْحَقِّ.

L22178 It was narrated to us from Abd al-Razzaq from Sufyan al-Thawri from Amr ibn Dinar from Abd al-Rahman ibn Farrukh from his father, who said: Nafi ibn Abd al-Harith purchased from Safwan ibn Umayyah ibn Khalaf a house to be used as a prison for four thousand dirhams, stipulating: "If Umar approves, the sale is binding, and if he does not approve, Safwan receives four hundred dirhams." Umar then took the four hundred dirhams. Through the same chain to Sufyan al-Thawri from Abdullah ibn Dinar, who said: I heard Ibn Umar state: "I used to purchase contingent upon approval until Abdullah ibn Mutīʿ purchased a she-camel contingent upon approval. He remarked: 'A man may approve and then make a claim.' It was as though he awakened me, so thereafter he would purchase and say: 'Here, take it if you accept.'"

L22179–22180 From the path of ʿAbd al-Razzāq, who narrated to us from Ibn Jurayj, who informed me that Sulaymān ibn al-Barṣāʾ said: "I concluded a sale contract with Ibn ʿUmar, and he said to me: 'If our payment reaches us within three nights, the sale stands confirmed. But if our payment does not reach us by then, no sale exists between us and you, and the goods are yours.'" Abū Muḥammad said: We know of nothing from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—regarding option-based sales except this, and it entirely opposes the opinions of Abū Ḥanīfah, Mālik, and al-Shāfiʿī. These [transactions] are deemed invalid and annulled according to them. So where is their exaggerated emphasis on the Companion for whom no opponent is known? Indeed, even if an opponent is acknowledged.

اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - فِي بَيْعِ الْخِيَارِ شَيْئًا غَيْرَ هَذَا، وَهُوَ كُلُّهُ خِلَافٌ لِأَقْوَالِ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَهَذِهِ عِنْدَهُمْ بُيُوعٌ فَاسِدَةٌ مَفْسُوخَةٌ، فَأَيْنَ تَهْوِيلُهُمْ بِالصَّاحِبِ الَّذِي لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ؟ نَعَمْ، وَإِنْ عُرِفَ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ.

L22181 And where is their rejection of the established Sunnah that no sale is valid between either of the two parties until they separate or one grants the other an option after the sale, according to the narration of a shaykh belonging to Banū Kinānah from ʿUmar: "The sale is either a binding contract (ṣafqah) or an option (khiyār)"? There is no contradiction to the Sunnah in this, even if [the narration] were valid. Rather, authentic reports from ʿUmar and other Companions confirm alignment with the Sunnah in this matter, permitting the cancellation of the sale before granting the option or separation.

L22182 Then, it became trivial here for them to differ with the practice of Umar ibn al-Khattab, Nafiʿ ibn al-Harith, and Safwan ibn Umayyah—all being Companions—the well-known practice that could not possibly have remained concealed in the presence of the Companions in Medina and Mecca. No opponent to their position is known in that matter, nor any denier from among those who fundamentally permit sales with an option clause—by the soundest method and most established [precedent] in the most famous incident: the purchase of a house to serve as a prison in Mecca, where no house had existed for a prison there at all prior to that.

L22183 Then Ibn ʿUmar and Ibn Muṭīʿ—both being partners—engaged in buying as is evident with the option, if they entered into [the transaction] without a specified time limit. Likewise, ʿUmar before that, Ṣafwān, and Nāfiʿ conducted transactions by mutual consent without a specified time limit, with no known opposition from those who permit sales conditional on an option. So be astonished at the statements of these people? As for the Successors: It has been narrated to us via the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq—who narrated from Maʿmar—from Ibn Ṭāwūs—from his father—regarding a man who buys a commodity by mutual consent. He said: "The option belongs to both of them until they part ways with mutual consent."

وَبِهِ إِلَى مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ إِذَا بِعْت شَيْئًا عَلَى الرِّضَا فَلَا تَخْلِطْ الْوَرِقَ بِغَيْرِهَا حَتَّى تَنْظُرَ أَيَأْخُذُ أَمْ يَرُدُّ.

L22184 And through him to Maʿmar, from Ayyub, from Ibn Sirin: If you sell something with consent, do not mix silver coins with other items until you verify whether it will be accepted or rejected.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا هُشَيْمٌ نا يُونُسُ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ قَالَ: إذَا أَخَذَ الرَّجُلُ مِنْ الرَّجُلِ الْبَيْعَ عَلَى أَنَّهُ فِيهِ بِالْخِيَارِ فَهَلَكَ مِنْهُ؟ فَإِنْ كَانَ سَمَّى الثَّمَنَ فَهُوَ لَهُ ضَامِنٌ، وَإِنْ لَمْ يُسَمِّهِ فَهُوَ أَمِينٌ وَلَا ضَمَانَ عَلَيْهِ.

L22185–22187 Through the route of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym informed us: Yunus informed us, from al-Ḥasan, who said: When a man takes... If a seller makes a sale stipulating that he retains the option in the transaction, and the item perishes while in his possession, then if he specified the price, he is liable for it. But if he did not specify the price, he is deemed a trustee and bears no liability.

وَعَنْ شُرَيْحٍ مَا ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلُ مَا نَعْلَمُ فِي هَذَا عَنْ أَحَدٍ مِنْ التَّابِعِينَ غَيْرَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا، وَكُلُّهُ مُخَالِفٌ لِقَوْلِ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ ذِكْرُ مُدَّةٍ أَصْلًا.

L22188 From Shurayh is what we mentioned earlier. We are unaware of anything known in this regard from the Followers other than what we have mentioned. All of it contradicts the opinions of Abū Ḥanīfah, Mālik, and al-Shāfiʿī, for none of it mentions a specific timeframe at all.

L22189 And in the statement of Al-Ḥasan: the validity of that without mentioning a price.

L22190 In the statement of Ibn Sīrīn: the permissibility of cash in it, without specifying whether with a condition or without a condition. As for the statement of Ṭāwūs, it aligns with our view because he decisively ruled that in every sale containing an option condition, the option must apply to both the seller and buyer until they agree. Thus, it becomes clear that this is not considered a sale at all in his view, but rather remains in its original legal status as before - and this is our position. Therefore, it is conclusively established that the opinions of those we mentioned contradict everything narrated on this matter from any Companion or Follower, and that they have no precedent from the early scholars (Salaf) in this matter. The distinction made by Sufyān and Ibn Shubrumah regarding whether the option belongs to the seller or both parties - they did not validate this distinction. As for when the option is exclusively for the buyer alone, Sufyān permitted this, but this differentiation lacks any basis, for no Quranic verse, Sunnah, weak narration, prior opinion, analogy, or rationally sound view distinguishes between these cases. The only possibilities are either the validity of all such transactions or the invalidity of all such transactions. We have received reports about the invalidity of such transactions from a group of the early scholars (Salaf).

L22191 It has been narrated to us via Abd al-Razzaq - who narrated to us from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Asim ibn Ubayd Allah, from al-Qasim ibn Muhammad ibn Abi Bakr al-Siddiq - that Aisha, the Mother of the Believers, disliked that an enslaved woman be sold with a stipulated condition.

L22192 From Abd al-Razzaq, who narrated to us: Ma'mar reported from al-Zuhri from Ubayd Allah ibn Abd Allah ibn Utbah ibn Mas'ud, who said: Ibn Mas'ud sought to purchase a female slave from his wife to take as a concubine. She said, "I will not sell her to you unless I stipulate that if my soul later desires her, I retain prior claim to the price." Ibn Mas'ud responded, "I must consult Umar first." When he asked him, Umar said, "Do not approach her while any stipulation favoring another party remains attached to her."

From Abd al-Razzaq's transmission: Ma'mar reported from Amr ibn Muslim, who said: I asked Ikrimah, the freedman of Ibn Abbas, about a man who took a garment from another, declaring, "I will take it with me; if it satisfies me, I will keep it." The taker then sold it before returning it to the garment's owner. Ikrimah ruled, "It is not permissible for him to retain the profit."

L22193–22194 And via the narration of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Ibn Jurayj, who said: ʿAṭāʾ stated, "Any sale that includes a stipulated condition is invalid." Ṭāwūs upheld the same ruling as we mentioned earlier.

L22195 Abu Muhammad said: All of this is, in the view of every person of sound judgment, clearer in invalidating sales contingent on options than their claim that Umar opposed the Sunnah in stating that no sale is binding between two parties until they separate - unsupported by any authentic report from him regarding his statement: "The sale is based on an agreement or an option." Similarly, their analogous claim concerning Ibn Umar regarding his statement: "If you find the transaction intact and in their original state, the responsibility lies with the seller," contains no indication of contradicting the aforementioned Sunnah. Rather, authentic reports from both of them indicate their compliance with the Sunnah in that matter.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا كُلُّهُ عِنْدَ كُلِّ ذِي حِسٍّ سَلِيمٍ أَوْضَحُ فِي إبْطَالِ الْبَيْعِ بِشَرْطِ الْخِيَارِ مِنْ دَعْوَاهُمْ أَنَّ عُمَرَ مُخَالِفٌ لِلسُّنَّةِ فِي أَنْ لَا بَيْعَ بَيْنَ الْمُتَبَايِعَيْنِ حَتَّى يَتَفَرَّقَا بِمَا لَمْ يَصِحَّ عَنْهُ مِنْ قَوْلِهِ: الْبَيْعُ عَنْ صَفْقَةٍ أَوْ خِيَارٍ، وَمِنْ دَعْوَاهُمْ مِثْلُ ذَلِكَ عَلَى ابْنِ عُمَرَ فِي قَوْلِهِ: مَا أَدْرَكْت الصَّفْقَةَ حَيًّا مَجْمُوعًا فَمِنْ الْبَائِعِ، وَلَيْسَ فِي هَذَا إشَارَةٌ إلَى خِلَافِ السُّنَّةِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ، بَلْ قَدْ صَحَّ عَنْهُمَا مُوَافَقَةُ السُّنَّةِ فِي ذَلِكَ.

L22196 Ali said: If the reports from the Companions and Followers concerning this matter constitute a consensus, then they have contradicted it, thereby opposing the consensus as they themselves have acknowledged. But if it is not a consensus, then there is no valid argument for an opinion not supported by a scriptural text or consensus.

فَإِنْ احْتَجُّوا فِي إبَاحَةِ بَيْعِ الْخِيَارِ بِمَا رُوِيَ «: الْمُسْلِمُونَ عِنْدَ شُرُوطِهِمْ» فَهَذَا لَا يَصِحُّ لِأَنَّهُ عَنْ كَثِيرِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ وَهُوَ مُطَّرَحٌ بِاتِّفَاقٍ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ الِاحْتِجَاجُ بِمَا رَوَى.

L22197 If they argue for the permissibility of sales involving options by citing the narration "Muslims are bound by their stipulations," this is invalid because it is transmitted from Kathīr ibn Zayd - who is unanimously deemed a discarded narrator - and it is impermissible to rely on his transmissions as proof.

L22198 And from another chain via a fabricator, from an unknown narrator, from an unknown narrator in a mursal chain, along with that and a mursal report from 'Aṭā'. Even if such reports were authenticated, they would have no basis for reliance whatsoever, for the conditions of Muslims are not every stipulation they formulated. Were that the case, it would necessitate the condition of adultery and theft, while they have invalidated over a thousand stipulations others deemed permissible. The conditions of Muslims are solely those explicitly permitted by the Quran and Sunnah through explicit text alone. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said, "Every condition not found in Allah's Book is void."[5]

L22199 Ali said: If those who permit the sale with the option argue using what we have mentioned from the statement of Allah's Messenger - peace and blessings be upon him - "No sale is concluded between two parties until they separate except the option sale," then this contains no proof for them. For Ayyub reported from Nafi', who reported from Ibn Umar, that he clarified what that option actually is: namely, that it is when one of them says to the other, "Choose."[6]

L22200 Al-Layth also explained it with a similar narration via Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar.

[6] Hadith references (L22199): Sahih al-Bukhari 2113; Sunan an-Nasai 4475; Sunan an-Nasai 4477.

وَأَوْضَحَهُ إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنَّهُ قَالَ: «الْمُتَبَايِعَانِ بِالْخِيَارِ مَا لَمْ يَتَفَرَّقَا إِلَّا أَنْ يَكُونَ الْبَيْعُ عَنْ خِيَارٍ، فَإِنْ كَانَ الْبَيْعُ عَنْ خِيَارٍ فَقَدْ وَجَبَ الْبَيْعُ» .

L22201 Ismail ibn Ja'far narrated from Nafi' from Ibn 'Umar that the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "The two parties in a sale retain the option as long as they have not separated, unless the sale is based on a stipulated option. If the sale is based on a stipulated option, the sale becomes binding."

فَصَحَّ ضَرُورَةً أَنَّ هَذَا الْخِيَارَ إنَّمَا هُوَ التَّخْيِيرُ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا لِلْآخَرِ فَقَطْ.

L22202 Thus, it is valid by necessity that this contractual option constitutes solely the right to choose granted exclusively by one party to the other.

L22203–22204 They also mentioned the report of al-Muṣarrāh, and we will mention it in this book with its chain of transmission, Allah the Exalted willing. "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—granted the discoverer of the defect an option of three days: if satisfied, they may keep it; if dissatisfied, they should return it and return along with it a ṣā' of dates."

وَخَبَرَ «مُنْقِذٍ إذْ أَمَرَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِأَنْ يَقُولَ إذَا بَاعَ أَوْ ابْتَاعَ: لَا خِلَابَةَ، ثُمَّ جَعَلَ لَهُ الْخِيَارَ ثَلَاثًا» ، وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ فِي " كِتَابِ الْحَجْرِ " مِنْ دِيوَانِنَا هَذَا.

L22205 And the report of Munqidh when the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—commanded him to say when selling or purchasing: "No deception," then granted him the option for three [days]. We have mentioned this in "The Book of Legal Incapacity" within this compilation of ours.

وَخَبَرَ تَلَقِّي السِّلَعِ وَالنَّهْيِ عَنْهُ، وَأَنَّهُ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - جَعَلَ لِلْبَائِعِ الْخِيَارَ إذَا دَخَلَ السُّوقَ، وَبِالْخِيَارِ فِي رَدِّ الْبَيْعِ يُوجَدُ فِيهِ الْعَيْبُ.

L22206 And the report concerning receiving goods before they reach the market and the prohibition thereof, and that the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—granted the seller the option to annul the sale if he enters the market after being intercepted, with the option to revoke the sale existing if a defect is found in the goods.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَكُلُّ هَذَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ، وَاحْتِجَاجُهُمْ بِهِ فِي إبَاحَةِ بَيْعِ الْخِيَارِ إثْمٌ وَعَارٌ، لِأَنَّ خَبَرَ الْمُصَرَّاةِ إنَّمَا فِيهِ الْخِيَارُ لِلْمُشْتَرِي - أَحَبَّ الْبَائِعُ أَمْ كَرِهَ - لَا بِرِضًا مِنْهُ أَصْلًا وَلَا بِأَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ فِي حَالِ عَقْدِ الْبَيْعِ فَكَيْفَ يَسْتَجِيزُ ذُو فَهْمٍ أَنْ يَحْتَجَّ بِهَذَا الْخِيَارِ فِي إبَاحَةِ بَيْعٍ يَتَّفِقُ فِيهِ الْبَائِعُ وَالْمُشْتَرِي عَلَى الرِّضَا بِشَرْطِ خِيَارٍ لِأَحَدِهِمَا أَوْ لِكِلَيْهِمَا أَوْ لِغَيْرِهِمَا؟ وَأَمَّا خَبَرُ مُنْقِذٍ فَكَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا، لِأَنَّهُ إنَّمَا هُوَ خِيَارٌ يَجِبُ لِمَنْ قَالَ عِنْدَ التَّبَايُعِ: لَا خِلَابَةَ، بَائِعًا كَانَ أَوْ مُشْتَرِيًا سَوَاءٌ رَضِيَ بِذَلِكَ مُعَامَلَةً أَوْ لَمْ يَرْضَ

L22207 Abu Muhammad said: All of this provides no valid evidence for them in any matter. Their reliance on it to justify permitting conditional sales stipulating khiyar constitutes a moral transgression and reproach. For the narration regarding the withheld milk (al-muṣarrāh) merely establishes the buyer's right to annul the transaction—whether the seller consents or objects—without requiring the seller's initial approval or any stipulation during the contract's formation. How could any discerning person deem it permissible to cite this type of khiyar as evidence for validating sales where both parties mutually agree, through their consent, to stipulate an option for one party, both parties, or third parties? As for Munqidh's narration, it similarly establishes khiyar only for whoever declares at the moment of concluding the sale contract: "No deception"—whether acting as seller or buyer—regardless of the counterparty's acceptance. The party granted this right did not stipulate it during the contract's actual formation. What resemblance exists between these two rulings and a khiyar that both parties voluntarily stipulate for themselves or others, particularly when none of them actually uphold this narration? Regarding the narration about intercepting goods before market arrival, it likewise establishes khiyar solely for the seller—whether the buyer accepts or rejects—without either party having stipulated it in the contract.

لَمْ يَشْتَرِطْهُ الَّذِي جَعَلَ لَهُ فِي نَفْسِ الْعَقْدِ، فَأَيُّ شَبَهٍ بَيْنَ هَذَيْنِ الْحُكْمَيْنِ وَبَيْنَ خِيَارٍ يَتَّفِقَانِ بِرِضَاهُمَا عَلَى اشْتِرَاطِهِ لِأَحَدِهِمَا أَوْ لِغَيْرِهِمَا، وَكُلُّهُمْ لَا يَقُولُ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ أَصْلًا؟ وَأَمَّا خَبَرُ تَلَقِّي السِّلَعِ فَكَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا إِنَّمَا هُوَ خِيَارٌ جُعِلَ لِلْبَائِعِ - أَحَبَّ الْمُشْتَرِي أَمْ كَرِهَ - لَمْ يَشْتَرِطَاهُ فِي الْعَقْدِ -.

L22208 It is also a contractual option with no fixed duration, and none of them permit this at all.

فَأَيُّ عَجَبٍ يَفُوقُ قَوْلَ قَوْمٍ يُبْطِلُونَ الْأَصْلَ وَلَا يُجِيزُونَ الْقَوْلَ بِهِ، وَيُصَحِّحُونَ الْقِيَاسَ عَلَيْهِ فِي مَا لَا يُشْبِهُهُ وَيُخَالِفُونَ السُّنَنَ فِيمَا جَاءَتْ فِيهِ، ثُمَّ يَحْتَجُّونَ بِهَا فِيمَا لَيْسَ فِيهَا مِنْهُ أَثَرٌ وَلَا دَلِيلٌ وَلَا مَعْنًى؟ فَخَالَفُوا الْحَقَائِقَ جُمْلَةً وَنَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى عَلَى مَا مَنَّ بِهِ مِنَ التَّوْفِيقِ.

L22209 What could be more astonishing than the claim of people who nullify the foundational principle while forbidding speech based on it, yet validate analogy rooted in it for matters bearing no resemblance to it—who oppose the Sunnah in matters it addresses, then cite it as evidence in cases where no trace, proof, or meaning from it (the Sunnah) exists? Thus they wholly contradict the truths, and we praise Allah the Exalted for the success He has bestowed through His favor.

L22210–22211 If they argue: Given that in these reports, one grants the option to the seller, another to the buyer, and the third to the individual—whether seller or buyer—while in preemption the option is assigned to someone other than the seller and buyer without any such condition in the contract, and without considering the consent of the other, the seller, or the buyer—then if they stipulate it by mutual consent for one of them, for both, or for another, would it not be more justified to deem it permissible? We respond: This is a ruling of Satan, not the ruling ordained by Allah Almighty. This constitutes transgressing the boundaries set by Allah the Exalted, as He stated: "Whoever transgresses Allah's boundaries has certainly wronged themselves" (65:1). This is a mere assertion of yours with no evidence to support it. Rather, evidence affirms its invalidity through the words of the Exalted: "They invented religious laws not authorized by Him" (42:21).[7]

L22212 Neither you nor anyone else knows from where you derived this claim of yours. Even if analogical reasoning (qiyas) were valid, this would be the very essence of falsehood from it, for according to those who uphold it, the comparison of the analogized case (farʿ) cannot be valid unless the original case (aṣl) is valid. Yet none of you validates the ruling of any of these narrations except the case of withheld milk (al-muṣarra) and pre-emption (al-shufʿa) alone. How then do you deem it permissible to rule by a judgment merely because it resembles a judgment that is impermissible to act upon? Has anything more foolish than this action ever been heard of? Those among you who validate the ruling of al-muṣarra do not disagree that it is permissible to analogize based on the returning of a ṣāʿ of dates along with the item the returner chooses to return. So how did you permit analogical reasoning based on some elements of that narration while prohibiting it based on others? Does this not perplex the minds of the rational? Similarly, pre-emption (al-shufʿa) in your view applies only to a partner or a neighbor in the sale of jointly owned real estate specifically. How then did it occur to you, O you people, to prohibit analogical reasoning in cases where jointly owned non-real estate is sold, also to the partner?

L22213 If there had ever existed a valid analogy throughout time, this would be the most evident and sound analogy, given their equivalence in legal cause and resemblance according to every observer. Yet you analogize matters fundamentally dissimilar to it—such as stipulating an option for the seller, buyer, both, or a third party—a ruling wholly opposed to the former. For that [case] applies to a partner while this [applies] to a non-partner; that pertains to jointly held property and this to non-jointly held property; that is stipulated while this is not stipulated; that [applies] without time restriction and this [applies] within a specified period. What is this confusion and arbitrariness?

L22214–22215 As for the option to return the sold item, the ruling concerning it is exactly the same as the ruling on the right of preemption, in that there is no similarity whatsoever between it and stipulating a contractual option in the sale in any respect, due to what we previously stated. Thus, the invalidity of their argument as a whole based on narrations and analogy becomes evident.

وَأَمَّا الْخِيَارُ فِي رَدِّ الْمَبِيعِ فَالْقَوْلُ فِيهِ كَالْقَوْلِ فِي خِيَارِ الشُّفْعَةِ سَوَاءً سَوَاءً، مِنْ أَنَّهُ لَا شَبَهَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ اشْتِرَاطِ الْخِيَارِ فِي الْبَيْعِ بِوَجْهٍ مِنْ الْوُجُوهِ لِمَا قُلْنَا آنِفًا، فَظَهَرَ فَسَادُ احْتِجَاجِهِمْ جُمْلَةً بِالْأَخْبَارِ، وَبِالْقِيَاسِ -.

L22216 And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

L22217 And what statement is more corrupt than that of one who nullifies the obligatory option which Allah the Exalted has ordained through His Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) for both parties to a sale before they separate with their bodies, and before either of them offers the other the choice, so that he may choose to confirm or reject. The obligatory option belongs to whoever declares during the sale: "No fraud [is intended]."

وَالْخِيَارُ لِمَنْ بَاعَ سِلْعَتَهُ مِمَّنْ تَلَقَّاهَا إذَا دَخَلَ السُّوقَ.

L22218 The option belongs to the seller against the buyer who received the goods once the buyer enters the marketplace.

وَالْخِيَارُ الْوَاجِبُ لِمَنْ ابْتَاعَ مُصَرَّاةً.

L22219 The obligatory option is granted to one who purchases a muṣarra'ah.

وَالْخِيَارُ الْوَاجِبُ لِمَنْ بَاعَ شِرْكًا مِنْ مَالٍ هُوَ فِيهِ شَرِيكٌ ثُمَّ أَوْجَبَ خِيَارًا لَمْ يُوجِبْهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى قَطُّ وَلَا رَسُولُهُ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L22220 The obligatory option applies to one who sells a share from a property in which he is a partner and then imposes an option that Allah, Exalted is He, and His Messenger (peace be upon him) have never legislated.

L22221 Among the proofs for the invalidity of every sale stipulating an option for the seller, the buyer, both of them, or others besides them is the statement of Allah's Messenger - peace and blessings be upon him: «What is the matter with people who stipulate conditions not found in Allah's Book? Whoever stipulates a condition absent from Allah's Book, it is invalid even if he stipulates it a hundred times. Even if there are a hundred conditions, every condition absent from Allah's Book remains invalid. Allah's Book holds greater authority, and Allah's condition is more binding.»

L22222 The stipulation of the mentioned option (khiyar) was a condition not found in the Book of Allah the Exalted nor in anything from the Sunnah of Allah's Messenger (PBUH). Had it been present in the Sunnah, it would have been in the Book of Allah the Exalted, because Allah the Exalted commanded in His Book to obey His Messenger (PBUH). Therefore, it is certainly obligatory to nullify this mentioned condition. Since it is invalid, any contract whose validity depends on the validity of what is inherently invalid undoubtedly possesses no validity. Consequently, the sale contract established upon the condition of khiyar must be nullified as we have mentioned. Allah the Exalted said: {Indeed, Allah does not rectify the deeds of those who spread corruption} [Yūnus: 81].[8]

بِلَا شَكٍّ، فَوَجَبَ بُطْلَانُ الْبَيْعِ الَّذِي عُقِدَ عَلَى شَرْطِ خِيَارٍ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا، قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {إِنَّ اللَّهَ لا يُصْلِحُ عَمَلَ الْمُفْسِدِينَ} [يونس: ٨١] .

L22223–22225 Abū Muḥammad said: Our covenant with them is that they take pride in following the Messenger and that it is like the Musnad. It has been narrated to us through the chain of Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah, from Ismāʿīl ibn ʿUlayyah, from Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī, from Abū Qilābah, who said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) stated, "No two parties to a sale may separate except by mutual consent." This is among the finest juridical correspondence, so where do they stand regarding it? It contains the prohibition against retaining the option after the parties have parted. We ask them about the sale with an option: has the seller's ownership ceased over it, and has the buyer acquired ownership, or not, when the option is stipulated for the seller or both parties? If they say no, this is our position, and it is established that there is no sale at all in such a case, for a sale entails the transfer of the seller's ownership and the establishment of the buyer's ownership.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَعَهْدُنَا بِهِمْ يَفْتَخِرُونَ بِاتِّبَاعِ الْمُرْسَلِ وَأَنَّهُ كَالْمُسْنَدِ -: وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا إِسْمَاعِيلُ ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي قِلَابَةَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «لَا يَتَفَرَّقُ بَيِّعَانِ إِلَّا عَنْ تَرَاضٍ» وَهَذَا مِنْ أَحْسَنِ الْمُرَاسِلِ، فَأَيْنَ هُمْ عَنْهُ؟ وَفِيهِ النَّهْيُ عَنْ بَقَاءٍ عَنْ الْخِيَارِ بَعْدَ التَّفَرُّقِ؟ وَنَسْأَلُهُمْ عَنْ بَيْعِ الْخِيَارِ هَلْ زَالَ مِلْكُ بَائِعِهِ عَنْهُ وَمَلَكَهُ الْمُشْتَرِي لَهُ أَمْ لَا، إذَا اُشْتُرِطَ الْخِيَارَ لِلْبَائِعِ أَوْ لَهُمَا؟ فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَا، فَهُوَ قَوْلُنَا وَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ لَا بَيْعَ هُنَالِكَ أَصْلًا؛ لِأَنَّ الْبَيْعَ نَقْلُ مِلْكِ الْبَائِعِ وَإِيقَاعُ مِلْكِ الْمُشْتَرِي.

L22226 And if they say: Yes, we say: Then the option has no meaning, nor is it valid for something whose ownership has been validly established for him. Their statements, however, indicate the contrary of this.

وَإِنْ قَالُوا: نَعَمْ، قُلْنَا: فَالْخِيَارُ لَا مَعْنَى لَهُ، وَلَا يَصِحُّ فِي شَيْءٍ قَدْ صَحَّ مِلْكُهُ عَلَيْهِ - وَأَقْوَالُهُمْ تَدُلُّ عَلَى خِلَافِ هَذَا.

L22227 If they say, "The seller has sold, but the buyer has not yet purchased?" We reply: This is muddled reasoning and void, self-evident; for a sale cannot occur unless there is a seller, a buyer, and a transfer of ownership.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا قَدْ بَاعَ الْبَائِعُ وَلَمْ يَشْتَرِ الْمُشْتَرِي بَعْدُ؟ قُلْنَا: هَذَا تَخْلِيطٌ وَبَاطِلٌ لَا خَفَاءَ بِهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَكُونُ بَيْعٌ إلَّا وَهُنَالِكَ بَائِعٌ وَمُبْتَاعٌ وَانْتِقَالُ مِلْكٍ.

L22228 And likewise, if the option is granted solely to the seller, it is impossible for the sale to be binding on the buyer without also being binding on the seller.

وَهَكَذَا إنْ كَانَ الْخِيَارُ لِلْبَائِعِ فَقَطْ، فَمِنْ الْمُحَالِ أَنْ يَنْعَقِدَ بَيْعٌ عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي وَلَمْ يَنْعَقِدْ ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعُ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ.

L22229 If the right of rescission is for both parties or a third party, this sale has not been concluded - neither for the seller nor for the buyer - thus it is invalid.

فَإِنْ كَانَ الْخِيَارُ لَهُمَا أَوْ لِأَجْنَبِيٍّ: فَهَذَا بَيْعٌ لَمْ يَنْعَقِدْ لَا عَلَى الْبَائِعِ وَلَا عَلَى الْمُبْتَاعِ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ - وَالْقَوْمُ أَصْحَابُ قِيَاسٍ بِزَعْمِهِمْ.

[8] Qur'an references (L22222): Qur'an 10:81 (Yunus).

This is the position asserted by the proponents of analogy according to their claim.

L22230 They have unanimously agreed that a marriage contract stipulating an option is invalid. Why then did they not apply this analogy to sales and other transactions where they permit options—just as they used this very analogy to oppose the Sunnah when invalidating options after the sale but before the parties separate? Thus, they neither adhered to textual sources nor consistently applied analogy. The proofs invalidating sales with options are numerous, and their contradictions regarding it are manifold. Their statements on the matter are merely unsubstantiated claims—divergent and mutually conflicting—as we previously mentioned. And with Allah the Exalted lies all success.

L22231 Issue: If a valid and perfected sale occurs, and the object of sale perishes immediately after its completion.

L22232 Issue 1422: In every valid and completed sale, if the sold item perishes after the sale is finalized, the loss is borne by the buyer, and the buyer has no recourse against the seller.

L22233–22235 Similarly, every instance involving a sale or defect applies equally in all such cases, whether the sold item is absent or... If the item is present, or if the sold item was a male or female slave who became insane, developed leukoderma, or leprosy after the conclusion of the sale and thereafter, or if it was fruit that had ripened for sale, then all, most, or the lesser part of it was blighted—all such losses are borne by the buyer, and he has no legal recourse whatsoever against the seller. This is the opinion of Abī Sulaymān, al-Shāfiʿī, and their followers.

L22236 Abū Ḥanīfah said: The seller is obligated to deliver what he sold. If it perishes before delivery, its loss falls upon the seller. Mālik agreed with our opinion except specifically regarding slaves and crops. He said: Any harm that befalls a slave within three days after the sale of the principal item — such as fleeing, a defect, death, or other occurrences — is the seller's liability. Once this period ends, the seller is absolved except in cases of insanity, leprosy, or [مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعٍ صَحَّ وَتَمَّ فَهَلَكَ الْمَبِيعُ إثْرَ تَمَامِ الْبَيْعِ]

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: عَلَى الْبَائِعِ تَسْلِيمُ مَا بَاعَ، فَإِنْ هَلَكَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُسَلِّمَهُ فَمُصِيبَتُهُ مِنْ الْبَائِعِ - وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ بِقَوْلِنَا، إلَّا فِي الرَّقِيقِ وَالثِّمَارِ خَاصَّةً، فَإِنَّهُ قَالَ: مَا أَصَابَ الرَّقِيقَ فِي ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ بَعْدَ بَيْعِ الرَّأْسِ مِنْ إبَاقٍ، أَوْ عَيْبٍ، أَوْ مَوْتٍ، أَوْ غَيْرِ ذَلِكَ، فَمِنْ مُصِيبَةِ الْبَائِعِ، فَإِذَا انْقَضَتْ بَرِئَ الْبَائِعُ، إلَّا مِنْ الْجُنُونِ، وَالْجُذَامِ، وَالْبَرَصِ: فَإِنَّ هَذِهِ الْأَدْوَاءَ

vitiligo. If any of these three ailments afflict the sold principal item before a full year has passed since the time of purchase, the buyer has the right to return him for that reason.

L22237 He said: Such rulings are only to be adjudicated in regions where the custom of their people has been established to rule based on such practices. As for regions where their people's custom has not been established in this regard, no ruling is imposed upon them in that matter.

L22238 He said: Whoever sells with exemption, the ruling of liability is voided concerning him. The authority completely nullifies it when selling to a creditor or from an orphan's property. He permits cash payment in a one-year liability but does not permit it in a three-year liability.

L22239 As for fruits, whoever sells a fruit after it becomes permissible to sell the fruit and standing crops, then if a third or more of it is lost, the buyer may seek recourse from the seller. If less than a third is lost—whether little or much—it is a loss borne by the buyer, and he has no recourse against the seller.

L22240 He said: If it is vegetables and damage affects them—whether slight or extensive—the buyer can seek recourse from the seller for it. He differed in his statements regarding bananas: sometimes saying they are considered equivalent to fruits in accounting for one-third, and sometimes saying they are considered equivalent to vegetables in allowing recourse for minor or major damage.

L22241 And on one occasion he said: One may not rescind due to a catastrophic loss that befell all, most, or less of it.

L22242 Abu Muhammad said: As for the obligation to transfer possession, we know the Hanafis have no evidence whatsoever for this—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor a Companion's opinion, nor analogy, nor sound opinion. The seller is only required not to prevent the buyer from taking possession of what was sold. If he does so, he becomes sinful and is only liable in the manner of usurpation. It is unlawful to impose any ruling not established by the Quran or the Sunnah. Allah the Exalted L22243–22244 As for Mālik’s statement concerning enslaved persons: his followers cite as evidence the narration we transmitted via the chain narrated by Abū Dāwūd—reported by Muslim ibn Ibrāhīm, reported by Abān (who is Ibn Yazīd al-ʻAṭṭār), reported by Qatādah, reported by al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, reported by ʻUqbah ibn ʻĀmir al-Juhanī—that the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, said: “The defect warranty period for enslaved persons is three days.”

L22245 From the transmission of Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, reported to us by Abdah and Muhammad ibn Bishr from Saʿid ibn Abi ʿArubah from Qatadah from al-Hasan from Samurah ibn Jundub, who said: The Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him, said, “The liability period for an enslaved person is three days.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا عَبْدَةُ، وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ بِشْرٍ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ أَبِي عَرُوبَةَ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ عَنْ سَمُرَةَ بْنِ جُنْدُبٍ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «عُهْدَةُ الرَّقِيقِ ثَلَاثٌ» .

L22246 They said: He ruled with the three-day liability period due to the quartan fever; because it does not manifest in less than three days.

وَقَالُوا: إنَّمَا قَضَى بِعُهْدَةِ الثَّلَاثِ لِأَجْلِ حُمَّى الرِّبْعِ، لِأَنَّهَا لَا تَظْهَرُ فِي أَقَلَّ مِنْ ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ.

L22247 They mentioned what we have narrated through Malik’s transmission from Abdullah ibn Abi Bakr ibn Muhammad ibn Amr ibn Hazm, that he heard Aban ibn Uthman ibn Affan and Hisham ibn Isma‘il ibn Hisham mention in their two khutbahs the three-day warranty period for slaves from the time one purchases a male slave or female slave, and the one-year warranty period, and that the two of them command this.

وَذَكَرُوا مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ حَزْمٍ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ أَبَانَ بْنَ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ عَفَّانَ، وَهِشَامَ بْنَ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ هِشَامٍ يَذْكُرَانِ فِي خُطْبَتِهِمَا عُهْدَةَ الرَّقِيقِ فِي الْأَيَّامِ الثَّلَاثَةِ مِنْ حِينِ يَشْتَرِي الْعَبْدَ أَوْ الْوَلِيدَةَ وَعُهْدَةَ السَّنَةِ، وَيَأْمُرَانِ بِذَلِكَ.

L22248 And via the transmission chain of Ibn Wahb from Abd al-Rahman ibn Abi al-Zinad from his father, who said: Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz ruled regarding a slave who was purchased and died within three days, placing the liability upon the seller.

[9] Qur’an references (L22242): Qur’an 42:21 (Ash-Shuraa).

قَالَ ابْنُ وَهْبٍ: وَحَدَّثَنِي يُونُسُ عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ، قَالَ: الْقُضَاةُ مُنْذُ أَدْرَكْنَا يَقْضُونَ فِي الْجُنُونِ وَالْجُذَامِ، وَالْبَرَصِ: سَنَةً.

L22249 Ibn Wahb said: Yunus narrated to me from Ibn Shihab, who said: "Jurists, since we have known, have ruled in cases of insanity, leprosy, and vitiligo: a waiting period of one year."

قَالَ ابْنُ شِهَابٍ: وَسَمِعْت سَعِيدَ بْنَ الْمُسَيِّبِ يَقُولُ: الْعِدَّةُ مِنْ كُلِّ دَاءٍ عُضَالٍ نَحْوَ الْجُنُونِ، وَالْجُذَامِ، وَالْبَرَصِ: سَنَةٌ.

L22250 Ibn Shihab said: I heard Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib say: The prescribed waiting period [for rulings related to] chronic diseases such as insanity, leprosy, and vitiligo is one year.

قَالَ ابْنُ وَهْبٍ: وَأَخْبَرَنِي ابْنُ سَمْعَانَ، قَالَ: سَمِعْت رِجَالًا مِنْ عُلَمَائِنَا مِنْهُمْ يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيُّ يَقُولُونَ: لَمْ تَزَلْ الْوُلَاةُ بِالْمَدِينَةِ فِي الزَّمَانِ الْأَوَّلِ يَقْضُونَ فِي الرَّقِيقِ بِعُهْدَةِ السَّنَةِ مِنْ الْجُنُونِ وَالْجُذَامِ، وَالْبَرَصِ إنْ ظَهَرَ بِالْمَمْلُوكِ شَيْءٌ فِي ذَلِكَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَحُولَ الْحَوْلُ عَلَيْهِ فَهُوَ رَدٌّ إلَى الْبَائِعِ، وَيَقْضُونَ فِي عُهْدَةِ الرَّقِيقِ بِثَلَاثِ لَيَالٍ فَإِنْ حَدَثَ فِي الرَّأْسِ فِي تِلْكَ الثَّلَاثِ حَدَثٌ - مِنْ مَوْتٍ أَوْ سَقَمٍ - فَهُوَ مِنْ الْأَوَّلِ، وَإِنَّمَا كَانَتْ عُهْدَةُ الثَّلَاثِ مِنْ الرُّبْعِ، وَلَا يَسْتَبِينُ الرُّبْعُ إلَّا فِي ثَلَاثِ لَيَالٍ.

L22251–22253 Ibn Wahb said: Ibn Sam'ān informed me, saying: I heard men from our scholars—among them Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī—they were saying: The rulers in Medina never ceased during the earlier period to adjudicate cases involving slaves under a one-year warranty that covered insanity, leprosy, and vitiligo. If any such condition manifested in the slave before... If a full year passes over it, it must be returned to the seller. They rule that the warranty period for slaves comprises three nights. If an incident occurs at the beginning of those three nights—whether death or illness—it is attributed to the original owner. The three-night warranty is derived from the quarter (three months), and the three-month period is not discernible except within three nights.

L22254 This is all they have objected to, and we know of nothing they have in that regard besides what we have presented. None of it provides any valid proof for them in any part of it. As for the two ḥadīths, they are discarded because Ḥasan never heard anything from 'Uqbah ibn 'Āmir whatsoever, nor did he hear from Samurah except the 'Aqabah ḥadīth, rendering both chains disconnected. There is no valid proof in a disconnected chain.

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَاهُمَا بِغَيْرِ اللَّفْظِ، لَكِنْ كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي مَسْلَمَةُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ عَمَّنْ حَدَّثَهُ عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ الْجُهَنِيِّ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «عُهْدَةُ الرَّقِيقِ أَرْبَعَةُ أَيَّامٍ وَثَلَاثَةٌ» .

L22255 We have transmitted both of them without the exact wording, but as we have transmitted it through the chain of Ibn Wahb: Maslamah ibn Ali informed me from someone who narrated to him from Uqbah ibn Amir al-Juhani, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said, "The warranty period for a slave is four days and three."

L22256 From the chain of Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh: Muḥammad ibn al-Jahm narrated to us, ʿAbd al-Wahhāb narrated to us (i.e., Ibn ʿAṭāʾ al-Khaffāf), from Hishām, from Qatādah, from al-Ḥasan, from ʿUqbah ibn ʿĀmir, who said: The warranty period for enslaved people is four nights.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ زِيَادٍ الْأَعْلَمِ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «لَا عُهْدَةَ إلَّا بَعْدَ أَرْبَعَةِ أَيَّامٍ» .

L22257 And through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah from Ziyād al-Aʿlam from al-Ḥasan that the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—said: "There is no liability period except [one lasting] four days."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا مِمَّا نَقَضُوا فِيهِ أُصُولَهُمْ فَإِنَّ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ يَقُولُونَ: الْمُنْقَطِعُ، وَالْمُتَّصِلُ: سَوَاءٌ، وَقَدْ تَرَكُوا هَهُنَا هَذِهِ الْأَخْبَارَ، وَمَا عَابُوهَا إلَّا بِالِانْقِطَاعِ فَقَطْ.

L22258 Abu Muhammad said: This is among the matters wherein they contradicted their principles, for the Ḥanafīs say: "The interrupted and the continuous are equivalent." Yet here they have abandoned these narrations, criticizing them only for interruption.

L22259 The Malikis abandoned adopting the addition here. Why did they not establish the liability period as four nights in accordance with the textual evidences we cited? Thus their contradiction became evident, exposing their failure to adhere to any foundational principle.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَأَمَّا نَحْنُ فَنَقُولُ: إنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى افْتَرَضَ عَلَى رَسُولِهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُبَيِّنَ لَنَا مَا نُزِّلَ إلَيْنَا وَمَا أَلْزَمَنَا إيَّاهُ، وَلَمْ يَجْعَلْ عَلَيْنَا فِي الدِّينِ مِنْ حَرَجٍ، وَقَوْلُ الْقَائِلِ " عُهْدَةُ الرَّقِيقِ ثَلَاثٌ " كَلَامٌ لَا يُفْهَمُ، وَلَا تَدْرِي " الْعُهْدَةَ " مَا هِيَ فِي لُغَةِ الْعَرَبِ، وَمَا فَهِمَ قَطُّ أَحَدٌ مِنْ قَوْلِ قَائِلٍ " عُهْدَةُ الرَّقِيقِ ثَلَاثَةُ أَيَّامٍ " أَنَّ مَعْنَاهُ مَا أَصَابَ الرَّقِيقَ الْمَبِيعَ فِي ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ، فَمِنْ مُصِيبَةِ الْبَائِعِ، وَلَا يَعْقِلُ أَحَدٌ هَذَا الْحُكْمَ مِنْ هَذَا اللَّفْظِ - فَصَحَّ يَقِينًا أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَمْ يَقُلْهُ قَطُّ، وَلَوْ قَالَهُ لَبَيَّنَ عَلَيْنَا مَا أَرَادَ بِهِ.

L22260–22262 Ali said: As for us, we say: Indeed, Allah the Exalted enjoined upon His Messenger—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—to clarify for us what has been revealed to us and what He has made incumbent upon us, while imposing no hardship upon us in matters of religion. The statement "The 'uhdah for slaves is three" constitutes incomprehensible speech. One does not understand what "'uhdah" signifies in the Arabic language. Never has anyone comprehended from the utterance "The 'uhdah for slaves is three days" that its meaning refers to what befalls the sold slave within three days. Hence, from... It is a misfortune for the seller, and no one can comprehend this ruling from this wording. Thus, it was established with certainty that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) never uttered it at all, for had he said it, he would have clarified to us what he meant by it.

L22263 The Hanafis do not rejoice at this objection, for it is only tenable and valid according to our principles, not theirs. This is because when Allah Almighty granted the Hanafis intellects, they employed them to engage in baseless speculation about the meaning of the lie attributed to the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him)—that he prohibited the "Butayrā"—until they claimed to understand that the Butayrā refers to performing Witr with one rakʿah instead of three. Yet no human or jinn could deduce this from the mere term "Butayrā." They did not hesitate to multiply lies against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) by reporting from him what he never stated about himself. So what prevents them from similarly conjecturing here about the meaning of al-ʿuhdah? There is no difference between the two matters.

هِيَ أَنْ يُوتِرَ الْمَرْءُ بِرَكْعَةٍ وَاحِدَةٍ لَا بِثَلَاثٍ، عَلَى أَنَّ هَذَا لَا يَفْهَمُهُ إِنْسِيٌّ وَلَا جِنِّيٌّ مِنْ لَفْظَةِ " الْبُتَيْرَاءِ " وَلَمْ يُبَالُوا بِالتَّزَيُّدِ مِنَ الْكَذِبِ عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي الْإِخْبَارِ عَنْهُ بِمَا لَمْ يُخْبِرْ بِهِ عَنْ نَفْسِهِ، فَمَا الْمَانِعُ لَهُمْ مِنْ أَنْ يُكَهِّنُوا أَيْضًا هَهُنَا مَعْنَى الْعُهْدَةِ؟ فَمَا بَيْنَ الْأَمْرَيْنِ فَرْقٌ.

L22264 As for us, we do not derive the exposition of any matter of the religion except from the exposition of the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—alone. For his exposition alone constitutes the conclusive evidence for the one standing tomorrow before Allah the Exalted, and nothing else.

وَأَمَّا نَحْنُ فَلَا نَأْخُذُ بِبَيَانِ شَيْءٍ مِنَ الدِّينِ إِلَّا مِنْ بَيَانِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَقَطْ، فَهُوَ الَّذِي تَقُومُ بِهِ حُجَّةُ الْوَاقِفِ غَدًا بَيْنَ يَدَيِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى لَا بِمَا سِوَاهُ.

L22265 As for the Mālikīs, they are—by their own assertion—proponents of analogy. The ruling concerning pre-emption in sales was established by the Messenger of Allah—may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him—and they analogized based on it to apply pre-emption in dowry matters through their personal opinions.

L22266 The text explicitly specified the prohibition of hand amputation for theft of less than a quarter of a dinar. They analogized this ruling to the bridal gift (mahr) but did not apply the analogy to usurpation, and it bears closer resemblance to theft than to marriage in the judgment of every possessor of a sound intellect.

L22267 The text explicitly mentions usury in the six categories, so they applied analogy to cumin and almonds based on these categories. Why did they not analogize here to the report regarding the guarantee in slaves and other animals? But they neither adhere to the texts nor apply analogy properly! Among their curiosities here is that they analogized the case of one who gives his wife a slave or fruit as dowry after its soundness becomes apparent, then the slave dies, flees, or becomes defective before three days elapse, or the fruit suffers disaster exceeding a third. The wife must bear the loss from the disaster, but she has no claim regarding the slave under the three-day guarantee. This was indeed exceedingly peculiar.

L22268–22270 And in both matters, they have relied upon a textual report and a practice, without any distinction? As for their argument that "the three-day custodial period" was instituted solely due to quartan fever, this must be one of two cases: either this rationale is self-derived or attributed to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)—it must necessarily be [...] If they attribute one of the two to the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that would be sheer falsehood warranting the Fire, even if they originated it from themselves? We said to them: Why then do you extend this ruling to a slave's absconding, death, and all other defects they acknowledge as indisputably contingent, such as losing an eye from a thrown object and the like of this? This is truly astonishing! This is not a matter for analogy due to the absence of a shared legal cause.

L22271 Furthermore, if you have done this due to this legal cause, we observe that you have discarded the transmitted report concerning this matter and confined yourselves to a rationale of utmost corruption? As for the narrations they disputed through, they have no valid connection to any of them, for no binding proof exists in anyone apart from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him. Moreover, Hishām ibn Ismāʿīl is among those whose narrations we do not know to constitute binding proof—how then could his sermon be considered so? Regarding Abān ibn ʿUthmān's sermon on that matter—we find that they opposed Abān in his ruling that a single irrevocable divorce (al-battah) suffices, in his invalidation of the intoxicated person's divorce, and in other matters. Thus, Abān's ruling is sometimes considered authoritative and sometimes not—this constitutes severe confusion and an impermissible practice.

L22272 As for Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz, the narration from him regarding this matter is invalid because it comes through Ibn Abi al-Zinad—the first to weaken his transmissions was Malik (who is himself very weak). They discarded the rulings of Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz that were firmly established from him, while the Sunnah aligns with his public command for people to prostrate at "When the sky is split apart" and his very many other legal rulings. Now he has become a proof here, though he was not accepted as proof there. How reprehensible is this action in religion.

L22273 As for the statement of Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, it is from the narration of Ibn Samʿān, who is notorious for falsehood - it is impermissible to narrate from him. As for the statements of al-Zuhrī and Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab: they are authentically transmitted from both, but there exists no valid proof in religious matters through anyone's opinion apart from the Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him. Saʿīd's opinion contradicts theirs, for he considered the one-year liability period applicable to every chronic disease without restricting it specifically to insanity, leprosy, or vitiligo. Every rational being knows that gangrene, mortal wounds, and swellings are among chronic diseases. Thus all their pretexts are invalidated, and we find no basis whatsoever in the one-year liability period regarding the mentioned diseases - neither any primary evidence, nor a Companion's ruling, nor analogical reasoning.

L22274–22275 And some of them said: These diseases do not manifest clearly except after a full year.

L22276 Abu Muhammad said: This is a false claim and a statement without proof. Whatever is as such, its ruling is that it must be discarded, and it is not permissible to act upon it. This has never been recognized - not in medicine, nor in the Arabic language, nor in Sharia.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذِهِ دَعْوَى كَاذِبَةٌ، وَقَوْلٌ بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ، وَمَا كَانَ هَكَذَا فَحُكْمُهُ الْإِطْرَاحُ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ الْأَخْذُ بِهِ، وَمَا عُلِمَ هَذَا قَطُّ، لَا فِي طِبٍّ، وَلَا فِي لُغَةٍ عَرَبِيَّةٍ، وَلَا فِي شَرِيعَةٍ.

L22277 Ali said: They also mentioned what we have narrated via the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhāl, from Hammām, from Qatādah that he used to say: If one observes a defect within three nights, he must return the defective item without evidence. However, if he observes a defect after three nights, he must not return it except with evidence.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَذَكَرُوا أَيْضًا: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ نا هَمَّامٌ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَقُولُ: إنْ رَأَى عَيْبًا فِي ثَلَاثِ لَيَالٍ رَدَّ بِغَيْرِ بَيِّنَةٍ، وَإِنْ رَأَى عَيْبًا بَعْدَ ثَلَاثٍ لَمْ يَرُدَّ إلَّا بِبَيِّنَةٍ.

L22278 From the narration of Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from Ḥumayd, from ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Yaʿlā regarding one who purchases a slave and finds him insane: He said, "If this [defect] becomes apparent within the year, the buyer may compel the seller to swear by Allah, 'I sold him while he was free from insanity.' If it emerges after the year, the seller's oath by Allah—based on his knowledge [at the time of sale]—suffices."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ حُمَيْدٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ يَعْلَى فِيمَنْ ابْتَاعَ غُلَامًا فَوَجَدَهُ مَجْنُونًا؟ قَالَ: إنْ ظَهَرَ ذَلِكَ فِي السَّنَةِ فَإِنَّهُ يَسْتَحْلِفُ الْبَائِعَ لَقَدْ بَاعَهُ وَمَا بِهِ جُنُونٌ، وَإِنْ كَانَ بَعْدَ السَّنَةِ فَيَمِينُهُ بِاَللَّهِ عَلَى عِلْمِهِ.

L22279 Some of them mentioned that ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb and Ibn al-Zubayr were asked about the option period (al-ʿuhdah), and they said: "We find no better example than the hadith of Ḥibbān ibn Munqidh when he was deceived in sales. The Prophet (peace be upon him) granted him the option for three days: if he wishes, he may keep [the item], and if he wishes, he may rescind [the sale]."

L22280 And a report from ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib that he deferred [the case of] the girl afflicted with leprosy and the [specific] disease for a year.

L22281 Ali said: "None of this constitutes a valid argument for them. As for the report of ʿUmar and Ibn al-Zubayr, there is no indication that they endorse their stance at all. Rather, it demonstrates that it contradicts their opinion, since the two of them clarified it in accordance with the ḥadīth of Ḥabbān ibn Munqidh."

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَكُلُّ هَذَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ -: أَمَّا خَبَرُ عُمَرَ، وَابْنِ الزُّبَيْرِ، فَلَا بَيَانَ فِيهِ بِأَنَّهُمَا يَقُولَانِ بِقَوْلِهِمْ أَصْلًا، بَلْ فِيهِ أَنَّهُ خِلَافُ قَوْلِهِمْ " لِأَنَّهُمَا بَيَّنَاهُ عَلَى حَدِيثِ حِبَّانَ بْنِ مُنْقِذٍ ".

L22282 The Malikis contradict that report. The statements of ʿUmar and Ibn al-Zubayr constitute conclusive evidence against them, as there is absolutely no conformity in the report with their position whatsoever. This is because it mentions only the choice between returning and accepting, without any reference to the existence of a defect, nor does it restrict this ruling to slaves rather than other matters. Thus, it stands as conclusive evidence against them, not for them.

L22283 And we uphold this position when the purchaser states what Munqidh was instructed to say.

وَنَحْنُ نَقُولُ بِهَذَا إذَا قَالَ الْمُشْتَرِي: مَا أُمِرَ مُنْقِذٌ أَنْ يَقُولَهُ.

L22284–22286 As for the narration of ʿAlī: there is even nothing in it that indicates agreement with their opinion, nor is there any mention of rejection whatsoever. They deceive by using a report containing wording resembling some expressions from their own positions, causing those who do not examine carefully to presume it aligns with their stance—though it does not. Rather, it predominantly opposes their position, or it may neither align nor conflict with it, as is also the case.

وَأَمَّا خَبَرُ عَلِيٍّ: فَلَيْسَ فِيهِ أَيْضًا شَيْءٌ يَدُلُّ عَلَى مُوَافَقَةِ قَوْلِهِمْ، وَلَا ذِكْرُ رَدٍّ أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا يُمَوِّهُونَ بِالْخَبَرِ يَكُونُ فِيهِ لَفْظٌ كَبَعْضِ أَلْفَاظِ قَوْلِهِمْ، فَيَظُنُّ مَنْ لَا يُمْعِنُ النَّظَرَ أَنَّ ذَلِكَ الْخَبَرَ مُوَافِقٌ لِقَوْلِهِمْ، وَلَيْسَ هُوَ كَذَلِكَ، بَلْ هُوَ مُخَالِفٌ لِقَوْلِهِمْ فِي الْأَكْثَرِ، أَوْ لَا مُوَافِقٌ وَلَا مُخَالِفٌ كَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا.

L22287 Abu Muhammad said: Ibn Jurayj reported that he asked Al-Zuhri about the guarantee period of three [days/months] and a year. He replied, "I know of no established precedent regarding this matter."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَقَدْ رَوَى ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ أَنَّهُ سَأَلَ الزُّهْرِيَّ عَنْ عُهْدَةِ الثَّلَاثِ وَالسَّنَةِ؟ فَقَالَ: مَا عَلِمْت فِيهِ أَمْرًا سَالِفًا.

L22288 Ibn Jurayj said, “I asked ʿAṭāʾ about that matter.” He replied, “There was no prior liability concerning the land.” I inquired, “What is the ruling for three days?” He responded, “No obligation applies.”

L22289 Ali said: Allah, the Exalted, said: {No soul earns [sin] except against itself, and no bearer of burdens will bear the burden of another} [Al-An’am 6:164]. It is therefore null and void for a female slave to be owned by Zayd (for whom her sexual relations are lawful), while her legal responsibility rests upon Khālid. Far removed is Allah from this.[10]

L22290 It has been authentically reported from Ibn ‘Umar: “If I found the transaction alive and gathered, it belongs to the buyer”—with no opposing view to it known from the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them).

L22291 We have reported it through the chain of Ibn Wahb from Yunus ibn Yazid from al-Zuhri from Hamzah ibn Abdullah ibn Umar from his father (and this nullifies the three-day waiting period and the one-year period) - and with Allah alone is success, the Exalted.

L22292 Abu Muhammad said: Then we say to them: Inform us about the ruling concerning the trust of the three and the year—is it a Sunnah and an obligation, or is it neither a Sunnah nor an obligation, with one of the two necessarily unavoidable? If they say: “It is a Sunnah and an obligation,” we say: Then how did you deem it permissible to refrain from ruling by it in lands whose inhabitants have agreed to abandon ruling by it? When have you ever seen a Sunnah that is allowed to be neglected or opposed by people? Allah is exalted above such a thing.

L22293 If they say, “This is neither Sunnah nor a rightful claim,” we reply: On what basis have you legitimized seizing people’s forbidden wealth to forcibly transfer it to others? Perhaps the one judged against is a destitute and ruined individual, while the claimant is a wealthy arrogant man. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—declared: “Your blood and wealth are inviolable upon you.” Yet you have annulled valid transactions through

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {وَلا تكْسِبُ كُلُّ نَفْسٍ إِلا عَلَيْهَا وَلا تَزِرُ وَازِرَةٌ وِزْرَ أُخْرَى} [الأنعام: ١٦٤] فَمِنْ الْبَاطِلِ أَنْ تَكُونَ جَارِيَةٌ مِلْكُهَا لِزَيْدٍ وَفَرْجُهَا لَهُ حَلَالٌ وَيَكُونَ ضَمَانُهَا عَلَى خَالِدٍ، حَاشَ لِلَّهِ مِنْ هَذَا.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: ثُمَّ نَقُولُ لَهُمْ: أَخْبِرُونَا عَنْ الْحُكْمِ بِعُهْدَةِ الثَّلَاثِ، وَالسَّنَةِ: أَسُنَّةٌ هُوَ وَحَقٌّ أَمْ لَيْسَ سُنَّةً وَلَا حَقًّا، وَلَا بُدَّ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا؟ فَإِنْ قَالُوا: هُوَ سُنَّةٌ وَحَقٌّ؟ قُلْنَا: فَمِنْ أَيْنَ اسْتَحْلَلْتُمْ أَنْ لَا تَحْكُمُوا بِهَا فِي الْبِلَادِ الَّتِي اصْطَلَحَ أَهْلُهَا عَلَى تَرْكِ الْحُكْمِ بِهَا فِيهَا؟ وَمَتَى رَأَيْتُمْ سُنَّةً يُفْسَحُ لِلنَّاسِ فِي تَرْكِهَا وَمُخَالَفَتِهَا؟ حَاشَ لِلَّهِ مِنْ هَذَا.

L22294–22295 As for Mālik's ruling on crop blights: no precedent is known from any predecessor concerning the division he mentioned—between fruits and cucurbits, and between vegetables and bananas. His opinion on this matter finds no support in the Quran, the Sunnah, any unsound narration whatsoever, the view of any earlier scholar, analogical reasoning (qiyas), or any valid legal opinion.

L22296 They have weak narrations regarding the allocation of the third, which we will also mention—if Allah, the Exalted, wills—and explain their weakness. Our position on this matter is the view of Abū Ḥanīfah, Sufyān al-Thawrī, Abī Sufyān, one of the two opinions of al-Shāfiʿī, and the opinion of the majority of the Salaf.

وَلَهُمْ فِي تَخْصِيصِ الثُّلُثِ آثَارٌ سَاقِطَةٌ نَذْكُرُهَا أَيْضًا إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى وَنُبَيِّنُ وَهْيَهَا - وَقَوْلُنَا فِي هَذَا هُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَسُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ، وَأَبِي سُفْيَانَ - وَأَحَدِ قَوْلَيْ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَقَوْلِ جُمْهُورِ السَّلَفِ.

L22297 As has been narrated to us through the chain of Abu Ubaydah - Abdullah ibn Salih narrated from al-Layth ibn Sa'd - Abu Bakr ibn Sahl ibn Hunayf informed me that the members of his household would impose liability for calamities (al-jā'iḥah) upon the buyer. Al-Layth said: "It reached me that Uthman ibn Affan ruled that the calamity (al-jā'iḥah) is borne by the buyer."

كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي عُبَيْدَةَ نا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ صَالِحٍ عَنْ اللَّيْثِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ سَهْلِ بْنِ حُنَيْفٍ أَنَّ أَهْلَ بَيْتِهِ كَانُوا يُلْزِمُونَ الْمُشْتَرِيَ الْجَائِحَةَ - قَالَ اللَّيْثُ: وَبَلَغَنِي عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ عَفَّانَ أَنَّهُ قَضَى بِالْجَائِحَةِ عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي.

L22298 Abu Muhammad said: Ahmad ibn Hanbal, Abu Ubayd, and Al-Shafi'i—in the initial part of his statement—held the view that the remission of calamity affecting fruits from the buyer is mandated, whether minor or extensive. This opinion of his is supported by an authentic narration, which we shall mention, God willing, and elucidate its rationale and ruling by the power and strength of God Almighty.

L22299 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Muslim ibn al-Ḥajjāj: Muḥammad ibn ʿAbbād reported to us; Abū Ḍamrah reported to us from Ibn Jurayj from Abū al-Zubayr that he heard Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh say: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "If you sell fruit to your brother and it is struck by a destructive calamity, it is not lawful for you to demand payment from him. By what right do you take your brother's property without legitimate claim?"

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا بِشْرُ بْنُ الْحَكَمِ نا سُفْيَانُ - هُوَ ابْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ - عَنْ حُمَيْدٍ الْأَعْرَجِ عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ عَتِيقٍ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ «أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَمَرَ بِوَضْعِ الْجَوَائِحِ» .

L22300 And through the transmission of Muslim: Bishr ibn al-Ḥakam reported to us, Sufyān—who is Ibn ʿUyaynah—reported to us, from Ḥumayd al-Aʿraj, from Sulaymān ibn ʿAtīq, from Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh: "That the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—commanded the waiver for crop disasters."

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَانِ أَثَرَانِ صَحِيحَانِ.

L22301 Ali said, "These two are authentic narrations."

وَقَالُوا أَيْضًا: عَلَى بَائِعِ الثَّمَرَةِ إسْلَامُهَا إلَى الْمُشْتَرِي طَيِّبَةً كُلَّهَا فَإِذَا لَمْ يَفْعَلْ، سَقَطَ عَنْ الْمُشْتَرِي بِمِقْدَارِ مَا لَمْ يُسَلَّمْ إلَيْهِ كَمَا يَلْزَمُ.

L22302 They also said: The seller is obligated to formally deliver the entire fruit to the buyer in a wholly wholesome condition. If the seller fails to do so, the buyer is relieved of their obligation proportionally to the undelivered portion, as necessitated by the ruling.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ عِيَاضٍ أَنَّ أَبَا إِسْحَاقَ مُقَدَّمًا مَوْلَى أُمِّ الْحَكَمِ بِنْتِ عَبْدِ الْحَكَمِ حَدَّثَهُ أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ قَضَى بِوَضْعِ الْجَوَائِحِ.

L22303–22304 Via the chain of Ibn Wahb from Anas ibn Iyad: Abu Ishaq al-Muqaddam, the client of Umm al-Hakam bint Abd al-Hakam, narrated to him that Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz decreed the remission of tax obligations due to crop calamities.

وَبِهِ إلَى ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ الْحَكَمِ عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ قَالَ: الْجَوَائِحُ كُلُّ ظَاهِرٍ مُفْسِدٍ مِنْ مَطَرٍ أَوْ بَرَدٍ أَوْ رِيحٍ أَوْ حَرِيقٍ أَوْ جَرَادٍ.

L22305 Narrated by Ibn Wahb, from Uthman ibn al-Hakam, from Ibn Jurayj, from Ata, who said: "Agricultural disasters refer to every widespread ruinous event, such as excessive rain, hail, destructive winds, wildfires, or locusts."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: إنْ لَمْ يَأْتِ مَا يُبَيِّنُ أَنَّ هَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ الْمَذْكُورَيْنِ عَلَى غَيْرِ ظَاهِرِهِمَا وَإِلَّا فَلَا يَحِلُّ خِلَافُ مَا فِيهِمَا، وَعَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ فَلَا حُجَّةَ فِيهِمَا لِقَوْلِ مَالِكٍ، بَلْ هُمَا حُجَّةٌ عَلَيْهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِمَا تَخْصِيصُ ثُلُثٍ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ.

L22306 Abū Muḥammad said: If no evidence emerges to clarify that these two mentioned narrations contradict their apparent meaning, then it is impermissible to contravene their rulings. In any case, they provide no proof for Mālik's opinion; rather, they constitute proof against him, as they do not specify a third distinct from the remainder.

فَنَظَرْنَا هَلْ جَاءَ فِي هَذَا الْحُكْمِ غَيْرُ هَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ؟ فَوَجَدْنَا مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا قُتَيْبَةُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ نا لَيْثُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ عَنْ بُكَيْرٍ - هُوَ ابْنُ الْأَشَجِّ - عَنْ عِيَاضِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ: «أُصِيبَ رَجُلٌ فِي عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي ثِمَارٍ ابْتَاعَهَا، فَكَثُرَ دَيْنُهُ، فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: تَصَدَّقُوا عَلَيْهِ

L22307 We examined whether there were any reports besides these two narrations regarding this ruling. We found what we have narrated through Imam Muslim's chain: Qutaybah ibn Saʿīd narrated to us, Layth ibn Saʿd narrated to us, from Bukayr — who is Ibn al-Ashajj — from ʿIyāḍ ibn ʿAbd Allāh, from Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī, who said: "A man during the time of the Messenger of Allāh — Peace and Blessings be upon Him — suffered a loss in fruits he had purchased, and his debts multiplied. The Messenger of Allāh — Peace and Blessings be upon Him — said: 'Give charity to him.' The people gave him charity, but it did not suffice to settle his debt. The Messenger of Allāh — Peace and Blessings be upon Him — then said to his creditors: 'Take what you find, and you are entitled to nothing beyond that.'" Did the Messenger of Allāh — Peace and Blessings be upon Him — not take out from his own wealth for the creditors, without waiving anything from the debtor due to the agricultural calamity? We then examined this narration alongside the two preceding narrations of Jābir.[11]

L22308 We found two reports from the chains of Jābir and Anas that came with a clarification reconciling all these reports—by the praise of Allah, the Exalted.

فَوَجَدْنَا خَبَرَيْنِ مِنْ طَرِيقِ جَابِرٍ، وَأَنَسٍ، قَدْ وَرَدَا بِبَيَانٍ تَتَأَلَّفُ بِهِ هَذِهِ الْأَخْبَارُ كُلُّهَا - بِحَمْدِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى.

L22309 As we were narrated through the chain of Muslim: Abu Tahir reported to me - I am Ibn Wahb - Malik informed me from Humaid at-Tawil from Anas that "Allah's Messenger - peace and blessings be upon him - prohibited selling fruit until it begins to show color." They asked: "What is 'showing color'?" He replied: "When it turns red. Do you not see - if Allah prevents the fruit from maturing, by what means do you claim lawful ownership of your brother's property?"

كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو الطَّاهِرِ أَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي مَالِكٌ عَنْ حُمَيْدٍ الطَّوِيلِ عَنْ أَنَسٍ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرِ حَتَّى تُزْهِيَ قَالُوا: وَمَا تُزْهِي؟ قَالَ: تَحْمَرُّ، أَرَأَيْتَ إِذَا مَنَعَ اللَّهُ الثَّمَرَةَ بِمَ تَسْتَحِلُّ مَالَ أَخِيكَ؟» .

L22310–22312 And from the path of Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb: Qutaybah informed us: Sufyan—he is Ibn Uyaynah—informed us from Humaid al-A'raj. From Jābir, through Sulaymān ibn 'Atīq: "The Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—forbade selling fruit for multiple years." These two narrations confirm that the crop failures the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—commanded to be waived are those affecting fruit sold for multiple years before it blooms. The calamity not waived—holding the buyer fully responsible for the loss and requiring him to bear it entirely—is that which strikes the sold fruit after its ripeness becomes evident and its sale becomes permissible. Success is attained only through Allah, the Exalted.

L22313 Moreover, the Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings be upon him - said: "If you sell dates to your brother and a calamity befalls them, it is not lawful for you to take anything from him." He - peace be upon him - did not distinguish between a tree in its foliage and harvested fruits deposited on the ground, yet they have specified this distinction through their opinions. Thus, their disagreement with this report and their specification of it have been confirmed, invalidating their argument against its general applicability and their juristic application thereof.

[11] Hadith references (L22307): Sahih Muslim 1556a; Jami at-Tirmidhi 655.

مِنْ ثَمَرٍ مَوْضُوعٍ الْأَرْضِ وَهُمْ يَخُصُّونَ ذَلِكَ بِآرَائِهِمْ، فَقَدْ صَحَّ خِلَافُهُمْ لِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ وَتَخْصِيصُهُمْ لَهُ، وَبَطَلَ احْتِجَاجُهُمْ بِهِ عَلَى عُمُومِهِ وَالْأَخْذُ فِيهِ.

He ordered the remission of debts for agricultural calamities but did not mention whether this applies to fruits or other produce, nor specify what type of calamity it pertains to. This establishes that they contradict him as well, nullifies their reliance on this as evidence for general applicability, and equates their stance with ours in particularizing these two reports—except that they particularized them without evidence. Abū Muḥammad said: Loss due to price decrease is undoubtedly a calamity, yet they remit nothing for it. As for their claim that the seller must deliver the goods in sound condition to the buyer, this is invalid. He is only obligated to deliver what was sold through a valid sale, as no scriptural text or consensus imposes more than this. Herein the Mālikīs opposed legal analogy (qiyās) and juristic principles (uṣūl) by attributing an asset's profit and ownership to Zayd while burdening its loss on ʻAmr—who does not own it.

Ali said: As for the weak narrations cited by the followers of Mālik as evidence - we have been narrated through the chain of ʻAbd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb al-Andalusī, from Muṭarrif, from Abū Ṭuwālah, from his father: "The Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings be upon him - said: 'If a third of the fruit is afflicted, the seller becomes liable for bearing the loss.'"

قَالَ عَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ: وَحَدَّثَنِي أَصْبَغُ بْنُ الْفَرَجِ عَنْ السَّبِيعِيِّ عَبْدِ الْجَبَّارِ بْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ الرَّأْيِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَمَرَ بِوَضْعِ الْجَائِحَةِ إذَا بَلَغَتْ ثُلُثَ الثَّمَرِ فَصَاعِدًا» .

Abd al-Malik said: Asbagh ibn al-Faraj narrated to me from al-Sabīʻī ʻAbd al-Jabbār ibn ʻUmar from Rabīʻah al-Raʾy that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—commanded that agricultural dues be waived for crop losses when the calamity reached one-third of the crops or more.

قَالَ عَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ: وَحَدَّثَنِي عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مُوسَى عَنْ خَالِدِ بْنِ إيَاسٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ:

Abd al-Malik said: Ubayd Allah ibn Musa narrated to me from Khalid ibn Iyas from Yahya ibn Sa'id from Abu al-Zubayr from Jabir, who said:

قَالَ عَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ: وَحَدَّثَنِي عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مُوسَى عَنْ خَالِدِ بْنِ إِيَاسٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «خَمْسٌ مِنَ الْجَوَائِحِ: الرِّيحُ، وَالْبَرَدُ، وَالْحَرِيقُ، وَالْجَرَادُ، وَالسَّيْلُ» .

The Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—said: “Five are among the calamities [that destroy crops]: wind, hail, fire, locusts, and flood.”

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا كُلُّهُ كَذِبٌ: عَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ مَذْكُورٌ بِالْكَذِبِ.

L22319 Abu Muhammad said: All of this is falsehood: Abd al-Malik is mentioned as a liar.

وَالْأَوَّلُ مُرْسَلٌ مَعَ ذَلِكَ.

L22320 The first is nevertheless a mursal.

وَالسَّبِيعِيُّ مَجْهُولٌ لَا يَدْرِي أَحَدٌ مَنْ هُوَ؟ وَعَبْدُ الْجَبَّارِ بْنُ عُمَرَ ضَعِيفٌ وَهُوَ أَيْضًا مُرْسَلٌ - فَسَقَطَ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ، وَخَالِدُ بْنُ إِيَاسٍ سَاقِطٌ - ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَمَا كَانَ فِيهِ أَمْرٌ بِإِسْقَاطِ الْجَوَائِحِ أَصْلًا، لَا بِنَصٍّ، وَلَا بِدَلِيلٍ، إلَّا أَنَّ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ الَّذِينَ يَحْتَجُّونَ بِرِوَايَاتِ الْكَذَّابِينَ وَمُرْسَلَاتِهِمْ: كَمُبَشِّرِ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ الْحَلَبِيِّ، وَجَابِرٍ الْجُعْفِيِّ، وَغَيْرِهِمَا: فَلَا عُذْرَ لَهُمْ فِي أَنْ لَا يَأْخُذُوا بِهَذِهِ الْمَرَاسِيلِ - وَهَذَا مِمَّا تَنَاقَضُوا فِيهِ.

L22321 Al-Sabiʿī is unknown—does anyone know who he is? ʿAbd al-Jabbār ibn ʿUmar is weak and his narration is mursal. Thus, all of that has been rejected, and Khālid ibn Iyās is rejected. Moreover, even if it were authentic, it would contain no directive whatsoever to waive compensation for crop disasters—neither through explicit text nor any evidence. Yet the Ḥanafīs, who rely on narrations from liars and their mursal reports like Mubashshir ibn ʿUbayd al-Ḥalabī, Jābir al-Juʿfī, and others, have no excuse for rejecting these mursal narrations. This is among the matters in which they have contradicted themselves.

L22322 The Malikis cited from those other than the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—what we have transmitted through the chain of ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb, who narrated from Ibn Abī Uways, from al-Ḥusayn ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn Ḍumayrah, from his father, from his grandfather, from ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib: that he decreed the remission of obligations in cases of crop damage when it affected one-third of the fruit or more.

L22323 And through the chain of Ibn Habib as well, Al-Hudhafi narrated to me from Al-Waqidi from Musa ibn Ibrahim al-Taymi from his father from Sulayman ibn Yasar, who said: Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf sold his tangible property to Sa’d ibn Abi Waqqas, and locusts afflicted it, destroying it or most of it. They disputed before Uthman, who ruled that Abd al-Rahman must return the price to Sa’d.

قَالَ الْوَاقِدِيُّ: وَكَانَ سَهْلُ بْنُ أَبِي حَثْمَةَ، وَعُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ، وَالْقَاسِمُ، وَسَالِمٌ، وَعَلِيُّ بْنُ الْحُسَيْنِ، وَسُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ يَسَارٍ، وَعَطَاءُ بْنُ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ -: يَرَوْنَ الْجَائِحَةَ مَوْضُوعَةً عَنْ الْمُشْتَرِي إذَا بَلَغَتْ الثُّلُثَ فَصَاعِدًا.

L22324 Al-Waqidi said: Sahl ibn Abi Hathma, Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz, al-Qasim, Salim, Ali ibn al-Husayn, Sulayman ibn Yasar, and Ataa ibn Abi Rabah held that the ja'ihah (natural disaster) is waived for the buyer if it reaches one-third or upwards.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذَا كُلُّهُ بَاطِلٌ، لِأَنَّهُ كُلُّهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ حَبِيبٍ، ثُمَّ الْحُسَيْنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ ضُمَيْرَةَ مُطْرَحٌ، مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَى أَنْ لَا يُحْتَجَّ بِرِوَايَتِهِ، وَأَبُوهُ مَجْهُولٌ، وَالْوَاقِدِيُّ مَذْكُورٌ بِالْكَذِبِ.

L22325 Abu Muhammad said: All of this is null and void, because it is entirely transmitted through ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb, then al-Ḥusayn ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn Ḍumayrah—discarded, as there is consensus that his narration is not to be relied upon, and his father is unknown, while al-Wāqidī is cited for dishonesty.

L22326–22327 Furthermore, if the hadith of Uthman were authentic, it would indicate that Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf did not recognize compensation for crop calamity even if it afflicted all or most of the fruit. When disagreement arises, there is no conclusive evidence in the opinion of one party over another. What is firmly established in this matter from Ibn Umar—may Allah be pleased with him, the preeminent scholar among the people of Medina in his time—is the narration transmitted to us through Abdullah ibn Yusuf via Ahmad ibn Fath, via Abd al-Wahhab Muhammad, via Ahmad ibn Muhammad, via Ahmad ibn Ali, via Muslim ibn al-Hajjaj, via Muhammad ibn al-Muthanna, via Muhammad ibn Ja'far, via Shu'bah, from Abdullah ibn Dinar, from Ibn Umar, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—stated, "Do not sell fruit until its ripeness becomes apparent." When asked, "What constitutes its ripeness?" Ibn Umar responded, "When its defects disappear."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: تَأَمَّلُوا هَذَا فَإِنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ رَوَى نَهْيَ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرِ قَبْلَ، بُدُوِّ صَلَاحِهِ - وَفَسَّرَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ بِأَنَّ بُدُوَّ صَلَاحِ الثَّمَرِ: هُوَ ذَهَابُ عَاهَتِهِ.

L22328 Abu Muhammad said: Reflect on this, for Ibn ʿUmar reported the Prophet's prohibition—peace and blessings be upon him—against selling fruit before the onset of its ripeness, and Ibn ʿUmar explained that the onset of the fruit's ripeness is the disappearance of its defects.

L22329 Thus, it was certainly established that the calamity (al-ʿāha, i.e., al-jā'iḥa) according to Ibn ʿUmar occurs only before the fruit's readiness becomes apparent, and that there is no calamity (ʿāha) or disaster (jā'iḥa) after the fruit's readiness becomes evident. This is the explicit text of our position—praise be to Allah, Lord of the Worlds—and no other contrary to this is authentically transmitted from any of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them.

L22330 Among the inconsistencies of the Mālikīs in this matter is their statement regarding one who sells fruit that has ripened for consumption and reached its harvest time, but later all or part of it is destroyed: that nothing from the price is reduced due to this occurrence.

وَمِنْ تَنَاقُضِ الْمَالِكِيِّينَ فِي هَذَا أَنَّهُمْ يَقُولُونَ فِيمَنْ بَاعَ ثَمَرًا قَدْ طَابَ أَكْلُهُ وَحَضَرَ جِدَادُهُ فَأُجِيحَ كُلُّهُ أَوْ بَعْضُهُ -: لَمْ يَسْقُطْ عَنْهُ لِذَلِكَ شَيْءٌ مِنْ الثَّمَنِ -.

L22331 And this is wholly contrary to all the subjects we have previously mentioned.

وَهَذَا خِلَافُ كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا آنِفًا مِنْ الْمَوْضُوعَاتِ جُمْلَةً.

L22332 If they cite as evidence in that matter the saying of the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—"A third, and a third is much."

فَإِنْ احْتَجُّوا فِي ذَلِكَ بِقَوْلِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الثُّلُثُ وَالثُّلُثُ كَثِيرٌ» .

L22333 We said: Yes, this applies to bequests, but from where do you derive that extensive crop losses are reduced below minor ones, to the extent of limiting this to one-third? You yourselves assert regarding a wealthy man possessing one hundred thousand dinars who buys produce for three dirhams, suffers loss in one-third of the crop, then sells the remainder for one dinar: that the crop loss is waived for him.

قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ هَذَا فِي الْوَصِيَّةِ، وَلَكِنْ مِنْ أَيْنَ لَكُمْ أَنَّ الْكَثِيرَ مِنْ الْجَوَائِحِ يُوضَعُ دُونَ الْقَلِيلِ حَتَّى تَحُدُّوا ذَلِكَ بِالثُّلُثِ؟ وَأَنْتُمْ تَقُولُونَ فِي غَنِيٍّ لَهُ مِائَةُ أَلْفِ دِينَارٍ ابْتَاعَ ثَمَرًا بِثَلَاثَةِ دَرَاهِمَ فَأُجِيحَ فِي ثُلُثِ الثَّمَرَةِ ثُمَّ بَاعَ الْبَاقِيَ بِدِينَارٍ -: أَنَّهُ تُوضَعُ عَنْهُ الْجَائِحَةُ.

L22334 And you say regarding a poor person who purchased a fruit for a dinar, then a quarter of it was lost, after which the fruits depreciated in value, so he sold the remainder for a dirham—that nothing is reduced from him, and "much" and "little" are merely by relation, as you observe, not absolute.

وَتَقُولُونَ فِي مِسْكِينٍ ابْتَاعَ ثَمَرَةً بِدِينَارٍ فَذَهَبَ رُبْعُهَا ثُمَّ رَخُصَ الثَّمَرُ فَبَاعَ الْبَاقِيَ بِدِرْهَمٍ -: أَنَّهُ لَا يُحَطُّ عَنْهُ شَيْءٌ، وَالْكَثِيرُ وَالْقَلِيلُ إنَّمَا هُمَا بِإِضَافَةٍ كَمَا تَرَى لَا عَلَى الْإِطْلَاقِ.

L22335–22336 Then they soon contradicted themselves through the most base, most despicable contradiction - one most removed from correctness: permitting a married woman to dispose of a third of her wealth for charity without her husband's consent, while prohibiting her from exceeding a third without his permission. Thus they deemed a third here to be small (equating it with amounts below a third), yet in cases of agricultural calamity treated a third as substantial, contrary to amounts less than a third.

ثُمَّ لَمْ يَلْبَثُوا أَنْ تَنَاقَضُوا أَسْمَجَ تَنَاقُضٍ وَأَغَثَّهُ وَأَبْعَدَهُ عَنْ الصَّوَابِ لِلْمَرْأَةِ ذَاتِ الزَّوْجِ أَنْ تَحْكُمَ فِي الصَّدَقَةِ بِالثُّلُثِ مِنْ مَالِهَا فَأَقَلَّ بِغَيْرِ رِضَا زَوْجِهَا، وَلَا يَجُوزُ لَهَا ذَلِكَ فِيمَا كَانَ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ إلَّا بِإِذْنِ زَوْجِهَا، فَجَعَلُوا الثُّلُثَ هَهُنَا قَلِيلًا كَمَا هُوَ دُونَ الثُّلُثِ وَجَعَلُوهُ فِي الْجَائِحَةِ كَثِيرًا بِخِلَافِ مَا دُونَهُ.

L22337 If one stipulates the third or more as the endowed portion, the endowment is invalid. But if one stipulates less than a third, it is permissible and the endowment is valid—thus they ruled that a third here is excessive, unlike amounts below it.

ثُمَّ قَالُوا: إنَّ اشْتَرَطَ الْمُحْبَسِ مِمَّا حَبَسَ الثُّلُثَ فَمَا زَادَ بَطَلَ الْحَبْسُ، فَإِنْ اشْتَرَطَ أَقَلَّ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ جَازَ وَصَحَّ الْحَبْسُ - فَجَعَلُوا الثُّلُثَ هَهُنَا كَثِيرًا بِخِلَافِ مَا دُونَهُ.

L22338 Then they said: Whoever sells a sword adorned with silver or a Quran similarly adorned with silver—if the silver on them amounts to a third of the total value of the entire item or less, this is considered minor, and it is permissible to sell them for silver. But if the silver on them constitutes more than a third of the total value of the entire item, it is entirely impermissible to sell them for silver. Thus, they deemed the third in this case to be minor, treating it under the ruling applicable to smaller proportions.

L22339 They permitted a person to reserve a portion of the fruit of his trees or crops of his land when selling it by measured volume, amounting to a third or less, and prohibited him from reserving anything exceeding a third. Therefore, they deemed a third to be a small amount, treated under the same legal ruling as amounts below it.

وَأَبَاحُوا أَنْ يَسْتَثْنِيَ الْمَرْءُ مِنْ ثَمَرِ شَجَرِهِ وَمِنْ زَرْعِ أَرْضِهِ إذَا بَاعَهَا مَكِيلَةً تَبْلُغُ الثُّلُثَ فَأَقَلَّ - وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ اسْتِثْنَاءِ مَا زَادَ عَلَى الثُّلُثِ - فَجَعَلُوا الثُّلُثَ هَهُنَا قَلِيلًا فِي حُكْمِ مَا دُونَهُ.

L22340 Then they prohibited anyone who sold a sheep while reserving portions of its meat (in ratls) for themselves from reserving an amount equivalent to a third or more of the total meat. They permitted reserving quantities less than a third (in ratls) - thereby considering a third here as excessive compared to smaller amounts below it.

L22341 They then permitted one who purchased a house containing trees with fruit not yet ready for use to include the fruit in the house's rent, provided a third of the total value derived from both the fruit and the house's rent. However, they prohibited this if the share amounted to a third or more. Thus, they treated a third here as insignificant, subjecting it to the ruling applicable to amounts below a third.

L22342 Then they considered a tenth [increase] as negligible and anything exceeding it as excessive. They ruled concerning one who instructed another to purchase a servant for thirty dinars - if the agent bought her for thirty-three dinars - that the mandator becomes liable because this [three-dinar] increase is negligible. They said: "If he bought her for more than a tenth extra, the mandator is not liable because that is excessive." This resembles arbitrariness. O people! Are these mere opinions the foundation for establishing divine laws, declaring prohibitions and permissions, permitting the sale of forbidden wealth, and opposing the Sunnah? Allah suffices us, and what an excellent Trustee!

ثُمَّ جَعَلُوا الْعُشْرَ قَلِيلًا وَمَا زَادَ عَلَيْهِ كَثِيرًا فَقَالُوا فِيمَنْ أَمَرَ آخَرَ بِأَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ لَهُ خَادِمًا بِثَلَاثِينَ دِينَارًا فَاشْتَرَاهَا لَهُ بِثَلَاثَةٍ وَثَلَاثِينَ دِينَارًا: أَنَّهَا تَلْزَمُ الْآمِرَ؛ لِأَنَّ هَذَا قَلِيلٌ، قَالُوا: فَإِنْ اشْتَرَاهَا لَهُ بِأَكْثَرَ لَمْ يَلْزَمْ الْآمِرَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ كَثِيرٌ - وَهَذَا يُشْبِهُ اللَّعِبَ، فَيَا لَلنَّاسِ؟ أَبِهَذِهِ

L22343 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Wahb, from Uthman ibn al-Hakam, from Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Ansari, who said: No catastrophic loss [is recognized in Islamic law] for damages incurred below one-third of the principal capital.

L22344–22345 Through another chain from ʿAbd al-Razzāq, Maʿmar narrated to us, reporting from a narrator who heard al-Zuhrī state: I inquired, "What constitutes an agricultural calamity?" He replied, "Half."

L22346 Ali said: "So this al-Zuhrī does not deem a calamity (jā'iḥah) valid unless it amounts to half [the yield]."

L22347 And this is Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd, the jurist of Madinah, who does not recognize the agricultural calamity except in one-eighth of the crop, not in the physical crop itself—and all of that is contrary to Mālik's opinion. And success is granted by Allāh, the Exalted.

L22348 ## A Legal Issue: The Sale of the Ābiq Runaway Slave

L22349 Issue 1423: The sale of an absconded slave—whether his location is known or unknown—is valid. Similarly, the sale of a stray camel—whether its location is known or unknown—is valid.

L22350 Similarly, a stray from all animals, or birds that have escaped or otherwise strayed, is permissible for sale only if legally established ownership over it existed beforehand; otherwise, its sale is impermissible.

L22351 As for anything not yet owned by anyone, no one has a greater claim to it than anyone else. Whoever sells it is selling what they have no right to, and this amounts to wrongful appropriation of wealth without rightful claim.

L22352 As for all that we have mentioned besides this, the ownership of its owner وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ الْحَكَمِ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ: لَا جَائِحَةَ فِيمَا أُصِيبَ دُونَ ثُلُثِ رَأْسِ الْمَالِ.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ حَدَّثَنَا مَعْمَرٌ أَخْبَرَنِي مَنْ سَمِعَ الزُّهْرِيَّ قَالَ: قُلْت مَا الْجَائِحَةُ؟ قَالَ: النِّصْفُ.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: فَهَذَا الزُّهْرِيُّ لَا يَرَى الْجَائِحَةَ إلَّا النِّصْفَ.

وَهَذَا يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ فَقِيهُ الْمَدِينَةِ لَا يَرَى الْجَائِحَةَ إلَّا فِي الثُّمْنِ، لَا فِي عَيْنِ الثَّمَرَةِ - وَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ خِلَافُ قَوْلِ مَالِكٍ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ الْعَبْدِ الْآبِقِ]

١٤٢٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَبَيْعُ الْعَبْدِ الْآبِقِ - عُرِفَ مَكَانُهُ أَوْ لَمْ يُعْرَفْ - جَائِزٌ وَكَذَلِكَ بَيْعُ الْجَمَلِ الشَّارِدِ - عُرِفَ مَكَانُهُ أَوْ لَمْ يُعْرَفْ.

وَكَذَلِكَ الشَّارِدُ مِنْ سَائِرِ الْحَيَوَانِ، وَمِنْ الطَّيْرِ الْمُتَفَلِّتِ وَغَيْرِهِ، إذَا صَحَّ الْمِلْكُ عَلَيْهِ قَبْلَ ذَلِكَ، وَإِلَّا فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ.

over it is established, and whatever a person owns, the ruling concerning it is effective by the divine text: if he wishes to gift it, sell it, or keep it; and if he dies, it is inherited from him. There is no disagreement that it is owned and inherited from him. So what prohibits its sale and gifting? We have previously nullified the opinion of those who distinguished between game that becomes wild and camels, sheep, cattle, and horses that become wild. Similarly, there is no distinction between the hunting of fish, birds, bees, or four-legged animals—all that is owned from these is property of its owner without any dispute from anyone.

L22353 فَمَنْ ادَّعَى سُقُوطَ الْمِلْكِ عَنْهُ بِتَوَحُّشِهِ، أَوْ بِرُجُوعِهِ إلَى النَّهْرِ أَوْ الْبَحْرِ -: فَقَدْ قَالَ الْبَاطِلَ، وَأَحَلَّ حَرَامًا بِغَيْرِ دَلِيلٍ لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قَوْلِ صَاحِبٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ تَوَرُّعٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رَأْيٍ يُعْقَلُ؟ فَإِنْ قَالَ قَائِلٌ: فَإِنَّهُ لَا يَعْرِفُهُ أَبَدًا صَاحِبُهُ، وَلَا غَيْرُ صَاحِبِهِ؟ قُلْنَا: فَكَانَ مَاذَا؟ وَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَجَبَ عِنْدَكُمْ سُقُوطُ مِلْكِ الْمُسْلِمِ عَنْ مَالِهِ بِجَهْلِهِ بِعَيْنِهِ؟ وَبِأَنَّهُ لَا يُمَيِّزُهُ، وَمَا الْفَرْقُ بَيْنَ هَذَا وَبَيْنَ الْعَبْدِ يَأْبَقُ فَلَا تُمَيِّزُهُ صُورَتُهُ أَبَدًا، وَالْبَعِيرُ كَذَلِكَ، وَالْفَرَسُ كَذَلِكَ؟ أَفَتَرَوْنَ الْمِلْكَ يَسْقُطُ عَنْ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ مِنْ أَجْلِ أَنَّهُ لَا يُمَيِّزُهُ أَحَدٌ أَبَدًا، لَا صَاحِبُهُ وَلَا غَيْرُهُ؟

Whoever claims that ownership is nullified due to its becoming wild or returning to the river or sea has spoken falsehood and legalized the unlawful without evidence—neither from the Qur'an, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor a Companion's opinion, nor analogy, nor scrupulous avoidance, nor sound rational opinion. If someone asks: "But neither its owner nor anyone else will ever recognize it?" We respond: So what? On what basis do you assert that a Muslim's ownership of their property is nullified merely by their ignorance of its specific identity or their inability to identify it? What distinguishes this from a runaway slave whose appearance is perpetually indistinguishable, or a camel or horse in similar circumstances? Do you deem ownership nullified in all such cases solely because no one—neither the owner nor others—can ever identify it?

L22354–22355 وَلَئِنْ كَانَ النَّاسُ لَا يَعْرِفُونَهُ وَلَا يُمَيِّزُونَهُ، فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَعْرِفُهُ وَيُمَيِّزُهُ {لا يَضِلُّ رَبِّي وَلا يَنْسَى} [طه: ٥٢] بَلْ هُوَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ عَارِفٌ بِهِ، وَبِتَقَلُّبِهِ وَمَثْوَاهُ، كَاتِبٌ لِصَاحِبِهِ أَجْرَ مَا نِيلَ مِنْهُ، وَمَا يَتَنَاسَلُ مِنْهُ فِي الْأَبَدِ.

Even if people neither recognize him nor discern him, Allah, the Exalted, recognizes and discerns him: "My Lord neither errs nor forgets" [20:52]. Rather, He, the Mighty and Majestic, is fully aware of him, his movements, and his abode, recording for the one associated with him the reward of what is obtained from him and what is multiplied from him eternally.[12]

L22356 What is the difference between this and land that becomes mixed so that it is neither demarcated nor distinguishable? Do you suppose ownership thereby ceases for it? Allah is far removed from this! Rather, the unequivocal truth is that all of that remains under its owner's ownership until the Day of Resurrection.

L22357 And we—even if we rule regarding property whose owner's identification is despaired of, through the apparent ruling, to be allocated for the interests of the Muslims, the poor and needy, or the one who first takes possession of it among the believers—this does not extinguish the owner's right. Should the owner come at any time and establish his rightful claim, we would restore it to him. Such property constitutes a found item among lost items, owned by the one awarded it through the explicit ruling of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—until its owner comes, if he ever does.

L22358 Some people prohibited the sale of all such things and said: "We only prohibited selling them due to their absence." Ali said: "We have nullified—by the assistance of Allah, the Most High—this opinion and established proof for the obligation of selling absent items. Others prohibited this, arguing that its delivery is impossible. This is baseless, for delivery is neither required nor mandated by the Quran, the Sunnah, or any evidence whatsoever. The only obligation is that the seller must not obstruct the buyer from accessing what he purchased. If he does so, he becomes sinful and unjust. Another group prohibited it, arguing that it involves gharar (uncertainty), as 'the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—forbade the sale of gharar.'" Abu Muhammad said: "This is not gharar, for it is the sale of something whose ownership by the seller is confirmed, with known attributes and quantity. Thus, it is sold, and the buyer validly acquires ownership of it. If he obtains it, then that is acceptable; if not, he has received a reward as compensation—a reward better than this world and all it contains—and his deal has been profitable."[13]

وَمَنَعَ قَوْمٌ مِنْ بَيْعِ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ؟ وَقَالُوا: إنَّمَا مَنَعْنَا مِنْ بَيْعِهِ لِمَغِيبِهِ؟ قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَقَدْ أَبْطَلْنَا - بِعَوْنِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى -: هَذَا الْقَوْلَ وَأَتَيْنَا بِالْبُرْهَانِ عَلَى وُجُوبِ بَيْعِ الْغَائِبَاتِ، وَمَنَعَ قَوْمٌ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَاحْتَجُّوا بِأَنَّهُ لَا يُقْدَرُ عَلَى تَسْلِيمِهِ -: وَهَذَا لَا شَيْءَ؛ لِأَنَّ التَّسْلِيمَ لَا يَلْزَمُ وَلَا يُوجِبُهُ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ وَلَا دَلِيلٌ أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا اللَّازِمُ أَنْ لَا يَحُولَ الْبَائِعُ بَيْنَ الْمُشْتَرِي وَبَيْنَ مَا اشْتَرَى مِنْهُ فَقَطْ فَيَكُونَ إنْ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ عَاصِيًا ظَالِمًا، وَمَنَعَ آخَرُونَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَاحْتَجُّوا بِأَنَّهُ غَرَرٌ؛ وَقَدْ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ» ؟ قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: لَيْسَ هَذَا غَرَرًا لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ قَدْ صَحَّ مِلْكُ بَائِعِهِ عَلَيْهِ وَهُوَ مَعْلُومُ الصِّفَةِ وَالْقَدْرِ، فَعَلَى ذَلِكَ يُبَاعُ وَيَمْلِكُهُ الْمُشْتَرِي مِلْكًا صَحِيحًا، فَإِنْ وَجَدَهُ فَذَلِكَ، وَإِنْ لَمْ يَجِدْهُ فَقَدْ اسْتَعَاضَ الْأَجْرَ الَّذِي هُوَ خَيْرٌ مِنْ الدُّنْيَا وَمَا فِيهَا وَرَبِحَتْ صَفْقَتُهُ.

L22359 If this were considered uncertainty (gharar), then the sale of all animals—

whether present or absent—would involve impermissible and invalid uncertainty, because the buyer does not know whether the animal will survive an hour after purchase or die, nor whether it will remain healthy or fall ill with a minor ailment that alters its condition, a severe ailment that ruins it, or most of it. However, what is anticipated in renewed agreements is not considered uncertainty, because divine decrees proceed according to what is unknown and beyond human power to repel, and because it pertains to the unseen. Allah Almighty says: "Say, 'None in the heavens and earth knows the unseen except Allah'" (27:65).[14]

L22360–22361 He, the Exalted, said: "It may well be that their appointed time has already drawn near." [Al-A'raf: 185][15]

L22362 Gharar refers to a transaction concluded based on ignorance of its quantity or characteristics at the time of contracting.

L22363 If they say: Suppose he was dead at the time of the contract, or his attributes had changed? We respond: He is deemed alive under the life status confirmed as valid until his death is verified, and his attributes remain as ascertained until their alteration is validly established. If his death is verified, the transaction is annulled, and if the alteration is confirmed, the same ruling applies.

L22364 And if you say, "This invalidates its sale," then invalidate the sale of every absent animal—even if it is behind a wall—for it might have died at the very moment the transaction was concluded, or changed due to a fracture, pain, or blindness in one eye.

L22365 Yes, and forbid the sale of eggs, walnuts, almonds, and anything with a shell, since they may be spoiled - is there no distinction between any of these? The gharar (prohibited uncertainty) lies in what you have permitted: selling unseen commodities that no one has ever observed - such as carrots, herbs, and radishes, which may be soiled or rotten; and what some of you have permitted by selling what has not yet been created, like the contents of

وَلَئِنْ قُلْتُمْ: إِنَّ هَذَا يَمْنَعُ مِنْ بَيْعِهِ فَامْنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ كُلِّ غَائِبٍ مِنْ الْحَيَوَانِ - وَلَوْ أَنَّهُ خَلْفَ الْجِدَارِ - إِذْ لَعَلَّهُ قَدْ مَاتَ لِلْوَقْتِ حِينَ عَقَدَ الصَّفْقَةَ أَوْ تَغَيَّرَ بِكَسْرٍ، أَوْ وَجَعٍ، أَوْ عَوَرٍ.

L22366 And from the sale of a slaughtered sheep's meat that has not yet been skinned - such that none of Allah's creation knows its characteristic - this and similar transactions constitute the prohibited sale of gharar, yet you have permitted it instead of what has valid ownership and whose characteristics are known.

وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: إِنَّمَا مَنَعْنَا مِنْ ذَلِكَ بِالنَّصِّ الْوَارِدِ فِيهِ؟ فَقُلْنَا: تِلْكَ آثَارٌ مَكْذُوبَةٌ لَا يَحِلُّ الِاحْتِجَاجُ بِهَا، وَلَوْ صَحَّتْ لَكُنَّا أَبْدَرَ إِلَى الْأَخْذِ بِهَا مِنْكُمْ.

L22367 Some of them said: "We only prohibited that based on the transmitted text concerning it." We replied: "These are fabricated traditions; it is impermissible to rely on them as proof. Had they been authentic, we would have been the first to adopt them before you."

وَهِيَ كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ الْعَلَاءِ عَنْ جَهْضَمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ الْعَبْدِيِّ عَنْ شَهْرِ بْنِ حَوْشَبٍ الْأَشْعَرِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْعَبْدِ وَهُوَ آبِقٌ، وَعَنْ أَنْ تُبَاعَ الْمَغَانِمُ قَبْلَ أَنْ تُقْسَمَ، وَعَنْ بَيْعِ الصَّدَقَاتِ قَبْلَ أَنْ تُقْبَضَ» .

L22368–22370 And it is as we have narrated through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Yaḥyā ibn al-ʿAlāʾ from Jahḍam ibn ʿAbd Allāh from Muḥammad ibn Zayd al-ʿAbdī from Shahr ibn Ḥawshab al-Ashʿarī from Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī: He prohibited The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited selling a runaway slave, selling war booty before it is distributed, and selling obligatory alms (Zakat) before they are received.

L22371 From the transmission path of Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah: Ḥātim ibn Ismāʿīl he narrated to us from Jahḍam ibn ʿAbd Allāh from Muḥammad ibn Ibrāhīm al-Bāhilī from Muḥammad ibn Zayd from Shahr ibn Ḥawshab from Abū Saʿīd: "The Messenger of Allāh (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited the purchase of what is in the wombs of livestock until they give birth, the purchase of what is in their udders except by measure, the purchase of a runaway slave, the purchase of undistributed war spoils until they are divided, the purchase of alms until they are collected, and the sale of the diver's unrecovered catch."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: جَهْضَمٌ، وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ، وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ الْعَبْدِيُّ: مَجْهُولُونَ، وَشَهْرٌ مَتْرُوكٌ - ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّحُوهُ فَهُوَ دَمَارٌ عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ مُخَالِفُونَ لِمَا فِيهِ، وَكُلُّهُمْ - يَعْنِي الْحَاضِرِينَ مِنْ خُصُومِنَا - يُجِيزُونَ بَيْعَ الْأَجِنَّةِ فِي بُطُونِ الْأُمَّهَاتِ مَعَ الْأُمَّهَاتِ.

L22372 Abū Muḥammad said: Jahḍam, Muḥammad ibn Ibrāhīm, and Muḥammad ibn Zayd al-ʿAbdī are unknown, and Shahr is disregarded. Moreover, if they were to authenticate it, it would lead to their ruin, for they contradict its contents. All of them—meaning those present among our opponents—permit the sale of fetuses in their mothers' wombs along with the mothers.

L22373 The Malikis permit the sale of milk that has not yet been created or is still in the udders without measurement, but two months or approximately that duration.

وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ يُجِيزُونَ بَيْعَ اللَّبَنِ الَّذِي لَمْ يُخْلَقْ بَعْدُ وَالَّذِي فِي الضُّرُوعِ بِغَيْرِ كَيْلٍ لَكِنْ شَهْرَيْنِ أَوْ نَحْوَ ذَلِكَ.

L22374 They permit purchasing spoils before they are distributed—rather, it is considered obligatory and preferable according to them. The Hanafis allow taking monetary equivalents for obligatory zakah—this constitutes selling zakah before taking possession of it, and this is truly a sale of uncertainty (gharar), for one does not know what was sold, nor which item was sold, nor the value of what was taken [as substitute]—this is truly unlawful consumption of wealth, truly gharar, and truly prohibited.

وَيُجِيزُونَ شِرَاءَ الْمَغَانِمِ قَبْلَ أَنْ تُقْسَمَ بَلْ هُوَ الْوَاجِبُ عِنْدَهُمْ وَالْأَوْلَى؟ وَالْحَنَفِيُّونَ يُجِيزُونَ أَخْذَ الْقِيمَةِ عَنْ الصَّدَقَةِ الْوَاجِبَةِ - وَهَذَا هُوَ بَيْعُ الصَّدَقَةِ قَبْلَ أَنْ تُقْبَضَ، وَهَذَا بَيْعُ الْغَرَرِ حَقًّا؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَدْرِي مَا بَاعَ وَلَا أَيَّهَا بَاعَ، وَلَا قِيمَةَ مَاذَا أَخَذَ -: فَهُوَ أَكْلُ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ حَقًّا، وَالْغَرَرُ حَقًّا، وَالْحَرَامُ حَقًّا.

L22375 They cited a report transmitted by Yazīd ibn Abī Ziyād—who is weak—containing a prohibition against selling fish in the water. Furthermore, even if it were authentic, it would not serve as proof for them, because it would only constitute a prohibition against selling them before they are caught—and this is our position, just as they interpreted their report regarding the prohibition against selling an absconding slave as applying while he is absconding: No, even if he is within one's control.

L22376 Among the wonders of the world is their use of their own narration as evidence while they are the first to oppose it, and they thereby prohibit what is not mentioned in it as part of the sale of a stray camel. If they say: "We analogized the stray camel to the runaway slave," we say: "All analogy is invalid." Then we say to the Hanafis: "How could you not analogize the stray camel in applying the stipulated reward for it to that of the runaway slave?"

L22377–22378 If they say: "The narration does not mention the runaway slave?" We respond: "Does this rejected narration (also) not pertain specifically to the runaway slave?" Ali said: "It has been transmitted to us from Sinān ibn Salama and Ikrimah that they did not permit selling a runaway slave." Ikrimah added: "Nor a stray camel." Among those from whom reports have reached us, sharing our opinion, is what was transmitted through Ibn Abi Shaybah's chain: 'Abdah ibn Sulaymān narrated from 'Ubayd Allāh ibn 'Umar from Nāfi' from Ibn 'Umar that he purchased a camel while it was stray.

أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا عَبْدَةُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانُ عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: أَنَّهُ اشْتَرَى بَعِيرًا وَهُوَ شَارِدٌ.

L22379 قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: مَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُ مُخَالِفًا مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -، وَهَذَا إِسْنَادٌ فِي غَايَةِ الصِّحَّةِ وَالثِّقَةِ، وَهُمْ يُعَظِّمُونَ خِلَافَ مِثْلِ هَذَا إِذَا وَافَقَهُمْ وَيَجْعَلُونَهُ إِجْمَاعًا، وَعَهْدُنَا بِالْحَنَفِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ يَقُولُونَ: إِذَا رَوَى الصَّاحِبُ خَبَرًا وَخَالَفَهُ فَهُوَ أَعْلَمُ بِمَا رَوَى، وَهُوَ حُجَّةٌ فِي تَرْكِ الْخَبَرِ.

L22380 وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ عُبَيْدَةَ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ دِينَارٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ» .

L22381 وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: إِبَاحَةُ بَيْعِ الْجَمَلِ الشَّارِدِ - فَلَوْ كَانَ عِنْدَهُ غَرَرًا مَا خَالَفَ مَا

L22382 رَوَى، هَذَا لَازِمٌ لَهُمْ عَلَى أُصُولِهِمْ، وَإِلَّا فَالتَّنَاقُضُ حَاصِلٌ، وَهَذَا أَخَفُّ شَيْءٍ عَلَيْهِمْ.

L22383 وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا جَرِيرٌ عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنِ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ شُرَيْحٍ: أَنَّ رَجُلًا أَتَاهُ فَقَالَ: إِنَّ لِي عَبْدًا آبِقًا، وَإِنَّ رَجُلًا يُسَاوِمُنِي بِهِ، أَفَأَبِيعُهُ مِنْهُ؟ قَالَ: نَعَمْ، فَإِنَّكَ إِذَا رَأَيْتَهُ فَأَنْتَ بِالْخِيَارِ إِنْ شِئْتَ أَجَزْتَ الْبَيْعَ وَإِنْ شِئْتَ لَمْ تُجِزْهُ - قَالَ الشَّعْبِيُّ: إِذَا أَعْلَمَهُ مِنْهُ مَا كَانَ يَعْلَمُ مِنْهُ جَازَ بَيْعُهُ وَلَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُ خِيَارٌ.

L22384 From the narration of Hammad ibn Salamah: Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani reported from Muhammad ibn Sirin that a man's slave absconded. A man said to him, [16] Hadith references (L22380): Sunan Ibn Majah 2194; Sunan Ibn Majah 2195; Jami at-Tirmidhi 1230.

"Sell me your slave," so he sold him. They then disputed and took their case to Shurayh. Shurayh said, "If he disclosed to him what he knew, the sale is valid."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ فَإِنَّ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيَّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا أَبَقَ غُلَامُهُ، فَقَالَ لَهُ رَجُلٌ: بِعْنِي غُلَامَكَ؟ فَبَاعَهُ مِنْهُ، ثُمَّ اخْتَصَمَا إِلَى شُرَيْحٍ: فَقَالَ شُرَيْحٌ: إِنْ كَانَ أَعْلَمَهُ مِثْلَ مَا عَلِمَ فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ.

L22385 From the narration of ʿAbd al-Razzāq: Maʿmar reported from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, who said: A man's slave absconded, and another man who knew his location purchased him from him. Later, the original owner brought a dispute against him to Shurayḥ. Ibn Sīrīn said: I heard Shurayḥ ask him, "Did you inform him of the slave's location and then buy him?" He nullified the sale because he had not informed him.

L22386–22387 Abu Muhammad said: This is correct, because concealing it is its proper place while he is aware of it—whichever of them knows it and conceals it, this constitutes deception and deceit, and due to both deception and deceit, the sale is invalidated.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا صَحِيحٌ، لِأَنَّ كِتْمَانَهُ مَكَانَهُ وَهُوَ يَعْلَمُهُ، أَيُّهُمَا عَلِمَهُ فَكَتَمَهُ غِشٌّ وَخَدِيعَةٌ، وَالْغِشُّ، وَالْخَدِيعَةُ يُرَدُّ مِنْهُمَا الْبَيْعُ.

L22388 From the chain of al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl, narrated to us Ḥammād ibn Zayd from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī: Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn saw no harm in purchasing the runaway slave when their knowledge about him was the same.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ نا حَمَّادُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ: أَنَّ مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ سِيرِينَ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا بِشِرَاءِ الْعَبْدِ الْآبِقِ إِذَا كَانَ عِلْمُهُمَا فِيهِ وَاحِدًا.

L22389 From the transmission of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Abu Sa'd narrated to us from Ibn Jurayj from Ibn Ṭāwūs from his father that he saw no objection to a man purchasing an absent animal if he had previously seen it. He said: "If it is sound, then it belongs to me." He did not exclude any case except distinguishing one stray from another, and a stray is absent.

L22390 Among those who permitted the sale of a stray camel and a habitually runaway slave are ʿUthmān al-Battī, Abū Bakr ibn Dāwūd, and our companions - and success comes only from Allah, the Exalted.

وَمِمَّنْ أَجَازَ بَيْعَ الْجَمَلِ الشَّارِدِ، وَالْعَبْدِ الْآبِقِ: عُثْمَانُ الْبَتِّيُّ وَأَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ دَاوُد، وَأَصْحَابُنَا - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22391 An issue concerning the sale of musk while still in its gland, along with the gland itself.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ الْمِسْكِ فِي نَافِجَتِهِ مَعَ النَّافِجَةِ]

L22392 Issue 1424: The sale of musk within its gland along with the gland, date pits within dates along with the dates, the contents of an egg along with the egg itself, carrots, almonds with their shell, pistachios, pine nuts, acorns, chestnuts, and every item with a covering—whether it has two coverings or one—along with its covering, honey with wax within its wax along with the wax, and a slaughtered sheep with its skin (still attached)—all of this is permissible.

١٤٢٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَبَيْعُ الْمِسْكِ فِي نَافِجَتِهِ مَعَ النَّافِجَةِ، وَالنَّوَى فِي التَّمْرِ مَعَ التَّمْرِ، وَمَا فِي دَاخِلِ الْبَيْضِ مَعَ الْبَيْضِ، وَالْجَزَرِ، وَاللَّوْزِ، وَالْفُسْتُقِ، وَالصَّنَوْبَرِ، وَالْبَلُّوطِ، وَالْقَسْطَلِ، وَكُلِّ ذِي قِشْرٍ مَعَ قِشْرِهِ - كَانَ عَلَيْهِ قِشْرَانِ أَوْ وَاحِدٌ - وَالْعَسَلِ مَعَ الشَّمْعِ فِي شَمْعِهِ، وَالشَّاةِ الْمَذْبُوحَةِ فِي جِلْدِهَا مَعَ جِلْدِهَا: جَائِزٌ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ.

L22393 And thus, everything Allah, Exalted is He, has created—as it inherently exists among creation—contains what is within it as an integral part of itself.

وَهَكَذَا كُلُّ مَا خَلَقَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى كَمَا هُوَ مِمَّا يَكُونُ مَا فِي دَاخِلِهِ بَعْضًا لَهُ.

L22394 Likewise, the olive with the oil it contains, sesame with the oil it contains, female livestock with the milk in their udders, hulled wheat and sorghum in their husks with the husks, and in their ears of grain with the ears—all of this is permissible and valid.

L22395 It is impermissible to sell anything concealed within another item that people have hidden if it is among items that no one has seen—neither with its container nor without it. However, if it is among items that have been seen, selling it based on its description is permissible, such as honey, ghee in its container, milk likewise, wheat in its container, and all other similar items including carrots, onions, leeks, turnips, and radishes—all before they are uprooted.

L22396 Al-Shafi'i said: If something has two husks, it is not permissible to sell it until the outer husk is removed.

وَقَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّ: مَا لَهُ قِشْرَانِ فَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهُ حَتَّى يُزَالَ الْقِشْرُ الْأَعْلَى.

L22397 Abū Muḥammad said: Every physical entity that Allah the Exalted created possesses length, width, and depth. Allah the Exalted stated: "Allah has made lawful selling" [Al-Baqarah: 275]. Therefore, the sale of everything we have mentioned is likewise permissible by the explicit textual ruling of the Quran.[17]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: كُلُّ جِسْمٍ خَلَقَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فَلَهُ طُولٌ، وَعَرْضٌ، وَعُمْقٌ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] وَكُلُّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا فَكَذَلِكَ بَيْعُهُ بِنَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ جَائِزٌ.

L22398–22399 The scholars have unanimously agreed, and the established Sunnahs affirmed by consensus confirm the permissibility of selling dates, grapes, and raisins, and that the pits of dates and the seeds of grapes and raisins are included in the sale.

[17] Qur'an references (L22397): Qur'an 2:275 (Al-Baqarah).

وَأَجْمَعُوا عَلَى جَوَازِ بَيْعِ الْبَيْضِ كَمَا هُوَ، وَإِنَّمَا الْغَرَضُ مِنْهُ مَا فِي دَاخِلِهِ، وَدَخَلَ الْقِشْرُ فِي الْبَيْعِ بِلَا خِلَافٍ مِنْ أَحَدٍ.

L22400 They unanimously agreed upon the permissibility of selling eggs in their natural state, for the purpose is solely their interior contents. The shell is included in the sale without any disagreement from anyone.

L22401 Similarly, the olive with its oil, the sesame with its oil, and the slaughtered ewe as it is—Oh, would that I knew: what distinguishes these from what they disputed, such as musk in its gland along with the gland, or honey in its comb along with the comb? There is no basis for distinction—neither in the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor the statement of a Companion, nor a Follower, nor analogy, nor reason, nor any valid opinion. All these are transactions Allah the Exalted has permitted without singling out anything. He says: "And He has detailed for you what He has forbidden upon you" (6:119). Had it been forbidden, Allah would have specified it. Since He did not detail it, its permissibility is textually established.[18]

L22402 If they say, "This is gharar," we respond: "By your own assertion, is not all that we have mentioned also gharar? Otherwise, what is the difference?" As for the correct ruling, none of it constitutes gharar, for it is a single entity created by Allah, the Almighty and Majestic, as it is, and everything within it is a part of its whole.

L22403 As for al-Shāfiʿī's statement, it is evidently invalid because there is no distinction in the concealed state of knowledge regarding the quality of what lies within the shell—whether it is in one shell, two shells, or more. Yet he permitted the sale of eggs with two coverings through visible inspection: one being the qayḍ (the outer shell), and the second being the ghirqīʾ (membrane). The buyer's interest is solely in what is within them, not in the coverings themselves; a position we do not know to have been held by anyone before him.

[18] Qur'an references (L22401): Qur'an 6:119 (Al-An'am).

If it is said: “We are able to remove whatever we can of gharar, are we obligated to remove it?” We respond: “Indeed, you are capable of removing the secondary layer—so you must remove it without fail, for it is gharar.”

If they say: “Is that not harmful to almonds, walnuts, chestnuts, and acorns?” We say: No, there is no harm to acorns, nor to chestnuts, nor to almonds—in most cases.

Furthermore, there is no harm in removing pits from dates.

Moreover, we do not know of any prohibition that is made permissible due to fear of harm to a fruit if harm is feared for it. If a man had fresh dates (rutab) that cannot dry and could find no buyer for them except in exchange for dried dates (tamr), it would not be lawful for him to sell them out of fear of harm.

Similarly, if a man fears an oppressive enemy [may harm] his fruit, and its readiness [for harvest] has not yet become evident, it is impermissible to sell it due to the fear of harm befalling it.

The Legal Question of Selling a Pregnant Animal Along with Its Fetus.

1425 – Issue

Among these rulings is the sale of a pregnant female along with her fetus if she was impregnated by someone other than her owner, because the fetus is created by Allah, the Exalted, from the man’s semen, the woman’s semen, and her blood. Thus, it is part of her organs and her contents as long as the soul has not been breathed into it. Allah, the Most High, says: “We created man from an extract of clay” [23:12], “then We made him a sperm-drop in a firm resting place” [23:13], “then We created the sperm-drop into a clinging clot, then We created the clot into a lump of flesh, then We created the lump into bones, then We clothed the bones with flesh, then We produced him as another creation. So blessed is Allah, the best of creators” [23:14]. Therefore, فَإِنْ قِيلَ: إنَّ مَا قَدَرْنَا عَلَى إزَالَتِهِ مِنْ الْغَرَرِ فَعَلَيْنَا أَنْ نُزِيلَهُ؟ قُلْنَا: وَإِنَّكُمْ لَقَادِرُونَ عَلَى إزَالَةِ الْقِشْرِ الثَّانِي فَأَزِيلُوهُ وَلَا بُدَّ، لِأَنَّهُ غَرَرٌ -.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَا ذَلِكَ ضَرَرٌ عَلَى اللَّوْزِ، وَالْجَوْزِ، وَالْقَسْطَلِ، وَالْبَلُّوطِ؟ قُلْنَا: لَا، مَا فِيهِ ضَرَرٌ عَلَى الْبَلُّوطِ، وَلَا عَلَى الْقَسْطَلِ، وَلَا عَلَى اللَّوْزِ - فِي الْأَكْثَرِ -.

وَأَيْضًا: فَلَا ضَرَرَ عَلَى التَّمْرِ فِي إزَالَةِ نَوَاهُ.

وَأَيْضًا: فَمَا عَلِمْنَا حَرَامًا يُحِلُّهُ خَوْفُ ضَرَرٍ عَلَى فَاكِهَةٍ لَوْ خِيفَ عَلَيْهَا، وَلَوْ أَنَّ امْرَءًا لَهُ رُطَبٌ لَا يَيْبَسُ وَلَمْ يَجِدْ مَنْ يَشْتَرِيهِ مِنْهُ إلَّا بِتَمْرٍ يَابِسٍ لَمَا حَلَّ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ خَوْفَ الضَّرَرِ.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَوْ أَنَّ امْرَءًا خَافَ عَدُوًّا ظَالِمًا عَلَى ثَمَرَتِهِ وَلَمْ يَكُنْ بَدَا صَلَاحُهَا لَمْ يَحِلَّ بَيْعُهَا خَوْفَ الضَّرَرِ عَلَيْهَا؟

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ الْحَامِلِ بِحَمْلِهَا]

: وَمِنْ هَذَا بَيْعُ الْحَامِلِ بِحَمْلِهَا إذَا كَانَتْ حَامِلًا مِنْ غَيْرِ سَيِّدِهَا، لِأَنَّ الْحَمْلَ خَلَقَهُ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ مِنْ مَنِيِّ الرَّجُلِ وَمَنِيِّ الْمَرْأَةِ وَدَمِهَا، فَهُوَ بَعْضُ أَعْضَائِهَا وَحَشْوَتِهَا، مَا لَمْ يُنْفَخْ فِيهِ الرُّوحُ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَلَقَدْ خَلَقْنَا الإِنْسَانَ مِنْ سُلالَةٍ مِنْ طِينٍ} [المؤمنون: ١٢] {ثُمَّ جَعَلْنَاهُ نُطْفَةً فِي قَرَارٍ مَكِينٍ} [المؤمنون: ١٣] {ثُمَّ خَلَقْنَا النُّطْفَةَ عَلَقَةً فَخَلَقْنَا الْعَلَقَةَ مُضْغَةً فَخَلَقْنَا الْمُضْغَةَ عِظَامًا فَكَسَوْنَا الْعِظَامَ لَحْمًا ثُمَّ أَنْشَأْنَاهُ خَلْقًا آخَرَ فَتَبَارَكَ اللَّهُ أَحْسَنُ الْخَالِقِينَ} [المؤمنون: ١٤] فَبَيْعُهَا بِحَمْلِهَا كَمَا هِيَ جَائِزٌ، وَهِيَ وَحَمْلُهَا لِلْمُشْتَرِي.

selling her along with her fetus as she is, is permissible, and both she and her fetus belong to the buyer.[19]

فَإِذَا نُفِخَ فِيهِ الرُّوحُ، فَقَدْ اخْتَلَفَ أَهْلُ الْعِلْمِ؟ فَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ: هُوَ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ غَيْرُهَا، لِأَنَّهَا أُنْثَى، وَقَدْ يَكُونُ الْجَنِينُ ذَكَرًا وَهِيَ فَرْدَةٌ وَقَدْ يَكُونُ فِي بَطْنِهَا اثْنَانِ، وَقَدْ تَكُونُ هِيَ كَافِرَةً وَمَا فِي بَطْنِهَا مُؤْمِنًا، وَقَدْ يَمُوتُ أَحَدُهُمَا وَيَعِيشُ الْآخَرُ، وَيَكُونُ أَحَدُهُمَا مَعِيبًا وَالْآخَرُ صَحِيحًا، وَيَكُونُ أَحَدُهُمَا أَسْوَدَ وَالْآخَرُ أَبْيَضَ - وَلَوْ وَجَبَ عَلَيْهَا قَتْلٌ لَمْ تُقْتَلْ هِيَ حَتَّى تَلِدَ.

L22413 When the soul is breathed into it, the scholars have indeed differed. A faction of scholars said: The fetus is distinct from her after that, for she is female while the fetus may be male, though she is singular. There may be two in her womb; she might be a disbeliever while what is in her womb is a believer; one of them might die while the other survives; one might be defective while the other is sound; or one might be black while the other is white. Were she to be sentenced to death, she would not be executed until she delivers.

فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ غَيْرُهَا، فَلَا يَجُوزُ دُخُولُهُ فِي بَيْعِهَا - وَهَكَذَا فِي إِنَاثِ سَائِرِ الْحَيَوَانِ - حَاشَ اخْتِلَافَ الدِّينِ فَقَطْ، أَوْ الْقَتْلَ فَقَطْ.

L22414 Thus, it is confirmed that it is other than her, so it is not permissible to include it in her sale (and similarly for females of other animals), except for difference in religion alone, or killing alone.

L22415 Others said: It remains as such except that until now, it constitutes part of what Allah the Exalted created within the date and its offspring from it, since it has not yet separated. Thus, its ruling in sale persists as before until separation occurs. The fact that it is distinct from the date, its name differs from the date's name, and its attributes differ from the date's attributes does not remove it from its original legal ruling except through specific textual evidence. These pits are undoubtedly distinct from the date itself, though it is merely called "the date's pits," with attributes differing from the date's attributes and a name distinct from the date's name. Similarly, the eggshell is also [treated likewise].

وَكَذَلِكَ بَيْضُ ذَاتِ الْبَيْضِ قَبْلَ أَنْ تَبِيضَهُ، وَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ جَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ كَمَا هُوَ لِأَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى خَلَقَ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ كَمَا هُوَ وَمَا زَالَ النَّاسُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَبِعِلْمِهِ يَبِيعُونَ التَّمْرَ، وَيَتَوَاهَبُونَهُ.

L22416–22418 Similarly, the eggs of a hen before they are laid, and all such items—their sale is permissible in their current state because Allah... Exalted is He, He created all of that as it is. During the time of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him), people continued, by His knowledge, to sell dates and give them as gifts to one another.

وَيَبِيعُونَ الْبَيْضَ وَيَتَهَادَوْنَهُ مِنْ بَيْضِ الدَّجَاجِ، وَالضِّبَابِ، وَالنَّعَامِ.

L22419 They sell eggs and exchange them as gifts, specifically eggs of chickens, [19] Qur'an references (L22412): Qur'an 23:12 (Al-Mu'minun); Qur'an 23:13 (Al-Mu'minun); Qur'an 23:14 (Al-Mu'minun).

spiny-tailed lizards, and ostriches.

وَيَتَبَايَعُونَ الْعَسَلَ وَيَتَهَادَوْنَهُ، كَمَا يَشْتَرُونَهُ فِي شَمْعِهِ.

L22420 They trade honey and reciprocally exchange it, just as they purchase it still in the comb.

L22421 They trade female sheep, female cows, female horses, female goats, female camels, female gazelles, and female slaves—whether pregnant or not—and seize all such as war spoils, divide them, inherit them, and distribute them as they are. No text has ever stipulated a different ruling for unborn offspring before birth. Therefore, selling a pregnant female along with her pregnancy is permissible as long as she has not delivered.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَا هُوَ الصَّوَابُ عِنْدَنَا وَبِهِ نَقُولُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ كُلُّهُ بَابٌ وَاحِدٌ، وَعَمَلٌ وَاحِدٌ - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22422 Ali said: "This is the correct view according to us, and with this we assert; for it is entirely a single legal section and a unified action - and with Allah the Exalted is success."

[مَسْأَلَةٌ مَا تَوَلَّى الْمَرْءُ وَضْعَهُ فِي الشَّيْءِ كَالْبَذْرِ يُزْرَعُ]

An issue concerning what a person takes responsibility for placing in an object, like a seed that is sown.

L22424 1426 - Issue: This is not the case with what a person undertakes to place within the thing, such as seeds sown or pits planted. For this involves depositing one entity into another distinct from it. Rather, this and placing dirhams and dinars in a purse, wheat in a container, or ghee in a vessel are equivalent. The legal ruling applicable to one does not extend to the other.

وَمَنْ بَاعَ مِنْ مَالِهِ شَيْئًا لَمْ يَلْزَمْهُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ آخَرَ غَيْرِهِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ مَقْرُونًا مَعَهُ، وَمُضَافًا إِلَيْهِ.

L22425 Whoever sells an item from their property is not obligated to sell another item separate from it, even if it is linked to it or added to it.

فَمَنْ بَاعَ أَرْضًا فِيهِ بَذْرٌ مَزْرُوعٌ وَنَوًى مَغْرُوسٌ - ظَهَرَا أَوْ لَمْ يَظْهَرَا - فَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ لِلْبَائِعِ وَلَا يَدْخُلُ فِي الْبَيْعِ لِمَا ذَكَرْنَا.

L22426 Whoever sells land containing sown seeds and planted date pits—whether they have emerged or not—all such [seeds and pits] belong to the seller and are excluded from the sale, for the reason we have stated.

L22427 Malik said: As for what has visibly sprouted from the crop, it is excluded from the sale of the crop specifically, whereas what has not appeared remains included in the sale.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: أَمَّا مَا يَظْهَرُ نَبَاتُهُ فَلَا يَدْخُلُ فِي الْبَيْعِ مِنْ الزَّرْعِ خَاصَّةً، وَأَمَّا مَا لَمْ يَظْهَرْ فَهُوَ فِي الْبَيْعِ.

L22428 Abu Muhammad said: This is an invalid distinction because there is no evidence for its validity—neither from the Qur'an, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor analogy, nor the statement of any of the Salaf, nor precautionary measures, nor an opinion with a sound basis. Rather, the Qur'an invalidates this by the statement of the Exalted: "Do not consume one another's wealth wrongfully unless it be through trade by mutual consent" (Quran 4:28).[20]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا فَرْقٌ فَاسِدٌ، لِأَنَّهُ لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّتِهِ لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ وَلَا مِنْ رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قَوْلِ أَحَدٍ مِنْ السَّلَفِ، وَلَا مِنْ احْتِيَاطٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، بَلْ الْقُرْآنُ يُبْطِلُ هَذَا بِقَوْلِهِ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إلا أَنْ تكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] .

L22429–22430 We have established that seeds and date pits are unquestionably the seller's property. Thus, it is not lawful for anyone else to take them except through consent that grants ownership. And with Allah, the Most High, is success.

وَوَجَدْنَا الْبَذْرَ، وَالنَّوَى: مَالًا لِلْبَائِعِ بِلَا شَكٍّ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لِغَيْرِهِ أَخْذُهُ إلَّا بِالرِّضَا الَّذِي مَلَّكَهُ لَهُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22431 Issue: The sale of musk without the musk sac prior to its removal from it.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ الْمِسْكِ دُونَ النَّافِجَةِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ مِنْهَا]

L22432 Issue 1427: It is impermissible to sell any of the aforementioned absent items, except for what is originally attached to them. Specifically, it is impermissible to sell date pits—of any kind—before they are extracted and made visible, except for what is attached to them.

١٤٢٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِنْ الْمُغَيَّبَاتِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ كُلِّهَا دُونَ مَا عَلَيْهَا أَصْلًا -: لَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ النَّوَى - أَيُّ نَوًى كَانَ - قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ وَإِظْهَارِهِ دُونَ مَا عَلَيْهِ.

L22433 The sale of musk without the musk gland before extracting it from the musk gland is not permissible.

وَلَا بَيْعُ الْمِسْكِ دُونَ النَّافِجَةِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ مِنْ النَّافِجَةِ.

L22434 The sale of eggs without their shells is invalid unless the shells have already been removed.

وَلَا بَيْعُ الْبَيْضِ دُونَ الْقِشْرِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ عَنْهُ.

L22435 The sale of walnuts, almonds, pistachios, pine nuts, acorns, chestnuts, hazelnuts, or any item still encased within its outer shell is not permitted before extracting it from its shell.

وَلَا بَيْعُ حَبِّ الْجَوْزِ، وَاللَّوْزِ، وَالْفُسْتُقِ، وَالصَّنَوْبَرِ، وَالْبَلُّوطِ، وَالْقَسْطَلِ، وَالْجُلَّوْزِ، وَكُلِّ ذِي قِشْرَةٍ دُونَ قِشْرِهِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ مِنْ قِشْرِهِ.

L22436 The sale of honey is invalid if sold without its wax before the honey has been separated from it.

وَلَا بَيْعُ الْعَسَلِ دُونَ شَمْعِهِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ مِنْ شَمْعِهِ.

[20] Qur'an references (L22428): Qur'an 4:29 (An-Nisa).

وَلَا لَحْمِ شَاةٍ مَذْبُوحَةٍ دُونَ جِلْدِهَا قَبْلَ سَلْخِهَا.

L22437 Nor the meat of a slaughtered sheep taken without its skin before it is skinned.

وَلَا بَيْعُ زَيْتٍ دُونَ الزَّيْتُونِ قَبْلَ عَصْرِهِ.

L22438 Nor is it permissible to sell oil without the olives before they are pressed.

وَلَا بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِنْ الْأَدْهَانِ دُونَ مَا هُوَ فِيهِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ مِنْهَا.

L22439 It is impermissible to sell any of the oils while still in their source before extracting them from it.

وَلَا بَيْعُ حَبِّ الْبُرِّ دُونَ أَكْمَامِهِ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ مِنْهَا.

L22440 It is invalid to sell wheat grains while they are still in their husks.

وَلَا بَيْعُ سَمْنٍ مِنْ لَبَنٍ قَبْلَ إخْرَاجِهِ، وَلَا بَيْعُ لَبَنٍ قَبْلَ حَلْبِهِ أَصْلًا.

L22441 Nor is the sale of clarified butter before its extraction from milk permissible, nor is the sale of milk before it is milked absolutely.

وَلَا بَيْعُ الْجَزَرِ، وَالْبَصَلِ، وَالْكُرَّاثِ، وَالْفُجْلِ قَبْلَ قَلْعِهِ - لَا مَعَ الْأَرْضِ وَلَا دُونَهَا - لِأَنَّ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، لَا يُدْرَى مِقْدَارُهُ وَلَا صِفَتُهُ وَلَا رَآهُ أَحَدٌ فَيَصِفُهُ.

L22442 The sale of carrots, onions, leeks, and radishes before its uprooting—neither with the land nor without it—is prohibited, for all such sales constitute gharar, as its quantity and quality cannot be known, and no one has seen it to describe it.

وَهُوَ أَيْضًا أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ، قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] .

L22443 And it is also wrongful consumption of wealth. Allah the Exalted said: “Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, unless it be a trade conducted by mutual consent between you” [Quran 4:29].[21]

L22444 By necessity, everyone knows that consent cannot possibly apply to anything unknown, for mutual consent can only pertain to what is known and established. Since there is no means to determine the attributes or measure of anything we have mentioned, mutual consent about it becomes impossible. When mutual consent is impossible, selling such things becomes unlawful, amounting to the unlawful consumption of wealth.

L22445–22447 As for carrots, onions, leeks, and radishes—all these are items no one has seen at all, and their attributes remain unknown. When sold alone, this constitutes a speculative sale (gharar) and wrongful consumption of property. However, selling them alongside the land is permissible. It is not among what Allah, the Exalted, first created in the earth such that it constitutes part of it. Rather, it is something from the farmer’s wealth allocated for the earth that he deposited in it, just as if he had deposited any part of his other wealth in it—there being no difference between this and that. As long as the seed has not detached from its original form, its sale is permissible with the land or without it, because it is a specified item of known quantity, and the seller or the one who described it has seen it. Therefore, its sale is permissible since mutual consent about it is feasible. However, if it transforms from its state, it ceases to be possible to know its condition or attributes. It is not part of the earth but something added to it, rendering its attributes wholly unknown. Selling something with unspecified attributes is impermissible in any manner, as it constitutes a sale involving uncertainty (gharar) until it is uprooted and inspected. And success comes only from Allah, the Exalted.

يَسْتَحِلَّ الْبَذْرُ عَنْ هَيْئَتِهِ فَبَيْعُهُ جَائِزٌ مَعَ الْأَرْضِ وَدُونَهَا لِأَنَّهُ شَيْءٌ مَوْصُوفٌ مَعْرُوفُ الْقَدْرِ، وَقَدْ رَآهُ بَائِعُهُ أَوْ مَنْ وَصَفَهُ لَهُ، فَبَيْعُهُ جَائِزٌ، لِأَنَّ التَّرَاضِيَ بِهِ مُمْكِنٌ وَأَمَّا إِذَا اسْتَحَالَ عَنْ حَالِهِ فَقَدْ بَطَلَ أَنْ يَعْرِفَ كَيْفَ هُوَ وَمَا صِفَتُهُ، وَلَيْسَ هُوَ مِنَ الْأَرْضِ، وَلَكِنَّهُ شَيْءٌ مُضَافٌ إِلَيْهَا، فَهُوَ مَجْهُولُ الصِّفَةِ جُمْلَةً، وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ مَجْهُولِ الصِّفَةِ بِوَجْهٍ مِنَ الْوُجُوهِ، لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ حَتَّى يُقْلَعَ وَيُرَى - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22448 Among those who invalidated the sale of these unseen items in the earth are Al-Shāfiʿī, Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal, and Abū Sulaymān.

وَمِمَّنْ أَبْطَلَ بَيْعَ هَذِهِ الْمُغَيَّبَاتِ فِي الْأَرْضِ: الشَّافِعِيُّ، وَأَحْمَدُ بْنُ حَنْبَلٍ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ.

L22449 Our opponents present here have contradicted much of what we have mentioned: Abū Ḥanīfa permitted selling the meat of the slaughtered sheep before skinning and required the seller to perform the skinning.

وَقَدْ تَنَاقَضَ الْحَاضِرُونَ مِنْ مُخَالِفِينَا فِي كَثِيرٍ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا -: فَأَجَازَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ بَيْعَ لَحْمِ الشَّاةِ مَذْبُوحَةً قَبْلَ السَّلْخِ وَأَوْجَبَ السَّلْخَ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ.

L22450 He permitted the sale of wheat without the straw and chaff before threshing and winnowing, and placed the responsibility of threshing and winnowing on the seller.

وَأَجَازَ بَيْعَ الْبُرِّ دُونَ التِّبْنِ وَالْأَكْمَامِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُدْرَسَ وَيُصَفَّى، وَجَعَلَ الدَّرْسَ وَالتَّصْفِيَةَ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ.

L22451 He permitted the sale of carrots, onions, and other similar crops concealed in the ground.

وَأَجَازَ بَيْعَ الْجَزَرِ، وَالْبَصَلِ، وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ مُغَيَّبًا فِي الْأَرْضِ.

L22452 He obligated the seller to remove a sample from it sufficient to show the buyer. If the buyer approves it, the obligation falls upon the buyer to remove the rest of it. If the buyer undertakes to remove a sample himself and does not approve it, the sale is not binding on him. If he removes more than a sample from it, the sale becomes binding on him whether he likes it or not.

وَأَوْجَبَ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ أَنْ يَقْلَعَ مِنْهُ أُنْمُوذَجًا قَدْرَ مَا يُرِيهِ الْمُشْتَرِيَ فَإِنْ رَضِيَهُ كَانَ عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي قَلْعُ سَائِرِهِ - فَلَوْ أَنَّ الْمُشْتَرِيَ يَتَوَلَّى بِنَفْسِهِ قَلْعَ أُنْمُوذَجٍ مِنْهُ فَلَمْ يَرْضَهُ لَمْ يَلْزَمْهُ الْبَيْعُ - فَلَوْ قَلَعَ مِنْهُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ أُنْمُوذَجٍ فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ أَحَبَّ أَمْ كَرِهَ.

L22453 And Abu Yusuf said: I do not permit the seller or the buyer to uproot anything from that. If they dispute, I invalidate the sale.

وَقَالَ أَبُو يُوسُفَ: لَا أُجِيزُ الْبَائِعَ وَلَا الْمُشْتَرِيَ عَلَى قَلْعِ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ فَإِنْ تَشَاحَّا أَبْطَلْتُ الْبَيْعَ.

L22454 If the buyer removes from it the minimum measurable quantity in dry measures, he has the option to uphold or annul the sale. But if he removes more than that, he is obligated to complete the entire sale.

L22455–22457 Abū Muḥammad said: There is indeed astonishment in this. I wish I knew from where it became obligatory that the seller should be compelled to thresh, winnow, and skin, yet is not compelled to uproot carrots, onions, leeks, and radishes? Has anything more foolish than this division ever been heard? And I wish I knew: What is this "unmūdhaj" that is not an Arabic word from the language in which the Quran was revealed and with which the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—addressed us? Nor is there a legal term, then Abū Ḥanīfah came to enact through it the legal rulings - prohibiting and permitting. Thus, upon the model lie effacement and striking the nape, and upon every legal ruling enacted through the model.

L22458 Then Abū Yūsuf's determination of that by the smallest customary measure—not measures—even though sellers may use extremely small measures. We have not known carrots or radishes [to be such that] they are sold by measurement, so from where did he derive this legal ruling with its corrupt criterion—and we praise Allah the Exalted for well-being? Would that I knew: From where did they derive the permissibility of selling these absent items apart from the land? They prohibited selling a fetus without its mother, yet both matters are equal, with no distinction between any part of them. Both involve uncertainty and the sale of an unknown.

ثُمَّ تَحْدِيدُ أَبِي يُوسُفَ ذَلِكَ بِأَقَلِّ مَا يَقَعُ لَا الْمَكَايِيلَ، وَقَدْ يَتَّخِذُ الْبَاعَةُ مَكَايِيلَ صِغَارًا جِدًّا، وَمَا عَهِدْنَا بِالْجَزَرِ، وَلَا الْفُجْلِ: يَقَعَانِ فِي الْكَيْلِ، فَمِنْ أَيْنَ خَرَجَ لَهُ تَحْدِيدُ هَذِهِ الشَّرِيعَةِ بِهَذَا الْحَدِّ الْفَاسِدِ - وَنَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى عَلَى السَّلَامَةِ؟ وَلَيْتَ شِعْرِي مِنْ أَيْنَ وَقَعَ لَهُمْ جَوَازُ بَيْعِ هَذِهِ الْمُغَيَّبَاتِ دُونَ الْأَرْضِ؟ وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ الْجَنِينِ دُونَ أُمِّهِ، وَكِلَا الْأَمْرَيْنِ سَوَاءٌ لَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ شَيْءٍ مِنْهُمَا، وَكِلَاهُمَا غَرَرٌ وَبَيْعُ مَجْهُولٍ.

L22459 Furthermore, the most marginal of all these restrictions: their prohibition against selling wool still on sheep's backs, a measured cubit from this edge of this garment stretching from beginning to end, or a quantified cubit extending to the edge of a present piece of wood, and the ornamentation of this sword excluding its scabbard and blade - they falsely asserted this to constitute gharar and a conditional act invalidating the sale. Yet they did not consider threshing, winnowing, or flaying to involve gharar or conditional acts nullifying sales. Do the proponents of these contradictory opinions possess any legitimate claim to knowledge? Moreover, they permitted selling immature crops on stalks and fruits not yet visibly sound on the branch.

ثُمَّ أَطْرَفُ مِنْ هَذَا كُلِّهِ: مَنْعُهُمْ مِنْ بَيْعِ الصُّوفِ عَلَى ظُهُورِ الْغَنَمِ، وَذِرَاعٍ مَحْدُودَةٍ مِنْ هَذَا الطَّرْفِ مِنْ هَذَا الثَّوْبِ مِنْ أَوَّلِهِ إلَى آخِرِهِ، أَوْ ذِرَاعٍ مَحْدُودٍ إلَى طَرْفِهِ مِنْ خَشَبَةٍ حَاضِرَةٍ، وَحِلْيَةِ هَذَا السَّيْفِ دُونَ جَفْنِهِ وَنَصْلِهِ؟ وَرَأَوْا هَذَا غَرَرًا وَعَمَلًا مُشْتَرَطًا يُفْسِدُ الْبَيْعَ - وَكَذَبُوا فِي ذَلِكَ. وَلَمْ يَرَوْا الدَّرْسَ، وَالتَّصْفِيَةَ، وَالسَّلْخَ غَرَرًا، وَلَا عَمَلًا

مُشْتَرَطًا يُفْسِدُ الْبَيْعَ؟ فَهَلْ لِأَصْحَابِ هَذِهِ الْأَقْوَالِ الْمُتَخَاذِلَةِ حَظٌّ مِنَ الْعِلْمِ؟ ثُمَّ أَجَازُوا بَيْعَ الْقَصِيلِ عَلَى الْقَطْعِ وَالثَّمَرَةِ الَّتِي لَمْ يَبْدُ صَلَاحُهَا عَلَى الْقَطْعِ.

L22460 They permitted the sale of a palm tree stump on the ground and did not consider its severance to involve gharar or a stipulated labor invalidating the sale. Would anyone possessing a modicum of intellect doubt that cutting a bordered hem of a garment with shears or prying off an ornament from a sword's scabbard - actions not arduous for an adolescent boy - are easier and lighter than threshing a thousand kurr (a dry measure), winnowing them, and skinning a she-camel? Yet this represents the scope of their legal reasoning and jurisprudence.

L22461 "Some of them argued: 'Wool grows, and it is unclear where the cutting applies - to the wool itself or the garment?' We responded: 'The rootstock likewise grows, and it is unclear where the cutting applies to it - there is no juristic difference.'"

وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: الصُّوفُ يُنَمَّى وَلَا يُدْرَى أَيْنَ يَقَعُ الْقَطْعُ مِنْهُ وَمِنَ الثَّوْبِ؟ فَقُلْنَا: وَالْجِذْلُ يُنَمَّى وَلَا يُدْرَى أَيْنَ يَقَعُ الْقَطْعُ مِنْهُ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L22462 If they say: "It has been authentically reported from Ibn Abbas the prohibition of selling wool on the sheep's backs, and no opposing view is known among the Companions - may Allah be pleased with them -"?

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: قَدْ صَحَّ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ الْمَنْعُ مِنْ بَيْعِ الصُّوفِ عَلَى ظُهُورِ الْغَنَمِ وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -؟

L22463–22464 We said: It has been authentically reported from Ibn Umar regarding a sale involving an undefined portion - "The obligation falls upon the seller," with no known disagreement from the Companions, yet you oppose his ruling. What makes one of these two positions more valid than the other? They responded: If a land divided into plots of one hundred cubits by one hundred cubits, or a similarly measured house, were to have its owner sell ten cubits as an undivided share in the entire property, such a sale would be invalid.

قُلْنَا: وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ مَا أَدْرَكْتِ الصَّفْقَةَ مَجْمُوعًا حَيًّا فَمِنَ الْبَائِعِ، وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ فَخَالَفْتُمُوهُ، فَمَا الَّذِي جَعَلَ أَحَدَهُمَا أَوْلَى مِنَ الْآخَرِ؟ وَقَالُوا: لَوْ أَنَّ أَرْضًا تَكْسِيرُهَا مَعْلُومٌ مِائَةُ ذِرَاعٍ فِي مِثْلِهَا، أَوْ دَارًا كَذَلِكَ: فَبَاعَ صَاحِبُهَا مِنْهَا عَشَرَةَ أَذْرُعٍ فِي مِثْلِهَا مُشَاعًا فِي جَمِيعِهَا لَمْ يَجُزْ ذَلِكَ.

L22465 If he sells ten shares from a total of one hundred shares as undivided shares across the entirety of the property, this is permissible.

فَلَوْ بَاعَ مِنْهَا عَشَرَةَ أَسْهُمٍ مِنْ مِائَةِ سَهْمٍ مُشَاعًا فِي جَمِيعِهَا جَازَ ذَلِكَ -.

L22466 This is utmost confusion—prohibiting something and permitting the very same thing; both matters are precisely the sale of a tenth share in undivided co-ownership.

وَهَذَا تَخْلِيطٌ نَاهِيكَ بِهِ، وَتَحْرِيمُ شَيْءٍ وَإِبَاحَتُهُ بِعَيْنِهِ، وَكِلَا الْأَمْرَيْنِ إِنَّمَا هُوَ بَيْعُ الْعُشْرِ مُشَاعًا.

L22467 They did not permit the sale of a sword's blade, its hilt, or half of its ornamentation as undivided joint property, and they said: “This is harm” - If only I knew! What harm is there in this? As for the Mālikīs, they permitted the sale of wool still on the sheep and were justified in this ruling, except they stipulated: “provided it is taken at the time of its shearing; otherwise, it is not permitted.”

وَلَمْ يُجِيزُوا بَيْعَ نَصْلِ السَّيْفِ وَحَمَائِلِهِ وَنِصْفِ حِلْيَتِهِ مُشَاعًا، وَقَالُوا: هَذَا ضَرَرٌ - فَلَيْتَ شِعْرِي أَيُّ ضَرَرٍ فِي هَذَا؟ وَأَمَّا الْمَالِكِيُّونَ فَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ الصُّوفِ عَلَى ظُهُورِ الْغَنَمِ، وَوَفَّقُوا فِي ذَلِكَ، إِلَّا أَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: إِنْ أُخِذَ فِي جَزَازِهِ وَإِلَّا فَلَا.

L22468 And they permitted the sale of milk from numerous sheep that is two months old or less.

وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ لَبَنِ الْغَنَمِ الْكَثِيرَةِ شَهْرَيْنِ فَأَقَلَّ -.

L22469 This is a statement of evident invalidity: it involves the sale of something that has not been created and constitutes a sale of gharar.

وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ ظَاهِرُ الْفَسَادِ، أَنَّهُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ لَمْ يُخْلَقْ، وَبَيْعُ غَرَرٍ.

L22470 They prohibited the sale of all the milk from a single sheep, saying: “This is gharar (uncertainty), for the sheep may die.” We responded: “But even a large number (of sheep) may die, or some of them may die.”

وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ لَبَنِ شَاةٍ وَاحِدَةٍ كُلِّهِ، وَقَالُوا: هَذَا غَرَرٌ وَقَدْ تَمُوتُ؟ فَقُلْنَا: وَقَدْ تَمُوتُ الْكَثِيرَةُ أَوْ يَمُوتُ بَعْضُهَا.

L22471 We ask them similarly about selling the milk of two ewes? If they prohibit that, we ask them about the milk of three ewes. We keep adding one at a time until they define what they prohibit from what they permit. Then we ask them about the distinction? This is something for which there is no justification.

وَنَسْأَلُهُمْ عَنْ بَيْعِ لَبَنِ شَاتَيْنِ كَذَلِكَ؟ فَإِنْ مَنَعُوا مِنْ ذَلِكَ سَأَلْنَاهُمْ عَنْ لَبَنِ ثَلَاثِ شِيَاهٍ؟ وَلَا نَزَالُ نَزِيدُهُمْ وَاحِدَةً فَوَاحِدَةً حَتَّى يَحُدُّوا مَا يُحَرِّمُونَ مِمَّا يُحَلِّلُونَ، ثُمَّ نَسْأَلُهُمْ عَنْ الْفَرْقِ؟ وَذَلِكَ مَا لَا سَبِيلَ إِلَيْهِ.

L22472 They permitted the sale of squash interiors, jasmine, and portions of young crops before Allah the Exalted had brought these things into existence, yet did not deem this gharar. But they considered the sale of a runaway slave, a stray camel, and usurped property to be gharar. Oh, such marvels!

وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ بُطُونِ الْمَقَاثِي، وَالْيَاسَمِينِ، وَجِزَّاتِ الْقَصِيلِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَخْلُقَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى ذَلِكَ كُلَّهُ، وَلَمْ يَرَوْهُ غَرَرًا، وَرَأَوْا بَيْعَ الْعَبْدِ الْآبِقِ، وَالْجَمَلِ الشَّارِدِ وَالْمَالِ الْمَغْصُوبِ: غَرَرًا، فَيَا لَهَذِهِ الْعَجَائِبِ.

L22473 They permitted the sale of the meat of a sheep while it is still alive, excluding its skin.

وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ لَحْمِ الشَّاةِ وَهِيَ حَيَّةٌ دُونَ جِلْدِهَا.

L22474 They permitted the seller to exclude a small number of arṭāls (a unit of weight) from its meat, amounting to a third or less.

وَأَجَازُوا اسْتِثْنَاءَ أَرْطَالٍ يَسِيرَةٍ مِنْ لَحْمِهَا لِلْبَائِعِ الثُّلُثَ فَأَقَلَّ.

L22475 They forbade excluding the majority—would that I knew from which of its constituent parts those arṭāls [units of weight] are derived, when they differ in attributes and values?

وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ اسْتِثْنَاءِ أَكْثَرَ - فَلَيْتَ شِعْرِي مِنْ أَيِّ أَعْضَائِهَا تَكُونُ تِلْكَ الْأَرْطَالُ وَهِيَ مُخْتَلِفَةُ الصِّفَاتِ وَالْقِيَمِ؟

L22476–22477 They said: If one excludes the thigh, liver, or abdomen, this is impermissible.

قَالُوا: فَإِنْ اسْتَثْنَى الْفَخْذَ، أَوْ الْكَبِدَ، أَوْ الْبَطْنَ لَمْ يَجُزْ.

L22478 If he excludes the head and shed parts? He replied: If he is a traveler, it is permissible, but if he is not a traveler, it is not permissible. Thus, these were peculiar oddities - we know of no such classification from any predecessor - and contradictory statements unsupported by the Quran, the Sunnah, the statements of predecessors, or qiyās (analogical reasoning).

L22479 They permitted the sale of carrots, onions, and radishes still in the ground. Abū Muḥammad said: Some of them argued against me regarding this by citing Allah's statement, the Exalted: "They believe in the unseen" [Al-Baqarah: 3]. I replied: Then by this verse, permit the sale of the fetus in its mother's womb separate from its mother—since that would constitute belief in the unseen. This is an argument (we seek Allah's protection from such) in distorting the speech of Allah, the Exalted, from its proper contexts to matters entirely unrelated to it? It was narrated to us through ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Mahdī, from Sufyān al-Thawrī, from Abū Isḥāq al-Sabīʿī, from ʿIkrimah, from Ibn ʿAbbās: Do not purchase wool upon sheep's backs nor milk within their udders.[22]

وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ الْجَزَرِ، وَالْبَصَلِ، وَالْفُجْلِ: الْمُغَيَّبَةِ فِي الْأَرْضِ؟ قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَاحْتَجَّ بَعْضُهُمْ عَلَيَّ فِي ذَلِكَ بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {يُؤْمِنُونَ بِالْغَيْبِ} [البقرة: ٣] فَقُلْتُ: فَأَبِحْ بِهَذِهِ الْآيَةِ بَيْعَ الْجَنِينِ فِي بَطْنِ أُمِّهِ دُونَ أُمِّهِ، لِأَنَّهُ مِنْ الْإِيمَانِ بِالْغَيْبِ - وَهَذَا احْتِجَاجٌ نَسْأَلُ اللَّهَ السَّلَامَةَ مِنْ مِثْلِهِ فِي تَحْرِيفِ كَلَامِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى عَنْ مَوَاضِعِهِ إلَى مَا لَيْسَ فِيهِ مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ؟ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ مَهْدِيٍّ نا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ أَبِي إِسْحَاقَ السَّبِيعِيِّ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ: لَا تَشْتَرُوا الصُّوفَ عَلَى ظُهُورِ الْغَنَمِ وَلَا اللَّبَنَ فِي ضُرُوعِهَا.

L22480 Via al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl → Mulāzim ibn ʿAmr → Zufar ibn Yazīd ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān → his father—who was among the companions of Abū Hurayrah—who said: "I asked Abū Hurayrah about selling milk in the udders of sheep and goats. He replied: 'There is no good in it.' I also asked him about exchanging a sheep for two sheep on deferred terms. He said: 'No, except hand to hand.'"

Via al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl → Abū ʿAwānah → al-Mughīrah → Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, who said: "The early Muslims disapproved of purchasing milk in the udders of sheep." Mujāhid and Ṭāwūs likewise disapproved of it. A narration from Ṭāwūs states he permitted it only when sold by measure.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ نا مُلَازِمِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو نا زُفَرُ بْنُ يَزِيدَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ وَكَانَ مِنْ جُلَسَاءِ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ: سَأَلْتُ أَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ بَيْعِ اللَّبَنِ فِي ضُرُوعِ الْغَنَمِ؟ فَقَالَ لَا خَيْرَ فِيهِ - وَسَأَلْته عَنْ الشَّاةِ بِالشَّاتَيْنِ إلَى أَجَلٍ؟ فَقَالَ: لَا إلَّا يَدًا بِيَدٍ. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ نا أَبُو عَوَانَةَ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ قَالَ: كَانُوا يَكْرَهُونَ أَنْ يُشْتَرَى اللَّبَنُ فِي ضُرُوعِ الشَّاةِ - وَكَرِهَهُ مُجَاهِدٌ، وَطَاوُسٌ - وَرُوِيَ عَنْ طَاوُسٍ أَنَّهُ أَجَازَهُ بِالْكَيْلِ فَقَطْ.

L22481 It is reported that Saʿīd ibn Jubayr permitted the sale of milk in the udder and wool on the backs of sheep. It is also reported from Al-Ḥasan that he permitted the sale of a ewe's milk as a total quantity to be delivered for several months. However, Abū Ḥanīfah, nor Al-Shāfiʿī, nor Aḥmad, nor Isḥāq, nor Abū Sulaymān permitted it. These two scholars have no opposition whatsoever from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—in origin. Ibrāhīm mentions this from those he encountered, and they both were among the senior Followers. They would hold such rulings in high esteem when they aligned with their own opinions.

L22482 They cited as evidence in this matter the permissibility of a contract of hiring for a wet nurse's breastfeeding—is this valid?

وَاحْتَجُّوا فِي هَذَا بِجَوَازِ إجَارَةِ الظِّئْرِ لِلرَّضَاعِ؟

L22483–22484 So we said: Are we speaking with you regarding a lease or a sale? Lease differs from sale, for we lease the free woman for breastfeeding and did not buy her milk from her at all.

فَقُلْنَا: أَفِي إجَارَةٍ تَكَلَّمْنَا مَعَكُمْ أَمْ فِي بَيْعٍ؟ وَالْإِجَارَةُ غَيْرُ الْبَيْعِ، لِأَنَّا نُؤَاجِرُ الْحُرَّةَ لِلرَّضَاعِ وَلَمْ نَبْتَعْ مِنْهَا لَبَنَهَا أَصْلًا.

L22485 Then the strangest thing is their argument in this matter using what we mentioned about hiring a wet nurse, while they prohibit selling the milk of a single sheep, a single cow, or a single camel. This situation more closely resembles hiring a single wet nurse, yet they only permit that with numerous flocks of sheep and goats. Be astonished at the flimsiness of this analogy and the severity of its inconsistency, for they prohibited what resembles the very case they analogized to permit, while permitting through analogy to it what bears no resemblance.

ثُمَّ أَعْرَبُ شَيْءٍ احْتِجَاجُهُمْ فِي هَذَا بِمَا ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ إجَارَةِ الظِّئْرِ، وَهُمْ يُحَرِّمُونَ بَيْعَ لَبَنِ الشَّاةِ الْوَاحِدَةِ، وَالْبَقَرَةِ الْوَاحِدَةِ وَالنَّاقَةِ الْوَاحِدَةِ، وَهَذَا أَشْبَهُ بِإِجَارَةِ الظِّئْرِ الْوَاحِدَةِ، وَإِنَّمَا يُجِيزُونَ ذَلِكَ فِي الْغَنَمِ الْكَثِيرَةِ - فَاعْجَبُوا لِسَخَافَةِ هَذَا الْقِيَاسِ وَشِدَّةِ تَنَاقُضِهِ، إذْ حَرَّمُوا مَا يُشْبِهُ مَا قَاسُوا عَلَى إبَاحَتِهِ، وَأَبَاحُوا قِيَاسًا عَلَيْهِ مَا لَا يُشْبِهُهُ.

L22486 Abu Muhammad said: If the wool increases, the two parties are in dispute. The presumption lies with the seller contingent on his oath, provided the sheep are acknowledged as his or in his possession. If they are not acknowledged as his and are in the possession of the other party, the presumption shifts to the other party contingent on his oath.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَإِنْ زَادَ الصُّوفُ؟ فَهُمَا مُتَدَاعِيَانِ، وَالْقَوْلُ قَوْلُ الْبَائِعِ مَعَ يَمِينِهِ إنْ كَانَتْ الْغَنَمُ مَعْرُوفَةً لَهُ أَوْ فِي يَدِهِ، فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُنْ مَعْرُوفَةً لَهُ وَكَانَتْ فِي يَدِ الْآخَرِ، فَالْقَوْلُ قَوْلُ الْآخَرِ مَعَ يَمِينِهِ.

L22487 If it is in the possession of both parties jointly or not, their ruling follows the ruling of two disputants regarding a matter that is in their possession or not, according to what we will clarify—if Allah the Exalted wills—in the section on litigation within legal cases. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

فَإِنْ كَانَتْ فِي أَيْدِيهِمَا، أَوْ فِي غَيْرِ أَيْدِيهِمَا مَعًا، فَحُكْمُهُمَا حُكْمُ الْمُتَدَاعِيَيْنِ فِي الشَّيْءِ يَكُونُ بِأَيْدِيهِمَا، أَوْ بِغَيْرِ أَيْدِيهِمَا عَلَى مَا نَذْكُرُ - إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى - فِي التَّدَاعِي فِي الْأَقْضِيَةِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

بُرْهَانُ كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا -: قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] .

وقَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَقَدْ فَصَّلَ لَكُمْ مَا حَرَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ} [الأنعام: ١١٩] .

Issue: Selling the Visible Without the Unseen.

1428. Issue: Selling the apparent part excluding the unseen contents is lawful unless prohibited by explicit text. Permissible sales include: selling fruit while excluding its stone; selling the hide of a female musk deer excluding the musk within it; selling sacks and all containers excluding their contents; selling eggshell, almond shell, walnut shell, hazelnut shell, pistachio shell, acorn shell, chestnut shell, and any shell not adhering to what lies beneath it; selling wax excluding the honey within it; selling straw excluding the grain within it; selling the hide of a slaughtered animal or throat-slaughtered animal excluding its meat or any specifically named organ thereof; selling land excluding the seeds within it, or vegetables (whether unseen or visible), excluding the crops therein, and excluding the trees therein; and selling a milch animal excluding the milk accumulated in its udders. It is impermissible to exclude milk that has not yet been produced or collected in the udders.

It is permissible to sell a pregnant animal without its fetus, whether the fetus has been ensouled or not. It is impermissible in principle to sell a living animal while excluding a limb from it.

It is permissible to sell the extracted oil from olives and sesame, but not the oil prior to its extraction.

It is not permissible to sell the skin of a living animal without its meat, nor without a specified organ from it at all.

It is not permissible to sell buttermilk before it is churned, nor nascent butter before it emerges.

The evidence for all we have stated is the words of Allah, the Most High: “And Allah has permitted trade” [Al-Baqarah 275].[23]

L22496 And His saying, the Most High: “And He has detailed for you what He has forbidden to you.” (Al-An’am 6:119)[24]

L22497 Every sale whose prohibition is not mentioned by name in detailed terms in the Quran or the Sunnah is permissible by the explicit wording of Allah the Exalted’s speech. Thus, all that we have mentioned constitutes the seller’s property, which he rightfully owns: he may sell whatever he wishes from it (for it is his property) and keep whatever he wishes (for it is his property). Whatever portion of his property becomes apparent and is seen, or is described by one who has seen it—its sale is permissible. He may retain what neither he nor others have seen, because the sale involving uncertainty is impermissible (as we previously stated) or because he does not wish to sell it—and that is his right—even if the item is visible and present or described but absent.

L22498 As for our statement: It is not permissible to make an exception for milk that has not yet come into existence, this is because it only comes into existence when Allah the Exalted creates it in another’s property. Therefore, it is impermissible to stipulate anything from another’s property unless the price is solely for what is sold, for such a condition is invalid as it is not in the Book of Allah the Exalted. Indeed, we have prohibited the sale of an animal unless the sale is of a specified part thereof.

L22499 We permitted the sale of a pregnant living being without its fetus, for such a living being must either be human or from other animals. If it is from other animals, stipulating the exclusion of a specified organ constitutes unlawful appropriation of wealth, as no benefit is derived from it except through slaughter. In this sale, the seller of the organ is required to slaughter that living being, or the seller of the living being except for a specified organ is required to do so. Since this condition is not stipulated in the Book of Allah the Exalted, it is invalid. If the living being is human, the ruling remains the same, constituting a total waste of wealth. This is a matter wherein all our present adversaries in debate unanimously concur with us.

وَأَمَّا الْحَمْلُ، وَالصُّوفُ، وَالْوَبَرُ، وَالشَّعْرُ، وَقَرْنُ الْإِبِلِ، وَكُلُّ مَا يُزَايِلُ الْحَيَوَانَ بِغَيْرِ مُثْلَةٍ وَلَا تَعْذِيبٍ، فَكَمَا قَدَّمْنَا أَنَّهُ مَالٌ لِبَائِعِهِ يَبِيعُ مِنْ مَالِهِ مَا شَاءَ وَيُمْسِكُ مَا شَاءَ إِلَّا أَنْ يَكُونَ فِي ذَلِكَ إِضَاعَةُ مَالٍ، أَوْ مُثْلَةٌ بِحَيَوَانٍ أَوْ إِضْرَارٌ بِهِ فَلَا يَحِلُّ لِصِحَّةِ النَّهْيِ عَنْ الْمُثْلَةِ، وَعَنْ تَعْذِيبِ الْحَيَوَانِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22500 As for the fetus, wool, camel undercoat, hair, the camel's hump, and anything that detaches from an animal without disfigurement or suffering—as we have previously established—these belong to the seller. He may sell from his possessions what he chooses and retain what he chooses, unless such action constitutes waste of resources, disfigurement of an animal, or harm to it. In such instances, it is unlawful due to the valid prohibition against disfigurement and against causing suffering to animals. And with Allah, the Exalted, is success.

وَأَمَّا مَنْعُنَا مِنْ بَيْعِ الْمَخِيضِ دُونَ السَّمْنِ قَبْلَ الْمَخْضِ، وَمِنْ بَيْعِ الْمَيْشِ دُونَ الْجُبْنِ قَبْلَ عَصْرِهِ، فَلِأَنَّهُ لَا يُرَى، وَلَا يَتَمَيَّزُ، وَلَا يُعْرَفُ مِقْدَارُهُ، فَقَدْ يَخْرُجُ الْمَخْضُ وَالْعَصِيرُ قَلِيلًا، وَقَدْ يَخْرُجُ كَثِيرًا - وَهَذَا بِخِلَافِ بَيْعِ عُصَارَةِ الزَّيْتُونِ، وَالسِّمْسِمِ، دُونَ الدُّهْنِ قَبْلَ الْعَصْرِ؛ لِأَنَّ الزَّيْتُونَ، وَالسِّمْسِمَ، وَاللَّوْزَ، وَالْجَوْزَ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ مَرْئِيٌّ مَعْرُوفٌ، وَإِنَّمَا الْخَافِي فَهُوَ الدُّهْنُ فَقَطْ، وَيَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ ظُهُورِهِ - وَيَجُوزُ اسْتِثْنَاؤُهُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ إبْقَاءٌ لَهُ فِي مِلْكِ مَالِكِهِ - وَهَذَا مُبَاحٌ حَسَنٌ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22501–22503 As for our prohibition against selling buttermilk without ghee prior to churning, and selling partially coagulated milk without cheese before pressing, this is because its form cannot be discerned, it cannot be differentiated, nor can its quantity be ascertained—for the yield from churning or pressing may be little or much. This differs from selling the pressed juice of olives and sesame without oil prior to pressing, for olives, sesame, almonds, and walnuts: all these are visible, distinct, and quantifiable. The concealed [element] is none other than the oil exclusively. Its sale is permissible before it becomes manifest. Reserving it [from the sale] is allowed because it retains the item within the ownership of its owner—this is permissible and ethically sound. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

L22504 There are narrations related to this matter: It was narrated to us through Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr → Ḥibbān ibn 'Alī narrated to us → Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq narrated to us from Nāfi' from Ibn 'Umar, who said: The Messenger of Allah ﷺ prohibited sales involving _gharar_.[1]

L22505 And from the narration of Ibn Abi Shaybah, from Ibn Idris (who is Abdullah), from Ubaydullah ibn Umar, from Abu al-Zinad, from al-A'raj, from Abu Hurayrah: "The Messenger of Allah (may peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited sales of gharārāt (speculative risks)."[2]

L22506 Some of the early predecessors permitted it, as reported to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah - from Abbād ibn al-Awwām, from Hishām - who is Ibn Hassan - from Ibn Sīrīn, from Shurayḥ, that he saw no harm in the sale involving gharar when both parties possessed equal knowledge of it.

وَكَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ - هُوَ إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ - عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَوْنٍ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: لَا أَعْلَمُ بِبَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ بَأْسًا. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا حِبَّانُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ نا الْمُغِيرَةُ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ قَالَ: مِنْ الْغَرَرِ مَا يَجُوزُ وَمِنْهُ مَا لَا يَجُوزُ، فَأَمَّا مَا يَجُوزُ فَشِرَاءُ السِّلْعَةِ الْمَرِيضَةِ، وَأَمَّا مَا لَا يَجُوزُ فَشِرَاءُ السَّمَكِ فِي الْمَاءِ.

L22507 And as has been reported to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Ibn ʿUlayyah narrated to us - who is Ismāʿīl ibn Ibrāhīm - from ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAwn from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, who said: "I find no harm in sales involving gharar." And through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Ḥibbān ibn ʿAlī narrated to us from al-Mughīrah from Ibrāhīm, who said: "Among gharar, some are permissible and some are not. As for what is permissible, it is purchasing a sick commodity. As for what is impermissible, it is purchasing uncaptured fish in the water."

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا إِجَازَةَ بَيْعِ السَّمَكِ فِي الْمَاءِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُتَصَيَّدَ عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ وَبِهِ يَقُولُ ابْنُ أَبِي لَيْلَى.

L22508 It has been narrated to us that the permissibility of selling fish while they are still in the water before being caught is transmitted from ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz, and this is the opinion Ibn Abī Laylā holds.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: لَا حُجَّةَ فِي أَحَدٍ دُونَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَالَّذِي ذَكَرَ إِبْرَاهِيمُ لَيْسَ شَيْءٌ مِنْهُ غَرَرًا، أَمَّا الْمَرِيضَةُ فَكُلُّ النَّاسِ يَمْرَضُ وَيَمُوتُ، وَقَدْ يَمُوتُ الصَّحِيحُ فَجْأَةً، وَيَبْرَأُ الْمَرِيضُ الْمُدْنَفُ، فَلَا غَرَرَ هَهُنَا أَصْلًا.

L22509 Abu Muhammad said: There is no valid proof in anyone apart from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). As for what Ibrahim mentioned, none of it contains elements of Gharar. Regarding the sick person: all people fall ill and die, indeed a healthy person may die suddenly, while a debilitated sick person may recover. Thus there is no Gharar here whatsoever.

L22510 As for fish in water, if they have been previously owned, their sale is not invalid due to gharar but rather constitutes a valid transaction. Those present among our opponents concur with us that if a person owns a small pond within their property where they caught a fish and released it alive, selling it within that pond is permissible. However, fish not yet owned remain impermissible to sell due to gharar. Even if the fish is assuredly obtainable through guaranteed means, its sale remains unlawful, as it constitutes selling unowned property. This amounts to wrongful appropriation of wealth.

L22511–22512 It has been narrated to us through Ibn Abi Shaybah: Qurrah ibn Sulayman narrated to us from Muḥammad ibn Fuḍayl, from his father, from Ibn ʿUmar regarding one who sells a female slave while excepting what is in her womb. He said: “His right is to retain the offspring.” This has also been authentically reported from Ibn ʿUmar in the context of manumission.

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا قُرَّةُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ فُضَيْلٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فِيمَنْ بَاعَ أَمَةً وَاسْتَثْنَى مَا فِي بَطْنِهَا؟ قَالَ: لَهُ ثُنْيَاهُ - وَقَدْ صَحَّ هَذَا أَيْضًا عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فِي الْعِتْقِ.

L22513 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah, who narrated to us from Hushaym, from al-Mughirah, from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, who said: Whoever sells a pregnant woman or manumits her while excluding what is in her womb—does his exception hold regarding what has manifested its form? If its form has become apparent, his exception is valid. But if its form has not become apparent, he has no claim.

L22514 Ali said: Whether its form becomes discernible or not, he has two options based on our earlier reasoning—since it is his property, he may exclude it if he wishes, either by not selling it or by including it in the sale of its mother. This is because it remains part of her before the soul is breathed into it and continues to be part of her after ensoulment. However, if one excludes the fetus of a pregnant animal sold—as we explained—then whatever she delivers (if human) within nine months less one hour belongs to him, unless he is certain that her pregnancy began after the sale, in which case he has no claim, as it occurred within another’s property. The same consideration applies to other animals: offspring born within the maximum period that animal bears belong to the excluding party, while those exceeding this duration do not—for the reason stated. Success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: سَوَاءٌ اسْتَبَانَ خَلْقُهُ، أَوْ لَمْ يَسْتَبِنْ؟ لَهُ ثُنْيَاهُ لِمَا قَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ مِنْ أَنَّهُ مَالُهُ يَسْتَثْنِيه إنْ شَاءَ فَلَا يَبِيعُهُ، أَوْ يَدْخُلُ فِي صَفْقَةِ أُمِّهِ، لِأَنَّهُ بَعْضُهَا مَا لَمْ يُنْفَخْ فِيهِ الرُّوحُ، وَمِنْ جُمْلَتِهَا بَعْدَ نَفْخِ الرُّوحِ فِيهِ، وَلَكِنْ مَنْ اسْتَثْنَى حَمْلَ الْحَامِلِ الَّذِي بَاعَ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا فَمَا وَلَدَتْ إنْ كَانَتْ مِنْ بَنِي آدَمَ إلَى تِسْعَةِ أَشْهُرٍ غَيْرَ سَاعَةٍ، فَهُوَ لَهُ إلَّا أَنْ يُوقِنَ أَنَّ حَمْلَهَا بِهِ كَانَ بَعْدَ الْبَيْعِ فَلَا شَيْءَ لَهُ، لِأَنَّهُ حَدَثَ فِي مَالِ غَيْرِهِ وَيُنْظَرُ فِي سَائِرِ الْحَيَوَانِ كَذَلِكَ، فَمَا وَلَدَتْ لِأَقْصَى مَا يَلِدُ لَهُ ذَلِكَ الْحَيَوَانُ فَهُوَ لِلَّذِي اسْتَثْنَاهُ، وَمَا وَلَدَتْ لِأَكْثَرَ فَلَيْسَ لَهُ لِمَا ذَكَرْنَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22515 From the transmission chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: He narrated to us from Hushaym, from Yūnus, from al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī that he deemed the conditional stipulation regarding pregnancy permissible in sales but impermissible in manumission. This is the position of Abū Sulaymān and Abū Thawr concerning both sales and manumission. This accords with what we have cited from a Companion for whom no opposing view is known from the Companions, and they hold such an opinion in high regard when it aligns with their practice of taqlīd.

L22516 It has been narrated to us via the route of Ibn Ayman: From Abdullah ibn Ahmad ibn Hanbal, from Ubayy, from Abd al-Rahman ibn Mahdi, from Abbad ibn Habib ibn al-Muhallab—a trustworthy and reliable narrator—from Ubayd Allah ibn Umar, from Nafi', the freed slave of Ibn Umar, who said: "Ibn Umar emancipated his female slave but excluded what was in her womb." This is the opinion of Ubayd Allah ibn Umar.

وَرُوِّينَا: مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَيْمَنَ نا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ نا أُبَيٌّ نا عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مَهْدِيٍّ نا عَبَّادُ بْنُ حَبِيبِ بْنِ الْمُهَلَّبِ - ثِقَةٌ مَأْمُونٌ - عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ مَوْلَى ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: أَعْتَقَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ أَمَةً لَهُ وَاسْتَثْنَى مَا فِي بَطْنِهَا - وَبِهِ يَقُولُ عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ.

L22517–22519 And via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Yahya ibn Sa'id (al-Qattan) narrated to us from Hisham (Ibn Hassān) from Muhammad ibn Sirin concerning one who emancipated his female slave while excepting what was in her womb. He said: "His two exceptions are valid." And via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Yahya ibn Yaman narrated to us from Sufyan (al-Thawri) from Jabir, Mansur ibn al-Mu'tamir, and Ibn Jurayj. Jabir narrated from al-Sha'bi, and Mansur said: from... Ibrāhīm, and Ibn Jurayj reported from ʿAṭāʾ. Then al-Shaʿbī, Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, and ʿAṭāʾ all said: If he manumits her while excluding what is in her womb, his stipulation holds.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ - هُوَ الْقَطَّانُ - عَنْ هِشَامٍ - هُوَ ابْنُ حَسَّانَ - عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ فِيمَنْ أَعْتَقَ أَمَتَهُ وَاسْتَثْنَى مَا فِي بَطْنِهَا فَقَالَ: لَهُ - ثُنْيَاهُ. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَمَانٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ - هُوَ الثَّوْرِيُّ - عَنْ جَابِرٍ، وَمَنْصُورِ بْنِ الْمُعْتَمِرِ، وَابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ، قَالَ جَابِرٌ: عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ، وَقَالَ مَنْصُورٌ: عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ، وَقَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ - ثُمَّ اتَّفَقَ الشَّعْبِيُّ وَإِبْرَاهِيمُ النَّخَعِيُّ، وَعَطَاءٌ، قَالُوا كُلُّهُمْ: إذَا أَعْتَقَهَا وَاسْتَثْنَى مَا فِي بَطْنِهَا: فَلَهُ ثُنْيَاهُ.

L22520 And through him to Ibn Abi Shaybah: Harami ibn 'Umarah ibn Abi Hafsah narrated to us from Shu'bah, who said: I asked al-Hakam and Hammad ibn Abi Sulayman about that - meaning one who manumits his female slave while excluding what is in her womb - and they both said unanimously: He retains that right.

وَبِهِ إلَى ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبٍ نا حَرَمِيُّ بْنُ عُمَارَةَ بْنِ أَبِي حَفْصَةَ عَنْ شُعْبَةَ قَالَ: سَأَلْتُ الْحَكَمَ، وَحَمَّادَ بْنَ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ - يَعْنِي مَنْ أَعْتَقَ أَمَتَهُ وَاسْتَثْنَى مَا فِي بَطْنِهَا - فَقَالَا جَمِيعًا: ذَلِكَ لَهُ.

L22521 Narrated by Humām from ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAlī al-Bājī from Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ayman from Aḥmad ibn Muslim from Abū Thawr from Asbāṭ from Sufyān al-Thawrī from Manṣūr ibn al-Muʿtamir from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, who said: "Whoever enters into a kitābah contract with his female slave and excludes what is in her womb, there is no objection to that."

نا حُمَامٌ نا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ الْبَاجِيَّ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ أَيْمَنَ نا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ مُسْلِمٍ نا أَبُو ثَوْرٍ نا أَسْبَاطٌ نا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ مَنْصُورِ بْنِ الْمُعْتَمِرِ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ قَالَ: مَنْ كَاتَبَ أَمَتَهُ وَاسْتَثْنَى مَا فِي بَطْنِهَا فَلَا بَأْسَ بِذَلِكَ.

L22522 And in accordance with this, Abū Thawr and Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal state regarding manumission and sale.

وَبِهِ يَقُولُ أَبُو ثَوْرٍ، وَأَحْمَدُ بْنُ حَنْبَلٍ فِي الْعِتْقِ، وَالْبَيْعِ.

L22523 And according to it, Isḥāq and Abū Sulaymān also say.

وَبِهِ يَقُولُ أَيْضًا إسْحَاقُ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ.

فَهَؤُلَاءِ جُمْهُورُ التَّابِعِينَ -: الْحَسَنُ، وَابْنُ سِيرِينَ، وَإِبْرَاهِيمُ، وَالشَّعْبِيُّ، وَعَطَاءٌ، وَالْحَكَمُ بْنُ عُتَيْبَةَ، وَحَمَّادُ بْنُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، بَعْضُهُمْ فِي الْبَيْعِ، وَبَعْضُهُمْ فِي الْعِتْقِ، وَبَعْضُهُمْ فِي الْأَمْرَيْنِ مَعًا - وَمَا نَعْلَمُ الْآنَ مُخَالِفًا لَهُمْ إِلَّا الزُّهْرِيَّ، وَقَالَ بِقَوْلِنَا هَذَا مِنَ الْفُقَهَاءِ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا -: عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ، وَأَحْمَدُ، وَأَبُو ثَوْرٍ، وَإِسْحَاقُ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ، وَغَيْرُهُمْ، وَلَيْتَ شِعْرِي أَيْنَ هُمْ عَنْ حُجَّتِهِمْ بِالْمُسْلِمِينَ عِنْدَ شُرُوطِهِمْ؟ وَأَمَّا اسْتِثْنَاءُ الْجِلْدِ، وَالسَّوَاقِطِ: فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ حَبِيبٍ الْأَنْدَلُسِيِّ نا أَصْبَغُ عَنِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنِ اللَّيْثِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ عَنْ عُمَارَةَ بْنِ غَزِيَّةَ عَنْ عُرْوَةَ بْنِ الزُّبَيْرِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَمَّا خَرَجَ هُوَ وَأَبُو بَكْرٍ مُهَاجِرَيْنِ، إِلَى الْمَدِينَةِ اشْتَرَيَا مِنْ رَاعِي غَنَمٍ شَاةً وَشَرَطَا لَهُ إِهَابَهَا» .

L22524 These are the majority of the Successors: Al-Ḥasan, Ibn Sīrīn, Ibrāhīm, Al-Shaʿbī, ʿAṭāʾ, Al-Ḥakam ibn ʿUtaybah, and Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān—some of them regarding sale, some regarding manumission, and some regarding both matters together. We do not know now of any opponent to them except Al-Zuhrī. Among the jurists who said this opinion of ours—as we mentioned—are ʿUbayd Allāh ibn ʿUmar, Aḥmad, Abū Thawr, Isḥāq, Abū Sulaymān, and others. If only I knew where they stand regarding their argument about the conditions set by Muslims! As for the exception of flogging and miscarried fetuses, we have been narrated through the chain of ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb al-Andalusī, from Aṣbagh, from Ibn Wahb, from Al-Layth ibn Saʿd, from ʿUmārah ibn Ghaziyyah, from ʿUrwah ibn al-Zubayr: "When the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—and Abū Bakr emigrated to Medina, they bought a sheep from a shepherd and stipulated its skin for him."

L22525 Abū Muḥammad said: This is invalid—ʿAbd al-Malik is discredited, and ʿUmārah is weak. Moreover, it is mursal. Furthermore, even if it were authentic, it would be abrogated, because, as evident, it predates the Hijrah, and the prohibition of uncertain transactions came afterward. Selling the meat of a live sheep is an uncertain transaction, because one cannot know whether it is lean or fat.

L22526 Or one with an ailment or a healthy one? Then from where do they have that this was permitted because of travel? For this is an invalid assumption.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: كَانَ فِي سَفَرٍ؟ قُلْنَا: وَكَانَ فِي طَرِيقِ الْمَدِينَةِ لَا تُجِيزُوهُ فِي غَيْرِهِ.

L22527 If they say, "He was on a journey," we reply, "He was on the path to Madinah. Do not permit it in other cases."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ جَابِرٍ الْجُعْفِيِّ عَنِ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ أَنَّ رَجُلًا بَاعَ بَقَرَةً وَاشْتَرَطَ رَأْسَهَا ثُمَّ بَدَا لَهُ فَأَمْسَكَهَا فَقَضَى لَهُ زَيْدٌ بِشَرْوَى رَأْسِهَا، قَالَ سُفْيَانُ: نَحْنُ نَقُولُ: الْبَيْعُ فَاسِدٌ.

L22528–22529 Through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq from Sufyan al-Thawri from Jabir al-Ju'fi from al-Sha'bi from Zayd ibn Thabit: A man sold a cow while stipulating that he retain ownership of its head, then reconsidered and withheld the cow. Zayd ruled in his favor for the value of its head. Sufyan said: "We maintain the sale is defective."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ حَدَّثَنَا أُبَيٌّ نا عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مَهْدِيٍّ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ نُسَيْرِ بْنِ ذُعْلُوقٍ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ رَاشِدٍ الْأَشْجَعِيِّ أَنَّ رَجُلًا بَاعَ بُخْتِيَّةً وَاشْتَرَطَ ثُنْيَاهَا فَبَرِئَتْ فَرَغِبَ فِيهَا فَاخْتَصَمَا إلَى عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ؟ فَقَالَ: اذْهَبَا إلَى عَلِيٍّ، فَقَالَ عَلِيٌّ: اذْهَبْ بِهَا إلَى السُّوقِ فَإِذَا بَلَغَتْ أَفْضَلَ ثَمَنِهَا، فَأَعْطُوهُ حِسَابَ ثُنْيَاهَا مِنْ ثَمَنِهَا.

L22530 Abdullah ibn Ahmad ibn Hanbal reported to us through his chain: Ubayy narrated to us from Abdurrahman ibn Mahdi, from Sufyan ath-Thawri, from Nusayr ibn Dhu'lūq, from Amr ibn Rashid al-Ashja'i: A man sold a bukhtiyyah camel stipulating its two front incisors as a condition. When the camel was found lacking them, he disputed the condition. They brought their case to Umar ibn al-Khattab, who said: "Go to Ali." Ali ruled: "Take it to the market. When it reaches the highest market price, give him the value of its two front incisors from its price."

وَرَيْنَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ نُسَيْرِ بْنِ ذُعْلُوقٍ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ رَاشِدٍ أَنَّ رَجُلًا بَاعَ بَعِيرًا مَرِيضًا وَاسْتَثْنَى جِلْدَهُ فَبَرَأَ الْبَعِيرُ؟ فَقَالَ عَلِيٌّ: يُقَوَّمُ الْبَعِيرُ فِي السُّوقِ، ثُمَّ يَكُونُ لَهُ شِرَاؤُهُ.

L22531 We found it narrated through the chain of Waki' from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Nusayr ibn Dhu'luq, from 'Amr ibn Rashid: A man sold a sick camel while reserving its skin, but the camel later recovered. So 'Ali said, "The camel must be valued in the market, then the purchase of it reverts to him."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ حَبِيبٍ الْأَنْدَلُسِيِّ حَدَّثَنِي أَصْبَغُ عَنْ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ عَيَّاشٍ اشْتَرَى رَجُلٌ رَأْسَ جَمَلٍ وَنَقَدَ ثَمَنَهُ وَاشْتَرَى آخَرُ بَقِيَّتَهُ وَنَقَدَ ثَمَنَهُ لِيَنْحَرَاهُ فَعَاشَ الْجَمَلُ وَصَلُحَ؟ فَقَالَ مُشْتَرِي الْجَمَلِ لِمُشْتَرِي الرَّأْسِ: إنَّمَا لَك ثَمَنُ الرَّأْسِ؟ فَاخْتَصَمَا إلَى شُرَيْحٍ، فَقَالَ شُرَيْحٌ: هُوَ شَرِيكُك فِيهِ بِحِصَّةِ مَا نَقَدَ وَبِحُكْمِ شُرَيْحٌ هَذَا يَأْخُذُ عُثْمَانُ الْبَتِّيُّ، وَأَحْمَدُ، وَإِسْحَاقُ.

L22532 Through the transmission chain of 'Abd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb al-Andalusī: Aṣbagh narrated to me from Ibn Wahb from Ismā'īl ibn 'Ayyāsh: A man purchased a camel's head and paid its value upfront, while another purchased the remaining portion and paid its value upfront so they could slaughter it. But the camel recovered and became sound? The purchaser of the camel said to the purchaser of the head, "Are you only entitled to the value of the head?" They brought their dispute to Shurayḥ, who ruled, "He is your partner in it in proportion to the share he paid upfront." In accordance with this ruling of Shurayḥ, 'Uthmān al-Battī, Aḥmad, and Isḥāq adopt this opinion.

وَلَمْ يُجِزْ مَالِكٌ اسْتِثْنَاءَ الْجِلْدِ وَالرَّأْسِ إلَّا فِي السَّفَرِ، لَا فِي الْحَضَرِ، فَخَالَفَ كُلَّ مَنْ ذَكَرْنَا - وَلَمْ يُجِزْهُ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَلَا الشَّافِعِيُّ أَصْلًا.

L22533 Mālik did not permit the exception of the leather and the head except during travel, not while resident, thereby disagreeing with all those we have mentioned - and neither Abū Ḥanīfah nor al-Shāfi'ī permitted it at all.

وَأَجَازَ الْأَوْزَاعِيُّ اسْتِثْنَاءَ الْيَدِ أَوْ الرَّأْسِ أَوْ الْجِلْدِ عِنْدَ الذَّبْحِ خَاصَّةً، وَكَرِهَهُ إنْ تَأَخَّرَ الذَّبْحُ - وَالْحَنَفِيُّونَ - وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ يُعَظِّمُونَ خِلَافَ الصَّاحِبِ الَّذِي لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ مِنْهُمْ - وَخَالَفُوا هَهُنَا: زَيْدَ بْنَ ثَابِتٍ، وَعُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ، وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُمَا مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ مُخَالِفٌ. وَأَمَّا الْمَالِكِيُّونَ: فَإِنَّهُمْ رَأَوْا فِيمَنْ بَاعَ بَعِيرًا وَاسْتَثْنَى جِلْدَهُ، فَاسْتَحْيَاهُ الَّذِي

L22534–22536 Al-Awzā'ī permitted the exclusion of the hand, head, or skin specifically during slaughter but disliked it if the slaughter was delayed. The Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs give great weight to the contrary opinion of a Companion who has no known opponent among them. Here, however, they contradicted the rulings of Zayd ibn Thābit and 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, though no opponent from the Companions is known for them. As for the Mālikīs: they held that if someone sold a camel while excluding its skin, and the buyer kept it alive, the seller has a right to the proceeds from the skin's sale or its appraised value – this applies exclusively during journeys. This contradicts the ruling of ʿUmar, ʿAlī, and Zayd, for they ruled this absolutely without distinguishing between journey and residence. And it has been narrated to us similar to our statement from some of the early predecessors—as narrated to us via Ibn Abī Shaybah: Abū Al-Aḥwaṣ narrated to us from Abū Ḥamzah: I said to Ibrāhīm, "Can I sell a sheep while reserving part of it?" He replied, "No. Rather say: I sell you half of it." Ibn Abī Shaybah narrated: ʿAbd Al-Ṣamad ibn Abī Al-Jārūd narrated to us: I asked Jābir ibn Zayd about one who sells an item while reserving part of it. He said, "That is not valid."

L22537 Case: If one sells an absent item, its sale is permissible with a description.

L22538 1429. Issue: If a seller from those we mentioned sells the apparent excluding the concealed, or sells a concealed item, its sale is permissible through description—such as wool within a mattress, honey in a vessel, or a garment in a bag. If the place belongs to the seller, they must enable the buyer to take possession of the purchased item; otherwise, they become a usurper depriving of a right. The buyer must remove their property from another's place; otherwise, they become a usurper of the place, depriving of a right. If the place belongs to the buyer, the seller must remove their property from another's place; otherwise, they become an oppressor depriving of a right. If the place is jointly owned by both, whichever party wishes to expedite their use of their property must take it, and the other cannot be forced to take possession of their property sooner than they desire.

L22539 If the place belongs to someone other than the two of them, both are collectively required to remove their respective properties from another's place. Otherwise, each one is an oppressor withholding a right, according to the statement of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him): "Your blood and your wealth are inviolable for you."

L22540 "And due to the Prophet's narration (peace be upon him) of when Salman

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَاعَ مُغَيَّبًا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهُ بِصِفَةٍ]

فَإِنْ كَانَ الْمَكَانُ لِغَيْرِهِمَا فَعَلَيْهِمَا جَمِيعًا أَنْ يَنْزِعَ كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مَالَهُ مِنْ مَكَانِ غَيْرِهِ، وَإِلَّا فَهُوَ ظَالِمٌ مَانِعُ حَقٍّ، لِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إنَّ دِمَاءَكُمْ وَأَمْوَالَكُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ حَرَامٌ» .

L22541 If someone sells dates without their pits, the responsibility of taking the dates and separating them from the pits falls on the buyer, as he is commanded to take his purchased goods, transport them, and leave the pits in their place—provided the place belongs to the seller. If the buyer refuses, he may be compelled, and someone may be hired at his expense to separate the dates from the pits. The seller is not obligated to do this unless he wishes, as he is not required to open another's fruit or perform any work on it.

L22542 If the place belongs to the buyer, then if the buyer wishes to uproot his fruit, he has the right to do so, and he does not allow others to leave for him any undesired traces in it. If the buyer refuses this, the seller must remove their pits and relocate it in the gentlest manner possible, and he bears no responsibility. But if he transgresses, he is liable for the extent of his transgression in spoiling the fruit.

L22543–22544 If the place is jointly owned? Then as we stated: whichever of them wishes to expedite retrieving his belongings may do so. If the one entitled to the date pits wishes this, he may remove the date pits he owns in the gentlest manner possible, since this is unavoidable for him, and he incurs no liability, for he has performed a permissible action. But if he exceeds permissible limits, he is liable.

L22545 If the place belongs to someone other than the two of them, they are both compelled to cooperate in recovering their respective properties.

فَإِنْ كَانَ الْمَكَانُ لِغَيْرِهِمَا أُجْبِرَا جَمِيعًا عَلَى الْعَمَلِ مَعًا فِي تَخْلِيصِ كُلِّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مَالَهُ.

L22546 The ruling similarly applies to the musk pod, containers excluding their contents, shells excluding their contents, wax excluding honey, straw excluding grain, the skin of an animal slaughtered by dhabh or nahr, the flesh of olives, sesame seeds, and all oil-bearing materials.

وَهَكَذَا الْقَوْلُ فِي نَافِجَةِ الْمِسْكِ، وَالظُّرُوفِ دُونَ مَا فِيهَا، وَالْقُشُورِ دُونَ مَا فِيهَا، وَالشَّمْعِ دُونَ الْعَسَلِ، وَالتِّبْنِ دُونَ الْحَبِّ، وَجِلْدِ الْحَيَوَانِ الْمَذْبُوحِ أَوْ الْمَنْحُورِ، وَلَحْمَةِ الزَّيْتُونِ، وَالسِّمْسِمِ، وَكُلِّ ذِي دُهْنٍ.

L22547 As for one who sells land without including the seed, crop, trees, or building, harvesting is incumbent on the crop's owner; uprooting on the tree's owner; and removing the building and cutting [plants] likewise fall upon their respective owners—because each is obligated to remove his property from another's land.

وَأَمَّا مَنْ بَاعَ الْأَرْضَ دُونَ الْبَذْرِ، أَوْ دُونَ الزَّرْعِ، أَوْ دُونَ الشَّجَرِ، أَوْ دُونَ الْبِنَاءِ، فَالْحَصَادُ عَلَى الَّذِي لَهُ الزَّرْعُ، وَالْقَلْعُ عَلَى الَّذِي لَهُ الشَّجَرُ، وَالْبِنَاءُ وَالْقَطْعُ أَيْضًا عَلَيْهِ؛ لِأَنَّ فَرْضًا عَلَيْهِ إزَالَةُ مَالِهِ عَنْ أَرْضِ غَيْرِهِ.

L22548 Whoever sells an animal excluding [the rights to] its milk or pregnancy, the milking obligation falls upon the milk's owner. The payment for the milker is also incumbent upon him, because he is obligated to remove his milk from another's animal's udder. The animal's owner is only required to enable this milking process, not to assist in the actual milking itself.

L22549 Similarly, the one possessing ownership rights over the child is required to act in assisting the retrieval of his male or female slave from the womb of another person's female slave, using the means permitted to him in this regard.

وَكَذَلِكَ عَلَى الَّذِي لَهُ مِلْكُ الْوَلَدِ: الْعَمَلُ فِي الْعَوْنِ فِي أَخْذِ مَمْلُوكِهِ، أَوْ مَمْلُوكَتِهِ فِي بَطْنِ أَمَةِ غَيْرِهِ بِمَا أُبِيحَ لَهُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ.

L22550 Whoever sells a wooden or stone pillar within a building obligates the buyer to remove it using the gentlest methods possible, including reinforcing the structure surrounding the pillar and demolishing adjacent areas necessary for its removal. The buyer bears no responsibility in this matter, as they have the right to take their property as they are able.

L22551 And whoever is commanded to do something and acts within it, there is no liability upon him, because he is doing good in what he does of that. Allah the Exalted has said: "No blame is upon the doers of good" [9:91], and "Blame lies only against those who wrong people and seek oppression in the land without right" [42:42]. If he transgresses, he becomes liable for what we have mentioned.[3] must remove their property from another's property, given that the hair and camel fur remain attached to the animal. As for wool—and it is the skin of the animal—the one to whom all of that belongs must remove his wool and skin from another's place, while the owner of the place need only enable him to do so.

The sale of wool, camel hair, or hair on the animal.

L22556 Similarly, whoever purchases a storage jar in a house must remove it. He may demolish whatever parts of the door of the house are necessary for removing the jar, and he incurs no liability for that, since there is no way for him to perform the task he is charged with except through that. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

L22557 ## The Issue of Selling Goldsmiths' Dust

L22558 Issue 1431: It is impermissible to sell goldsmiths' dust in any way whatsoever, because the buyer intends only the silver and gold particles within it - which are unknown and indeterminable - thus constituting uncertainty (gharar). The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) "prohibited transactions involving gharar."[4]

L22559 ## A question concerning the ruling on the sale of what has been sifted by dust-sifters from the dust.

L22560 Issue 1432: Whatever dust sifters extract from soil, clay washers separate from clay, or is retrieved from goldsmiths' dust constitutes lost property if identifiable - such as a gemstone, dinar, or dirham. As for additional items, they must be announced according to the procedure we outlined in the rulings on lost property. The finder may keep them but remains liable to the owner if they come forward. Items that can never be identified - like fragments or similar objects - are permissible for the finder according to the principles we detailed in the chapter on lost property. Success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

L22561 ## A question regarding the ruling on the sale of mineral dust.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ حُكْمُ بَيْعِ تُرَابُ الْمَعَادِنِ]

L22562 Ruling 1433: As for soil from mines—any that is from a gold mine, it is absolutely impermissible to sell it in any way, for the gold within it is created within it, its quantity being indeterminable.

١٤٣٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَأَمَّا تُرَابُ الْمَعَادِنِ: فَمَا كَانَ مِنْهُ مَعْدِنَ ذَهَبٍ فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ أَلْبَتَّةَ بِوَجْهٍ مِنْ الْوُجُوهِ، لِأَنَّ الذَّهَبَ فِيهِ مَخْلُوقٌ فِي خِلَالِهِ مَجْهُولُ الْمِقْدَارِ.

L22563 If the gold in which the visible portion is entirely encased is in such a state: its sale becomes permissible according to what makes the sale of gold permissible—as we will mention after this, if Allah, the Exalted, wills.

فَلَوْ كَانَ الذَّهَبُ الَّذِي فِيهِ مَرْئِيًّا كُلُّهُ مُحَاطًا بِهِ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُ بِمَا يَجُوزُ بِهِ بَيْعُ الذَّهَبِ - عَلَى مَا نَذْكُرُهُ بَعْدَ هَذَا إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى.

L22564 What is in the form of silver mine dust: its sale is permissible for dirhams and gold as cash, for deferred payment or without deferment, and in exchange for goods as cash. A salam transaction is permissible for it.

وَمَا كَانَ مِنْهُ تُرَابَ مَعْدِنِ فِضَّةٍ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُ بِدَرَاهِمَ وَبِذَهَبٍ نَقْدًا، وَإِلَى أَجَلٍ وَإِلَى غَيْرِ أَجَلٍ، وَبِالْعَرْضِ نَقْدًا، وَجَازَ السَّلَمُ فِيهِ.

L22565 Similarly, the soil of all mineral ores—since it contains no silver whatsoever in its original state, being merely pure soil—does not become silver except through processing and smelting. A portion of it then transforms into silver, just as water transforms into salty water, eggs transform into chicks, and seeds transform into trees. There is no difference.

[Issue: The ruling on the sale of young crops before they develop grain heads.]

L22568 Issue: Selling young crops before they form ears is permissible. The seller may voluntarily allow the buyer to leave them as long as he wishes - whether until he grazes them, harvests them, or they dry - without stipulation. If the buyer neglects the crop until new offshoots emerge from its root that were not visibly present at the time of purchase, and they dispute ownership of these offshoots: whichever party establishes evidence regarding the quantity sold will receive the ruling in their favor. The buyer is entitled only to the amount purchased, while the additional offshoots belong to the seller. If the seller lacks evidence, both must swear oaths, and the disputed offshoots shall be divided between them.

مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَبَيْعُ الْقَصِيلِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُسَنْبِلَ: جَائِزٌ وَلِلْبَائِعِ أَنْ يَتَطَوَّعَ لِلْمُشْتَرِي بِتَرْكِهِ مَا شَاءَ إلَى أَنْ يَرْعَاهُ، أَوْ إلَى أَنْ يَحْصُدَهُ، أَوْ إلَى أَنْ - يَيْبَسَ بِغَيْرِ شَرْطٍ، فَإِنْ غَفَلَ عَنْهُ حَتَّى زَادَ فِيهِ أَوْلَادًا مِنْ أَصْلِهِ لَمْ تَكُنْ ظَاهِرَةً إذَا اشْتَرَاهُ فَاخْتَصَمَا فِيهَا: فَأَيُّهُمَا أَقَامَ الْبَيِّنَةَ بِمِقْدَارِ الْمَبِيعِ: قُضِيَ بِهَا، وَلَمْ يَكُنْ لِلْمُشْتَرِي إلَّا الْقَدْرُ الَّذِي اشْتَرَى، وَكَانَتْ الزِّيَادَةُ مِنْ الْأَوْلَادِ لِلْبَائِعِ، فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُنْ لَهُ بَيِّنَةٌ: حَلَفَا، وَقُسِّمَتْ الزِّيَادَةُ الَّتِي يَتَدَاعَيَانِهَا بَيْنَهُمَا.

L22569 As for the ears of grain, carob, and seeds: they belong to the purchaser in all circumstances. Likewise, whatever increases in its length. When the crop forms ears, its sale is absolutely impermissible—neither when cut nor when left—until it matures. Once it matures, its sale becomes permissible then.

وَأَمَّا السُّنْبُلُ، وَالْحَرُّوبُ، وَالْحَبُّ: فَلِلْمُشْتَرِي عَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ، وَكَذَلِكَ مَا زَادَ فِي طُولِهِ، فَإِذَا سَنْبَلَ الزَّرْعُ لَمْ يَحِلَّ بَيْعُهُ أَصْلًا - لَا عَلَى الْقَطْعِ وَلَا عَلَى التَّرْكِ - إلَّا حَتَّى يَشْتَدَّ، فَإِذَا اشْتَدَّ: حَلَّ بَيْعُهَا حِينَئِذٍ.

L22570 The evidence for the validity of selling tender crops before they form ears is the Statement of Allah, the Most High: "And Allah has made lawful trade" [Al-Baqarah (The Cow) 275].[5]

بُرْهَانُ صِحَّةِ بَيْعِ الْقَصِيلِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُسَنْبِلَ -: قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] .

L22571 And His statement, the Exalted: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully unless it be through trade with mutual consent." [An-Nisa: 29] Thus, all sales are permissible except those prohibited by an explicit text of the Quran or the Sunnah. No explicit text whatsoever has been revealed prohibiting the sale of crops from the time they sprout until they form ears.[6]

وَقَوْله تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] فَالْبَيْعُ كُلُّهُ حَلَالٌ، إلَّا بَيْعًا مَنَعَ مِنْهُ نَصُّ قُرْآنٍ أَوْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَمْ يَأْتِ فِي مَنْعِ بَيْعِ الزَّرْعِ مُذْ يَنْبُتُ إلَى أَنْ يُسَنْبِلَ: نَصٌّ أَصْلًا.

L22572 The evidence for the prohibition of selling grain when it forms ears until it hardens is what we have narrated in Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim via the chain from ʿAlī ibn Ḥajar and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb, who both stated: "We were narrated by Ismāʿīl Ibn ʿUlayyah, from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: 'The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited selling dates until they bear fruit and selling ears of grain until they whiten and become secure from blight. He prohibited the seller and the buyer alike.'"[7]

وَبُرْهَانُ تَحْرِيمِ بَيْعِهِ إذَا سَنْبَلَ إلَى أَنْ يَشْتَدَّ -: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا عَلِيُّ بْنُ حُجْرٍ، وَزُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: نا إسْمَاعِيلُ ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ «إنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ النَّخْلِ حَتَّى يَزْهُوَ وَعَنْ السُّنْبُلِ حَتَّى يَبْيَضَّ وَيَأْمَنَ الْعَاهَةَ - نَهَى الْبَائِعَ وَالْمُشْتَرِيَ» .

L22573 From the chain of narration of Abū Dāwūd, narrated by al-Ḥasan ibn ʿAlī, narrated by Abū al-Walīd—al-Ṭayālisī—narrated by Ḥammād ibn Salamah, narrated by Ḥumayd, narrated by Anas: "The Prophet, peace of Allah be upon him, prohibited selling grapes until they darken and selling grain until it ripens fully." No other narration is authentic at all.[8] وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد نا الْحَسَنُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ نا أَبُو الْوَلِيدِ - هُوَ الطَّيَالِسِيُّ - عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ حُمَيْدٍ عَنْ أَنَسٍ " أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ الْعِنَبِ حَتَّى يَسْوَدَّ وَعَنْ بَيْعِ الْحَبِّ حَتَّى يَشْتَدَّ» وَلَا يَصِحُّ غَيْرُ هَذَا أَصْلًا.

L22574–22576 And likewise, it has been narrated to us from the majority of the Salaf: It has been narrated to us via the chain of Waki‘ - he narrated to us: Isrā’īl ibn Yūnus reported from Jābir, from al-Sha‘bī, from Masrūq, from... Umar ibn al-Khattab and Abdullah ibn Masud both said: The date palm is not to be sold until it reddens, nor the ears of grain until they yellow.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ نا مَعْمَرٌ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: نَهْيِ عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرَةِ حَتَّى يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهَا، وَعَنْ السُّنْبُلِ حَتَّى يَبْيَضَّ.

L22577 Via the chain of Abd al-Razzaq from Ma‘mar, from Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani, from Ibn Sirin, who said: “It is prohibited to sell the fruit until its ripeness becomes evident, and to sell the ears of grain until they turn white.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا جَرِيرٌ - هُوَ ابْنُ عَبْدِ الْحَمِيدِ - عَنْ عَاصِمٍ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: لَا يُشْتَرَى السُّنْبُلُ حَتَّى يَبْيَضَّ.

L22578 And via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah, he narrated to us: Jarir—he is Ibn Abd al-Hamid—from Asim from Ibn Sirin, who said: It is impermissible to purchase unripe ears of grain in the husk until they turn white.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ نا الرَّبِيعُ - هُوَ ابْنُ صُبَيْحٍ - عَنْ الْحَسَنِ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ بَيْعَ السُّنْبُلِ حَتَّى يَبْيَضَّ.

L22579 Through Waki’’s chain: Ar-Rabi‘—he is the son of Subayḥ—narrated to us from Al-Ḥasan that he deemed reprehensible the sale of unripe grain until it whitens.

L22580 From the narration chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Ali ibn Mushir narrated to us from Abu Ishaq al-Shaybani, who said: I asked Ikrimah about selling green fodder. He replied: “There is no objection.” I said: “But it will develop ears?” He deemed it disliked. This corresponds precisely to our opinion, for the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—made no exception when prohibiting the sale of grain ears until they harden or whiten, having permitted its sale upon harvesting. {He does not speak from whim} [53:3], {it is but revelation inspired} [53:4], {and your Lord is never forgetful} [19:64].[9] وَكَذَلِكَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ، وَابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ، لَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُمَا نَعْلَمُهُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -.

L22581 Likewise, in the case of ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb and Ibn Mas‘ūd, there is no opponent to them that we know of from the Companions - may Allah be pleased with them.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَإِنَّ حَصَادَ السُّنْبُلِ رُطَبًا لَمْ يَجُزْ بَيْعُهُ أَيْضًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ سُنْبُلٌ يُمْكِنُ فِيهِ بَعْدَ أَنْ يَشْتَدَّ وَيَبْيَضَّ - وَكَذَلِكَ إنْ صُفِّيَ فَصَارَ حَبًّا وَلَا فَرْقَ، لِلنَّهْيِ عَنْ ذَلِكَ أَيْضًا.

L22582 Abu Muhammad said: Harvesting ears of grain while they are still moist is also impermissible to sell, because it is an ear of grain that may still undergo changes after hardening and whitening. Similarly, if it is winnowed and becomes grain, there is no distinction in the ruling, due to the prohibition of that as well.

L22583 If it is such that, when left, it does not dry but spoils, its sale is permissible. This is because it no longer possesses the attribute that formed the basis for the prohibition against selling items characterized by it.

L22584 The term sunbul (ear of grain) is known in the Arabic language, and it applies to wheat, barley, rye, millet, naked barley, and all that is termed sunbul in the language.

L22585 A juristic question on the ruling of selling green crops before they develop ears, upon being cut.

L22586–22588 1435. Issue: As for selling young crops before they form ears, subject to cutting, it is permissible because it is incumbent upon everyone to remove their property from another's land and not occupy the land with it. This is an obligatory, prescribed condition. If the landowner voluntarily allows them to remain without stipulation, it is acceptable, because it is permissible for anyone to allow [it]. His land is for whomever he wills and for whatever purpose he wills, provided it is not prohibited. If there is surplus, the owner of the land may voluntarily give the excess, for it is his wealth; he may grant it to whomever he wishes unless prevented by the Qur'an or Sunnah. A gift is an act of goodness and grace. Allah, the Exalted, said: "And do good" [Al-Ḥajj: 77], and He, the Exalted, said: "And do not neglect grace among yourselves" [Al-Baqarah: 237].[10]

L22589 If he refuses, then evidence (bayyinah) is required. If there is no evidence, they are litigants over the surplus—which is jointly held by them—each claiming, "It is mine." They must both swear an oath (yamin), as each is a defendant against whom a claim is made. Thereafter, each retains what he holds, for his oath absolves him of his opponent's claim. And with Allah, the Exalted, lies all success.

L22590 Abu Hanifah, Malik, and al-Shafiʿi prohibited the sale of green crops until فَإِنْ كَانَ إِنْ تُرِكَ لَمْ يَيْبَسْ، وَلَكِنْ يَفْسُدُ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ قَدْ خَرَجَ عَنْ الصِّفَةِ الَّتِي جَاءَ النَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ مَا هِيَ فِيهِ.

وَالسُّنْبُلُ فِي لُغَةِ الْعَرَبِ مَعْرُوفٌ وَهُوَ فِي الْقَمْحِ وَالشَّعِيرِ، وَالْعَلَسِ، وَالدُّخْنِ، وَالسَّلْتِ، وَسَائِرِ مَا يُسَمَّى فِي اللُّغَةِ " سُنْبُلًا "

[مَسْأَلَةٌ حُكْمُ بَيْعُ الْقَصِيلِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُسَنْبِلَ عَلَى الْقَطْعِ]

١٤٣٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَأَمَّا بَيْعُ الْقَصِيلِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُسَنْبِلَ عَلَى الْقَطْعِ فَجَائِزٌ؛ لِأَنَّ فَرْضًا عَلَى كُلِّ أَحَدٍ أَنْ يُزِيلَ مَالَهُ عَنْ أَرْضِ غَيْرِهِ، وَأَنْ لَا يَشْغَلَهَا بِهِ، فَهَذَا شَرْطٌ وَاجِبٌ، مُفْتَرَضٌ، فَإِنْ تَطَوَّعَ لَهُ رَبُّ الْأَرْضِ بِالتَّرْكِ مِنْ غَيْرِ شَرْطٍ: فَحَسَنٌ؛ لِأَنَّ لِكُلِّ أَحَدٍ إبَاحَةُ أَرْضِهِ لِمَنْ شَاءَ، وَلِمَا شَاءَ، مِمَّا لَمْ يَنْهَ عَنْهُ، فَإِنْ زَادَ فَلِصَاحِبِ الْمَالِ أَنْ يَتَطَوَّعَ لَهُ بِالزِّيَادَةِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ مَالُهُ يَهَبُهُ لِمَنْ شَاءَ مَا لَمْ يَمْنَعْهُ قُرْآنٌ، أَوْ سُنَّةٌ، وَالْهِبَةُ فِعْلُ خَيْرٍ وَفَضْلٍ، قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {وَافْعَلُوا الْخَيْرَ} [الحج: ٧٧] ، وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَلا تَنْسَوُا الْفَضْلَ بَيْنَكُمْ} [البقرة: ٢٣٧] .

فَإِنْ أَبَى فَالْبَيِّنَةُ، فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُنْ بَيِّنَةٌ فَهُمَا مُتَدَاعِيَانِ فِي الزِّيَادَةِ - وَهِيَ بِأَيْدِيهِمَا مَعًا - فَكُلُّ وَاحِدٍ يَقُولُ: هِيَ لِي، فَيَحْلِفَانِ، لِأَنَّ كُلَّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مُدَّعًى عَلَيْهِ، ثُمَّ يَبْقَى لِكُلِّ أَحَدٍ مَا بِيَدِهِ لِبَرَاءَتِهِ مِنْ دَعْوَى خَصْمِهِ بِيَمِينِهِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

وَمَنَعَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٌ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ، مِنْ بَيْعِ الْقَصِيلِ حَتَّى يَصِيرَ حَبًّا يَابِسًا، وَلَمْ يَأْتِ بِهَذَا نَصٌّ أَصْلًا - ثُمَّ تَنَاقَضُوا، فَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَهُ عَلَى الْقَطْعِ -.

they become dry grain, and no scriptural text whatsoever supported this ruling. Then they contradicted their own ruling by permitting its sale once cut.

وَكُلُّ هَذَا بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ أَصْلًا لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا قَوْلِ صَاحِبٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، وَلَا دَلِيلَ لَهُمْ عَلَى مَا مَنَعُوا مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا عَلَى مَا أَبَاحُوا مِنْهُ.

L22591 All of this is without any proof at all—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor the statement of a Companion, nor analogy, nor any opinion with a valid basis. Nor do they have proof for what they prohibited or permitted of it.

وَقَالَ سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ، وَابْنُ أَبِي لَيْلَى: لَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ الْقَصِيلِ لَا عَلَى الْقَطْعِ وَلَا عَلَى التَّرْكِ - وَقَوْلُ هَؤُلَاءِ أَطْرَدُ وَأَصَحُّ فِي السُّنْبُلِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَشْتَدَّ.

L22592 Sufyan al-Thawri and Ibn Abi Layla said: The sale of unripe standing crops is not permissible, whether contingent on cutting them or leaving them intact. The opinion of these scholars is more consistent with legal principles and more sound regarding ears of grain before they harden.

وَاخْتَلَفُوا إِنْ تُرِكَ الزَّرْعُ فَزَادَ؟ فَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: يَنْفَسِخُ الْبَيْعُ جُمْلَةً.

L22593 They differed if the crop was left and it increased. Mālik said: "The sale is completely nullified."

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: لِلْمُشْتَرِي الْمِقْدَارُ الَّذِي اشْتَرَى وَيَتَصَدَّقُ بِالزِّيَادَةِ - وَيُرْوَى عَنْهُ أَنَّهُ رَجَعَ فَقَالَ: لِلْمُشْتَرِي الْمِقْدَارُ الَّذِي اشْتَرَى، وَأَمَّا الزِّيَادَةُ فَلِلْبَائِعِ.

L22594 Abu Hanifah said: The buyer is entitled to the quantity he purchased and must give the excess as charity. It is narrated that he retracted and said: The buyer is entitled to the quantity he purchased, and as for the excess, it belongs to the seller.

وَقَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّ: الْبَائِعُ مُخَيَّرٌ بَيْنَ أَنْ يَدَعَ لَهُ الزِّيَادَةَ فَيَجُوزُ الْبَيْعُ وَالْهِبَةُ مَعًا أَوْ يَفْسَخَ الْبَيْعَ - وَقَالَ أَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ: الزِّيَادَةُ لِلْمُشْتَرِي مَعَ مَا اشْتَرَى.

L22595 Al-Shāfiʿī said: The seller has the choice between leaving the additional amount to the buyer, in which case both the sale and gift are permissible, and rescinding the sale. Abū Sulaymān said: The additional amount belongs to the buyer along with what he purchased.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: أَمَّا فَسْخُ مَالِكٍ لِلْبَيْعِ فَقَوْلٌ لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّتِهِ أَصْلًا، وَلِأَيِّ مَعْنًى يَفْسَخُ بَيْعًا وَقَعَ عَلَى صِحَّةٍ بِإِقْرَارِهِ؟ هَذَا مَا لَا يَجُوزُ إِلَّا بِقُرْآنٍ، أَوْ سُنَّةٍ.

L22596 Abu Muhammad said: As for Malik's rescission of the sale, this is an opinion without any evidence for its validity at all. For what reason would he rescind a sale that was validly concluded by his own admission? This is impermissible except by [authority of] the Quran or the Sunnah.

L22597 As for the first of Abū Ḥanīfah's two opinions, it is incorrect because if he assigns the excess to the buyer, why would he instruct him to give it as charity instead of ordering him to donate the amount he purchased? Both are his. As for the opinion he ultimately adopted—that the excess belongs to the seller—it is valid when there is clear evidence establishing the excess and the quantity purchased.

الْقَوْلُ الَّذِي رَجَعَ إِلَيْهِ مِنْ أَنَّ الزِّيَادَةَ لِلْبَائِعِ: فَصَحِيحٌ، إِذَا قَامَتْ الْبَيِّنَةُ بِهَا وَبِمِقْدَارِ مَا اشْتَرَى.

L22598–22600 As for al-Shāfiʿī's statement, it is manifestly erroneous. For when he attributed the surplus to the seller, what justification is there for compelling him? Is it regarding her gift to the buyer or the rescission of the sale? By what proof did he prevent him from claiming his right, disputing over it, and persisting in it?

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ فَظَاهِرُ الْخَطَأِ، لِأَنَّهُ إِذْ جَعَلَ الزِّيَادَةَ لِلْبَائِعِ، فَلِأَيِّ مَعْنًى أَجْبَرَهُ عَلَى هِبَتِهَا لِلْمُشْتَرِي أَوْ فَسْخِ الْبَيْعِ؟ وَلِأَيِّ دَلِيلٍ مَنَعَهُ مِنْ طَلَبِ حَقِّهِ وَالْخِصَامِ فِيهِ وَالْبَقَاءِ عَلَيْهِ؟

L22601 These are the views of the people, as you see, regarding the declaring of lawful and unlawful.

فَهَذِهِ آرَاءُ الْقَوْمِ كَمَا تَرَى فِي التَّحْلِيلِ وَالتَّحْرِيمِ.

L22602 As for Abū Sulaymān's assertion that the increase belongs to the buyer, it is mistaken. This is because the buyer purchased only a defined quantity, entitling him solely to what emerges from the specific asset he acquired. The seller owns the increase in what he retained for himself and did not sell to the buyer. Therefore, the growth in the stalk belongs to the seller for the reason we stated - since the buyer is entitled only to the produce of what he purchased, and the increase derives from the original root.

L22603 As for the ears of grain, grains, blossoms, leaves, hay, and carob, they belong to the buyer because they arose within the specific property of the buyer. It has been reported regarding this from some of the Tabi'un (as narrated through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kuthayyir), who said: There is no harm in selling barley as fodder before its ripeness becomes apparent, provided it is harvested from where it grows. If he neglects it until it matures into consumable grain, there is no harm in it.

وَأَمَّا السُّنْبُلُ، وَالْحَبُّ، وَالنَّوْرُ، وَالْوَرَقُ، وَالتِّبْنُ، وَالْخَرُّوبُ فَلِلْمُشْتَرِي لِأَنَّهُ فِي عَيْنِ مَالِهِ حَدَثَ - وَقَدْ جَاءَ فِي هَذَا عَنْ بَعْضِ التَّابِعِينَ -: مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِبَيْعِ الشَّعِيرِ لِلْعَلَفِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهُ إِذَا كَانَ يَحْصُدُهُ مِنْ مَكَانِهِ، فَإِنْ غَفَلَ عَنْهُ حَتَّى يَصِيرَ طَعَامًا فَلَا بَأْسَ بِهِ.

A ruling on the sale of the visible yield from vine crops.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْ الْمَقَاثِي]

L22604

L22605 Issue 1436: It is permissible to sell what has emerged from trellised crops like cucumbers (al-maqāthī)—even if extremely small—because it is edible. However, it is not permissible to sell what has not yet emerged from such trellised crops, jasmine, citrus blossoms, or other similar plants, nor a second cutting of green fodder. This is because all such sales involve selling what has not yet been created—and perhaps may never be created. Even if created, none except Allah the Exalted knows its quantity or attributes. Therefore, such a sale is entirely forbidden, as it constitutes a gharar (speculative uncertainty) transaction and unlawful appropriation of wealth.

١٤٣٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَيَجُوزُ بَيْعُ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْ الْمَقَاثِي - وَإِنْ كَانَ صَغِيرًا جِدًّا - لِأَنَّهُ يُؤْكَلُ - وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ مَا لَمْ يَظْهَرْ بَعْدُ مِنْ الْمَقَاثِي، وَالْيَاسَمِينِ، وَالنَّوْرِ، وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا جَزَّةً ثَانِيَةً مِنْ الْقَصِيلِ، لِأَنَّ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ بَيْعُ مَا لَمْ يُخْلَقْ - وَلَعَلَّهُ لَا يُخْلَقُ - وَإِنْ خُلِقَ فَلَا

يَدْرِي أَحَدٌ غَيْرُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى مَا كَمِّيَّتُهُ، وَلَا مَا صِفَاتُهُ: فَهُوَ حَرَامٌ بِكُلِّ وَجْهٍ، وَبَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَأَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L22606 Mālik permitted all of that, and we know of no predecessor for him in specifying these things, nor anyone before him who stated it, nor any evidence.

وَأَجَازَ مَالِكٌ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُ فِي تَخْصِيصِ هَذِهِ الْأَشْيَاءِ سَلَفًا، وَلَا أَحَدٌ قَالَهُ غَيْرُهُ قَبْلَهُ، وَلَا حُجَّةً.

L22607 Some of them argued by citing the hiring of a wet nurse - and this is a distortion of Allah's words, the Exalted, from its rightful place. For how does hiring equate to sale? Moreover, what relation does suckled milk have with cucumbers and jasmine? Yet they prohibit the sale of a sheep's milk before milking without drawing analogy to the wet nurse, then proceed to analogize based on it the sale of cucumbers, blossoms, and jasmine before they are created. It has been narrated to us through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym reported to us - Yūnus ibn ʿUbayd - al-Ḥasan, that he disliked selling fresh dates two portions at a time.

L22608–22609 And it has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Shariq, from al-Mughīrah, from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī and al-Shaʿbī—both said: There is no harm in selling fresh dates by estimated measure.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا شَرِيكٌ عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ وَالشَّعْبِيِّ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: لَا بَأْسَ بِبَيْعِ الرِّطَابِ جِزَّةً جِزَّةً.

L22610 Through the narration of Waki' from Buraid ibn 'Abdullah ibn Abi Burdah, who said: "I asked 'Ata ibn Abi Rabah about selling fresh dates in two units." He replied: "It is only valid as one unit."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ بُرَيْدِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي بُرْدَةَ قَالَ: سَأَلْتُ عَطَاءَ بْنَ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ عَنْ بَيْعِ الرَّطْبَةِ جِزَّتَيْنِ؟ فَقَالَ: لَا تَصْلُحُ إِلَّا جِزَّةً.

L22611 Through the chain of Waki' from Muḥammad ibn Muslim from Ibn Abī Najīḥ from Mujāhid that he disapproved of selling freshly cut green fodder and henna unless as bundles, and disapproved of selling cucumbers and muskmelons unless fully ripe.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ مُسْلِمٍ عَنِ ابْنِ أَبِي نَجِيحٍ عَنْ مُجَاهِدٍ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ بَيْعَ الْقَضْبِ، وَالْحِنَّاءِ، إِلَّا جِزَّةً - وَكَرِهَ بَيْعَ الْخِيَارِ وَالْخِرْبِزِ إِلَّا جَنِيَّةً.

L22612 And through the chain of Waki' from Israʾīl, from Jābir who narrates from Ibn Ashwaʿ, and from Al-Qasim: they both disliked the sale of fresh dates except by the heap - and this is the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah, Al-Shāfiʿī, Aḥmad, Abū Sulaymān, and others.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ إِسْرَائِيلَ عَنْ جَابِرٍ عَنِ ابْنِ أَشْوَعَ، وَالْقَاسِمِ: أَنَّهُمَا كَرِهَا بَيْعَ الرِّطَابِ إِلَّا جِزَّةً - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَغَيْرِهِمْ.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَاعَهُ الْمَقْثَأَةَ بِأُصُولِهَا وَالْمَوْزَ بِأُصُولِهِ]

L22613 A legal question: A man sold another cucumber plants with their roots and banana plants with their roots.

L22614 1437 - Issue: If he sells to him the gourd plants with their roots and the banana plants with their roots, and voluntarily permits him to retain all of that in his land without stipulating a condition, this is permissible. When he acquires ownership of what he purchased, he is entitled to everything generated within it, as it is produced within his property. He also has the right to take possession by uprooting all of that whenever he wishes, for he has the greater entitlement regarding his property.

L22615 It is impermissible for him to stipulate retaining that on his land for a specified or unspecified period, as this is a condition not found in the Book of Allah, the Exalted, and is thus invalid. If they cite the principle, "Muslims are bound by their stipulations," we respond: This is invalid, yet you validate it. Where do you stand in prohibiting the permissibility of selling young crops on the condition of leaving them, while permitting their sale on the condition of cutting them? Both are baseless conditions unsupported by any Quranic text or Sunnah whatsoever, yet you differentiate between them without evidence. And success is only by Allah, the Exalted.

L22616 A jurisprudential issue concerning the sale of a female slave and establishing that she is pregnant from someone other than her master.

L22617 1438. Issue: The sale of a female slave is valid even when disclosing her pregnancy - whether conceived by her husband, through illicit intercourse, or coercion, rather than her owner - regardless of her being attractive or coarse in appearance, and whether the sale occurs at the pregnancy's beginning, middle, or end.

L22618–22620 Malik said: It is permissible in coarse goods but not permissible in superior goods — and this is an opinion without any evidence whatsoever, and we know of no one who held this opinion before him at all. The Most High said: "And Allah has permitted sale" [Al-Baqarah: 275]. He did not distinguish a pregnant animal from a barren one, nor a shepherdess from her flock, nor a woman from the rest of female animals—"And your Lord is not forgetful" [Maryam 19:64].[11]

Issue: the sale of a sword without its sheath.

1439. Legal ruling: The sale of a sword sold separately from its scabbard is valid.

The sale of the scabbard without the blade is permissible.

The sale of ornaments other than gold and silver is permissible; selling half of it undivided, a third, a tenth, or a specified part of it—all of that is permissible, "And Allah has permitted sale" (Quran 2:275).[12]

Abu Hanifah prohibited some of that—and we do not know anyone who said it before him, nor do we know any evidence for it at all. And with Allah, the Exalted, is success.

Similarly, selling pieces cut from a cloth or from a specific and bounded piece of wood is lawfully valid, for "Allah has permitted sale" [Quran 2:275].[13]

Issue: The sale of the ring's band without the bezel.

Issue 1440: Selling the ring's band without the bezel is permissible, and removing the bezel in that case is the responsibility of the seller. Selling the bezel without the band is permissible, and removing the bezel in that case is the responsibility of the buyer. This is because the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Your blood and your wealth are inviolable to you." The bezel is in the band, and the band serves as a place for the bezel. Therefore, the owner of the bezel is obligated to remove it

L22629 The one tasked with extracting the gemstone may widen the ring's band as necessary for retrieving his property, and he bears no liability, as he has performed what he was commanded to do. If he exceeds this, he becomes liable.

L22630 And such is the ruling concerning the tree trunk sold independently of the wall, the wall sold independently of it, the tree sold independently of the land, or the land sold independently of the tree: there is no distinction, and success is by Allah, the Most High.

L22631 In a case where a person sold an item, the buyer stated: "I will not pay the price until I receive what I have purchased."

L22632 1441. Issue: If someone sells an item and the buyer states, "I will not pay the price until I receive what I purchased," while the seller declares, "I will not deliver until I receive the payment," both must be compelled to exchange the sold item and the price simultaneously. This is because neither party has a greater right to fair treatment and redress than the other. Each holds a right belonging to the other, and it is incumbent upon each to fulfill the other's entitlement. Thus, it is impermissible to favor either party with precedence, as such action constitutes iniquity, wrongdoing, and oppression. This is the position of our scholarly companions and Ubayd-Allah ibn al-Hasan.

L22633–22634 A case where the buyer refused to pay the price except after possession.

L22635 Issue: If the buyer refuses to pay the price from his possession for what he purchased, saying: "I will not pay the price until I receive what I purchased," then the seller may withhold the sold item until he secures his right and ensures fairness jointly. If the item perishes in his custody without misconduct on his part, it is the buyer's liability, and he remains obliged to pay the price. The seller bears no responsibility for what perished in his custody without his transgression, as his withholding was legally justified. Allah the Exalted said: "So whoever transgresses against you, retaliate against him proportionally to his transgression" [Al-Baqarah: 194]. However, if part of the withheld item suffices to cover the price, the seller becomes liable for the excess beyond this amount, for he exceeded rightful retention in response to the buyer's initial refusal. This ruling applies if the item is divisible. If it cannot be divided without rendering it unusable or diminishing its value, then the seller bears no liability whatsoever.[14]

مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَإِنْ أَبَى الْمُشْتَرِي مِنْ أَنْ يَدْفَعَ الثَّمَنَ مِنْ قَبْضِهِ لِمَا اشْتَرَى وَقَالَ: لَا أَدْفَعُ الثَّمَنَ إلَّا بَعْدَ أَنْ أَقْبِضَ مَا اشْتَرَيْتُ؟ فَلِلْبَائِعِ أَنْ يَحْبِسَ مَا بَاعَ حَتَّى يَنْتَصِفَ وَيَنْصِفَ مَعًا، فَإِنْ تَلِفَ عِنْدَهُ مِنْ غَيْرِ تَعَدٍّ مِنْهُ فَهُوَ مِنْ مُصِيبَةِ الْمُشْتَرِي وَعَلَيْهِ دَفْعُ الثَّمَنِ، وَلَا ضَمَانَ

L22636 If the seller states, "I will not deliver except after receiving the payment," and the buyer invites him to accept payment and hand over the goods at the same time, but he refuses, then the seller is liable in this case because he is transgressing by withholding what he has withheld, as he was called to act fairly but refused. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

L22637 A juridical question: It is stated that no deceptive practice is permissible when one engages in selling or buying.

L22638 1443. Issue: If someone, when selling or purchasing, declares, "There are no defects," they retain the option to rescind the transaction for three consecutive nights and their intervening days. They may revoke it whether there is a defect or not, fraud or not, exploitation through unfair pricing or not. If they wish, they may retain it. Once the three nights elapse, their option becomes void, the sale becomes binding, and revocation is no longer permitted—except if a defect is discovered. The three-night period is calculated anew from the contract's conclusion. If the contract is concluded before sunset—even moments before, or as early as sunrise—the three-night period begins at that time. In such cases, the option to rescind also applies during that same daylight period.

L22639 If he concludes a sale after sunset, he has the right of option from that moment until the same time on the fourth night –:

L22645 Ibn Umar said: I heard him say when making a pledge of allegiance: "No deceit, no deceit." 1444 AH –

قَالَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ: فَسَمِعْته يَقُولُ إِذَا بَايَعَ: لَا خِلَابَةَ لَا خِلَابَةَ. ١٤٤٤ -.

L22646 Issue: If one is unable to utter "There is no deception" due to a speech impediment or language barrier, they should say it to the best of their ability. If completely incapable, they may express the equivalent meaning in their own language. They retain the aforementioned choice [to annul the transaction], whether the seller consents or objects.

مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَإِنْ لَمْ يَقْدِرْ عَلَى أَنْ يَقُولَ " لَا خِلَابَةَ " قَالَهَا كَمَا يَقْدِرُ لِآفَةٍ بِلِسَانِهِ أَوْ لِعُجْمَةٍ، فَإِنْ عَجَزَ جُمْلَةً قَالَ بِلُغَتِهِ مَا يُوَافِقُ مَعْنَى " لَا خِلَابَةَ " وَلَهُ الْخِيَارُ الْمَذْكُورُ، أَحَبَّ الْبَائِعُ أَمْ كَرِهَ.

L22647 The proof of that is: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—commanded Munqidh to say it, and Allah knew he would say nothing but, 'There is no Khidhābah.'" And Allah, the Exalted, said: {Allah does not burden a soul beyond its capacity} [al-Baqarah 2:286].[15]

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَمَرَ مُنْقِذًا أَنْ يَقُولَهَا، وَقَدْ عَلِمَ أَنَّهُ لَا يَقُولُ إلَّا: لَا خِذَابَةَ» وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {لا يُكَلِّفُ اللَّهُ نَفْسًا إِلا وُسْعَهَا} [البقرة: ٢٨٦] .

L22648 1445 AH. Issue: If he ratifies the sale within three days and relinquishes his option, the transaction becomes binding upon him. This is because the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, granted him the option period of three days. Were ratification within three days not binding, it would imply that the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, only granted him the option to revoke the sale - not to confirm it - which is invalid. For the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, comprehensively outlined this option as covering every choice the buyer may make, whether ratification or revocation.

L22649–22651 If the option were not terminated by relinquishing it and affirming consent, it would necessarily follow that his option would not terminate even if he rejects the sale until the three days expire—this is impossible. The apparent wording and meaning indicate he holds the option throughout the three days: if he wishes to reject, the sale becomes void with no valid consent after rejection; if he wishes to consent, the sale becomes binding with no valid rejection after consent. The directive of the Prophet (peace be upon him) cannot possibly bear any other interpretation. If he neither declares consent nor rejection, he cannot be compelled to either action, and his option remains until the three days expire—he may reject or retain it. If the three days expire without rejection, the sale becomes binding upon him because [...] A valid sale wherein the option period (khiyār) to return it was granted to him for three, no more. If he does not invalidate it within the three, he may no longer invalidate it afterward except due to a defect, as with all other sales. The sale remained valid and has not been invalidated. And success is from Allah, the Most High. 1446 -.

وَلَوْ كَانَ الْخِيَارُ لَا يَنْقَطِعُ بِإِسْقَاطِهِ إيَّاهُ وَإِقْرَارِهِ بِالرِّضَا لَوَجَبَ أَيْضًا ضَرُورَةَ أَنْ لَا يَنْقَطِعَ خِيَارُهُ وَإِنْ رَدَّ الْبَيْعَ حَتَّى يَنْقَضِيَ الثَّلَاثُ وَهَذَا مُحَالٌ -: فَظَاهِرُ اللَّفْظِ وَمَعْنَاهُ: أَنَّ لَهُ الْخِيَارَ مُدَّةَ الثَّلَاثِ إنْ شَاءَ رَدَّ فَيَبْطُلَ الْبَيْعُ وَلَا رِضَا لَهُ بَعْدَ الرَّدِّ، وَإِنْ شَاءَ رَضِيَ فَيَصِحَّ الْبَيْعُ وَلَا رَدَّ لَهُ بَعْدَ الرِّضَا -: لَا يَحْتَمِلُ أَمْرُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - غَيْرَ هَذَا أَصْلًا فَإِنْ لَمْ يَلْفِظْ بِالرِّضَا وَلَا بِالرَّدِّ: لَمْ يَجُزْ أَنْ يُجْبَرَ عَلَى شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَبَقِيَ عَلَى خِيَارِهِ إلَى انْقِضَاءِ الثَّلَاثِ - إنْ شَاءَ رَدَّ وَإِنْ شَاءَ أَمْسَكَ - فَإِنْ انْقَضَتْ الثَّلَاثُ وَلَمْ يَرُدَّ فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعٌ صَحِيحٌ جُعِلَ لَهُ الْخِيَارُ فِي رَدِّهِ ثَلَاثًا، لَا أَكْثَرَ - فَإِنْ لَمْ يُبْطِلْهُ فَلَا إبْطَالَ لَهُ بَعْدَ الثَّلَاثِ، إلَّا مِنْ عَيْبٍ كَسَائِرِ الْبُيُوعِ، وَبَقِيَ الْبَيْعُ بِصِحَّتِهِ لَمْ يَبْطُلْ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ. ١٤٤٦ -.

L22652 Issue: If one stipulates terms other than “no deception”—such as “no deceit,” “no fraud,” “no trickery,” “no inequity,” “no deception,” “no defect,” “no harm,” “on the basis of soundness,” “no disease,” “no hidden defect,” “no malice,” or similar—he does not acquire the option (khiyar) granted to one who stipulates “no deception.” However, if he finds anything the sale was conditioned against, the sale is void. If no such thing is found, the sale becomes binding upon him.

L22653 The proof of this is: When the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—issues a religious command and stipulates it with a particular wording, it is impermissible to transgress that wording—whether it is in its meaning or not—as long as one is capable of adhering to that wording, except through another text demonstrating that it is allowed; for he—peace be upon him—has established a limit in this matter, so how could transgressing it be lawful? Allah the Exalted said: "And whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger and transgresses His limits, He will make him enter Fire to abide therein forever" (4:14).[16]

L22654 The Exalted said, "Nor does he speak from his own inclination" [An-Najm 3], "It is not but a revelation revealed" [An-Najm 4].[17]

L22655 The Most High said: "Whoever transgresses the boundaries of Allah has truly wronged his own soul" [Surah At-Talaq 65:1].[18]

L22656 If it were permissible to do otherwise, the call to prayer would be valid by saying: "The Mighty, indeed. You are our Lord other than the Most Gracious. You are the son of Abdullah ibn Abdul-Muttalib, sent by the Most Gracious. Hasten to the noon prayer. Hasten to the everlasting. The Mighty is the Greatest. We have no Lord except the Most Merciful."

L22657 Abu Muhammad said: Whoever gives the call to prayer in this manner - should he not be called to repent? If he repents, [it is accepted]; otherwise, he is killed, for he is mocking the signs of Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, and transgressing the boundaries of Allah.

L22658 There is no distinction between what we have mentioned and what he—peace be upon him—commanded regarding the prescribed wording of prayer, the adhān, the iqāmah, the talbiyah, marriage, divorce, and the rest of the Sharia. The burden of proof lies upon whoever asserts a distinction—otherwise, his assertion is invalid.

mitted from Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—in the call to prayer (adhān) and its establishment (iqāmah), who allow inverting their prescribed order, and who sanction reciting the Quran during prayer in a non-Arabic language—despite the reciter's proficiency in the Quranic text—what would prevent them from logically arguing for the inversion of prayer itself? They would then begin it with the Taslim (concluding salutation), followed by the sitting position and Tashahhud, then proceed to prostration, and subsequently... In bowing, then in standing, then in saying the takbīr, reciting while sitting, reciting the tashahhud while standing, fasting at night during Ramadan and breaking the fast by day, postponing the Hajj, substituting Quranic words with others sharing their meaning, rearranging its words forward or backward provided the meaning remains intact, writing the Mus'haf in such manner, reciting it in prayer likewise, teaching people the Quran likewise, and altering religious laws — we declare our innocence before Allah, the Exalted, from all this and from transgressing any boundary set for us by Allah's Messenger — peace and blessings of Allah be upon him. We possess no knowledge except what He has taught us, and we abundantly praise Allah for this.

بِالْقُرْآنِ -: فَمَا عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يَقُولَ بِتَنْكِيسِ الصَّلَاةِ؟ فَيَبْدَؤُهَا بِالتَّسْلِيمِ، ثُمَّ بِالْقُعُودِ، وَالتَّشَهُّدِ، ثُمَّ بِالسُّجُودِ، ثُمَّ بِالرُّكُوعِ، ثُمَّ بِالْقِيَامِ، ثُمَّ بِالتَّكْبِيرِ وَيَقْرَأُ فِي الْجُلُوسِ، وَيَتَشَهَّدُ فِي الْقِيَامِ، وَأَنْ يَصُومَ اللَّيْلَ فِي رَمَضَانَ، وَيُفْطِرَ النَّهَارَ، وَيُحِيلَ الْحَجَّ، وَيُبَدِّلَ أَلْفَاظَ الْقُرْآنِ بِغَيْرِهَا مِمَّا هُوَ فِي مَعْنَاهَا، وَيُقَدِّمَ أَلْفَاظَهُ وَيُؤَخِّرَهَا مَا لَمْ يَفْسُدْ الْمَعْنَى، وَيَكْتُبَ الْمُصْحَفَ كَذَلِكَ، وَيَقْرَأَ فِي الصَّلَاةِ كَذَلِكَ، وَيُقْرِئَ النَّاسَ كَذَلِكَ، وَيُبَدِّلَ الشَّرَائِعَ - وَنَحْنُ نَبْرَأُ إلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَمِنْ أَنْ نَتَعَدَّى شَيْئًا مِمَّا حَدَّهُ لَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إلَيْنَا، لَا عِلْمَ لَنَا إلَّا مَا عَلَّمَنَا - وَنَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ كَثِيرًا عَلَى ذَلِكَ.

L22662 Many of our opponents have concurred with us that the term "sale" does not substitute for the term salam. This Munqidh—the one commanded to use the specified term—did not consider it appropriate to extend it to other terms, even if they shared its meaning. Rather, he stated it precisely as he was commanded, as was decreed, and as he was tasked.

L22663 We ask those who oppose us in this matter about the distinction between the wording stipulated in legal rulings, the times stipulated in legal rulings, the places stipulated in legal rulings, and the states and actions stipulated in legal rulings. They have no valid basis for any distinction whatsoever. If they equate all these categories in being obligatory, they are rightly guided—and this is our position. But if they equate all these in the permissibility of substitution, they have disbelieved—there is no disagreement on this—distorted the entirety of the religion, and utterly apostatized from it.

L22664 The Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—taught Al-Barā' ibn ʿĀẓib a supplication to recite, which included: “I have believed in Your Book which You have revealed, and Your Prophet whom You have sent.” Al-Barā’ began to commit it to memory and said: “And Your Messenger whom You have sent?” The Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—responded: “And Your Prophet whom You have sent.” He did not permit him to replace the word he was instructed to use with another, though the meaning is the same.

L22665 And who is more astonishing and misguided than one who permits altering an expression commanded by the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—then says: If the witness states, “I inform you” or “I notify you that I know this person has a dinar in the possession of that person,” it is not valid testimony, nor can judgment be based on it until he says, “I testify”—then marvel at how these people reverse the truths?

وَمَنْ أَعْجَبُ وَأَضَلُّ مِمَّنْ يُجِيزُ تَبْدِيلَ لَفْظٍ أَمَرَ بِهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثُمَّ يَقُولُ: إنْ قَالَ الشَّاهِدُ: أُخْبِرُك أَوْ أُعْلِمُك بِأَنِّي أَعْلَمُ أَنَّ لِهَذَا عِنْدَ هَذَا دِينَارًا: أَنَّهَا لَيْسَتْ شَهَادَةً، وَلَا يَحْكُمُ بِهَا حَتَّى يَقُولَ: أَشْهَدُ، فَاعْجَبُوا لِعَكْسِ هَؤُلَاءِ الْقَوْمِ لِلْحَقَائِقِ؟

L22666 As for other terms, they are words with established meanings that were mutually agreed upon. Thus, the parties are entitled to what they pledged upon if it is verified as such, for this constitutes part of their mutual consent, as Allah the Exalted said: “except it be a trade by mutual consent” [An-Nisā’ 4:29].[19]

وَأَمَّا الْأَلْفَاظُ الْأُخَرُ فَهِيَ أَلْفَاظٌ مَعْرُوفَةُ الْمَعَانِي بَايَعَ عَلَيْهَا فَلَهُ مَا بَايَعَ عَلَيْهِ إنْ وَجَدَهُ كَذَلِكَ، لِأَنَّهُ مِمَّا تَرَاضَيَا عَلَيْهِ، كَمَا قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {إلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩]

L22667–22669 If he finds other than what they mutually agreed upon in their sale, then he neither found what he sold nor what he purchased, and he has nothing else. Therefore, it is not permissible for him to take anything from another’s wealth unless he enters into a mutual agreement for it with the consent of both parties, and this is evident—and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

فَإِنْ وَجَدَ غَيْرَ مَا تَرَاضَيَا بِهِ فِي بَيْعِهِ، فَلَمْ يَجِدْ مَا بَاعَ وَلَا مَا ابْتَاعَ، وَلَيْسَ لَهُ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ مِنْ مَالِ غَيْرِهِ مَا لَمْ يُبَايِعْهُ فِيهِ عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْهُمَا، وَهَذَا بَيِّنٌ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ. -

L22670 A legal issue: Every condition stipulated in a sale contract by both parties, or by one of them with the consent of the other.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ كُلُّ شَرْطٍ وَقَعَ فِي بَيْعٍ مِنْهُمَا أَوْ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا بِرِضَا الْآخَرِ]

L22671 Issue 1447: Any condition stipulated in a sale by either party—or by one party with the other’s consent—whether stipulated before the contract’s conclusion, after the sale’s completion through physical separation from the place of transaction or khiyār (right to rescind), or at either of the two times (meaning before or after the contract), provided it was not mentioned during the contract itself—renders the sale valid and complete, while the condition becomes religiously invalid and legally non-binding.

الْوَقْتَيْنِ - يَعْنِي قَبْلَ الْعَقْدِ أَوْ بَعْدَهُ - وَلَمْ يَذْكُرَاهُ فِي حِينِ عَقْدِ الْبَيْعِ، فَالْبَيْعُ صَحِيحٌ تَامٌّ، وَالشَّرْطُ بَاطِلٌ لَا يَلْزَمُ.

L22672 If both parties mention that condition at the time of concluding the sale, the sale is void and rescinded, and the condition is invalidated—no matter what the condition may be—except for seven conditions alone. These are binding, and the sale remains valid if stipulated in the sale. They are:

فَإِنْ ذَكَرَا ذَلِكَ الشَّرْطَ فِي حَالِ عَقْدِ الْبَيْعِ فَالْبَيْعُ بَاطِلٌ مَفْسُوخٌ، وَالشَّرْطُ بَاطِلٌ - أَيَّ شَرْطٍ كَانَ لَا تُحَاشِ شَيْئًا - إِلَّا سَبْعَةَ شُرُوطٍ فَقَطْ، فَإِنَّهَا لَازِمَةٌ، وَالْبَيْعُ صَحِيحٌ، إِنْ اُشْتُرِطَتْ فِي الْبَيْعِ - وَهِيَ:

L22673 The requirement of collateral in a mutually contracted transaction for a specified term.

اشْتِرَاطُ الرَّهْنِ فِيمَا تَبَايَعَاهُ إِلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى.

L22674 The stipulation to defer the price—if it is in dinars or dirhams—to a specified term.

وَاشْتِرَاطُ تَأْخِيرِ الثَّمَنِ إِنْ كَانَ دَنَانِيرَ أَوْ دَرَاهِمَ إِلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى.

L22675 Stipulating that the price be paid at the time of financial ease, even if the two parties do not stipulate a period.

وَاشْتِرَاطُ أَدَاءِ الثَّمَنِ إِلَى الْمَيْسَرَةِ - وَإِنْ لَمْ يَذْكُرَا أَجَلًا.

L22676 The stipulation of the attributes of the sold item that the two parties mutually agree upon and conclude the sale on the condition that the item possesses those attributes.

وَاشْتِرَاطُ صِفَاتِ الْمَبِيعِ الَّتِي يَتَرَاضَيَانِهَا مَعًا وَيَتَبَايَعَانِ ذَلِكَ الشَّيْءَ عَلَى أَنَّهُ بِتِلْكَ الصِّفَةِ.

L22677 And the stipulation that there is no deceit.

وَاشْتِرَاطُ أَنْ لَا خِلَابَةَ.

L22678 The sale of a male slave or female slave, wherein the buyer stipulates their entire property or a specifically named and designated portion thereof, or an apportioned undivided share in all of it — regardless of whether their property is entirely unknown, entirely known, partly known and partly unknown.

وَبَيْعُ الْعَبْدِ، أَوْ الْأَمَةِ، فَيَشْتَرِطُ الْمُشْتَرِي مَالَهُمَا أَوْ بَعْضَهُ مُسَمًّى مُعَيَّنًا، أَوْ جُزْءًا مَنْسُوبًا مُشَاعًا فِي جَمِيعِهِ، سَوَاءٌ كَانَ مَالُهُمَا مَجْهُولًا كُلُّهُ، أَوْ مَعْلُومًا كُلُّهُ، أَوْ مَعْلُومًا بَعْضُهُ، مَجْهُولًا بَعْضُهُ.

L22679 Or the sale of date palm roots/trunks containing fruit that was artificially pollinated before or after ripening, where the buyer stipulates exclusive ownership of the fruit for himself, a specific portion of it, or a designated undivided share of the entire fruit.

أَوْ بَيْعُ أُصُولِ نَخْلٍ فِيهَا ثَمَرَةٌ قَدْ أُبِرَتْ قَبْلَ الطِّيبِ أَوْ بَعْدَهُ، فَيَشْتَرِطُ الْمُشْتَرِي الثَّمَرَةَ لِنَفْسِهِ أَوْ جُزْءًا مُعَيَّنًا مِنْهَا أَوْ مُسَمًّى مُشَاعًا فِي جَمِيعِهَا.

L22680 This is valid and nothing more, and all other such transactions are void, as we have previously established: such as one who sells a slave on the condition of emancipation, or a female slave on the condition of her bearing a child, or a beast of burden while stipulating riding it for a specified period—whether brief or extended—or to a specified place—whether near or far.

فَهَذِهِ وَلَا مَزِيدَ، وَسَائِرُهَا بَاطِلٌ كَمَا قَدَّمْنَا -: كَمَنْ بَاعَ مَمْلُوكًا بِشَرْطِ الْعِتْقِ، أَوْ أَمَةً بِشَرْطِ الْإِيلَادِ، أَوْ دَابَّةً وَاشْتَرَطَ رُكُوبَهَا مُدَّةً مُسَمَّاةً - قَلَّتْ أَوْ كَثُرَتْ - أَوْ إلَى مَكَانٍ مُسَمًّى قَرِيبٍ أَوْ بَعِيدٍ.

أَوْ دَارًا وَاشْتَرَطَ سُكْنَاهَا سَاعَةً فَمَا فَوْقَهَا، أَوْ غَيْرَ ذَلِكَ مِنْ الشُّرُوطِ كُلِّهَا.

L22681 or a house and stipulated occupancy of it for an hour or longer, or other than that from all the conditions.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمِ بْنِ الْحَجَّاجِ أَنَا أَبُو كُرَيْبٍ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْعَلَاءِ الْهَمْدَانِيُّ أَنَا أَبُو أُسَامَةَ - هُوَ حَمَّادُ بْنُ أُسَامَةَ - أَنَا هِشَامُ بْنُ عُرْوَةَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ قَالَ: أَخْبَرَتْنِي عَائِشَةُ أُمُّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ فَذَكَرَتْ حَدِيثًا قَالَتْ فِيهِ «إنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - خَطَبَ النَّاسَ فَحَمِدَ اللَّهَ وَأَثْنَى عَلَيْهِ بِمَا هُوَ أَهْلُهُ ثُمَّ قَالَ: أَمَّا بَعْدُ فَمَا بَالُ أَقْوَامٍ يَشْتَرِطُونَ شُرُوطًا لَيْسَتْ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ مَا كَانَ مِنْ شَرْطٍ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ وَإِنْ كَانَ مِائَةَ شَرْطٍ كِتَابُ اللَّهِ أَحَقُّ وَشَرْطُ اللَّهِ أَوْثَقُ» وَذَكَرَ بَاقِيَ الْخَبَرِ.

L22682–22684 The proof of that is—what we have reported through Muslim ibn al-Ḥajjāj: I am Abū Kurayb Muḥammad ibn al-ʿAlāʾ al-Hamadānī. I am Abu Usamah—he is Hammad ibn Usamah—I am Hisham ibn Urwah from his father, who said: Aisha, the Mother of the Believers, informed me and mentioned a hadith in which she said: "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) addressed the people, praised Allah, and extolled Him as He deserves. Then he said: 'Now then: what is the matter with people who stipulate conditions not found in the Book of Allah, the Almighty and Majestic? Any condition not present in the Book of Allah, the Almighty and Majestic, is void, even if it be a hundred conditions. Allah's Book holds greater authority, and Allah's stipulation is more binding.'" He then recounted the remainder of the narrative.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد حَدَّثَنَا الْقَعْنَبِيُّ، وَقُتَيْبَةُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ قَالَا جَمِيعًا: نا اللَّيْثُ هُوَ ابْنُ سَعْدٍ - عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ عَنْ عُرْوَةَ بْنِ الزُّبَيْرِ قَالَ: إنَّ عَائِشَةَ أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَخْبَرَتْهُ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَامَ فَقَالَ: مَا بَالُ أُنَاسٍ يَشْتَرِطُونَ شُرُوطًا لَيْسَتْ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ، مَنْ اشْتَرَطَ شَرْطًا لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ فَلَيْسَ لَهُ وَإِنْ اشْتَرَطَ مِائَةَ مَرَّةٍ، شَرْطُ اللَّهِ أَحَقُّ وَأَوْثَقُ» .

L22685 And through the chain of Abī Dāwūd: Al-Qaʿnabī and Qutaybah ibn Saʿīd both said: Al-Layth ibn Saʿd narrated to them from Ibn Shihāb from ʿUrwah ibn Al-Zubayr, who said: ʿĀʾishah, the Mother of the Believers, informed ʿUrwah that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—stood and said: "What is the matter with people who impose conditions not found in the Book of Allah? Whoever imposes a condition not in the Book of Allah has no right to it, even if he repeats it a hundred times. Allah's condition is more rightful and binding."

فَهَذَا الْأَثَرُ كَالشَّمْسِ صِحَّةً وَبَيَانًا يَرْفَعُ الْإِشْكَالَ كُلَّهُ.

L22686 This narration is like the sun in authenticity and clarity, dispelling all difficulties.

L22687 Since all conditions—except what we have mentioned—are invalid, every contract of sale or other type concluded upon an invalid condition is invalid, utterly invalid, and necessarily so. This is because the contract is concluded on the premise that it cannot be valid except through the validity of its condition, while the condition has no validity. Thus, a contract contingent on a condition that lacks validity cannot possess validity, as it depends on the validity of that which is itself invalid.

فَلَمَّا كَانَتْ الشُّرُوطُ كُلُّهَا بَاطِلَةً - غَيْرَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا - كَانَ كُلُّ عَقْدٍ مِنْ بَيْعٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ: عُقِدَ عَلَى شَرْطٍ بَاطِلٍ بَاطِلًا وَلَا بُدَّ، لِأَنَّهُ عُقِدَ عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا يَصِحُّ إلَّا بِصِحَّةِ الشَّرْطِ، وَالشَّرْطُ لَا صِحَّةَ لَهُ، فَلَا صِحَّةَ لِمَا عُقِدَ بِأَنْ لَا صِحَّةَ لَهُ إلَّا بِصِحَّةِ مَا لَا يَصِحُّ.

L22688 Abu Muhammad said: As for our validation of the seven conditions we mentioned, they are textually stipulated as valid. Whatever the Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings be upon him - stipulated is found in the Book of Allah the Almighty and Majestic. He Most High said: {We have sent down the Reminder to you so that you may clarify to the people what has been sent down to them} [An-Nahl 16:44].[20]

L22689 And He, the Exalted, said: "He does not speak out of desire. It is nothing but a revelation being revealed." [An-Najm 53:3, 4].[21] وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَمَا يَنْطِقُ عَنِ الْهَوَى} [النجم: ٣] {إِنْ هُوَ إِلا وَحْيٌ يُوحَى} [النجم: ٤] .

L22690 And He, the Exalted, said: "Whoever obeys the Messenger has indeed obeyed Allah" [An-Nisa: 80].[22]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {مَنْ يُطِعِ الرَّسُولَ فَقَدْ أَطَاعَ اللَّهَ} [النساء: ٨٠] .

L22691 As for stipulating collateral in a sale with a deferred term, it is based on the statement of the Exalted: "But if you do not find a scribe, then a security deposit shall be taken." [Al-Baqarah: 283][23]

فَأَمَّا اشْتِرَاطُ الرَّهْنِ فِي الْبَيْعِ إلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى فَلِقَوْلِهِ تَعَالَى: {وَلَمْ تَجِدُوا كَاتِبًا فَرِهَانٌ مَقْبُوضَةٌ} [البقرة: ٢٨٣] .

L22692 As for stipulating that the price be paid at a specified term, this is based on the statement of Allah the Exalted: "When you contract a debt for a specified term, put it in writing" [Al-Baqarah: 282].[24]

وَأَمَّا اشْتِرَاطُ الثَّمَنِ إلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى فَلِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {إِذَا تَدَايَنْتُمْ بِدَيْنٍ إِلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى فَاكْتُبُوهُ} [البقرة: ٢٨٢] .

L22693–22694 As for the stipulation of "no deception," we have previously cited the relevant hadith on this matter approximately four issues earlier in this text.

وَأَمَّا اشْتِرَاطُ " أَنْ لَا خِلَابَةَ " فَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا الْخَبَرَ فِي ذَلِكَ قَبْلَ هَذَا الْمَكَانِ بِنَحْوِ أَرْبَعِ مَسَائِلَ.

L22695 As for stipulating the attributes upon which the two parties mutually agree

وَأَمَّا اشْتِرَاطُ الصِّفَاتِ الَّتِي يَتَبَايَعَانِ عَلَيْهَا مِنْ السَّلَامَةِ، أَوْ مِنْ أَنْ لَا خَدِيعَةَ، وَمِنْ صِنَاعَةِ الْعَبْدِ، أَوْ الْأَمَةِ، أَوْ سَائِرِ صِفَاتِ الْمَبِيعِ، فَلِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ

in a sale—such as integrity, absence of deceit, the skill or craft of a male or female slave, or the remaining attributes of the sold item—this is based on Allah the Exalted's decree: "Do not consume one another's wealth unjustly, but only through trade by mutual consent" (4:29). Thus, the Exalted has explicitly ordained mutual consent between them, and mutual consent can only be achieved by agreeing on the attributes of the sold item and the attributes of the price as a necessity.[25]

بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] فَنَصَّ تَعَالَى عَلَى التَّرَاضِي مِنْهُمَا وَالتَّرَاضِي لَا يَكُونُ إِلَّا عَلَى صِفَاتِ الْمَبِيعِ، وَصِفَاتِ الثَّمَنِ ضَرُورَةً.

L22696 As for stipulating deferment of the price until a time of financial ease, this is based on the statement of Allah, the Exalted: {And if one is in financial hardship, then deferment until a time of ease} [Al-Baqarah: 280].[26]

وَأَمَّا اشْتِرَاطُ الثَّمَنِ إِلَى الْمَيْسَرَةِ فَلِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَإِنْ كَانَ ذُو عُسْرَةٍ فَنَظِرَةٌ إِلَى مَيْسَرَةٍ} [البقرة: ٢٨٠] .

L22697 It was narrated to us through the chain of Shu'bah: 'Umarah ibn Abi Hafsah narrated to me from 'Ikrimah from 'Ā'ishah, the Mother of the Believers, that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) sent to a Jew—to whom garments had come—saying: "Send me two garments on credit," and the remainder of the report was mentioned.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ شُعْبَةَ أَخْبَرَنِي عُمَارَةُ بْنُ أَبِي حَفْصَةَ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بَعَثَ إِلَى يَهُودِيٍّ قَدِمَتْ عَلَيْهِ ثِيَابٌ: ابْعَثْ إِلَيَّ بِثَوْبَيْنِ إِلَى الْمَيْسَرَةِ» وَذَكَرَ بَاقِيَ الْخَبَرِ.

L22698 As for the wealth of a male slave or female slave and its stipulation, and the stipulation regarding the fruit of pollinated palm trees: This is based on what was transmitted to us through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq—Maʿmar—al-Zuhrī—Sālim ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUmar—his father, that the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Whoever sells a slave who owns property, the property belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates it. And whoever sells palm trees that have been pollinated, its fruit belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates it."[27]

L22699–22701 Abu Muhammad said: Had we found a valid and unabrogated report other than these conditions, we would have followed it without opposing it. We will mention – if Allah the Exalted wills – the ruling of these two conditions, since we have already mentioned others apart from them- All praise is due to Allah, Lord of the worlds, and we have mentioned the report of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Ibn Jurayj from ʿAṭāʾ, who said: Every sale containing a condition is not a sale.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَلَوْ وَجَدْنَا خَبَرًا يَصِحُّ فِي غَيْرِ هَذِهِ الشُّرُوطِ بَاقِيًا غَيْرَ مَنْسُوخٍ لَقُلْنَا بِهِ وَلَمْ نُخَالِفْهُ، وَسَنَذْكُرُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى حُكْمَ هَذَيْنِ الشَّرْطَيْنِ إِذْ قَدْ ذَكَرْنَا غَيْرَهُمَا - وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ - وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا رِوَايَةَ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ قَالَ: كُلُّ بَيْعٍ فِيهِ شَرْطٌ فَلَيْسَ بَيْعًا.

L22702 Ali said: If an opposing interlocutor argues against us by citing the words of Allah, the Exalted: "Fulfill the contracts" [Al-Ma'idah: 1] and His command: "And fulfill the covenant of Allah when you have made a covenant" [An-Nahl: 91].[28]

L22703 And according to what has been narrated: "Muslims are bound by their conditions."

L22704 We said: As for Allah's command to fulfill contracts—no two people disagree that it is neither bound by its generality nor its apparent meaning. The Quran instructs us to avoid His prohibitions and acts of disobedience. Thus, whoever enters a contract for sinful purposes, fulfilling it is ḥarām. Since this is beyond doubt, it is established that every condition not in the Book of Allah is null and void, and what is null is prohibited. Therefore, fulfilling anything prohibited is impermissible.

L22705 And likewise, the statement of Allah the Exalted: {And fulfill the covenant of Allah when you make a covenant} [An-Nahl: 91]. Thus, the covenant of Allah can only be understood through an explicit textual source addressing it. We know that every covenant Allah has forbidden is not the covenant of Allah the Exalted; rather, it is the covenant of Satan, so fulfilling it is not permissible. The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) authoritatively declared that "Every condition not in the Book of Allah is invalid," and it is impermissible to fulfill what is invalid.[29][30]

L22706 As for the report concerning this—it has been related through Ibn Wahb: Sulayman ibn Bilal narrated to me from Kathir ibn Zayd, from al-Walid ibn Rabah, from Abu Hurayrah, who said: The Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him, said, "Muslims are bound by their stipulations."

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: فَإِنْ احْتَجَّ مُعَارِضٌ لَنَا بِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {أَوْفُوا بِالْعُقُودِ} [المائدة: ١] وقَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَأَوْفُوا بِعَهْدِ اللَّهِ إِذَا عَاهَدْتُمْ} [النحل: ٩١] .

وَبِمَا رُوِيَ «الْمُسْلِمُونَ عِنْدَ شُرُوطِهِمْ» .

قُلْنَا: أَمَّا أَمْرُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى بِالْوَفَاءِ بِالْعُقُودِ: لَا يَخْتَلِفُ اثْنَانِ فِي أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ عَلَى عُمُومِهِ وَلَا عَلَى ظَاهِرِهِ، وَقَدْ جَاءَ الْقُرْآنُ بِأَنْ نَجْتَنِبَ نَوَاهِيَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى وَمَعَاصِيَهُ، فَمَنْ عَقَدَ عَلَى مَعْصِيَةٍ فَحَرَامٌ عَلَيْهِ الْوَفَاءُ بِهَا، فَإِذْ لَا شَكَّ فِي هَذَا فَقَدْ صَحَّ أَنَّ كُلَّ شَرْطٍ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ، وَالْبَاطِلُ مُحَرَّمٌ، فَكُلُّ مُحَرَّمٍ فَلَا يَحِلُّ الْوَفَاءُ بِهِ.

وَكَذَلِكَ قَوْله تَعَالَى: {وَأَوْفُوا بِعَهْدِ اللَّهِ إِذَا عَاهَدْتُمْ} [النحل: ٩١] فَلَا يُعْلَمُ مَا هُوَ عَهْدُ اللَّهِ إِلَّا بِنَصٍّ وَارِدٍ فِيهِ، وَقَدْ عَلِمْنَا أَنَّ كُلَّ عَهْدٍ نَهَى اللَّهُ عَنْهُ فَلَيْسَ هُوَ عَهْدَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، بَلْ هُوَ عَهْدُ الشَّيْطَانِ فَلَا يَحِلُّ الْوَفَاءُ بِهِ، وَقَدْ نَصَّ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَلَى أَنَّ «كُلَّ شَرْطٍ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ» ، وَالْبَاطِلُ لَا يَحِلُّ الْوَفَاءُ بِهِ.

L22707 We have also transmitted it through the chain of Abd al-Malik ibn Habib al-Andalusi: al-Hizami narrated to me from Muhammad ibn Umar from Abd al-Rahman ibn Muhammad ibn Abi Bakr ibn Amr ibn Hazm from Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz, who reported that the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him, said: "Muslims are bound by their conditions."

L22708 And from the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Yahya ibn Abi Za'idah from Abd al-Malik, from Ata': It has been transmitted to us that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Muslims are bound by their conditions."

L22709 And narrated by Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah from al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭā'ah from Khālid ibn Muḥammad from a shaykh of the Banū Kinānah: I heard ʿUmar say: "A Muslim is bound by their conditions."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ عَنْ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ عَنْ خَالِدِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ شَيْخٍ مِنْ بَنِي كِنَانَةَ سَمِعْت عُمَرَ يَقُولُ: الْمُسْلِمُ عِنْد شَرْطِهِ.

L22710–22711 From the transmission of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Ibn ʿUyaynah narrated from Yazeed ibn Yazeed ibn Jabir, from Isma'eel ibn ʿUbaydullah, from ʿAbdur-Rahman ibn Ghanm, who reported that ʿUmar ibn al-Khattab said, "Verily, the cessation of rights is determined by conditions."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ يَزِيدَ بْنِ يَزِيدَ بْنِ جَابِرٍ عَنْ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ غَنْمٍ قَالَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ " إنَّ مَقَاطِعَ الْحُقُوقِ، عِنْدَ الشُّرُوطِ ".

L22712 And via the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: I [heard] from Hafs ibn Ghiyath, who narrated from Jaʿfar ibn Muḥammad, from his father, from ʿAlī, who said: "Muslims are bound by their conditions."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا حَفْصُ بْنُ غِيَاثٍ عَنْ جَعْفَرِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ: " الْمُسْلِمُونَ عِنْدَ شُرُوطِهِمْ ".

L22713 Abū Muḥammad said: Kathīr ibn Zayd is Kathīr ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAmr ibn Zayd - rejected and abandoned by consensus - al-Walīd ibn Rabāḥ - unknown - the other is ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb - rejected - Muḥammad ibn ʿUmar - he is al-Wāqidī, noted for lying - ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Muḥammad - unknown, unrecognized - and also mursal; the third is likewise mursal. The narration through ʿUmar's chain contains al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāh - he is rejected - Khālid ibn Muḥammad - unknown - a shaykh from Banū Kinānah - the other chain contains Ismāʿīl ibn ʿUbayd Allāh, whom I do not recognize.

L22714 The narration of ʿAlī is mursal (with a broken chain). Furthermore, even if all we mentioned were authentic, it would constitute evidence for us without contradicting our position, for the contractual stipulations upheld by Muslims are those Allah has permitted them—not those He prohibited. As for the stipulations they were forbidden from, these are not the stipulations of Muslims.

L22715 The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—explicitly stated that “every condition not found in the Book of Allah the Exalted is void, even if it were a hundred conditions or stipulated a hundred times,” and that it is invalid for the one who stipulates it. Thus, it is established that every condition not in the Book of Allah the Exalted is void, and it does not belong to the stipulations of Muslims. Therefore, our statement is established with certainty.

L22716 Then, indeed, the Hanafi, Maliki, and Shafiʿi schools are the most inconsistent and contradictory in this matter. For they permit conditions and prohibit others—all of which are equally invalid because they are not in the Book of Allah Almighty and Exalted—and they permit conditions and prohibit others—all of which are equally valid because they are in the Book of Allah the Exalted.

ثُمَّ إِنَّ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّينَ، أَشَدُّ النَّاسِ اضْطِرَابًا وَتَنَاقُضًا فِي ذَلِكَ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ شُرُوطًا وَيَمْنَعُونَ شُرُوطًا كُلُّهَا سَوَاءٌ فِي أَنَّهَا بَاطِلٌ لَيْسَتْ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ، وَيُجِيزُونَ شُرُوطًا وَيَمْنَعُونَ شُرُوطًا كُلُّهَا سَوَاءٌ فِي أَنَّهَا حَقٌّ؛ لِأَنَّهَا فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى.

L22717 The Hanafis and the Shafi’is prohibit the buyer from stipulating the slave’s property and the fruit of the pre-pollinated palm tree, and they do not permit this under any circumstance except via a sale compliant with the rulings governing sales.

فَالْحَنَفِيُّونَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّونَ يَمْنَعُونَ اشْتِرَاطَ الْمُبْتَاعِ مَالَ الْعَبْدِ، وَثَمَرَةَ النَّخْلِ الْمُؤَبَّرِ، وَلَا يُجِيزُونَ لَهُ ذَلِكَ أَلْبَتَّةَ إِلَّا بِالشِّرَاءِ عَلَى حُكْمِ الْبُيُوعِ.

L22718–22720 The Malikis, Hanafis, and Shafi’is do not permit sales leading to gambling (al-maysarah), nor do they allow stipulations contingent on verbal statements. There is no fraud in sales, and both of them are established in the Book of Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, by the command of the Prophet (peace be upon him) regarding them both. Yet here they forget “Muslims are bound by their conditions.”

L22721 All of them permit the sale of fruit whose readiness has not yet become apparent, on the condition that it is plucked. This is a condition not found in the Book of Allah the Exalted. Rather, the prohibition of this sale has been clearly established as a general principle, and similar cases are numerous.

وَكُلُّهُمْ يُجِيزُ بَيْعَ الثَّمَرَةِ الَّتِي لَمْ يَبْدُ صَلَاحُهَا بِشَرْطِ الْقَطْعِ، وَهُوَ شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، بَلْ قَدْ صَحَّ النَّهْيُ عَنْ هَذَا الْبَيْعِ جُمْلَةً، وَمِثْلُ هَذَا كَثِيرٌ.

L22722 Abu Muhammad said: Every condition stipulated in a sale or other transaction must necessarily fall into one of three categories—there being no fourth.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَلَا يَخْلُو كُلُّ شَرْطٍ اُشْتُرِطَ فِي بَيْعٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ مِنْ أَحَدِ ثَلَاثَةِ أَوْجُهٍ لَا رَابِعَ لَهَا -:

L22723 Either the permissibility of wealth not stipulated in the contract, or the obligation of an action, or the prohibition of an action—and actions involve bodily integrity or pertain solely to wealth. All of this is forbidden by explicit textual evidence. The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: "Your blood, your wealth, and your bodily integrity are sacred and forbidden upon you."

إمَّا إبَاحَةُ مَالٍ لَمْ يَجِبْ فِي الْعَقْدِ، وَإِمَّا إيجَابُ عَمَلٍ، وَإِمَّا الْمَنْعُ مِنْ عَمَلٍ، وَالْعَمَلُ يَكُونُ بِالْبَشَرَةِ، أَوْ بِالْمَالِ فَقَطْ - وَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ حَرَامٌ بِالنَّصِّ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «إنَّ دِمَاءَكُمْ وَأَمْوَالَكُمْ وَأَبْشَارَكُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ حَرَامٌ» .

L22724 As for preventing deeds, Allah the Exalted says: {Why do you prohibit what Allah has made lawful for you} [At-Tahrim: 1].[31] وَأَمَّا الْمَنْعُ مِنْ الْعَمَلِ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ: {لِمَ تُحَرِّمُ مَا أَحَلَّ اللَّهُ لَكَ} [التحريم: ١] .

L22725 Thus, the invalidity of all conditions in their entirety is confirmed, except for a condition permitted by a text from the Quran or the Sunnah. Here, God willing, we shall mention relevant narrations and clarify them, so that no ignorant person or agitator may raise objections concerning them.

فَصَحَّ بُطْلَانُ كُلِّ شَرْطٍ جُمْلَةً إلَّا شَرْطًا جَاءَ النَّصُّ مِنْ الْقُرْآنِ أَوْ السُّنَّةِ بِإِبَاحَتِهِ - وَهَهُنَا أَخْبَارٌ نَذْكُرُهَا، وَنُبَيِّنُهَا - إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى - لِئَلَّا يَعْتَرِضَ بِهَا جَاهِلٌ أَوْ مُشَغِّبٌ.

L22726 Muhammad ibn Ismāʿīl al-ʿUdhriyy, the judge of Zaragoza, narrated to me: Muhammad ibn ʿAlī al-Rāziyy al-Muṭṭawiʿī narrated to us; Muhammad ibn ʿAbd Allāh al-Ḥākim al-Naysābūriyy narrated to us; Jaʿfar ibn Muḥammad al-Khuldiyy narrated to us; ʿAbd Allāh ibn Ayyūb ibn Zādhān al-Ḍarīr narrated to us; Muḥammad ibn Sulaymān al-Dhuhliyy narrated to us: ʿAbd al-Wārith—he is Ibn Saʿīd al-Tannūriyy—said: I arrived in Makkah and found there Abū Ḥanīfah, Ibn Abī Laylā, and Ibn Shubrumah. I asked Abū Ḥanīfah about someone who conducts a sale with a stipulation. He said: "The sale is void, and the stipulation is void." Then I asked Ibn Abī Laylā about that, and he said: "The sale is valid, and the stipulation is void." Then I asked Ibn Shubrumah about that, and he said: "The sale is valid, and the stipulation is valid." I returned to Abū Ḥanīfah and informed him of what they said.

حَدَّثَنِي مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ إسْمَاعِيلَ الْعُذْرِيُّ الْقَاضِي بِسَرَقُسْطَةَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ الرَّازِيّ الْمُطَّوِّعِيُّ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ الْحَاكِمِ النَّيْسَابُورِيُّ أَنَا جَعْفَرُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ الْخُلْدِيُّ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ أَيُّوبَ بْنِ زَاذَانَ الضَّرِيرُ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانَ الذُّهْلِيُّ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْوَارِثِ - هُوَ ابْنُ سَعِيدٍ التَّنُّورِيُّ - قَدِمْت مَكَّةَ فَوَجَدْت بِهَا أَبَا حَنِيفَةَ، وَابْنَ أَبِي لَيْلَى، وَابْنَ شُبْرُمَةَ، فَسَأَلْتُ أَبَا حَنِيفَةَ عَمَّنْ بَاعَ بَيْعًا وَاشْتَرَطَ شَرْطًا؟ فَقَالَ: الْبَيْعُ بَاطِلٌ وَالشَّرْطُ بَاطِلٌ ثُمَّ سَأَلْتُ ابْنَ أَبِي لَيْلَى عَنْ ذَلِكَ؟ فَقَالَ الْبَيْعُ جَائِزٌ وَالشَّرْطُ بَاطِلٌ ثُمَّ سَأَلْتُ ابْنَ شُبْرُمَةَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ؟ فَقَالَ: الْبَيْعُ جَائِزٌ وَالشَّرْطُ جَائِزٌ؟ فَرَجَعْت إلَى أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ فَأَخْبَرْتُهُ بِمَا قَالَا؟ فَقَالَ: لَا أَدْرِي

[31] Qur'an references (L22724): Qur'an 66:1 (At-Tahrim).

He replied: “I do not know what they said.” ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb narrated to us from his father, from his grandfather, that the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—“forbade a sale with a stipulation.” The sale is void, and the stipulation is void.

مَا قَالَا - حَدَّثَنَا عَمْرُو بْنُ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعٍ وَشَرْطٍ» الْبَيْعُ بَاطِلٌ وَالشَّرْطُ بَاطِلٌ؟

L22727–22728 She went to Ibn Abī Laylā and informed him of what they had said. He replied, “I do not know what they said.” Hishām ibn ʿUrwah narrated to us from his father, from ʿĀ’ishah, the Mother of the Believers, that the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—said, “Purchase Barīrah and stipulate for them the clientage.” The sale is valid, and the stipulation is void. Then I went to Ibn Shubrumah and informed him of what they had said. He replied, “I do not know what they said.” I, Misʿar ibn Kidām, narrated from Muḥārib ibn Dithār, from Jābir ibn ʿAbdillāh, “that he sold a camel from the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—and stipulated its back to Medina.” The sale is valid, and the stipulation is valid.

فَأَتَيْت ابْنَ أَبِي لَيْلَى فَأَخْبَرْته بِمَا قَالَا؟ فَقَالَ: لَا أَدْرِي مَا قَالَا - حَدَّثَنَا هِشَامُ بْنُ عُرْوَةَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «اشْتَرِي بَرِيرَةَ وَاشْتَرِطِي لَهُمْ الْوَلَاءَ» الْبَيْعُ جَائِزٌ وَالشَّرْطُ بَاطِلٌ فَأَتَيْت ابْنَ شُبْرُمَةَ فَأَخْبَرْته بِمَا قَالَا؟ فَقَالَ: لَا أَدْرِي مَا قَالَا؟ أَنَا مِسْعَرُ بْنُ كِدَامٍ عَنْ مُحَارِبِ بْنِ دِثَارٍ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ «أَنَّهُ بَاعَ مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - جَمَلًا وَاشْتَرَطَ ظَهْرَهُ إلَى الْمَدِينَةِ» الْبَيْعُ جَائِزٌ وَالشَّرْطُ جَائِزٌ.

L22729 Here is a fourth narration: We have transmitted it through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb—I am Ziyād ibn Ayyūb—I am Ibn ʿUlayyah—Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī narrated to us—I am ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb—my father narrated to me from his father from his father—until he mentioned ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said, “A loan and a sale are not permissible, nor two conditions in a sale, nor profit from what is not guaranteed.”[32] وَهَهُنَا خَبَرٌ رَابِعٌ -: رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا زِيَادُ بْنُ أَيُّوبَ أَنَا ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ نا أَيُّوبُ السِّخْتِيَانِيُّ أَنَا عَمْرُو بْنُ شُعَيْبٍ حَدَّثَنِي أَبِي عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ حَتَّى ذَكَرَ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «لَا يَحِلُّ سَلَفٌ وَبَيْعٌ، وَلَا شَرْطَانِ فِي بَيْعٍ، وَلَا رِبْحُ مَا لَمْ يُضْمَنْ» .

L22730 Ahmad ibn Hanbal adopts this view, invalidating the sale if it contains two conditions while permitting it if it contains one condition. Abū Thawr held the view to follow all these ḥadīths, stating: If the seller stipulates retaining some usage rights of his property—such as residing in a house for a specified period, for his entire lifetime, the service of a slave, riding an animal, or wearing a garment—the sale and condition are valid, because the principal asset and its benefits belong to him. Thus, he may sell what he wishes and retain what he wishes. Any sale in which a condition pertains to something arising in the buyer’s ownership—such as walā’ (a legal patronage relationship) or similar matters—the sale is valid, but the condition is void. Every sale in which a condition imposes an action or financial obligation on the seller or an action on the buyer renders both the sale and the condition invalid.

L22731–22733 Abū Muḥammad said: This is an error on Abū Thawr's part, for the usufruct of what the seller sold - whether a house, a slave, an animal, a garment, or anything else - belongs to him only as long as it remains under his ownership. Once it leaves his ownership, it becomes invalid and impossible for him to own what Allah the Exalted has not yet created from the usufruct of what he sold. If it is later brought into existence... Allah, the Exalted—for verily He created it within the ownership of another—thus it belongs to the one in whose ownership it was created. This nullifies the reasoning of Abū Thawr, as well as the rest of his categorization, for it is an assertion without proof.

L22734 As for Ahmad's statement, it is also erroneous: because the Messenger of Allah's (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibition of two conditions in one sale does not permit a single condition nor prohibit it. Rather, it is silent on the matter in this narration. Thus, it becomes obligatory to seek its ruling elsewhere, where we find his statement (peace and blessings be upon him): "Every condition not in the Book of Allah is void."[33]

L22735 Thus, the single stipulation is void, and anything not validly contracted except by fulfilling it. And with Allah, the Exalted, lies all divine enablement.

L22736 There remains the ḥadīth of Barirah and Jābir concerning the Battle of the Camel; thus, we conclude—and all success is from Allah, the Most High.

L22737–22739 We have narrated what Muḥammad ibn Saʿīd ibn Nabāt narrated to us, that Muḥammad ibn Aḥmad ibn Mufarrij informed us, that ʿAbdullāh ibn Jaʿfar ibn al-Ward informed us, that Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb ibn Bādī al-ʿAllāf informed us, that Yaḥyā ibn Bukayr informed us, that al-Layth ibn Saʿd narrated from Hishām ibn ʿUrwah from ʿUrwah from ʿĀ'ishah, who said: Barīrah came to me and said, "I contracted with my owners for nine ounces - one ounce each year. Will you assist me?" ʿĀʾishah replied, "If your owners agree that I pay them the entire sum at once, and that the right of patronage (walāʾ) over you belongs to me, I will do so." She presented this to them, but they refused unless the patronage (walāʾ) remained with them. When Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him) heard of this, he asked her, and she informed him. He said, "Take her and stipulate against them the patronage (walāʾ), for the patronage belongs only to the one who frees the slave." So she did. Later, Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him) stood before the people in the evening, praised Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, then said, "What is the matter with some men who impose conditions not ordained in Allah's Book? What..." Any condition not in the Book of Allah is void—even if there are a hundred conditions—for Allah's decree is more rightful, and His condition is firmer. He then narrated the remainder of the report.

L22740 From the transmission of Al-Bukhari: I am Abu Nu'aym, narrated by 'Abdul Wahid ibn Ayman, narrated by my father, who said: "I entered upon 'Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her), and she said: 'Barirah entered—while she was a mukātabah slave—and said: 'Purchase me and emancipate me¡' 'Aishah replied: 'Yes." Barirah then said: 'Do not sell me unless they stipulate my al-walā' (right of patronage)." 'Aishah responded: 'I have no need for that¿' The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) then told her: 'Purchase her, emancipate her, and allow them to stipulate whatever they wish." 'Aishah purchased her, emancipated her, and her owners stipulated the al-walā'. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) declared: 'Al-walā' belongs to the emancipator, even if there are a hundred conditions.'"

L22741 Abū Muḥammad said: The position concerning this report is to adhere to its apparent meaning without addition, nor false conjecture attributed to the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—nor distortion of the wording. If one stipulated the right of patronage over the buyer in a sale intended for manumission, this would not invalidate the sale in any way. The sale under such a condition would remain permissible, proper, and allowed, even though the right of patronage in such cases remains with the emancipator. The seller's stipulation of patronage for himself was permissible and not prohibited. Then Allah the Almighty abrogated and nullified this when the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—addressed the matter as we mentioned. At that point, He prohibited stipulating this condition or any other conditions in totality, except those stipulated in the Book of Allah—with no basis for such a prohibition existing prior to that at all. Allah the Exalted has said: {It is not for a believing man or woman, when Allah and His Messenger have decreed a matter, to have any choice in their affair} [Al-Aḥzāb 33:36].[34]

L22742 And He, the Exalted, said: {The Prophet has more right over the believers than their own selves} [Al-Ahzab: 6].[35]

L22743 The proof of this is that he (peace be upon him) permitted it, and he (peace be upon him) does not sanction what is unlawful, nor does he delude or deceive anyone. If it is asked: "Why do you [jurists] not permit the sale conditional upon emancipation in this narration?"

L22744 We said: There is no stipulation whatsoever requiring them to manumit her, and had such a stipulation existed, we would have upheld it. It is conceivable that they stipulated their right to her walā' (allegiance) if she were manumitted at any time, or if a female master manumitted her, since the ḥadīth explicitly states they stipulated her walā' exclusively for themselves. It is impermissible to add anything to the transmitted reports—neither in wording nor meaning—and whoever does so becomes a liar. However, we definitively assert that if sale conditional upon manumission were valid, the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—would have explicitly legislated it. Since he did not, this constitutes a condition absent from the Book of Allah and is therefore invalid. There is no distinction between sale conditional upon manumission, charity, gift, or tadbīr (deferred manumission)—all such conditions are impermissible.

L22745–22746 As for the narration of Jabir: We have transmitted it via al-Bukhari's chain: Abu Nu'aym → Zakariyyā → 'Āmir al-Sha'bī, who said: Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh

When I arrived, I brought him the camel, and he paid me its price. Then I returned, so he sent someone after me and said, ’Do you think I bargained with you to take your camel? Take your camel and your dirhams—it is yours.’”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا ابْنُ نُمَيْرٍ أَنَا أَبِي أَنَا زَكَرِيَّا - هُوَ ابْنُ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ - عَنْ عَامِرٍ الشَّعْبِيِّ حَدَّثَنِي جَابِرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ فَذَكَرَ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ وَفِيهِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ لَهُ: بِعْنِيهِ؟ فَبِعْتُهُ بِأُوقِيَّةٍ، وَاسْتَثْنَيْتُ عَلَيْهِ حُمْلَانَهُ إِلَى أَهْلِي - فَلَمَّا بَلَغْتُ أَتَيْتُهُ بِالْجَمَلِ فَنَقَدَنِي ثَمَنَهُ، ثُمَّ رَجَعْتُ فَأَرْسَلَ فِي إِثْرِي، فَقَالَ: أَتَرَانِي مَاكَسْتُكَ لِآخُذَ جَمَلَكَ، خُذْ جَمَلَكَ وَدَرَاهِمَكَ، فَهُوَ لَكَ» .

L22748 From the narration chain of Ahmad ibn Shu’ayb: Muhammad ibn al-‘Ala’ narrated to us, Abu Mu‘awiyah narrated to us, from al-A‘mash, from Salim ibn Abi al-Ja‘d, from Jabir ibn ‘Abd Allah, who mentioned this narration. In it: “The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said to him: ’What became of the camel? Sell it to me.’ I said: ’O Messenger of Allah, rather it is yours.’ He said: ’No, rather, sell it to me.’ I said: ’No, rather it is yours.’ He said: ’No, rather, sell it to me. I have acquired it for an ūqiyyah. Ride it, and when you reach Medina, bring it to us.’ When I arrived in Medina, I brought it to him. He said to Bilal: ’O Bilal, weigh for him an ūqiyyah and add a qīrāṭ to it.’” وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْعَلَاءِ أَنَا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ عَنْ الْأَعْمَشِ عَنْ سَالِمِ بْنِ أَبِي الْجَعْدِ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ فَذَكَرَ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ، وَفِيهِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ لَهُ: مَا فَعَلَ الْجَمَلُ بِعْنِيهِ؟ قُلْت: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ بَلْ هُوَ لَكَ قَالَ: لَا، بَلْ بِعْنِيهِ؟ قُلْتُ: لَا، بَلْ هُوَ لَكَ؟ قَالَ لَا، بَلْ بِعْنِيهِ، قَدْ أَخَذْتُهُ بِأُوقِيَّةٍ، ارْكَبْهُ، فَإِذَا قَدِمْتَ الْمَدِينَةَ فَأْتِنَا بِهِ؟ فَلَمَّا قَدِمْتُ الْمَدِينَةَ جِئْتُهُ بِهِ، فَقَالَ لِبِلَالٍ يَا بِلَالُ زِنْ لَهُ أُوقِيَّةً وَزِدْهُ قِيرَاطًا» .

L22749 Thus, we have transmitted it through the isnād of ʿAṭāʾ ibn Jābir.

هَكَذَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَطَاءِ بْنِ جَابِرٍ.

L22750 Abu Muhammad said: It is narrated that the riding of Jabir’s camel was a voluntary act by the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him.

There is a discrepancy in the narrations transmitted through al-Sha'bi and Abu al-Zubayr. It is narrated from both of them, on the authority of Jabir, that it was a stipulation from Jabir. It is also narrated from them that it was a voluntary act by the Messenger of Allah.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: رُوِيَ هَذَا أَنَّ رُكُوبَ جَابِرٍ الْجَمَلَ كَانَ تَطَوُّعًا مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَاخْتُلِفَ فِيهِ عَلَى الشَّعْبِيِّ، وَأَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ فَرُوِيَ عَنْهُمَا عَنْ جَابِرٍ، أَنَّهُ كَانَ شَرْطًا مِنْ جَابِرٍ - وَرُوِيَ عَنْهُمَا أَنَّهُ كَانَ تَطَوُّعًا مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L22751–22752 We concede to them that it was a condition, and then we say to them—and with Allah, the Exalted, is success—: Indeed, it has been soundly established that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "I took it for an Uqiyyah."

فَنَحْنُ نُسَلِّمُ لَهُمْ أَنَّهُ كَانَ شَرْطًا، ثُمَّ نَقُولُ لَهُمْ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ -: إنَّهُ قَدْ صَحَّ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «قَدْ أَخَذْتُهُ بِأُوقِيَّةٍ» .

L22753 It has been authentically reported from him (peace be upon him) that he said: "Do you think I haggled with you to take your camel? I would never take your camel. Take that camel of yours, for it is your property," as we mentioned earlier.

L22754 It is established with certainty that there are two distinct acts of taking: one which the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—performed, and another he did not perform, but rather entirely disavowed. Whoever claims all of this constitutes a single act of taking has belied the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—in his statements, and this is pure disbelief. Therefore, it must necessarily be that there are two distinct acts of taking, for the act of taking he—peace and blessings be upon him—reported about himself is undoubtedly different from the act he wholly disavowed. There remains no alternative but to adhere to the apparent meaning of the narration: that he—peace and blessings be upon him—took possession and concluded the purchase, then exercised his choice before departing to relinquish taking it.

صَحَّ يَقِينًا أَنَّهُمَا أَخْذَانِ: أَحَدُهُمَا فَعَلَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَالْآخَرُ لَمْ يَفْعَلْهُ، بَلْ انْتَفَى عَنْهُ، وَمَنْ جَعَلَ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ أَخْذًا وَاحِدًا فَقَدْ كَذَّبَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي كَلَامِهِ، وَهَذَا كُفْرٌ مَحْضٌ، فَإِذْ لَا بُدَّ مِنْ أَنَّهُمَا أَخْذَانِ، لِأَنَّ الْأَخْذَ الَّذِي أَخْبَرَ بِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - عَنْ نَفْسِهِ هُوَ بِلَا شَكٍّ غَيْرُ الْأَخْذِ الَّذِي انْتَفَى عَنْهُ أَلْبَتَّةَ، فَلَا سَبِيلَ إلَى غَيْرِ مَا يُحْمَلُ عَلَيْهِ ظَاهِرُ الْخَبَرِ، وَهُوَ إنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَخَذَهُ وَابْتَاعَهُ، ثُمَّ تَخَيَّرَ قَبْلَ التَّفَرُّقِ تَرْكَ أَخْذِهِ.

L22755 And it has been established that during the act of haggling, that [practice] also applied to the Prophet (peace be upon him) personally, for he informed him that he had not haggled with him in order to take his camel.

وَصَحَّ أَنَّ فِي حَالِ الْمُمَاكَسَةِ كَانَ ذَلِكَ أَيْضًا فِي نَفْسِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -؛ لِأَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يُمَاكِسْهُ لِيَأْخُذَ جَمَلَهُ -.

L22756 Thus, it is confirmed that the sale was never finalized in it at all, for Jābir stipulated only the riding of his own camel. This is the implication of the texts of the reports when their phrases are gathered.

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ الْبَيْعَ لَمْ يَتِمَّ فِيهِ قَطُّ، فَإِنَّمَا اشْتَرَطَ جَابِرٌ رُكُوبَ جَمَلِ نَفْسِهِ فَقَطْ، وَهَذَا هُوَ مُقْتَضَى لَفْظِ الْأَخْبَارِ، إِذَا جُمِعَتْ أَلْفَاظُهَا.

L22757 Since it has been established that this sale was not completed, and there is no basis whatsoever in any wording of that report indicating the sale was completed with that condition, it is therefore invalid that there could be any valid argument in this report regarding the permissibility of selling an animal while excluding riding it whatsoever. And success is only from Allah, the Exalted.

فَإِذْ قَدْ صَحَّ أَنَّ ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعَ لَمْ يَتِمَّ وَلَمْ يُوجَدْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ أَلْفَاظِ ذَلِكَ الْخَبَرِ أَصْلًا: أَنَّ الْبَيْعَ تَمَّ بِذَلِكَ الشَّرْطِ، فَقَدْ بَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ: حُجَّةٌ فِي جَوَازِ بَيْعِ الدَّابَّةِ وَاسْتِثْنَاءِ رُكُوبِهَا أَصْلًا - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22758 As for the Ḥanafī and Shāfiʿī schools, they do not permit this condition at all. The discussion regarding it exists solely between us and the Mālikī school. This text does not specify a day, nor does it distinguish a short distance from a long one. Whoever claims that has told a lie. How then did they derive the specification of one measure over another?

L22759 They are obligated because they did not permit the sale of an animal on the condition of riding it for a month - nor ten days - invalidated this condition, permitted its sale with the stipulation of riding it for a short distance, to define the measure that prohibits what they prohibited versus the measure they permitted. This is an obligation upon them; otherwise, they have abandoned those who follow them in the rashness of their eye's impulse and in matters they cannot know - perhaps they might commit what is unlawful or prevent what is lawful, and this is manifest error. If they define any specific measure for this, they would be asked to provide proof for it if they are truthful. Thus, the invalidity of this position becomes evident with undeniable certainty beyond doubt.

L22760–22761 Among the certain falsehoods is that Allah the Exalted would prohibit us from what He has not explicitly detailed for us from beginning to end for us to avoid it and engage in alternatives, if He were to impose upon us what is beyond our capability - such as knowing the unseen - when Allah the Exalted has already safeguarded us from that.

وَمِنَ الْبَاطِلِ الْمُتَيَقَّنِ أَنْ يُحَرِّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَلَيْنَا مَا لَا يُفَصِّلُهُ لَنَا مِنْ أَوَّلِهِ لِآخِرِهِ لِنَجْتَنِبَهُ وَنَأْتِيَ مَا سِوَاهُ، إِذَا كَانَ تَعَالَى يُكَلِّفُنَا مَا لَيْسَ فِي وُسْعِنَا، مِنْ أَنْ نَعْلَمَ الْغَيْبَ وَقَدْ أَمَّنَّا اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مِنْ ذَلِكَ.

L22762 If they say, "Indeed, some wordings of the report indicate that this occurred when the two neared the city?"

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: إِنَّ فِي بَعْضِ أَلْفَاظِ الْخَبَرِ: أَنَّ ذَلِكَ كَانَ حِينَ دَنَوَا مِنَ الْمَدِينَةِ؟

قُلْنَا: الدُّنُوُّ يَخْتَلِفُ، وَلَا يَكُونُ إِلَّا بِالْإِضَافَةِ، فَمَنْ أَتَى مِنْ تَبُوكَ فَكَانَ مِنَ الْمَدِينَةِ عَلَى سِتِّ مَرَاحِلَ أَوْ خَمْسٍ فَقَدْ دَنَا مِنْهَا، وَيَكُونُ الدُّنُوُّ أَيْضًا عَلَى رُبْعِ مِيلٍ - وَأَقَلَّ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ - فَالسُّؤَالُ بَاقٍ عَلَيْكُمْ بِحَسَبِهِ.

We said: Proximity varies and exists only through relative measurement. For one who travels from Tabuk and is five or six stages distant from Medina is thereby near to it. Proximity may also be a quarter of a mile (or slightly less or more). Thus, the question remains for you to resolve according to this principle.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ هَذِهِ اللَّفْظَةَ إِنَّمَا هِيَ فِي رِوَايَةِ سَالِمِ بْنِ أَبِي الْجَعْدِ، وَهُوَ إِنَّمَا رَوَى: أَنَّ رُكُوبَ جَابِرٍ كَانَ تَطَوُّعًا مِنَ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَشَرْطًا.

Moreover, this wording is only found in the narration of Salim ibn Abi al-Ja‘d, who narrated that Jabir’s riding was a voluntary act from the Prophet—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—and a condition.

وَفِي رِوَايَةِ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنِ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ جَابِرٍ دَلِيلٌ عَلَى أَنَّ ذَلِكَ كَانَ فِي مَسِيرِهِمْ مَعَ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إِلَى غَزَاةٍ - وَأَيْضًا فَلَيْسَ فِيهِ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مَنَعَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ الشَّرْطِ إِلَّا فِي مِثْلِ تِلْكَ الْمَسَافَةِ، فَإِذْ لَمْ يَقِيسُوا عَلَى تِلْكَ الْمَسَافَةِ سَائِرَ الْمَسَافَاتِ فَلَا تَقِيسُوا عَلَى تِلْكَ الطَّرِيقِ سَائِرَ الطُّرُقِ وَلَا تَقِيسُوا عَلَى اشْتِرَاطِ ذَلِكَ فِي رُكُوبِ جَمَلٍ سَائِرَ الدَّوَابِّ، وَإِلَّا فَأَنْتُمْ مُتَنَاقِضُونَ مُتَحَكِّمُونَ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

In the narration of Al-Mughīrah from Al-Sha‘bī from Jābir, there is evidence that this occurred during their journey with the Prophet—may Allah’s blessings and peace be upon him—to a military campaign. Furthermore, it does not indicate that the Prophet—may Allah’s blessings and peace be upon him—prohibited that condition except in such a distance. Since they did not analogize from that specific distance to all other distances, do not apply analogy from that route to other routes, nor analogize the stipulation of that in riding a camel to all other beasts of burden. Otherwise, you are contradicting yourselves and imposing falsehood.

And when you applied qiyas to that path for all other paths, and to the camel for all riding animals, then apply qiyas to that distance for all other distances? Just as you did regarding the Prophet’s prayer—peace be upon him—while riding toward Khaybar without facing the qibla: you applied qiyas to that distance for all other distances. Thus it became evident that they have no valid basis in this report whatsoever—and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

وَقَدْ جَاءَتْ عَنِ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - آثَارٌ فِي الشُّرُوطِ فِي الْبَيْعِ خَالَفُوهَا، فَمِنْ ذَلِكَ -: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ قَالَ.

There have come from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—traditions regarding conditions in sales that they opposed. Among these is what we have narrated via the transmission of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar, from al-Zuhrī, from Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab, who said:

The Companions of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—said: “We wished that Uthman ibn Affan and Abd al-

قَالَ أَصْحَابُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: وَدِدْنَا لَوْ أَنَّ عُثْمَانَ بْنَ عَفَّانَ، وَعَبْدَ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنَ عَوْفٍ، قَدْ تَبَايَعَا حَتَّى نَنْظُرَ أَيُّهُمَا أَعْظَمُ جِدًّا فِي التِّجَارَةِ، فَاشْتَرَى عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ عَوْفٍ مِنْ عُثْمَانَ فَرَسًا بِأَرْضٍ أُخْرَى بِأَرْبَعِينَ أَلْفًا أَوْ نَحْوِهَا إِنْ أَدْرَكَتْهَا الصَّفْقَةُ وَهِيَ سَالِمَةٌ، ثُمَّ أَجَازَ قَلِيلًا، ثُمَّ رَجَعَ فَقَالَ: أَزِيدُكَ سِتَّةَ آلَافٍ إِنْ وَجَدَهَا رَسُولِي سَالِمَةً؟

Rahman ibn Awf had engaged in a transaction so we might observe which of them was more vigorous in commerce. Then Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf purchased a horse from Uthman in exchange for another plot of land and forty thousand—or around that amount—if the transaction is completed in time while the land remains intact. He then went a short way, then returned and said: 'I will add six thousand more to you if my messenger finds the land intact.'"

قَالَ نَعَمْ، فَوَجَدَهَا رَسُولُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ قَدْ هَلَكَتْ، وَخَرَجَ مِنْهَا بِالشَّرْطِ الْآخَرِ.

L22769–22770 He said, "Yes," and the agent of ʿAbd al-Raḥmān found that she had perished, and he concluded with the other condition.

قِيلَ لِلزُّهْرِيِّ: فَإِنْ لَمْ يَشْتَرِطْ قَالَ: فَهِيَ مِنَ الْبَائِعِ.

L22771 Al-Zuhri was asked, "What if he did not stipulate?" He replied, "Then it falls upon the seller."

فَهَذَا عَمَلُ عُثْمَانَ، وَعَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بِحَضْرَةِ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -، وَعِلْمِهِمْ لَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُمْ يُعْرَفُ مِنْهُمْ، وَلَمْ يُنْكِرْ ذَلِكَ سَعِيدٌ، وَصَوَّبَهُ الزُّهْرِيُّ.

L22772 This is the action of ʿUthmān and ʿAbd al-Raḥmān in the presence of the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) and with their knowledge, with no dissenter known among them opposing them. Saʿīd did not reject this, and al-Zuhrī affirmed it.

فَخَالَفَ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ، وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّونَ: كُلَّ هَذَا، وَقَالُوا: لَعَلَّ الرَّسُولَ يُخْطِئُ أَوْ يُبْطِئُ أَوْ يَعْرِضُهُ عَارِضٌ، فَلَا يَدْرِي مَتَى يَصِلُ، وَهُمْ يُشَنِّعُونَ مِثْلَ هَذَا إِذَا خَالَفَ تَقْلِيدَهُمْ.

L22773 The Hanafis, Malikis, and Shafi'is opposed all of this and said: "Perhaps the Messenger might err, delay, or encounter an obstacle, so he would not know when he would arrive." Yet they would condemn such a thing if it contradicted their taqlid.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ قَيْسٍ الْأَسَدِيُّ عَنْ عَوْنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ: إِنَّ تَمِيمًا الدَّارِيَّ بَاعَ دَارِهِ وَاشْتَرَطَ سُكْنَاهَا حَيَاتَهُ وَقَالَ: إِنَّمَا مَثَلِي مَثَلُ أُمِّ مُوسَى رُدَّ عَلَيْهَا وَلَدُهَا، وَأُعْطِيَتْ أَجْرَ رَضَاعِهَا.

L22774 From Waki'ʿ's transmission: Muhammad ibn Qays al-Asadi narrated from ʻAwn ibn ʻAbdullah from ʻUtbah ibn Masʻud, who said: Tamim al-Dari sold his house but stipulated the right to reside in it during his lifetime. He remarked: "Indeed, my example is like that of the mother of Musa: her child was returned to her, and she was granted the reward for nursing him."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي إِسْحَاقَ السَّبِيعِيِّ عَنْ مُرَّةَ بْنِ شَرَاحِيلَ قَالَ: بَاعَ صُهَيْبٌ دَارَه مِنْ عُثْمَانَ وَاشْتَرَطَ سُكْنَاهَا - وَبِهِ يَأْخُذُ أَبُو ثَوْرٍ، فَخَالَفُوهُ، وَلَا مُخَالِفَ لِذَلِكَ مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ مِمَّنْ يُجِيزُ الشَّرْطَ فِي الْبَيْعِ.

L22775 From the narration of Waki' through Sufyan al-Thawri through Abu Ishaq al-Sabi'i through Murrah ibn Sharahil, who said: Suhayb sold his house to Uthman with the condition that he retain residency in it – and this is the position Abu Thawr adopts. Others opposed him, but none of the Companions who permit contractual conditions in sales objected to this ruling.

وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلُ ابْتِيَاعَ نَافِعِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْحَارِثِ دَارًا بِمَكَّةَ لِلسِّجْنِ مِنْ صَفْوَانَ بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافٍ عَلَى إِنْ رَضِيَ عُمَرُ فَالْبَيْعُ تَامٌّ، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَرْضَ فَلِصَفْوَانَ أَرْبَعُمِائَةٍ -: فَخَالَفُوهُمْ كُلُّهُمْ.

We mentioned earlier Nafi‘ ibn ‘Abd al-Harith’s purchase of a house in Makkah from Safwan for four thousand to use as a state prison, on the condition that if ‘Umar approves, the sale is valid; but if he does not approve, Safwan shall receive four hundred. However, they all rejected this ruling.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانِ عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَخْبَرَنِي نَافِعٌ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: أَنَّهُ اشْتَرَى بَعِيرًا بِأَرْبَعَةِ أَبْعِرَةٍ عَلَى أَنْ يُوَفُّوهُ إِيَّاهَا بِالرَّبَذَةِ - وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ وَقْتُ ذِكْرِ الْإِيفَاءِ -: فَخَالَفُوهُ.

From the narration of Yahya ibn Sa’id al-Qattan, from ’Ubayd Allah ibn ’Umar, who reported to me from Nafi’, from Ibn ’Umar: He purchased a camel on credit for four camels, stipulating that they deliver them to him at al-Rabadhah – with no time for delivery specified in the contract – but they violated the agreement.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ سِمَاكِ بْنِ حَرْبٍ عَنْ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ حُمَيْدٍ قَالَ: أَصَابَ عَمَّارُ بْنُ يَاسِرٍ مَغْنَمًا فَقَسَّمَ بَعْضَهُ وَكَتَبَ إلَى عُمَرَ يُشَاوِرُهُ؟ فَتَبَايَعَ النَّاسُ إلَى قُدُومِ الرَّاكِبِ - وَهَذَا عَمَلُ عَمَّارٍ وَالنَّاسُ بِحَضْرَتِهِ -: فَخَالَفُوهُ.

From the narration of Hammad ibn Salamah, from Simak ibn Harb, from al-Nu’man ibn Humaid, who said: Ammar ibn Yasir acquired spoils of war and distributed a portion of them, then wrote to Umar to consult him? The people pledged allegiance until the arrival of Umar’s messenger—and this was Ammar’s ruling while the people were in his presence—but they opposed him.

وَأَمَّا نَحْنُ فَلَا حُجَّةَ عِنْدَنَا فِي أَحَدٍ دُونَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ؛ وَحَكَمَ عَلِيٌّ بِشَرْطِ الْخَلَاصِ، وَلِلْحَنَفِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّينَ: تَنَاقُضٌ عَظِيمٌ فِيمَا أَجَازُوهُ مِنْ الشُّرُوطِ فِي الْبَيْعِ وَمَا مَنَعُوا مِنْهُ فِيهَا، قَدْ ذَكَرْنَا بَعْضَهُ وَنَذْكُرُ فِي مَكَانٍ آخَرَ - إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى - مَا يَسَّرَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى لِذِكْرِهِ؛ لِأَنَّ الْأَمْرَ أَكْثَرُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

As for us, we accept no authoritative evidence for anyone besides the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—and success comes only from Allah, the Most High. Ali ruled according to the condition of exemption, while the Hanafis, Malikis, and Shafi’is exhibit grave contradictions in the rulings they have permitted. Among the conditions in a sale—and what [jurists] have prohibited therein—we have mentioned some of them, and we will mention in another place, Allah the Exalted willing, what He has facilitated for explanation, for the matter is more extensive than that. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَاعَ بَيْعًا فَاسِدًا]

Issue: He concluded a defective sale.

١٤٤٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَكُلُّ مَنْ بَاعَ بَيْعًا فَاسِدًا فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ، وَلَا يَمْلِكُهُ الْمُشْتَرِي، وَهُوَ بَاقٍ عَلَى مِلْكِ الْبَائِعِ، وَهُوَ مَضْمُونٌ عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي إنْ قَبَضَهُ ضَمَانَ الْغَصْبِ سَوَاءٌ سَوَاءٌ،

Issue 1448: Every invalid sale is void. The buyer does not acquire ownership of the item; it remains the property of the seller. The buyer is liable for it as in cases of usurpation if they take possession, without any distinction whatsoever. The seller is likewise liable for the price if they receive it. The passage of time does not validate the sale, nor do changes in market prices, deterioration of the goods, their loss, the death of both contracting parties, or any such factor at all.

وَالثَّمَنُ مَضْمُونٌ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ إنْ قَبَضَهُ -: وَلَا يُصَحِّحُهُ طُولُ الْأَزْمَانِ، وَلَا تَغَيُّرُ الْأَسْوَاقِ، وَلَا فَسَادُ السِّلْعَةِ، وَلَا ذَهَابُهَا، وَلَا مَوْتُ الْمُتَبَايِعَيْنِ أَصْلًا.

L22784 Abu Hanifah held the same opinion as we have mentioned regarding some of these matters, and regarding some of them he said: "Whoever concludes a defective sale which the buyer takes possession of, acquires ownership defectively, and he permitted the buyer to manumit the slave in such a case."

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ فِي بَعْضِ ذَلِكَ كَمَا قُلْنَا، وَقَالَ فِي بَعْضِ ذَلِكَ: مَنْ بَاعَ بَيْعًا فَاسِدًا فَقَبَضَهُ الْمُشْتَرِي فَقَدْ مَلَكَهُ مِلْكًا فَاسِدًا، وَأَجَازَ عِتْقَهُ فِيهِ.

L22785 Mālik said regarding some of these as we have previously stated, and regarding others he said: "Among the invalid sales are those that are to be rescinded unless a long time passes or market conditions change, in which case they then become valid."

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ فِي بَعْضِ ذَلِكَ: كَمَا قُلْنَا، وَقَالَ فِي بَعْضِ ذَلِكَ: إنَّ مِنْ الْبُيُوعِ الْفَاسِدَةِ بُيُوعًا تُفْسَخُ إلَّا أَنْ يَطُولَ الْأَمْرُ، أَوْ تَتَغَيَّرَ الْأَسْوَاقُ: فَتَصِحُّ حِينَئِذٍ.

L22786 Abu Muhammad said: These are two opinions whose corruption is not hidden from anyone who reflects honestly upon themselves. As for Abu Hanifah's statement - that he held ownership which is defective - this constitutes an utterly corrupt assertion. No one has ever recognized in the religion of Allah the Exalted such a thing as defective ownership. If it constitutes ownership, then it is valid; if it does not constitute ownership, then it is invalid. Anything beyond this is inconceivable.

L22787 And when they acknowledged that sovereignty is corrupt, for indeed He, the Exalted, has said: "Allah does not love corruption" [Al-Baqarah: 205]. Therefore, it is not permissible for anyone to rule by enforcing what Allah, the Exalted and Majestic, does not love.[36]

وَإِذْ أَقَرُّوا أَنَّ الْمُلْكَ فَاسِدٌ فَقَدْ قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَاللَّهُ لا يُحِبُّ الْفَسَادَ} [البقرة: ٢٠٥] فَلَا يَحِلُّ لِأَحَدٍ أَنْ يَحْكُمَ بِإِنْفَاذِ مَا لَا يُحِبُّهُ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ.

L22788 And He, the Exalted, said: "Indeed, Allah does not rectify the deeds of the corrupters" (10:81).[37]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {إِنَّ اللَّهَ لا يُصْلِحُ عَمَلَ الْمُفْسِدِينَ} [يونس: ٨١] .

L22789 Whoever thereby permits something that Allah the Exalted has explicitly stated does not rectify it has opposed Allah the Exalted in His judgment, and this is an immensely grave matter. Some of them have invoked the Hadith of Barirah as proof in this matter.

فَمَنْ أَجَازَ شَيْئًا نَصَّ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا يُصْلِحُهُ فَقَدْ عَارَضَ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى فِي حُكْمِهِ، وَهَذَا عَظِيمٌ جِدًّا، وَقَدْ احْتَجَّ بَعْضُهُمْ فِي هَذَا بِحَدِيثِ بَرِيرَةَ.

L22790 Abū Muḥammad said: This is the argument of one whose religion is corrupt, and we disavow to Allah the Exalted anyone who ascribes to the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and his family and grant him peace—that he enacted falsehood or sanctioned corruption. By Allah, no Muslim's soul could rest upon this.

[36] Qur'an references (L22787): Qur'an 2:205 (Al-Baqarah).
[37] Qur'an references (L22788): Qur'an 10:81 (Yunus).

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا احْتِجَاجُ فَاسِدِ الدِّينِ، وَنَبْرَأُ إِلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى مِمَّنْ نَسَبَ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنَّهُ أَنْفَذَ الْبَاطِلَ، وَأَجَازَ الْفَاسِدَ - وَاَللَّهِ مَا تَقِرُّ عَلَى هَذَا نَفْسُ مُسْلِمٍ.

L22791 Some of them argued that the seller granted him authority over it.

وَاحْتَجَّ بَعْضُهُمْ بِأَنَّ الْبَائِعَ سَلَّطَهُ عَلَيْهِ.

L22792–22794 Abu Muhammad said: No one may authorize another to control any part of his wealth with what Allah, the Exalted, has not permitted. In this matter, they should permit him, on this basis, to exercise authority over intercourse with his umm walad (a slave woman who bore him a child) and his female slave. This is clear frivolity and misguidance.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: لَيْسَ لِأَحَدٍ أَنْ يُسَلِّطَ غَيْرَهُ عَلَى شَيْءٍ مِنْ مَالِهِ بِمَا لَمْ يَأْذَنْ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِيهِ، فَلْيُجِيزُوا عَلَى هَذَا أَنْ يُسَلِّطَهُ عَلَى وَطْءِ أُمِّ وَلَدِهِ وَأَمَتِهِ، وَهَذِهِ مَلَاعِبُ وَضَلَالٌ لَا خَفَاءَ بِهِ.

L22795 As for Mālik's position, the first thing to say to his adherents is: Define for us the period after which a voidable sale becomes valid in your school by its passing; otherwise, you have surely strayed and misled others.

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ مَالِكٍ: فَأَوَّلُ مَا يُقَالُ لِمَنْ قَلَّدَهُ: حُدُّوا لَنَا الْمُدَّةَ الَّتِي إِذَا مَضَتْ صَحَّ الْبَيْعُ الْفَاسِدُ عِنْدَكُمْ بِمُضِيِّهَا، وَإِلَّا فَقَدْ ضَلَلْتُمْ وَأَضْلَلْتُمْ.

L22796 Specify for us the parameters of market fluctuations by which you have permitted forbidden matters, for an increase or decrease of even half a dirham or a single grain is indisputably a market fluctuation.

وَحُدُّوا لَنَا تَغَيُّرَ الْأَسْوَاقِ الَّذِي أَبَحْتُمْ بِهِ الْمُحَرَّمَاتِ، فَإِنَّ زِيَادَةَ نِصْفِ دِرْهَمٍ وَحَبَّةٍ، وَنُقْصَانَ ذَلِكَ تَغَيُّرُ سُوقٍ بِلَا شَكٍّ.

L22797 If they permit the validity of the voidable transaction to this extent, then every voidable sale would be considered valid, for it is unavoidable that prices fluctuate to this extent or something similar every day.

فَإِنْ أَجَازُوا صِحَّةَ الْفَاسِدِ بِهَذَا الْمِقْدَارِ فَقَدْ صَحَّ كُلُّ بَيْعٍ فَاسِدٍ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا بُدَّ مِنْ تَقَلُّبِ الْقِيَمِ بِمِثْلِ هَذَا أَوْ شَبَهِهِ فِي كُلِّ يَوْمٍ.

L22798 Then we ask them for evidence to support what they have asserted. There is no valid basis for it—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor the statement of anyone acknowledged before him, nor analogy, nor any opinion with a sound rationale. Rather, it is permitting the wrongful consumption of wealth.

ثُمَّ نَسْأَلُهُمُ الدَّلِيلَ عَلَى مَا قَالُوهُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ؟ وَلَا سَبِيلَ إِلَيْهِ، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا قَوْلِ أَحَدٍ يُعْرَفُ قَبْلَهُ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، بَلْ هُوَ إِبَاحَةُ أَكْلِ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L22799 If they cite in that regard the ḥadīth of al-Nuʿmān ibn Bashīr from the Prophet—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—"The lawful is clear, the unlawful is clear, and between them are ambiguous matters many people do not recognize. Whoever avoids what is doubtful to him has thereby absolved himself from what is unlawful, and has preserved the integrity of his religion and honor," or words to this effect.

فَإِنْ ذَكَرُوا فِي ذَلِكَ حَدِيثَ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «الْحَلَالُ بَيِّنٌ وَالْحَرَامُ بَيِّنٌ وَبَيْنَهُمَا مُشْتَبِهَاتٌ لَا يَعْلَمُهَا كَثِيرٌ مِنَ النَّاسِ، فَمَنْ تَرَكَ مَا اشْتَبَهَ عَلَيْهِ كَانَ لِمَا سِوَاهُ أَتْرَكُ، وَاسْتَبْرَأَ لِدِينِهِ وَعِرْضِهِ» أَوْ كَلَامًا هَذَا مَعْنَاهُ؟

L22800 We said: You are the foremost in contradicting this report. For if you say, "You merely issued these two rulings regarding matters where you confused prohibition with permissibility"—?

قُلْنَا: أَنْتُمْ أَوَّلُ مُخَالِفٍ لِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ، لِأَنَّكُمْ إِنْ قُلْتُمْ: إِنَّكُمْ إِنَّمَا حَكَمْتُمْ بِهَذَيْنِ الْحُكْمَيْنِ فِيمَا اشْتَبَهَ عَلَيْكُمْ تَحْرِيمُهُ مِنْ تَحْلِيلِهِ؟

L22801 He said: Either you have lied, or you have spoken truthfully. If you have lied, then lying is forbidden, sinful, and wounding. If you have spoken truthfully, then you have failed to adhere to what is in the narration you cited as evidence—to abstain from speech and judgment regarding matters ambiguous to you. Rather, you dared to commit the most heinous transgression by transferring forbidden properties and declaring prohibited funds lawful, despite acknowledging with your tongues that its prohibition or permissibility remains unclear to you. Thus, you have wholly contradicted that narration.

قَالَ: إِمَّا كَذَبْتُمْ، وَإِمَّا صَدَقْتُمْ، فَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ كَذَبْتُمْ: فَالْكَذِبُ حَرَامٌ وَمَعْصِيَةٌ وَجُرْحَةٌ، وَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَدَقْتُمْ فَمَا أَخَذْتُمْ بِمَا فِي الْحَدِيثِ الَّذِي احْتَجَجْتُمْ بِهِ: مِنِ اجْتِنَابِ الْقَوْلِ وَالْحُكْمِ فِيمَا اشْتَبَهَ عَلَيْكُمْ، بَلْ جَسَرْتُمْ أَشْنَعَ الْجَسْرِ، فَنَقَلْتُمُ الْأَمْلَاكَ الْمُحَرَّمَةَ، وَأَبَحْتُمُ الْأَمْوَالَ الْمَحْظُورَةَ فِيمَا أَقْرَرْتُمْ بِأَلْسِنَتِكُمْ: أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَتَبَيَّنْ لَكُمْ تَحْرِيمُهُ مِنْ تَحْلِيلِهِ، فَخَالَفْتُمْ مَا فِي ذَلِكَ الْخَبَرَ جُمْلَةً.

L22802 And if you say, "We ruled by that in situations where we presumed it was forbidden, but were not certain of it?"

وَإِنْ قُلْتُمْ: حَكَمْنَا بِذَلِكَ حَيْثُ ظَنَنَّا أَنَّهُ حَرَامٌ وَلَمْ نَقْطَعْ بِذَلِكَ؟

L22803 We said: Allah, the Exalted, and His Messenger, peace and blessings be upon him, have forbidden this to you. He, the Exalted, said: "They follow nothing but conjecture, and indeed conjecture avails nothing against the truth" [An-Najm: 28].[38]

قُلْنَا: قَدْ حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى وَرَسُولُهُ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - هَذَا عَلَيْكُمْ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {إِنْ يَتَّبِعُونَ إِلا الظَّنَّ وَإِنَّ الظَّنَّ لا يُغْنِي مِنَ الْحَقِّ شَيْئًا} [النجم: ٢٨] .

L22804–22805 And he condemned a people who judged based on what they assumed without being certain of it.

وَذَمَّ قَوْمًا حَكَمُوا فِيمَا ظَنُّوهُ وَلَمْ يَسْتَيْقِنُوهُ.

L22806 The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Avoid suspicion entirely, for suspicion is the falsest of speech." It is obligatory upon one who harbors suspicion without attaining certainty to withhold judgment: he should neither judge nor rush to act in matters where he lacks certainty. When he has attained certainty, he must then judge.

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إِيَّاكُمْ وَالظَّنَّ فَإِنَّ الظَّنَّ أَكْذَبُ الْحَدِيثِ» وَالْفَرْضُ عَلَى مَنْ ظَنَّ وَلَمْ يَسْتَيْقِنْ أَنْ يُمْسِكَ: فَلَا يَحْكُمُ وَلَا يَتَسَرَّعُ فِيمَا لَا يَقِينَ عِنْدَهُ فِيهِ، فَإِذَا تَيَقَّنَ حَكَمَ حِينَئِذٍ.

[38] Qur'an references (L22803): Qur'an 53:28 (An-Najm).

وَقَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {لِتُبَيِّنَ لِلنَّاسِ مَا نُزِّلَ إِلَيْهِمْ} [النحل: ٤٤]

L22807 And Abu Muhammad said: Allah, the Exalted, said, “So that you [Muhammad] may make clear to the people what has been sent down to them” [An-Nahl: 44].[39]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {تِبْيَانًا لِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ} [النحل: ٨٩]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {الْيَوْمَ أَكْمَلْتُ لَكُمْ دِينَكُمْ} [المائدة: ٣]

L22809 And He, the Most High, said: “Today I have perfected for you your religion” [Al-Ma’idah 3].[41]

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنْ عَمِلَ عَمَلًا لَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ أَمْرُنَا فَهُوَ رَدٌّ» .

L22810 The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: “Whoever does a deed not in accordance with our command, it is invalid.”[42] وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا يَزِيدُ بْنُ هَارُونَ نا حَمَّادُ بْنُ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ أَنَّ أَبَا مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيَّ قَالَ: لَا يَنْبَغِي لِقَاضٍ أَنْ يَقْضِيَ حَتَّى يَتَبَيَّنَ لَهُ الْحَقُّ كَمَا يَتَبَيَّنُ اللَّيْلُ مِنْ النَّهَارِ، فَبَلَغَ ذَلِكَ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ فَقَالَ: صَدَقَ أَبُو مُوسَى.

L22811 It was narrated to us through the chain of Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, who narrated to us: Yazid ibn Harun narrated to us; Hammad ibn Salamah narrated to us, from Qatadah, that Abu Musa al-Ash’ari said: “It is not permissible for a judge to issue a ruling until the matter becomes clear to him as distinctly as night is distinguished from day.” When this reached Umar ibn al-Khattab, he said: “Abu Musa has spoken truthfully.”

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: الْمُفْتِي قَاضٍ، لِأَنَّهُ قَدْ قَضَى بِوُجُوبِ مَا أَوْجَبَ، وَتَحْرِيمِ مَا حَرَّمَ، أَوْ إبَاحَةِ مَا أَبَاحَ، فَمَنْ أَيْقَنَ تَحْرِيمَ شَيْءٍ بِنَصٍّ مِنْ الْقُرْآنِ أَوْ مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثَابِتٍ فَلْيُحَرِّمْهُ وَلْيُبْطِلْهُ أَبَدًا.

L22812 Ali said: The mufti is a judge, for he has decreed the obligation of what he made obligatory, the prohibition of what he forbade, or the permissibility of what he permitted. Whoever is certain of the prohibition of something through a confirmed text from the Quran or from the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) (i.e., the Sunnah) must prohibit it and invalidate it perpetually.

وَمَنْ أَيْقَنَ بِإِبَاحَتِهِ بِنَصٍّ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا فَلْيُبِحْهُ وَلْيَنْفُذْهُ أَبَدًا.

L22813 And whoever is certain of its permissibility through textual evidence, as we have mentioned, let him consider it permissible and implement it perpetually.

وَمَنْ أَيْقَنَ بِوُجُوبِ شَيْءٍ بِنَصٍّ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا فَلْيُوجِبْهُ وَلْيَنْفُذْهُ أَبَدًا، وَلَيْسَ فِي الدِّينِ قِسْمٌ رَابِعٌ أَصْلًا، وَمَا لَمْ يَتَبَيَّنْ لَهُ حُكْمُهُ مِنْ النَّصِّ الْمَذْكُورِ فَلْيُمْسِكْ عَنْهُ وَلْيَقُلْ كَمَا قَالَتْ الْمَلَائِكَةُ: {لَا عِلْمَ لَنَا إلَّا مَا عَلَّمْتَنَا} [البقرة: ٣٢] وَمَا عَدَا هَذَا فَضَلَالٌ نَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْهُ.

L22814 Whoever is certain of the obligation of something through a text as we have mentioned, let him consider it obligatory and implement it perpetually. There is fundamentally no fourth category in religion at all. Whatever ruling remains unclear to him from the aforementioned text, let him abstain from L22816 An issue: If someone purchased a male or female slave, both of whom have property...

L22817 Issue 1449: If someone purchases a male or female slave each of whom has property, their property belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates the property as a condition, in which case the property belongs to him. The buyer has no share from the price - whether it increases or decreases - nor is he subject to the legal ruling of the sale whatsoever.

L22818 If there is a large or small amount of gold in the property of a male or female slave, and the slave is purchased with gold that is less than, equal to, or more than that gold—whether as cash payment, immediate debt, or deferred payment for a term—all such transactions are permissible. Similarly, if silver is present in the property, there is no difference.

L22819 If he becomes aware of a defect in the male slave or female slave, he may return them while retaining the price; he does not refund it.

L22820–22821 If he finds a defect in the property, he does not return the male slave or the female slave because of it.

L22822 If he sells half of his male slave, half of his female slave, or a specified undivided share derived from both of them, that is permissible. However, stipulating the price is entirely impermissible here.

L22823 Likewise, if he sells his share of a slave co-owned with another person, there is no distinction.

L22824 If two individuals jointly sell a slave, it is permissible for the buyer to stipulate property rights, for the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be

[مَسْأَلَةٌ ابْتَاعَ عَبْدًا أَوْ أَمَةً لَهُمَا مَالٌ]

١٤٤٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَمَنْ ابْتَاعَ عَبْدًا أَوْ أَمَةً لَهُمَا مَالٌ فَمَالُهُمَا لِلْبَائِعِ إِلَّا أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَهُ الْمُبْتَاعُ فَيَكُونَ لَهُ، وَلَا حِصَّةَ لَهُ مِنْ الثَّمَنِ - كَثُرَ أَوْ قَلَّ - وَلَا لَهُ حُكْمُ الْبَيْعِ أَصْلًا.

فَإِنْ كَانَ فِي مَالِ الْعَبْدِ أَوْ الْأَمَةِ: ذَهَبٌ كَثِيرٌ أَوْ قَلِيلٌ، وَقَدْ ابْتَاعَ الْأَمَةَ أَوْ الْعَبْدَ بِذَهَبٍ أَقَلَّ مِنْ ذَلِكَ الذَّهَبِ أَوْ مِثْلِهِ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ: نَقْدًا أَوْ حَالًّا فِي الذِّمَّةِ، أَوْ إلَى أَجَلٍ -: جَازَ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ - وَكَذَلِكَ إنْ كَانَ فِيهِ فِضَّةٌ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

فَإِنْ اطَّلَعَ عَلَى عَيْبٍ فِي الْعَبْدِ أَوْ الْأَمَةِ: رَدَّهُ أَوْ رَدَّهَا وَالْمَالُ لَهُ لَا يَرُدُّهُ مَعَهُ.

فَإِنْ وَجَدَ بِالْمَالِ عَيْبًا: لَا يَرُدُّ الْعَبْدَ مِنْ أَجْلِ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا الْأَمَةَ.

فَإِنْ بَاعَ نِصْفَ عَبْدِهِ أَوْ نِصْفَ أَمَتِهِ أَوْ جُزْءًا مُسَمًّى مُشَاعًا فِيهِمَا مِنْهُمَا: جَازَ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ هُنَا اشْتِرَاطُ الْمَالِ أَصْلًا.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَوْ بَاعَ نَصِيبَهُ مِنْ عَبْدٍ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ آخَرَ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

فَلَوْ بَاعَ اثْنَانِ عَبْدًا بَيْنَهُمَا: جَازَ لِلْمُشْتَرِي اشْتِرَاطُ الْمَالِ، لِأَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ذَكَرَ ذَلِكَ بِلَفْظِ الِاشْتِرَاطِ كَمَا قَدَّمْنَا وَالِاشْتِرَاطُ غَيْرُ الْبَيْعِ فَلَيْسَ لَهُ upon him and his family—explicitly mentioned this using the term "conditional clause" as we previously established. The conditional clause constitutes an extrinsic element to the sale contract and is therefore not governed by rulings specific to sales. The Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—did not differentiate between known and unknown elements, one measure and another measure, nor one property and another property. Hence, no distinction may be made within these categories. The buyer rightfully owns the property through a valid conditional clause, and since this does not fall under revocable transactions, he is not obligated to return the slave due to a defect in the property stipulated or a defect in the sold item.

حُكْمُ الْبَيْعِ، وَلَمْ يَخُصَّ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - مَعْلُومًا مِنْ مَجْهُولٍ وَلَا مِقْدَارًا مِنْ مِقْدَارٍ، وَلَا مَالًا مِنْ مَالٍ: فَلَا يَجُوزُ تَخْصِيصُ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَقَدْ مَلَكَ الْمَالَ بِالشَّرْطِ الصَّحِيحِ، وَلَيْسَ مِمَّا دَخَلَ فِي صَفْقَةِ الرَّدِّ فَلَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ رَدُّهُ بِعَيْبٍ فِيهِ وَلَا بِعَيْبٍ فِي الْمَبِيعِ.

L22825 Whoever sells half of a slave held in undivided joint ownership or half of his own slave, the buyer does not thereby acquire a slave. Rather, he—peace be upon him—established the monetary stipulation for one who purchases a slave. If someone purchases a slave from two [owners], he is considered to have acquired a slave and thus has the right to the monetary stipulation.

وَمَنْ بَاعَ نِصْفَ عَبْدٍ مُشَاعٍ أَوْ نِصْفَ عَبْدِهِ فَلَمْ يَشْتَرِ الْمُشْتَرِي عَبْدًا وَإِنَّمَا جَعَلَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - اشْتِرَاطَ الْمَالِ لِمَنْ اشْتَرَى عَبْدًا وَإِذَا اشْتَرَى عَبْدًا مِنْ اثْنَيْنِ فَقَدْ ابْتَاعَ عَبْدًا فَلَهُ اشْتِرَاطُ الْمَالِ.

L22826 All of this is the position of our companions. Mālik agreed with our position regarding stipulations involving gold and silver, ambiguity (gharar) in the subject matter, large quantities, and small quantities.

وَهَذَا كُلُّهُ قَوْلُ أَصْحَابِنَا، وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ كَقَوْلِنَا فِي اشْتِرَاطِ الذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةِ، وَالْمَجْهُولِ، وَالْكَثِيرِ، وَالْقَلِيلِ.

L22827 Abu Hanifah and al-Shafi'i said: This is impermissible except under the rules governing sales - a mere contradiction to the hadith. Thus, they repudiated what Allah the Exalted has permitted of conditions and sanctioned what He has nullified thereof.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ: لَا يَجُوزُ ذَلِكَ إِلَّا بِحُكْمِ الْبُيُوعِ - وَهَذَا خِلَافٌ لِلْحَدِيثِ مُجَرَّدٌ، فَرَدُّوا مَا أَبَاحَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مِنْ الشُّرُوطِ، وَأَجَازُوا مَا أَبْطَلَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مِنْهَا.

L22828 From the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym narrated to us, Ubayd Allāh ibn ʿUmar narrated from Nāfiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar from ʿUmar, who said: "Whoever sells a slave who owns property, the slave's property belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: مَنْ بَاعَ عَبْدًا وَلَهُ مَالٌ فَمَالُهُ لِلْبَائِعِ إِلَّا أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ الْمُبْتَاعُ.

L22829 From the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: I [heard] from Abū al-Aḥwaṣ, from Ashʿath ibn Abī al-Shaʿthāʾ, who said: A man sold his slave, and neither party stipulated ownership of his property. When the slave's property was discovered, Shurayḥ awarded it to the seller.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا أَبُو الْأَحْوَصِ أَنَا أَشْعَثُ بْنُ أَبِي الشَّعْثَاءِ قَالَ: بَاعَ رَجُلٌ غُلَامَهُ وَلَمْ يَشْتَرِطْ وَاحِدٌ مِنْهُمَا مَالَهُ، فَوُجِدَ لِلْغُلَامِ مَالٌ فَقَضَى بِهِ شُرَيْحٌ لِلْبَائِعِ.

Mughīrah, Abū Isḥāq al-Shaybānī, and some of our colleagues, from al-Shaʿbī, from Shurayḥ. Yūnus said: From al-Ḥasan. Mughīrah said: From Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī. Al-Shaybānī said: From al-Shaʿbī, from Shurayḥ. Some of our colleagues narrated via al-Shaʿbī. Thereafter, all of them concurred upon the position of al-Ḥasan, Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, Shurayḥ, and al-Shaʿbī that if someone sells a slave who owns property... So his property belongs to the buyer, and no one's proof holds validity alongside the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him). Success is from Allah, the Most High. 1450-مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلِلْمُبْتَاعِ أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ شَيْئًا مُسَمًّى بِعَيْنِهِ مِنْ مَالِ الْعَبْدِ أَوْ الْأَمَةِ، وَلَهُ أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ ثُلُثًا أَوْ رُبُعًا، أَوْ نَحْوَ ذَلِكَ - وَمَنَعَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ: مَالِكٌ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ، وَقَالَا: لَا يَجُوزُ أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ إلَّا الْجَمِيعَ أَوْ يَدَعَ.

L22833 Issue: The buyer may stipulate a specific item from the property of a male or female slave, or a portion such as a third or a quarter. Mālik and Abū Sulaymān prohibited this, stating: "It is not permissible to stipulate anything except the entirety or to abandon it."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا خَطَأٌ، لِأَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَمْ يَقُلْ فَمَالُهُ لِلْبَائِعِ إلَّا أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ كُلَّهُ الْمُبْتَاعُ - وَبَعْضُ الْمَالِ مَالٌ - فَهُوَ دَاخِلٌ فِي نَصِّ مُقْتَضَى لَفْظِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ. ١٤٥١ -.

L22834 Abu Muhammad said: This is an error, because the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him and his family) did not say, "His property belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates all of it." Since some property is property, it falls under the explicit implication of his wording (peace be upon him). Success comes only from Allah, the Exalted. 1451.

L22835 If it is asked: "The textual ruling specifically pertains to the male slave, so on what basis do you conclude this applies to the female slave?" We respond: The term "the slave" in the Arabic language applies to the category encompassing both male and female slaves, for the Arabs say "male slave" (ʿabd) and "female slave" (ʿibdah). "The slave" functions as a generic noun, just as one says: "the human being," "the horse," or "the donkey"—and success comes from God, the Exalted.

وَإِنَّ أَحَقَّ النَّاسِ بِأَنْ يُعْكَسَ عَلَيْهِ هَذَا الِاعْتِرَاضُ، وَيُلْزَمَ هَذَا السُّؤَالَ مَنْ فَرَّقَ بَيْنَ الْعَبْدِ، وَالْأَمَةِ فِي الْحُكْمِ فَرَأَى الزِّنَى فِي الْأَمَةِ عَيْبًا يَجِبُ بِهِ الرَّدُّ، وَلَمْ يَرَهُ فِي الْعَبْدِ الذَّكَرِ عَيْبًا يَجِبُ بِهِ الرَّدُّ مِنْ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ.

L22836 Indeed, those most deserving of having this objection reversed upon them and being compelled to address this question are the Ḥanafīs who differentiated between male slaves and female slaves in legal rulings, deeming fornication in a female slave a defect necessitating nullification, while not deeming it a defect necessitating nullification in a male slave.

وَمَنْ رَأَى أَنَّ لِلرَّجُلِ أَنْ يُجْبِرَ أَمَتَهُ عَلَى النِّكَاحِ وَلَا يُجْبِرُ الْعَبْدَ الذَّكَرَ عَلَى النِّكَاحِ مِنْ الْمَالِكِيِّينَ، فَإِنْ كَانَتْ الْأَمَةُ فِي اسْتِثْنَاءِ مَالِهَا فِي الْبَيْعِ إنَّمَا وَجَبَ قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْعَبْدِ، فَلْيَقِيسُوهَا عَلَيْهِ فِي الرَّدِّ بِالْعَيْبِ، وَفِي الْإِكْرَاهِ فِي النِّكَاحِ، وَإِلَّا فَقَدْ تُحَكَّمُوا.

Whoever holds the opinion—among the Mālikīs—that a man may compel his female slave to marry but does not compel a male slave to marry: if the female slave is excluded from ownership of her property in the sale, this ruling is only obligated by analogy to the male slave. They must analogically extend this ruling to her regarding rescission due to defects and to compulsion in marriage. Otherwise, they have been subjected to capricious ruling.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَاعَ نَخْلًا قَدْ أُبِرَتْ]

A legal case involving the sale of palm trees that had been pollinated [via taleeq].

١٤٥٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَمَنْ بَاعَ نَخْلًا قَدْ أُبِرَتْ فَثَمَرَتُهَا لِلْبَائِعِ إلَّا أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَهَا الْمُبْتَاعُ، وَالتَّأْبِيرُ فِي النَّخْلِ: هُوَ أَنْ يُشَقَّقَ الطَّلْعُ، وَيُذَرَّ فِيهِ دَقِيقُ الْفُحَّالِ وَأَمَّا قَبْلَ الْإِبَارِ فَالطَّلْعُ لِلْمُبْتَاعِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ فِي ثَمَرَةِ النَّخْلِ إلَّا الِاشْتِرَاطُ فَقَطْ، وَأَمَّا الْبَيْعُ فَلَا حَتَّى يَصِيرَ زَهْوًا، فَإِذَا أَزْهَى جَازَ فِيهِ الِاشْتِرَاطُ مَعَ الْأُصُولِ، وَجَازَ فِيهَا الْبَيْعُ مَعَ الْأُصُولِ وَدُونَ الْأُصُولِ، وَلَيْسَ هَذَا الْحُكْمُ إلَّا فِي النَّخْلِ الْمَأْبُورِ وَحْدِهِ كَمَا جَاءَ النَّصُّ، وَلَوْ ظَهَرَتْ ثَمَرَةُ النَّخْلِ بِغَيْرِ إبَارٍ لَمْ يَحِلَّ اشْتِرَاطُهَا أَصْلًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ خِلَافُ أَمْرِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

Issue: If someone sells a palm tree that has been pollinated, its fruit belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates it. Pollination in palm trees involves splitting the spathe and placing pollen from the male palm tree within it. Before pollination, the spathe belongs to the buyer. Regarding palm fruit, only stipulation is permissible; sale is not allowed until it reaches the pollination stage. When pollination occurs, stipulation with the parent tree becomes permissible, and sale is permitted both with and without the parent tree. This ruling applies exclusively to pollinated palm trees as explicitly stated. If palm fruit appears without pollination, stipulation is entirely impermissible, for this is contrary to the instruction of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him.

وَأَمَّا سَائِرُ الثِّمَارِ فَإِنَّ مَنْ بَاعَ الْأُصُولَ وَفِيهَا ثَمَرَةٌ قَدْ ظَهَرَتْ أَوْ لَمْ يَبْدُ صَلَاحُهَا، فَالثَّمَرَةُ - ضَرُورَةً وَلَا بُدَّ - لِلْبَائِعِ، لَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهَا إلَّا مَعَ الْأُصُولِ وَلَا دُونَهَا، وَلَا اشْتِرَاطُهَا أَصْلًا.

As for other fruits, if one sells the plants while they bear a fruit that has already appeared or whose readiness is not yet evident... Thus, the fruit—necessarily and inevitably—belongs to the seller. It is impermissible to sell it except together with the parent trees, nor may it be sold without them, nor is it permissible to stipulate its sale at all.

وَلَا يَجُوزُ لِمُشْتَرِي الْأُصُولِ أَنْ يُلْزِمَ الْبَائِعَ قَلْعَ الثَّمَرَةِ أَصْلًا، إلَّا حَتَّى يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهَا، فَإِذَا بَدَا صَلَاحُهَا فَلَهُ أَنْ يُلْزِمَهُ أَخْذَ مَا يُمْكِنُ النَّفْعُ فِيهِ بِوَجْهٍ مَا مِنْ الْوُجُوهِ، وَلَا يُلْزِمُهُ أَخْذَ مَا لَا يُمْكِنُ الِانْتِفَاعُ بِهِ بِوَجْهٍ مِنْ الْوُجُوهِ.

It is not permissible for the purchaser of trees to compel the seller to uproot the fruit at all until its ripeness becomes evident. When its ripeness becomes evident, he may compel the seller to harvest what can provide benefit through any possible means, but he may not compel him to remove what cannot yield benefit in any manner.

As for specifying palm trees with what we mentioned, this is because the textual evidence applies solely to them, despite the existence of wells. Analogy is invalid, and the justification based on the appearance of the fruit is invalid because it is a false claim without evidence.

وَأَمَّا تَخْصِيصُ النَّخْلِ بِمَا ذَكَرْنَا، فَلِأَنَّ النَّصَّ لَمْ يَرِدْ إِلَّا فِيهَا فَقَطْ، مَعَ وُجُودِ الْإِبَارِ وَالْقِيَاسُ بَاطِلٌ - وَالتَّعْلِيلُ بِظُهُورِ الثَّمَرَةِ بَاطِلٌ، لِأَنَّهُ دَعْوَى كَاذِبَةٌ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ.

L22845 As for our statement that only stipulation is permissible regarding palm fruits before they reach the izhā stage (begin to ripen), this is due to what we previously mentioned from "the prohibition of the Prophet (peace be upon him) against selling the fruit until it reaches the izhā stage and turns red." Therefore, selling them before they reach izhā is fundamentally impermissible. He (peace be upon him) permitted stipulating conditions regarding them, so what he permitted is permissible, and what he prohibited is forbidden: {He does not speak from whim; it is but revelation inspired} [53:3-4]. {And whoever transgresses the limits set by Allah has indeed wronged himself} [65:1].[45]

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُنَا: لَا يَجُوزُ فِي ثَمَرَةِ النَّخْلِ إِلَّا الِاشْتِرَاطُ فَقَطْ مَا لَمْ تُزْهِ، فَلِمَا ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلُ مِنْ «نَهْيِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرَةِ حَتَّى تُزْهِيَ وَتَحْمَرَّ» ، فَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهَا قَبْلَ أَنْ تُزْهِيَ أَصْلًا، وَأَبَاحَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - اشْتِرَاطَهَا، فَيَجُوزُ مَا أَجَازَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - وَيَحْرُمُ مَا نَهَى عَنْهُ: {وَمَا يَنْطِقُ عَنِ الْهَوَى} [النجم: ٣] {إِنْ هُوَ إِلا وَحْيٌ يُوحَى} [النجم: ٤] {وَمَنْ يَتَعَدَّ حُدُودَ اللَّهِ فَقَدْ ظَلَمَ نَفْسَهُ} [الطلاق: ١] .

L22846 The Shafi'is and Malikis analogized all other fruits to palm trees, and they [Shafi'is/Malikis] along with the Hanafis permitted the sale of fruit before its ripeness becomes evident and before its readiness becomes manifest for harvesting either separately or with the trunk. This contradicts the prohibition of the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and his family and grant him peace—and amounts to permitting what he prohibited. He—peace be upon him—never failed to specify except regarding harvesting separately or with the trunk, and whatever they claim is a law Allah the Exalted has not authorized.

وَقَاسَ الشَّافِعِيُّونَ، وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ: سَائِرَ الثِّمَارِ عَلَى النَّخْلِ، وَأَجَازُوا هُمْ، وَالْحَنَفِيُّونَ: بَيْعَ الثَّمَرَةِ قَبْلَ بُدُوِّ صَلَاحِهَا، وَقَبْلَ أَنْ تُزْهِيَ عَلَى الْقَطْعِ أَوْ مَعَ الْأُصُولِ - وَهَذَا خِلَافُ نَهْيِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَإِبَاحَةُ مَا حَرَّمَ، وَمَا عَجَزَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - قَطُّ عَنْ أَنْ يَقُولَ إِلَّا عَلَى الْقَطْعِ، أَوْ مَعَ الْأُصُولِ، وَمَا قَالَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - قَطُّ، فَهُوَ شَرْعٌ لَمْ يَأْذَنْ بِهِ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى.

L22847 Among those who prohibited the absolute sale of fruit before the appearance of its ripeness - without stipulating harvesting or other conditions - are Sufyān al-Thawrī and Ibn Abī Laylā. It was narrated to us through the chain of Muslim: Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā reported from Mālik from Nāfi' from Ibn 'Umar, who said: "The Messenger of Allāh - peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him - forbade the sale of fruit until its ripeness begins to show, prohibiting both the seller and the buyer."

وَمِمَّنْ مَنَعَ بَيْعَ الثَّمَرَةِ قَبْلَ بُدُوِّ صَلَاحِهَا جُمْلَةً لَا بِشَرْطِ الْقَطْعِ وَلَا بِغَيْرِهِ: سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ، وَابْنُ أَبِي لَيْلَى -: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى عَنْ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ «إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرَةِ حَتَّى يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهَا، نَهَى الْبَائِعَ وَالْمُشْتَرِيَ» .

L22848 And it was also narrated by us through the chains of Ayyūb, 'Ubaydullāh ibn فَإِنْ قُطِعَ شَيْءٌ مِنَ الثَّمَرَةِ، فَإِنْ كَانَ إِنْ تُرِكَ أَزْهَى إِنْ كَانَ بَلَحًا أَوْ بُسْرًا، أَوْ ظَهَرَ فِيهِ الطِّيبُ إِنْ كَانَ مِنْ سَائِرِ الثِّمَارِ -: لَمْ يَحِلَّ بَيْعُهُ حَتَّى يَصِيرَ فِي الْحَالِ الَّتِي أَبَاحَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بَيْعَهُ فِيهَا - فَإِنْ كَانَ إِنْ تُرِكَ لَمْ يَزْهُ أَبَدًا، وَلَا ظَهَرَ فِيهِ الطِّيبُ أَبَدًا -: حَلَّ بَيْعُهُ بَعْدَ الْقَطْعِ لَا قَبْلَهُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ حِينَئِذٍ قَدْ خَرَجَ عَنِ الصِّفَةِ الَّتِي أَحَلَّ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - جَوَازَ بَيْعِهِ إِلَيْهَا.

L22854 If a portion of the fruit is severed, then if leaving it would allow young dates (balah) to mature into rutab or unripe dates (busr) to ripen, or if fragrance manifests in it – when dealing with all other fruits – the sale is not permissible until it reaches the state in which the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him and his family) permitted its sale. But if leaving it would never result in maturation for dates or manifestation of fragrance for other fruits, its sale becomes lawful after severing, not before, for it has then departed from the attribute to which the Messenger of Allah linked the permissibility of its sale.

L22855 And with certainty, every person of understanding and discernment knows that the Messenger of Allah's prohibition—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—against selling date fruits until they flower and against selling fruits until their fitness for harvest becomes evident applies only—without doubt—to what, if left, would inevitably reach the stage of flowering or manifest fitness for harvest. As for what can never attain flowering nor ever manifest fitness for harvest, it is not the subject prohibited by him—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—from being sold until it flowers or until its fitness appears. Since it is not the prohibited sale, Allah the Exalted has said: {And Allah has permitted trade} [al-Baqarah: 275].[46]

L22856 As for our statement that it is not permissible for the purchaser of the trees to demand the seller uproot the trees bearing his fruit before the purchaser can benefit from them, what is established from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—via al-Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah's narration is that he prohibited "the waste of wealth." The seller has not transgressed by the presence of his fruit on their trees, thus he would be the one wasting his own wealth.

L22857–22859 Similarly, the ruling applies to one who sells land containing his seeds or date stones without selling the seeds or stones themselves. The buyer of the land may not uproot and take the crop until it has reached the initial phase at which benefit can be derived from it in a proper manner. Therefore, at that time, he has no right to usurp another's land or trees through his property without the permission of the owner of the source property. And success comes only from Allah, the Most High. 1453 –

L22860 Legal ruling: As for after the emergence of fragrance in date fruits, conditional stipulations are permissible if the parent trees are sold. It is also permissible to sell them either with or without the parent trees. The validity of stipulations is due to the establishment of the attribute upon them, as indicated by his statement—peace be upon him—"It has been pollinated"—meaning this fruit has undergone pollination. As for the permissibility of selling them with or without the parent trees, this derives from the Messenger of Allah's authorization—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—to sell them when their spathe emerges. Success comes through Allah, the Exalted.

L22862 1454 - Issue: If someone sells palm trees containing fruits that have been pollinated, the buyer may stipulate receiving all of them if he wishes, or half of them, a third of them, a specified undivided share in all of them, or a specific part thereof.

١٤٥٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَمَنْ بَاعَ أُصُولَ نَخْلٍ وَفِيهَا ثَمَرَةٌ قَدْ أُبِرَتْ فَلِلْمُشْتَرِي أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَ جَمِيعَهُمَا إنْ شَاءَ أَوْ نِصْفَهَا أَوْ ثُلُثَهَا أَوْ جُزْءًا كَذَلِكَ مُسَمًّى مُشَاعًا فِي جَمِيعِهَا، أَوْ شَيْئًا مِنْهَا مُعَيَّنًا.

L22863 If he finds a defect in the palm tree, he may return it without being obligated to return the fruit, because part of the fruit constitutes individual fruits. The Prophet's statement (peace be upon him)—"If it contains fruit that has been pollinated, its fruit belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates it"—applies to anything from it that is designated as fruit of the palm tree. Stipulations differ from the sale itself; thus, stipulated conditions are not voided by returning the purchased item due to rejecting what was bought, as no explicit Quranic text or Sunnah mandates this.

فَإِنْ وَجَدَ بِالنَّخْلِ عَيْبًا رَدَّهَا وَلَمْ يَلْزَمْهُ رَدُّ الثَّمَرَةِ؛ لِأَنَّ بَعْضَ الثَّمَرَةِ ثَمَرَةٌ، وَقَوْلُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «وَفِيهَا ثَمَرَةٌ قَدْ أُبِّرَتْ فَثَمَرَتُهَا لِلْبَائِعِ إلَّا أَنْ يَشْتَرِطَهَا الْمُبْتَاعُ» يَقَعُ عَلَى كُلِّ مَا كَانَ مِنْهَا يُسَمَّى ثَمَرَةً لِلنَّخْلِ - وَالِاشْتِرَاطُ غَيْرُ الْبَيْعِ، فَلَا يَرُدُّ مَا اشْتَرَطَ مِنْ أَجْلِ رَدِّهِ لِمَا اشْتَرَى، إذْ لَمْ يُوجِبْ ذَلِكَ نَصُّ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا سُنَّةٍ.

L22864 If someone purchases date fruit after the appearance of ripeness, or purchases fruits of other trees, then discovers the appearance of ripeness, or finds a defect in the rootstock and returns it, or finds a defect in the fruit and returns it.

فَلَوْ اشْتَرَى ثَمَرَةَ النَّخْلِ بَعْدَ ظُهُورِ الطِّيبِ، أَوْ ثَمَرَ أَشْجَارٍ غَيْرِ النَّخْلِ، ثُمَّ وَجَدَ ظُهُورَ الطِّيبِ، أَوْ ثَمَرَ أَشْجَارٍ غَيْرِ النَّخْلِ، ثُمَّ وَجَدَ بِالْأُصُولِ عَيْبًا فَرَدَّهَا، أَوْ وَجَدَ بِالثَّمَرَةِ عَيْبًا فَرَدَّهَا.

L22865 If he purchased the fruit along with the rootstocks in a single transaction, he must either return all of them without exception or keep all of them without exception, because it is a single transaction.

فَإِنْ كَانَ اشْتَرَى الثَّمَرَةَ مَعَ الْأُصُولِ صَفْقَةً وَاحِدَةً رَدَّ الْجَمِيعَ وَلَا بُدَّ، أَوْ أَمْسَكَ الْجَمِيعَ وَلَا بُدَّ؛ لِأَنَّهَا صَفْقَةٌ وَاحِدَةٌ.

L22866 If the produce had been purchased in a separate transaction, he would not return it when returning the principal assets due to a defect, nor may he return the principal assets unless he returns the produce due to a defect.

فَلَوْ كَانَ اشْتَرَى الثَّمَرَةَ فِي صَفْقَةٍ أُخْرَى لَمْ يَرُدَّهَا - إنْ رَدَّ الْأُصُولَ بِعَيْبٍ - وَلَا يَرُدُّ الْأُصُولَ إلَّا إنْ رَدَّ الثَّمَرَةَ بِعَيْبٍ.

L22867–22869 If one purchased palm tree trunks and stipulated the fruit or part of it, then found the sale invalid—necessitating its return—the fruit must necessarily be returned. He remains liable for it if he destroyed it or if it perished, because the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—only permitted stipulation for the buyer, and a buyer is none other than one whose sale is valid. As for one whose sale is invalid, he is not the one whom the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—granted permission to stipulate the fruit. Since he does not qualify for this permission, what he stipulated becomes unlawful—in opposition to the command of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family. And he is a transgressor. Allah, the Exalted, says: “So whoever transgresses against you, retaliate against him to the same extent as he transgressed against you” [Al-Baqarah: 194].[47]

A case where someone sold a date palm or two date palms with fruit that has been pollinated.

Issue 1455: If someone sells one or two date palms containing fruit that has begun to develop after pollination, the buyer is invalidated from claiming ownership of their fruit entirely. This ruling applies only when three palms and upwards are sold.

If someone sells their undivided share in palm trees, and if their share—were it to be divided—amounts to three palm trees or more, the buyer may stipulate the inclusion of the fruit. Otherwise, it is not permissible. In all cases we have mentioned, the fruit necessarily belongs to the seller, based on the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him: “Whoever sells palm trees after they have been fertilized, their fruit belongs to the seller unless the buyer stipulates it.” The Prophet—peace be upon him—applied this ruling exclusively to palm trees.

The minimum number to which the term “nakhl” (date palms) applies is three or more. This is because the dual form denoting two is recognized in the language in which the Qur’an was revealed and in which the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—addressed us, whereas the initial plural form applies exclusively to three or more.

If they mention the words of Allah, the Most High: {Indeed, both your hearts have inclined} [At-Tahrim: 4].[48]

We said: It is well-known among the Arabs that any two things are referred to using the plural wording [instead of the dual], as the rajaz poet said:

اشْتِرَاطَ الثَّمَرِ، فَإِذْ لَيْسَ هُوَ ذَلِكَ فَحَرَامٌ عَلَيْهِ مَا اشْتَرَطَهُ بِخِلَافِ أَمْرِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَهُوَ مُتَعَدٍّ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {فَمَنِ اعْتَدَى عَلَيْكُمْ فَاعْتَدُوا عَلَيْهِ بِمِثْلِ مَا اعْتَدَى عَلَيْكُمْ} [البقرة: ١٩٤]

L22877 If it is argued: "A plural is the addition of one thing to another," then does this mean the dual [form] is also considered a plural?

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: الْجَمْعُ ضَمُّ شَيْءٍ إِلَى شَيْءٍ فَالِاثْنَانِ جَمْعٌ؟

L22878 We said: This is invalid, for if it were as you claimed, it would be permissible to report about a singular entity using a plural expression, such as saying: "Zayd stood" and "The man killed," since a singular entity is also composed of parts, some of which are aggregated to others. And success is through Allah, the Most High.

قُلْنَا: هَذَا بَاطِلٌ، وَلَوْ كَانَ كَمَا قُلْتُمْ لَجَازَ أَنْ نُخْبِرَ عَنْ الْوَاحِدِ بِلَفْظِ الْجَمْعِ فَيُقَالُ: زَيْدٌ قَامُوا، وَالرَّجُلُ قَتَلُوا؛ لِأَنَّ الْوَاحِدَ أَيْضًا أَجْزَاءٌ مَجْمُوعٌ بَعْضُهَا إلَى بَعْضٍ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ سِلْعَةٍ عَلَى أَنْ يُوَفِّيَهُ الثَّمَنَ فِي مَكَان مُسَمًّى]

L22880–22882 1456 – Issue: It is not permissible to sell a commodity on the condition that he fulfills the price in full in a specified place, nor on... That he delivers the commodity in full at a specified place, for this is a condition not stipulated in the Book of Allah the Almighty, and thus it is invalid. However, the seller may collect the price once it is paid in full wherever the two parties are located, or wherever he or his agent finds the buyer within the lands of Allah—provided the payment is immediate, in accordance with Allah the Exalted's command through His Messenger's decree (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him and his family) to grant every rightful claimant their due. The seller is only required not to obstruct the buyer from accessing what he sold.

١٤٥٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ سِلْعَةٍ عَلَى أَنْ يُوَفِّيَهُ الثَّمَنَ فِي مَكَان مُسَمًّى وَلَا عَلَى أَنْ يُوَفِّيَهُ السِّلْعَةَ فِي مَكَان مُسَمًّى؛ لِأَنَّهُ شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ، لَكِنْ يَأْخُذُهُ الْبَائِعُ بِإِيفَائِهِ الثَّمَنَ حَيْثُ هُمَا، أَوْ حَيْثُ وَجَدَهُ هُوَ أَوْ وَكِيلُهُ مِنْ بِلَادِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، إنْ كَانَ الثَّمَنُ حَالًّا لِأَمْرِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى عَلَى لِسَانِ رَسُولِهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِإِعْطَاءِ كُلِّ ذِي حَقٍّ حَقَّهُ - وَلَيْسَ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ إلَّا أَنْ لَا يَحُولَ بَيْنَ الْمُشْتَرِي وَبَيْنَ مَا بَاعَ مِنْهُ فَقَطْ.

L22883 And success is by Allah, the Exalted.

L22884 A legal case concerning the sale of a female slave on the condition that she be entrusted to the custody of a trustworthy person until she menstruates.

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ جَارِيَةٍ بِشَرْطِ أَنْ تُوضَعَ عَلَى يَدَيْ عَدْلٍ حَتَّى تَحِيضَ]

L22885 Issue 1457: It is impermissible to sell a female slave on the condition that she be placed under the custody of a morally upright custodian until she menstruates - whether she is sexually mature or not - and a sale with this stipulation is vitiated. If the stipulation is overridden, however, the sale remains valid. This is the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfiʿī, and Abū Sulaymān.

L22886 وَأَوْجَبَهُ مَالِكٌ فِي الرَّائِعَةِ، وَلَمْ يُوجِبْهُ فِي غَيْرِ الرَّائِعَةِ -: وَهَذَا أَوَّلُ التَّنَاقُضِ، وَفَسَادُ الْقَوْلِ، لِأَنَّ غَيْرَ الرَّائِعَةِ تُوطَأُ كَمَا تُوطَأُ الرَّائِعَةُ، وَتَحْمِلُ كَمَا تَحْمِلُ الرَّائِعَةُ.

L22887 ثُمَّ أَعْظَمُ التَّنَاقُضِ قَوْلُهُمْ: إِنَّ الْحَيْضَ لَا يَكُونُ بَرَاءَةً مِنَ الْحَمْلِ، وَإِنَّ الْحَامِلَ قَدْ تَحِيضُ؟ فَقُلْنَا لَهُمْ: يَا هَؤُلَاءِ فَلِأَيِّ مَعْنًى أَوْجَبْتُمْ مَنْعَ الْمُشْتَرِي مِنْ جَارِيَتِهِ، وَأَوْجَبْتُمْ هَذَا الشَّرْطَ الْفَاسِدَ الَّذِي لَمْ يُوجِبْهُ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٌ فَاسِدَةٌ، وَلَا قَوْلُ صَاحِبٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٌ، وَلَا تَوَرُّعٌ، وَلَا رَأْيٌ يُعْقَلُ؟

L22888 وَأَنْتُمْ تَقُولُونَ: إِنَّهَا إِذَا حَاضَتْ أُسْلِمَتْ إِلَيْهِ، وَحَلَّ لَهُ التَّلَذُّذُ مِنْهَا فِيمَا فَوْقَ الْمِئْزَرِ، وَحَلَّ لَهُ وَطْؤُهَا بَعْدَ الطُّهْرِ، وَمُمْكِنٌ - عِنْدَكُمْ - أَنْ تَكُونَ حَامِلًا مِنَ الْبَائِعِ حِينَئِذٍ، فَأَيُّ فَرْقٍ بَيْنَ مَا أَبَحْتُمْ لَهُ الْآنَ، وَبَيْنَ مَا مَنَعْتُمُوهُ مِنْهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ تَحِيضَ، وَخَوْفُ الْحَمْلِ -: وَفَسَادُ الْمَبِيعِ مَوْجُودٌ فِي كِلْتَا الْحَالَتَيْنِ؟ فَأَيُّ عَجَبٍ أَعْجَبُ مِنْ هَذَا

L22889 وَلَا خِلَافَ بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَكُمْ فِي أَنَّهُ إِنْ ظَهَرَ بِهَا حَمْلٌ بَعْدَ الْحَيْضِ، وَبَعْدَ إِبَاحَتِكُمْ لَهُ وَطْأَهَا، فَوَلَدَتْهُ لِأَقَلَّ مِنْ سِتَّةِ أَشْهُرٍ -: فَإِنَّ الْبَيْعَ مَفْسُوخٌ، وَهِيَ مَرْدُودَةٌ إِلَى الْبَائِعِ وَوَلَدُهَا بِهِ لَاحِقٌ، إِنْ كَانَ قَدْ أَقَرَّ بِوَطْئِهَا وَلَمْ يَدَّعِ اسْتِبْرَاءً - فَأَيُّ مَنْفَعَةٍ لِلْمُوَاضَعَةِ، أَوْ أَيُّ مَعْنًى لَهَا؟

L22890–22891 If they say, “We merely followed the transmitted text: ’Do not have intercourse with a woman in the waiting period (ʿiddah) until she has menstruated?"

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: إِنَّمَا اتَّبَعْنَا النَّصَّ الْوَارِدَ: «لَا تُوطَأُ حَائِلٌ حَتَّى تَحِيضَ» ؟

L22892 We said: Far from it! Rather, you have contradicted this very text itself, for you differentiated between the menstruating woman and the non-menstruating woman—a distinction absent in the textual evidence, nor stated by any known scholar before you. You also differentiated between the woman who has not had intercourse and others, though this too lacks basis in the textual evidence. You cannot claim consensus in this matter, for the Ḥanafīs assert: The woman who has not had intercourse and others are equivalent—neither may be lawfully engaged in intercourse with until she menstruates or undergoes the waiting period to confirm she is not pregnant, as required for those who do not menstruate. This narration is not validated; even if it were, we would adhere to it. However, we maintain: The seller must not sell her until he ensures she undergoes one menstrual cycle, nor may the purchaser have intercourse with her until he similarly confirms this, solely as a precaution against pregnancy. If we conclusively determine she is pregnant by the seller, the sale is unlawful if she is his umm walad (a concubine who bears her master's child). If the pregnancy is from another, the sale is permissible, but intercourse remains forbidden until she delivers and her postpartum bleeding ceases.

قُلْنَا: كَلَّا، بَلْ خَالَفْتُمْ هَذَا النَّصَّ بِعَيْنِهِ، لِأَنَّكُمْ فَرَّقْتُمْ بَيْنَ الرَّائِعَةِ وَغَيْرِ الرَّائِعَةِ، وَلَيْسَ هَذَا فِي الْخَبَرِ، وَلَا قَالَهُ أَحَدٌ نَعْلَمُهُ قَبْلَكُمْ، وَفَرَّقْتُمْ بَيْنَ الْبِكْرِ وَغَيْرِ الْبِكْرِ، وَلَيْسَ ذَلِكَ فِي الْخَبَرِ، وَلَيْسَ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَدَّعُوا هَهُنَا إِجْمَاعًا، فَإِنَّ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ يَقُولُونَ: إِنَّ الْبِكْرَ وَغَيْرَ الْبِكْرِ سَوَاءٌ، لَا تُوطَأُ وَاحِدَةٌ مِنْهُمَا حَتَّى تَحِيضَ، أَوْ حَتَّى تَسْتَبْرِئَ بِمَا تَسْتَبْرِئُ بِهِ الَّتِي لَا تَحِيضُ -: وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ لَمْ يَصِحَّ وَلَوْ صَحَّ لَقُلْنَا بِهِ - لَكِنَّا نَقُولُ: لَا يَبِيعُهَا حَتَّى يَسْتَبْرِئَهَا بِحَيْضَةٍ، وَلَا يَطَؤُهَا الْمُشْتَرِي حَتَّى يَسْتَبْرِئَهَا كَذَلِكَ احْتِيَاطًا خَوْفَ الْحَمْلِ فَقَطْ، فَإِنْ أَيْقَنَّا أَنَّ بِهَا حَمْلًا مِنَ الْبَائِعِ فَالْبَيْعُ حَرَامٌ إِنْ كَانَتْ أُمَّ وَلَدِهِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ الْحَمْلُ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ فَالْبَيْعُ حَلَالٌ، وَالْوَطْءُ حَرَامٌ حَتَّى تَضَعَ وَتَطْهُرَ.

L22893 He is entrusted with that just as he is entrusted with what is prohibited for him regarding intercourse with menstruating women and postpartum women, with no difference, since no textual source has indicated otherwise. There is no difference between his being entrusted over the one he purchased and your being entrusted over the one you place her with him for that purpose.

وَهُوَ مُؤْتَمَنٌ عَلَى ذَلِكَ كَائْتِمَانِهِ عَلَى مَا حُرِّمَ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ وَطْءِ الْحَائِضِ، وَالنُّفَسَاءِ وَلَا فَرْقَ، إِذْ لَمْ يَأْتِ نَصٌّ بِغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ ائْتِمَانِهِ عَلَى الَّتِي اشْتَرَى وَبَيْنَ ائْتِمَانِكُمْ مَنْ تَضَعُونَهَا عِنْدَهُ لِذَلِكَ.

L22894 You do not distinguish between the trustworthy and the non-trustworthy here, yet you distinguish between the excellent opinion and the non-excellent one—and this is confusion and contradiction.

وَأَنْتُمْ لَا تُفَرِّقُونَ بَيْنَ الثِّقَةِ وَبَيْنَ غَيْرِ الثِّقَةِ هَهُنَا، وَفَرَّقْتُمْ بَيْنَ الرَّائِعَةِ وَغَيْرِ الرَّائِعَةِ - وَهَذَا تَخْلِيطٌ وَتَنَاقُضٌ.

L22895 As for the ruling concerning her if pregnancy becomes apparent, we will mention it, God the Exalted willing, in the "Book of Istibrāʾ" with its proof.

وَأَمَّا الْحُكْمُ فِيهَا إِنْ ظَهَرَ بِهَا حَمْلٌ فَسَنَذْكُرُهُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِي " كِتَابِ الِاسْتِبْرَاءِ " بِبُرْهَانِهِ - وَلَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ الْعَلِيِّ الْعَظِيمِ.

There is no power nor strength except with Allah, the Most High, the Almighty.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ عَبْدٍ أَوْ أَمَةٍ عَلَى أَنْ يُعْطِيَهُمَا الْبَائِعُ كِسْوَةً]

L22896 A legal issue: The sale of a male slave or a female slave on the condition that the seller provides him or her with a garment.

١٤٥٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ عَبْدٍ أَوْ أَمَةٍ عَلَى أَنْ يُعْطِيَهُمَا الْبَائِعُ كِسْوَةً - قَلَّتْ أَوْ كَثُرَتْ - وَلَا بَيْعُ دَابَّةٍ عَلَى أَنْ يُعْطِيَهَا الْبَائِعُ إكَافَهَا، أَوْ رَسَنَهَا، أَوْ بُرْدَعَتَهَا، وَالْبَيْعُ بِهَذَا الشَّرْطِ بَاطِلٌ مَفْسُوخٌ لَا يَحِلُّ فَمَنْ قُضِيَ عَلَيْهِ بِذَلِكَ قَسْرًا فَهُوَ ظُلْمٌ لَحِقَهُ وَالْبَيْعُ جَائِزٌ.

L22897 1458. Issue: It is not permissible to sell a male slave or female slave on the condition that the seller provides the slave clothing—whether little or much—nor to sell a riding animal on the condition that the seller provides its saddle, bridle, or bit. A sale with such a condition is invalid, annulled, and impermissible. If a judgment is enforced upon someone compelling this forcibly, it constitutes an injustice against him, and the sale itself is permissible.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: أَنَّهُ شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ، وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩]

L22898–22899 The evidence for this is that it is a condition not stipulated in the Book of Allah, the Almighty and Majestic, hence it is invalid. He, the Exalted, said: “Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, except as trade through mutual consent among you” [An-Nisa: 29].[49]

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «إِنَّ دِمَاءَكُمْ وَأَمْوَالَكُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ حَرَامٌ» .

L22900 The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, “Your blood and your wealth are inviolable for you.”

فَسَمَّى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى أَخْذَ الْمَرْءِ مَالَ غَيْرِهِ مِنْ غَيْرِ تَرَاضٍ بِالتِّجَارَةِ: بَاطِلًا، وَحَرَّمَهُ، إذْ نَهَى عَنْهُ، وَعَلَى لِسَانِ رَسُولِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَيْضًا.

L22901 Allah the Exalted has declared the act of seizing another’s property without mutual consent under the guise of trade to be null and void, prohibited it - as He has forbidden such acts - and affirmed this prohibition through the explicit pronouncements of His Messenger (peace be upon him).

وَالْكِسْوَةُ مَالُ الْبَائِعِ وَلَمْ يَبِعْهَا بِرِضًا مِنْهُ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ أَخْذُهَا مِنْهُ أَصْلًا - وَهَذَا قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَصْحَابِهِمْ.

L22902 The garment is the property of the seller, and he did not sell it with his consent. Therefore, it is absolutely impermissible to take it from him; this is the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah, Al-Shāfiʿī, Abū Sulaymān, and their companions.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ يُجْبَرُ عَلَى كِسْوَةِ مِثْلِهَا لِلشِّتَاءِ إنْ بِيعَتْ فِي الشِّتَاءِ، وَعَلَى كِسْوَةِ مِثْلِهَا فِي الصَّيْفِ إنْ بِيعَتْ فِي الصَّيْفِ - كِسْوَةً تَجُوزُ الصَّلَاةُ فِي مِثْلِهَا - فَكَانَتْ هَذِهِ شَرِيعَةً لَمْ يَأْتِ بِهَا قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٌ سَقِيمَةٌ، وَلَا قِيَاسٌ، وَلَا رَأْيٌ سَدِيدٌ، وَلَا قَوْلُ

L22903 Mālik said: The buyer is compelled to provide winter clothing equivalent to hers if she is sold in winter, and summer clothing equivalent to hers if sold in summer – clothing of the type in which prayer is permissible to be performed. This constituted a Sharīʿah ruling not brought by the Qur’ān, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak report, nor analogy, nor sound personal judgment, nor any opinion we know of from anyone before him – we intend this categorization. It has been narrated from Ibn ʻUmar: "All jewelry and clothing on a female slave displayed on her at the time of sale are included in the sale" – yet Mālik and his companions do not uphold this position.

[49] Qur’an references (L22899): Qur’an 4:29 (An-Nisa).

أَحَدٍ نَعْلَمُهُ قَبْلَهُ - نَعْنِي بِهَذَا التَّقْسِيمِ -. وَقَدْ رُوِيَ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: كُلُّ حُلِيٍّ وَكِسْوَةٍ عَلَى الْأَمَةِ عُرِضَتْ فِيهَا لِلْبَيْعِ فَهِيَ دَاخِلَةٌ فِي الْبَيْعِ - وَهُمْ لَا يَقُولُونَ بِهَذَا.

L22904 If they say, "Her clothing is from her wealth?" We respond: You have contradicted yourselves here in two aspects. First—if it is from her wealth, then you have permitted stipulating some of her wealth, yet this is forbidden according to you. Second—we ask you: How can it be from her wealth when you compel the seller to provide it (willingly or unwillingly) from wherever the seller wishes?

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: كِسْوَتُهَا مِنْ مَالِهَا؟ قُلْنَا: تَنَاقَضْتُمْ هَهُنَا فِي مَوْضِعَيْنِ: أَحَدُهُمَا - أَنَّهَا إِنْ كَانَتْ مِنْ مَالِهَا فَقَدْ أَجَزْتُمْ اشْتِرَاطَ بَعْضِ مَالِهَا، وَهَذَا حَرَامٌ عِنْدَكُمْ، وَالثَّانِي - أَنْ نَقُولَ لَكُمْ: كَيْفَ هِيَ مِنْ مَالِهَا وَأَنْتُمْ تُجْبِرُونَ الْبَائِعَ عَلَى إِحْضَارِهَا - أَحَبَّ أَمْ كَرِهَ - مِنْ حَيْثُ شَاءَ؟

L22905 Then, suppose the garment is from the property of the female slave—do you consider the saddlecloth and halter as belonging to the donkey and mule, given your claim that "it cannot be sold unless accompanied by a saddlecloth and halter"? Then why did you not apply this reasoning to the saddle and bridle? These are strange absurdities and abominations: we do not know from where they emerged.

ثُمَّ هَبْكُمْ أَنَّ الْكِسْوَةَ مِنْ مَالِ الْأَمَةِ، أَتَرَوْنَ الْبَرْذَعَةَ وَالرَّسَنَ مِنْ مَالِ الْحِمَارِ وَالْبَغْلِ؟ إِذْ قُلْتُمْ: لَا يُبَاعُ إِلَّا وَمَعَهُ بَرْذَعَةٌ وَرَسَنٌ؟ ثُمَّ مِنْ أَيْنَ لَمْ تَقُولُوا بِهَذَا فِي السَّرْجِ، وَاللِّجَامِ؟ وَهَذِهِ أَعَاجِيبُ وَشُنَعٌ لَا نَدْرِي مِنْ أَيْنَ خَرَجَتْ؟

L22906 Why have you not obligated him to provide a month's or two months' maintenance to sustain her, just as you have obligated him to provide a year's or half a year's clothing? What is the difference between clothing and maintenance? Rather, maintenance is more essential, for she cannot live without it.

وَهَلَّا أَوْجَبْتُمْ عَلَيْهِ نَفَقَةَ شَهْرٍ أَوْ شَهْرَيْنِ تَصْحَبُهَا إِيَّاهَا كَمَا أَوْجَبْتُمْ عَلَيْهِ كِسْوَةَ عَامٍ أَوْ نِصْفَ عَامٍ؟ وَمَا الْفَرْقُ بَيْنَ الْكِسْوَةِ وَالنَّفَقَةِ، بَلْ النَّفَقَةُ أَوْكَدُ؛ لِأَنَّهَا لَا تَعِيشُ دُونَهَا.

L22907 Then if they say, "Does her buyer provide for her?"

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: مُشْتَرِيهَا يُنْفِقُ عَلَيْهَا؟

L22908–22909 We said: And her purchaser (husband) must also clothe her, just as he is obligated to clothe his wife, nor does it obligate her father or her brother who marries her off to provide her clothing from the time she gets married.

قُلْنَا: وَمُشْتَرِيهَا يَكْسُوهَا أَيْضًا، كَمَا يَلْزَمُهُ أَنْ يَكْسُوَ زَوْجَتَهُ، وَلَا يَلْزَمُ أَبَاهَا وَلَا أَخَاهَا الَّذِي يُزَوِّجُهَا كِسْوَتَهَا مُذْ تَتَزَوَّجُ.

L22910 If they say: "Does he sell it naked?" We reply: "Does he sell it hungry? Is there no distinction?"

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: أَيَبِيعُهَا عُرْيَانَةً؟ قُلْنَا: أَيَبِيعُهَا جَائِعَةً - وَلَا فَرْقَ؟

L22911 Some of them said: "Clothing is one of its pillars." We replied: "This is simultaneously a lie and folly, for we know of no pillars established for humans wherein clothing forms a part of them."

L22912 If they were to claim the practice of the people of Medina, we said: The one who says this has lied. It is a certain falsehood that this Sharia would be with the people of Medina, and then Umar, Uthman, Ali, Muawiyah, Hasan, and Abdullah ibn Zubair—may Allah be pleased with them—would conceal it, such that none would know it except Malik and those who emulated him. And with Allah, the Exalted, is success.

L22913 A juristic issue: the sale of a commodity for a price its owner determines for the buyer.

L22914 Issue 1459: It is not permissible to sell an item to another party at a price set by its owner. Any amount exceeding that price belongs to the party conducting the sale.

L22915 It was narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Hushaym reported from Amr ibn Dinar, from Ata', from Ibn Abbas, that he saw no harm in a man giving another man a garment and saying, "Sell it for such-and-such price; whatever profit you gain beyond that is yours." No opposing view from any of the Companions is known regarding this matter.

L22916 And it was permitted by Shurayḥ, al-Ḥakam, ash-Shaʿbī, az-Zuhrī, and ʿAṭāʾ.

L22917 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Muhammad ibn al-Muthanna, from Abd al-Rahman ibn Mahdi, from Hammad ibn Zayd, from Ayyub al-Sakhtiyani, from Muhammad ibn Sirin: that he saw no harm in a man giving another man a garment or an item while saying to him, "Whatever you add beyond such-and-such or its equivalent, it is yours."

L22918 And by him to ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Mahdī from Shuʿbah and Sufyān al-Thawrī, both of them from al-Mughīrah ibn Miqsam from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī: that he disliked that, and al-Ḥasan disliked it, and Ṭāwūs.

وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: الْكِسْوَةُ رُكْنٌ مِنْ أَرْكَانِهَا؟ فَقُلْنَا: هَذَا كَذِبٌ وَحُمْقٌ مَعًا، وَمَا عَلِمْنَا لِلْإِنْسَانِ أَرْكَانًا تَكُونُ الْكِسْوَةُ بَعْضَهَا.

فَإِنْ ادَّعَوْا عَمَلَ أَهْلِ الْمَدِينَةِ؟ قُلْنَا: كَذَبَ مَنْ قَالَ هَذَا، وَمِنْ الْبَاطِلِ الْمُتَيَقَّنِ أَنْ تَكُونَ هَذِهِ الشَّرِيعَةُ عِنْدَ أَهْلِ الْمَدِينَةِ ثُمَّ يَكْتُمُهَا عُمَرُ، وَعُثْمَانُ، وَعَلِيٌّ، ومُعَاوِيَةُ، وَالْحَسَنُ، وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - حَتَّى لَا يَدْرِيَهَا أَحَدٌ إلَّا مَالِكٌ وَمَنْ قَلَّدَهُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

١٤٥٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ سِلْعَةٍ لِآخَرَ بِثَمَنٍ يَحُدُّهُ لَهُ صَاحِبُهَا فَمَا اسْتَزَادَ عَلَى ذَلِكَ الثَّمَنِ فَلِمُتَوَلِّي الْبَيْعِ.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ دِينَارٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يُعْطِيَ الرَّجُلُ الرَّجُلَ الثَّوْبَ فَيَقُولُ: بِعْهُ بِكَذَا فَمَا ازْدَدْت فَلَكَ، وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ فِي ذَلِكَ مُخَالِفٌ.

وَأَجَازَهُ شُرَيْحٌ، وَالْحَكَمُ، وَالشَّعْبِيُّ، وَالزُّهْرِيُّ، وَعَطَاءٌ.

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْمُثَنَّى أَنَا عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مَهْدِيٍّ عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يُعْطِيَ الرَّجُلُ الرَّجُلَ الثَّوْبَ أَوْ الشَّيْءَ فَيَقُولُ لَهُ: مَا ازْدَدْتَ عَلَى كَذَا أَوْ كَذَا فَهُوَ لَك.

وَبِهِ إِلَى عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ مَهْدِيٍّ عَنْ شُعْبَةَ، وَسُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ مِقْسَمٍ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ: أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ ذَلِكَ، وَكَرِهَهُ الْحَسَنُ، وَطَاوُسٌ.

L22919 Abu Muhammad said: This is a condition not stipulated in the Book of Allah the Exalted. If the appointed deputy sells it under this condition, the sale is invalid because it constitutes a defective agency. One may not sell anything except through the owner's personal execution or a valid authorization - otherwise, it becomes a voidable act.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذَا شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَإِنْ بَاعَهُ الْمَأْمُورُ عَلَى هَذَا الشَّرْطِ فَالْبَيْعُ بَاطِلٌ لِأَنَّهَا وَكَالَةٌ فَاسِدَةٌ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ إلَّا بِتَوَلِّي صَاحِبِهِ، أَوْ بِوَكَالَةٍ صَحِيحَةٍ - وَإِلَّا فَهُوَ عَمَلٌ فَاسِدٌ.

L22920–22922 If he says to him, "Sell it for such-and-such, and if you obtain more, it is yours," then this is not a valid condition, and the sale remains valid. It is valid as a non-binding and unenforceable condition, for it is impermissible to take property without the owner's consent, and consent is only valid with disclosed terms. One might sell it at an exorbitant markup that the owner of the goods would not willingly accept if aware of its extent—and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

فَلَوْ قَالَ لَهُ: بِعْهُ بِكَذَا وَكَذَا، فَإِنْ أَخَذْت أَكْثَرَ فَهُوَ لَك؟ فَلَيْسَ شَرْطًا وَالْبَيْعُ صَحِيحٌ، وَهِيَ عِدَّةٌ لَا تَلْزَمُ، وَلَا يُقْضَى بِهَا؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَحِلُّ مَالُ أَحَدٍ بِغَيْرِ رِضَاهُ، وَالرِّضَا لَا يَكُونُ إلَّا بِمَعْلُومٍ، وَقَدْ يَبِيعُهُ بِزِيَادَةٍ كَثِيرَةٍ لَا تَطِيبُ بِهَا نَفْسُ صَاحِبِ السِّلْعَةِ إذَا عَلِمَ مِقْدَارَهَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L22923 Issue: The sale of a non-specified item from within an aggregated whole.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ غَيْرِ مُعَيَّنٍ مِنْ جُمْلَةٍ مُجْتَمِعَةٍ]

L22924 1460: Issue: It is not permissible to sell anything unspecified from an aggregated collection—neither by count, weight, nor volume measurement—such as selling a ritl, qafīz, ṣāʿ, mudd, or ūqiyya from this aggregated collection of dates, wheat, meat, flour, or any volumetrically measured item in the world, or similarly weighed commodity.

١٤٦٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ غَيْرِ مُعَيَّنٍ مِنْ جُمْلَةٍ مُجْتَمِعَةٍ، لَا بِعَدَدٍ، وَلَا بِوَزْنٍ، وَلَا بِكَيْلٍ - كَمَنْ بَاعَ رِطْلًا، أَوْ قَفِيزًا، أَوْ صَاعًا، أَوْ مُدًّا أَوْ أُوقِيَّةً مِنْ هَذِهِ الْجُمْلَةِ مِنْ التَّمْرِ، أَوْ الْبُرِّ، أَوْ اللَّحْمِ، أَوْ الدَّقِيقِ، أَوْ كُلِّ مَكِيلٍ فِي الْعَالَمِ، أَوْ مَوْزُونٍ كَذَلِكَ.

L22925 And like one who sells three of these items or four, or any number, or from all that is counted; or like one who sells a cubit or two cubits, or similar to that of all that is measured by cubits – whether all that is equal in its parts or not. Rather, bargaining must first take place. Then when they mutually consent, let them measure by capacity, weigh, measure by cubits, or count.

L22926 When that is completed, the sale contract is concluded upon that specific tangible item—whether measured by volume, weighed, measured by length, or counted. Thereafter, the option remains for either party to ratify or rescind, or for both to separate by physical departure (through one withdrawing from the other), as we have previously mentioned.

L22927 If they conclude the sale contract before the measurement by volume, weighing, counting, or surveying we mentioned, it is not a valid sale—and is null and void. The Malikis permit this for homogeneous items such as flour, meat, dates, raisins, and similar commodities, but they prohibit it for heterogeneous items such as watermelons, cucumbers, eggs, female slaves, fish, all animals, precious substances, and analogous items.

فَلَوْ تَعَاقَدَا الْبَيْعَ قَبْلَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ الْكَيْلِ، أَوْ الْوَزْنِ، أَوْ الْعَدِّ، أَوْ الذَّرْعِ: لَمْ يَكُنْ بَيْعًا - وَلَيْسَ بِشَيْءٍ - وَأَجَازَهُ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ فِيمَا اسْتَوَتْ أَبْعَاضُهُ: كَالدَّقِيقِ وَاللَّحْمِ، وَالتَّمْرِ، وَالزَّبِيبِ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ، وَلَمْ يُجِيزُوهُ فِيمَا اخْتَلَفَتْ أَبْعَاضُهُ: كَالْبِطِّيخِ، وَالْقِثَّاءِ، وَالْبَيْضِ، وَالْجَوَارِي، وَالْحِيتَانِ، وَسَائِرِ الْحَيَوَانِ وَالْجَوْهَرِ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ.

L22928 Abu Hanifah permitted the sale of a garment without specifying its exact identity from two garments or from three garments—with the buyer choosing—but he did not permit it from four garments. This is confounding uncertainty—is this not sufficient to deter you?

وَأَجَازَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ بَيْعَ ثَوْبٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ مِنْ ثَوْبَيْنِ أَوْ مِنْ ثَلَاثَةٍ يَخْتَارُهُ الْمُشْتَرِي، وَلَمْ يُجِزْهُ مِنْ أَرْبَعَةِ أَثْوَابٍ - وَهَذَا تَخْلِيطٌ نَاهِيكَ بِهِ؟

L22929 The proof for the validity of our view is Allah's statement: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, unless it is a trade by mutual consent among you" [An-Nisā': 29]. Thus, Allah the Exalted has prohibited a person from taking another's wealth without mutual consent from both parties, and He has termed it unlawful.[50]

بُرْهَانُ صِحَّةِ قَوْلِنَا -: قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] فَحَرَّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى أَخْذَ الْمَرْءِ مَالَ غَيْرِهِ بِغَيْرِ تَرَاضٍ مِنْهُمَا وَسَمَّاهُ بَاطِلًا.

L22930 By necessity of inherent perception, everyone knows that mutual consent is absolutely impossible except regarding a specified and distinct matter. How if the seller says, "I will provide you from this side," and the buyer says, "Rather from the other"—how can this be resolved? Whoever deems one party more entitled to impose coercion than the other regarding what they reject of that matter has committed an injustice that is in no way concealed.

وَبِضَرُورَةِ الْحِسِّ يَدْرِي كُلُّ أَحَدٍ أَنَّ التَّرَاضِيَ لَا يُمْكِنُ أَلْبَتَّةَ إلَّا فِي مَعْلُومٍ مُتَمَيِّزٍ، وَكَيْفَ إنْ قَالَ الْبَائِعُ: أُعْطِيك مِنْ هَذِهِ الْجِهَةِ، وَقَالَ الْمُشْتَرِي: بَلْ مِنْ هَذِهِ الْأُخْرَى كَيْفَ الْعَمَلُ؟ وَمَنْ جَعَلَ أَحَدَهُمَا بِالْإِجْبَارِ عَلَى مَا يَكْرَهُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ أَوْلَى مِنْ الْآخَرِ، وَهَذَا ظُلْمٌ لَا خَفَاءَ بِهِ.

L22931–22932 Another proof is "the prohibition by the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—against transactions involving gharar," and there is no gharar greater than that the seller does not know what thing it is that he sold, nor does the buyer know what thing it is that he purchased. This is forbidden without doubt.[51]

وَبُرْهَانٌ آخَرُ - وَهُوَ «نَهْيُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ» ، وَلَا غَرَرَ أَكْثَرُ مِنْ أَنْ لَا يَدْرِي الْبَائِعُ أَيَّ شَيْءٍ هُوَ الَّذِي بَاعَ وَلَا يَدْرِي الْمُشْتَرِي أَيَّ شَيْءٍ اشْتَرَى، وَهَذَا حَرَامٌ بِلَا شَكٍّ.

L22933 A third argument: They all unanimously agree with us that whoever enters into a sale contract with another party under this aspect or this other, or purchases from him—as for these aspects or these others—then such a sale is invalid, annulled, and impermissible. Yet this very same transaction is what they have permitted here. We do not say it is analogous; rather, we affirm it is precisely the same, necessarily so.

وَبُرْهَانٌ ثَالِثٌ -: وَهُوَ أَنَّهُمْ كُلَّهُمْ مُجْمِعُونَ مَعَنَا فِيمَنْ عَقَدَ مَعَ آخَرَ بَيْعًا عَلَى هَذِهِ الْجِهَةِ، أَوْ هَذِهِ الْأُخْرَى، أَوْ اشْتَرَى مِنْهُ أَمَّا هَذِهِ الْجِهَاتُ، أَوْ هَذِهِ الْأُخْرَى -: فَإِنَّهُ بَيْعٌ بَاطِلٌ مَفْسُوخٌ لَا يَحِلُّ، وَهَذَا نَفْسُهُ هُوَ الَّذِي أَجَازُوا هَهُنَا، لَا نَقُولُ: إنَّهُ تَشْبِيهٌ، بَلْ نَقُولُ: هُوَ نَفْسُهُ وَلَا بُدَّ.

L22934 Fourth Proof: It is that the salam contract, according to Abū Ḥanīfah and Mālik, is not permissible with immediate delivery. For them, the salam contract is valid only if concluded upon any specified measure, number, volume, or weight. It is not permissible according to them, nor according to the Shāfiʿīs, when applied to a specific heap of goods. This is precisely what they prohibited. Our position here is the view of Abū Sulaymān and our companions. We know of no argument at all from the opponents—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor any weak narration. Nor do we mention now any precedent from earlier scholars, any analogy, or any precaution whatsoever.

وَبُرْهَانٌ رَابِعٌ -: وَهُوَ أَنَّ السَّلَمَ عِنْدَ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٍ لَا يَجُوزُ حَالًّا، وَالسَّلَمُ عِنْدَهُمْ إنَّمَا هُوَ يُعْقَدُ عَلَى ذَرْعٍ مَا، أَوْ عَدَدٍ مَا، أَوْ كَيْلٍ مَا، أَوْ وَزْنٍ مَا، وَلَا يَجُوزُ عِنْدَهُمْ، وَلَا عِنْدَ الشَّافِعِيِّينَ فِي بَعْضِ صُبْرَةٍ بِعَيْنِهَا، وَهَذَا هُوَ نَفْسُهُ الَّذِي مَنَعُوا مِنْهُ - وَقَوْلُنَا هَهُنَا: هُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَصْحَابِنَا، وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لِلْمُخَالِفِينَ حُجَّةً أَصْلًا، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا نَذْكُرُهُ الْآنَ، مِنْ قَوْلِ مُتَقَدِّمٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ تَوَرُّعٍ أَصْلًا.

L22935 Among the wonders of the world is the Hanafis' permission of this sale while prohibiting the sale of a cubit from this cloth delimited in this aspect - whether in terms of a cubit, the cloth's width, or its length. Thus, they permitted uncertainty and the reprehensible but prohibited the recognized - and success comes only from Allah, the Most High.

L22936 A legal issue concerning the sale of something as a single aggregated entity.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ الْمَرْءِ جُمْلَةً مَجْمُوعَةً]

[51] Hadith references (L22932): Sunan Ibn Majah 2194; Sunan Ibn Majah 2195; Jami at-Tirmidhi 1230.

L22937 1461 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell goods in bulk except by a specified measure thereof, or except by a specified weight thereof, or except by a specified number thereof, whatever the commodity may be.

١٤٦١ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الْمَرْءِ جُمْلَةً مَجْمُوعَةً إلَّا كَيْلًا مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا، أَوْ إلَّا وَزْنًا مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا، أَوْ إلَّا عَدَدًا مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا، أَيَّ شَيْءٍ كَانَ.

L22938 Similarly, it is not permissible to sell this garment or this piece of wood unless it is by a clearly defined cubit measurement taken from it.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يَبِيعَ هَذَا الثَّوْبَ أَوْ هَذِهِ الْخَشَبَةَ إلَّا ذَرْعًا مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا.

L22939 Similarly, it is impermissible to sell fruit after its ripening while making an exception for a designated measure specified from it, a designated weight specified from it, or a designated number specified from it in principle - whether that quantity is small or large.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الثَّمَرَةِ بَعْدَ طِيبِهَا وَاسْتِثْنَاءُ مَكِيلَةٍ مُسَمَّاةٍ مِنْهَا، أَوْ وَزْنٍ مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا، أَوْ عَدَدٍ مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا أَصْلًا، قَلَّ ذَلِكَ أَوْ كَثُرَ.

L22940–22942 It is not permissible to sell palm trees from their roots or their fruit on the condition of excluding a palm tree from them without specifying it; rather, the buyer must select the excluded one. All such transactions are forbidden, permanently annulled, and whatever is taken from them in its entirety is treated as unlawfully seized property. The only lawful method in such cases is to exclude from the whole—whatever that whole may be, whether an animal or... half of all that as a joint share, two-thirds of all that, more, or less—a specified, apportioned share held jointly among all.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ نَخْلٍ مِنْ أُصُولِهَا، أَوْ ثَمَرَتِهَا، عَلَى أَنْ يَسْتَثْنِيَ مِنْهَا نَخْلَةً بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهَا، لَكِنْ يَخْتَارُهَا الْمُشْتَرِي - هَذَا كُلُّهُ حَرَامٌ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا، مَحْكُومٌ فِيمَا قَبَضَ مِنْهُ كُلِّهِ بِحُكْمِ الْغَصْبِ وَإِنَّمَا الْحَلَالُ فِي ذَلِكَ أَنْ يَسْتَثْنِيَ مِنْ الْجُمْلَةِ إنْ شَاءَ أَيَّ جُمْلَةٍ كَانَتْ: حَيَوَانًا، أَوْ غَيْرَهُ، أَوْ مِنْ الثَّمَرَةِ: نِصْفَ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ مُشَاعًا، أَوْ ثُلُثَيْ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ، أَوْ أَكْثَرَ، أَوْ أَقَلَّ؛ جُزْءًا مُسَمًّى مَنْسُوبًا مُشَاعًا فِي الْجَمِيعِ.

L22943 Or he sells a portion of the whole as an undivided share, or excludes from it a specific, possessed item - whether abundant or scarce - this is the correct position with no disagreement about its permissibility from anyone, except in one case we will mention, if Allah the Exalted wills.

أَوْ يَبِيعُ جُزْءًا كَذَلِكَ مِنْ الْجُمْلَةِ مُشَاعًا، أَوْ يَسْتَثْنِي مِنْهَا عَيْنًا مُعَيَّنَةً مَحُوزَةً - كَثُرَتْ أَوْ قَلَّتْ - فَهَذَا هُوَ الْحَقُّ الَّذِي لَا خِلَافَ مِنْ أَحَدٍ فِي جَوَازِهِ، إلَّا فِي مَكَانٍ وَاحِدٍ نَذْكُرُهُ - إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى.

L22944 Malik permitted the sale of one hundred date palms while excluding ten palms without specifying which ones, and similarly for sheep and goats, but prohibited such exclusion in large numbers. He allowed the sale of a fruit harvest while excluding a measured quantity of it amounting to a third or less. If one excludes more than a third, it is impermissible.

وَأَجَازَ مَالِكٌ بَيْعَ مِائَةِ نَخْلَةٍ يُسْتَثْنَى مِنْهَا عَشْرُ نَخَلَاتٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهَا، وَكَذَلِكَ مِنْ الْغَنَمِ، وَمَنَعَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ فِي الْكَثِيرِ - وَأَجَازَ بَيْعَ الثَّمَرَةِ وَاسْتِثْنَاءَ مَكِيلَةٍ مِنْهَا تَكُونُ الثُّلُثَ فَأَقَلَّ، فَإِنْ اسْتَثْنَى أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ لَمْ يَجُزْ.

L22945 Mālik said: If one buys the fruit of four palm trees from an orchard without specifying the trees themselves at the time of sale, but the buyer selects them afterward, the sale is invalid. However, if they are purchased in this manner along with the trees themselves, it becomes permissible—provided there is no fruit on them, as with merchandise.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إنْ ابْتَاعَ ثَمَرَ أَرْبَعِ نَخَلَاتٍ مِنْ حَائِطٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهَا لَكِنْ يَخْتَارُهَا الْمُبْتَاعُ لَمْ يَجُزْ، فَلَوْ ابْتَاعَهَا كَذَلِكَ بِأُصُولِهَا جَازَ، إذَا لَمْ يَكُنْ فِيهَا ثَمَرٌ كَالْعُرُوضِ.

وَأَجَازَ لِلْبَائِعِ أَنْ يَبِيعَ ثَمَرَ حَائِطِهِ وَيَسْتَثْنِيَ مِنْهُ ثَمَرَ أَرْبَعِ نَخَلَاتٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهَا، لَكِنْ يَخْتَارُهَا الْبَائِعُ -: أَجَازَ هَذَا بَعْدَ أَنْ تَوَقَّفَ فِيهِ أَرْبَعِينَ لَيْلَةً، وَأَجَازَ ذَلِكَ فِي الْغَنَمِ - وَكَرِهَهُ ابْنُ الْقَاسِمِ فِي النَّخْلِ قَالَ: فَإِنْ وَقَعَ أَجَزْته لِقَوْلِ مَالِكٍ؟

L22946 He permitted the seller to sell the fruit of his orchard while excluding the fruit of four palm trees without specifying their exact identity, provided the seller selects them. He permitted this after deliberating on it for forty nights and also approved it for sheep. However, Ibn al-Qasim juristically disapproved of this practice regarding palm trees, stating: "If such a sale occurs, would I permit it in accordance with Malik's opinion?"

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فِي هَذِهِ الْأَقْوَالِ عِبْرَةٌ لِمَنْ اعْتَبَرَ مِنْ التَّفْرِيقِ بَيْنَ الْبَائِعِ، وَالْمُشْتَرِي فِي اخْتِيَارِ الثَّمَرِ، وَمِنْ الْفَرْقِ بَيْنَ اخْتِيَارِ الْمُشْتَرِي لِثَمَرِ أَرْبَعِ نَخَلَاتٍ فَمَنَعَ مِنْهُ، وَبَيْنَ اخْتِيَارِ الْبَائِعِ لَهُ فَأَجَازَهُ.

L22947 Abū Muḥammad said: There is a lesson in these statements for whoever reflects from the distinction between the seller and the buyer regarding the choice of fruit, and from the difference between the buyer's choice of fruit from four palm trees, which was prohibited, and the seller's choice of it, which was permitted.

L22948 I wish I knew his ruling concerning six or seven palm trees, as we add to it one by one in this manner. Either he would persist in permissibility, or he would prohibit, thereby obliging them to provide proof for what they forbade and permitted, or they would become perplexed, not knowing what to permit or prohibit. They must necessarily adopt one of these options by necessity.

ثُمَّ نَسْأَلُهُمْ عَمَّا أَجَازُوا فِي الْأَرْبَعِ نَخَلَاتٍ، فَنَقُولُ: أَتُجِيزُونَ ذَلِكَ إنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ فِي الْحَائِطِ إلَّا خَمْسُ نَخَلَاتٍ؟ فَإِنْ أَجَازُوا، سَأَلْنَاهُمْ مِنْ أَيْنَ خَصُّوا الْأَرْبَعَ نَخَلَاتٍ بِالْإِجَازَةِ دُونَ مَا هُوَ أَكْثَرُ أَوْ أَقَلُّ؟ فَإِنْ مَنَعُوا زِدْنَاهُمْ فِي عَدَدِ نَخْلِ الْحَائِطِ نَخْلَةً نَخْلَةً - وَهَذِهِ تَخَالِيطُ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهَا؟

L22949 Then we ask them about what they permitted concerning the four date palms. We say: Do you permit this if there are only five date palms in the orchard? If they permit it, we ask them: Why did they specifically allow four date palms while excluding what is greater or fewer? If they forbid it, we add one palm at a time to the number of palms in the orchard. Are these not confusions without parallel?

وَهَذَا يُبْطِلُ دَعْوَاهُمْ فِي عَمَلِ أَهْلِ الْمَدِينَةِ، إذْ لَوْ كَانَ ذَلِكَ عَمَلًا ظَاهِرًا مَا احْتَاجَ إلَى أَنْ يَتَوَقَّفَ فِيهِ أَرْبَعِينَ لَيْلَةً، وَإِنَّ فِي إجَازَةِ ابْنِ الْقَاسِمِ الْعَمَلَ الَّذِي مَنَعَ مِنْهُ - إنْ وَقَعَ - مِنْ أَجْلِ إجَازَةِ مَالِكٍ لَهُ لَعَجَبًا.

L22950–22952 And this invalidates their claim regarding the practice of the people of Medina, since if that had been a manifest practice, there would have been no need. until he refrains from it for forty nights. How astonishing it is that Ibn al-Qasim would certify an action he himself had prohibited—if it occurred—merely because of Malik's certification to him!

وَنَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ عَلَى عَظِيمِ نِعْمَتِهِ عَلَيْنَا فِي تَيْسِيرِنَا لِطَاعَةِ كَلَامِهِ، وَكَلَامِ رَسُولِهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَتَنْفِيرِنَا عَنْ تَقْلِيدِ مَا دُونَ ذَلِكَ حَمْدًا كَثِيرًا كَمَا هُوَ أَهْلُهُ.

L22953 We praise Allah for the immense favor He has bestowed upon us in facilitating our obedience to His speech and the speech of His Messenger - may Allah bless him and grant him peace - and in deterring us from blindly imitating anything inferior to that, with abundant praise as is His due.

وَأَمَّا الْحَنَفِيُّونَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّونَ، فَإِنَّهُمْ مَنَعُوا مِنْ هَذَا كُلِّهِ.

L22954 As for the Ḥanafīs and the Shāfiʿīs, they categorically prohibited all of this.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَتَنَاقَضُوا هَهُنَا أَقْبَحَ تَنَاقُضٍ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ مَا حَرَّمُوا هَهُنَا مِنْ بَيْعِ جُمْلَةٍ وَاسْتِثْنَاءِ مِقْدَارٍ مِنْهَا بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ، وَبَيْنَ مَا أَجَازُوا فِي الْمَسْأَلَةِ الَّتِي قَبْلَ هَذِهِ مِنْ بَيْعِ بَعْضِ جُمْلَةٍ بِكَيْلٍ أَوْ بِوَزْنٍ، أَوْ بِعَدَدٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ فَهُوَ ذَلِكَ نَفْسُهُ وَنَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى عَلَى السَّلَامَةِ، وَكِلَا الْأَمْرَيْنِ بَيْعُ بَعْضِ جُمْلَةٍ وَإِمْسَاكُ بَعْضِهَا، {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] ، {وَقَدْ فَصَّلَ لَكُمْ مَا حَرَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ} [الأنعام: ١١٩] .

L22955 Abū Muḥammad said: They contradicted themselves here in the most repugnant manner, for there is no distinction between what they prohibited here—selling an aggregate while excluding a quantified portion without specifying its identity—and what they permitted in the preceding issue: selling part of an aggregate by measure, weight, or number without specifying its identity. This is the very same thing! We praise Allah the Exalted for safety, as both cases involve selling part of an aggregate and retaining ownership of another part. “Allah has permitted trade” [Al-Baqarah: 275], and “He has detailed for you what He has forbidden upon you” [Al-Anʿām: 119].[52]

وَأَمَّا الْمَكَانُ الَّذِي اُخْتُلِفَ فِيهِ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا، فَإِنَّ الْمَالِكِيِّينَ مَنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ جُمْلَةٍ إِلَّا ثُلُثَيْهَا، وَقَالُوا: لَا يَجُوزُ الِاسْتِثْنَاءُ إِلَّا فِي الْأَقَلِّ.

L22956 As for the specific point of disagreement among the matters we mentioned, the Mālikīs prohibited selling the whole unless two-thirds were excluded, asserting that exclusion applies only to the minority portion.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَا بَاطِلٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يُوجِبْ مَا قَالُوهُ: لَا قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٌ سَقِيمَةٌ، وَلَا قَوْلُ صَاحِبٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٌ، وَلَا رَأْيٌ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، وَلَا لُغَةٌ أَصْلًا.

L22957 Ali said: This is invalid, for their claim is not supported by the Quran, the Sunnah, a weak narration, a Companion’s statement, analogy, a substantiated opinion, nor any linguistic basis whatsoever.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ اسْتِثْنَاءَ الْأَكْثَرِ أَوْ الْأَقَلِّ، إنَّمَا هُوَ مَنْعُ بَعْضِ الْجُمْلَةِ فَقَطْ دُونَ سَائِرِهَا، وَلَا خِلَافَ فِي جَوَازِ هَذَا، وَهُوَ الَّذِي مَنَعُوا مِنْهُ نَفْسُهُ بِعَيْنِهِ.

L22958 Furthermore, the exception of the majority or minority pertains solely to excluding a part of the whole without affecting the remainder. There is no disagreement about the validity of this, yet it is precisely this same act itself that they prohibited.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ سَأَلْت أَبَا بَكْرِ بْنَ أَبِي مُوسَى عَنْ الرَّجُلِ يَبِيعُ بَيْعًا وَيَسْتَثْنِي نِصْفَهُ؟ فَكَرِهَهُ - الْحَجَّاجُ هَالِكٌ -.

L22959 And it was narrated to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah from al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāh: I asked Abū Bakr ibn Abī Mūsā about a man who sells something but reserves half of it. He disliked it [al-Ḥajjāj is deemed unreliable].

[52] Qur’an references (L22955): Qur’an 2:275 (Al-Baqarah); Qur’an 6:119 (Al-An’am).

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ عُثْمَانَ الْبَتِّيِّ قَالَ: إذَا اسْتَثْنَى الْبَائِعُ نِصْفًا وَنَقَدَ الْمُشْتَرِي نِصْفًا، فَهُوَ بَيْنَهُمَا نِصْفَانِ.

L22960 On the authority of Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from ʿUthmān al-Battī, who said: If the seller excludes half [of the item] and the buyer pays half [the price] in cash, then [the transaction] is equally shared between them.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْمُثَنَّى أَنَا عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مَهْدِيٍّ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ مَنْصُورٍ، وَالْأَعْمَشِ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يَبِيعَ السِّلْعَةَ وَيَسْتَثْنِيَ نِصْفَهَا.

L22961 And through the chain of Muḥammad ibn al-Muthannā: I received from ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Mahdī, from Sufyān al-Thawrī, who narrated from Manṣūr and al-Aʿmash, both of whom narrated from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī: That he saw no harm in selling an item while excepting half of it.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: بُرْهَانُ صِحَّةِ قَوْلِنَا هَهُنَا هِيَ الْبَرَاهِينُ الَّتِي أَوْرَدْنَا فِي الْمَسْأَلَةِ الَّتِي قَبْلَهَا سَوَاءً سَوَاءً، وَهَهُنَا بُرْهَانٌ زَائِدٌ -: وَهُوَ مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا زِيَادُ بْنُ أَيُّوبَ أَنَا عَبَّادُ بْنُ الْعَوَّامِ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ حُسَيْنٍ أَنَا يُونُسُ بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ عَنْ عَطَاءِ بْنِ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ الثُّنْيَا حَتَّى تُعْلَمَ» .

L22962–22964 Abu Muhammad said: The proof validating our position here is the proofs we presented in the issue that... Before it, explicitly equal terms, and here is additional evidence: as narrated via the chain of Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb—Ziyad ibn Ayyub—'Abbad ibn al-'Awwam—Sufyan ibn Husayn—Yunus ibn 'Ubayd—'Ata' ibn Abi Rabah—Jabir ibn 'Abdullah: "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited reserved conditional sales until the conditions are disclosed."

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ الِاسْتِثْنَاءَ لَا يَحِلُّ إلَّا مَعْلُومًا مِنْ مَعْلُومٍ.

L22965 Thus, it is established that the exception is permissible only as a specified entity derived from a specified entity.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَقَدْ رَوَيْتُمْ مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ، وَسَعِيدِ بْنِ مِينَاءَ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ الْمُزَابَنَةِ، وَالْمُحَاقَلَةِ، وَالْمُعَاوَمَةِ، وَالْمُخَابَرَةِ» .

L22966 If it is said: You have narrated through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Zayd from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī from Abū al-Zubayr, and through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Mīnāʾ from Jābir ibn ʿAbdullāh, who said: "The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) prohibited al-Muzābana, al-Muḥāqala, al-Muʿāwama, and al-Mukhābara."

قَالَ أَحَدُهُمَا: بَيْعُ السِّنِينَ، وَهِيَ الْمُعَاوَمَةُ، وَهِيَ الثُّنْيَا؟

L22967 One of them said: "The sale of years—which is muʿāwamah, also known as thunyā?"

قُلْنَا: هَذَا تَفْسِيرٌ لَا تَقُومُ بِهِ حُجَّةٌ لِأَنَّهُ مِنْ كَلَامِ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ وَرَأْيِهِ، أَوْ كَلَامِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مِينَاءَ وَرَأْيِهِ، وَلَا حُجَّةَ فِي كَلَامِ أَحَدٍ دُونَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L22968 We said: This interpretation cannot establish definitive proof, for it derives from the statements and opinions of either Abu al-Zubayr or Sa'id ibn Mina'. No definitive proof exists in the statements of anyone other than the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him).

L22969 The thunyā (exception): a well-known Arabic expression. As He, the وَالثُّنْيَا: لَفْظَةٌ مَعْرُوفَةٌ عَرَبِيَّةٌ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {كَمَا بَلَوْنَا أَصْحَابَ الْجَنَّةِ إِذْ أَقْسَمُوا لَيَصْرِمُنَّهَا مُصْبِحِينَ} [القلم: ١٧] {وَلا يَسْتَثْنُونَ} [القلم: ١٨] وَإِنَّمَا الثُّنْيَا اسْتِثْنَاءُ شَيْءٍ مِنْ شَيْءٍ فَقَطْ.

Exalted, said: "Just as We tested the companions of the garden when they vowed to pluck its fruits at dawn" [Al-Qalam: 17], "and they did not make an exception" [Al-Qalam: 18]. Verily, the thunyā is solely the exception of one thing from another.[53]

وَمِنْ الْمُحَالِ الْبَاطِلِ الْمُتَيَقَّنِ: أَنْ يَكُونَ لِلثُّنْيَا مَعْنًى غَيْرُ هَذَا فَيَنْهَانَا عَنْهَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثُمَّ لَا يُبَيِّنُهَا عَلَيْنَا، حَاشَ لِلَّهِ مِنْ هَذَا، وَهُوَ الَّذِي افْتَرَضَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يُبَيِّنَ لَنَا دِينَنَا.

L22970 Among the impossible, invalid, and definitively certain falsehoods is that the dual transaction (thunyā) could have any meaning other than this, whereupon the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—would prohibit us from it then fail to clarify it to us. Far removed is Allah from such a thing! He is the one whom Allah the Exalted obligated to clarify our religion to us.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَقَدْ جَاءَتْ فِي الثُّنْيَا آثَارٌ -:

L22971 Abu Muhammad said: Traditions have come regarding the thunyā:

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ، وَابْنُ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَوْنٍ عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ، قَالَ: مَا كُنَّا نَرَى بِالثُّنْيَا بَأْسًا لَوْلَا أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ كَرِهَهَا، وَكَانَ عِنْدَنَا مَرْضِيًّا - قَالَ ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ: لَوْلَا ابْنُ عَوْنٍ: فَتَحَدَّثْنَا أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ كَانَ يَقُولُ: لَا أَبِيعُ هَذِهِ النَّخْلَةَ، وَلَا هَذِهِ النَّخْلَةَ.

L22972 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: "Ismail ibn Ulayyah and Ibn Abi Za'idah both narrated to us—each transmitting from Abdullah ibn Awn, from al-Qasim ibn Muhammad—who said: 'We saw no harm in the dual sale were it not that Ibn Umar disapproved of it, and he was regarded as a reliable authority among us.'" Ibn Ulayyah added: "Were it not for Ibn Awn, we would have related that Ibn Umar used to say: 'I will not sell this palm tree or that palm tree.'" قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: سَمِعَ ابْنُ عَوْنٍ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ مِنْ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ.

L22973–22974 Ali said: Ibn Awn heard this report from al-Qasim b. Muhammad.

L22975 And from the chain of Abd al-Razzaq, from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Ansari, from Ya'qub ibn Ibrahim, from Sa'id ibn al-Musayyab, who said: It is disliked to sell palm trees while reserving a known measure of their dates. Sufyan said: Rather, one should reserve these specific palm trees.

L22976 From the path of al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl: Ḥammād ibn Zayd reported that Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī narrated from ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb that he asked Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib about stipulated conditions. He disapproved of them unless one explicitly exempts specific, identifiable palm trees. ʿAmr added: Saʿīd prohibited me from renouncing responsibility for alms when concluding a sale.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا حَمَّادُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ أَنَا أَيُّوبُ - هُوَ السِّخْتِيَانِيُّ - عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَّهُ سَأَلَ سَعِيدَ بْنَ الْمُسَيِّبِ عَنْ الثُّنْيَا فَكَرِهَهَا إِلَّا أَنْ يَسْتَثْنِيَ نَخَلَاتٍ مَعْلُومَاتٍ، قَالَ عَمْرٌو: وَنَهَانِي سَعِيدٌ أَنْ أَبْرَأَ مِنْ الصَّدَقَةِ إِذَا بَايَعْت.

L22977 And through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: from Ibn ʿUlayyah, from Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani, from ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb, who said: I asked Saʿid ibn al-Musayyab: "May I sell my land's produce while reserving a portion?" He replied: "Do not reserve except known trees, and do not exempt yourself from zakah." Ayyub said: I mentioned this to Muhammad ibn Sirin, and it was as though he evidently approved.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ قَالَ: قُلْت لِسَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ: أَبِيعُ ثَمَرَةَ أَرْضِي وَأَسْتَثْنِي؟ قَالَ: لَا تَسْتَثْنِ إلَّا شَجَرًا مَعْلُومًا، وَلَا تَبْرَأَنَّ مِنْ الصَّدَقَةِ - قَالَ أَيُّوبُ فَذَكَرْته لِمُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ فَكَأَنَّهُ أَعْجَبَهُ.

L22978 From the narration of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I am Abu al-Ahwas, reporting from Abu Hamzah that he said: "I asked Ibrahim: 'Can I sell the sheep while retaining a portion of it?' He replied: 'No, but say: "I sell to you half of it."'" وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا أَبُو الْأَحْوَصِ عَنْ أَبِي حَمْزَةَ، قُلْت لِإِبْرَاهِيمَ: أَبِيعُ الشَّاةَ وَأَسْتَثْنِي بَعْضَهَا؟ قَالَ: لَا، وَلَكِنْ قُلْ: أَبِيعُك نِصْفَهَا.

L22979 From Ibn Abi Shaybah: From Abd al-Rahman ibn Mahdi, from Sufyan, from Mansur, from Ibrahim, who said: "There is no harm in selling a commodity while reserving half of it."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مَهْدِيٍّ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ عَنْ مَنْصُورٍ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِبَيْعِ السِّلْعَةِ وَيَسْتَثْنِي نِصْفَهَا.

L22980 Through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Abdul A'la reported from Yunus, from Al-Hasan regarding one who sells the produce of his land while excluding a kurr (volume measure). He said: He approved of marking palm trees.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ يُونُسَ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ فِيمَنْ بَاعَ ثَمَرَةَ أَرْضِهِ فَاسْتَثْنَى كُرًّا؟ قَالَ: كَانَ يُعْجِبُهُ أَنْ يَعْلَمَ نَخْلًا.

L22981 And through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Ibn Abī Zāʾidah from Yazīd - who is Ibn Ibrāhīm - from Ibn Sīrīn that he held the view there was no harm in selling his produce and reserving half, a third, a quarter of it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ عَنْ يَزِيدَ - هُوَ ابْنُ إبْرَاهِيمَ - عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يَبِيعَ ثَمَرَتَهُ وَيَسْتَثْنِيَ نِصْفَهَا، ثُلُثَهَا، رُبْعَهَا.

L22982 Abu Muhammad said: The Malikis cited as evidence the report we narrated through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq: Maʿmar narrated to us, "I heard al-Zubayr ibn Adiyy say: I heard Ibn Umar, while he was selling his produce, say: 'I sell it to you for four thousand and the food of the youths who work it.'"

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَاحْتَجَّ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ حَدَّثَنَا مَعْمَرٌ سَمِعْت الزُّبَيْرَ بْنَ عَدِيٍّ سَمِعْت ابْنَ عُمَرَ وَهُوَ يَبِيعُ ثَمَرَةً لَهُ فَقَالَ: أَبِيعُكُمُوهَا بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافٍ وَطَعَامِ الْفِتْيَانِ الَّذِينَ يَعْمَلُونَهَا.

L22983 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Waki' reported from Ibrāhīm, from Ismāʿīl ibn Mujammiʿ, from Sālim ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUmar that he saw no harm in selling his fruit while reserving a specified measured quantity from it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ عَنْ إِسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ مُجَمِّعٍ عَنْ سَالِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يَبِيعَ ثَمَرَتَهُ وَيَسْتَثْنِيَ مِنْهَا مَكِيلَةً مَعْلُومَةً.

L22984–22986 And on the authority of Mālik, from ʿAbdullāh ibn Abī Bakr ibn Muḥammad ibn ʿAmr ibn Ḥazm, that his grandfather narrated... Muhammad ibn ʿAmr sold the fruit of his palm grove, known as al-Afrāq, for four thousand dirhams, reserving from it eight hundred dirhams' worth of dates as part of the payment—and we know of no other precedent applicable to their case besides this.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ حَزْمٍ: أَنَّ جَدَّهُ مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ عَمْرٍو بَاعَ ثَمَرَ حَائِطٍ لَهُ يُقَالُ لَهُ: الْأَفْرَاقُ بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافِ دِرْهَمٍ وَاسْتَثْنَى مِنْهُ بِثَمَانِمِائَةِ دِرْهَمٍ تَمْرًا - وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُمْ غَيْرَ هَذَا.

L22987 The narration from Ibn ʿUmar: they are the first to oppose this ruling, because if the servants' sustenance is excepted from the produce, it becomes unknown—what its type would be and what its quantity would be. If it is imposed on the buyer in addition to the price, the same uncertainty applies.

فَالرِّوَايَةُ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: هُمْ أَوَّلُ مُخَالِفٍ لَهَا، لِأَنَّ طَعَامَ الْفِتْيَانِ إِنْ كَانَ مُسْتَثْنًى مِنْ الثَّمَرَةِ فَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ، لَا يُدْرَى مَا يَكُونُ نَوْعُهُ، وَلَا مِقْدَارُ مَا يَكُونُ، فَإِنْ كَانَ مُضَافًا عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي إلَى الثَّمَنِ فَكَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا -.

L22988 The Malikis do not permit either of these two aspects—indeed, they have opposed it—and the authentic report from Ibn ʿUmar is like our statement, as we have previously cited.

وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ لَا يُجِيزُونَ شَيْئًا مِنْ هَذَيْنِ الْوَجْهَيْنِ - فَقَدْ خَالَفُوهُ، وَالصَّحِيحُ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ مِثْلُ قَوْلِنَا كَمَا أَوْرَدْنَا آنِفًا.

L22989 As for the ḥadīth of Sālim, it did not specify a third from a lesser amount nor from a greater amount.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ سَالِمٍ فَلَمْ يَخُصَّ ثُلُثًا مِنْ أَقَلَّ، وَلَا أَكْثَرَ -.

L22990 The Malikis do not permit more than a third, since they have opposed it.

وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ لَا يُجِيزُونَ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ - فَقَدْ خَالَفُوهُ.

L22991 As for the narration of Muḥammad ibn ʿAmr ibn Ḥazm, he excepted from the produce he sold—four thousand dates in exchange for eight hundred dirhams, which constituted one-fifth. Thus, he reserved one-fifth of what he sold, and this is permissible and valid. It was thereby clear that there was absolutely no basis for a Salam contract in what they asserted.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ حَزْمٍ فَإِنَّمَا اسْتَثْنَى مِنْ ثَمَرٍ بَاعَهُ بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافٍ تَمْرًا بِثَمَانِمِائَةِ دِرْهَمٍ، وَهُمْ الْخُمُسُ، فَإِنَّمَا اسْتَثْنَى خُمُسَ مَا بَاعَ، وَهَذَا جَائِزٌ حَسَنٌ - فَلَاحَ أَنَّهُ لَا سَلَفَ لَهُمْ أَصْلًا فِيمَا قَالُوهُ ذَلِكَ.

L22992 It has been transmitted to us that exceptions are entirely prohibited, as transmitted through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: ʻAbd al-Ṣamad ibn Abī al-Jārūd said, "I asked Jābir ibn Zayd about one who sells something and excepted a part of it." He said, "That is not valid."

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا الْمَنْعَ مِنْ الِاسْتِثْنَاءِ جُمْلَةً كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الصَّمَدِ بْنُ أَبِي الْجَارُودِ قَالَ: سَأَلْت جَابِرَ بْنَ زَيْدٍ عَمَّنْ بَاعَ شَيْئًا وَاسْتَثْنَى بَعْضًا؟ قَالَ: لَا يَصْلُحُ ذَلِكَ.

L22993 Abū Muḥammad said: If he intended an unknown, then it is correct. But if he intended the entirety of the exception, then it is erroneous, for "Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—permitted the conditional exception when it is known," and no one's argument holds validity alongside his—peace be upon him.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: إنْ كَانَ عَنَى مَجْهُولًا فَصَحِيحٌ وَإِنْ كَانَ عَنَى جُمْلَةَ الِاسْتِثْنَاءِ فَخَطَأٌ، لِأَنَّ «رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَبَاحَ الثُّنْيَا إذَا عُلِمَتْ» ، وَلَا حُجَّةَ فِي أَحَدٍ مَعَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعِ مَالِ غَيْرِهِ بِغَيْرِ إذْنِ صَاحِبِ الْمَالِ لَهُ فِي بَيْعِهِ]

L22994 A Juridical Case: The Ruling on Selling Another's Property Without the Owner's Permission [and the Liability of the Seller].

L22995 Issue 1462: It is impermissible for anyone to sell another's property without the owner's authorization for him to sell it. If such a sale occurs, it is annulled in perpetuity - whether the owner is present and witnesses this or absent. His silence does not constitute consent to the sale - whether the duration is lengthy or brief - even after a hundred years or longer. Rather, the owner and his heirs after him can take his property forever.

١٤٦٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ لِأَحَدٍ أَنْ يَبِيعَ مَالَ غَيْرِهِ بِغَيْرِ إذْنِ صَاحِبِ الْمَالِ لَهُ فِي بَيْعِهِ، فَإِنْ وَقَعَ فُسِخَ أَبَدًا - سَوَاءٌ كَانَ صَاحِبُ الْمَالِ حَاضِرًا يَرَى ذَلِكَ أَوْ غَائِبًا - وَلَا يَكُونُ سُكُوتُهُ رِضًا بِالْبَيْعِ - طَالَتْ الْمُدَّةُ أَمْ قَصُرَتْ - وَلَوْ بَعْدَ مِائَةِ عَامٍ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ، بَلْ يَأْخُذُ مَالَهُ أَبَدًا هُوَ وَوَرَثَتُهُ بَعْدَهُ.

L22996 It is not permissible for the owner of the property to validate that sale whatsoever unless he and the buyer mutually consent to establish a sale contract pertaining to it. The one who takes possession is liable upon himself for the liability of usurpation.

وَلَا يَجُوزُ لِصَاحِبِ الْمَالِ أَنْ يُمْضِيَ ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعَ أَصْلًا إلَّا أَنْ يَتَرَاضَى هُوَ وَالْمُشْتَرِي عَلَى ابْتِدَاءِ عَقْدِ بَيْعٍ فِيهِ - وَهُوَ مَضْمُونٌ عَلَى مَنْ قَبَضَهُ ضَمَانَ الْغَصْبِ.

L22997–22999 Similarly, no one is obligated to have another purchase on their behalf, nor to instruct another to do so. If someone purchases on their behalf without authorization... The purchase belongs to the buyer and does not transfer to the one who purchased it for him—whether he intended ownership or not—except through initiating a purchase contract with the one who purchased it. Excepted is the absent person who is certain that something from his property is spoiling in a manner that would lead to its destruction before consultation—in such case, the judge or others may sell it for him. Similarly, purchasing what is indispensable for his dependents is permitted, or what is sold upon him as a binding obligatory right to allow a creditor to claim his due, or for the expenses of those he is obligated to provide for—this is binding upon him whether present or absent, consenting or refusing.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَا يُلْزِمُ أَحَدًا شِرَاءَ غَيْرِهِ لَهُ لَا أَنْ يَأْمُرَهُ بِذَلِكَ، فَإِنْ اشْتَرَى لَهُ دُونَ أَمْرِهِ فَالشِّرَاءُ لِلْمُشْتَرِي وَلَا يَكُونُ لِلَّذِي اشْتَرَاهُ لَهُ - أَرَادَ كَوْنَهُ لَهُ أَوْ لَمْ يُرِدْ - إلَّا بِابْتِدَاءِ عَقْدِ شِرَاءٍ مَعَ الَّذِي اشْتَرَاهُ، إلَّا الْغَائِبَ الَّذِي يُوقِنُ بِفَسَادِ شَيْءٍ مِنْ مَالِهِ فَسَادًا يَتْلَفُ بِهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُشَاوِرَ، فَإِنَّهُ يَبِيعُهُ لَهُ الْحَاكِمُ أَوْ غَيْرُهُ، وَنَحْوُ ذَلِكَ، وَيَشْتَرِي لِأَهْلِهِ مَا لَا بُدَّ لَهُمْ مِنْهُ - وَيَجُوزُ ذَلِكَ أَوْ مَا بِيعَ عَلَيْهِ بِحَقٍّ وَاجِبٍ لِيَنْتَصِفَ غَرِيمٌ مِنْهُ، أَوْ فِي نَفَقَةِ مَنْ تَلْزَمُهُ نَفَقَتُهُ، فَهَذَا لَازِمٌ لَهُ - حَاضِرًا كَانَ أَوْ غَائِبًا، رَضِيَ أَمْ سَخِطَ.

L23000 The proof of that is the statement of Allah, the Most High: “No soul bears except upon itself” [Al-An’am 6:164].[1]

L23001 And the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—: “Indeed, your blood, your wealth, your honor, and your bodies are inviolable for you.”

L23002 No one has the right to permit what Allah the Exalted has prohibited regarding his wealth, skin, or blood except through the manner sanctioned by the explicit text of the Quran or the Sunnah. Whoever does this, his action is invalidated according to the statement of Allah’s Messenger (peace be upon him): “Whoever performs a deed contrary to our teachings, it is rejected.” Silence does not signify consent except in relation to two matters exclusively.[2]

L23003 One of them is the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—who was commanded to clarify, whom falsehood cannot approach from before him or behind him, who does not endorse falsehood, and regarding whom the divine text establishes that whatever he remained silent about constitutes something excused and permissible. Nothing is forbidden except what he explicitly prohibited for us, no obligation exists except what he commanded, and no prohibition except what he forbade. Thus, whatever he neither commanded nor prohibited is excluded from being obligatory or forbidden, inescapably remaining permissible. By logical necessity, his silence—which constitutes neither command nor prohibition—falls into this category of the permissible.[3]

L23004 The second case is that of a virgin in her marriage, applicable solely due to the textual evidence reported in that regard. As for all other cases beyond what we have mentioned, silence does not count as consent until one verbally affirms their consent and formally implements it.

L23005 The one who claims that the silence of those other than these two constitutes

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَلا تَكْسِبُ كُلُّ نَفْسٍ إِلا عَلَيْهَا} [الأنعام: ١٦٤]

وَقَوْلُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إِنَّ دِمَاءَكُمْ وَأَمْوَالَكُمْ وَأَعْرَاضَكُمْ وَأَبْشَارَكُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ حَرَامٌ» .

فَلَيْسَ لِأَحَدٍ أَنْ يُحِلَّ مَا حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مِنْ مَالِهِ، وَلَا مِنْ بَشَرَتِهِ، وَلَا مِنْ دَمِهِ إِلَّا بِالْوَجْهِ الَّذِي أَبَاحَهُ بِهِ نَصُّ الْقُرْآنِ، أَوْ السُّنَّةِ، وَمَنْ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ فَهُوَ مَرْدُودٌ لِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنْ عَمِلَ عَمَلًا لَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ أَمْرُنَا فَهُوَ رَدٌّ» وَالسُّكُوتُ لَيْسَ رِضًا إِلَّا مِنْ اثْنَيْنِ فَقَطْ -.

أَحَدُهُمَا: رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْمَأْمُورُ بِالْبَيَانِ الَّذِي لَا يَأْتِيهِ الْبَاطِلُ مِنْ بَيْنِ يَدَيْهِ وَلَا مِنْ خَلْفِهِ، الَّذِي لَا يُقِرُّ عَلَى بَاطِلٍ، وَالَّذِي وَرَدَ النَّصُّ بِأَنَّ مَا سَكَتَ عَنْهُ فَهُوَ عَفْوٌ جَائِزٌ، وَالَّذِي لَا حَرَامَ إِلَّا مَا فَصَّلَ لَنَا تَحْرِيمَهُ، وَلَا وَاجِبَ إِلَّا مَا أَمَرَنَا بِهِ وَلَا نَهَانَا عَنْهُ فَقَدْ خَرَجَ عَنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ فَرْضًا أَوْ حَرَامًا، فَبَقِيَ أَنْ يَكُونَ مُبَاحًا وَلَا بُدَّ، فَدَخَلَ سُكُوتُهُ الَّذِي لَيْسَ أَمْرًا وَلَا نَهْيًا فِي هَذَا الْقِسْمِ ضَرُورَةً.

وَيُسْأَلُ مَنْ قَالَ: إِنَّ سُكُوتَ مَنْ عَدَا هَذَيْنِ رِضًا: مَا الدَّلِيلُ عَلَى صِحَّةِ قَوْلِكُمْ: إِنَّ الرِّضَا يَكُونُ بِالسُّكُوتِ، وَإِنَّ الْإِنْكَارَ لَا يَكُونُ إِلَّا بِالْكَلَامِ؟ وَمِنْ أَيْنَ قُلْتُمْ ذَلِكَ؟

consent is to be asked: What evidence validates your assertion that consent indeed occurs through silence and that denial cannot occur except through speech? From where have you derived this?

فَإِنْ ادَّعَوْا نَصًّا، كَذَبُوا، وَإِنْ ادَّعَوْا عِلْمَ ضَرُورَةٍ، كَابَرُوا؛ لِأَنَّ جُمْهُورَ النَّاسِ مُخَالِفُونَ لَهُمْ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَهُمْ لَا يَعْرِفُونَ الضَّرُورَةَ الَّتِي يَدَّعُونَ، وَلَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ دَعْوَاهُمْ عَلَى غَيْرِهِمْ عِلْمَ الضَّرُورَةِ هَهُنَا وَبَيْنَ دَعْوَى غَيْرِهِمْ عَلَيْهِمْ عِلْمَ الضَّرُورَةِ فِي بُطْلَانِ ذَلِكَ، وَفِي أَنَّ الْإِنْكَارَ يَكُونُ بِالسُّكُوتِ، وَأَنَّ الرِّضَا لَا يَكُونُ إِلَّا بِالْكَلَامِ؟

L23006 If they claim a textual basis, they have lied; and if they claim knowledge of necessity, they have acted arrogantly—for the majority oppose them in this, and they do not recognize the necessity they claim. There is no distinction between their claim against others concerning the knowledge of necessity here and others' claim against them concerning the knowledge of necessity in the invalidity of that position, nor in the principle that denial is expressed through silence and consent is only conveyed through speech.

فَبَطَلَتْ الدَّعْوَتَانِ لِتَعَارُضِهِمَا، وَلَمْ يَبْقَ إِلَّا أَنَّ السَّاكِتَ مُمْكِنٌ أَنْ يَكُونَ رَاضِيًا، وَمُمْكِنٌ أَنْ يَكُونَ غَيْرَ رَاضٍ، وَهَذَا هُوَ الَّذِي لَا شَكَّ فِيهِ، وَالرِّضَا يَكُونُ بِالسُّكُوتِ وَبِالْكَلَامِ، وَالْإِنْكَارُ يَكُونُ بِالسُّكُوتِ وَبِالْكَلَامِ.

L23007–23008 Thus, the two claims are invalidated due to their contradiction, leaving only the possibility that the silent party could be consenting or could be non-consenting. This is undoubtedly the case. Consent may be given by silence or speech, and denial may likewise be expressed by silence or speech.

فَإِذْ ذَلِكَ كَذَلِكَ فَإِنَّمَا هُوَ الظَّنُّ فَقَطْ، وَلَا تَحِلُّ الْأَمْوَالُ الْمُحَرَّمَةُ بِالظَّنِّ.

L23009 Since this is so, it is nothing but mere assumption, and forbidden wealth cannot be legitimized by assumption.

قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَإِنَّ الظَّنَّ لا يُغْنِي مِنَ الْحَقِّ شَيْئًا} [النجم: ٢٨]

L23010 The Exalted said: "Indeed, assumption avails nothing against the truth" [53:28][4]

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إِيَّاكُمْ وَالظَّنَّ فَإِنَّ الظَّنَّ أَكْذَبُ الْحَدِيثِ» .

L23011 The Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, said: "Avoid suspicion, for suspicion is the most false of speech."

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: قِسْنَا ذَلِكَ عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَعَلَى نِكَاحِ الْبِكْرِ؟

L23012 If they say: "Have we drawn an analogy with the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) and the marriage of a virgin?"

قُلْنَا: الْقِيَاسُ بَاطِلٌ، ثُمَّ لَوْ كَانَ حَقًّا لَكَانَ هَهُنَا فِي غَايَةِ الْبَاطِلِ؛ لِأَنَّ مَنْ عَدَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَسْكُتُ تَقِيَّةً أَوْ تَدْبِيرًا فِي أَمْرِهِ وَتَرْوِيَةً، أَوْ لِأَنَّهُ يَرَى أَنَّ سُكُوتَهُ لَا يَلْزَمُهُ بِهِ شَيْءٌ، وَهَذَا هُوَ الْحَقُّ، رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَا يَتَّقِي فِي اللَّهِ تَعَالَى أَحَدًا، وَلَا يَحْكُمُ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنَ الدِّينِ بِغَيْرِ الْوَحْيِ مِنْ رَبِّهِ تَعَالَى،

L23013 We said: Analogy is invalid. Moreover, even if it were valid, here it would represent the height of falsehood. For whoever besides the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—remains silent does so out of dissimulation, strategizing in his affairs, deliberation, or because he considers his silence non-binding. This is the truth: the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—fears none regarding Allah Almighty, judges no religious matter except by

[4] Qur'an references (L23010): Qur'an 53:28 (An-Najm).

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَأَصْحَابُهُ: مَنْ بَاعَ مَالَ آخَرَ بِغَيْرِ أَمْرِهِ فَلِصَاحِبِ الْمَالِ إجَازَةُ ذَلِكَ أَوْ رَدُّهُ - وَاحْتَجُّوا بِالْخَبَرِ الثَّابِتِ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «فِي الَّذِي اسْتَأْجَرَ أَجِيرًا بِفَرَقٍ مِنْ ذُرَةٍ فَأَعْطَيْتُهُ فَأَبَى، فَعَمَدْتُ إلَى ذَلِكَ الْفَرَقِ فَزَرَعْتُهُ حَتَّى اشْتَرَيْتُ مِنْهُ بَقَرًا وَرَاعِيَهَا، ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَقَالَ: يَا عَبْدَ اللَّهِ أَعْطِنِي حَقِّي؟ فَقُلْتُ: انْطَلِقْ إلَى تِلْكَ الْبَقَرِ وَرَاعِيهَا؟ فَقَالَ: أَتَسْتَهْزِئُ بِي؟ قُلْتُ: مَا أَسْتَهْزِئُ بِك، وَلَكِنَّهَا لَك - فَذَكَرَ الْخَبَرَ، وَأَنَّ اللَّهَ فَرَّجَ عَنْهُمْ الصَّخْرَةَ الْمُطْبِقَةَ عَلَى فَمِ الْغَارِ» .

وَالثَّانِي: أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ أَنَّ الْإِجَارَةَ كَانَتْ بِفَرَقِ ذُرَةٍ بِعَيْنِهِ، بَلْ ظَاهِرُهُ أَنَّهُ كَانَ بِفَرَقِ ذُرَةٍ فِي الذِّمَّةِ، فَإِذْ ذَلِكَ كَذَلِكَ فَلَمْ يَبِعْ لَهُ شَيْئًا، بَلْ بَاعَ مَالَهُ ثُمَّ تَطَوَّعَ بِمَا أَعْطَاهُ - وَهَذَا حَسَنٌ، وَهُوَ قَوْلُنَا.

revelation from his Lord, and may never remain silent on falsehood without denouncing it. For this would mean failing to clarify, though Allah commanded him to elucidate, convey, enjoin obligations, and specify prohibitions. Thus his silence transcends these two considerations, whereas others differ. The passage of time never transforms falsehood into truth, nor truth into falsehood. Opponents of this position must concede that one addressed as “O disbeliever!” who remains silent incurs the ruling of disbelief; one told “You divorced your wife” without objection is bound by divorce; and one whose child is slain while he witnesses it yet remains silent forfeits legal redress and incurs compliance—yet they do not accept any of this.

L23014 Abu Hanifah and his companions said: Whoever sells another’s property without his authorization, the owner may ratify or rescind it. They substantiated this with the authenticated narration from Ibn Umar regarding the Prophet (peace be upon him): “Concerning a man who hired a laborer for a farq of corn. When I gave it to him, he refused. I took that farq and cultivated it until I bought from it cows and their herder. Later he came and said: ’O Abdullah, give me my right!’ I replied: ’Go to those cows and their herder.’ He asked: ’Are you mocking me?’ I said: ’I do not mock you - they are yours.’” He then recounted the full narration, including how Allah relieved them of the boulder that had sealed the cave’s mouth.

L23015–23017 For indeed this is a narration that provides no proof for them due to various reasons; rather, it constitutes evidence against them and invalidates their argument: The first of these is that that existed among previous communities, and their laws are not incumbent upon us.

L23018 The second is that there is no indication the lease was for a specific farq of grain. Rather, its apparent meaning is that it was for a farq of grain as an obligation. Given this, he did not sell him anything. Instead, he sold his property and then voluntarily gave what he provided him. This is commendable and is our position.

L23019 The third is that even if it stipulated a specific measure and occurred within Islam, they would have no valid claim regarding it. This is because he granted him more than his rightful due, so he accepted and absolved him of the specific right itself. Both parties are voluntarily giving this without stipulation—and this is permissible according to our school and is highly regarded.

L23020 As for it being a proof against them, it lies in the fact that he presented his right to him, but he refused to take it, abandoned it, and departed. Thus, according to their foundational principle, his right has been invalidated since he remained silent about taking it, and he has no claim to it thereafter.

وَأَمَّا كَوْنُهُ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ فَإِنَّ فِيهِ: أَنَّهُ عَرَضَ عَلَيْهِ حَقَّهُ فَأَبَى مِنْ أَخْذِهِ وَتَرَكَهُ وَمَضَى فَعَلَى أَصْلِهِمْ قَدْ بَطَلَ حَقُّهُ، إذْ سَكَتَ عَنْ أَخْذِهِ، فَلَا طَلَبَ لَهُ فِيهِ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ.

L23021 They cited as evidence what we have narrated through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Sufyan ibn Uyaynah narrated to us from Shu'ayb ibn Gharqadah from Urwah al-Bariqi that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) gave him a dinar to buy a sheep. Urwah said: "I bought two sheep for him with it, then he sold one of them for a dinar. He came to the Prophet (peace be upon him) with a dinar and a sheep," whereupon the Prophet (peace be upon him) invoked blessings for him.

وَاحْتَجُّوا: بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ شُعَيْبِ بْنِ غَرْقَدَةَ عَنْ عُرْوَةَ الْبَارِقِيِّ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَعْطَاهُ دِينَارًا يَشْتَرِي لَهُ بِهِ شَاةً قَالَ: فَاشْتَرَيْتُ لَهُ شَاتَيْنِ فَبَاعَ إحْدَاهُمَا بِدِينَارٍ، فَأَتَى النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِدِينَارٍ وَشَاةٍ فَدَعَا لَهُ بِالْبَرَكَةِ» .

L23022 And it was narrated to us through the chain of Abū Dāwūd: al-Ḥasan ibn al-Ṣabbāḥ, from Abū al-Mundhir, from Saʿīd ibn Zayd, from al-Zubayr ibn al-Ḥārith, from Abī Labīd, from ʿUrwah al-Bāriqī—and he related it.

وَرُوِّينَاهُ أَيْضًا: مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا الْحَسَنُ بْنُ الصَّبَّاحِ أَنَا أَبُو الْمُنْذِرِ أَنَا سَعِيدُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ أَنَا الزُّبَيْرُ بْنُ الْحَارِثِ عَنْ أَبِي لَبِيدٍ عَنْ عُرْوَةَ الْبَارِقِيِّ - فَذَكَرَهُ.

L23023 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah, from Waki', from Sufyan, from Abu Husayn, from a man among the people of Medina, from Hakim ibn Hizam: "The Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—sent him to purchase a sacrificial animal for one dinar. He bought it, then sold it for two dinars. He bought a sheep for one dinar and brought another dinar. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—invoked blessings for him and commanded him to give the dinar in charity."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ عَنْ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ عَنْ أَبِي حُصَيْنٍ عَنْ رَجُلٍ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْمَدِينَةِ عَنْ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ «أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بَعَثَهُ لِيَشْتَرِيَ لَهُ أُضْحِيَّةً بِدِينَارٍ فَاشْتَرَاهَا ثُمَّ بَاعَهَا بِدِينَارَيْنِ فَاشْتَرَى شَاةً بِدِينَارٍ وَجَاءَ بِدِينَارٍ فَدَعَا لَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِالْبَرَكَةِ وَأَمَرَهُ أَنْ يَتَصَدَّقَ بِالدِّينَارِ» .

L23024 This is all they have disguised with it, and all of it is nothing.

هَذَا كُلُّ مَا مَوَّهُوا بِهِ، وَكُلُّهُ لَا شَيْءَ.

L23025–23026 As for the ḥadīth of Ḥakīm: it is narrated from an unnamed man, and it is not known who he is among the people. Proof in the religion of Allah, the Exalted, cannot be established through the like of this.

أَمَّا حَدِيثُ حَكِيمٍ: فَعَنْ رَجُلٍ لَمْ يُسَمَّ، وَلَا يُدْرَى مَنْ هُوَ مِنْ النَّاسِ، وَالْحُجَّةُ فِي دِينِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى لَا تَقُومُ بِمِثْلِ هَذَا.

L23027 As for the ḥadīth of ʿUrwah, one of its two chains is transmitted from Saʿīd ibn Zayd—brother of Ḥammād ibn Zayd—who is weak. It also includes Abū Labīd, who is Lumāzah ibn Zabbār, not recognized for his reliability. The other chain is defective despite its apparent soundness, this being because Shabīb ibn Gharqadah did not hear it from ʿUrwah.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ عُرْوَةَ فَأَحَدُ طَرِيقَيْهِ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ أَخِي حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ وَهُوَ ضَعِيفٌ، وَفِيهِ أَيْضًا أَبُو لَبِيدٍ وَهُوَ لُمَازَةُ بْنُ زَبَّارٍ وَلَيْسَ بِمَعْرُوفِ الْعَدَالَةِ، وَالطَّرِيقُ الْأُخْرَى مُعْتَلَّةٌ وَإِنْ كَانَ ظَاهِرُهَا الصِّحَّةَ، وَهِيَ أَنَّ شَبِيبَ بْنَ غَرْقَدَةَ لَمْ يَسْمَعْهُ مِنْ عُرْوَةَ.

L23028 It was narrated to us through the chain of Abū Dāwūd al-Sijistānī: Musaddad narrated from Sufyān—Ibn ʿUyaynah—from Shabīb ibn Gharqadah, who said: Al-Ḥayy narrated to me from ʿUrwah—meaning Ibn al-Jaʿd al-Bāriqī—who said: "The Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—gave him a dinar to buy a sacrificial animal or a sheep. He purchased two, sold one for a dinar, and brought the Prophet a sheep and a dinar. The Prophet then prayed for blessings upon him." However, the chain occurred as interrupted, thereby invalidating its use as evidence.

L23029 Then, even if the ḥadīth of Ḥakīm and ʿUrwah were authentic, they would hold no proof for their position. When the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—commanded him to purchase a sheep for him, yet he bought two sheep, the purchase unquestionably belonged to ʿUrwah without doubt, for he acted according to his own intent rather than complying with the Prophet's command—peace and blessings be upon him. Furthermore, the value of the Prophet's dinar constituted either a loan to be repaid or an act of transgression, thereby indisputably establishing the dinar as a liability upon him. He then sold his own sheep for a dinar, transferred it to the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—as obligated, and gifted him the sheep. All this reflects the apparent meaning of the report, which contains absolutely no basis—neither textual nor evidentiary—indicating that the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—permitted or upheld this purchase. Therefore, it is impermissible to assert a position unsupported by the narration.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ حَدِيثُ حَكِيمٍ، وَعُرْوَةَ: لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُمْ فِيهِمَا حُجَّةٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ إذْ أَمَرَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ لَهُ شَاةً فَاشْتَرَى لَهُ شَاتَيْنِ، صَارَ الشِّرَاءُ لِعُرْوَةَ بِلَا شَكٍّ، لِأَنَّهُ إنَّمَا اشْتَرَى كَمَا أَرَادَ لَا كَمَا أَمَرَهُ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثُمَّ وَزْنُ دِينَارِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إمَّا مُسْتَقْرَضًا لَهُ لِيَرُدَّهُ، وَإِمَّا مُتَعَدِّيًا فَصَارَ الدِّينَارُ فِي ذِمَّتِهِ بِلَا شَكٍّ، ثُمَّ بَاعَ شَاةَ نَفْسِهِ بِدِينَارٍ فَصَرَفَهُ إلَى النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - كَمَا لَزِمَهُ وَأَهْدَى إلَيْهِ الشَّاةَ، فَهَذَا كُلُّهُ هُوَ ظَاهِرُ الْخَبَرِ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ أَصْلًا لَا بِنَصٍّ وَلَا بِدَلِيلٍ عَلَى أَنَّ الشِّرَاءَ جَوَّزَهُ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَالْتَزَمَهُ، فَلَا يَجُوزُ الْقَوْلُ بِمَا لَيْسَ فِي الْخَبَرِ.

L23030 As for the report of Hakim, he transgressed in the sale of the sheep, thus incurring liability for it. He purchased it for a dinar as he commanded, and a dinar remained. The Prophet (peace be upon him) then ordered him to give it in charity, since its owner was unknown.

وَأَمَّا خَبَرُ حَكِيمٍ فَإِنَّهُ تَعَدَّى فِي بَيْعِ الشَّاةِ فَلَزِمَهُ ضَمَانُهَا، فَابْتَاعَهَا بِدِينَارٍ كَمَا أَمَرَ وَفَضَلَ دِينَارٌ، فَأَمَرَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بِالصَّدَقَةِ إذْ لَمْ يُعْرَفْ صَاحِبُهُ.

L23031 Abu Muhammad said: Then we ask them about one who sold the property

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: ثُمَّ نَسْأَلُهُمْ عَمَّنْ بَاعَ مَالَ غَيْرِهِ فَنَقُولُ -:

of another, so we say -:

L23032 Inform us whether, by that contract, the buyer acquires ownership of what he purchased and the owner of the sold item acquires ownership of the price, or not? It must necessarily be one of the two. If they say: No—and this is the truth, which is our position—then it is absurd that a contract would be invalid at its conclusion and later become valid after its stipulated time, unless this is commanded by the One who is not questioned about His actions. Thus we hear and obey Allah the Exalted. As for one who is questioned about his actions, such a claim is fundamentally unacceptable from him, since Allah the Exalted has not mandated the acceptance of this [contract] from him.

أَخْبِرُونَا هَلْ مَلَكَ الْمُشْتَرِي مَا اشْتَرَى وَمَلَكَ صَاحِبُ الشَّيْءِ الْمَبِيعِ الثَّمَنَ بِذَلِكَ الْعَقْدِ أَمْ لَا؟ وَلَا بُدَّ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا؟ فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَا، وَهُوَ الْحَقُّ، وَهُوَ قَوْلُنَا، فَمِنْ الْبَاطِلِ أَنْ لَا يَصِحَّ عَقْدٌ حِينَ عَقْدِهِ ثُمَّ يَصِحُّ فِي غَيْرِ حِينِ عَقْدِهِ، إلَّا أَنْ يَأْمُرَ بِذَلِكَ الَّذِي لَا يُسْأَلُ عَمَّا يَفْعَلُ، فَنَسْمَعُ وَنُطِيعُ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى وَأَمَّا مَنْ يُسْأَلُ عَمَّا يَفْعَلُ فَلَا يُقْبَلُ مِنْهُ مِثْلُ هَذَا أَصْلًا إذْ لَمْ يُوجِبْ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى قَبُولَهُ مِنْهُ.

L23033–23034 If they say: "The buyer has acquired ownership of what he purchased, and the owner of the sold item has acquired ownership of the price?" We respond: "On what basis have you decreed for him the nullification of a contract that was validly concluded without any Quran or Sunnah being cited for it? This is unlawful, as it amounts to arbitrary judgment in the religion of Allah Almighty."

وَإِنْ قَالُوا: قَدْ مَلَكَ الْمُشْتَرِي مَا اشْتَرَى، وَمَلَكَ الَّذِي لَهُ الشَّيْءُ الْمَبِيعُ الثَّمَنَ؟ قُلْنَا: فَمِنْ أَيْنَ جَعَلْتُمْ لَهُ إبْطَالَ عَقْدٍ قَدْ صَحَّ بِغَيْرِ أَنْ يَأْتِيَ بِذَلِكَ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ؟ وَهَذَا لَا يَحِلُّ؛ لِأَنَّهُ تَحَكُّمٌ فِي دِينِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى.

L23035 Our position in this matter is the opinion of Ahmad ibn Hanbal - it has been narrated to us from him that if someone's house is sold while he remains silent, such a sale is invalid until he consents, orders, or permits the sale of his house. This is also the view of Abu Sulayman, all our juridical companions, and the opinion of al-Shafi'i, except that a disagreement is reported from him regarding one whose property was sold and he became aware of it? It is narrated from him that the sale is void and necessarily so, while another narration states he may ratify it if he wishes. There is no disagreement reported from him that silence does not constitute consent in any form.

وَقَوْلُنَا فِي هَذَا هُوَ قَوْلُ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ، رُوِّينَا عَنْهُ: أَنَّ مَنْ بِيعَتْ دَارُهُ وَهُوَ سَاكِتٌ فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ لَا يَجُوزُ حَتَّى يَرْضَى أَوْ يَأْمُرَ أَوْ يَأْذَنَ فِي بَيْعِ دَارِهِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَجَمِيعِ أَصْحَابِنَا، وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، إلَّا أَنَّهُ اخْتَلَفَ عَنْهُ فِيمَنْ بِيعَ مَالُهُ فَعَلِمَ بِذَلِكَ؟ فَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ أَنَّهُ بَاطِلٌ وَلَا بُدَّ وَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ أَنَّ لَهُ أَنْ يُجِيزَ ذَلِكَ إنْ شَاءَ، وَلَمْ يَخْتَلِفْ عَنْهُ فِي أَنَّ السُّكُوتَ لَيْسَ رِضًا أَصْلًا.

L23036 As for Abū Ḥanīfah, silence does not constitute an admission in his view except in five cases:

وَأَمَّا أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: فَإِنَّ السُّكُوتَ عِنْدَهُ لَا يَكُونُ إقْرَارًا إلَّا فِي خَمْسَةِ مَوَاضِعَ -:

L23037 One of them: Whoever sees his slave buying and selling in the manner of an authorized agent in trade and remains silent; the slave indeed becomes authorized through that silence.

أَحَدُهَا: مَنْ رَأَى عَبْدَهُ يَبِيعُ وَيَشْتَرِي كَمَا يَفْعَلُ الْمَأْذُونُ لَهُ فِي التِّجَارَةِ فَيَسْكُتُ، فَإِنَّ الْعَبْدَ يَصِيرُ بِذَلِكَ مَأْذُونًا لَهُ.

L23038 The right of pre-emption: If the pre-emptor becomes aware of it and remains silent without testifying that he is a claimant to it, his silence amounts to a waiver of his right to pursue the claim.

وَالشُّفْعَةُ: يَعْلَمُهَا الشَّفِيعُ فَيَسْكُتُ وَلَا يَشْهَدُ عَلَى أَنَّهُ طَالِبٌ لَهَا، فَسُكُوتُهُ إِسْقَاطٌ لِحَقِّهِ فِي الطَّلَبِ.

L23039 A person is sold while present and aware of the transaction. Then he is told: "Stand up with your master," so he stands. This constitutes his confession of enslavement, even if he did not verbally state it.

وَالْإِنْسَانُ يُبَاعُ وَهُوَ حَاضِرٌ عَالِمٌ بِذَلِكَ، ثُمَّ يُقَالُ لَهُ: قُمْ مَعَ مَوْلَاكَ فَيَقُومُ، فَهَذَا إِقْرَارٌ مِنْهُ بِالرِّقِّ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَتَكَلَّمْ بِهِ.

L23040 If a seller sells an item for an immediate price and the buyer takes possession of it while the seller remains silent, this constitutes permission from him for the possession—and the virgin woman in marriage.

وَالْبَائِعُ لِلشَّيْءِ بِثَمَنٍ حَالٍّ فَيَقْبِضُهُ الْمُشْتَرِي وَالْبَائِعُ سَاكِتٌ، فَهَذَا إِذْنٌ مِنْهُ فِي الْقَبْضِ - وَالْبِكْرُ فِي النِّكَاحِ.

L23041 Abu Muhammad said: These four are aspects: falsehood, muddled reasoning, a claim without proof—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor the opinion of predecessors, nor analogy, nor sound reasoning that differentiates between them and others. Whatever is thus, it is impermissible to uphold such a view.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذِهِ الْأَرْبَعَةُ وُجُوهٍ: بَاطِلٌ، وَتَخْلِيطٌ، وَدَعْوَى بِلَا دَلِيلٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا قَوْلِ مُتَقَدِّمٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا رَأْيٍ سَدِيدٍ يُفَرِّقُ بَيْنَهَا وَبَيْنَ غَيْرِهَا، وَمَا كَانَ هَكَذَا فَإِنَّ الْقَوْلَ لَا يَحِلُّ بِهِ.

L23042 As for Mālik, he said, "Whoever saw his property being sold and remained silent, the sale has become binding upon him - whether the sold item was a slave woman, a slave, or anything else."

وَأَمَّا مَالِكٌ: فَإِنَّهُ قَالَ: " مَنْ رَأَى مَالَهُ يُبَاعُ فَسَكَتَ فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ الْبَيْعُ - أَمَةً كَانَتْ الْمَبِيعَةُ أَوْ عَبْدًا أَوْ غَيْرَ ذَلِكَ -

L23043 If someone's property is usurped and the usurper dies, and the owner witnesses his property being divided and remains silent, his right to it is invalidated.

L23044 Whoever remains silent when a debt is claimed against them is thereby liable for what has been claimed against them.

وَمَنْ أُدُّعِيَ عَلَيْهِ بِدَيْنٍ فَسَكَتَ، فَقَدْ لَزِمَهُ مَا أُدُّعِيَ بِهِ عَلَيْهِ.

L23045–23046 He did not consider silence from demanding the debt—even if he sees [the obligated party] taking an oath—as annulling his right to claim it. Nor did he view silence from demanding the right of pre-emption as consent to waive it unless a full year had passed. Thus, his silence after the year constitutes consent to waive it in his view.

وَلَمْ يَرَ السُّكُوتَ عَنْ طَلَبِ الدَّيْنِ - وَإِنْ رَآهُ يُقْسِمُ - مُسْقِطًا لِحَقِّهِ فِي الطَّلَبِ - وَلَا رَأَى السُّكُوتَ عَنْ طَلَبِ الشُّفْعَةِ رِضًا بِإِسْقَاطِهَا إِلَّا حَتَّى تَمْضِيَ لَهُ سَنَةٌ، فَسُكُوتُهُ بَعْدَ السَّنَةِ رِضًا بِإِسْقَاطِهَا عِنْدَهُ.

L23047–23049 He did not consider the silence of a man whose wife attempts to contract a marriage with another in his presence as constituting a divorce, nor that she is thereby irrevocably separated from him - and this... Contradictions for which there is no evidence to validate any of them—neither from a textual source, nor from the statement of any predecessor, nor from a weak narration, nor from analogy, nor from an opinion possessing a sound basis.

وَلَمْ يَرَ سُكُوتَ مَنْ تَتَزَوَّجُ امْرَأَتُهُ بِحَضْرَتِهِ طَلَاقًا وَلَا أَنَّهَا بَانَتْ عَنْهُ بِذَلِكَ - وَهَذِهِ مُنَاقَضَاتٌ لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّةِ شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا، لَا مِنْ نَصٍّ، وَلَا مِنْ قَوْلِ أَحَدٍ تَقَدَّمَهُ، وَلَا مِنْ رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ.

L23050 The most astonishing aspect is that he deemed the silence of the virgin who has remained unmarried past the marriageable age as consent to marriage only if she explicitly voiced her agreement—and this openly contradicts the Text.

وَأَعْجَبُ ذَلِكَ: أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَرَ سُكُوتَ الْبِكْرِ الْعَانِسِ رِضًا بِالنِّكَاحِ إِلَّا حِينَ تَنْطِقُ بِالرِّضَا - وَهَذَا خِلَافُ النَّصِّ جِهَارًا.

L23051 According to those who hold the opinion that if a person's house is built and demolished, and a stranger manages it while he remains silent for ten years, the predominant view is that it has thereby exited his ownership. If he remained silent for less than seven years, they held that it has not exited his ownership. There are conflicting reports from him regarding his silence for seven, eight, or nine years, and it was narrated from him that all such periods terminate his right.

وَرَأَى عَلَى مَنْ رَأَى دَارِهِ تُبْنَى وَتُهْدَمُ وَيَتَصَرَّفُ فِيهَا أَجْنَبِيٌّ فَسَكَتَ عَشْرَ سِنِينَ فَأَكْثَرَ أَنَّهَا قَدْ خَرَجَتْ عَنْ مِلْكِهِ بِذَلِكَ - وَإِنْ سَكَتَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ أَقَلَّ مِنْ سَبْعِ سِنِينَ أَنَّهَا لَمْ تَخْرُجْ عَنْ مِلْكِهِ بِذَلِكَ - وَاخْتُلِفَ عَنْهُ فِي سُكُوتِهِ سَبْعَ سِنِينَ، أَوْ ثَمَانِي سِنِينَ، أَوْ تِسْعَ سِنِينَ، فَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ أَنَّ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ قَطْعٌ لِحَقِّهِ -.

L23052 It has been reported from him that this does not constitute annulment of his right, nor did he consider a person's silence regarding that matter for some of his relatives to annul his right except after seventy years had passed.

وَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ ذَلِكَ قَطْعًا لِحَقِّهِ " وَلَمْ يَرَ سُكُوتَ، الْمَرْءِ عَنْ ذَلِكَ لِبَعْضِ أَقَارِبِهِ قَطْعًا لِحَقِّهِ إِلَّا بَعْدَ سَبْعِينَ سَنَةً -

L23053 And these are statements, as you see—we seek refuge with Allah from them—for they involve the reckless legalization of forbidden wealth. And with Allah alone is success, the Most High.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ لَا يَدْرِي بَائِعُهُ مَا هُوَ]

A juristic question: The sale of an item whose seller does not know what it is.

L23055 1463 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell something whose seller does not know what it is even if the buyer knows it, nor something whose buyer does not know what it is even if the seller knows it, nor something unknown to both parties.

١٤٦٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ لَا يَدْرِي بَائِعُهُ مَا هُوَ وَإِنْ دَرَاهُ الْمُشْتَرِي، وَلَا مَا لَا يَدْرِي الْمُشْتَرِي مَا هُوَ وَإِنْ دَرَاهُ الْبَائِعُ، وَلَا مَا جَهِلَاهُ جَمِيعًا.

L23056–23058 The sale is not valid unless the seller and the buyer know what the item is and both see it together, or it is described to them from the description and knowledge of someone who has seen it. For example, if someone purchases a lump they assume to be tin but find it to be silver, or a gemstone they are unsure whether it is glass or a ruby, and then discover it to be a ruby, an emerald, or glass—and similarly for all things—whether they find it to be of higher value, lower value, the same type as assumed, or a different type altogether, all such transactions are invalid and irrevocably annulled, not—It is permissible for both of them to correct it after they become aware of it, except by initiating a contract with their mutual consent; otherwise, it is not permissible. The one who took possession of it is liable for it under the liability of usurpation.

وَلَا يَجُوزُ الْبَيْعُ إِلَّا حَتَّى يَعْلَمَ الْبَائِعُ وَالْمُشْتَرِي مَا هُوَ، وَيَرَيَاهُ جَمِيعًا، أَوْ يُوصَفُ لَهُمَا عَنْ صِفَةِ مَنْ رَآهُ وَعِلْمِهِ كَمَنْ اشْتَرَى زُبْرَةً يَظُنُّهَا قَزْدِيرًا فَوَجَدَهَا فِضَّةً، أَوْ فَصًّا لَا يَدْرِي أَزُجَاجٌ هُوَ أَمْ يَاقُوتٌ؟ فَوَجَدَهُ يَاقُوتًا أَمْ زُمُرُّدًا أَوْ زُجَاجًا - وَهَكَذَا فِي كُلِّ شَيْءٍ - وَسَوَاءٌ وَجَدَهُ أَعْلَى مِمَّا ظَنَّ أَوْ أَدْنَى، أَوْ الَّذِي ظَنَّ -: كُلُّ ذَلِكَ بَاطِلٌ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا، لَا يَجُوزُ لَهُمَا تَصْحِيحُهُ بَعْدَ عِلْمِهِمَا بِهِ إِلَّا بِابْتِدَاءِ عَقْدِ رِضَاهُمَا مَعًا، وَإِلَّا فَلَا - وَهُوَ مَضْمُونٌ عَلَى مَنْ قَبَضَهُ ضَمَانَ الْغَصْبِ.

L23059 بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] وَلَا يُمْكِنُ بِبَدِيهَةِ الْعَقْلِ، وَضَرُورَةِ الْحِسِّ رِضًا بِمَا لَا يَعْرِفُ وَلَا يَكُونُ الرِّضَا إِلَّا بِمَعْلُومِ الْمَاهِيَّةِ وَلَا شَكَّ فِي أَنَّهُ إنْ قَالَ: رَضِيت: أَنَّهُ قَدْ لَا يَرْضَى إذَا عَلِمَ مَا هُوَ - وَإِنْ كَانَ دَيِّنًا جِدًّا - وَقَدْ سَمَّى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مَا لَمْ يَكُنْ عَنْ تَرَاضٍ أَكْلَ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L23059 The evidence for this is—Allah the Exalted's statement: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully unless it be a trade arising from mutual consent" [An-Nisā' 4:29]. By the self-evident nature of reason and the necessity of innate perception, consent cannot exist regarding something unknown. Consent only occurs regarding something whose essence is known. Undoubtedly, if one says "I consent," they might not consent when they learn what it truly is—even if they are very devout. Allah the Exalted has designated anything not arising from mutual consent as wrongful consumption of wealth.[5] وَأَيْضًا: فَهُوَ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَدْرِي مَا ابْتَاعَ وَلَا مَا بَاعَ، وَقَدْ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ» ، وَهَذَا أَعْظَمُ الْغَرَرِ - وَهَذَا قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا عَنْ مَالِكٍ إجَازَةَ هَذَا الْبَيْعِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلٌ لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّتِهِ أَصْلًا.

L23060 Moreover, it is a sale of gharar because he does not know what he has bought nor what he has sold. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited the sale of gharar, and this constitutes the greatest form of gharar. This is the opinion of Al-Shāfiʿī and Abū Sulaymān. We have previously cited Mālik's allowance of this sale, but this is an opinion for which there exists absolutely no evidence supporting its validity.[6]

وَمِنْ عَجَائِبِ الدُّنْيَا إجَازَتُهُ هَذَا الْبَيْعَ الْفَاسِدَ، وَمَنْعَهُ مِنْ بَيْعِ صُبْرَةٍ مَرْئِيَّةٍ مُحَاطٍ بِهَا عَلِمَ الْبَائِعُ مَكِيلَتَهَا وَلَمْ يَعْلَمْ الْمُشْتَرِي مَكِيلَتَهَا وَهَذَا عَجَبٌ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23061 Among the wonders of the world is the jurist's permission of this invalid sale and his prohibition of selling a visible, delimited heap where the seller knew its measurement but the buyer did not—an astonishing anomaly without parallel. With Allah, the Exalted, lies all success.

A legal question regarding the sale of an item for more than its actual worth.

Issue 1464: It is impermissible to sell anything for more or less than its equivalent value if the seller or buyer stipulates exoneration from liability, except with both the seller and buyer jointly knowing the extent of unfair pricing in that transaction and mutually consenting to it. If one party stipulates exoneration and the sale is concluded as described, and they do not know the extent of unfair pricing - or if the party not subjected to unfair pricing knows it while the aggrieved party does not - then the sale is invalid, rescinded, permanently annulled, and the recipient is liable as one who unlawfully seizes property. They may not retroactively validate it except through initiating a new contract.

١٤٦٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ بِأَكْثَرَ مِمَّا يُسَاوِي وَلَا بِأَقَلَّ مِمَّا يُسَاوِي إذَا اشْتَرَطَ الْبَائِعُ أَوْ الْمُشْتَرِي السَّلَامَةَ إلَّا بِمَعْرِفَةِ الْبَائِعِ وَالْمُشْتَرِي مَعًا بِمِقْدَارِ الْغَبْنِ فِي ذَلِكَ وَرِضَاهُمَا بِهِ، فَإِنْ اشْتَرَطَ أَحَدُهُمَا السَّلَامَةَ وَوَقَعَ الْبَيْعُ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا، وَلَمْ يَعْلَمَا قَدْرَ الْغَبْنِ، أَوْ عَلِمَهُ، غَيْرُ الْمَغْبُونِ مِنْهُمَا وَلَمْ يَعْلَمْهُ الْمَغْبُونُ: فَهُوَ بَيْعٌ بَاطِلٌ، مَرْدُودٌ، مَفْسُوخٌ، أَبَدًا، مَضْمُونٌ عَلَى مَنْ قَبَضَهُ ضَمَانَ الْغَصْبِ وَلَيْسَ لَهُمَا إجَازَتُهُ إلَّا بِابْتِدَاءِ عَقْدٍ.

If they did not stipulate exemption from defects, nor did either of them do so, and a defect is subsequently found affecting one of them without prior knowledge, the defrauded party may enforce the sale or rescind it. If the sold item is lost, the defrauded party may recover from them the extent of the defect. This is the opinion of Abū Thawr. As for our companions, they said: Mutual consent to the detriment is not permissible at all.

فَإِنْ لَمْ يَشْتَرِطَا السَّلَامَةَ وَلَا أَحَدُهُمَا، ثُمَّ وُجِدَ غَبْنٌ عَلَى أَحَدِهِمَا وَلَمْ يَكُنْ عَلِمَ بِهِ، فَلِلْمَغْبُونِ إنْفَاذُ الْبَيْعِ أَوْ رَدُّهُ، فَإِنْ فَاتَ الشَّيْءُ الْمَبِيعُ رَجَعَ الْمَغْبُونُ مِنْهُمَا بِقَدْرِ الْغَبْنِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي ثَوْرٍ، وَقَوْلُ أَصْحَابِنَا إلَّا أَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: لَا يَجُوزُ رِضَاهُمَا بِالْغَبْنِ أَصْلًا.

Abū Ḥanīfah and Mālik said.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٌ.

Al-Shafi'i holds that neither the seller nor the buyer may rescind the sale due to price exploitation (ghabn), whether the disparity is large or small.

وَالشَّافِعِيُّ: لَا رُجُوعَ لِلْبَائِعِ وَلَا لِلْمُشْتَرِي بِالْغَبْنِ فِي الْبَيْعِ - كَثُرَ أَوْ قَلَّ.

Ibn al-Qaṣṣār reported from Mālik that if a sale involves fraudulent overpricing by one-third, it must be revoked.

وَذَكَرَ ابْنُ الْقَصَّارِ عَنْ مَالِكٍ: أَنَّ الْبَيْعَ إذَا كَانَ فِيهِ الْغَبْنُ مِقْدَارَ الثُّلُثِ فَإِنَّهُ يُرَدُّ.

The proof for the validity of our statement is the statement of Allah, the Exalted: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, unless it be a trade by mutual consent among yourselves." [Surah An-Nisa 4:29][7]

بُرْهَانُ صِحَّةِ قَوْلِنَا -: قَوْلُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] .

Mutual consent is absolutely never valid unless the quantity is specified. There is no doubt that whoever is unaware of the exploitation and its extent cannot have consented to it. Thus, it is jurisprudentially established that such a sale constitutes wrongfully devouring wealth through falsehood. Allah's words, "They seek to deceive Allah and the believers, yet they deceive none but themselves" [Al-Baqarah: 9]. Thus, the Almighty, glorified and exalted, has prohibited fraudulent deception.[8]

وَلَا يَكُونُ التَّرَاضِي أَلْبَتَّةَ إِلَّا عَلَى مَعْلُومِ الْقَدْرِ، وَلَا شَكَّ فِي أَنَّ مَنْ لَمْ يَعْلَمْ بِالْغَبْنِ وَلَا بِقَدْرِهِ فَلَمْ يَرْضَ بِهِ - فَصَحَّ أَنَّ الْبَيْعَ بِذَلِكَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ. وقَوْله تَعَالَى {يُخَادِعُونَ اللَّهَ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا وَمَا يَخْدَعُونَ إِلا أَنْفُسَهُمْ} [البقرة: ٩] فَحَرَّمَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ الْخَدِيعَةَ.

L23071 None should doubt that a person selling something for more than its worth to someone unaware of that is deception against the buyer, and that a person selling something for less than its worth while unaware of that is deception against the seller. Deception is forbidden and invalid.

وَلَا يَمْتَرِي أَحَدٌ فِي أَنَّ بَيْعَ الْمَرْءِ بِأَكْثَرَ مَا يُسَاوِي مَا بَاعَ مِمَّنْ لَا يَدْرِي ذَلِكَ: خَدِيعَةٌ لِلْمُشْتَرِي، وَأَنَّ بَيْعَ الْمَرْءِ بِأَقَلَّ مِمَّا يُسَاوِي مَا بَاعَ، وَهُوَ لَا يَدْرِي ذَلِكَ: خَدِيعَةٌ لِلْبَائِعِ، وَالْخَدِيعَةُ حَرَامٌ لَا تَصِحُّ.

L23072 It has been narrated to us from Abu Dawud, from Ahmad ibn Hanbal, from Sufyan ibn Uyaynah, from al-Ala ibn Abd al-Rahman, from his father, from Abu Hurayrah: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) passed by a man selling food and asked, "How do you sell?" When the man responded, Allah the Exalted inspired him [the Prophet] to put his hand into it. He inserted his hand and found it adulterated with moisture. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) then said, "Whoever deceives is not of us."

وَمَا رُوِّينَا عَنْ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ حَنْبَلٍ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ الْعَلَاءِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مَرَّ بِرَجُلٍ يَبِيعُ طَعَامًا فَسَأَلَهُ كَيْفَ تَبِيعُ؟ فَأَخْبَرَهُ، فَأَوْحَى اللَّهُ تَعَالَى إلَيْهِ أَنْ أَدْخِلْ يَدَكَ فِيهِ، فَأَدْخَلَ يَدَهُ فِيهِ فَإِذَا هُوَ مَبْلُولٌ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَيْسَ مِنَّا مَنْ غَشَّ» .

L23073 He (peace be upon him) said: "Indeed, your blood and your wealth are inviolable for you."

وَقَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «إنَّ دِمَاءَكُمْ وَأَمْوَالَكُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ حَرَامٌ» .

L23074 From the chain of Abd al-Rahman ibn Mahdi, from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Suhayl ibn Abi Salih, from Ata ibn Yazid al-Laythi, from Tamim al-Dari, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Religion is sincere counsel, religion is sincere counsel, religion is sincere counsel." We asked: "To whom, O Messenger of Allah?" He replied: "To Allah, to His Messenger, to His Book, to the Imams, and to the collective body of Muslims."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ مَهْدِيٍّ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ سُهَيْلِ بْنِ أَبِي صَالِحٍ عَنْ عَطَاءِ بْنِ يَزِيدَ اللَّيْثِيِّ عَنْ تَمِيمٍ الدَّارِيِّ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الدِّينُ النَّصِيحَةُ، الدِّينُ النَّصِيحَةُ، الدِّينُ النَّصِيحَةُ؟ قُلْنَا: لِمَنْ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ قَالَ: لِلَّهِ وَلِرَسُولِهِ، وَلِكِتَابِهِ، وَلِلْأَئِمَّةِ، وَلِجَمَاعَةِ الْمُسْلِمِينَ» .

L23075–23076 The Prophet's prohibition—peace and blessings be upon him—against bid rigging in sales constitutes conclusive proof for our position here, for through this he prohibited deception and trickery in sales altogether. Undoubtedly, all people know that whoever charges another more than the item's fair value in what he sells to him without the buyer's knowledge or consent, or pays another less than its fair value in what he buys from him without the seller's knowledge or consent, has deceived him and failed to offer him sincere counsel. And whoever deceives and fails to counsel sincerely has indeed committed a forbidden act.

«وَنَهْيُ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ النَّجْشِ فِي الْبَيْعِ» : بُرْهَانٌ صَحِيحٌ عَلَى قَوْلِنَا هَهُنَا؛ لِأَنَّهُ نَهَى بِذَلِكَ عَنْ الْغُرُورِ - وَالْخَدِيعَةِ فِي الْبَيْعِ جُمْلَةً، بِلَا شَكٍّ يَدْرِي النَّاسُ

[8] Qur'an references (L23070): Qur'an 2:9 (Al-Baqarah).

كُلُّهُمْ: أَنَّ مَنْ أَخَذَ مِنْ آخَرَ فِيمَا يَبِيعُ مِنْهُ أَكْثَرَ مِمَّا يُسَاوِي بِغَيْرِ عِلْمِ الْمُشْتَرِي وَلَا رِضَاهُ، وَمَنْ أَعْطَاهُ آخَرُ فِيمَا يَشْتَرِي مِنْهُ أَقَلَّ مِمَّا يُسَاوِي بِغَيْرِ عِلْمِ الْبَائِعِ وَلَا رِضَاهُ فَقَدْ غَشَّهُ وَلَمْ يَنْصَحْهُ، وَمَنْ غَشَّ وَلَمْ يَنْصَحْ فَقَدْ أَتَى حَرَامًا.

L23077 The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: "Whoever does a deed that is not in accordance with our command, it is rejected."[9]

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنْ عَمِلَ عَمَلًا لَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ أَمْرُنَا فَهُوَ رَدٌّ» .

L23078 It has been established that this transaction is invalid and must be revoked by the explicit ruling of the Prophet—peace be upon him. This aligns with the position of the early scholars, as narrated through the chain of Hammād ibn Zayd: from Ayyūb and Hishām—who is Ibn Ḥassān—all of whom reported from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn: A man arrived in Medina with slave girls and stayed with Ibn ʿUmar. He mentioned the ḥadīth, which states that the man sold a slave girl to Ibn Jaʿfar. Later, the man came to Ibn ʿUmar and said: "O Abū ʿAbd al-Raḥmān, I was defrauded in the price by seven hundred dirhams." Ibn ʿUmar then approached ʿAbd Allāh ibn Jaʿfar and said: "He suffered exploitation in the price amounting to seven hundred dirhams. You must either compensate him this amount or revoke the sale." Ibn Jaʿfar responded: "Rather, we shall compensate him." This demonstrates that Ibn Jaʿfar and Ibn ʿUmar both upheld voiding the sale due to exploitation in pricing.

فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ بَاطِلٌ مَرْدُودٌ بِنَصِّ أَمْرِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، وَهُوَ قَوْلُ السَّلَفِ -: كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ أَنَا أَيُّوبُ، وَهِشَامٌ - هُوَ ابْنُ حَسَّانٍ - كُلُّهُمْ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ: أَنَّ رَجُلًا قَدِمَ الْمَدِينَةَ بِجَوَارٍ فَنَزَلَ عَلَى ابْنِ عُمَرَ فَذَكَرَ الْحَدِيثَ - وَفِيهِ أَنَّهُ بَاعَ جَارِيَةً مِنْ ابْنِ جَعْفَرٍ، ثُمَّ جَاءَ الرَّجُلُ إلَى ابْنِ عُمَرَ فَقَالَ: يَا أَبَا عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ غُبِنْت بِسَبْعمِائَةِ دِرْهَمٍ، فَأَتَى ابْنُ عُمَرَ إلَى عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ جَعْفَرٍ فَقَالَ: إنَّهُ غُبِنَ بِسَبْعمِائَةِ دِرْهَمٍ فَإِمَّا أَنْ تُعْطِيَهَا إيَّاهُ وَإِمَّا أَنْ تَرُدَّ عَلَيْهِ بَيْعَهُ؟ فَقَالَ ابْنُ جَعْفَرٍ: بَلْ نُعْطِيهَا إيَّاهُ - فَهَذَا ابْنُ جَعْفَرٍ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ: قَدْ رَأَيَا رَدَّ الْبَيْعِ مِنْ الْغَبْنِ فِي الْقِيمَةِ.

L23079 From the path of Abd al-Razzaq: Ma'mar narrated to us from Yunus ibn Ubayd from a man from Jarir ibn Abdullah al-Bajali: That he bargained with a man over a horse. The man offered him five hundred dirhams, repeating: "If you accept this?" Jarir replied: "Your horse is worth more than that. For you is six hundred," then increased it until the offer reached six hundred, then continued increasing until it reached eight hundred dirhams, while the man persisted each time: "If you accept this?" Jarir finally said: "Your horse is worth more than that, and I will not increase my offer." The man told him: "Take it!" Someone asked Jarir: "What prevented you from taking it for five L23082 Through the narration of Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah: Bishr ibn 'Āṣim al-Thaqafī reported: I heard Sa'īd ibn al-Musayyib narrate from Ubayy ibn Ka'b that 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb and al-'Abbās ibn 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib brought their dispute to him concerning a house owned by al-'Abbās adjacent to the mosque. 'Umar sought to acquire it to expand the mosque, but al-'Abbās refused. Ubayy ibn Ka'b said to them: "When Sulaymān commanded the construction of Bayt al-Maqdis, its land belonged to a man. Sulaymān purchased it from him. After completing the purchase, the man asked: 'Is what you have taken from me better, or what you have given me?' Sulaymān replied: 'No, what I took from you?' The man said: 'Then I do not ratify the sale.' Sulaymān therefore revoked it. He increased the offer, then asked him again, and the man informed him [of his refusal]. But he persisted in rejecting it"—and he [the narrator] recounted the ḥadīth.

L23083 Here, Ubayy presents this matter as a legal ruling in the presence of Umar ibn al-Khattab and Al-Abbas—may Allah be pleased with them—and they correct his statement. Thus, these individuals—Umar, his son, Al-Abbas, Abdullah ibn Ja'far, Ubayy, and Jarīr—with no dissenting opinion among the Companions, may Allah be pleased with them, hold the view that invalidating the sale is warranted due to deception in the reduction of the price relative to the market value of the sold item.

فَهَذَا أُبَيٌّ يُورِدُ هَذَا عَلَى سَبِيلِ الْحُكْمِ بِهِ بِحَضْرَةِ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ، وَالْعَبَّاسِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - فَيُصَوِّبَانِ قَوْلَهُ - فَهَؤُلَاءِ عُمَرُ، وَابْنُهُ، وَالْعَبَّاسُ، وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ، وَأُبَيٌّ، وَجَرِيرٌ، وَلَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُمْ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -: يَرَوْنَ رَدَّ الْبَيْعِ مِنْ الْخَدِيعَةِ فِي نُقْصَانِ الثَّمَنِ عَنْ قِيمَةِ الْمَبِيعِ.

L23084 And through the chain of transmission of Wakīʿ from Isrāʾīl from Jābir from al-Qāsim ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān: he rescinded the sale due to a mistake, but al-Shaʿbī did not rescind it and said: "The sale is a form of bargaining."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ إسْرَائِيلَ عَنْ جَابِرٍ عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ أَنَّهُ رَدَّ الْبَيْعَ مِنْ الْغَلَطِ، وَلَمْ يَرُدَّهُ الشَّعْبِيُّ وَقَالَ: الْبَيْعُ خُدْعَةٌ.

L23085 Abu Muhammad said: The height of astonishment lies in the statements of our present opponents. They annul a sale on account of a defect that reduces the price when discovered, deeming it deceitful in their view. Yet they permit a sale even though the gravest deceit has occurred in it, and [the seller] takes from the buyer more than the item's actual value. This is utterly baffling and a crude contradiction.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَالْعَجَبُ كُلُّهُ مِنْ أَقْوَالِ الْحَاضِرِينَ مِنْ خُصُومِنَا فَإِنَّهُمْ يَرُدُّونَ الْبَيْعَ مِنْ الْعَيْبِ يَحُطُّ مِنْ الثَّمَنِ يُوجَدُ فِيهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ عِنْدَهُمْ غِشٌّ، ثُمَّ يُجِيزُونَ الْبَيْعَ وَقَدْ غَشَّ فِيهِ بِأَعْظَمِ الْغِشِّ، وَأَخَذَ فِيهِ مِنْهُ، أَكْثَرَ مِنْ ثَمَنِهِ، هَذَا عَجَبٌ جِدًّا وَتَنَاقُضٌ سَمْجٌ.

L23086 Another wonder: They allow annulling the sale due to a defect found in the item, even if the buyer acquired it at its explicitly determined price, yet they do not permit annulling the sale when the seller suffers gross undervaluation. We do not comprehend from where did this concern for the buyer arise, and this animosity toward the seller. Is this not an unparalleled wonder?

وَعَجَبٌ آخَرُ: وَهُوَ أَنَّهُمْ يَرُدُّونَ الْبَيْعَ مِنْ الْعَيْبِ يُوجَدُ فِيهِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ قَدْ أَخَذَهُ الْمُشْتَرِي بِقِيمَتِهِ مُعَيَّنًا، وَلَا يَرُدُّونَ الْبَيْعَ إذَا غُبِنَ الْبَائِعُ فِيهِ الْغَبْنَ الْعَظِيمَ، فَلَا نَدْرِي مِنْ أَيْنَ وَقَعَ لَهُمْ هَذِهِ الْعِنَايَةُ بِالْمُشْتَرِي؟ وَهَذَا الْحَنَقُ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ، إنَّ هَذَا لَعَجَبٌ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهُ؟

L23087–23089 A third point of astonishment: They—we refer to the Mālikīs and Shāfiʿīs—impose restrictions on those who practice deception in sales to the point of preventing them from manumitting slaves, giving charity, or engaging in valid sales that involve no fraudulent loss, and they invalidate all such acts. Yet they simultaneously enforce those sales transactions involving fraudulent loss without invalidating them. Truly, if... Those sales in which he was deceived were indeed valid and permissible. For what reason did they impose restrictions on him because of them when they are valid and sound?

وَعَجَبٌ ثَالِثٌ: وَهُوَ أَنَّهُمْ - نَعْنِي الْمَالِكِيِّينَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّينَ - يَحْجُرُونَ عَلَى الَّذِي يَخْدَعُ فِي الْبُيُوعِ حَتَّى يَمْنَعُوهُ مِنْ الْعِتْقِ، وَالصَّدَقَةِ، وَمِنْ الْبَيْعِ الصَّحِيحِ الَّذِي لَا غَبْنَ فِيهِ وَيَرُدُّونَ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ، وَهُمْ يُنَفِّذُونَ مَعَ ذَلِكَ تِلْكَ الْبُيُوعَ الَّتِي غُبِنَ فِيهَا وَلَا يَرُدُّونَهَا، فَلَئِنْ كَانَتْ تِلْكَ الْبُيُوعُ الَّتِي خُدِعَ فِيهَا حَقًّا وَجَائِزَةً فَلِأَيِّ مَعْنًى حَجَرُوا عَلَيْهِ مِنْ أَجْلِهَا وَهِيَ حَقٌّ وَصَحِيحَةٌ؟

L23090 And if those sales in which deception occurred are null and void and impermissible, then for what reason do they permit them? Indeed, these are shameful calamities, crude confusion, and sheer opposition to all that the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—ruled. For it was mentioned to him that someone was being rescued and that he was being deceived in sales, yet he did not impose a restriction on him. Rather, he commanded him to say, "No fraud!" at the time of sale and granted him a three-day right of option to ratify or revoke the sale. Thus, he—peace be upon him—nullified fraud but upheld his sound sales and those he chose to finalize after becoming aware of them, and did not prohibit it—this is contrary to all they rule. Sufficient for us is Allah, and what an excellent Trustee He is!

وَلَئِنْ كَانَتْ تِلْكَ الْبُيُوعُ الَّتِي خُدِعَ فِيهَا بَاطِلًا وَغَيْرَ جَائِزَةٍ فَلِأَيِّ مَعْنًى يُجِيزُونَهَا، إنَّ هَذِهِ لَطَوَامُّ فَاحِشَةٌ، وَتَخْلِيطٌ سَمْجٌ، وَخِلَافٌ مُجَرَّدٌ لِكُلِّ مَا حَكَمَ بِهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَإِنَّهُ ذُكِرَ لَهُ مُنْقِذٌ، وَأَنَّهُ يُخْدَعُ فِي الْبُيُوعِ فَلَمْ يَحْجُرْ عَلَيْهِ، لَكِنْ أَمَرَهُ أَنْ يَقُولَ: " لَا خِلَابَةَ " عِنْدَ الْبَيْعِ، وَجَعَلَ لَهُ الْخِيَارَ ثَلَاثًا فِي إنْفَاذِ الْبَيْعِ أَوْ رَدِّهِ، فَأَبْطَلَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: " الْخِلَابَةَ " وَأَنْفَذَ بُيُوعَهُ الصِّحَاحَ وَالَّتِي يَخْتَارُ إنْفَاذَهَا بَعْدَ الْمَعْرِفَةِ بِهَا، وَلَمْ يَحْجُرْ عَلَيْهِ - وَهَذَا عَكْسُ كُلِّ مَا يَحْكُمُونَ بِهِ - وَحَسْبُنَا اللَّهُ وَنِعْمَ الْوَكِيلُ.

An issue of exploitation in a sale where freedom from defects was stipulated.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ غَبَنَ فِي بَيْعٍ اُشْتُرِطَ فِيهِ السَّلَامَةُ]

1465: Issue: If someone defrauds in a sale where defect-free condition was stipulated, the sale is nullified. This is because a sale involving definite deceit fundamentally differs from a defect-free sale involving no deceit—a matter known through direct observation. Thus, the sale contractually established between them in essence is not the one the stipulator of defect-free condition agreed upon. It is religiously invalid to impose obligations beyond what was mutually contracted, nor may the defrauder insist on terms not stipulated in the sale they mutually consented to. For the other party's property remains religiously forbidden to him except through mutual agreement, just as his property is likewise forbidden to the other party.

١٤٦٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَمَنْ غَبَنَ فِي بَيْعٍ اُشْتُرِطَ فِيهِ السَّلَامَةُ فَهُوَ بَيْعٌ مَفْسُوخٌ؛ لِأَنَّ بَيْعَ الْغِشِّ بِيَقِينٍ هُوَ غَيْرُ بَيْعِ السَّلَامَةِ الَّذِي لَا غِشَّ فِيهِ، هَذَا أَمْرٌ يُعْلَمُ بِالْمُشَاهَدَةِ، فَإِذَا هُوَ كَذَلِكَ فَالْبَيْعُ الْمُنْعَقِدُ بَيْنَهُمَا فِي الْبَاطِنِ لَيْسَ هُوَ الَّذِي عَقَدَ عَلَيْهِ مُشْتَرِطُ السَّلَامَةِ وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُلْزَمَ غَيْرَ مَا عَقَدَ عَلَيْهِ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ أَنْ يَتَمَسَّكَ بِمَا لَمْ يَعْقِدْ عَلَيْهِ بَيْعَهُ الَّذِي تَرَاضَى بِهِ، لِأَنَّ مَالَ الْآخَرِ حَرَامٌ عَلَيْهِ إِلَّا مَا تَرَاضَى مَعَهُ، وَكَذَلِكَ مَالُهُ عَلَى الْآخَرِ أَيْضًا.

If both parties knew the extent of the exploitation and mutually agreed to it, then it is a valid contract, a consensual transaction, and a sale free from defects.

وَأَمَّا إِذَا عَلِمَ بِقَدْرِ الْغَبْنِ كِلَاهُمَا، وَتَرَاضَيَا جَمِيعًا بِهِ، فَهُوَ عَقْدٌ صَحِيحٌ، وَتِجَارَةٌ عَنْ تَرَاضٍ، وَبَيْعٌ لَا دَاخِلَةَ فِيهِ.

If neither party knows, or one of them does not know the extent of the fraud, and neither has stipulated a warranty of soundness, the buyer retains the right of option to return [the item] or retain it upon discovery. This is because the sale was legally sound in its general framework, and thus it remains a legally sound sale.

وَأَمَّا إِذَا لَمْ يَعْلَمَا أَوْ أَحَدُهُمَا بِقَدْرِ الْغَبْنِ، وَلَمْ يَشْتَرِطَا السَّلَامَةَ وَلَا أَحَدُهُمَا فَلَهُ الْخِيَارُ إِذَا عَرَفَ فِي رَدٍّ أَوْ إِمْسَاكٍ؛ لِأَنَّ الْبَيْعَ وَقَعَ سَالِمًا عَلَى الْجُمْلَةِ، فَهُوَ بَيْعٌ صَحِيحٌ.

Then we found that the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) had granted the right to rescind to the one who declared, "No fraud! No fraud! No fraud!" If he wishes, he may retain it, and if he wishes, he may rescind it. Thus, it became obligatory that any excess obtained by the defrauder from the defrauded is impermissible except with the defrauded's awareness and willing consent. If he agrees to relinquish his right, that is his right. But if he refuses, it is unlawful for him to take what he purchased without the seller's consent. He may return it.

ثُمَّ وَجَدْنَا النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَدْ جَعَلَ الْخِيَارَ لِمَنْ قَالَ: " لَا خِلَابَةَ ثَلَاثًا " إِنْ شَاءَ أَمْسَكَ وَإِنْ شَاءَ رَدَّ فَوَجَبَ أَنْ لَا يَحِلَّ مَا تَزَيَّدَ فِيهِ الْخَادِعُ عَلَى الْمَخْدُوعِ إِلَّا بِعِلْمِ الْمَخْدُوعِ وَطِيبِ نَفْسِهِ، فَإِنْ رَضِيَ بِتَرْكِ حَقِّهِ فَذَلِكَ لَهُ، وَإِنْ أَبَى لَمْ يَجُزْ لَهُ أَخْذُ مَا ابْتَاعَ بِغَيْرِ رِضَى الْبَائِعِ، فَلَهُ أَنْ يَرُدَّهُ.

It is conclusively established by authentic consensus that he holds the right of revocation...

وَقَدْ صَحَّ الْإِجْمَاعُ الْمَقْطُوعُ بِهِ عَلَى أَنَّ لَهُ الرَّدَّ -

People have differed: does he have the right to withhold or not? And Allah the Most High has said: “except when it is a trade by mutual consent among you” [An-Nisa’ 4:29].[10]

وَاخْتَلَفَ النَّاسُ: هَلْ لَهُ الْإِمْسَاكُ أَمْ لَا؟ وَقَدْ قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى {إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] .

L23098 Thus, it is established that when he is satisfied with what he has purchased, then that suffices—and with Allah, the Exalted, lies divine facilitation.

فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ إِذَا رَضِيَ مَا ابْتَاعَ فَذَلِكَ - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23099–23100 Ali said: There are two prices agreed upon by all people of Islam, past and present. Merchants during the time of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) would sell what they bought in pursuit of profit; this is an established fact. One price is that at which merchants purchase goods—they do not exceed it except for a valid legal cause—and another price is that at which merchants sell goods—they neither reduce nor exceed it except for a valid legal cause. These two prices are observed, each considered according to its specific circumstance.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَالْقِيمَةُ قِيمَتَانِ بِاتِّفَاقِ جَمِيعِ أَهْلِ الْإِسْلَامِ - قَدِيمًا وَحَدِيثًا - فَقَدْ كَانَ التُّجَّارُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَبِيعُونَ مَا يَشْتَرُونَ طَلَبَ الرِّبْحِ، هَذَا أَمْرٌ مُتَيَقَّنٌ، فَقِيمَةٌ يَبْتَاعُ بِهَا التُّجَّارُ السِّلَعَ لَا يَتَجَاوَزُونَهَا إِلَّا لِعِلَّةٍ، وَقِيمَةٌ يَبِيعُ بِهَا التُّجَّارُ السِّلَعَ لَا يَحُطُّونَ عَنْهَا وَلَا يَتَجَاوَزُونَهَا إِلَّا لِعِلَّةٍ، فَهَاتَانِ الْقِيمَتَانِ تُرَاعَيَانِ لِكُلِّ قِيمَةٍ فِي حَالِهَا.

L23101 Abu Muhammad said: Our companions argued in invalidating the sale for more than its equivalent value—even if both parties knew this and mutually consented to it—by stating: “Allah’s Messenger, peace and blessings be upon him, prohibited the squandering of wealth.” They said: “The buyer purchasing an item for more than its value and the seller selling it for less than its value—both of them are squandering their wealth.”

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَاحْتَجَّ أَصْحَابُنَا فِي إِبْطَالِهِمْ الْبَيْعَ بِأَكْثَرَ مِمَّا يُسَاوِي - وَإِنْ عَلِمَا جَمِيعًا بِذَلِكَ وَتَرَاضَيَا بِهِ بِأَنْ قَالُوا: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ إضَاعَةِ الْمَالِ» ، قَالُوا: وَالْمُشْتَرِي الشَّيْءَ، بِأَكْثَرَ مِنْ قِيمَتِهِ وَالْبَائِعُ لَهُ بِأَقَلَّ مِنْ قِيمَتِهِ كِلَاهُمَا مُضَيِّعٌ لِمَالِهِ.

L23102 They said: It is impermissible to divest property of ownership except either in exchange for a reward from Allah the Exalted - for that is the best form of compensation - or in exchange for worldly compensations, such as labor in a lease, merchandise in trade, ownership of sexual rights in marriage, the dissolution of his ownership in khulʿ, and the like thereof, as stipulated by textual sources.

قَالُوا: وَلَا يَجُوزُ إخْرَاجُ الْمَالِ عَنْ الْمِلْكِ إلَّا بِعِوَضِ أَجْرٍ مِنْ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ أَفْضَلُ عِوَضٍ، وَإِمَّا بِعِوَضٍ مِنْ أَعْرَاضِ الدُّنْيَا كَعَمَلٍ فِي الْإِجَارَةِ، أَوْ عَرَضٍ فِي التِّجَارَةِ، أَوْ مِلْكِ بُضْعٍ فِي النِّكَاحِ، أَوْ انْحِلَالِ مِلْكِهِ فِي الْخُلْعِ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ مِمَّا جَاءَتْ بِهِ النُّصُوصُ.

L23103 They said: “Whoever sells a fruit for a thousand dinars or a gem for a fals, this is indeed squandering, extravagance, extravagant spending in full measure, and wrongful consumption of wealth.” Abū Muḥammad said: “They have no proof beyond what we have mentioned. We say to them—and by Allah's grace alone is success attained—what you have described applies only to matters where the value is unknown. However, when one knows the extent of the fraudulent disparity in value and consents to it willingly, this constitutes a righteous act carried out through a transaction with full contentment, and he is rewarded for it. For he has done good, shown kindness to another person, ceded wealth to him, or granted him property. True squandering, extravagance, wasting wealth, and wrongful consumption are only what Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, has prohibited, as we detailed in the 'Book of Interdiction' within this compendium of ours. As for trade conducted by mutual consent, Allah the Exalted has never forbidden it; rather, He has permitted it."

قَالُوا: وَمَنْ بَاعَ ثَمَرَةً بِأَلْفِ دِينَارٍ، أَوْ يَاقُوتَةً بِفَلْسٍ، فَإِنَّ هَذَا هُوَ التَّبْذِيرُ، وَالسَّرَفُ، وَبَسْطُ الْيَدِ كُلَّ الْبَسْطِ، وَأَكْلُ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ - قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ غَيْرَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا. قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَنَقُولُ لَهُمْ - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ -: إنَّ الَّذِي قُلْتُمْ إنَّمَا هُوَ فِيمَا لَا يَعْلَمُ

بِقَدْرِهِ، وَأَمَّا إِذَا عَلِمَ بِقَدْرِ الْغَبْنِ وَطَابَتْ بِهِ نَفْسُهُ فَهُوَ بِرٌّ بِرَّ بِهِ مُعَامَلَةً بِطِيبِ نَفْسِهِ، فَهُوَ مَأْجُورٌ، لِأَنَّهُ فَعَلَ خَيْرًا، وَأَحْسَنَ إِلَى إِنْسَانٍ، وَتَرَكَ لَهُ مَالًا، أَوْ أَعْطَاهُ مَالًا، وَلَيْسَ التَّبْذِيرُ، وَالسَّرَفُ، وَإِضَاعَةُ الْمَالِ، وَأَكْلُهُ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلَّا مَا حَرَّمَهُ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ عَلَى مَا بَيَّنَّا فِي: " كِتَابِ الْحَجْرِ " مِنْ دِيوَانِنَا هَذَا وَأَمَّا التِّجَارَةُ عَنْ تَرَاضٍ فَمَا حَرَّمَهَا اللَّهُ تَعَالَى قَطُّ، بَلْ أَبَاحَهَا.

L23104 Abu Muhammad said: The only permissible supererogatory act of increasing in purchase is that which preserves sufficiency, for this constitutes a recognized good in trade. The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: "Every act of goodness is charity," and he (peace and blessings be upon him) said: "Charity is given from surplus beyond sufficiency."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَإِنَّمَا يَجُوزُ مِنَ التَّطَوُّعِ بِالزِّيَادَةِ فِي الشِّرَاءِ مَا أَبْقَى غِنًى، لِأَنَّهُ مَعْرُوفٌ مِنَ الْبَيْعِ، وَقَدْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «كُلُّ مَعْرُوفٍ صَدَقَةٌ» وَقَالَ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الصَّدَقَةُ عَنْ ظَهْرِ غِنًى» .

L23105 As for actions that fail to dispel need, they are rejected and impermissible, according to the statement of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him): "Whoever introduces into our practice something not part of it, it is rejected."[11]

وَأَمَّا مَا لَمْ يُبْقِ غِنًى فَمَرْدُودٌ لَا يَحِلُّ، لِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنْ عَمِلَ عَمَلًا لَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ أَمْرُنَا فَهُوَ رَدٌّ» .

L23106–23108 Ali said: Among what clarifies the soundness of our position is what we have narrated through Muslim's chain: I am Abu Kamil—he is Fuḍayl ibn Ḥusayn al-Jaḥdarī. ʿAbd al-Wāḥid ibn Ziyād said: I heard from al-Jurayrī, who heard from Abū Naḍrah, who heard from Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh, who said: "We were with the Messenger of Allāh (ṣallallāhu ʿalayhi wa-sallam) on a journey when my watering camel lagged behind." He mentioned the ḥadīth, and in it: "He kept increasing for me [reward] and saying: 'By Allāh, He forgives you.'"

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَمِمَّا يُبَيِّنُ صِحَّةَ قَوْلِنَا: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو كَامِلٍ - هُوَ فُضَيْلُ بْنُ حُسَيْنٍ الْجَحْدَرِيُّ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْوَاحِدِ بْنُ زِيَادٍ أَنَا الْجُرَيْرِيُّ عَنْ أَبِي نَضْرَةَ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ «كُنَّا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي سَفَرٍ فَتَخَلَّفَ نَاضِحِي؛ فَذَكَرَ الْحَدِيثَ وَفِيهِ فَمَا زَالَ يَزِيدُنِي وَيَقُولُ: وَاَللَّهُ يَغْفِرُ لَكَ» .

L23109 Abu Muhammad said: The first payment the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—gave regarding the camel cannot escape being either equal to the camel's value, less than its value, or greater than its value.

[11] Hadith references (L23105): Sahih Muslim 1718b; Riyad as-Salihin 1647; Riyad as-Salihin 169.

أَعْطَاهُ أَوَّلًا أَقَلَّ مِنْ الْقِيمَةِ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ - فَهَذَا هُوَ قَوْلُنَا وَهُوَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لَا يَسُومُ بِمَا لَا يَحِلُّ وَلَا يَخْدَعُ وَلَا يَغُرُّ وَلَا يَغُشُّ - فَهَذَا نَفْسُ قَوْلِنَا وَلِلَّهِ الْحَمْدُ.

If it was equal to the value, he later increased it, and this demonstrates the permissibility of selling above the value by mutual consent—whether he initially gave less or more than the value. This is our doctrine, and he—peace be upon him—would not insist on what is unlawful, nor deceive, mislead, nor defraud. This precisely aligns with our position, and all praise belongs to Allah.

L23110 Similarly, his statement – peace be upon him – "None of you should interfere with his brother's bargaining" affirms the permissibility of bargaining. This is known to anyone familiar with the Arabic language, as it refers to one party asking for a price and the other offering less. If giving less than the value or asking for more than it were unlawful acts, Allah the Exalted would not have permitted it through His Messenger.

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ جَائِزٌ إذَا عَرَفَاهُ وَعَرَفَا مِقْدَارَهُ وَتَرَاضَيَا مَعًا بِهِ، وَلَمْ يَكُنْ خَدِيعَةً وَلَا غِشًّا.

L23111 Thus, it is established that all of that is permissible if they both know it and its extent, mutually agree upon it together, and that there is no deceit or fraud.

وَكَذَلِكَ مَا جَعَلَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لِمُنْقِذٍ مِنْ الْخِيَارِ فِي رَدِّ الْبَيْعِ أَوْ إمْضَائِهِ وَكَانَ يُخْدَعُ فِي الْبُيُوعِ فِيهِ إجَازَةُ الْبَيْعِ الَّذِي فِيهِ الْخَدِيعَةِ إذَا رَضِيَهَا الْمَخْدُوعُ وَعَرَفَهَا.

L23112 Similarly, what the Prophet (peace be upon him) established for the party granted the option (khiyār) to annul or uphold a sale - and they were deceived in transactions - is the permissibility of a sale involving deceit when the deceived party consents to it and acknowledges it.

وَكَذَلِكَ الَّذِي رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ، وَزَيْدِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ الْجُهَنِيِّ: «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - سُئِلَ عَنْ الْأَمَةِ إذَا زَنَتْ؟ فَقَالَ: إذَا زَنَتْ فَاجْلِدُوهَا، ثُمَّ إنْ زَنَتْ فَاجْلِدُوهَا، ثُمَّ إنْ زَنَتْ فَاجْلِدُوهَا، ثُمَّ إنْ زَنَتْ فَبِيعُوهَا، وَلَوْ بِضَفِيرٍ أَوْ بِحَبْلٍ مِنْ شَعْرٍ» فَأَبَاحَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بَيْعَهَا بِحَبْلٍ مِنْ شَعْرٍ إذَا رَضِيَ بَائِعُهَا بِذَلِكَ.

L23113 Similarly, what we have narrated through the chain of Malik from Ibn Shihab from 'Ubayd Allah ibn 'Abd Allah ibn 'Utbah ibn Mas'ud from Abu Hurairah and Zayd ibn Khalid al-Juhani: "The Messenger of Allah - peace be upon him - was asked about a female slave who commits illicit sexual intercourse. He said: 'If she commits it, flog her; then if she commits it again, flog her; then if she commits it again, flog her; then if she commits it again, sell her, even if it is for a plaited rope or a hair cord.'" Thus, he - peace be upon him - permitted selling her for a hair cord if the seller consents to that.

وَقَدْ أَجَازَ أَصْحَابُنَا الَّذِي أَنْكَرُوا هَهُنَا فِي حَسِّ مَسٍّ إذْ أَجَازُوا بَيْعَ عَبْدٍ بِعَشَرَةِ دَنَانِيرَ، وَاشْتِرَاطَ مَالٍ وَهُوَ أَنَّهُ عَشَرَةُ آلَافِ دِينَارٍ، وَلَمْ يُنْكِرُوهُ أَصْلًا، وَكَيْفَ يُنْكِرُونَهُ وَرَسُولُ

L23114–23115 Our companions—those who rejected ḥass-mass (uncertain barter) in this context—permitted selling a slave for ten dinars and stipulating a fixed sum of ten thousand dinars, without objecting to it at all. How could they reject it when the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him and his family) has permitted it in general terms? Such transactions constitute acquiring property without charitable intent or reciprocal consideration.

اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَدْ أَبَاحَهُ جُمْلَةً؟ وَهَذَا أَخْذُ مَالٍ بِغَيْرِ صَدَقَةٍ وَلَا عِوَضٍ.

L23116 Abu Muhammad said: There is nothing in any of these reports to support those who permit a sale involving prohibited deceit and fraud arising from unfair pricing that the defrauded party is unaware of.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَلَيْسَ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ هَذِهِ الْأَخْبَارِ مُتَعَلَّقٌ لِمَنْ أَجَازَ الْبَيْعَ الَّذِي فِيهِ الْخَدِيعَةُ الْمُحَرَّمَةُ وَالْغِشُّ الْمُحَرَّمُ مِنْ الْغَبْنِ الَّذِي لَا يَدْرِيهِ الْمَغْبُونُ.

L23117 For it contains no evidence for any of that; rather, it only indicates the permissibility when the consenting party in his sale knows it exclusively. Consent to the unknown is fundamentally invalid, being contrary to human nature and inherently unfeasible. A person might declare, "I consent, I agree!" regarding matters whose extent he ignores, yet when confronted with reality, he utterly rejects them. This constitutes a perceptible fact observable in every individual and all circumstances.

لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهَا دَلِيلٌ عَلَى شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، إنَّمَا فِيهَا جَوَازُ ذَلِكَ إذَا عَلِمَهُ الرَّاضِي بِهِ فِي بَيْعِهِ فَقَطْ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ الرِّضَا بِمَجْهُولٍ أَصْلًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ مُمْتَنِعٌ فِي الْجِبِلَّةِ، مُحَالٌ فِي الْخِلْقَةِ، وَقَدْ يَقُولُ الْمَرْءُ: رَضِيت رَضِيت، فِيمَا لَا يَعْلَمُ قَدْرَهُ، فَإِذَا وَقَفَ عَلَيْهِ لَمْ يَرْضَهُ أَصْلًا، هَذَا أَمْرٌ مَحْسُوسٌ فِي كُلِّ أَحَدٍ، وَفِي كُلِّ شَيْءٍ.

L23118 Ali said: The aforementioned cited as evidence what was transmitted to us through the isnād of ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ḥabīb al-Andalusī, who said: "It was reported to me from Ibn ʿUmar that he would say when dispatching someone to purchase a commodity for him: 'Hold him accountable.'"

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَاحْتَجَّ الْمَذْكُورُونَ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ حَبِيبٍ الْأَنْدَلُسِيِّ قَالَ: بَلَغَنِي عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَقُولُ إذَا بَعَثَ مَنْ يَبْتَاعُ لَهُ سِلْعَةً: ارْثِمْ أَنْفَهُ.

L23119 From the chain of Ibn Ḥabīb: ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz al-Uwaysī and ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Maslamah narrated to me from Ismāʿīl ibn ʿAyyāsh from ʿAmr ibn al-Muhājir from ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz that he said: "I wish I neither sold nor bought anything unless I openly clarified matters with the other party."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ حَبِيبٍ حَدَّثَنِي عَبْدُ الْعَزِيزِ الْأُوَيْسِيُّ، وَعَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ مَسْلَمَةَ عَنْ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ عَيَّاشٍ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْمُهَاجِرِ عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: وَدِدْت أَنِّي لَا أَبِيعُ شَيْئًا وَلَا أَبْتَاعُهُ إلَّا بَطَحْت بِصَاحِبِهِ.

L23120 Is the statement "Sale is prudent dealing" what we have cited from al-Shaʿbī?

وَبِمَا ذَكَرْنَا عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ مِنْ قَوْلِهِ: الْبَيْعُ خُدْعَةٌ؟

L23121 Abu Muhammad said: All of this is invalid, and Ibn Habib is abandoned. Moreover, it is a false unattributed report ascribed to Ibn Umar. Even if it were authentic, no one would infer from it the permissibility of fraudulent overpricing or deceit. The meaning of "break his nose" is to take the finest of what he possesses—and this is lawful if both parties consent to it willingly, and the seller gives it with full approval.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذَا كُلُّهُ بَاطِلٌ، وَابْنُ حَبِيبٍ مَتْرُوكٌ، ثُمَّ هُوَ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ بَلَاغٌ كَاذِبٌ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَمَا فَهِمَ مِنْهُ أَحَدٌ إبَاحَةَ غَبْنٍ، وَلَا خَدِيعَةٍ، إنَّمَا مَعْنَى " ارْثِمْ أَنْفَهُ " خُذْ أَفْضَلَ مَا عِنْدَهُ - وَهَذَا مُبَاحٌ إذَا تَرَاضَيَا بِذَلِكَ، وَأَعْطَاهُ إيَّاهُ بِطِيبِ نَفْسِهِ.

L23122–23124 As for the narration of Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz, Ismāʿīl ibn ʿAyyāsh is deemed weak. How many incidents are there where they contradicted Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz? Such as his prostration during the recitation of When the sky is split asunder [Al-Inshiqaq: 1] and his permitting of it. Selling fish in water before they are caught and numerous cases—it is invalid to hold that what is authentically established from the Prophet is not authoritative proof while what is unauthenticated is regarded as proof. And success is by Allah, the Most High.[12]

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ فَإِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ عَيَّاشٍ لَا شَيْءَ - وَكَمْ قِصَّةٍ خَالَفُوا فِيهَا عُمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ؟ كَسُجُودِهِ فِي {إِذَا السَّمَاءُ انْشَقَّتْ} [الانشقاق: ١] وَإِبَاحَتِهِ بَيْعَ السَّمَكِ فِي الْمَاءِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُصَادَ، وَعَشَرَاتٍ مِنْ الْقَضَايَا، فَمِنْ الْبَاطِلِ أَنْ يَكُونَ مَا صَحَّ عَنْهُ لَيْسَ حُجَّةً وَمَا لَمْ يَصِحَّ عَنْهُ حُجَّةً - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23125 And the narration that came through Al-Sha'bi's chain originates from Jabir Al-Ju'fi's chain. Al-Qasim and others differed from Jabir Al-Ju'fi, and no proof exists in anyone apart from the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him).

L23126 ## Issue: The Sale with an Undetermined Price

[مَسْأَلَةٌ الْبَيْعُ بِثَمَنٍ مَجْهُولٍ]

L23127 1466. Issue: It is not permissible to sell for an unknown price or to an unknown term, such as harvest, threshing, stipend, cultivation, juice, or similar matters. This is the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfiʿī, and Abū Sulaymān. This is because all that we have mentioned can be advanced or delayed in days. For example, harvest and threshing may be delayed by days if the rain is continuous, or advanced by hot weather and lack of rain. Similarly, juice varies in timing. As for cultivation, it may be delayed by two months or more due to lack of rain. As for the stipend, it may be entirely discontinued.

١٤٦٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ الْبَيْعُ بِثَمَنٍ مَجْهُولٍ، وَلَا إلَى أَجَلٍ مَجْهُولٍ كَالْحَصَادِ، وَالْجِدَادِ، وَالْعَطَاءِ، وَالزَّرِيعَةِ، وَالْعَصِيرِ، وَمَا أَشْبَهَ هَذَا - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ؛ لِأَنَّ كُلَّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا يَتَقَدَّمُ بِالْأَيَّامِ وَيَتَأَخَّرُ فَالْحَصَادُ، وَالْجِدَادُ، يَتَأَخَّرَانِ أَيَّامًا إنْ كَانَ الْمَطَرُ مُتَوَاتِرًا، وَيَتَقَدَّمَانِ بِحَرِّ الْهَوَاءِ وَعَدَمِ الْمَطَرِ، وَكَذَلِكَ الْعَصِيرُ، وَأَمَّا الزَّرِيعَةُ فَتَتَأَخَّرُ شَهْرَيْنِ وَأَكْثَرَ لِعَدَمِ الْمَطَرِ - وَأَمَّا الْعَطَاءُ فَقَدْ يَنْقَطِعُ جُمْلَةً.

L23128 Furthermore, any condition not in the Book of Allah is invalid. The permissibility of setting a term applies only to what does not delay or advance by even an hour—such as Arab or non-Arab months, the rising or setting of the sun, the rising or setting of the moon, or the rising or setting of a named star. All these have precisely defined timings among those who know them. Allah the Exalted said: "They ask you about the crescent moons. Say, 'They are appointed times for people and for pilgrimage'" (Quran 2:189). Except for the sale linked to gambling that we mentioned, it is valid due to the explicit textual evidence on this matter and because it is Allah's ruling for everyone who cannot repay their debt.[13]

L23129 It is not permissible to set a term extending to the fasting of Christians or Jews, or their breaking of the fast, nor to any of their festivals, for these are part of their religious adornments. Perhaps it will become apparent to them in these two practices, and this is possible.

L23130 Al-Shafi'i said: "A designated period is only valid when determined by the sighting of the new moons," and he cited this verse in which Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, states: {Indeed, the number of months with Allah is twelve months in His Book, on the day He created the heavens and the earth. Among them are four sacred...} [9:36].[14]

L23131 Abu Muhammad said: Allah the Exalted stated: {When you contract a debt for a specified term, write it down} [Al-Baqarah: 282]. Thus, He the Most High generalized all specified terms without restriction. This verse is an addition to those two verses, and it is impermissible to disregard such an addition. Neither of those two verses prohibits setting terms based on other than lunar months nor does it permit it. It is therefore obligatory to seek the ruling on this matter from other sources. If evidence permitting it is found, it is affirmed; otherwise, it is not. This is the opinion of Al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayy, Abu Sulayman, and our companions.[15]

L23132–23133 Malik permitted sales to a stipend in excluded cases. He said: As for today, it is not, because it is not customary now, and it was customary before that time.

L23134 He permitted the sale until harvest, reaping, and pressing for juice.

L23135 He said: Consideration is given to the magnitude and abundance of that, neither to its beginning nor to its end.

وَالْحَجِّ} [البقرة: ١٨٩] حَاشَا مَا ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ الْمَبِيعِ إلَى الْمَيْسَرَةِ فَهُوَ حَقٌّ لِلنَّصِّ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَلِأَنَّهُ حُكْمُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فِي كُلِّ مَنْ لَا يَجِدُ أَدَاءَ دَيْنِهِ.

وَلَا يَجُوزُ الْأَجَلُ إلَى صَوْمِ النَّصَارَى أَوْ الْيَهُودِ أَوْ فِطْرِهِمْ، وَلَا إلَى عِيدٍ مِنْ أَعْيَادِهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّهَا مِنْ زِينَتِهِمْ وَلَعَلَّهُمْ سَيَبْدُو لَهُمْ فِيهِمَا، فَهَذَا مُمْكِنٌ.

وَقَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّ: لَا يَجُوزُ الْأَجَلُ إلَّا بِالْأَهِلَّةِ فَقَطْ وَذَكَرَ هَذِهِ الْآيَةَ، وَقَوْلَ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: {إنَّ عِدَّةَ الشُّهُورِ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ اثْنَا عَشَرَ شَهْرًا فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ يَوْمَ خَلَقَ السَّمَاوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ مِنْهَا أَرْبَعَةٌ حُرُمٌ} [التوبة: ٣٦]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: قَالَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: {إذَا تَدَايَنْتُمْ بِدَيْنٍ إلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى فَاكْتُبُوهُ} [البقرة: ٢٨٢] فَعَمَّ تَعَالَى كُلَّ أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى وَلَمْ يَخُصَّ، فَكَانَتْ هَذِهِ الْآيَةُ زَائِدَةً عَلَى تِلْكَ الْآيَتَيْنِ، وَالزِّيَادَةُ لَا يَحِلُّ تَرْكُهَا، وَلَيْسَ فِي تِلْكَ الْآيَتَيْنِ مَنْعٌ مِنْ عَقْدِ الْآجَالِ إلَى غَيْرِ الْأَهِلَّةِ وَلَا إبَاحَةٌ، فَوَاجِبٌ طَلَبُ حُكْمِ ذَلِكَ مِنْ غَيْرِهِمَا، فَإِنْ وُجِدَ مَا يَدُلُّ عَلَى جَوَازِهِ قِيلَ بِهِ، وَإِلَّا فَلَا - وَهَذَا قَوْلُ الْحَسَنِ بْنِ حَيٍّ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَصْحَابِنَا.

وَأَبَاحَ مَالِكٌ الْبَيْعَ إلَى الْعَطَاءِ فِيمَا خَلَا، قَالَ: وَأَمَّا الْيَوْمَ فَلَا، لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ الْآنَ مَعْرُوفًا، وَكَانَ مَعْرُوفًا قَبْلَ ذَلِكَ -

وَأَجَازَ الْبَيْعَ إلَى الْحَصَادِ، وَالْجِدَادِ، وَالْعَصِيرِ.

قَالَ: وَيُنْظَرُ إلَى عِظَمِ ذَلِكَ وَكَثْرَتِهِ، لَا إلَى أَوَّلِهِ وَلَا إلَى آخِرِهِ.

[15] Qur'an references (L23131): Qur'an 2:282 (Al-Baqarah).

L23136 Abu Muhammad said: We know of no greater ignorance than this restriction, nor any gharar more immense than it.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: مَا نَعْلَمُ فِي الْجَهَالَةِ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ هَذَا التَّحْدِيدِ وَلَا غَرَرَ أَعْظَمَ مِنْهُ.

L23137 Ali said: The people pledged allegiance in the presence of ʿAmmār and those Companions with him (may Allah be pleased with them) contingent upon the arrival of the rider. Yet the Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs opposed this, though they vehemently censure even minor issues compared to this when such matters align with their adherence [to a school]. In this context, they neglected their own reliance on the transmitted tradition: "Muslims are bound by their stipulated conditions."

L23138 Among the oddities in their arguments is that both groups cited the report we narrated through Ibn Wahb's chain from Jarīr ibn Ḥāzim from Abū Isḥāq al-Sabīʿī from Umm Yunus: that ʿĀ'ishah, Mother of the Believers, was addressed by Umm Maḥabbah - the umm walad of Zayd ibn Arqam - who said: "O Mother of the Believers, I sold a slave to Zayd ibn Arqam on credit for eight hundred dirhams. When he needed the payment, I repurchased it from him before maturity for six hundred dirhams." ʿĀ'ishah responded: "Evil is your selling on credit and evil is your buying! Inform Zayd that his jihad with Allah's Messenger - peace and blessings be upon him - is invalidated unless he repents." The woman asked: "What if I relinquish and take the six hundred dirhams?" She answered: "Yes, {Whoever heeds his Lord's admonition and desists, he shall have what is past} [Al-Baqarah 2:275]."[16]

وَمِنْ غَرَائِبِ احْتِجَاجِهِمْ أَنَّ كِلْتَا الطَّائِفَتَيْنِ ذَكَرَتْ الْخَبَرَ الَّذِي رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ جَرِيرِ بْنِ حَازِمٍ عَنْ أَبِي إِسْحَاقَ السَّبِيعِيِّ عَنْ أُمِّ يُونُسَ: أَنَّ عَائِشَةَ أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ قَالَتْ لَهَا أُمُّ مَحَبَّةَ أُمُّ وَلَدِ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ: يَا أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ، إنِّي بِعْت زَيْدَ بْنَ أَرْقَمَ عَبْدًا إلَى الْعَطَاءِ بِثَمَانِمَائَةِ دِرْهَمٍ فَاحْتَاجَ إلَى الثَّمَنِ فَاشْتَرَيْته مِنْهُ قَبْلَ مَحِلِّ الْأَجَلِ بِسِتِّمَائَةٍ، فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ: بِئْسَ مَا أَشَرَيْت وَبِئْسَ مَا اشْتَرَيْت، أَبْلِغِي زَيْدًا أَنَّهُ قَدْ بَطَلَ جِهَادُهُ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إنْ لَمْ يَتُبْ فَقَالَتْ: أَرَأَيْت إنْ تَرَكْت وَأَخَذْت السِّتَّمِائَةِ؟ قَالَتْ: نَعَمْ: {فَمَنْ جَاءَهُ مَوْعِظَةٌ مِنْ رَبِّهِ فَانْتَهَى فَلَهُ مَا سَلَفَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] .

L23139 The Hanafis and Malikis ruled that the aforementioned sale is prohibited by emulating Aisha, the Mother of the Believers (may Allah be pleased with her), and did not adopt Zayd ibn Arqam's position permitting it. They argued that such a statement from the Mother of the Believers could only originate from explicit instruction by the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him). Yet they did not assert that Zayd's action necessarily derived from such instruction, for when a ruling is based on explicit prophetic guidance, Aisha is not more authoritative in this matter than Zayd ibn Arqam.

L23140 The Hanafis upheld this argument concerning gift-giving in sales, but why did the Malikis not accept it? We said to them: "O you, how can you overlook this deceitful argument regarding every matter where you abandoned the explicit textual injunction: that between any two contracting parties, no sale exists until they separate, except when one grants the other the option to choose."

وَالنَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهُ فَأَبَحْتُمُوهُ عَلَى الْقَطْعِ.

L23141 The prohibition against selling fruit before its ripeness becomes evident, so you have permitted it once harvested.

وَالنَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ الْمَاءِ فَأَبَحْتُمُوهُ وَسَائِرَ التَّوْقِيفَاتِ الثَّابِتَةِ؟ فَهَانَ عَلَيْكُمْ تَرْكُهَا لِآرَائِكُمْ الْمُجَرَّدَةِ، وَتَأْوِيلَاتِكُمْ الْفَاسِدَةِ، ثُمَّ الْتَزَمْتُمْ الْقَوْلَ بِظَنٍّ كَاذِبٍ لَا يَحِلُّ الْقَوْلُ بِهِ أَنَّ هَهُنَا تَوْقِيفًا مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - كَتَمَتْهُ أُمُّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ وَلَمْ تُبَلِّغْهُ، وَهَذَا هُوَ الْكَذِبُ، عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْمَكْشُوفُ وَقَبِيحُ الْوَصْفِ لِأُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا -.

L23142–23144 And the textual prohibition against selling water—so you permitted it and all other firmly established scripturally ordained rulings? Thus, you trivialized abandoning them. You have clung to your baseless opinions and corrupt interpretations, then persisted in asserting a false presumption that is impermissible to voice—claiming there exists in this matter a divinely stipulated injunction from the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) that the Mother of the Believers (may Allah be pleased with her) concealed it and failed to convey it. This is the manifest falsehood against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) and the vile characterization of the Mother of the Believers (may Allah be pleased with her).

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: تَرَكْنَا دَلِيلَ النُّصُوصِ لِتَأْوِيلٍ تَأَوَّلْنَاهُ وَاجْتِهَادٍ رَأَيْنَاهُ؟

L23145 If they say, "We abandoned the evidence of textual sources due to an interpretation we adopted and an ijtihād we considered," [would that be valid]?

فَقُلْنَا: وَمَنْ أَبَاحَ لَكُمْ ذَلِكَ وَحَظَرَهُ عَلَى زَيْدِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ - وَقُلَامَةُ ظُفُرِهِ وَاَللَّهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ تُفَارِقَهُ - خَيْرٌ مِنْ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٍ، وَكُلِّ مَنْ اتَّبَعَهُمَا؟ وَهُوَ الَّذِي صَدَّقَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِي الْقُرْآنِ، وَحَتَّى لَوْ كَانَ هَهُنَا نَصٌّ ثَابِتٌ بِخِلَافِ قَوْلِهِ، فَمَنْ أَحَقُّ بِالتَّأْوِيلِ مِنْهُ فِي أَنْ يُعْذَرَ فِي ذَلِكَ لَوْ أَخْطَأَ مُجْتَهِدًا فِي خِلَافِ الْقُرْآنِ؟

L23146 So we said: Is the one who permitted this for you and forbade it to Zayd ibn Arqam—and, by Allah, even the clipping of his fingernail before it separated from him—not superior to Abu Hanifah, Malik, and all who followed them? He is the one whom Allah the Exalted has attested to in the Quran. Even if there were an authentic text here contradicting his statement, who is more entitled to interpretive discretion than him, to be excused in that if he erred while exercising independent judgment contrary to the Quran?

كَمَا تَأَوَّلَ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ أَنْ لَا يَتَيَمَّمَ الْجُنُبُ وَلَا يُصَلِّيَ وَلَوْ لَمْ يَجِدَ الْمَاءَ شَهْرًا.

L23147 Just as Ibn Mas'ud ruled that a person in a state of major impurity must neither perform dry ablution nor pray, even if he cannot find water for an entire month.

L23148 And just as Umar interpreted when he delivered a sermon and prohibited increasing the dowry above five hundred dirhams, and when he declared that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—did not die, nor will he die, until he is the last of us.

وَكَمَا تَأَوَّلَ عُمَرُ إِذْ خَطَبَ فَمَنَعَ الزِّيَادَةَ فِي الصَّدَاقِ عَلَى خَمْسمِائَةِ دِرْهَمٍ، وَإِذْ أَعْلَنَ بِأَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَمْ يَمُتْ وَلَا يَمُوتُ حَتَّى يَكُونَ آخِرَنَا.

L23149 The Mother of the Believers—may Allah be pleased with her—would only have made this statement if she had indeed said it at all. Yet no one whose narration constitutes conclusive proof has reported it from her.

وَأُمُّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا - إِنَّمَا قَالَتْ هَذَا الْقَوْلَ إِنْ كَانَتْ قَالَتْهُ أَيْضًا فَلَمْ يَرْوِ ذَلِكَ عَنْهَا مَنْ يَقُومُ بِنَقْلِهِ حُجَّةٌ.

L23150 It is truly astonishing that one would reject the narration of Fāṭimah bint Qays—the emigrant who pledged allegiance to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him)—yet oblige people to accept as evidence the narrations of Umm Yūnus and Umm Muḥibbah. For there are no narrators more numerous than Umm Yūnus and Umm Muḥibbah [to warrant such preference], yet they rely on them due to an opinion held by the Mother of the Believers, which Zayd ibn Arqam opposed her on.

L23151 Abu Muhammad said: Those who permitted deferred payment sales until the stipend cited as evidence what we have narrated through al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭā'ah's transmission from ʿAṭāʾ, and [another report] from Jaʿfar ibn ʿAmr ibn Ḥurayth. ʿAṭāʾ said: "Ibn ʿUmar used to purchase on credit against the stipend." Jaʿfar reported from his father: "A Persian landowner sent a gold-thread woven brocade garment to ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib, and ʿAmr ibn Ḥurayth bought it from him on deferred payment until the stipend for four thousand dirhams." Al-Ḥajjāj said: "The Mothers of the Believers used to engage in mutual transactions on credit against the stipend distribution."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَاحْتَجَّ مَنْ أَبَاحَ الْبَيْعَ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ، وَجَعْفَرِ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ حُرَيْثٍ، قَالَ عَطَاءٌ: كَانَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ يَشْتَرِي إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ، وَقَالَ جَعْفَرٌ عَنْ أَبِيهِ: إِنَّ دِهْقَانًا بَعَثَ إِلَى عَلِيِّ بْنِ أَبِي طَالِبٍ ثَوْبَ دِيبَاجٍ مَنْسُوجٍ بِالذَّهَبِ فَابْتَاعَهُ مِنْهُ عَمْرُو بْنُ حُرَيْثٍ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافِ دِرْهَمٍ، قَالَ حَجَّاجٌ: وَكَانَ أُمَّهَاتُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ يَتَبَايَعْنَ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ.

L23152 And via the chain of Isra'il from Jabir al-Ju'fi from al-Sha'bi: There is no harm in selling until the stipend. – And from Ibn Abi Shaybah: I am Abu Bakr al-Hanafi, from Nuh ibn Abi Bilal: 'Ali ibn al-Husayn purchased food from me until his stipend.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ إِسْرَائِيلَ عَنْ جَابِرٍ الْجُعْفِيِّ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ: لَا بَأْسَ بِالْبَيْعِ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ - وَعَنْ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا أَبُو بَكْرٍ الْحَنَفِيُّ عَنْ نُوحِ بْنِ أَبِي بِلَالٍ: اشْتَرَى مِنِّي عَلِيُّ بْنُ الْحُسَيْنِ طَعَامًا إِلَى عَطَائِهِ.

L23153–23155 Ali said: All of this is from Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāʾah—and how glaring his weakness is!—and from Jābir, who is even weaker than him. Ḥajjāj ibn Daraj, and I do not know who Nuḥ ibn Abī Hilāl is. It was incumbent upon the Ḥanafīs, who argue using the narration of Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāʾa that 'Umrah is voluntary, to cite his narration here. Since they emulated the Mother of the Believers in matters where Zayd ibn Arqam disagreed with her, they should have emulated her here too – alongside her companions: the Mothers of the Believers, ʿAlī, ʿAmr ibn Ḥurayth, ʿAmmār ibn Yāsir, and others. But these people are frivolous.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: كُلُّ هَذَا عَنْ حَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ وَنَاهِيكَ بِهِ ضَعْفًا، وَعَنْ جَابِرٍ وَهُوَ دُونَ حَجَّاجٍ بِدَرَجٍ، وَلَا أَدْرِي نُوحَ بْنَ أَبِي هِلَالٍ مَنْ هُوَ؟ وَلَقَدْ كَانَ يَلْزَمُ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ الْمُحْتَجِّينَ

بِرِوَايَةِ حَجَّاجِ بْنِ أَرْطَاةَ فِي أَنَّ الْعُمْرَةَ تَطَوُّعٌ أَنْ يَحْتَجُّوا هَهُنَا بِرِوَايَتِهِ، وَلَقَدْ كَانَ يَلْزَمُهُمْ إِذْ قَلَّدُوا أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ فِيمَا خَالَفَهَا فِيهِ زَيْدُ بْنُ أَرْقَمَ أَنْ يُقَلِّدُوهَا هَهُنَا وَمَعَهَا صَوَاحِبُهَا أُمَّهَاتُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ، وَعَلِيٌّ، وَعَمْرُو بْنُ حُرَيْثٍ، وَأَيْضًا عَمَّارُ بْنُ يَاسِرٍ وَغَيْرُهُ، وَلَكِنَّ الْقَوْمَ مُتَلَاعِبُونَ.

L23156 Ali said: It has been reported to us through the chain of Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah, from ʿAbd al-Karīm al-Jazari, from ʿIkrimah, from Ibn ʿAbbās: "Do not conclude a salam contract for grape juice, nor for standing crops, nor for al-andar" [meaning the threshing floor].

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْكَرِيمِ الْجَزَرِيِّ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ لَا يُسْلِمُ إِلَى عَصِيرٍ، وَلَا إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ، وَلَا إِلَى الْأَنْدَرِ - يَعْنِي الْبَيْدَرَ.

L23157 Do not sell [contingent] on the harvest, nor on date harvesting, nor on threshing; rather, name a month.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ بُكَيْرِ بْنِ عَتِيقٍ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ لَا تَبِعْ إِلَى الْحَصَادِ، وَلَا إِلَى الْجِدَادِ، وَلَا إِلَى الدِّرَاسِ وَلَكِنْ سَمِّ شَهْرًا.

L23158 And from the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I am Muhammad ibn Abi ʿAdi, from ʿAbdullah ibn ʿAwn. Muhammad ibn Sirin was asked about selling [deferred] until the ʿaṭā' [stipend/payment]. He said: "I do not know; what is it?"

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ أَبِي عَدِيٍّ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَوْنٍ سُئِلَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سِيرِينَ عَنِ الْبَيْعِ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ؟ قَالَ: لَا أَدْرِي مَا هُوَ؟

L23159 And via the route of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I, Jarir, reported from Mansur from Ibrahim that he disliked purchasing tied to the grant or the harvest, but he would specify a month.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا جَرِيرٌ عَنْ مَنْصُورٍ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ: أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ الشِّرَاءَ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ، وَالْحَصَادِ، وَلَكِنْ يُسَمِّي شَهْرًا.

L23160 Through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: From Humaid ibn Abd al-Rahman, from al-Hasan ibn Salih ibn Ḥayy, from al-Mughirah, from al-Hakam: that he disliked the sale linked to the public grant—and this is the opinion of Salim ibn Abdullah ibn Umar and ʿAṭāʾ.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا حُمَيْدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنِ الْحَسَنِ بْنِ صَالِحِ بْنِ حَيٍّ عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنِ الْحَكَمِ: أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ الْبَيْعَ إِلَى الْعَطَاءِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ سَالِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ، وَعَطَاءٍ.

L23161 A legal ruling: It is prohibited to outbid another's negotiation or sell over another's sale.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ لَا يَسُومُ عَلَى سَوْمِ آخَرَ وَلَا يَبِيعُ عَلَى بَيْعِهِ]

L23162 Issue 1467: It is not permissible for anyone to outbid another's bid or to sell over another's sale (Muslims and Dhimmis are treated equally). If someone does so, the sale becomes void. If a seller withholds their goods to seek a higher price, or if a buyer intends to purchase from the seller without focusing on a specific individual but merely acting cautiously, then competitive bidding becomes permissible at that point - provided no prior bid was made. If a buyer begins bargaining with a specific seller, offers less than the fair value, and insists on that [low price], others may then increase the bid to match the fair value or exceed it.

١٤٦٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ لِأَحَدٍ أَنْ يَسُومَ عَلَى سَوْمِ آخَرَ، وَلَا أَنْ يَبِيعَ عَلَى بَيْعِهِ - الْمُسْلِمُ، وَالذِّمِّيُّ سَوَاءٌ - فَإِنْ فَعَلَ فَالْبَيْعُ مَفْسُوخٌ، فَإِنْ وَقَفَ سِلْعَتَهُ لِطَلَبِ الزِّيَادَةِ، أَوْ قَصَدَ الشِّرَاءَ مِمَّنْ بَاعَهُ لَا مِنْ إنْسَانٍ بِعَيْنِهِ، لَكِنْ مُحْتَاطًا لِنَفْسِهِ جَازَتْ الْمُزَايَدَةُ حِينَئِذٍ هَذَا إذَا لَمْ يَبْتَدِ بِسَوْمٍ آخَرَ فَقَطْ، فَإِنْ بَدَأَ بِمُسَاوِمَةِ إنْسَانٍ بِعَيْنِهِ فَلَمْ يَزِدْهُ الْمُشْتَرِي عَلَى أَقَلَّ مِنْ الْقِيمَةِ وَوَقَفَ عَلَى ذَلِكَ فَلِغَيْرِهِ أَنْ يُبَلِّغَهُ إلَى الْقِيمَةِ وَأَكْثَرَ حِينَئِذٍ.

L23163 Similarly, if the seller demands more than the market value and refuses to accept it at all, it is then permissible for others to offer their goods to the buyer at the market value or lower.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَوْ طَلَبَ الْبَائِعُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الْقِيمَةِ وَلَمْ يُجَبْ إلَى الْقِيمَةِ أَصْلًا فَلِغَيْرِهِ حِينَئِذٍ أَنْ يَعْرِضَ عَلَى الْمُشْتَرِي سِلْعَتَهُ بِقِيمَتِهَا وَبِأَقَلَّ.

L23164–23166 The proof of that is: what we have narrated through Malik's chain from Nafi'. Abu Zinad—Abu Zinad said— From al-A'raj on the authority of Abū Hurayrah, and Nāfi' reported from Ibn 'Umar. Then Abū Hurayrah and Ibn 'Umar concurred, both narrating from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) that he said: "Do not outbid one another."

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ، وَأَبِي الزِّنَادِ، قَالَ أَبُو الزِّنَادِ، عَنْ الْأَعْرَجِ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ، وَقَالَ نَافِعٌ: عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، ثُمَّ اتَّفَقَ أَبُو هُرَيْرَةَ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنَّهُ قَالَ: «لَا يَبِعْ بَعْضُكُمْ عَلَى بَيْعِ بَعْضٍ» .

L23167 From the narration of Abd al-Razzaq, from Ma'mar, from al-Zuhri, from Sa'id ibn al-Musayyib, from Abu Hurayrah, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Do not sell over your brother's sale."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنَّهُ قَالَ: «لَا يَبِعْ أَحَدُكُمْ عَلَى بَيْعِ أَخِيهِ» .

L23168 Ali said: This is a report whose meaning is a command, for if its meaning were a report, it would be false due to its contradiction. Lying is conclusively far removed from the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—and none but a disbeliever, whose blood is lawful, would permit it to be ascribed to him.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: هَذَا خَبَرٌ مَعْنَاهُ الْأَمْرُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَوْ كَانَ مَعْنَاهُ الْخَبَرَ لَكَانَ كَذِبًا لِوُجُودِ خِلَافِهِ، وَالْكَذِبُ مَقْطُوعٌ بِبُعْدِهِ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَلَا يُجِيزُهُ عَلَيْهِ إلَّا كَافِرٌ حَلَالٌ دَمُهُ.

L23169 From the chain of Shu'bah from al-A'mash from Abu Salih—he is al-Sammān, the oil seller—from Abu Hurayrah: "The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: 'A Muslim must not outbid another Muslim's bargaining.'" وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ شُعْبَةَ عَنْ الْأَعْمَشِ عَنْ أَبِي صَالِحٍ - هُوَ السَّمَّانُ - عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: " أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «لَا يَسُمْ الْمُسْلِمُ عَلَى سَوْمِ الْمُسْلِمِ» .

L23170 Ali said: This is part of what is contained in the hadith of Abu Hurairah and Ibn Umar, because a sale contingent on another sale necessarily includes price negotiation. For a sale cannot occur at all except after price negotiation, and price negotiation cannot exist at all except for the purpose of a sale - otherwise, it is not price negotiation. Therefore, if the sale is forbidden, price negotiation pertaining to it becomes forbidden. And if price negotiation is forbidden, the sale becomes forbidden by necessity.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: هَذَا بَعْضُ مَا فِي حَدِيثِ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ، وَابْنِ عُمَرَ؛ لِأَنَّ الْبَيْعَ عَلَى الْبَيْعِ يَدْخُلُ فِيهِ السَّوْمُ ضَرُورَةً؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يُمْكِنُ الْبَيْعُ أَلْبَتَّةَ إلَّا بَعْدَ سَوْمٍ، وَلَا يَكُونُ السَّوْمُ أَلْبَتَّةَ إلَّا لِلْبَيْعِ، وَإِلَّا فَلَيْسَ سَوْمًا، فَإِذَا حَرُمَ الْبَيْعُ حَرُمَ السَّوْمُ عَلَيْهِ، وَإِذَا حَرُمَ السَّوْمُ حَرُمَ الْبَيْعُ ضَرُورَةً.

L23171 It is not permissible to engage in bargaining for what cannot be lawfully sold, such as the sale of a free person and bargaining over it, nor is bargaining permissible in usury - as stated by some Companions (may Allah be pleased with them).

L23172–23173 Abu Muhammad said: Malik stated, “This applies only when they have settled and come to terms”—this is an interpretation not supported by the explicit wording of the ḥadīth. As for one who displays his merchandise to solicit a higher price or seeks a buyer who will offer a lower price, he is not haggling with a specific individual; thus, this prohibition does not apply to him. However, if one observes a haggler or seller who does not intend to revert to the fair value but seeks to cheat his counterpart without their knowledge, it becomes obligatory upon him to offer sincere counsel to the Muslim. This case is also excluded from the prohibition based on the saying of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him: ’Religion is sincere counsel.‘“

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إنَّمَا هَذَا إذَا رَكَنَا وَتَقَارَبَا - وَهَذَا تَفْسِيرٌ لَا يَدُلُّ عَلَيْهِ لَفْظُ الْحَدِيثِ، فَأَمَّا مَنْ أَوْقَفَ سِلْعَتَهُ طَلَبَ الزِّيَادَةِ فِيهِ أَوْ طَلَبَ بَيْعٍ يَسْتَرْخِصُهُ فَلَيْسَ مُسَاوِمًا لِإِنْسَانٍ بِعَيْنِهِ، فَلَا يَلْزَمُهُ هَذَا النَّهْيُ، وَأَمَّا مَنْ رَأَى الْمُسَاوِمَ أَوْ الْمُبَايِعَ لَا يُرِيدُ الرُّجُوعَ إلَى الْقِيمَةِ، لَكِنْ يُرِيدُ غَبْنَ صَاحِبِهِ بِغَيْرِ عِلْمِهِ فَهَذَا فَرْضٌ عَلَيْهِ نَصِيحَةُ الْمُسْلِمِ، فَقَدْ خَرَجَ عَنْ هَذَا النَّهْيِ أَيْضًا بِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الدِّينُ النَّصِيحَةُ» .

L23174 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Waki‘, from Hizam ibn Hisham al-Khuza‘i, from his father: “I witnessed Umar ibn al-Khattab selling camels from the alms (zakat) collection to the highest bidder.”

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ حِزَامِ بْنِ هِشَامٍ الْخُزَاعِيِّ عَنْ أَبِيهِ شَهِدْت عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ بَاعَ إبِلًا مِنْ إبِلِ الصَّدَقَةِ فِيمَنْ يَزِيدُ.

L23175 From the chain of Hammad ibn Salamah from Abu Ja‘far al-Khitmi from al-Mughirah ibn Shu‘bah: that he sold the spoils by auction. And from the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah—I [narrate] from Mu‘tamir ibn Sulayman from al-Akhdar ibn ‘Ajlan from Abu Bakr al-Hanafi from Anas ibn Malik from a man from the Ansar: that the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) sold a saddle blanket and a cup by auction.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ أَبِي جَعْفَرٍ الْخِطْمِيِّ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ شُعْبَةَ: أَنَّهُ بَاعَ الْمَغَانِمَ فِيمَنْ يَزِيدُ - وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا مُعْتَمِرُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ الْأَخْضَرِ بْنِ عَجْلَانَ عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرٍ الْحَنَفِيِّ عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ رَجُلٍ مِنْ الْأَنْصَارِ: «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بَاعَ حِلْسًا وَقَدَحًا فِيمَنْ يَزِيدُ» .

The Issue of Sale by Najsh.

Issue 1468: Najsh (fraudulent bidding) is impermissible. It occurs when one intending to sell appoints a person to increase the bidding during the sale, though this person does not intend to purchase but rather to deceive others into raising their bids. If such a sale is concluded at a price exceeding the item's fair value, the buyer has the option to annul it. The sinner and the one prohibited is solely the practitioner of Najsh. Similarly, if the seller consents to it, the sale itself remains distinct from both Najsh and consenting to Najsh. Since the sale is separate from these two matters, it is impermissible to annul a valid sale due to the corruption of something else. No prohibition has ever been issued against a sale in which the practitioner of Najsh engages in Najsh, for Allah the Exalted said: "And Allah has permitted sale" (Surah Al-Baqarah 2:275).[17]

It has been reported to us through Mālik's chain from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: «The Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him, prohibited price manipulation (al-najsh).»[18]

And from the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq through Ismāʿīl ibn ʿAyyāsh through ʿUbayd ibn Muhājir, who said: "'Umar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz dispatched ʿUbayd ibn Muslim to sell the captives. When ʿUbayd ibn Muslim completed the task, he came to ʿUmar. ʿUmar said to him: 'The sale was...'" "It would have remained unsold had I not raised the bids and spent on it?" Umar said to him, "You were increasing the bids, yet you had no intention to purchase?" He replied, "Yes." Umar then declared, "This is _najsh_ (fraudulent bidding), and _najsh_ is unlawful. Dispatch an announcer to proclaim: 'The transaction is void, and _najsh_ is prohibited.'"

An Issue on Accepting Transported Goods

Issue 1469: It is impermissible for anyone to intercept incoming goods -

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: «إنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ النَّجْشِ» .

[مَسْأَلَةُ تَلَقِّي الْجَلَبِ]

whether one travels for that purpose or resides along the transporters' route, and whether the place of interception is distant or near (even if occurring in the marketplace at a cubit's distance or farther). This prohibition applies neither for a sacrificial animal, nor for sustenance, nor for any other purpose whatsoever, irrespective of whether it harms people or not.

L23185 Whoever receives transported goods—of any kind—and purchases them, the transporter retains the option right to confirm or rescind the sale whenever he enters the market, even after many years. If he rescinds it, the ruling applies as in sales returned due to defects—not as recovery of unlawfully seized property. The transporter's consent is valid only through explicit verbal declaration; silence—whether aware or unaware—does not suffice. If the buyer dies, the seller's option right remains effective. If the seller dies before rescinding or confirming [the sale], the sale becomes binding.

L23186 The proof of this is what has been narrated to us through Muslim—Ibn Numayr (Muhammad ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn Numayr) reported—from Ubayy, on the authority of ʿUbaydullāh ibn ʿUmar, from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: "The Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—forbade intercepting goods before they reach the markets."[19]

L23187 And through the chain of Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah: From Abdullah ibn al-Mubarak, from al-Taymi—he is Sulayman—from Abu Uthman al-Nahdi, from Abdullah ibn Mas'ud, from the Prophet—peace be upon him—: "He forbade intercepting sales."

L23188–23189 And a similar narration was transmitted to us as a musnad ḥadīth with an authentic chain through the chain of Ibn Abbas.

L23190 And also from the chain of transmission of Ali.

L23191 Through the chain of Muslim: Ibn Abi Umar narrated to us, saying: I am ١٤٦٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ لِأَحَدٍ تَلَقِّي الْجَلَبِ -: سَوَاءٌ خَرَجَ لِذَلِكَ أَوْ كَانَ سَاكِنًا عَلَى طَرِيقِ الْجَلَّابِ، وَسَوَاءٌ بَعُدَ مَوْضِعُ تَلَقِّيهِ أَمْ قَرُبَ - وَلَوْ أَنَّهُ عَلَى السُّوقِ عَلَى ذِرَاعٍ فَصَاعِدًا، لَا لِأُضْحِيَّةٍ، وَلَا لِقُوتٍ، وَلَا لِغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ، أَضَرَّ ذَلِكَ بِالنَّاسِ أَوْ لَمْ يَضُرَّ.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَلِيٍّ أَيْضًا.

Hisham ibn Sulaiman, from Ibn Jurayj, who informed me through Hisham al-Qurdusi (Ibn Hassan) from Ibn Sirin, who said: I heard Abu Hurayrah state: "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: 'Do not intercept incoming goods. Whoever intercepts them and purchases from them, then when its owner reaches the market, he has the option.'"[20]

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ حَدَّثَنَا ابْنُ أَبِي عُمَرَ: أَنَا هِشَامُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ أَخْبَرَنِي هِشَامٌ الْقُرْدُوسِيُّ - هُوَ ابْنُ حَسَّانٍ - عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: سَمِعْت أَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ يَقُولُ " إنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «لَا تَلَقَّوا الْجَلَبَ فَمَنْ تَلَقَّاهُ فَاشْتَرَى مِنْهُ فَإِذَا أَتَى سَيِّدُهُ السُّوقَ فَهُوَ بِالْخِيَارِ» .

L23192 Narrated through Abu Dawud: Ar-Rabi' ibn Nafi' Abu Tawbah narrated from 'Ubaydullah ibn 'Amr Ar-Raqqi, from Ayyub As-Sikhtiyani, from Muhammad ibn Sirin, from Abu Hurairah: "The Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him and his family) prohibited intercepting incoming merchandise. If an interceptor acquires it, the owner of the goods retains the right of choice when the merchandise reaches the market."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا الرَّبِيعُ بْنُ نَافِعٍ أَبِي تَوْبَةَ حَدَّثَنَا عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عَمْرٍو الرَّقِّيّ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيُّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: «أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ تَلَقِّي الْجَلَبِ فَإِنْ تَلَقَّاهُ مُتَلَقٍّ فَاشْتَرَاهُ فَصَاحِبُ السِّلْعَةِ بِالْخِيَارِ إذَا وَرَدَتْ السُّوقَ» .

L23193 Abū Muḥammad said: This is a narration of tawātur: it was narrated by five Companions, and narrated by others from them—and this is what the Salaf said.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا نَقْلُ تَوَاتُرٍ، رَوَاهُ خَمْسَةٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ، وَرَوَاهُ عَنْهُمْ النَّاسُ - وَبِهَذَا قَالَ السَّلَفُ -:

L23194 It has been narrated to us through the chain of 'Abd al-Razzāq: I, Ma'mar, from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, from Abū Hurayrah that he prohibited intercepting incoming goods. If someone intercepts incoming goods and purchases from them, the seller has the option when the market is established—and this is the explicit wording of our statement, with no disagreement known from the Companions, may Allah be pleased with them, especially this chain of transmission, which is as clear as the sun.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا مَعْمَرٌ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ نَهَى عَنْ تَلَقِّي الْجَلَبِ فَمَنْ تَلَقَّى جَلَبًا فَاشْتَرَى مِنْهُ فَالْبَائِعُ بِالْخِيَارِ إذَا وَقَعَ السُّوقَ - وَهَذَا نَصُّ قَوْلِنَا، وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - مُخَالِفٌ، لَا سِيَّمَا هَذِهِ الطَّرِيقُ الَّتِي كَأَنَّهَا الشَّمْسُ.

L23195–23196 From the chain of al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl: Abū Hilāl reported from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, who said: He disliked that imported goods be received outside of the town. If the goods are received outside of the town, the owner of the goods has the choice upon arrival—if he wishes, he may sell, and if he wishes, he may withhold. This is also the explicit text of our position.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ الْمُبَارَكِ عَنْ أَبِي جَعْفَرٍ الرَّازِيِّ عَنْ لَيْثٍ عَنْ مُجَاهِدٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: لَا تَلَقَّوُا الْبُيُوعَ بِأَفْوَاهِ السِّكَكِ.

L23197 And via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: He said, “Ibn al-Mubarak narrated to us from Abu Ja’far al-Razi from Layth from Mujahid from Ibn ’Umar, who said: Do not intercept sales at the mouths of the roads.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا أَبُو دَاوُد الطَّيَالِسِيُّ عَنْ إيَاسِ بْنِ دَغْفَلٍ: قُرِئَ عَلَيْنَا كِتَابُ عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ -: لَا تَلَقَّوُا الرُّكْبَانَ.

L23198 Through the narration chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I, Abū Dāwūd al-Ṭayālisī, report from Iyās ibn Daghfal: “The letter of ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz was recited to us: ’Do not intercept riders.’” وَمِمَّنْ نَهَى عَنْ تَلَقِّي الرُّكْبَانِ الْجَالِبِينَ جُمْلَةً: اللَّيْثُ، وَالْحَسَنُ بْنُ حَيٍّ، وَأَحْمَدُ بْنُ حَنْبَلٍ، وَإِسْحَاقُ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَصْحَابُهُمْ.

L23199 And among those who prohibited intercepting incoming traders bringing goods in bulk are: Al-Layth, Al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayy, Ahmad ibn Hanbal, Ishaq, Al-Shafi’i, Abu Sulayman, and their followers.

وَقَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ: بِإِيجَابِ الْخِيَارِ لِلْبَائِعِ إذَا قَدِمَ السُّوقَ - وَنَهَى عَنْهُ الْأَوْزَاعِيُّ إنْ كَانَ بِالنَّاسِ إلَيْهِ حَاجَةٌ.

L23200 Al-Shafi‘i and Abu Sulayman held that the right of option is obligatory for the seller when arriving at the marketplace, while Al-Awza‘i prohibited this practice if there was a need for it among the people.

وَأَبَاحَهُ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ جُمْلَةً، إلَّا أَنَّهُ كَرِهَهُ إنْ أَضَرَّ ذَلِكَ بِأَهْلِ الْبَلَدِ دُونَ أَنْ يَحْظُرَهُ، وَأَجَازَهُ بِكُلِّ حَالٍ - وَهَذَا خِلَافٌ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L23201 Abu Hanifah permitted it in general but disliked it if it harmed the towns-people, though he refrained from prohibiting it, and he allowed it in all circumstances. This contradicts the ruling of the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him.

L23202 The disagreement of two Companions—when no opposing Companion is known among the Companions—is venerated by the scholars of a legal school if it conforms to their practice of taqlīd.

وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لِأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ فِي هَذَا الْقَوْلِ أَحَدًا قَالَهُ قَبْلَهُ.

L23203 We do not know of anyone in this opinion attributed to Abū Ḥanīfah who stated it before him.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: لَا يَجُوزُ ذَلِكَ لِلتِّجَارَةِ خَاصَّةً، وَيُؤَدَّبُ مَنْ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ فِي نَوَاحِي الْمِصْرِ فَقَطْ - وَلَا بَأْسَ بِالتَّلَقِّي لِابْتِيَاعِ الْقُوتِ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ وَالْأُضْحِيَّةِ.

L23204 Mālik said: This is impermissible if done purely for trade, and whoever does so is to be disciplined, but only in the vicinity of the city. However, there is no harm in meeting [sellers] to procure necessities such as food or a sacrificial animal.

وَهَذِهِ تَقَاسِيمُ مُخَالِفَةٌ لِلسُّنَّةِ الْوَارِدَةِ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُهَا عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَ مَالِكٍ أَصْلًا.

L23205 These divisions contradict the transmitted Sunnah pertaining to that matter, and we are not aware of anyone before Mālik who held them at all.

L23206 Abu Muhammad said: The ruling of the Messenger of Allah — may Allah’s blessings and peace be upon him — regarding the seller's option is a clarification of the sale's validity, except that the seller retains the choice to annul or uphold it. The option does not exist at all nor is it permissible except for those to whom the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) assigned it. Whoever considers it inheritable has transgressed the limit established by the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), for the option is not inheritable property. Were it inheritable, the beneficiaries of the will would receive their allotted share of it.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَحُكْمُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِالْخِيَارِ لِلْبَائِعِ بَيَانٌ بِصِحَّةِ الْبَيْعِ إِلَّا أَنَّ لِلْبَائِعِ خِيَارًا فِي رَدِّهِ أَوْ إِمْضَائِهِ، وَالْخِيَارُ لَا يَكُونُ أَلْبَتَّةَ وَلَا يَجُوزُ إِلَّا لِمَنْ جَعَلَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَهُ، وَمَنْ جَعَلَهُ يُورَثُ فَقَدْ تَعَدَّى مَا حَدَّ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَلَيْسَ الْخِيَارُ مَالًا يُورَثُ، وَلَوْ وُرِثَ لَكَانَ لِأَهْلِ الْوَصِيَّةِ مِنْهُ نَصِيبُهُمْ.

L23207–23208 Sufyan al-Thawri said: Intercepting goods is prohibited if done at a distance where prayer shortening to that location is not required. If intercepted at the distance where prayer shortening becomes obligatory or beyond, there is no harm in it.

قَالَ سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ: تَلَقِّي السِّلَعِ مَنْهِيٌّ عَنْهُ مَنْ تَلَقَّاهَا بِحَيْثُ لَا تُقْصَرُ الصَّلَاةُ إِلَيْهِ، فَإِنْ تَلَقَّاهَا بِحَيْثُ تُقْصَرُ الصَّلَاةُ فَصَاعِدًا فَلَا بَأْسَ بِذَلِكَ.

L23209 Ali said: Therefore, this is an invalid division because it is an assertion without proof.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: فَهَذَا تَقْسِيمٌ فَاسِدٌ، لِأَنَّهُ دَعْوَى بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ.

L23210 Al-Layth said: The item is taken from the buyer and returned to the seller. If the buyer dies, the item is taken from him, sold in the market, and its price is given to the seller.

وَقَالَ اللَّيْثُ: يُنْزَعُ مِنْ الْمُشْتَرِي وَيُرَدُّ إِلَى الْبَائِعِ، فَإِنْ مَاتَ نُزِعَتْ مِنْ الْمُشْتَرِي وَبِيعَتْ فِي السُّوقِ وَدُفِعَ ثَمَنُهَا إِلَى الْبَائِعِ.

L23211 Abu Muhammad said: Those who permitted meeting incoming caravans cited as evidence the narration we reported via al-Bukhari's chain from Musa ibn Isma'il from Juwayriyya from Nafi' from Ibn Umar (may Allah be pleased with them), who said: "We used to meet incoming caravans and buy food from them, but the Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him) forbade us from selling it until it reaches the food market."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: احْتَجَّ مَنْ أَجَازَ تَلَقِّي الرُّكْبَانِ بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ إِسْمَاعِيلَ عَنْ جُوَيْرِيَةَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا - قَالَ: «كُنَّا نَتَلَقَّى الرُّكْبَانَ فَنَشْتَرِي مِنْهُمْ الطَّعَامَ فَنَهَانَا النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ نَبِيعَهُ حَتَّى يُبْلَغَ بِهِ سُوقَ الطَّعَامِ» .

L23212 From the narration of al-Bukhārī: I, Ibrāhīm ibn al-Mundhir, [narrate] from Abū Ḍamrah—he is Anas ibn ʿIyāḍ—from Mūsā ibn ʿUqbah, from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar: "During the time of the Messenger of Allah—may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him—they used to purchase food from traveling riders. He would send someone to prevent them from selling it where they had purchased it until they move it to the marketplace."

L23213 From the chain of Ibn Ayman: I am Hisham, I am Abu Salih. Al-Laith ibn Sa'd narrated to me: Ibn Ghanj narrated to me, from Nafi', from Ibn Umar, that he narrated: "They used to purchase food during the time of Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him) from caravan riders. The Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him) forbade them to sell it in the very spot where they bought it until they transported it to the food market."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَيْمَنَ أَنَا هِشَامٌ أَنَا أَبُو صَالِحٍ حَدَّثَنِي اللَّيْثُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ حَدَّثَنِي ابْنُ غَنْجٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ حَدَّثَهُ: «أَنَّهُمْ كَانُوا يَشْتَرُونَ الطَّعَامَ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مِنْ الرُّكْبَانِ فَنَهَاهُمْ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَبِيعُوهُ فِي مَكَانِهِمْ الَّذِي ابْتَاعُوهُ فِيهِ حَتَّى يَنْقُلُوهُ إلَى سُوقِ الطَّعَامِ» .

L23214 Abū Muḥammad said: This does not constitute a valid proof for them, due to six aspects:

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ لِسِتَّةِ وُجُوهٍ -:

L23215 One of them is that those who cite this as evidence are the ones who assert that when a Companion narrates a report from the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—then contradicts it or interprets it in a specific way, he is more knowledgeable regarding what he has interpreted, and his statement serves as authoritative evidence to reject the narration. Ibn Umar is the transmitter of this report, and it has been authentically established that he issued a legal ruling prohibiting the pre-emptive purchase of goods, as mentioned earlier, and upholding the transmitted prohibition against it.

أَحَدُهَا - أَنَّ الْمُحْتَجِّينَ بِهَذَا هُمْ الْقَائِلُونَ بِأَنَّ الصَّاحِبَ إذَا رَوَى خَبَرًا عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثُمَّ خَالَفَهُ أَوْ حَمَلَهُ عَلَى تَفْسِيرِ مَا فَهُوَ أَعْلَمُ بِمَا فَسَّرَ، وَقَوْلُهُ حُجَّةٌ فِي رَدِّ الْخَبَرِ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ هُوَ رَاوِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ، وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْهُ الْفُتْيَا بِتَرْكِ التَّلَقِّي كَمَا وَرَدَ آنِفًا، وَالْأَخْذُ بِمَا رُوِيَ مِنْ النَّهْيِ عَنْ التَّلَقِّي.

L23216–23218 And the second [point] is that these two are narrations, and they are the first opponent to disagree with us concerning them. Thus, there is no dislike in their view regarding the sale of... The food is valid from where he acquired it, and no method is worse than that of one who cites a proof he is the first to nullify and contradict what it necessitates.

وَثَانِيهَا - أَنَّ هَذَيْنِ خَبَرَانِ هُمْ أَوَّلُ مُخَالِفٍ لَنَا فِيهِمَا، فَلَا كَرَاهَةَ عِنْدَهُمْ فِي بَيْعِ الطَّعَامِ حَيْثُ ابْتَاعَهُ، وَلَا أَسْوَأَ طَرِيقَةً مِمَّنْ يَحْتَجُّ بِحُجَّةٍ هُوَ أَوَّلُ مُبْطِلٍ لَهَا، وَمُخَالِفٍ لِمُوجِبِهَا.

L23219 The third is that both align with our view, because the meaning of the Messenger of Allah's prohibition—peace and blessings be upon him—against them selling it until they bring it to the food market is a prohibition upon the seller to sell it and upon the buyer to purchase it until he brings it to the market. It is well-known and uncontested in the Arabic language that "I sold" can mean "I bought," and the narration of Musa ibn 'Uqbah is explained according to this as well—that the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited the sellers from selling it in the same location where the buyers bought it from them. This is a sound meaning with no impermissibility in it.

L23220 The fourth point is that even if there were explicit texts in both sources stating the permissibility of receiving riders—and such texts are not present within them—the prohibition would necessarily be the abrogating factor with absolute certainty, beyond doubt. For receiving riders was undoubtedly permissible before the prohibition. These two narrations undoubtedly conformed to the earlier state of affairs. With certainty, every person of understanding knows that when the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited receiving riders, the permissibility was undoubtedly nullified. Thus, the rulings of these two narrations would have been invalidated and abrogated, even if they had established the permissibility of receiving riders. How then, when they contain no such [permissibility]? This is a decisive proof from which there is no escape. Whoever claims the return of a ruling that has been abrogated has lied, followed what he has no knowledge of, and claimed against the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that he did not clarify as he was commanded, and that the religion is disordered, with no one distinguishing its prohibitions from its permissions from its obligations. Allah is far removed from such a thing.

وَخَامِسُهَا - أَنْ يُضَمَّ هَذَانِ الْخَبَرَانِ إلَى أَخْبَارِ النَّهْيِ، فَيَكُونُ الْبَائِعُونَ تَخَيَّرُوا إمْضَاءَ الْبَيْعِ فَأُمِرَ الْمُبْتَاعُونَ بِنَقْلِهِ حِينَئِذٍ إلَى السُّوقِ، فَتَتَّفِقُ الْأَخْبَارُ كُلُّهَا وَلَا تُحْمَلُ عَلَى التَّضَادِّ.

L23221 The fifth point is that these two narrations be combined with the narrations of prohibition, such that the sellers have chosen to finalize the sale, after which the buyers are commanded to transfer it to the marketplace. This harmonizes all the narrations without them being interpreted as contradictory.

وَسَادِسُهَا - أَنَّنَا رُوِّينَا هَذَا الْخَبَرَ بِبَيَانٍ صَحِيحٍ رَافِعٍ لِلْإِشْكَالِ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَنْ هُوَ أَحْفَظُ وَأَضْبَطُ مِنْ جُوَيْرِيَةَ - كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ أَنَا مُسَدَّدٌ أَنَا يَحْيَى - هُوَ ابْنُ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانُ - عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ - هُوَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ - حَدَّثَهُ نَافِعٌ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: «كَانُوا يَبْتَاعُونَ الطَّعَامَ فِي أَعْلَى السُّوقِ وَيَبِيعُونَهُ فِي مَكَانِهِ فَنَهَاهُمْ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَبِيعُوهُ فِي مَكَانِهِ حَتَّى يَنْقُلُوهُ» .

L23222 The sixth point is that we have been narrated this report with a sound clarification resolving the ambiguity via narrators more precise in memorization and accurate than Juwayriyah's chain—as we have been narrated through al-Bukhārī's transmission: from Musaddad, from Yaḥyā—he is Ibn Saʿīd al-Qaṭṭān—from ʿUbayd Allāh—he is Ibn ʿUmar—to whom Nāfiʿ reported, from ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUmar, who said: "They used to purchase food in the upper market area and sell it in the same spot. The Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—forbade them from selling it in its place until they transport it."

L23223–23224 From the chain of Muslim: Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and Muhammad ibn Abdullah ibn Numayr narrated. Ibn Abi Shaybah said: I [narrate] from Ali

ibn Mushir, while Abu Bakr said: I am Ubayy. Then Ali ibn Mushir and Muhammad ibn Abdullah ibn Numayr's chains merged, both narrating from Ubaydullah ibn Umar, from Nafi', from Ibn Umar, who said: "We used to purchase food from caravan traders without measuring, so the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) forbade us from selling it until we had moved it from its place."[21] وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ نُمَيْرٍ قَالَ ابْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ: أَنَا عَلِيُّ بْنُ مُسْهِرٍ، وَقَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ: أَنَا أَبِي، ثُمَّ اتَّفَقَ عَلِيُّ بْنُ مُسْهِرٍ، وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ نُمَيْرٍ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: «كُنَّا نَشْتَرِي الطَّعَامَ مِنْ الرُّكْبَانِ جُزَافًا فَنَهَانَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ نَبِيعَهُ حَتَّى نَنْقُلَهُ مِنْ مَكَانِهِ» .

L23225 This clarifies that the sale occurred in the marketplace - though specifically in its upper section - and particularly in juzāf sales, where buyers were prohibited from such practices. Some of them also cited as evidence a rather unusual point, mentioning a narration from Hisham al-Qurdusi from Ibn Sirin from Abu Hurayrah, which states: "Whoever purchases it has the option to rescind," adding: "This wording also entitles the buyer to the option."

L23226 Abu Muhammad said: This is among the things they have pursued according to their vile habit of insinuation and obfuscation—that they present arguments while bringing forth nothing—because what this speaker has said is invalid. If he had brought this wording, it would have been general, but the narration of Ayyub from Ibn Sirin from Abu Hurairah explains this very report, and that the option belongs solely to the seller. And thus said Abu Hurairah and Ibn Sirin in their fatwas.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا مِمَّا جَرَوْا بِهِ عَلَى عَادَتِهِمْ الْخَبِيثَةِ فِي الْإِيهَامِ وَالتَّمْوِيهِ بِأَنَّهُمْ يَحْتَجُّونَ - وَهُمْ لَا يَأْتُونَ بِشَيْءٍ - لِأَنَّ هَذَا الَّذِي قَالَهُ هَذَا الْقَائِلُ بَاطِلٌ، وَلَوْ جَاءَ بِهَذَا اللَّفْظِ لَكَانَ مُجْمَلًا تُفَسِّرُهُ رِوَايَةُ أَيُّوبَ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ لِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ نَفْسِهِ، وَأَنَّ الْخِيَارَ إنَّمَا هُوَ لِلْبَائِعِ، وَهَكَذَا قَالَ أَبُو هُرَيْرَةَ، وَابْنُ سِيرِينَ فِي فُتْيَاهُمَا.

L23227 Then, imagine if another option were valid for the buyer—what benefit would they have in this? Yet they do not uphold this. If there were any modesty or piety here, it would have restrained them from such obfuscation—all of which is wholly attributable to them.

ثُمَّ هَبْكَ لَوْ صَحَّ خِيَارٌ آخَرُ لِلْمُشْتَرِي فَأَيُّ مَنْفَعَةٍ لَهُمْ فِي هَذَا؟ وَهُمْ لَا يَقُولُونَ بِهَذَا، فَلَوْ كَانَ هَهُنَا حَيَاءٌ، أَوْ وَرَعٌ لَرَدَعَ عَنْ التَّمْوِيهِ بِمِثْلِ هَذَا مِمَّا هُوَ كُلُّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ.

L23228 Abu Muhammad reported that some people held the view: "He (peace be upon him) commanded this purely as a precautionary measure for caravanners, not for settled residents."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَقَالَ بَعْضُ النَّاسِ: إنَّمَا أَمَرَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بِهَذَا حِيَاطَةً لِلْجُلَّابِ دُونَ أَهْلِ الْحَضَرِ -

L23229 Ali said, "Some of them said, 'Rather, protection for the urban residents, قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: بَلْ حِيَاطَةً عَلَى أَهْلِ الْحَضَرِ دُونَ الْجُلَّابِ.

[21] Hadith references (L23224): Sunan Ibn Majah 2229.

excluding the merchants.'"

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَكِلَا الْقَوْلَيْنِ فَاسِدٌ، وَمَا حِيَاطَةُ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لِأَهْلِ الْحَضَرِ إِلَّا كَحِيَاطَتِهِ لِلْجُلَّابِ سَوَاءٌ سَوَاءٌ، قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {لَقَدْ جَاءَكُمْ رَسُولٌ مِنْ أَنْفُسِكُمْ عَزِيزٌ عَلَيْهِ مَا عَنِتُّمْ حَرِيصٌ عَلَيْكُمْ بِالْمُؤْمِنِينَ رَءُوفٌ رَحِيمٌ} [التوبة: ١٢٨] .

L23230 Abu Muhammad said: Both statements are invalid, and the Prophet's protective care for urban dwellers—(peace be upon him)—is no different from his care for the traveling merchants; they are exactly the same without distinction. Allah the Exalted said: "There has certainly come to you a messenger from among yourselves. Grievous to him is what distresses you; he is eager for your guidance, compassionate and merciful to the believers" [At-Tawbah 9:128].[22]

فَهُوَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - ذُو رَأْفَةٍ وَرَحْمَةٍ بِالْمُؤْمِنِينَ كَمَا وَصَفَهُ رَبُّهُ تَعَالَى، وَلَمْ يُفَرِّقْ بَيْنَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْحَضَرِ وَالْمُؤْمِنِينَ مِنَ الْجَالِبِينَ، وَكُلُّهُمْ مُؤْمِنُونَ فَكُلُّهُمْ فِي رَأْفَتِهِ وَرَحْمَتِهِ سَوَاءٌ، وَلَكِنَّهَا الشَّرَائِعُ يُوحِيهَا إِلَيْهِ بَاعِثُهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ فَيُؤَدِّيهَا كَمَا أُمِرَ، لَا يُبَدِّلُهَا مِنْ تِلْقَاءِ نَفْسِهِ، وَلَا يَنْطِقُ عَنِ الْهَوَى، وَلَا عِلَّةَ لِشَيْءٍ مِنْ أَحْكَامِ الشَّرِيعَةِ إِلَّا مَا قَالَهُ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: {لِيَبْلُوَكُمْ أَيُّكُمْ أَحْسَنُ عَمَلًا} [هود: ٧] وَ {لا يُسْأَلُ عَمَّا يَفْعَلُ وَهُمْ يُسْأَلُونَ} [الأنبياء: ٢٣] ، {لا مُعَقِّبَ لِحُكْمِهِ} [الرعد: ٤١] ، وَمَا عَدَا هَذَا فَبَاطِلٌ وَإِفْكٌ مُفْتَرًى.

L23231–23233 He—peace be upon him—is endowed with compassion and mercy toward the believers, as his Lord, the Exalted, has described him. He did not distinguish between believers from settled communities and believers from distant lands, for all are believers, and all are equal in his compassion and mercy. However, the Sharia ordinances are revealed to him by the One who sent him, the Almighty and Majestic, and he implements them as he was commanded. He does not alter them of his own accord, nor does he speak from personal inclination. There is no cause for anything in the rulings of the Sharia except what Allah, the Almighty and Majestic, has said. And He, the Exalted: "To test which of you is best in deed" [Hūd 11:7], "He is not questioned about what He does, but they are questioned" [Al-Anbiyā' 21:23], "None can reverse His decree" [Ar-Ra'd 13:41]. Whatever opposes this is falsehood and invented lies.[23]

فَإِنْ قَالَ قَائِلٌ: فَمَا يَقُولُونَ: فِي خَبَرِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ الْمَذْكُورِ - وَهُوَ صَحِيحٌ - وَأَنْتُمْ الْمُنْتَسِبُونَ إِلَى الْقَوْلِ بِالسُّنَنِ؟

L23234 If someone were to say: What do they say about the aforementioned report of Ibn Umar—and it is authentic—while you yourselves ascribe to the position of following the Sunnah?

قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، وَلِلَّهِ الْحَمْدُ كَثِيرًا، وَسَنَذْكُرُ الْحُكْمَ الَّذِي فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ مِنْ نَقْلِ الطَّعَامِ عَنْ مَوْضِعِ ابْتِيَاعِهِ وَأَنَّهُ فِي الْجُزَافِ خَاصَّةً بَعْدَ هَذَا - إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى - مِنْ خَبَرٍ آخَرَ.

L23235 We said: Yes, and to Allah belongs abundant praise. We will mention the ruling in this narration concerning the transfer of food from its place of purchase—specifically pertaining to approximation sales (juzaf)—and after this—Allah the Exalted willing—from another narration.

وَأَمَّا هَذَا الْخَبَرُ الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا هَهُنَا فَهُوَ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا وَلَا بُدَّ -: إِمَّا أَمْرٌ لِلْبَائِعِينَ وَهُمُ الرُّكْبَانُ الْجَالِبُونَ لَهُ، بِأَنْ نُهُوا عَنْ ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعِ هُنَالِكَ، وَنُهِيَ الْمُشْتَرُونَ عَنِ التَّلَقِّي - وَإِمَّا أَنَّهُ

L23236 As for this report we have mentioned here, it is as we have stated, and it necessarily entails one of the following: either it is a command directed at the sellers—who are the traveling merchants bringing the goods—wherein they are prohibited from engaging in that sale there, and the buyers are prohibited from intercepting; or it is that the sale is invalidated due to the prohibition against intercepting, or specifically in the case of bulk sales without precise measurement, as in the narration of ʻUbayd Allāh. It must necessarily be one of these matters for the reason we have mentioned, and it does not admit any other interpretations at all beyond these two. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

مَفْسُوخٌ بِالنَّهْيِ عَنْ التَّلَقِّي أَوْ فِي الْجُزَافِ خَاصَّةً، كَمَا فِي خَبَرِ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ، لَا بُدَّ مِنْ أَحَدِ هَذِهِ الْأُمُورِ لِمَا ذَكَرْنَا، وَلَا يَحْتَمِلُ غَيْرَ هَذَيْنِ الْوَجْهَيْنِ أَصْلًا - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ لَا يَتَوَلَّى الْبَيْعَ سَاكِنُ مِصْرٍ أَوْ قَرْيَةٍ]

An issue: A resident of a town or village may not act as an agent for the sale.

١٤٧٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ أَنْ يَتَوَلَّى الْبَيْعَ سَاكِنُ مِصْرٍ، أَوْ قَرْيَةٍ، أَوْ مِحْشَرٍ لِخَصَّاصٍ لَا فِي الْبَدْوِ وَلَا فِي شَيْءٍ مِمَّا يَجْلِبُهُ الْخَصَّاصُ إلَى الْأَسْوَاقِ، وَالْمُدُنِ، وَالْقُرَى، أَصْلًا وَلَا أَنْ يَبْتَاعَ لَهُ شَيْئًا لَا فِي حَضَرٍ وَلَا فِي بَدْوٍ، فَإِنْ فَعَلَ فُسِخَ الْبَيْعُ وَالشِّرَاءُ أَبَدًا، وَحُكِمَ فِيهِ بِحُكْمِ الْغَصْبِ، وَلَا خِيَارَ لِأَحَدٍ فِي إمْضَائِهِ، وَلَكِنْ يَدَعُهُ يَبِيعُ لِنَفْسِهِ، أَوْ يَشْتَرِي لِنَفْسِهِ، أَوْ يَبِيعُ لَهُ خَصَّاصٌ مِثْلُهُ، وَيَشْتَرِي لَهُ كَذَلِكَ، لَكِنْ يَلْزَمُ السَّاكِنَ فِي الْمَدِينَةِ، أَوْ الْقَرْيَةِ، أَوْ الْمِحْشَرِ: أَنْ يَنْصَحَ لِلْخَصَّاصِ فِي شِرَائِهِ وَبَيْعِهِ، وَيَدُلَّهُ عَلَى السُّوقِ، وَيُعَرِّفَهُ بِالْأَسْعَارِ، وَيُعِينَهُ عَلَى رَفْعِ سِلْعَتِهِ إنْ لَمْ يُرِدْ بَيْعَهَا وَعَلَى رَفْعِ مَا يَشْتَرِي.

L23238 Issue 1470: It is impermissible for a resident of a city, village, or marketplace to conduct sales on behalf of a supplier - neither in desert areas nor in anything the supplier brings to markets, cities, or villages fundamentally. Nor may he purchase anything for the supplier in urban or rural regions. If he does so, the sale and purchase are permanently annulled and judged as usurpation. No party has the right to enforce it. Instead, the resident must let the supplier sell for himself, purchase for himself, or have another supplier of the same status conduct sales and purchases for him. However, the resident in the city, village, or marketplace is obligated to counsel the supplier in his transactions, direct him to the marketplace, inform him of prices, assist him in removing his merchandise if he does not wish to sell it, and help carry what he purchases.

وَجَائِزٌ لِلْخَصَّاصِ أَنْ يَتَوَلَّى الْبَيْعَ، وَالشِّرَاءَ لِسَاكِنِ الْمِصْرِ، وَالْقَرْيَةِ، وَالْمِحْشَرِ - وَجَائِزٌ لِسَاكِنِ الْمِصْرِ، وَالْقَرْيَةِ، وَالْمِحْشَرِ أَنْ يَبِيعَ وَيَشْتَرِيَ لِمَنْ هُوَ سَاكِنٌ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا.

L23239 It is permissible for an agent to conduct buying and selling on behalf of residents of the city, village, or assembly area. It is likewise permissible for residents of the city, village, or assembly area to buy and sell for those residing in any of these areas.

L23240–23241 The proof of that is what we have related through the chain of Muslim: Zuhayr ibn Harb on the authority of Sufyan ibn ʾUyaynah on the authority of al-Zuhri on the authority of Sa'id ibn al-Musayyib on the authority of Abu Hurayrah that the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) forbade a city dweller to sell for a desert dweller.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا زُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «أَنَّهُ نَهَى أَنْ يَبِيعَ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ» .

L23242 Through the narration of Muslim: Yahya ibn Yahya narrated from Hushaym, from Yunus ibn ʻUbayd, from Ibn Sirin, from Anas ibn Malik, who said: We were forbidden that a townsman sell on behalf of a nomad, even if he was his brother or father.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ عَنْ يُونُسَ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ، قَالَ: نُهِينَا أَنْ يَبِيعَ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ، وَإِنْ كَانَ أَخَاهُ أَوْ أَبَاهُ.

L23243 And through the chain of Muslim: I, Ishaq ibn Ibrahim (he is Ibn Rāhawayh), from Abd al-Razzaq, from Maʻmar, from Ibn Tawus, from his father, from Ibn Abbas, who said: “The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited intercepting merchants on their way to the market and an urban resident selling on behalf of a rural dweller.”[24] وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ - هُوَ ابْنُ رَاهْوَيْهِ - أَنَا عَبْدُ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا مَعْمَرٌ عَنْ ابْنِ طَاوُسٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ تُتَلَقَّى الرُّكْبَانُ وَأَنْ يَبِيعَ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ» .

L23244 Tawus said: “I asked Ibn Abbas, ’What does he mean by his statement ”a settled person acting on behalf of a Bedouin“?”’

قَالَ طَاوُسٍ: فَقُلْت لِابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ: مَا قَوْلُهُ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ؟

L23245 He said: He must not be a broker for him.

قَالَ: لَا يَكُونُ لَهُ سِمْسَارًا.

L23246 From the chain of narration of Ahmad ibn Shuʻayb, from Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥasan, from Ḥajjāj ibn Muḥammad, who said: Ibn Jurayj said: Abū al-Zubayr narrated to me that he heard Jābir ibn ʻAbd Allāh say: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: “A townsman must not sell on behalf of a bedouin. Leave the people alone, for Allah provides sustenance to some of them through others.”[25]

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا إِبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ أَنَا حَجَّاجٌ - هُوَ ابْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ - قَالَ: قَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ: أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «لَا يَبِعْ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ، دَعُوا النَّاسَ يَرْزُقُ اللَّهُ بَعْضَهُمْ مِنْ بَعْضٍ» .

L23247 From the transmission path of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I am Shababah, from Ibn Abi Dhi’b – Muslim the tailor narrated to me – from Ibn Umar, who said: “The Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings of Allah be upon him, prohibited a city dweller from acting as an intermediary in selling for a Bedouin.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا شَبَابَةُ عَنْ ابْنِ أَبِي ذِئْبٍ حَدَّثَنِي مُسْلِمٌ الْخَيَّاطُ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ حَاضِرٍ لِبَادٍ» .

L23248 This is the transmission of five Companions through authentic chains, thereby constituting a mutawatir transmission (a transmission with an uninterrupted chain). The Companions – may Allah be pleased with them – adhere to this, as was narrated to us earlier: Ibn ʿAbbās, the interpreter and clarifier.

فَهَذَا نَقْلُ خَمْسَةٍ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ بِالطُّرُقِ الثَّابِتَةِ، فَهُوَ نَقْلُ تَوَاتُرٍ، وَبِهِ تَأْخُذُ الصَّحَابَةُ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -: كَمَا رُوِّينَا آنِفًا ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ مُفَسِّرًا مُبَيِّنًا.

L23249–23251 Through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Waki‘ narrated from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Abu Musa, from al-Sha‘bi: The early Muslim Emigrants used to disapprove of a townsman acting as an intermediary in the sale for a desert-dweller. Al-Sha‘bī said: “And indeed, I most certainly do it.”

L23252 Abū Muḥammad said: It is preferable that the statement of al-Shaʿbī—“And indeed I do it,” meaning “I dislike it as they disliked it”—be applied to this ruling. Through the transmission of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: I am Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah, narrating from Muslim the cloth merchant, that he heard Abū Hurayrah prohibiting an urban resident from selling on behalf of a Bedouin.

L23253 Ibn Abī Shaybah reported via Ibn ʿUyaynah, from Muslim al-Khayyāṭ, that he heard Abū Hurayrah say: “It was prohibited for a settled person to sell on behalf of a Bedouin.” And ʿUmar was heard saying: “A settled person must not sell on behalf of a Bedouin.”

L23254 Through the narration of Waki‘ from Sufyān al-Thawrī from Abū Ḥamzah from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, who reported that ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb said: “Guide them to the market, guide them to the way, and inform them of the price.”

L23255 Through the narration chain of Abu Dawud, I heard Hafs ibn Umar say: I am Abu Hilal; I am Muhammad ibn Sirin—narrating from Anas ibn Malik, who said: It was said, “Let no urban dweller sell on behalf of a Bedouin”—a comprehensive phrase meaning he must neither sell anything for them nor purchase anything for them.

L23256 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I narrate from Abu Usamah, from Abdullah ibn Awn, from Ibn Sirin, from Anas, who said: An urban resident must not sell for a rural dweller.

L23257 From the chain of Abū Dāwūd: I am Mūsā ibn Ismāʿīl, from Ḥammād

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ: كَانَ الْمُهَاجِرُونَ يَكْرَهُونَ بَيْعَ حَاضِرٍ لِبَادٍ قَالَ الشَّعْبِيُّ: وَإِنِّي لَأَفْعَلُهُ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: الْأَوْلَى أَنْ يُحْمَلَ عَلَيْهِ قَوْلُ الشَّعْبِيِّ، " وَإِنِّي لَأَفْعَلُهُ " أَيْ إنِّي أَكْرَهُهُ كَمَا كَرِهُوهُ -: وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ مُسْلِمٍ الْخَيَّاطِ: أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ أَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ يَنْهَى أَنْ يَبِيعَ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ مُسْلِمٍ الْخَيَّاطِ: أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ أَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ يَقُولُ: نُهِيَ أَنْ يَبِيعَ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ - وَسُمِعَ عُمَرُ يَقُولُ: لَا يَبِيعُ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي حَمْزَةَ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ قَالَ: قَالَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ: دُلُّوهُمْ عَلَى السُّوقِ، دُلُّوهُمْ عَلَى الطَّرِيقِ، وَأَخْبِرُوهُمْ بِالسِّعْرِ.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد سَمِعْت حَفْصَ بْنَ عُمَرَ يَقُولُ: أَنَا أَبُو هِلَالٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ: كَانَ يُقَالُ: لَا يَبِعْ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ - وَهِيَ كَلِمَةٌ جَامِعَةٌ لَا يَبِيعُ لَهُ شَيْئًا وَلَا يَبْتَاعُ لَهُ شَيْئًا.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا أَبُو أُسَامَةَ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَوْنٍ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ: لَا يَبِعْ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ.

ibn Salamah, from Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq, from Sālim al-Mālikī: A Bedouin informed him that he came with his desert trade goods during the lifetime of the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—and stayed with Ṭalḥah ibn ʿAbdullāh. Ṭalḥah said to him: "The Prophet—peace be upon him—has forbidden a city dweller from selling for a Bedouin. But go to the market, observe who negotiates a deal with you, then consult me so I may command you or forbid you."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا مُوسَى بْنُ إِسْمَاعِيلَ أَنَا حَمَّادُ بْنُ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ سَالِمٍ الْمَالِكِيِّ: أَنَّ «أَعْرَابِيًّا حَدَّثَهُ أَنَّهُ قَدِمَ بِجَلُوبَةٍ لَهُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَنَزَلَ عَلَى طَلْحَةَ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، فَقَالَ لَهُ طَلْحَةُ: إِنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى أَنْ يَبِيعَ حَاضِرٌ لِبَادٍ، وَلَكِنْ اذْهَبْ إِلَى السُّوقِ فَانْظُرْ مَنْ بَايَعَكَ فَشَاوِرْنِي حَتَّى آمُرَكَ أَوْ أَنْهَاكَ» .

L23258 These Muhajirun as a group—Umar ibn al-Khattab, Anas, Ibn Abbas, Abu Hurairah, and Talhah—with no known dissenter among the Companions opposing them, may Allah be pleased with them, and this is the view of Aṭāʾ and Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz.

فَهَؤُلَاءِ الْمُهَاجِرُونَ جُمْلَةً، وَعُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ، وَأَنَسٌ، وَابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ، وَأَبُو هُرَيْرَةَ، وَطَلْحَةُ، لَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُمْ يُعْرَفُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ عَطَاءٍ، وَعُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ.

L23259 And it has been narrated to us from some of the Tābiʿūn his differing.

وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ بَعْضِ التَّابِعِينَ خِلَافُهُ.

L23260 It has been narrated to us from al-Ḥasan that he saw no harm in purchasing from a Bedouin for another Bedouin. When asked: "Then can it be purchased from him for the Muhājir [emigrant]?" he replied: "No."

رُوِّينَا عَنْ الْحَسَنِ أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ مِنْ الْأَعْرَابِيِّ لِلْأَعْرَابِيِّ، قِيلَ لَهُ: فَيُشْتَرَى مِنْهُ لِلْمُهَاجِرِ؟ قَالَ لَا.

L23261–23262 From the narration of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym Abū Ḥurrah said: I heard al-Ḥasan say: "Buy on behalf of the Bedouin, but do not sell on his behalf." From the narration of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Abū Dāwūd al-Ṭayālisī narrated from Iyās ibn Daghfal: "The letter of ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz was recited to us, stating: 'A settled person must not sell on behalf of a desert dweller.'" From the narration of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Sufyān narrated from Ibn Abī Najīḥ from Mujāhid, who said: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited a settled person from selling on behalf of a desert dweller because he sought to prevent Muslims from taking advantage of their naivety. As for today, there is no harm." ʿAṭāʾ said: "It is not suitable today." From the narration of Wakīʿ from Ibn Khuthaym: I asked ʿAṭāʾ: "A group of Bedouins come to us—should we purchase goods for them?" He replied: "There is no harm." goods at lower prices from the Bedouins." This is the opinion of al-Awzāʿī, Sufyān al-Thawrī, Aḥmad, Isḥāq, al-Shāfiʿī, Abū Sulaymān, Mālik, and al-Layth. Al-Awzāʿī said: "One must not sell on their behalf, but may advise them, for advice does not constitute a sale." However, al-Shāfiʿī stated: "If the sale is concluded, it is not invalidated."

L23263–23265 Al-Layth and Malik said: One should not offer advice to him. Malik said: The urban dweller must not sell to villagers either, and there is no harm in an urban dweller purchasing on behalf of a rural dweller—the prohibition applies solely to selling on his behalf. He then said: A city resident must not sell to an Egyptian resident, nor an Egyptian resident to a city resident, but each may advise the other and inform him of the prevailing rate. Abū Ḥanīfa said: The urban dweller may sell to the rural dweller; there is no harm in that. Abū Muḥammad said: As for our invalidating the sale, it is a forbidden transaction performed by one prohibited from such sales, for the Messenger of God—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Whoever acts contrary to our instruction, his deed is rejected." Al-Shāfiʿī contradicted himself here by not voiding this sale while nullifying other prohibited transactions without distinguishing evidence. As for those who claim the prohibition aims to protect the Bedouin from deception and to favor urban residents, Thus, this is invalid—how could it ever apply to the Messenger of Allah (may Allah bless him and his family and grant him peace)—for he is the one about whom his Lord, the Exalted, said: "Kind and merciful to the believers" [Al-Tawbah: 128]. The Bedouins are believers like urban dwellers, so his care and guardianship (peace be upon him) are equally extended to all. This corrupt interpretation is invalidated through sound reasoning: if such consideration were specific to urban dwellers, it would permit a city resident to broker sales between Bedouins or purchase from them for himself—yet both acts remain impermissible. Thus, it becomes clear that this is a corrupt effec-

L23266 As for Mālik's statement, it is erroneous in several respects. Regarding his distinction between selling to the Bedouin—which he prohibited—and purchasing on their behalf—which he permitted—this is a manifest error. The wording "he should not sell" inherently requires that he should not purchase for them either, as stated by Anas ibn Mālik—who is an authority in both language and religion. The Arabs use "I sold" in the absolute sense of "I bought." If someone purchases for them from a third party, they have certainly sold from that third party to them without compulsion or necessity. The Exalted said: "Hasten to the remembrance of Allah and abandon trade" [62:9]. Thus, purchasing was prohibited just as selling was prohibited, yet here purchasing for them is permitted while selling to them is forbidden. As for Mālik's statement "he should not sell to settled dwellers," it is erroneous because the term "Bedouin" is never applied by the Arabs to urban inhabitants whatsoever. It specifically denotes tent-dwellers and distinct nomadic groups who migrate to rainfall-dependent areas solely for grazing.[28]

وَأَمَّا تَفْرِيقُهُ بَيْنَ مَنْ كَانَ مِنْ أَهْلِ الدِّينِ بِمَنْزِلَةِ أَهْلِ الْمُدُنِ وَبَيْنَ سَائِرِ أَهْلِ الْقُرَى، فَخَطَأٌ ثَالِثٌ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ أَصْلًا. وَأَمَّا قَوْلُهُ " لَا يَبِعْ مَدَنِيٌّ لِمِصْرِيٍّ وَلَا مِصْرِيٌّ لِمَدَنِيٍّ " فَخَطَأٌ رَابِعٌ لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَيْهِ أَلْبَتَّةَ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا قَالَهُ قَبْلَهُ.

L23267 As for his differentiation between those among the people of religion equivalent to city dwellers and the rest of the villagers, this constitutes a third error without any evidence whatsoever. As for his statement "A city dweller must not sell to an urban resident, nor an urban resident to a city dweller," this is a fourth error with absolutely no evidence to support it, nor do we know of anyone who has asserted this before him.

وَإِنَّمَا تَفْرِيقُهُ بَيْنَ الْمَدَنِيِّ، وَالْمِصْرِيِّ، فَرَأَى أَنْ يُشِيرَ كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا عَلَى الْآخَرِ وَلَا يَبِيعَ لَهُ، وَلَمْ يَرَ أَنْ يُشِيرَ حَاضِرٌ عَلَى أَعْرَابِيٍّ وَلَا يَبِيعَ لَهُ -: فَخَطَأٌ خَامِسٌ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ؟ فَهَذِهِ وُجُوهٌ خَمْسَةٌ مُخَالِفَةٌ لِلْخَبَرِ الْمَذْكُورِ، لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّةِ شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، وَلَا

L23268–23270 His differentiation between the urban dweller and the metropolitan resident—where he held that each should advise the other while not selling to him, yet deemed it impermissible for a settled resident to advise a Bedouin or sell to him—does this not constitute a fifth error without proof? These are five positions contradicting the mentioned narration, with no evidence supporting any of them—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor an unsound narration, nor analogy, nor a substantiated opinion, nor any precedent from predecessors whether among the Companions or the Followers. As for his statement "A settled resident does not advise a Bedouin," those who adopt this position cite what is narrated in... Some of these narrations are from the saying of Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—: "Let the people be: Allah provides sustenance to some of them through others." Abu Muhammad said: This contains no evidence for their position whatsoever, nor does this wording imply the bias toward rural dwellers they imagined—neither explicit text, nor transmitted precedent, nor any semblance of argument in any respect. For he—peace be upon him—did not say: "Let the urban dwellers be; Allah will provide them sustenance through rural people." Rather, he said: "Let the people be: Allah provides sustenance to some of them through others." Rural people are part of "the people" just as urban people are—fully equal, without distinction. Thus, this wording encompasses Allah the Exalted's provision to the rural from the urban, to the rural from the rural, to the urban from the rural, and to the urban from the urban—with equal inclusion, granting no superiority to any of these over another. Therefore, that false presumption is invalidated, and only what is permissible in urban-to-urban transactions is permitted in transactions between rural and urban dwellers—with no difference. If they argue: "He merely prohibited selling on their behalf, so we analogize this prohibition to not advising them," we respond: All analogical reasoning is invalid. Even if it were valid, this would be the very essence of falsehood—for you refrained from prohibiting purchasing on their behalf by analogy to selling on their behalf, even though purchasing is akin to selling. Moreover, you analogized offering recommendations regarding a sale to the sale itself, though they share no connection in origin or outcome.

L23271–23273 They do not differ regarding the fact that if a man consults another after the call to Friday concerning a sale and the latter advises him, he does not commit a restriction nor does he perform a disliked act. But if he were to sell or buy, he would be disobeying Allah the Exalted. Similarly, if someone swears not to sell and then advises in a matter of sale, he does not break his oath. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him and his progeny—said: "Religion is sincere advice to Allah, His Messenger, His Book, the leaders, and the general body of Muslims." As for the initiator among Muslims, sincere advice to him is an obligation. Had Allah the Exalted willed to prohibit advising him, He would have explicitly stated that, just as He explicitly stated the ruling on selling through the tongue of His Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him and his progeny. We previously mentioned the obligation of sincere advice to the initiator through the reports of Umar ibn al-Khattab and Talhah ibn Ubaydullah, with no dissenting opinion from among the Companions regarding this. There is also a narration concerning this matter: As we have reported through the chain of Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr: Ḥammād ibn Zayd narrated to us from 'Aṭā' ibn al-Sā'ib from Ḥakīm ibn Abī Yazīd from his father, who said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Leave the people alone; Allah provides sustenance to some through others. When a man seeks sincere counsel from his brother, let him advise him sincerely." As for Abū Ḥanīfah, he did not require prolonged elaboration but opposed the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) regarding his prohibition against a city dweller selling on behalf of a desert dweller, based on the transmission of mutawatir reports.

Who is more astonishing than one who rejects these abundantly transmitted, manifest, and authentic reports from the Sunnah and the Companions, then blindly follows feeble, fabricated reports in deeming the runaway slave [as such] - neither justifying them nor interpreting this [matter] within them? Yet they assert in their principles that a report, even if weak, is stronger than rational analysis - and sufficient for us is Allah, what an excellent Trustee He is!

L23275 The ruling on the sale of all types of fruits that have appeared from the walled orchard.

L23276 Issue 1471: If a walled garden contains various types of fruits such as pears, apples, peaches, and others, and the ripeness of some fruits from one variety becomes apparent while other varieties remain unripe, it is permissible to sell all varieties of fruits from that walled garden that have shown ripeness, even if they have not yet ripened, provided they are sold in a single transaction. If one intends to sell them in two transactions, it is forbidden to sell any fruit that has not shown signs of ripeness, even if that variety later begins to ripen—except for dates and grapes. It is forbidden to sell any of them, whether separately or combined with other fruits, until the dates reach the stage of zahw and the grapes begin to darken or show signs of ripeness.

L23277 The proof for this is that the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—prohibited the sale of fruits until their ripeness becomes evident. This ripeness—which permits selling fruits after the initial prohibition—must necessarily refer to one of the following: either the Prophet—peace be upon him—intended by it the first appearance of ripeness in any part of the fruit, the attainment of full ripeness throughout its entirety from beginning to end, the presence of ripeness in most of it, in a minimal portion of it, or in a specified fraction such as half, a third, a quarter, a tenth, or similar measures. It is absolutely imperative that this ripeness correspond to one of these descriptions.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرَةِ حَتَّى يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهَا، وَلَا يَخْلُو هَذَا الصَّلَاحُ الَّذِي بِهِ يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الثِّمَارِ بَعْدَ تَحْرِيمِهِ مِنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَرَادَ بِهِ ابْتِدَاءَ ظُهُورِ الطِّيبِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ، أَوْ تَنَاهِي الطِّيبِ فِي جَمِيعِهِ أَوَّلِهِ عَنْ آخِرِهِ، أَوْ فِي أَكْثَرِهِ، أَوْ فِي أَقَلِّهِ، أَوْ فِي جُزْءٍ مُسَمًّى مِنْهُ: كَنِصْفٍ، أَوْ ثُلُثٍ، أَوْ رُبُعٍ، أَوْ عُشْرٍ، أَوْ نَحْوِ ذَلِكَ لَا بُدَّ ضَرُورَةً مِنْ أَحَدِ هَذِهِ الْوُجُوهِ.

L23278–23279 It is impossible and inconceivable - indeed, wholly impossible - that he (peace be upon him) would intend most of it, the least of it, or a specifically named portion thereof and then fail to explicitly state or clarify it, when Allah the Exalted has mandated him to elucidate. There is no basis for him to impose upon us a divine law that we do not know what it is, for this would mean he (peace be upon him) is contradicting his Lord's command to clarify - a claim no Muslim would utter.

فَمِنَ الْمُحَالِ الْمُمْتَنِعِ الَّذِي لَا يُمْكِنُ أَصْلًا أَنْ يُرِيدَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَكْثَرَهُ، أَوْ أَقَلَّهُ، أَوْ جُزْءًا مُسَمًّى مِنْهُ ثُمَّ لَا يَنُصُّ عَلَى ذَلِكَ وَلَا يُبَيِّنُهُ، وَقَدْ افْتَرَضَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ عَلَيْهِ الْبَيَانَ، فَلَا سَبِيلَ إِلَى أَنْ يُكَلِّفَنَا شَرْعًا لَا نَدْرِي مَا هُوَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ كَانَ يَكُونُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - مُخَالِفًا لِأَمْرِ رَبِّهِ تَعَالَى لَهُ بِالْبَيَانِ، وَهَذَا مَا لَا يَقُولُهُ مُسْلِمٌ.

L23280 Moreover, this would impose upon us a divine obligation beyond our capacity—to know what we have not been informed of. Yet Allah, the Exalted, has spared us from this through His statement: "Allah does not burden any soul beyond its capacity" [Al-Baqarah: 286].[29]

وَأَيْضًا - فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ كَانَ يَكُونُ تَكْلِيفًا لَنَا مَا لَا نُطِيقُهُ مِنْ مَعْرِفَةِ مَا لَمْ نُعَرَّفْ بِهِ وَقَدْ أَمَّنَنَا اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مِنْ ذَلِكَ بِقَوْلِهِ تَعَالَى {لا يُكَلِّفُ اللَّهُ نَفْسًا إِلا وُسْعَهَا} [البقرة: ٢٨٦].

L23281 These opinions are invalidated with certainty beyond doubt, leaving only two possibilities: either the emergence of ripeness in any part of it—even if minimal—or the universality of ripeness encompassing all of it. We examined the wording of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and found that it states: "until its ripeness becomes apparent," thus confirming that it is the emergence of ripeness. For even the ripeness of a single seed is linguistically applied to the whole by saying, "the ripeness of this fruit has emerged." This is the requirement dictated by the wording of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him).

وَلَوْ أَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَرَادَ صَلَاحَ جَمِيعِهِ لَقَالَ: حَتَّى يَصْلُحَ جَمِيعُهُ.

L23282 And if he (peace be upon him) had intended the reform of all of it, he would have said: "until all of it is reformed."

وَأَيْضًا - فَإِنَّ جَمِيعَ الثِّمَارِ يَبْدُو صَلَاحُ بَعْضِهِ ثُمَّ يَتَتَابَعُ صَلَاحُ شَيْءٍ شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ، فَلَا يَصِحُّ آخِرُهُ إِلَّا وَلَوْ تَرَكَ أَوَّلَهُ لَفَسَدَ وَضَاعَ بِلَا شَكٍّ، وَقَدْ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ إِضَاعَةِ الْمَالِ.

L23283 Furthermore, for all fruits, the ripeness of some initially becomes evident, then continues to develop gradually. Thus, the latter [stage] cannot properly ripen unless the former [stage] is preserved—for if the first were neglected, it would undoubtedly spoil and be wasted. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited the squandering of property.

وَأَيْضًا - فَلَا نَعْرِفُ أَحَدًا قَالَ هَذَا قَدِيمًا وَلَا حَدِيثًا، وَلَا زَالَ النَّاسُ يَتَبَايَعُونَ الثِّمَارَ كُلَّ عَامٍ عَمَلًا عَامًّا فَاشِيًا ظَاهِرًا بِعِلْمِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثُمَّ كَذَلِكَ كُلَّ عَامٍ فِي جَمِيعِ أَقْطَارِ أَهْلِ الْإِسْلَامِ مَا قَالَ قَطُّ أَحَدٌ: إِنَّهُ لَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الثَّمَرِ إِلَّا حَتَّى يَتِمَّ صَلَاحُ جَمِيعِهِ حَتَّى لَا يَبْقَى مِنْهُ وَلَا حَبَّةٌ وَاحِدَةٌ.

L23284 Moreover, we do not know of anyone who has ever stated this, neither in ancient nor modern times. People have continuously engaged in mutual trade of fruits annually—a general, widespread, and evident practice carried out with the knowledge of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). Then, in this manner, it has continued every year across all regions of the Muslim lands. No one has ever asserted that selling fruit is impermissible until all of it is fully ripe such that not even a single seed remains unripe.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَإِذْ الْأَمْرُ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا فَبَيْعُ ثِمَارِ الْحَائِطِ الْجَامِعِ لِأَصْنَافِ الشَّجَرِ صَفْقَةً وَاحِدَةً بَعْدَ ظُهُورِ الطِّيبِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ: جَائِزٌ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ اللَّيْثِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ، لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ ثِمَارٍ قَدْ بَدَا صَلَاحُهَا، وَلَمْ يَقُلْ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: إِنَّ ذَلِكَ لَا يَجُوزُ إِلَّا فِي صِنْفٍ وَاحِدٍ، وَلَوْ كَانَ ذَلِكَ هُوَ اللَّازِمُ لَمَا أَغْفَلَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بَيَانَهُ.

L23285 Abu Muhammad said: Since the matter is as we have described, the sale of fruits from a unified walled orchard encompassing diverse tree types in a single transaction after any part of them shows ripeness is permissible—this being the opinion of al-Layth ibn Saʿd—because it is the sale of fruits whose ripeness has become apparent. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—did not state that such permissibility applies only to a single type. Had this been the necessary consequence, he—peace be upon him—would not have omitted its clarification.

L23286–23288 When produce is sold in two transactions, it is impermissible to sell any fruit that has not yet shown any signs of suitability [for consumption]—whether it is from a type where suitability has appeared in others (of the same type) or from another type—because this constitutes selling fruit whose suitability has not yet manifested. This is forbidden. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him and his family—undoubtedly referred the pronoun (the "hā" in "its ripeness") back to the sold fruit mentioned in the report. Thus, what we have stated is confirmed with certainty. As for date palms and grapes, another explicit text specifically addressed them: his prohibition—peace be upon him—against selling dates until they ripen or redden, and against selling grapes until they blacken or their ripeness becomes evident by their inclusion among other fruits—even if they are of a type that does not blacken. Therefore, it is impermissible to sell any dates or grapes until the sold portion of them reaches a state of blooming/color change or demonstrates inherent ripeness through blackening or another indicator—and success is only by Allah's facilitation, the Exalted.

وَأَمَّا إِذَا بِيعَ الثَّمَرُ صَفْقَتَيْنِ فَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ مَا لَمْ يَبْدُ فِيهِ شَيْءٌ مِنْ الصَّلَاحِ بَعْدُ، سَوَاءٌ كَانَ مِنْ صِنْفٍ قَدْ بَدَا الصَّلَاحُ فِي غَيْرِهِ أَوْ مِنْ صِنْفٍ آخَرَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ ثَمَرَةٍ لَمْ يَبْدُ صَلَاحُهَا وَهَذَا حَرَامٌ، وَإِنَّمَا رَدَّ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الضَّمِيرَ - وَهُوَ الْهَاءُ الَّذِي فِي " صَلَاحِهِ " - إلَى الثَّمَرِ الْمَبِيعِ الْمَذْكُورِ فِي الْخَبَرِ بِلَا شَكٍّ - فَصَحَّ مَا قُلْنَاهُ يَقِينًا. وَأَمَّا النَّخْلُ، وَالْعِنَبُ، فَقَدْ خَصَّهُمَا نَصٌّ آخَرُ، وَهُوَ نَهْيُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - عَنْ بَيْعِ ثَمَرِ النَّخْلِ حَتَّى تَزْهَى أَوْ تَحْمَرَّ، وَعَنْ بَيْعِ الْعِنَبِ حَتَّى يَسْوَدَّ أَوْ يَبْدُوَ صَلَاحُهُ بِدُخُولِهِ فِي سَائِرِ الثِّمَارِ - وَإِنْ كَانَ مِمَّا لَا يَسْوَدُّ، فَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ثِمَارِ النَّخْلِ، وَالْعِنَبِ؛ إلَّا حَتَّى يَصِيرَ الْمَبِيعُ مِنْهُمَا فِي حَالِ الْإِزْهَاءِ أَوْ ظُهُورِ الطِّيبِ فِيهِ نَفْسِهِ بِالسَّوَادِ، أَوْ بِغَيْرِهِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

Issue: The sale of young pigeons within the dovecote for a specified term, such as one year.

1472 - Issue:

It is impermissible to sell pigeon chicks in the dovecote for a specified duration—such as a year, six months, or the like—because this constitutes selling what has not yet been created and a gharar sale where neither the quantity nor attributes are known, amounting to wrongful consumption of wealth. The lawful obligation in this matter is to sell only those chicks that have become visible after the seller (or his wakīl) and the buyer (or his wakīl) have inspected them, even if they—or one of them—do not know their exact number, or if none of the aforementioned parties have seen them. The sale is then concluded based on the description provided by whichever party has seen them.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ فِرَاخِ الْحَمَامِ فِي الْبُرْجِ مُدَّةً مُسَمَّاةً كَسَنَةٍ، أَوْ سِتَّةِ أَشْهُرٍ، أَوْ نَحْوِ ذَلِكَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ مَا لَمْ يُخْلَقْ، وَبَيْعُ غَرَرٍ لَا يُدْرَى كَمْ يَكُونُ، وَلَا أَيُّ صِفَةٍ يَكُونُ فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَإِنَّمَا الْوَاجِبُ فِي الْحَلَالِ فِي ذَلِكَ بَيْعُ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا بَعْدَ أَنْ يَقِفَ الْبَائِعُ أَوْ وَكِيلُهُ، وَالْمُشْتَرِي أَوْ وَكِيلُهُ عَلَيْهَا، وَإِنْ لَمْ يَعْرِفَا أَوْ أَحَدُهُمَا عَدَدَهَا أَوْ يَرَهَا أَحَدُ مَنْ ذَكَرْنَا فَيَقَعُ الْبَيْعُ بَيْنَهُمَا عَلَى صِفَةِ الَّذِي رَآهَا مِنْهُمَا.

If the two parties dispute thereafter regarding chicks, with the buyer asserting, "They existed at the time of sale and were included in it," and the other party claiming, "They did not exist at that time," and there is no evidence:

فَإِنْ تَدَاعَيَا بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ فِي فِرَاخٍ فَقَالَ الْمُشْتَرِي: كَانَتْ مَوْجُودَةً حِينَ الْبَيْعِ فَدَخَلَتْ فِيهِ، وَقَالَ الْآخَرُ: لَمْ تَكُنْ مَوْجُودَةً حِينَئِذٍ، وَلَا بَيِّنَةَ: حَلَفَا مَعًا، وَقُضِيَ بِهَا بَيْنَهُمَا، لِأَنَّهَا فِي both shall swear together, and the matter is decided between them. This is because they share possession—the buyer by right of purchase for the chicks in the brooding enclosure, and the original owner by right of ownership over the hens and the location. And success comes from Allah, the Exalted. However, if the buyer took possession of all the chicks and acknowledged this, then later claimed something remained there, it belongs solely to the seller upon the seller's oath alone, as he is the one against whom the claim is made regarding what is in his possession.

The ruling on selling the young of all animals at the time of their birth.

Issue 1473: It is permissible to sell the young of all animals at birth. Both the buyer and seller are compelled to let them remain with their mothers until they can survive independently in a manner that causes no harm to the mothers. Similarly, it is permissible to sell incubated eggs, and both are compelled to let them remain until they hatch and no longer require the mothers.

The proof of that is Allah's statement, the Mighty and Majestic: "And Allah has permitted trade" [Al-Baqarah 2:275].[30]

As for abandoning all of that until [the offspring] no longer need the mothers, this is derived from the words of God Almighty: _"Cooperate in righteousness and piety, and do not cooperate in sin and aggression"_ [Al-Mā'idah: 2], the prohibition against wasting wealth, the stern divine warning against those who torture animals or make them endure suffering, and the removal of the offspring from the mothers before... Neglecting to slaughter it when required is a punishment for its owner and slaughter, except for one who slaughters it solely for consumption as we mentioned in "The Book of What is Permissible to Eat and What is Prohibited." Removing the eggs after they have changed from their state through incubation is wasteful destruction of wealth.[31]

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ثَمَرِ النَّخْلِ مِنْ البلح وَغَيْره بَعْضه بِبَعْضٍ]

The ruling regarding the sale of any part of the fruit of the palm tree, such as fresh dates or others, by exchanging part of it for another part of the same type.

L23299 L23300 Issue 1474: It is not permissible to sell any part of date palm fruits - such as unripe dates (balaḥ), partially ripe dates (busr), yellowish dates (zahū), hardened dates (mukth), reddening dates (ḥulqān), softening dates (maʿw), dates ready for drying (maʿḍ), thaghd dates, or fresh soft dates (rutab) - exchanging some for others of the same variety or a different variety, nor in exchange for dates, whether identical in type or differing in quality, whether for immediate payment or deferred payment, whether while still on the palms or after being placed on the ground.

وَيَجُوزُ بَيْعُ الزَّهْوِ، وَالرُّطَبِ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ، حَاشَا مَا ذَكَرْنَا نَقْدًا وَبِالدَّرَاهِمِ وَالدَّنَانِيرِ نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً، حَاشَا الْعَرَايَا فِي الرُّطَبِ وَحْدَهُ.

L23301 The sale of unripe dates and ripe dates is permissible in exchange for anything lawful to sell, except for the cash transaction as specified, dirhams and dinars whether paid immediately or deferred, and the ʻaraya exception applicable solely to ripe dates.

وَمَعْنَاهَا أَنْ يَأْتِيَ الرُّطَبُ وَيَكُونُ قَوْمٌ يُرِيدُونَ ابْتِيَاعَ الرُّطَبِ لِلْأَكْلِ فَأُبِيحَ لَهُمْ أَنْ يَبْتَاعُوا رُطَبًا فِي رُءُوسِ النَّخْلِ بِخَرْصِهَا تَمْرًا فِيمَا دُونَ خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ، يَدْفَعُ التَّمْرَ إِلَى صَاحِبِ الرُّطَبِ وَلَا بُدَّ - وَلَا يَحِلُّ بِتَأْخِيرٍ، وَلَا فِي خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ فَصَاعِدًا، وَلَا بِأَقَلَّ مِنْ خَرْصِهَا تَمْرًا وَلَا بِأَكْثَرَ، فَإِنْ وَقَعَ مَا قُلْنَا: أَنَّهُ لَا يَجُوزُ فَسْخٌ أَبَدًا، وَضَمِنَ ضَمَانَ الْغَصْبِ.

L23302 Its meaning is that when fresh dates arrive and people wish to purchase them for consumption, they are permitted to buy fresh dates still on palm trees by assessing their equivalent in dried dates for quantities under five wasqs. The dried dates must be delivered to the owner of the fresh dates without fail - it is impermissible with delay, nor for five wasqs or more, nor for assessing less or more than their dried date value. If the impermissible conditions we mentioned occur, the transaction is permanently invalidated, and the liable party incurs liability as in unlawful seizure.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ - مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا ابْنُ نُمَيْرٍ: وَزُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ أَنَا الزُّهْرِيُّ عَنْ سَالِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ» .

L23303 The evidence for this is what was narrated to us through the path of Muslim: I [am] Ibn Numayr and Zuhayr ibn Harb—they both said: We [narrate] from Sufyan ibn ʻUyaynah, who said: We [narrate] from Az-Zuhri, from Salim ibn ʻAbdullah, from his father, that the Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him - prohibited the sale of dates for dates.[32] rated from Sulayman ibn Bilal, who narrated from Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Ansari, who narrated from Bashir ibn Yasar, who narrated from certain Companions of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) from among the members of their household—including Sahl ibn Abi Hathma—that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) forbade exchanging dates for dates, stating: "That is usury."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْلَمَةَ الْقَعْنَبِيُّ أَنَا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ بِلَالٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ عَنْ بُشَيْرِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ بَعْضِ أَصْحَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مِنْ أَهْلِ دَارِهِمْ مِنْهُمْ سَهْلُ بْنُ أَبِي حَثْمَةَ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ وَقَالَ: ذَلِكَ الرِّبَا» .

L23305 It has also been authentically established through the narration of Rāfiʿ ibn Khadīj and Abū Hurayrah from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that there is a prohibition against selling dates for dates, and the term "agricultural goods" implies the categories we mentioned.

وَصَحَّ أَيْضًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ رَافِعِ بْنِ خَدِيجٍ، وَأَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ «عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: النَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ» وَالثَّمْرُ يَقْتَضِي الْأَصْنَافَ الَّتِي ذَكَرْنَا -.

L23306–23307 The prohibition against that has been authenticated as transmitted by Saʿd ibn Abī Waqqāṣ.

وَصَحَّ النَّهْيُ عَنْ ذَلِكَ عَنْ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ.

L23308 Sa'id ibn al-Musayyib did not permit exchanging a qafiz of fresh dates for a qafiz of dry dates - and this is the opinion of Malik, al-Shafi'i, al-Layth, Abu Yusuf, Muhammad ibn al-Hasan, Abu Thawr, and Abu Sulayman - and this is contrary to the opinions of Sufyan, Ahmad, and Ishaq.

وَلَمْ يُجِزْ سَعِيدُ بْنُ الْمُسَيِّبِ قَفِيزَ رُطَبٍ بِقَفِيزٍ مِنْ جَافٍ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ مَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَاللَّيْثِ، وَأَبِي يُوسُفَ، وَمُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْحَسَنِ، وَأَبِي ثَوْرٍ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ - وَهُوَ الْخَارِجُ مِنْ أَقْوَالِ سُفْيَانَ، وَأَحْمَدَ، وَإِسْحَاقَ.

L23309 Abu Hanifah permitted the sale of fresh dates for dried dates in equivalent volume with immediate payment, but he did not permit it with an excess or deferred payment. He said: "The sale of fruit still on palm trees is specifically forbidden in exchange for dried dates," and he did not permit this, neither in the case of 'arāyā nor in other contexts.

وَأَجَازَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ بَيْعَ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ كَيْلًا بِمِثْلِهِ نَقْدًا وَلَمْ يُجِزْ مُتَفَاضِلًا وَلَا نَسِيئَةً - وَقَالَ: إنَّمَا يَحْرُمُ بَيْعُ التَّمْرِ الَّذِي فِي رُءُوسِ النَّخْلِ خَاصَّةً بِالتَّمْرِ، وَلَمْ يُجِزْ ذَلِكَ لَا فِي الْعَرَايَا وَلَا فِي غَيْرِهَا.

L23310 His emulators argued for it based on the authentic narration from Ibn Umar: "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited Muzabana," and Muzabana is selling unharvested dates in the fruit-bearing clusters of palm trees for a specified measure of dried dates: 'If there is excess, it is mine; if there is a deficit, I bear it.' A similar narration is reported through a connected chain from Abu Sa'id Al-Khudri. Through the chain of 'Ata' from وَاحْتَجَّ لَهُ مُقَلِّدُوهُ بِمَا صَحَّ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ الْمُزَابَنَةِ» ، وَالْمُزَابَنَةُ أَنْ يُبَاعَ مَا فِي رُءُوسِ النَّخْلِ مِنْ ثَمَرٍ بِتَمْرٍ مُسَمًّى بِكَيْلٍ، إنْ زَادَ فَلِي وَإِنْ نَقَصَ فَعَلَيَّ ". وَمِثْلُهُ مُسْنَدًا أَيْضًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ. وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَطَاءٍ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ أَنَّهُ فَسَّرَ لَهُمْ الْمُزَابَنَةَ: أَنَّهَا بَيْعُ الرُّطَبِ فِي النَّخْلِ بِالتَّمْرِ كَيْلًا.

Jabir ibn ʻAbdullah, it is explained that Muzabana refers to selling ripe dates on the palm tree for dried dates by measure.[33]

L23311 Abū Muḥammad said: They have no valid proof in any of these narrations, for we do not dispute with them concerning the prohibition of selling fresh dates on the palm trees in exchange for dried dates by measure—indeed, even without measure. Nor do we contest their assertion that this constitutes muzābanah. Their reliance on it as evidence is weak obfuscation and a baseless implication. None of these narrations—or others—state that the prohibition of selling fresh dates for dried dates applies solely to this specific description, nor does any of them indicate that what falls outside this is permissible. Rather, all that is in these narrations forms part of what is found in the ḥadīth of Ibn ʻUmar, with which we commenced, and part of what is in the ḥadīths of Sahl ibn Abī Ḥathmah, Rāfiʻ, and Abū Hurayrah.

L23312 And those reports have gathered what is in these and added to them. Therefore, it is impermissible to abandon the additional legal ruling contained within them because it was not mentioned in these hadiths.

L23313 Just as the statement of Allah, the Most High, "Among them are four sacred months—that is the upright religion—so do not wrong yourselves therein" [At-Tawbah: 36] is not proof for the permissibility of wrongdoing in other months. Likewise, all divine laws—from the first to the last—are such that not every divine law is mentioned in every hadith.[34]

L23314–23316 Moreover—we say to them: From where did you derive your assertion that the intended meaning in those narrations containing the prohibition... Regarding the sale of unripe fruit for dried dates, it is precisely what we have mentioned in these other reports containing the prohibition against selling fruit on the heads of palm trees in exchange for dates. What constitutes your proof for this? Have you presented us with anything beyond these bare false assertions? From where does it become obligatory to abandon the general applicability of those established reports merely because some of their content is mentioned here? They possess no evidence whatsoever—neither strong nor weak—having obtained nothing but mere claims. Should they allege consensus regarding what these reports contain, they would be lying.

L23317 We have been narrated through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah, who said: "I [heard] from Ibn al-Mubarak, from Uthman ibn Hakim, from Ata', from Ibn Abbas, who said: 'Exchanging unripe dates for dates by volume measurement while they are still on the palm trees is permissible if there is a dinar or ten dirhams [settled] between them, and there is no harm in it.'" This is an authentic report. Uthman ibn Hakim is trustworthy, and all the other narrators in the chain are eminent scholars.

L23318 And Ibn Umar explained al-Muzabana, as was narrated to us through the chain of Malik from Nafi' from Ibn Umar: "The Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—prohibited," and mentioned al-Muzabana, which is: selling fresh dates for dried dates by measure, and selling grapes on the vine for raisins by measure.

L23319 Humam narrated to us: Abbas ibn Asbagh → Muhammad ibn Abd al-Malik ibn Ayman → Bakr (Ibn Hammad) → Musaddad → Yahya (Ibn Sa'id al-Qattan) → Ubayd Allah ibn Umar → Nafi' → Ibn Umar, who said: "The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited muzabana, and muzabana is purchasing fresh dates for dried dates and fresh grapes for raisins by measure."

وَحَدَّثَنَا حُمَامٌ أَنَا عَبَّاسُ بْنُ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ أَيْمَنَ أَنَا بَكْرٌ - هُوَ ابْنُ حَمَّادٍ - أَنَا مُسَدَّدٌ أَنَا يَحْيَى - هُوَ ابْنُ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانُ - عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَخْبَرَنِي نَافِعٌ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ الْمُزَابَنَةِ، وَالْمُزَابَنَةُ: اشْتِرَاءُ الثَّمَرِ بِالتَّمْرِ وَاشْتِرَاءُ الْعِنَبِ بِالزَّبِيبِ كَيْلًا» .

L23320 Whoever deems the interpretation of Ibn Umar invalid while considering the interpretations of Jābir and Abū Saʿīd valid—rather, both are true, and all such practices constitute prohibited muzābana. Anything beyond this is misguidance and arbitrary imposition in the religion of Allah, the Exalted, based on falsehood.

L23321 The true amazement lies in Abu Hanifa's permissibility—and that of those who blindly follow his rulings in religious matters—regarding matters which the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) explicitly prohibited: the sale of fresh dates for dried dates, the sale of dates for dates, and Abu Hanifa's prohibition of what Allah the Exalted never forbade at all, nor His Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him), nor was there any prohibition transmitted from the Prophet regarding selling walnuts still on their trees for harvested walnuts. This is utterly astonishing, for we have never seen an abandoned Sunnah except that alongside it lies a prevalent innovation. We seek refuge in Allah from being forsaken.

وَالْعَجَبُ كُلُّهُ مِنْ إبَاحَةِ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ وَمَنْ قَلَّدَهُ دِينَهُ مَا قَدْ نَصَّ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَلَى النَّهْيِ عَنْهُ مِنْ بَيْعِ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَبَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَتَحْرِيمِهِ مَا لَمْ

يُحَرِّمْهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى قَطُّ وَلَا رَسُولُهُ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَلَا جَاءَ قَطُّ عَنْهُ نَهْيٌ مِنْ بَيْعِ الْجَوْزِ عَلَى رُءُوسِ أَشْجَارِهِ بِالْجَوْزِ الْمَجْمُوعِ، وَهَذَا عَجَبٌ جِدًّا وَمَا رَأَيْنَا قَطُّ سُنَّةً مُضَاعَةً إِلَّا وَإِلَى جَنْبِهَا بِدْعَةٌ مُذَاعَةٌ، وَنَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْ الْخِذْلَانِ.

L23322–23323 They also argued by stating: Fresh dates and dried dates cannot be free from being either a single genus or two distinct genera. If they are a single genus, equivalence within the same genus is permissible, because the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—permitted exchanging dried dates for dried dates in equal measure. If they are two distinct genera, then it is all the more permissible for them, based on the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him: "When the genera differ, sell them as you wish provided it is hand to hand."

L23324 Abu Muhammad said: We say to them: The One who permitted exchanging dates for dates of equal measure hand to hand, and commanded us that when the types differ we may sell however we wish if it is hand to hand—He is the same One who prohibited us from selling fresh dates for dried dates in general, and from selling dates for dates, and informed us that this constitutes usury. That His obedience being obligatory in some of what He commanded and non-obligatory in others is disbelief on the part of whoever says it. Rather, obedience to Him in everything He commanded is obligatory.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَنَقُولُ لَهُمْ: الَّذِي أَبَاحَ التَّمْرَ بِالتَّمْرِ مُتَمَاثِلًا يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَأَمَرَنَا إذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ الْأَصْنَافُ أَنْ نَبِيعَ كَيْفَ شِئْنَا إذَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، هُوَ الَّذِي نَهَانَا عَنْ بَيْعِ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ جُمْلَةً، وَعَنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَأَخْبَرَنَا: أَنَّهُ الرِّبَا، وَلَيْسَتْ طَاعَتُهُ فِي بَعْضِ مَا أَمَرَ بِهِ وَاجِبَةً وَفِي بَعْضِهِ غَيْرَ وَاجِبَةٍ، هَذَا كُفْرٌ مِمَّنْ قَالَهُ، بَلْ طَاعَتُهُ فِي كُلِّ مَا أَمَرَ بِهِ وَاجِبَةٌ.

L23325 But O you people, where were you concerning this corrupt reasoning which you deemed valid and thereby opposed the Sunnah of Allah the Exalted and His Messenger—peace be upon him? For you prohibited by your corrupt opinion the sale of flour for wheat or for parched barley flour (sawīq) in totality. Why then do you permit it neither with disparity, nor equivalence, nor as cash, nor credit, nor by measure, nor by weight? Why did you not say to yourselves: Flour, wheat, and parched barley flour must either constitute one category, two categories, or three categories. If they are one category, equivalence within the same category is permissible, as the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—permitted exchanging wheat for wheat like for like. If they are two or three categories, this is even more permissible, according to the saying of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him: "When the types differ, sell as you wish, provided it is hand to hand." This flawed position is what merits objection, rejection, and dismissal—not the saying and ruling of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him.

فَقَالَ قَائِلٌ مِنْهُمْ: التَّفَاضُلُ فِي الدَّقِيقِ بِالْحِنْطَةِ مَوْجُودٌ فِي الْوَقْتِ، وَأَمَّا فِي الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ، فَلَا يُوجَدُ إلَّا بَعْدَ الْوَقْتِ؟ فَقُلْنَا: فَكَانَ مَاذَا لَوْ كَانَ مَا قُلْتُمْ حَقًّا؟ وَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَجَبَ مُرَاعَاةُ التَّفَاضُلِ فِي الْوَقْتِ أَوْ بَعْدَهُ؟ فَكَيْفَ وَالَّذِي قُلْتُمْ بَاطِلٌ؟ لِأَنَّ الْمُمَاثَلَةَ بِالْكَيْلِ مَوْجُودَةٌ فِي الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ، كَمَا هِيَ مَوْجُودَةٌ فِي الدَّقِيقِ بِالسَّوِيقِ، وَفِي الدَّقِيقِ بِالْحِنْطَةِ فِي الْوَقْتِ، فَلَا تَفَاضُلَ فِيهِمَا أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا كَانَ التَّفَاضُلُ مَوْجُودًا فِي الدَّقِيقِ بِالسَّوِيقِ فِيمَا خَلَا وَبَطَلَ الْآنَ، وَلَا يُقْطَعُ أَيْضًا بِهَذَا، فَبَطَلَ فَرْقُكُمْ الْفَاسِدُ.

L23326–23327 Then one of them said: "The disparity in exchanging flour for wheat applies during the transaction period, while in fresh dates for dried dates, it only occurs afterward?" We countered: "What consequence would follow if your claim were valid? How could the obligation to observe disparity during or after the transaction period even arise? Particularly when your claim is invalid? Equivalence by measure exists in exchanging fresh dates for dried dates, just as it exists in flour for sawiq (roasted barley flour) and in flour for wheat during the transaction period. Thus, no disparity exists in these cases whatsoever. Any disparity previously claimed in flour-for-sawiq exchanges is now rendered invalid, and even this cannot be conclusively proven. Therefore, your invalid distinction collapses."

وَأَيْضًا - فَإِنَّمَا أَبَاحَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - التَّمْرَ بِالتَّمْرِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَبِالْمُشَاهَدَةِ نَدْرِي أَنَّ الرُّطَبَ لَيْسَ مِثْلًا لِلتَّمْرِ فِي صِفَاتِهِ.

L23328 Moreover, the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—only permitted the exchange of dates for dates, like for like, and through direct observation we know that fresh dates are not equivalent to dried dates in their qualities.

وَاحْتَجُّوا أَيْضًا بِأَنْ قَالُوا: بَيْعُ التَّمْرِ الْحَدِيثِ بِالتَّمْرِ الْقَدِيمِ جَائِزٌ، وَهُوَ يَنْقُصُ، عَنْهُ فِيمَا بَعْدُ؟ فَقُلْنَا: نَعَمْ فَكَانَ مَاذَا؟ وَمَتَى جَعَلْنَا لَكُمْ عِلَّةَ الْمَنْعِ مِنْ بَيْعِ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ، إنَّمَا هِيَ نُقْصَانُهُ إذَا يَبِسَ؟ حَاشَا لِلَّهِ أَنْ يَقُولَ هَذَا، لِأَنَّ الْأَثَرَ الَّذِي مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعْدٍ، الَّذِي فِيهِ: أَيَنْقُصُ الرُّطَبُ إذَا جَفَّ لَا يَصِحُّ، لِأَنَّهُ مِنْ رِوَايَةِ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَبِي عَيَّاشٍ - وَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ - وَلَوْ صَحَّ لَأَذْعَنَّا لَهُ وَلَقُلْنَا بِهِ، وَهَذَا التَّعْلِيلُ مِنْكُمْ بَاطِلٌ وَتَخَرُّصٌ فِي دِينِ اللَّهِ

L23329 They also argued by stating: "The sale of recently harvested dried dates (al-tamr al-ḥadīth) for old dried dates (al-tamr al-qadīm) is permissible, even though they diminish afterward?" We responded: "Yes—what does that imply? When did we ever claim that the reason for prohibiting the sale of fresh dates (al-ruṭab) for dried dates is their reduction upon drying? Allah is far above saying such a thing! The narration transmitted through Sa'd—which states, 'Do fresh dates diminish when they dry?'—is unsound, as it is reported by Zayd ibn Abī 'Ayyāsh—a narrator of unverified status. Had it been authentic, we would have submitted to it and acted upon it. This rationale of yours is invalid—a reckless fabrication in the religion of Allah Almighty, unsupported by the Quran or Sunnah. Obedience is owed solely to Allah Almighty and His Messenger—peace be upon him."

L23330 "So let those who deviate from his command beware, lest strife or a painful punishment befall them." (Quran 24:63)[35]

L23331 And we say to those who assert the assignment of effective causes, claiming this constitutes divine wisdom while considering anything else futile: Inform us of the effective cause behind the prohibition of carrion, blood, pork, taking a fifth wife in marriage, and the rest of the divine rulings?

L23332 There is no way for them to establish the existence of anything whatsoever. From what basis does it become obligatory that some religious ordinances should be justified by false claims while others remain unjustified?

L23333 We do not know of any predecessor before Abū Ḥanīfah among those who prohibit usury in non-deferred transactions who permitted exchanging fresh dates for dried dates. Mālik said: "The sale of fresh dates in exchange for dried dates is permissible," but this is erroneous due to the Messenger of Allāh—peace be upon him—prohibiting the sale of fresh fruit for dried dates.

L23334 And Ash-Shāfiʿī held the same opinion as us - and with Allah, the Exalted, lies all divine enablement.

L23335–23336 As for the 'Araya—it has been reported to us through the chain of Nāfiʿ from Ibn 'Umar, who said: "The 'Araya was when a man would sell the produce of one or two specified palm trees from his property?" 'Alī said: "This does not clarify the ruling of the 'Araya"—and it has been reported to us from Mūsā ibn 'Uqbah that he said: "The 'Araya refers to specific palm trees that one approaches and buys directly."

L23337 We have been narrated from Zayd ibn Thābit, Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, and Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq that a single palm tree, two palm trees, or multiple palm trees are governed by the juristic opinion, and they sell their fruit by estimating its yield while on the tree in terms of dried dates.

تَعَالَى لَمْ يَأْتِ بِهِ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، وَإِنَّمَا هُوَ الطَّاعَةُ لِلَّهِ تَعَالَى وَلِرَسُولِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - فَقَطْ.

{فَلْيَحْذَرِ الَّذِينَ يُخَالِفُونَ عَنْ أَمْرِهِ أَنْ تُصِيبَهُمْ فِتْنَةٌ أَوْ يُصِيبَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ} [النور: ٦٣].

وَنَقُولُ لِمَنْ ادَّعَى التَّعْلِيلَ، وَأَنَّهُ هُوَ الْحِكْمَةُ، وَمَا عَدَاهُ عَبَثٌ: أَخْبِرُونَا مَا عِلَّةُ تَحْرِيمِ الْمَيْتَةِ، وَالدَّمِ، وَلَحْمِ الْخِنْزِيرِ، وَالْخَامِسَةِ فِي النِّكَاحِ، وَسَائِرِ الشَّرَائِعِ؟

فَلَا سَبِيلَ لَهُمْ إلَى وُجُودِ شَيْءٍ أَصْلًا، فَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَجَبَ أَنْ تُعَلَّلَ بَعْضُ الشَّرَائِعِ بِالدَّعَاوَى الْكَاذِبَةِ، وَلَا تُعَلَّلَ سَائِرُهَا؟

وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لِأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ سَلَفًا قَبْلَهُ فِي إبَاحَةِ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ مِمَّنْ يَحْرُمُ الرِّبَا فِي غَيْرِ النَّسِيئَةِ - وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: بَيْعُ الرُّطَبِ جَائِزٌ، وَهَذَا خَطَأٌ لِنَهْيِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرِ بِالتَّمْرِ.

وَقَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّ كَقَوْلِنَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

وَأَمَّا الْعَرَايَا - رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: كَانَتْ الْعَرَايَا أَنْ يُعْرِيَ الرَّجُلُ فِي مَالِهِ النَّخْلَةَ وَالنَّخْلَتَيْنِ؟ قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: لَيْسَ فِي هَذَا بَيَانُ حُكْمِ الْعَرَايَا - وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ عُقْبَةَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: الْعَرَايَا نَخَلَاتٌ مَعْلُومَاتٌ يَأْتِيهَا فَيَشْتَرِيهَا.

وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ، وَيَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ، وَمُحَمَّدِ بْنِ إِسْحَاقَ أَنَّهَا النَّخْلَةُ وَالنَّخْلَتَانِ وَالنَّخَلَاتُ تُجْعَلُ لِلْقَوْلِ فَيَبِيعُونَ ثَمَرَهَا بِخَرْصِهَا تَمْرًا.

[35] Qur'an references (L23330): Qur'an 24:63 (An-Nur).

وَقَالَ سُفْيَانُ بْنُ حُسَيْنٍ، وَسُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ، وَالْأَوْزَاعِيُّ، وَأَحْمَدُ بْنُ حَنْبَلٍ مِثْلَ هَذَا، إِلَّا أَنَّهُمْ خَصُّوا بِذَلِكَ الْمَسَاكِينَ يُجْعَلُ لَهُمْ ثَمَرُ النَّخْلِ فَيَصْعُبُ عَلَيْهِمْ الْقِيَامُ عَلَيْهَا، فَأُبِيحَ لَهُمْ أَنْ يَبِيعُوهَا بِمَا شَاءُوا مِنْ التَّمْرِ.

L23338 Sufyan ibn Husayn, Sufyan ibn Uyaynah, Al-Awzaʿī, and Ahmad ibn Hanbal held a similar view, except they restricted this ruling to the poor to whom palm fruit is allocated but who find it difficult to maintain the palm trees. Thus, it was permitted for them to sell the fruit for any quantity of dates they wished.

وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ عَبْدِ رَبِّهِ بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ: أَنَّ الْعَرِيَّةَ الرَّجُلُ يُعْرِي النَّخْلَةَ، أَوْ يَسْتَثْنِي مِنْ مَالِهِ النَّخْلَةَ أَوْ النَّخْلَتَيْنِ يَأْكُلُهَا فَيَبِيعُهُمَا بِمِثْلِ خَرْصِهِمَا تَمْرًا.

L23339 It has been reported to us from ʿAbd Rabbihi ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī that al-ʿariyya refers to when a man exempts a palm tree or reserves one or two from his property to eat their dates, then sells the dates on the tree for an amount equivalent to their estimated yield as fresh dates.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: الْعَرِيَّةُ أَنْ يَهَبَ الرَّجُلُ رَجُلًا آخَرَ ثَمَرَةَ نَخْلَةٍ أَوْ نَخْلَتَيْنِ ثُمَّ يَبْدُوَ لَهُ فَيُعْطِيَهُ مَكَانَ ثَمَرِ مَا أَعْطَاهُ تَمْرًا يَابِسًا فَيَخْرُجَ بِذَلِكَ عَنْ إخْلَافِ الْوَعْدِ.

L23340 Abu Hanifa said: The ʿariyya is when a man grants another the produce of one or two palm trees, then later decides to give him dried dates in place of the produce he had given, thereby avoiding breaking the promise.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: الْعَرِيَّةُ أَنْ يَهَبَ الرَّجُلُ لِآخَرَ ثَمَرَ نَخْلَةٍ أَوْ نَخْلَتَيْنِ أَوْ نَخَلَاتٍ مِنْ مَالِهِ وَيَكُونُ الْوَاهِبُ سَاكِنًا بِأَهْلِهِ فِي ذَلِكَ الْحَائِطِ فَيَشُقُّ عَلَيْهِ دُخُولُ الْمُعْرِي فِي ذَلِكَ الْحَائِطِ، فَلَهُ أَنْ يَبْتَاعَ مِنْهُ ذَلِكَ الثَّمَرِ بِخَرْصِهِ تَمْرًا إلَى الْجِدَادِ وَلَا يَجُوزُ عِنْدَهُ إلَّا نَسِيئَةً وَلَا بُدَّ، وَأَمَّا يَدًا بِيَدٍ فَلَا.

L23341 Mālik said: The ʿariyya is when a man grants another the fruit of one palm tree, two palm trees, or several palm trees from his property, while the grantor resides with his family in that orchard, making it difficult for the recipient to enter it. In such a case, the recipient may purchase that fruit by estimating its yield in dried dates to be delivered at the time of drying. This is only permissible in Mālik's view if done through deferred payment, which is required. As for an immediate exchange, it is not permitted.

L23342 As for the statement of Al-Shafiʿi, he said: The ʿariyya (a permitted exception to the prohibition of ribā) occurs when fresh dates ripen, and there are poor people with no wealth who wish to purchase fresh dates to eat with others. They have surplus dried dates from their provisions, so it is permitted for them to buy fresh dates by estimating the fresh dates' quantity in terms of dried dates for less than five awsuq as an immediate transaction, and this is necessarily required.

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُنَا الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا فَهُوَ قَوْلُ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ.

L23343 As for the opinion that we mentioned, it is the position of Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, and Abī Sulaymān.

L23344–23346 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Muslim: I am Muḥammad ibn Rumḥ ibn al-Muhājir; I am al-Layth ibn Saʿd, from... Yahya ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī said: The ʿariyya is when a man buys the fruit of palm trees as fresh dates for his family's consumption by estimating their dried equivalent through khars.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ رُمْحِ بْنِ الْمُهَاجِرِ أَنَا اللَّيْثُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ: الْعَرِيَّةُ أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ الرَّجُلُ ثَمَرَ النَّخَلَاتِ لِطَعَامِ أَهْلِهِ رُطَبًا بِخَرْصِهَا تَمْرًا.

L23347 Abu Muhammad said: As for the statements of Ibn ʻUmar and Musa ibn ʻUqbah, there is no elucidation in both of them.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: أَمَّا قَوْلُ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، وَمُوسَى بْنِ عُقْبَةَ فَلَا بَيَانَ فِيهِمَا.

L23348 As for the opinion of Zayd ibn Thabit, and one of the two opinions of Yahya ibn Sa'id—alongside the opinions of Ibn Ishaq, Sufyan ibn Husayn, al-Awza'i, and Ahmad—the evidence cited for it is what has been narrated to us through the chain of Malik from Nafiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar from Zayd ibn Thabit: that the Messenger of Allah (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him) permitted the owner of an ʿariyya to sell it by estimating its yield of dates [while still on the palm].[36]

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ، وَأَحَدُ قَوْلَيْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ، وَابْنِ إِسْحَاقَ، وَسُفْيَانَ بْنِ حُسَيْنٍ، وَالْأَوْزَاعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ، فَإِنَّهُ يَحْتَجُّ لَهُ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - رَخَّصَ، لِصَاحِبِ الْعَرِيَّةِ أَنْ يَبِيعَهَا بِخَرْصِهَا مِنْ التَّمْرِ» .

L23349 Ali said: "They have no proof whatsoever in this report. It only states that the owner of fresh dates is he who sells them as dried dates through estimation while still on the palm - and this is exactly our position. It is permissible in our view to sell fresh dates through such estimation pertaining to both the dates and the palm trees under his ownership. It is also permissible to sell them through this estimation by the owner of fresh dates alone, whether acquired through gift, purchase, inheritance, authorization, or declared gift (as dowry). This report aligns with our position (praise be to Allah), as it merely describes the seller's qualification without mentioning the buyer's identity."

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: لَيْسَ لَهُمْ فِي هَذَا الْحَدِيثِ حُجَّةٌ أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا فِيهِ أَنَّ صَاحِبَ الرُّطَبِ هُوَ الَّذِي يَبِيعُهُ بِخَرْصِهِ تَمْرًا - وَنَحْنُ هَكَذَا نَقُولُ، وَجَائِزٌ عِنْدَنَا أَنْ نَبِيعَ الرُّطَبَ كَذَلِكَ الَّذِي هُوَ لَهُ وَالنَّخْلُ مَعًا، وَجَائِزٌ أَنْ نَبِيعَهُ أَيْضًا كَذَلِكَ مِنْ مَالِكِ الرُّطَبِ وَحْدَهُ بِهِبَةٍ أَوْ بِشِرَاءٍ أَوْ بِمِيرَاثٍ أَوْ بِإِجَازَةٍ أَوْ بِإِصْدَاقٍ فَهَذَا الْخَبَرُ مُوَافِقٌ لِقَوْلِنَا وَلِلَّهِ الْحَمْدُ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ إلَّا صِفَةُ الْبَائِعِ فَقَطْ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ مَنْ هُوَ الْمُشْتَرِي.

L23350 As for those who follow the position of ʿAbd Rabbihi ibn Saʿīd, he argues for it based on what we transmitted from the narration in Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim: Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah narrated from Abū Usāmah, from al-Walīd ibn Kathīr, who narrated from Bashīr ibn Yasār—client of Banū Ḥārithah—that Rafiʿ ibn Khadīj and Sahl ibn Abī Ḥathmah reported to him: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited muzābanah (the sale of fresh dates still on the palm for dried dates by estimation), but permitted it for those granted the ʿarāyā concession."

[36] Hadith references (L23348): Sahih Muslim 1539c.

L23351 Abu Muhammad said: This provides no valid proof for them, as it contains no clarification of their claim—neither by explicit text, nor by implication, nor by evidence. Rather, it merely states that the people of ʻarāyā were permitted to exchange dates for dates exclusively—and this is what we assert—thus, it becomes invalid to claim that either of these two opinions holds any valid proof in either of these two narrations.

L23352–23354 Then we examined al-Shāfiʿī's statement and found it to be an unsubstantiated claim. He only cited a ḥadīth whose origin, source, or transmission method no one recognizes. He mentioned it without any chain of narrators—thus it is rendered invalid as containing any authoritative evidence. His statement constitutes a claim without proof - we refer to his specification that those permitted to purchase fresh dates by estimating their quantity using the standard of dried dates are only those who lack the means to acquire fresh dates except for consumption solely.

L23355 Then we examined Mālik's statements and found his assertion that "the ʿarīya consists of palm fruit assigned to others," his claim that "those who designated it reside with their families in the orchard containing those palms," and his declaration that "the palm owners announce the entry of those for whom the palms were designated"—these three assertions: there exists no evidence for any of them, neither in the Quran, nor in the Sunnah, nor in a weak narration, nor in a Companion's opinion, nor a Successor's, nor analogy, nor linguistic evidence, nor any opinion grounded in valid reasoning. We know of no one before him who asserted this.

L23356 Then the outrageous and profoundly astonishing matter is his statement: "This is not permissible except as deferred payment until harvest time, nor is immediate payment permissible at all" - for this constitutes manifestly prohibited usury - "nor for an unspecified term." We know no predecessor who held this view, as it is plainly unlawful and fundamentally impermissible. The permissibility here applies solely to exchanging fresh dates for dried dates by virtue of the explicit textual ruling. We have determined that deferred payment in transactions involving usury is forbidden in every respect.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ بَيَانُ قَوْلِهِمْ لَا بِنَصٍّ وَلَا بِإِشَارَةٍ وَلَا بِدَلِيلٍ، وَإِنَّمَا فِيهِ: أَنَّ أَصْحَابَ الْعَرَايَا أُذِنَ لَهُمْ فِي التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ فَقَطْ، وَهَكَذَا نَقُولُ - فَبَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لِشَيْءٍ مِنْ هَذَيْنِ الْقَوْلَيْنِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ هَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ حُجَّةٌ.

When the exchange of dates for dates became permissible here, it could only be conducted hand-to-hand without exception, for there is no valid sale except either immediate payment or deferred payment. Deferred payment is forbidden because it constitutes usury in all transactions where usury occurs without dispute, and because it imposes a condition absent from Allah's Book - meaning the stipulation of deferment is void. Thus, only immediate payment remains valid, and no other form is permissible. And success comes only from Allah, the Exalted.

L23357 ثُمَّ نَظَرْنَا فِي قَوْلِ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ فَوَجَدْنَاهُ أَبْعَدَ الْأَقْوَالِ، لِأَنَّهُ خَالَفَ جَمِيعَ الْآثَارِ كُلِّهَا جِهَارًا، وَأَتَى بِدَعْوَى لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَيْهَا، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا قَالَ بِهَا قَبْلَهُ.

L23357 Then we examined the opinion of Abu Hanifah and found it to be the most distant of all opinions, for he openly contradicted all transmitted traditions without exception, advanced a claim lacking any evidence, and we know of no one who asserted it before him.

L23358 وَالْخَبَرُ فِي اسْتِثْنَاءِ جَوَازِ بَيْعِ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ لِأَهْلِ الْعَرَايَا خَاصَّةً مَنْقُولٌ نَقْلَ التَّوَاتُرِ: رَوَاهُ رَافِعٌ، وَسَهْلٌ، وَجَابِرٌ، وَأَبُو هُرَيْرَةَ، وَزَيْدٌ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ فِي آخَرِينَ سِوَاهُمْ كُلُّ مَنْ سَمَّيْنَا هُوَ عَنْهُمْ فِي غَايَةِ الصِّحَّةِ - فَخَالَفُوا ذَلِكَ بِآرَائِهِمْ الْفَاسِدَةِ.

L23358 The report concerning the exception permitting the sale of fresh dates for dried dates specifically for the people of ʿarāyā is transmitted through mutawātir narration: it was narrated by Rāfiʿ, Sahl, Jābir, Abū Hurayrah, Zayd, and Ibn ʿUmar among others besides them. Every one we named is among those whose narrations are of the highest reliability. Yet they opposed this with their corrupt opinions.

L23359 وَالْبُرْهَانُ لِصِحَّةِ قَوْلِنَا -: هُوَ مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طُرُقٍ جَمَّةٍ كُلُّهَا تَرْجِعُ إِلَى مَالِكٍ: أَنَّ دَاوُد بْنَ الْحُصَيْنِ حَدَّثَهُ عَنْ أَبِي أَحْمَدَ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - رَخَّصَ فِي بَيْعِ الْعَرَايَا بِخَرْصِهَا فِيمَا دُونَ خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ أَوْ فِي خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ» يَشُكُّ دَاوُد.

L23359 The proof for the validity of our statement is what we have transmitted through numerous chains - all tracing back to Mālik: that Dāwūd ibn al-Ḥuṣayn narrated to him from Abū Aḥmad, from Abū Hurayrah, that "Allah's Messenger (may Allah bless him and his family and grant peace) granted a concession for the sale of al-ʿarāyā [unharvested dates on the palm tree] by estimating their yield [while still on the tree], in less than five awsuq or up to five awsuq" — Dāwūd expressed uncertainty.

L23360–23362 قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَالْيَقِينُ وَاقِعٌ فِيمَا دُونَ خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ بِلَا شَكٍّ، فَهُوَ مَخْصُوصٌ فِيمَا حَرُمَ مِنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ أَنْ يُبَاحَ مُتَيَقَّنُ الْحَرَامِ بِشَكٍّ، وَلَوْ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَبَاحَ ذَلِكَ فِي خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ لَحَفِظَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى حَتَّى يُبَلِّغَ إِلَيْنَا مُبَيَّنًا،

L23360–23362 Abu Muhammad said: Certainty is established without doubt for what is less than five wasqs, as it is specifically restricted to the prohibition of selling dates for dates. It is not permissible to permit what is definitively prohibited based on doubt, even if the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)... He permitted that in five awsuq, so Allah, the Exalted, thereby preserved it until it was conveyed to us clearly, and the proof was established through it. Yet Allah, the Exalted, did not do that, so we became certain that His Prophet (peace be upon him) never permitted it in five awsuq, but with certainty in less than that—and with Allah, the Exalted, is the attainment of guidance.

وَتَقُومَ بِهِ الْحُجَّةُ، فَلَمْ يَفْعَلْ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى ذَلِكَ، فَأَيْقَنَّا أَنَّهُ لَمْ يُبِحْهُ نَبِيُّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - قَطُّ فِي خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ، لَكِنْ فِيمَا دُونَهَا بِيَقِينٍ - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23363 It is not permissible for anyone to reach that measure in a single year—whether through one transaction or through transactions amounting to five wasqs in total—fundamentally, neither for the seller nor the buyer, as it contravenes the injunction of the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him.

L23364 From the chain of Muslim ibn al-Ḥajjāj: I, Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā al-Naysābūrī, narrate from Sulaymān ibn Bilāl, from Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, who informed me that Nāfiʿ reported that he heard ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUmar narrate that Zayd ibn Thābit related to him: "The Messenger of Allah—may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him—permitted regarding the ʿariyya (fresh dates still on the palm) for the people of the household to take them by estimating them as dried dates in quantity, and they eat them as fresh dates."[37]

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمِ بْنِ الْحَجَّاجِ أَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى - هُوَ النَّيْسَابُورِيُّ - أَنَا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ بِلَالٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ أَخْبَرَنِي نَافِعٌ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ يُحَدِّثُ أَنَّ زَيْدَ بْنَ ثَابِتٍ حَدَّثَهُ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - رَخَّصَ فِي الْعَرِيَّةِ يَأْخُذُهَا أَهْلُ الْبَيْتِ بِخَرْصِهَا تَمْرًا يَأْكُلُونَهَا رُطَبًا» .

L23365 And through the chain of Muslim: Abdullah ibn Maslamah al-Qa'nabi reported from Sulayman ibn Bilal, who reported from Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Ansari, from Bashir ibn Yasar, from some of the Companions of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) from the people of their household—among them Sahl ibn Abi Hathmah—from the Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him and his family), that he forbade selling dates for dates and said: "That is usury, that is muzābanah," except that he permitted the sale of the 'ariyya and a palm tree or two palm trees, which the household members take by estimating their fresh dates on the tree as dried dates, so they may eat them as fresh dates.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْلَمَةَ الْقَعْنَبِيُّ أَنَا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ بِلَالٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ عَنْ بُشَيْرِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ بَعْضِ أَصْحَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مِنْ أَهْلِ دَارِهِمْ مِنْهُمْ سَهْلُ بْنُ أَبِي حَثْمَةَ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «أَنَّهُ نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ وَقَالَ: ذَلِكَ الرِّبَا تِلْكَ الْمُزَابَنَةُ، إلَّا أَنَّهُ رَخَّصَ فِي بَيْعِ الْعَرِيَّةِ وَالنَّخْلَةِ وَالنَّخْلَتَيْنِ يَأْخُذُهَا أَهْلُ الْبَيْتِ بِخَرْصِهَا تَمْرًا يَأْكُلُونَهَا رُطَبًا» .

L23366 Abū Muḥammad said: The Prophet's stipulation—peace and blessings be upon him—in the ḥadīth of Abū Hurayrah, "less than five awsāq," takes precedence over these ḥadīths. For if the produce from the two palm trees amounts to five awsāq, it is impermissible, and if the produce from the palm trees is less than five awsāq, it is permissible regarding them. This is because قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: تَحْدِيدُ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي حَدِيثِ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ «مَا دُونَ خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ» يَقْضِي عَلَى هَذِهِ الْأَحَادِيثِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ إنْ كَانَ فِي النَّخْلَتَيْنِ خَمْسَةُ أَوْسُقٍ لَمْ يَجُزْ، وَإِنْ كَانَ فِي النَّخَلَاتِ أَقَلُّ مِنْ خَمْسَةِ أَوْسُقٍ جَازَ ذَلِكَ فِيهَا؛ لِأَنَّ تَحْدِيدَ الْخَمْسَةِ الْأَوْسُقِ زِيَادَةُ حُكْمٍ، وَزِيَادَةُ حَدٍّ، وَزِيَادَةُ بَيَانٍ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ تَرْكُهَا - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

stipulating five awsāq introduces an additional ruling, a restriction, and a clarification, and it is not permissible to abandon it. And success is by Allāh, the Exalted.

A legal case in which a person bought fresh dates for consumption, then died, while his intention at the time of purchase was unrestricted.

1475. Issue: If someone purchases fresh dates for consumption under these circumstances and then dies—so they are passed down as part of his inheritance—or falls ill, or no longer needs to consume them, except that at the time of purchase his intention was unquestionably to consume them, then he validly owns the dates and may sell or dispose of them as he wishes.

And by Allah, the Exalted, is the success.

Question: The Ruling on ʿarāyā Regarding Certain Fruits

1476 – Issue:

The aforementioned ruling of ʿaraya does not apply to any fruits other than dates, as we have stated. It is impermissible at all to sell any fruits besides dates by kharṣ-estimation, neither while they remain on the palm trees nor after being gathered on the ground at all.

It is impermissible to sell grapes for raisins by measure, whether in total quantity or while still on the stem, nor to sell standing crops for wheat. This is based on what was transmitted to us through Muslim's narration: Yaḥyā ibn Maʿīn and Hārūn ibn ʿAbdullāh both said: "Abū Usāmah reported to us, stating: I heard from ʿUbaydullāh—the son of ʿUmar—from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: 'The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—forbade muzābaṇa. Muzābaṇa is the sale of fresh dates on the palm

L23376 As reported by Muslim: Qutaybah narrated from Al-Layth ibn Sa'd, from Nafi', from Ibn 'Umar, that the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited muzabanah: selling the produce of one's orchard - if it is palm trees - for dried dates by measure; if it is a vineyard, selling its grapes for raisins by measure; and if it is crops, selling them for food by measure.[39]

us, “And your Lord is not forgetful.” [Maryam: 64].[42]

L23382–23383 If it is said: “He—peace be upon him—prohibited selling fresh dates for dried dates,” and it is reported that “he—peace be upon him—asked, ’Do fresh dates diminish when they dry?’ They said, ’Yes,’ so he forbade selling them for dried dates,” we respond: As for the report “Do fresh dates diminish when they dry,” Mālik and Ismāʿīl ibn Umayyah both narrated it from ʿUbayd Allāh ibn Yazīd from Zayd Abī ʿAyyāsh from Saʿd. Mālik once said, “Ziyādah, Abū ʿAyyāsh—the freed slave of Banū Zuhrah”—a man who is unknown and unidentified. Even if the report were authentic, it would not necessitate that this be a legal cause for anything beyond what was explicitly stated regarding fresh dates for dried dates alone, for that would constitute transgressing the boundaries set by Allah, the Almighty.

L23384 Among the most wondrous of wonders is that it has been soundly narrated from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) that he said: “What causes blood to flow with Allah’s name invoked over it, eat—except what is slaughtered with a tooth or claw. As for the tooth, it is a bone; and as for the claw, it is the blades used by the Abyssinians.”

L23385 The Hanafis and Malikis opposed this position, maintaining that the bony nature [of an instrument] does not constitute a valid legal cause to prohibit its use for slaughter. The Shafi’is do not regard the use of Ethiopian blades for slaughtering as a legal cause invalidating the act except in the case of the claw alone. Yet they then adopt the unsubstantiated report attributed to the Prophet (ﷺ)—“Does fresh fruit diminish when dried?”—as a legal cause applicable to all fruits. What absurdity could surpass this? As for trading fresh dates for dried ones, the foundational report lacks authenticity entirely. Its chain includes Abu Salih Abdullah ibn Salih—scribe of Al-Layth, a weak narrator—via Al-Layth ibn Sa’d, Usamah ibn Zayd—another weak narrator—and an unknown transmitter, from Abdullah ibn Yazid, freedman of Al-Aswad ibn Sufyan, from Abu Salamah ibn Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf, from some Companions of the Prophet (ﷺ): “The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) was asked about exchanging fresh dates for dried dates. He inquired: ’Do fresh dates decrease [in quantity]?' They replied: 'Yes.' He ruled: 'Fresh dates must not be traded for dried ones.'" Such a report is inadmissible as evidence. Had it been authentic, we would not hesitate to uphold it.

L23386 It is astonishing that the Ḥanafī jurists adopt every weak narration and disconnected report—such as ablution for audible laughter during prayer, ablution using nabīdh, and other similar matters—yet contradict these very disconnected reports and weak narrations.

L23387–23389 Moreover, the Shafi'is and Malikis, who claim to follow this report, have contradicted it. Because they permit selling fresh dates in exchange for dried dates, figs, and grapes of a different kind, and this contradicts the general ruling of the hadith.

L23390 If they say, "Does that [statement] only refer to what is of its kind?"

L23391 We said: And what is your proof for that? And what difference is there between you and Abu Hanifa, who stated: "This only refers to what was on the treetops of his trees"? Is this not merely a claim with a claim without any proof? Allah suffices us, and He is the excellent Trustee.

L23392 It was narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: "I, Yaḥyā ibn Abī Zā'idah, narrated from Muḥammad ibn 'Amr, from Abū Salamah ibn 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn 'Awf, from Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī, who said: 'The Messenger of Allāh—peace be upon him and his family—prohibited muḥāqalah and muzābanah. Thus, muḥāqalah pertains to crops, and muzābanah pertains to date palms.'"

L23393 This is the exact wording of Abū Sa'īd—may Allah be pleased with him—and this is the precise statement of our position, because he only permitted muzabana in palm trees alone, excluding other fruits—all praise is due to Allah, Lord of the worlds—and we know of no one among the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—who disagreed with him.

L23394 And through the chain recorded in Muslim's collection: I am 'Abdullāh رُطَبٍ بِتَمْرٍ؟ فَقَالَ: أَيَنْقُصُ الرُّطَبُ؟ قَالُوا: نَعَمْ، قَالَ: لَا يُبَاعُ الرُّطَبُ بِالْيَابِسِ» وَمِثْلُ هَذَا لَا يَحِلُّ الِاحْتِجَاجُ بِهِ، وَلَوْ صَحَّ لَمَا تَرَدَّدْنَا فِي الْأَخْذِ بِهِ.

وَالْعَجَبُ مِنْ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ الْآخِذِينَ بِكُلِّ ضَعِيفٍ، وَمُرْسَلٍ، كَالْوُضُوءِ مِنْ الْقَهْقَهَةِ فِي الصَّلَاةِ، وَالْوُضُوءِ بِالنَّبِيذِ، وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ ثُمَّ يُخَالِفُونَ هَذَا الْمُرْسَلَ وَهَذَا الضَّعِيفَ.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ الشَّافِعِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ، الْمُدَّعِينَ الْأَخْذَ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ قَدْ خَالَفُوهُ، لِأَنَّهُمْ يُبِيحُونَ بَيْعَ الرُّطَبِ مِنْ التَّمْرِ، وَالتِّينِ، وَالْعِنَبِ، بِالْيَابِسِ مِنْ غَيْرِ جِنْسِهِ، وَهَذَا خِلَافُ لِعُمُومِ الْخَبَرِ.

ibn Maslamah al-Qa'nabī; I [heard] from Sulaymān ibn Bilāl from Yaḥyā—who is Ibn Sa'īd al-Anṣārī—from Bashīr ibn Yasār from some Companions of Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him), among them Sahl ibn Abī Ḥathmah, that Allah's Messenger prohibited selling fresh dates for dried dates, saying: "That is usury—that is muzābanah (a usurious practice)," except that he permitted the 'arīyya sale (the sale of fresh dates on the palm). He then proceeded to mention the full ḥadīth.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْلَمَةَ الْقَعْنَبِيُّ أَنَا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ بِلَالٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى - هُوَ ابْنُ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيُّ - عَنْ بُشَيْرِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ بَعْضِ أَصْحَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مِنْهُمْ سَهْلُ بْنُ أَبِي حَثْمَةَ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرِ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَقَالَ: ذَلِكَ الرِّبَا تِلْكَ الْمُزَابَنَةُ، إلَّا أَنَّهُ رَخَّصَ بَيْعَ الْعَرِيَّةِ» وَذَكَرَ الْحَدِيثَ.

L23395 From the chain transmitted by Imam Muslim: I, Muhammad ibn Rumh, report from Al-Layth ibn Sa'd, from Nafi', from Ibn 'Umar, who said: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited muzabana—the sale of unpicked fruit for measured produce. This includes selling the fruit of one's orchard: if it were palm trees, to sell its fruit for dried dates by measure; if it were grapevines, to sell its fruit for raisins by measure; and if it were crops, to sell its fruit for food by measure."

L23396–23398 Abu Muhammad said: There is no muzabana (sale of unpicked fruit for dried fruit by measure) except what the Prophet—may Allah bless him, his family, and grant him peace—clarified, then the Companions elaborated. Allah is pleased with them—after him [the scholar]—that this constitutes muẓābanah (a prohibited sale involving uncertainty), and anything beyond this is invalid and a certain error without doubt. And success is with Allah, the Most High.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: لَا مُزَابَنَةَ إلَّا مَا بَيَّنَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ وَسَلَّمَ -، ثُمَّ الصَّحَابَةُ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - بَعْدَهُ أَنَّهُ مُزَابَنَةٌ، وَمَا عَدَا ذَلِكَ فَبَاطِلٌ وَخَطَأٌ مُتَيَقَّنٌ بِلَا شَكٍّ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23399 The issue of selling dates for anything other than Dirhams and Dinars.

[مَسْأَلَةَ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِغَيْرِ الدَّرَاهِمِ وَالدَّنَانِيرِ]

L23400 1478 - Question:

١٤٧٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23401 If someone were to say: "You are the claimants to adhering to authentic narrations—yet you yourselves narrated through Ibn Wahb's transmission: Ibn Jurayj narrated to me on the authority of 'Aṭā', and (separately) on the authority of Abū al-Zubayr, who narrated from Jābir that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited selling fruits until they ripen, and nothing of it should be sold except using dinars and dirhams."

وَرَوَيْتُمُوهُ أَيْضًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ عَنْ جَابِرٍ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ فِي غَايَةِ الصِّحَّةِ؟

L23402 And have you also narrated it through the chain of Sufyān ibn ʾUyaynah from Ibn Jurayj from ʾAṭāʾ from Jābir from the Messenger of Allāh (peace be upon him), and is this report of the utmost authenticity?

قُلْنَا وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ: نَعَمْ؛ لِأَنَّ الثِّمَارَ كُلَّهَا إذَا يَبِسَتْ حُدَّتْ أَوْ لَمْ تُجَدَّ فَهِيَ ثِمَارٌ قَدْ طَابَتْ بِلَا خِلَافٍ مِنْ أَحَدٍ، وَلَا خِلَافَ فِي اللُّغَةِ.

L23403 We said—and with Allah alone lies all success—yes, [this is the case]. For all fruits, when dried and harvested or not gathered, are deemed permissible without disagreement from anyone or in the language.

وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنَّهُ أَمَرَ بِبَيْعِ التَّمْرِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَأَمَرَ بِبَيْعِهِ بِغَيْرِ صِنْفِهِ كَيْفَ شِئْنَا.

L23404 It has been authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that he commanded the sale of dates to be conducted hand-to-hand, measure for measure, kind for kind, and ordered its exchange for other types as we wish.

فَصَحَّ النَّصُّ عَلَى جَوَازِ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِمَا شِئْنَا مِمَّا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ، فَكَانَ مَا فِي هَذَا مُضَافًا إلَى مَا فِي خَبَرِ جَابِرٍ الْمَذْكُورِ وَزَائِدًا عَلَيْهِ، فَكَانَ ذَلِكَ: لَا تَبِيعُوا الثَّمَرَ إذَا طَابَ إلَّا بِالدَّنَانِيرِ وَالدَّرَاهِمِ، وَبِمَا شِئْتُمْ، حَاشَا مَا نُهِيتُمْ عَنْهُ، وَهَذَا هُوَ الَّذِي لَا يَجُوزُ غَيْرُهُ.

L23405 The text affirms the permissibility of selling dates in exchange for whatever we wish from permissible commodities. This content is added to and expands upon the report of Jabir mentioned earlier. Thus, it states: “Do not sell fruit once it ripens except for dinars, dirhams, or whatever you wish—excluding what you are prohibited from.” This is the sole permissible ruling, and no alternative is valid.

وَقَدْ صَحَّ الْإِجْمَاعُ الْمُتَيَقَّنُ الْمَقْطُوعُ بِهِ عَلَى أَنَّ جَمِيعَ الثِّمَارِ بَعْدَ طِيبِهَا حُكْمُهَا فِيمَا يُبَاعُ مِمَّا يَجُوزُ حُكْمُ التَّمْرِ، وَهَذَا بُرْهَانٌ صَحِيحٌ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ وَمَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا مَنَعَ مِنْ بَيْعِ التَّمْرِ بِغَيْرِ الدَّنَانِيرِ وَالدَّرَاهِمِ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23406 A conclusive and indisputable consensus has been firmly established that all fruits, once fit for consumption, are subject to the same sales rulings as dates. This constitutes sound proof—and success lies solely with Allah the Exalted. We are unaware of any scholar who prohibited selling dates except in exchange for gold dinars and silver dirhams, and with Allah the Exalted alone resides all success.

[مَسْأَلَة الربا لَا يكُون إلَّا فِي بَيْع أَوْ قَرْض أَوْ سلم]

The issue of riba does not occur except in a sale, a loan, or a salam contract.

١٤٧٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: الرِّبَا: وَالرِّبَا لَا يَكُونُ إلَّا فِي بَيْعٍ، أَوْ قَرْضٍ، أَوْ سَلَمٍ، وَهَذَا مَا لَا خِلَافَ فِيهِ مِنْ أَحَدٍ، لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ تَأْتِ النُّصُوصُ إلَّا بِذَلِكَ، وَلَا حَرَامَ إلَّا مَا فُصِّلَ تَحْرِيمُهُ، قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى {خَلَقَ لَكُمْ مَا فِي الأَرْضِ جَمِيعًا} [البقرة: ٢٩] .

L23407 Riba (usury), riba only occurs in sale, loan, or salam. No one disagrees about this, as the texts have only specified these, and nothing is prohibited except what has had its prohibition detailed. Allah, the Exalted, said: “He has created for you all that is on the earth.” [Al-Baqarah: 29].[43]

[43] Qur’an references (L23408): Qur’an 2:29 (Al-Baqarah).

L23409 And He, the Exalted, said: “Allah has permitted trade and forbidden usury” [Al-Baqarah: 275].[44]

L23410 And He, the Exalted, said: “He has detailed to you what He has forbidden upon you” [al-Anʿām 6:119].[45]

L23411 The Issue of What is Permissible Concerning Riba Among Sale and Salam

L23412–23414 1480 - Issue: Riba is not permissible in sales and salam except in the case of six things only: dates, wheat, barley, salt, gold, and silver—and it applies to all things in the context of loans. It is impermissible to lend anything so that less or more is returned to you, nor anything of another type whatsoever. Rather, only the same as what you lent in kind and quantity—as we detailed in the “Book of Loans” within this compilation of ours, rendering its repetition unnecessary—and this is a definitive consensus held with certainty.

L23415 The distinction between sale and salam on one hand, and a loan on the other, is that sale and salam can be conducted by exchanging one commodity type for another type or within the same commodity type, whereas a loan must necessarily only occur within the same commodity type without exception. And with Allah, the Exalted, lies success.

L23416 And similarly, what we have mentioned concerning the occurrence of riba in the six mentioned types within the context of sale and salam is a definitive consensus.

L23417 Regarding types beyond those mentioned, there is disagreement as to whether ribā occurs in them.

L23418 Usury (ribā) is among the greatest of major sins. Allah, the Exalted, said: “Those who consume usury will not rise except as one rises whom the Devil has driven to madness through his touch. That is because they say, ’Indeed, trade is just like usury,' but Allah has permitted trade and forbidden usury." [Surah Al-Baqarah 2:275][46]

L23419 And He, the Exalted, said: "O you who have believed, fear Allah and abandon what remains of usury, if you are true believers" [Al-Baqarah: 278]. "But if you do not, then be informed of a declaration of war from Allah and His Messenger" [Al-Baqarah: 279].[47]

L23420 And through the chain of Muslim: I am Harun ibn Sa'id al-Ayli, I am Ibn Wahb. Sulayman ibn Bilal informed me from Thawr ibn Zayd from Abu al-Ghayth from Abu Hurayrah that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said: "Avoid the seven heinous sins." They asked: "O Messenger of Allah, what are they?" He replied: "Associating partners with Allah, practicing sorcery, killing a soul Allah has forbidden except by just cause, devouring the wealth of the orphan, consuming usury, fleeing the battlefield, and slandering chaste, innocent, believing women."[48][49]

L23421 As narrated by Muslim: 'Uthman ibn Abi Shaybah narrated from Jarir (Ibn 'Abdul Hamid), from Al-Mughirah ibn Miqsam, from Ibrahim (Al-Nakha'i), from 'Alqamah ibn Qays, from Ibn Mas'ud, who said: "The Messenger of Allah—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—cursed the consumer of usury and the one who authorizes it."'[50]

L23422–23423 Abu Muhammad said: Since Allah the Exalted has permitted trade and forbidden usury, it is obligatory to seek knowledge of it so that it may be avoided. He the Exalted said: "He has detailed for you what He has forbidden to you, except that to which you are driven by necessity" [Surah al-An'ām 6:119].[51]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى {يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا اتَّقُوا اللَّهَ وَذَرُوا مَا بَقِيَ مِنَ الرِّبَا إِنْ كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٨] {فَإِنْ لَمْ تَفْعَلُوا فَأْذَنُوا بِحَرْبٍ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ} [البقرة: ٢٧٩] .

L23424 Thus, it is established that whatever He has detailed for us through the exposition of His Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—regarding usury or prohibited matters is indeed usury and forbidden. Whatever He has not detailed for us concerning its prohibition is permissible, for if it were permissible that there existed in the Sharia something forbidden by Allah the Exalted without Him detailing it to us, nor His Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—clarifying it, then He would be false in His statement, the Exalted: "And He has detailed for you what He has forbidden to you" (6:119). This constitutes explicit disbelief from anyone who asserts it, and the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—would be disobedient to his Lord the Exalted when He commanded him to clarify, but he failed to do so. This is undeniable disbelief from anyone who permits it.[52] وَمِمَّنْ قَالَ: لَا رِبَا إلَّا فِي الْأَصْنَافِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ: طَاوُسٌ، وَقَتَادَةُ، وَعُثْمَانُ الْبَتِّيُّ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ، وَجَمِيعُ أَصْحَابِنَا.

L23425 Among those who held that riba applies only to the specified categories are Tāwus, Qatādah, ʿUthmān al-Battī, Abū Sulaymān, and all the adherents of our school.

وَاخْتَلَفَ النَّاسُ فِي هَذَا، فَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ: إنَّ هَذِهِ الْأَصْنَافَ السِّتَّةَ إنَّمَا ذُكِرَتْ لِتَكُونَ دَلَالَةً عَلَى مَا فِيهِ الرِّبَا مِمَّا سِوَاهَا مِمَّا يُشْبِهُهَا فِي الْعِلَّةِ الَّتِي حَيْثُمَا وُجِدَتْ كَانَ مَا وُجِدَتْ فِيهِ رِبًا.

L23426 People have differed regarding this. A group holds that these six categories were mentioned solely to indicate what constitutes usury from analogous cases sharing the same effective cause, such that wherever the cause exists, that in which it is found is usury.

ثُمَّ اخْتَلَفُوا فِي تِلْكَ الْعِلَّةِ، وَكُلُّ طَائِفَةٍ مِنْهَا تُبْطِلُ عِلَّةَ الْآخَرِينَ أَوْ تَنْفِيهَا فَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ: هِيَ الطَّعْمُ، وَاللَّوْنُ -: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ يُونُسَ بْنِ يَزِيدَ قَالَ: سُئِلَ ابْنُ شِهَابٍ عَنْ الْحِمَّصِ بِالْعَدَسِ اثْنَانِ بِوَاحِدٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ؟ فَقَالَ ابْنُ شِهَابٍ: كُلُّ شَيْءٍ خَالَفَ صَاحِبَهُ بِاللَّوْنِ، وَالطَّعْمِ، فَلَا أَرَاهُ إلَّا شَبَهَ الطَّعَامِ - وَقَالَ ابْنُ وَهْبٍ: وَبَلَغَنِي عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ، وَيَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ، وَرَبِيعَةَ، مِثْلُهُ.

L23427 Then they differed regarding that legal cause, with each faction among them invalidating or negating the cause upheld by the others. A group said: It is taste and color—as narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Wahb from Yunus ibn Yazīd, who said: Ibn Shihāb was asked about exchanging chickpeas for lentils, two units for one unit, hand to hand. Ibn Shihāb replied: "Anything that differs from its counterpart in color and taste—I consider it part of the same category of food." Ibn Wahb added: "I have received reports from Ibn Masʿūd, Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, and Rabīʿah stating the same."

[52] Qur'an references (L23424): Qur'an 6:119 (Al-An'am).

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَنَظَرْنَا فِي هَذَا فَوَجَدْنَاهُ قَوْلًا بِلَا دَلِيلٍ فَسَقَطَ - وَقَدْ بَيَّنَ ابْنُ شِهَابٍ أَنَّهُ رَأْيٌ مِنْهُ وَالرَّأْيُ إذَا لَمْ يُسْنَدْ إلَى النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَهُوَ خَطَأٌ بِلَا شَكٍّ.

L23428 Abu Muhammad said: We examined this and found it to be a claim devoid of textual proof, thus it is invalid. Ibn Shihab indeed clarified that it was his personal opinion, and any opinion not grounded in the Prophet—peace be upon him—is undeniably erroneous.

وَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ: هِيَ وُجُوبُ الزَّكَاةِ، كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْجَبَّارِ بْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ بْنِ أَبِي عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا بِالتُّفَّاحَتَيْنِ بِالتُّفَّاحَةِ، وَالْخَوْخُ مِثْلُ ذَلِكَ.

L23429 A group held that the ruling entails the obligation of Zakāh, as narrated via Ibn Wahb from ʿAbd al-Jabbār ibn ʿUmar from Rabīʿah ibn Abī ʿAbd al-Raḥmān: he saw no issue in exchanging two apples for one apple, and peaches are treated the same way.

وَكُلُّ مَا لَمْ تَجُزْ فِيهِ الزَّكَاةُ، فَنَظَرْنَا فِي هَذَا فَوَجَدْنَاهُ أَيْضًا قَوْلًا بِلَا دَلِيلٍ، وَوَجَدْنَا الْمِلْحَ لَا زَكَاةَ فِيهِ، وَالرِّبَا يَقَعُ فِيهِ بِالنَّصِّ، فَبَطَلَ.

L23430–23431 As for all items on which zakah is impermissible, we examined this matter and found it to be an assertion lacking textual proof. We further established that salt bears no zakah obligation, yet riba applies to it by explicit textual ruling, thereby nullifying that exemption.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَمَا يَعْجَزُ مَنْ قَلَّدَ رَبِيعَةَ فِي هَذَا عَمَّا قَدَرَ عَلَيْهِ مَالِكٌ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ، بِزِيَادَتِهِمْ فِي عِلَّتِهِمْ، كَمَا قَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّ: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا الطَّعْمُ، وَالتَّثْمِينُ.

L23432 Ali said: How could someone who imitates Rabīʿah in this matter fail to attain what Mālik and al-Shāfiʿī achieved, given their extension of the legal cause—just as al-Shāfiʿī stated: “The legal cause of usury is edibility and measurability by weight”?

وَقَوْلُ مَالِكٍ: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا الِادِّخَارُ فِيمَا يُؤْكَلُ، وَالتَّثْمِينُ.

L23433 The statement of Mālik: The effective cause of ribā is hoarding foodstuffs and valuation.

فَهَلْ هَذَا إلَّا كَقَوْلِ مَنْ قَلَّدَ رَبِيعَةَ: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا بِمَا فِيهِ الزَّكَاةُ وَالْمِلْحِيَّةُ؟ وَهَلْ هِيَ إلَّا دَعْوَى كَدَعْوَى كِلَاهُمَا بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ؟

L23434 Is this not akin to the statement of one who imitates Rabīʿah: “The rationale for usury lies in its containing zakāt and milḥiyyah?” Is this not merely a claim like the claims of both—devoid of any proof?

وَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ بِغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ -: كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ كَثِيرٍ عَنْ شُعْبَةَ سَأَلْت الْحَكَمَ بْنَ عُتَيْبَةَ عَمَّنْ اشْتَرَى خَمْسَةَ عَشَرَ جَرِيبًا مِنْ أَرْضٍ بِعَشَرَةِ أَجْرِبَةٍ؟ فَقَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ - وَكَرِهَهُ حَمَّادُ بْنُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ وَلَا نَدْرِي مَا عِلَّتُهُ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَلَعَلَّهَا الْجِنْسُ، فَلَمْ يَجُزْ التَّفَاضُلُ فِي جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ، كَائِنًا مَا كَانَ وَاَللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ، إلَّا أَنَّهَا دَعْوَى لَيْسَتْ غَيْرُهَا أَصَحَّ مِنْهَا، وَلَا هِيَ بِأَضْعَفَ مِنْ غَيْرِهَا.

L23435 A group held a differing opinion—as transmitted to us through ʿAbd al-Razzāq’s chain: I am ʿAbd Allāh ibn Kathīr, reporting from Shuʿbah, who said: “I asked al-Ḥakam ibn ʿUtaybah about one who purchases fifteen jarībs of land for ten jarībs.” He replied, “There is no harm in it.” Yet Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān disapproved of it, though we do not know his rationale. It may have been due to the category, making inequality impermissible within a single category, whatever it may be—and Allāh knows best—except that this assertion is neither more sound nor weaker than others.

وَقَدْ رُوِيَ مِثْلُهُ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ، وَهُوَ أَنَّهُ جَعَلَ عِلَّةَ الرِّبَا تَقَارُبَ الْمَنْفَعَةِ فِي الْجِنْسِ الْوَاحِدِ، أَوْ الْجِنْسَيْنِ.

L23436 A similar narration is reported from Sa'īd ibn Jubayr, stating that he considered the effective cause of riba to be the similarity in benefit within the same type or two types.

L23437 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl that I, Ar-Rabīʿ ibn Ṣubayḥ, narrate from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, who said: "If the two categories differ, there is no harm in a hand-to-hand exchange of one for two."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذِهِ أَعَمُّ الْعِلَلِ فَيَلْزَمُ مَنْ قَالَ مِنْهُمْ: بِالْعِلَّةِ الْعَامَّةِ أَنْ يَقُولَ بِهَا - وَقَالَ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا هِيَ الاقْتِيَاتُ، وَالادِّخَارُ فِي الْجِنْسِ، فَمَا كَانَ يُدَّخَرُ مِمَّا يَكُونُ قُوتًا فِي الْأَكْلِ، فَالرِّبَا فِيهِ نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً، وَمَا كَانَ لَا يُقْتَاتُ وَلَا يُدَّخَرُ، فَلَا يَدْخُلُ الرِّبَا فِيهِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ - وَإِنْ كَانَ جِنْسًا وَاحِدًا - لَكِنْ يَدْخُلُ فِيهِ الرِّبَا فِي النَّسِيئَةِ إذَا كَانَ جِنْسًا وَاحِدًا، وَهَذِهِ هِيَ عِلَّةُ الْمُتَقَدِّمِينَ مِنْهُمْ، ثُمَّ رَغِبَ عَنْهَا الْمُتَأَخِّرُونَ مِنْهُمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ وَجَدُوهَا تُفْسِدُ عَلَيْهِمْ، لِأَنَّ الثُّومَ، أَوْ الْبَصَلَ، وَالْكُرَّاثَ، وَالْكَرَوْيَا، وَالْكُزْبَرَةَ، وَالْخَلَّ، وَالْفُلْفُلَ - نَعَمْ، وَالْمِلْحُ الَّذِي جَاءَ فِيهِ النَّصُّ لَيْسَ مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ يَكُونُ قُوتًا أَصْلًا، بَلْ بَعْضُهُ يَقْتُلُ إذَا أُكِلَ مِنْهُ نِصْفُ وَزْنِ مَا يُؤْكَلُ مِمَّا يَتَقَوَّتُ بِهِ، كَالْمِلْحِ، وَالْفُلْفُلِ، فَلَوْ أَنَّ إنْسَانًا أَكَلَ رِطْلَ فُلْفُلٍ فِي جِلْسَةٍ لَقَتَلَهُ بِلَا شَكٍّ، وَكَذَلِكَ الْمِلْحُ، وَالْخَلُّ الْحَاذِقُ، وَكَذَلِكَ الثُّومُ - وَوَجَدُوهَا تُفْسِدُ عَلَيْهِمْ أَيْضًا فِي اللَّبَنِ، وَالْبَيْضِ، فَإِنَّهُمَا لَا يُمْكِنُ ادِّخَارُهُمَا، وَالرِّبَا عِنْدَهُمْ يَدْخُلُ فِيهِمَا، وَوَجَدُوهَا أَيْضًا تُفْسِدُ عَلَيْهِمْ فِي الْكَمُّونِ، وَالشُّونِيزِ، وَالْحُلْبَةِ الرَّطْبَةِ، وَالْكُزْبَرَةِ، وَالْكَرَوْيَا، لَيْسَ شَيْءٌ مِنْ ذَلِكَ قُوتًا، وَالرِّبَا عِنْدَهُمْ فِي كُلِّ ذَلِكَ، فَلَمَّا رَأَوْا هَذِهِ الْعِلَّةَ كَذَلِكَ، وَهِيَ عِلَّةُ مَنْ قَلَّدُوهُ دِينَهُمْ اطَّرَحُوهَا، وَلَمْ تَكُنْ عَلَيْهِمْ مُؤْنَةٌ فِي اسْتِخْرَاجِ غَيْرِهَا بِآرَائِهِمْ لِتَسْتَقِيمَ لَهُمْ آرَاؤُهُمْ فِي الْفُتْيَا عَلَيْهَا؟ فَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ: إنَّمَا

L23438–23440 Abū Muḥammad said: This is the broadest legal rationale, thus whoever among them asserts a general legal rationale is obliged to apply it. The Mālikīs stated: The rationale for ribā is being a staple food and stored within the same genus. Therefore, whatever is stored as a staple food for consumption is subject to ribā in both immediate and deferred exchange. What is neither a staple nor stored does not entail ribā in hand-to-hand exchange—even if it is the same genus—but ribā applies in deferred exchange if the items are of the same genus. This was the rationale upheld by their early scholars, which their later scholars abandoned, for they found it invalidating their framework. Items such as garlic, onion, leek, caraway, coriander, vinegar, pepper (indeed, even salt, which is explicitly mentioned in textual rulings)—none of these are staple foods whatsoever. Some of these items, like salt and pepper, would be lethal if consumed in half the weight of what is consumed as staple food. If one were to eat a riṭl of pepper in a single sitting, it would undoubtedly kill them without doubt, as would be the case with salt, potent vinegar, and likewise. Garlic—they found that it caused spoilage in their milk and eggs, as these could not be stored, and riba according to their jurisprudence applied to both. They also observed spoilage in cumin, black seed, fresh fenugreek, coriander, and caraway—none being staple foods—with riba rulings encompassing all such items. When they recognized this effective cause, which was the legal rationale of those they emulated in matters of faith, they rejected it, facing no difficulty in deriving alternative rulings through their reasoning so that their legal opinions in issuing rulings on it would be consistent. Some argued: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—specified the most superior sustenance (wheat) and the most inferior sustenance (salt) to indicate that rulings for intermediate foodstuffs follow the same principle.

ذَكَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَعْلَى الْقُوتِ، وَهُوَ الْبُرُّ، وَأَدْوَنَ الْقُوتِ، وَهُوَ الْمِلْحُ، لِيَدُلَّ عَلَى أَنَّ حُكْمَ مَا بَيْنَهُمَا كَحُكْمِهِمَا.

L23441 Abū Muḥammad said: This is a sheer lie upon the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—fabricated without effort. How could a Muslim's heart be at ease with uttering such claims upon Allah, the Exalted, and His Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him?

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا كَذِبٌ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مُجَرَّدٌ بِلَا كُلْفَةٍ، وَمَا نَدْرِي كَيْفَ يَنْشَرِحُ صَدْرُ مُسْلِمٍ لِإِطْلَاقِ مِثْلِ هَذَا عَلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، وَعَلَى رَسُولِهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -؟

L23442 If this person had made a similar declaration regarding the keeper of his donkey without informing him personally, he would have been deemed a liar and discredited—how much more severe then is it concerning Allah Almighty and His Prophet, peace be upon him? O Allah, to You belongs all praise for Your tremendous blessing in deterring us from such things and their like.

L23443 Then the rest of them were not satisfied with this legal cause and said: "Salt is not inferior to staple foods; rather, the need for it is more urgent than for garlic, fresh fenugreek, and black cumin." Thus, they sought another cause, akin to one who arbitrarily controls the threshing floor of his dates, taking what is deemed preferable and discarding what is not.

L23444 They said: The reason in usury varies. Among them are being staple foods and storability, as their earlier scholars stated by analogy to wheat and barley. Among them are sweet foods and storability, such as raisins, figs, and honey, by analogy to dates. Among them are being used as condiments and storability by analogy to salt. This reasoning was contrived for them by Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn Ṣāliḥ al-Abharī. This reasoning invalidates their position, for turnips, eggplants, squash, cabbage, purslane, amaranth, chard, carrots, cauliflower, and horseradish are predominantly used by people as condiments.

فَقَالُوا: الْعِلَّةُ فِي الرِّبَا مُخْتَلِفَةٌ، فَمِنْهَا الِاقْتِيَاتُ، وَالِادِّخَارُ، كَمَا قَالَ أَسْلَافُهُمْ قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْبُرِّ وَالشَّعِيرِ - وَمِنْهَا الْحَلَاوَةُ، وَالِادِّخَارُ، كَالزَّبِيبِ وَالتِّينِ، وَالْعَسَلِ قِيَاسًا عَلَى التَّمْرِ - وَمِنْهَا التَّأَدُّمُ، وَالِادِّخَارُ قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْمِلْحِ، وَهَذَا تَعْلِيلٌ اسْتَصْنَعَهُ لَهُمْ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ صَالِحٍ الْأَبْهَرِيُّ، وَهَذَا تَعْلِيلٌ يُفْسِدُ عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّ السَّلْجَمَ وَالْبَاذِنْجَانَ، وَالْقَرْعَ، وَالْكُرُنْبَ، وَالرِّجْلَةَ، وَالْقِطْفَ، وَالسَّلْقَ، وَالْجَزَرَ، وَالْقُنَّبِيطَ، والبربز إدَامُ النَّاسِ فِي الْأَغْلَبِ.

L23445–23447 Much of that is stored and Riba does not occur in it according to them: such as turnips, carrots, and eggplants. Rather, all such items permit exchanging two units for one of the same kind in immediate hand-to-hand exchange. Some scholars discarded this legal cause as unsatisfactory for the reasons we mentioned. One of them then expanded upon it by stating: “This category includes sweetness and storing [of items] from that which is consumed as delicacies and serves as viable sustenance.” Others disapproved of this legal cause and said: “It holds no validity, for pepper and garlic...” As for caraway and cumin, none of them is consumed for enjoyment, nor is it suitable for sustenance, nor used as a condiment, nor is it sweet.

وَكَثِيرٌ مِنْ ذَلِكَ يُدَّخَرُ وَلَا يَقَعُ الرِّبَا فِيهِ عِنْدَهُمْ: كَاللُّفْتِ، وَالْجَزَرِ، وَالْبَاذِنْجَانِ، بَلْ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ يَجُوزُ مِنْهُ اثْنَانِ بِوَاحِدٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ مِنْ جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ، فَاطَّرَحَ بَعْضُهُمْ هَذِهِ الْعِلَّةَ

L23448 Additionally, jujubes, dried plums, dried pears, and podded legumes are all consumed for enjoyment and are suitable for sustenance. According to their view, none of these are subject to ribā. This necessitated employing another legal rationale, so he stated: “The determining factors are being a staple food, being stored, and what enhances the suitability of nourishing food.” To validate his conjectured inclusion of cumin, caraway, onions, garlic, leeks, chili peppers, and vinegar among items subject to ribā through analogy with salt, he argued that food is made suitable by all these substances.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ الْعُنَّابَ وَالْإِجَّاصَ الْمُزَبَّبَ، وَالْكُمَّثْرَى الْمُزَبَّبَ والمخيطاء كُلُّهَا يُتَفَكَّهُ بِهِ وَيَصْلُحُ لِلْقُوتِ، وَلَا يَدْخُلُ الرِّبَا فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ عِنْدَهُمْ - فَاحْتَاجَ إِلَى اسْتِعْمَالِ عِلَّةٍ أُخْرَى، فَقَالَ: الْعِلَّةُ هِيَ الِاقْتِيَاتُ، وَالِادِّخَارُ، وَمَا يَصْلُحُ بِهِ الطَّعَامُ الْمُتَقَوَّتُ بِهِ لِيَصِحَّ لَهُ فِيمَا ظَنَّ إِدْخَالُ: الْكَمُّونِ، وَالْكَرَوْيَا، وَالْبَصَلِ، وَالثُّومِ، وَالْكُرَّاثِ، وَالْفُلْفُلِ، وَالْخَلِّ، فِيمَا يَقَعُ فِيهِ الرِّبَا قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْمِلْحِ؛ لِأَنَّ الطَّعَامَ يَصْلُحُ بِكُلِّ ذَلِكَ.

L23449 Abū Muḥammad said: These are the most corrupt reasons they mentioned—though all of them are invalid, with clear proof. The evidence for this is that improving food through the spices, vegetables, and vinegar we described bears no resemblance whatsoever to improving it with salt. This is because cooked food, if left entirely uneaten, cannot be consumed by anyone except one who is near death from hunger or fears it. As for enhancing food with the mentioned spices and vegetables, the food requires none of these except due to extravagance and indulgence.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذِهِ أَفْسَدُ الْعِلَلِ الَّتِي ذَكَرُوا، وَإِنْ كَانَتْ كُلُّهَا فَاسِدَةً، وَاضِحَةَ الْبُرْهَانِ، بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: أَنَّ إِصْلَاحَ الطَّعَامِ بِمَا ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ التَّوَابِلِ، وَالْخَضْرَاوَاتِ، وَالْخَلِّ، لَا يُشْبِهُ إِصْلَاحُهُ بِالْمِلْحِ أَصْلًا؛ لِأَنَّ الطَّعَامَ الْمَطْبُوخَ إِنْ لَمْ يُؤْكَلْ أَصْلًا، وَلَا يَقْدِرُ عَلَيْهِ أَحَدٌ، إِلَّا مَنْ قَارَبَ الْمَوْتَ مِنْ الْجُوعِ أَوْ خَافَهُ، وَإِمَّا إِصْلَاحُهُ بِالتَّابِلِ، وَالْخَضْرَاوَاتِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ فَمَا بِالطَّعَامِ إِلَى شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ حَاجَةٌ إِلَّا عَنْ بَذَخٍ وَأَشِرٍ.

L23450 Moreover, every being with sound sensory perception in the world inherently knows through immediate perception that improving food with caraway, cumin, pepper, coriander, and nigella seeds is equivalent to improving it with Chinese cinnamon, galangal, Ceylon cinnamon, spikenard, and saffron. There is no distinction—indeed, improving it with these [spices] renders it more flavorful, fragrant, and suitable than with those. Yet, in their view, riba does not apply to these [transactions]. Undoubtedly, the necessity (ḍarūrah) of improving food with water is more pressing and critical, yet riba, according to them, is not incurred in water exchanged for water. We know of no legal cause they uphold beyond what we have elaborated.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ كُلَّ ذِي حِسٍّ سَلِيمٍ فِي الْعَالَمِ يَدْرِي بِضَرُورَةِ الْحِسِّ أَنَّ إِصْلَاحَ الطَّعَامِ بِالْكَرَوْيَا، وَالْكَمُّونِ، وَالْفُلْفُلِ، وَالْكُزْبَرِ، وَالشُّونِيزِ، كَإِصْلَاحِهِ بِالدَّارَصِينِيِّ، وَالْخُولَنْجَانِ، وَالْقِرْفَةِ، وَالسُّنْبُلِ، وَالزَّعْفَرَانِ، وَلَا فَرْقَ، بَلْ إِصْلَاحُهُ بِهَذِهِ أَطْيَبُ لَهُ وَأَعْبَقُ، وَأَصْلَحُ مِنْهُ بِتِلْكَ، وَالرِّبَا عِنْدَهُمْ لَا يَدْخُلُ فِي هَذِهِ، وَبِلَا شَكٍّ أَنَّ الضَّرُورَةَ فِي إِصْلَاحِ الطَّعَامِ

بِالْمَاءِ أَشَدُّ وَأَمَسُّ، وَالرِّبَا عِنْدَهُمْ لَا يَدْخُلُ فِي الْمَاءِ بِالْمَاءِ - وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُمْ عِلَّةً غَيْرَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا.

L23451 All these reasons were mentioned—some by ʿAbdullāh ibn Abī Zayd al-Qayrawānī, and the rest by Ibn al-Qaṣṣār and by ʿAbd al-Wahhāb ibn ʿAlī ibn Naṣr—in their respective works, both in scattered and compiled forms.

وَهَذِهِ الْعِلَلُ كُلُّهَا ذَكَرَ بَعْضَهَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ أَبِي زَيْدٍ الْقَيْرَوَانِيُّ، وَذَكَرَ سَائِرَهَا ابْنُ الْقَصَّارِ، وَعَبْدُ الْوَهَّابِ بْنُ عَلِيِّ بْنِ نَصْرٍ فِي كُتُبِهِمْ مُفَرَّقَةً وَمَجْمُوعَةً.

L23452 Abū Muḥammad said: All of these are invalid due to the negligence we mentioned and because they are fabricated and in use. It is said to them: What difference exists between your effective cause here and that of one who argues, “Rather, the effective cause of ribā (usury) is that which has an ear of grain by analogy to wheat and barley; that which has pits by analogy to dates; that which has a salty taste by analogy to salt; and that which is metallic by analogy to gold and silver”?

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَكُلُّهَا فَاسِدٌ بِمَا ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ التَّخَاذُلِ، وَبِأَنَّهَا مَوْضُوعَةٌ مُسْتَعْمَلَةٌ - وَيُقَالُ لَهُمْ: مَا الْفَرْقُ بَيْنَ عِلَّتِكُمْ هَذِهِ وَبَيْنَ مَنْ قَالَ: بَلْ عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا مَا كَانَ ذَا سُنْبُلٍ قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْبُرِّ، وَالشَّعِيرِ، وَمَا كَانَ ذَا نَوًى قِيَاسًا عَلَى التَّمْرِ، وَمَا كَانَ طَعْمُهُ مِلْحِيًّا قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْمِلْحِ، وَمَا كَانَ مَعْدِنِيًّا قِيَاسًا عَلَى الذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةِ.

L23453–23454 If they say, “No one has ever said this,” we respond, “Nor did anyone before you ever endorse your legal justifications.”

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَمْ يَقُلْ بِهَذَا أَحَدٌ؟ قُلْنَا: وَلَا قَالَ بِعِلَلِكُمْ أَحَدٌ قَبْلَكُمْ.

L23455 If someone were to say: “This stance would also parallel your own. Moreover, how did you come to assign an effective cause to wheat, barley, dates, and salt, yet refrain from doing so for gold and silver—when all these are equally addressed by explicit texts? What justifies this arbitrary judgment, O these people? Is this not akin to mere trifling? This is no place to claim consensus, for the Ḥanafīs assigned weight as the effective cause for gold and silver, and measurement by volume for the four categories.”

فَإِنْ قَالَ قَائِلٌ: هَذِهِ أَيْضًا يَكُونُ مِثْلَكُمْ، وَأَيْضًا: فَمِنْ أَيْنَ خَرَجَ لَكُمْ أَنْ تُعَلِّلُوا الْبُرَّ، وَالشَّعِيرَ، وَالتَّمْرَ، وَالْمِلْحَ؟ وَلَا تُعَلِّلُونَ الذَّهَبَ، وَالْفِضَّةَ، وَكُلُّهَا جَاءَ النَّصُّ بِهِ سَوَاءً، فَمِنْ أَيْنَ هَذَا التَّحَكُّمُ يَا هَؤُلَاءِ؟ وَهَلْ هَذَا إلَّا شَبَهُ اللَّعِبِ؟ وَلَيْسَ هَذَا مَكَانَ دَعْوَى إجْمَاعٍ، فَقَدْ عَلَّلَ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ الذَّهَبَ وَالْفِضَّةَ بِالْوَزْنِ، وَعَلَّلُوا الْأَصْنَافَ الْأَرْبَعَةَ بِالْكَيْلِ.

L23456 Ali said: Others among them did not provide a rationale for any of that, and it is necessary to either provide a rationale for all of it and apply qiyas thereon, or to abandon providing a rationale for all of it and abandon qiyas thereon, limiting oneself solely to what the Text has stated. This is something from which they have no way out whatsoever.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَغَيْرُهُمْ لَمْ يُعَلِّلْ شَيْئًا مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا بُدَّ مِنْ تَعْلِيلِ الْجَمِيعِ وَالْقِيَاسِ عَلَيْهِ، أَوْ تَرْكِ تَعْلِيلِ الْجَمِيعِ وَتَرْكِ الْقِيَاسِ عَلَيْهِ، وَالِاقْتِصَارِ عَلَى مَا جَاءَ بِهِ النَّصُّ فَقَطْ، وَهَذَا مَا لَا مُخَلِّصَ لَهُمْ مِنْهُ أَصْلًا.

L23457 We have strived hard to find for their proponents any argument they could present to counteract some of these flaws—even if it were measured as mere clamor—but we found nothing to that effect in any of their writings.

وَقَدْ أَجْهَدْنَا أَنْفُسَنَا فِي أَنْ نَجِدَ لِنُظَّارِهِمْ شَيْئًا يُقَوُّونَ بِهِ شَيْئًا مِنْ هَذِهِ الْعِلَلِ يُمْكِنُ إيرَادُهُ - وَإِنْ كَالَ شَغَبًا - فَمَا قَدَرْنَا عَلَيْهِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ كُتُبِهِمْ.

وَجَهَدْنَا أَنْ نَجِدَ لَهُمْ شَيْئًا نُورِدُهُ - وَإِنْ لَمْ يُورِدُوهُ - كَمَا نَفْعَلُ بِهِمْ وَبِكُلِّ مَنْ خَالَفَنَا، فَإِنَّهُمْ وَإِنْ كَانُوا لَمْ يَنْتَبِهُوا لَهُ فَلَا يَبْعُدُ أَنْ يَنْتَبِهَ لَهُ مُنْتَبِهٌ فَيَشْغَبَ بِهِ، فَمَا قَدَرْنَا عَلَى ذَلِكَ.

L23458 We strove to find something to cite against them—even if they did not cite it themselves—as we do with them and all who oppose us. For though they might not have noticed it, it remains possible that an observer might notice it and raise an objection with it. Therefore, we could not accomplish this.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّا لَمْ نَجِدْ لِمَالِكٍ فِي تَعْلِيلِهِ الْمَذْكُورِ الَّذِي عَلَيْهِ بَنَى أَقْوَالَهُ فِي الرِّبَا سَلَفًا أَلْبَتَّةَ، لَا مِنْ صَاحِبٍ، وَلَا مِنْ تَابِعٍ، وَلَا مِنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ، وَلَهُمْ تَخَالِيطُ عَظِيمَةٌ فِي أَقْوَالِهِمْ فِي الرِّبَا، فَقَدْ تَقَصَّيْنَاهَا فِي غَيْرِ هَذَا الْمَكَانِ، وَلَمْ نَذْكُرْهَا هَهُنَا، لِأَنَّهُ كِتَابٌ مُخْتَصَرٌ، لَكِنْ يَكْفِي مِنْ إِيرَادِهَا: أَنْ يَنْظُرَ كُلُّ ذِي فَهْمٍ كَيْفَ تَكُونُ أَقْوَالٌ بُنِيَتْ عَلَى هَذِهِ الْقَوَاعِدِ وَفُرُوعٌ أُنْشِئَتْ مِنْ هَذِهِ الْأُصُولِ؟ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23459 Moreover, we have found no precedent whatsoever for Mālik's aforementioned reasoning—upon which he based his pronouncements concerning usury—from any companion, follower, or anyone before him. Their statements on usury contain grave inconsistencies, which we have exhaustively detailed elsewhere but omitted here due to the concise nature of this book. However, it suffices from citing them that every discerning person should consider: how can statements built upon such principles and branches established from these foundations exist? And success is from Allah, the Most High.

وَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ مِنْهُمْ: أَبُو ثَوْرٍ، وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُنْذِرِ، وَالنَّيْسَابُورِيِّ، وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ فِي أَوَّلِ قَوْلَيْهِ -: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا هِيَ الْأَكْلُ، وَالشُّرْبُ، وَالْكَيْلُ، وَالْوَزْنُ، وَالتَّثْمِينُ - فَمَا كَانَ مِمَّا يُؤْكَلُ أَوْ يُشْرَبُ، أَوْ يُكَالُ أَوْ يُوزَنُ، لَمْ يَجُزْ مِنْهُ مِنْ جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ وَاحِدٌ بِاثْنَيْنِ، لَا يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَلَا نَسِيئَةً، وَكَذَلِكَ الذَّهَبُ وَالْفِضَّةُ، وَمَا كَانَ يُكَالُ أَوْ يُوزَنُ مِمَّا لَا يُؤْكَلُ وَلَا يُشْرَبُ، أَوْ كَانَ يُؤْكَلُ وَلَا يُشْرَبُ، أَوْ كَانَ يُؤْكَلُ أَوْ يُشْرَبُ مِمَّا لَا يُكَالُ وَلَا يُوزَنُ، فَلَا رِبَا فِيهِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَالتَّفَاضُلُ فِيهِ جَائِزٌ، فَأَجَازُوا الْأُتْرُجَّ فِي الْأُتْرُجِّ مُتَفَاضِلًا نَسِيئَةً.

L23460 A group among them—Abu Thawr, Muhammad ibn al-Mundhir, and al-Naysaburi, which is al-Shafi'i's first opinion—held that the effective cause of riba is edibles, potables, measurement by volume, weight, or counting. Thus, anything that is edible, potable, measured by volume, or weighed cannot be exchanged as one [unit] for two [units] of the same kind, whether hand-to-hand or deferred. This applies similarly to gold and silver. As for items measured by volume or weighed that are neither edible nor potable, or edible but not potable, or edible or potable but not measured by volume or weighed, there is no riba in their hand-to-hand exchange, and disparity in quantity is permissible. Hence, they permitted deferred exchange of citrons for citrons with a disparity in quantity.

وَكَذَلِكَ كُلُّ مَا لَا يُوزَنُ وَلَا يُكَالُ مِمَّا يُؤْكَلُ أَوْ يُشْرَبُ، وَكُلُّ مَا يُكَالُ أَوْ يُوزَنُ مِمَّا لَا يُؤْكَلُ وَلَا يُشْرَبُ، وَلَا هُوَ ذَهَبٌ وَلَا فِضَّةٌ - وَهَذَا الْقَوْلُ صَحَّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ، ذَكَرَهُ مَالِكٌ عَنْ أَبِي الزِّنَادِ عَنْهُ فِي مُوَطَّئِهِ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَ سَعِيدٍ، وَلَا عَنْ غَيْرِهِ مِنْ أَهْلِ عَصْرِهِ.

L23461–23462 Similarly, everything that is neither weighed nor measured by volume among what is eaten or drunk, and everything that is measured by volume or weighed among what is neither eaten nor drunk, nor is it gold or silver—this opinion is authentically reported from Sa'īd ibn al-Musayyab, as narrated by Mālik from Abū al-Zinād from him in his Muwaṭṭa'. We do not know of this opinion being reported from anyone before Sa'īd or from anyone else among the people of his time.

L23463 Proponents of this opinion claim that there is scholarly consensus on it.

وَحُجَّةُ أَهْلِ هَذَا الْقَوْلِ أَنَّهُمْ ادَّعَوْا الْإِجْمَاعَ عَلَيْهِ، قَالُوا: وَمَا عَدَاهُ فَمُخْتَلَفٌ فِيهِ - وَلَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى وُجُوبِ الرِّبَا فِيمَا عَدَا مَا ذَكَرْنَا.

They stated: "Anything beyond this is disputed, and there is no evidence for the obligation of ribā in matters beyond what we have mentioned."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَدَعْوَاهُمْ هَهُنَا بَاطِلٌ؛ لِأَنَّ مَنْ ادَّعَى الْإِجْمَاعَ عَلَى أَهْلِ الْإِسْلَامِ - وَفِيهِمْ الْجِنُّ، وَالْإِنْسُ - فِي مَسْأَلَةٍ لَمْ يُرْوَ فِيهَا قَوْلٌ عَنْ ثَمَانِيَةٍ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ أَصْلًا أَكْثَرُهَا بَاطِلٌ لَا يَصِحُّ، وَلَا عَنْ ثَلَاثَةَ عَشَرَ مِنْ التَّابِعِينَ أَصْلًا، عَلَى اخْتِلَافٍ شَدِيدٍ بَيْنَهُمْ، فَقَدْ ادَّعَى الْبَاطِلَ، فَكَيْفَ وَالْخِلَافُ فِي هَذَا أَشْهَرُ مِنْ الشَّمْسِ؟ لِأَنَّ مَالِكًا وَمَنْ وَافَقَهُ لَا يَرَوْنَ الرِّبَا فِي الْمَاءِ، وَلَا فِي كُلِّ مَا يُكَالُ أَوْ يُوزَنُ مِمَّا يُؤْكَلُ وَيُشْرَبُ، إذَا لَمْ يَكُنْ مُقْتَاتًا مُدَّخَرًا.

L23464 Abu Muhammad said: Their claim here is invalid, for whoever asserts consensus among all Muslims—including jinn and humankind—regarding an issue for which no opinion has been transmitted from even eight Companions at all—since most such claims are invalid and unsound—nor from thirteen Successors at all, amidst intense disagreement among them, has indeed made a false assertion. How could this be, when disagreement on this matter is more evident than the sun? For Mālik and those who concur with him do not recognize ribā in water, nor in anything measured by volume or weight from what is eaten or drunk, provided it is not a staple food stored for preservation.

فَلَا يَرَوْنَ الرِّبَا فِي: التُّفَّاحِ، وَلَا فِي الْعُنَّابِ، وَلَا فِي حَبِّ الْقَنْبِ، وَلَا فِي زَرِيعَةِ الْكَتَّانِ، وَلَا فِي الْكُرُنْبِ، وَلَا فِي غَيْرِ ذَلِكَ، وَكُلُّهُ يُوزَنُ أَوْ يُكَالُ وَيُؤْكَلُ - فَبَطَلَ هَذَا الْإِجْمَاعُ الْمَكْذُوبُ.

L23465 They do not consider usury to apply to apples, jujubes, hemp seeds, flax plants, cabbage, or anything else—all of which are weighed or measured and eaten—thus invalidating this false consensus.

وَمَا وَجَدْنَا لَهُمْ حُجَّةً غَيْرَ هَذَا أَصْلًا، وَلَا قَدَرْنَا عَلَى أَنْ نَأْتِيَ لَهُمْ بِغَيْرِهَا، فَبَطَلَ هَذَا الْقَوْلُ لِتَعَرِّيهِ مِنْ الْبُرْهَانِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23466 We did not find for them any proof whatsoever besides this at all, nor were we able to bring forth anything else for them. Thus, this statement is invalid due to its lack of demonstrative proof—and with Allah the Exalted lies all success.

وَقَالَتْ طَائِفَةٌ: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا إنَّمَا هِيَ الطَّعْمُ فِي الْجِنْسِ أَوْ الْجِنْسَيْنِ، وَالتَّثْمِينُ فِي الْجِنْسِ أَوْ الْجِنْسَيْنِ، فَمَا كَانَ يُؤْكَلُ، وَيُشْرَبُ، فَلَا يَجُوزُ مُتَفَاضِلًا أَصْلًا وَلَا بِنَسِيئَةٍ أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِ التَّمَاثُلُ نَقْدًا فَقَطْ إذَا كَانَ فِي جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ، فَإِنْ كَانَ مِنْ جِنْسَيْنِ: جَازَ فِيهِ التَّمَاثُلُ وَالتَّفَاضُلُ نَقْدًا، وَلَمْ يَجُزْ فِيهِمَا النَّسِيئَةُ.

L23467 A group has stated: The rationale for ribā is edibility in the same kind or two kinds, and measurement by weight/volume in the same kind or two kinds. Therefore, anything that is eaten or drunk may not be exchanged with an excess at all—whether in immediate or deferred terms at all. Only equal exchange is permitted in it, restricted to immediate payment only when within a single kind. If it involves two kinds: equal and unequal immediate exchange is permissible in them, but deferred exchange is not permitted in both kinds.

L23468 And what is neither consumed as food nor drink, nor is it gold or silver - equivalence and disparity, spot payment and deferred payment are permissible for such items, whether of one kind or two kinds. Thus it is permissible to exchange one ritl of iron for two ritls of iron on a deferred basis, and likewise for all things that are neither consumed as food nor drink, nor are they gold or silver.

وَمَا كَانَ لَا يُؤْكَلُ وَلَا يُشْرَبُ، وَلَا هُوَ ذَهَبٌ وَلَا فِضَّةٌ، فَالتَّمَاثُلُ وَالتَّفَاضُلُ، وَالنَّقْدُ وَالنَّسِيئَةُ: جَائِزٌ فِيهِ جِنْسًا كَانَ أَوْ جِنْسَيْنِ - فَأَجَازَ رِطْلُ حَدِيدٍ بِرِطْلَيْ حَدِيدٍ إِلَى أَجَلٍ، وَكَذَلِكَ فِي كُلِّ مَا لَا يُؤْكَلُ وَلَا يُشْرَبُ، وَلَا هُوَ ذَهَبٌ وَلَا فِضَّةٌ.

L23469–23470 It was prohibited to sell one riṭl of saqamūniyyā in exchange for two riṭls of saqamūniyyā, and likewise anything used as a remedy, because it is consumed in some manner. This is al-Shāfiʿī's other opinion, and upon this his followers rely, and it is this opinion they uphold.

وَمُنِعَ مِنْ بَيْعِ رِطْلٍ سَقَمُونْيَا بِرِطْلَيْ سَقَمُونْيَا، وَكَذَلِكَ كُلُّ مَا يُتَدَاوَى بِهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ يُطْعَمُ عَلَى وَجْهٍ مَا - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ الْآخَرُ، وَعَلَيْهِ يَعْتَمِدُ أَصْحَابُهُ، وَإِيَّاهُ يَنْصُرُونَ.

L23471 The proponents of this view cited the authentic report from the Messenger of Allah—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—: "Food for food, like for like," through the narration of Umar ibn Abdullah al-Adawi from the Messenger of Allah—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him.

وَاحْتَجَّ أَهْلُ هَذِهِ الْمَقَالَةِ بِالْخَبَرِ الثَّابِتِ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ» مِنْ طَرِيقِ عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ الْعَدَوِيِّ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L23472 Abu Muhammad said: Thus we have narrated it through the chain of Muslim: I am Harun ibn Ma'ruf, from Abdullah ibn Wahb, who informed me that Amr—meaning Ibn al-Harith—narrated that Abu al-Nadr reported to him that Busr ibn Sa'id narrated to him from Ma'mar ibn Abdullah al-Adawi, who said: "I heard the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—say: 'Food for food, equal for equal.'"

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَكَذَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا هَارُونُ بْنُ مَعْرُوفٍ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ وَهْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي عَمْرٌو - هُوَ ابْنُ الْحَارِثِ - أَنَّ أَبَا النَّضْرِ حَدَّثَهُ أَنَّ بُسْرَ بْنَ سَعِيدٍ حَدَّثَهُ عَنْ مَعْمَرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ الْعَدَوِيِّ قَالَ " كُنْت أَسْمَعُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَقُولُ: «الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ» .

L23473 Ali said: Some of their later scholars—who had no knowledge of Hadith nor any piety in him to restrain him from attributing to the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) what he did not say, nor what was transmitted from him, nor about what he had no knowledge—stated it without restraint through an unsupported chain, claiming: "The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: 'Food must not be sold for food except equal measure for equal measure.'" Abu Muhammad said: This is pure falsehood and intentional fabrication of Hadith—unless it be an error by an ignorant person. It has never been transmitted in this form, nor is it ever found through any authentic chain of narration.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَحَرَّفَهُ بَعْضُ مُتَأَخِّرِيهِمْ مِمَّنْ لَا عِلْمَ لَهُ بِالْحَدِيثِ وَلَا وَرَعَ لَهُ يَحْجِزُهُ عَنْ أَنْ يَتَكَلَّمَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِمَا لَمْ يَقُلْهُ، وَلَا جَاءَ عَنْهُ وَبِمَا لَا عِلْمَ لَهُ بِهِ، فَأَطْلَقَهُ إطْلَاقًا بِلَا إسْنَادٍ فَقَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «لَا يُبَاعُ الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ إلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ» . قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا كَذِبٌ بَحْتٌ، وَتَعَمُّدٌ لِوَضْعِ الْحَدِيثِ، إنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ خَطَأً مِنْ جَاهِلٍ، وَمَا جَاءَ هَكَذَا قَطُّ، وَلَا يُوجَدُ أَبَدًا مِنْ طَرِيقٍ غَيْرِ مَوْضُوعَةٍ.

L23474 Abu Muhammad said: There is no proof for them in the mentioned narration, for it merely states “food for food, like for like,” and it does not contain within it the prohibition of it, a like for more, nor does it permit it—it is silent on the matter. Thus, it must be sought from other than this narration.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَلَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِي الْخَبَرِ الْمَذْكُورِ، لِأَنَّهُ إِنَّمَا فِيهِ " الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ الْمَنْعُ عَنْهُ مِثْلًا بِأَكْثَرَ، وَلَا إِبَاحَتُهُ، إِنَّمَا هُوَ مَسْكُوتٌ عَنْهُ، فَوَجَبَ طَلَبُهُ مِنْ غَيْرِ هَذَا الْخَبَرِ ".

L23475 Moreover, the word “food” (al-ṭaʿām) in the Arabic language applies exclusively to wheat alone, as has been narrated to us through the chain of Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī—who is an authority in language—who said: “During the time of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—we would give the Fitr charity as a ṣāʿ of food, or a ṣāʿ of barley, or a ṣāʿ of dates, or a ṣāʿ of dried curd. Thus, the name ’food’ did not apply except to wheat alone.”

وَأَيْضًا - فَإِنَّ لَفْظَةَ " الطَّعَامِ " لَا تُطْلَقُ فِي لُغَةِ الْعَرَبِ إِلَّا عَلَى الْبُرِّ وَحْدَهُ -: كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ وَهُوَ حُجَّةٌ فِي اللُّغَةِ «كُنَّا نُخْرِجُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - صَدَقَةَ الْفِطْرِ صَاعًا مِنْ طَعَامٍ، أَوْ صَاعًا مِنْ شَعِيرٍ، أَوْ صَاعًا مِنْ تَمْرٍ، أَوْ صَاعًا مِنْ أَقِطٍ - فَلَمْ يَقَعْ اسْمُ الطَّعَامِ إِلَّا عَلَى الْبُرِّ وَحْدَهُ» .

L23476–23478 Furthermore, if the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—“Food in exchange for food, like for like” entails... According to your stance that prohibits selling food for food in excess of like for like, you must necessarily regard his restriction—peace be upon him—to the six categories as preventing riba in what lies beyond them; otherwise, you have contradicted yourselves.

L23479 If they say: What is the benefit in the Messenger of Allah’s statement—peace and blessings be upon him—“Food for food, like for like”? We reply: The supreme benefit lies in extending the term ’food’ to all edibles, for this refutes the position of the Mālikīs who prohibit exchanging one apple for another unless it is conclusively known which is larger, nor leafy greens for leafy greens unless it is definitively ascertained which is greater in quantity. If the term ’food’ is confined to wheat alone, this permits selling superior wheat for inferior wheat, or superior and inferior wheat for average wheat—provided they are equal in measure.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: فَمَا الْفَائِدَةُ فِي قَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ» ؟ قُلْنَا: أَعْظَمُ الْفَائِدَةِ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تَتَعَدُّونَ بِاسْمِ الطَّعَامِ إِلَى كُلِّ مَا يُؤْكَلُ، فَإِنَّ فِيهِ إِبْطَالَ قَوْلِ الْمَالِكِيِّينَ: لَا يَجُوزُ تُفَّاحَةٌ بِتُفَّاحَةٍ إِلَّا حِينَ يُوقَنُ أَيُّهُمَا أَكْبَرُ، وَلَا الْخُضَرُ بِالْخُضَرِ إِلَّا حِينَ يُوقَنُ أَيُّهَا أَكْثَرُ، وَإِنْ كَانَ لَا يَتَعَدَّى بِلَفْظَةِ الطَّعَامِ الْبُرُّ، فَفِيهِ إِبَاحَةُ بَيْعِ بُرٍّ فَاضِلٍ بِأَدْنَى، وَفَاضِلٍ وَأَدْنَى بِمُتَوَسِّطٍ إِذَا تَمَاثَلَتْ فِي الْكَيْلِ -.

L23480 Moreover, neither an Arab nor an Arabized non-Arab applies the term “food” to saqamūniyā, neither with absolute usage nor with a construct state.

وَأَيْضًا: فَلَا يُطْلِقُ عَرَبِيٌّ وَلَا مُسْتَعْرِبٌ عَلَى السَّقَمُونْيَا اسْمَ طَعَامٍ لَا بِإِطْلَاقٍ وَلَا بِإِضَافَةٍ.

L23481 If they say: “But these are consumed in medicines,” we respond: Sandalwood is consumed in medicines, as are Armenian bole, red clay, ṭifl clay (a type of clay), palm fiber, pearls, and the stone of the Jews. By this logic, they would impose usury on all such things—though they do not actually do this. Indeed, some people consume their fingernails, beard hair, or parchment as a pretextual means, thereby applying usury to them in food transactions, for these two are likewise consumed.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: قَدْ تُؤْكَلُ فِي الْأَدْوِيَةِ؟ قُلْنَا: وَالصَّنْدَلُ قَدْ يُؤْكَلُ فِي الْأَدْوِيَةِ، وَالطِّينُ الْأَرْمِينِيُّ، وَالْأَحْمَرُ، وَالطَّفْلُ كَذَلِكَ، وَالسَّبَدُ، وَاللُّؤْلُؤُ، وَحَجَرُ الْيَهُودِ كَذَلِكَ، فَأَوْقَعُوا الرِّبَا فِي كُلِّ ذَلِكَ - وَهُمْ لَا يَفْعَلُونَ هَذَا، نَعَمْ، وَفِي النَّاسِ مَنْ يَأْكُلُ أَظْفَارَهُ، وَشَعْرَ لِحْيَتِهِ، وَالرَّقَّ، أَكْلًا ذَرِيعًا، فَأَوْقَعُوهَا فِي الطَّعَامِ، وَأَدْخَلُوا الرِّبَا فِيهَا، لِأَنَّهُمَا قَدْ يُؤْكَلَانِ أَيْضًا.

L23482 They also invoked as proof the report related by Aḥmad ibn Muḥammad al-Ṭalamankī, from Ibn Mufarrij, from Muḥammad ibn Ayyūb al-Raqqī, from Aḥmad ibn ʿAmr ibn ʿAbd al-Khāliq al-Bazzār, from Yūsuf ibn Mūsā, from Muḥammad ibn Fuḍayl, from Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq, from Yazīd ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn Qusayṭ, from ʿAṭāʾ ibn Yasār and Abū Salama ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān—both of whom reported from Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī, who said: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—distributed varying portions of food. We resold them among ourselves at a profit, but the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—forbade us from taking them except as equal measure for equal measure."

L23483 And according to what we have narrated via the chain of Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb: Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥasan informed me from Ḥajjāj—who is Ibn Muḥammad—who said: Ibn Jurayj said: Abū al-Zubayr informed me that he heard Jābir ibn 'Abdillāh say: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said, "Do not sell an unspecified heap of food for another unspecified heap of food, nor an unspecified heap of food for a measured quantity of food that is specified [in advance]."

وَبِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي إِبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ أَنَا حَجَّاجٌ - هُوَ ابْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ - قَالَ: قَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «لَا تُبَاعُ الصُّبْرَةُ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ بِالصُّبْرَةِ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ، وَلَا الصُّبْرَةُ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ بِالْكَيْلِ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ الْمُسَمَّى» .

L23484–23485 These are two authentic hadiths; however, they offer no proof for them in these two cases, because the term "food" - as we explained - does not apply in absolute usage among the Arabs except to wheat specifically, as we mentioned earlier from Abu Sa'id al-Khudri.

فَهَذَانِ حَدِيثَانِ صَحِيحَانِ إِلَّا أَنَّهُمَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِمَا، لِأَنَّ اسْمَ " الطَّعَامِ " لَا يَقَعُ كَمَا قُلْنَا عِنْدَ الْعَرَبِ مُطْلَقًا إِلَّا عَلَى الْبُرِّ فَقَطْ، كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ آنِفًا.

L23486 If it is said: Indeed, Allah Almighty has stated, "The food of those who were given the Scripture is lawful for you, and your food is lawful for them" [Al-فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَقَدْ قَالَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ {وَطَعَامُ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ حِلٌّ لَكُمْ وَطَعَامُكُمْ حِلٌّ لَهُمْ} [المائدة: ٥] فَأَرَادَ تَعَالَى ذَبَائِحَنَا وَذَبَائِحَهُمْ.

Ma'idah: 5], thus the Exalted means our ritually slaughtered animals and theirs.[53]

L23487 The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: "There is no prayer in the presence of food."

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «لَا صَلَاةَ بِحَضْرَةِ طَعَامٍ» ؟

L23488 We said: We do not deny that the term "food" may apply to other than wheat through annexation or textual evidence, for this argument opposes the Shāfiʿīs rather than supports them. This is because, in one of their two positions, they unanimously agree that the slaughtered animals of the People of the Book and our slaughtered animals are permissible to exchange some of one for some of the other with differing values. In their second position, they hold that it is impermissible to sell any part of them for another at all until it has fully dried.

قُلْنَا: لَا نَمْنَعُ مِنْ وُقُوعِ اسْمِ " الطَّعَامِ " عَلَى غَيْرِ الْبُرِّ بِإِضَافَةٍ أَوْ بِدَلِيلٍ مِنْ النَّصِّ عَلَى أَنَّ هَذَا الِاحْتِجَاجَ هُوَ عَلَى الشَّافِعِيِّينَ لَا لَهُمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ لَا يَخْتَلِفُونَ فِي أَحَدِ قَوْلَيْهِمْ: إنَّ ذَبَائِحَ أَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ وَذَبَائِحَنَا جَائِزٌ بَعْضُهَا بِبَعْضٍ مُتَفَاضِلًا، وَفِي قَوْلِهِمْ الثَّانِي: أَنَّهُ لَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا بِشَيْءٍ أَصْلًا حَتَّى يَيْبَسَ.

L23489 And these two opinions contradict their argument in their application of the term "food" to meats and other things.

وَهَذَانِ الْقَوْلَانِ مُخَالِفَانِ لِاحْتِجَاجِهِمْ بِإِطْلَاقِ اسْمِ الطَّعَامِ عَلَى اللُّحُومِ وَغَيْرِهَا.

L23490 Abu Muhammad said: These two reports contradict the statements of Malik and Abu Hanifah as a whole. If they interpret them to mean that "food" applies to everything edible, these reports nullify their opinions on usury.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَانِ الْخَبَرَانِ مُخَالِفَانِ لِقَوْلِ مَالِكٍ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، جُمْلَةً إنْ حَمَلَاهُمَا عَلَى أَنَّ " الطَّعَامَ " وَاقِعٌ عَلَى كُلِّ مَا يُؤْكَلُ مُبْطِلَانِ لِقَوْلِهِمَا فِي الرِّبَا.

L23491 And all divine success comes from Allah, the Exalted.

وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23492 As for the ḥadīth of Abū Saʿīd, it is as we have stated. Their argument using it is also invalidated because it was narrated from Ibn Isḥāq by someone more precise and retentive than Ibn Fuḍayl—Qutaybah—as it was narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: "I am Ibn Numayr (he is ʿAbdullāh), I am Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq from Yazīd ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn Qusayṭ from ʿAṭāʾ ibn Yasār from Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī, who said: 'The Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him—distributed among us food consisting of dates of varying quality, some being superior to others. We started vying to acquire more of it, so the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him—forbade us except by equal measure for equal measure.'" Thus, their clinging to that argument is invalidated.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ فَكَمَا قُلْنَا، وَيَبْطُلُ أَيْضًا احْتِجَاجُهُمْ بِهِ بِأَنَّهُ قَدْ رَوَاهُ عَنْ ابْنِ إِسْحَاقَ مَنْ هُوَ أَضْبَطُ وَأَحْفَظُ مِنْ ابْنِ فُضَيْلٍ: قُتَيْبَةُ، كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ نُمَيْرٍ - هُوَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ - أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ يَزِيدَ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ قُسَيْطٍ عَنْ عَطَاءِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ " قَالَ: «قَسَمَ فِينَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - طَعَامًا مِنْ التَّمْرِ مُخْتَلِفًا بَعْضُهُ أَفْضَلُ مِنْ بَعْضٍ، فَذَهَبْنَا نَتَزَايَدُ فِيهِ فَنَهَانَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إلَّا كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ» فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِذَلِكَ.

[53] Qur'an references (L23486): Qur'an 5:5 (Al-Ma'idah).

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّهُ لَا خِلَافَ بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَهُمْ فِي أَنَّ ذَلِكَ الطَّعَامَ الَّذِي فَرَّقَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بَيْنَهُمْ إنَّمَا كَانَ صِنْفًا وَاحِدًا: إمَّا تَمْرًا، أَوْ بُرًّا، أَوْ غَيْرَ ذَلِكَ؛ لِأَنَّ فِيهِ نَهْيَهُمْ عَنْ أَنْ يَبِيعُوهُ بَعْضَهُ بِبَعْضٍ بِزِيَادَةٍ، هَذَا مَا لَا شَكَّ فِيهِ.

L23493 Additionally, there is no disagreement between us and them that the food which the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—distributed among them was indeed a single category: either dates, wheat, or other than that, because in this context he prohibited them from selling portions of it for other portions with an increase. This is beyond doubt.

فَإِذْ هُوَ كَذَلِكَ فَتَسْمِيَتُهُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِنْ قَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَيُمْكِنُ لَهُمْ أَنْ يُنَازِعُونَا فِي مَعْنَاهُ، ثُمَّ يَحْمِلُوهُ عَلَى عُمُومِهِ، إنَّمَا هُوَ مِنْ كَلَامِ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ وَقَدْ أُخْبِرْنَا عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ أَنَّهُ لَا يُطْلِقُ اسْمَ " الطَّعَامِ " إلَّا عَلَى الْبُرِّ.

L23494–23496 Since this is the case, its designation as food—based on the statement of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)—makes it possible for them to challenge us regarding. Its meaning is first established, then interpreted according to its general sense. This stems solely from Abu Sa'id's statement, as we have been informed that he applies the term "food" exclusively to wheat.

ثُمَّ لَا يُمَارُونَنَا فِي أَنَّ حُكْمَ ذَلِكَ الْخَبَرِ إنَّمَا هُوَ فِي ذَلِكَ الْمَقْسُومِ - هَذَا نَصُّ مُقْتَضَى لَفْظِ الْخَبَرِ يَقِينًا ضَرُورَةً وَلَا بُدَّ، فَلَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ فِي جَمِيعِ أَصْنَافِ مَا يُرِيدُونَ أَنْ يُسَمُّوهُ طَعَامًا، إلَّا بِقِيَاسٍ فَاسِدٍ يُنَازِعُونَ فِيهِ، وَهُمْ لَا يَدَّعُونَ مَعْرِفَةَ مَا كَانَ مِنْ صِنْفِ ذَلِكَ الطَّعَامِ، فَيُمْكِنُهُمْ عِنْدَنَا أَنْ يَحْتَجُّوا عَلَيْنَا بِهِ لَوْ صَحَّ لَهُمْ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَكُنْ بُرًّا، وَلَا تَمْرًا، وَلَا شَعِيرًا، وَيَبْطُلُ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهِ إنْ كَانَ بُرًّا، أَوْ تَمْرًا، أَوْ شَعِيرًا؛ لِأَنَّ هَذَا هُوَ قَوْلُنَا فِي هَذِهِ الْأَصْنَافِ الثَّلَاثَةِ، فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِخَبَرِ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ بِيَقِينٍ لَا إمْكَانَ فِي سِوَاهُ -.

L23497 Then they cannot contend with us that the ruling of that narration applies solely to that apportioned portion—this is the text necessitated by the wording of the narration with necessary and irrefutable certainty. Thus, they have no valid argument in this matter concerning all the categories they seek to label as food except through an invalid analogy they dispute. Moreover, they do not claim knowledge of what type of food that was. According to our position, they could only argue against us with it if it had been valid for them that it was neither wheat, dates, nor barley. Their reliance on it becomes void if it was wheat, dates, or barley, for this is our doctrine regarding these three categories. Therefore, their dependence on the narration of Abu Sa'id is invalidated with certainty allowing no possibility for anything else.

L23498 And to Allah, the Most High, belongs all praise.

وَاسْتَدْرَكْنَا فِي حَدِيثِ جَابِرٍ مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ قَالَ: وَأَنَا بِهِ إبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ مَرَّةً أُخْرَى فَقَالَ: أَنَا حَجَّاجٌ قَالَ: قَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الصُّبْرَةِ مِنْ التَّمْرِ لَا يُعْلَمُ مَكِيلَتُهَا بِالْكَيْلِ الْمُسَمَّى مِنْ التَّمْرِ» .

L23499 We supplemented in the narration of Jabir what we transmitted through the chain of Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb, who said—and in another narration, I [Ahmad] am accompanied by Ibrahim ibn al-Hasan—Hajjaj said: Ibn Jurayj narrated: Abu al-Zubayr informed me that he heard Jabir ibn 'Abdullah say, "The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited the sale of a heap of dates whose measure is unknown for a specified measure of dates."[54]

[54] Hadith references (L23499): Sahih Muslim 1530a; Mishkat al-Masabih 2816.

L23500 Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb narrated that Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥasan recounted that Ḥadīth to them on another occasion, and he reported from him that it was the very same Ḥadīth.

فَقَدْ أَخْبَرَ أَحْمَدُ بْنُ شُعَيْبٍ: أَنَّ إِبْرَاهِيمَ بْنَ الْحَسَنِ حَدَّثَهُمْ بِذَلِكَ الْحَدِيثِ مَرَّةً أُخْرَى فَأَخْبَرَ عَنْهُ: أَنَّه هُوَ ذَلِكَ الْحَدِيثُ نَفْسُهُ.

L23501 It has been established that Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥasan narrated it once according to its meaning as he held it and another time verbatim as he heard it. Moreover, Ḥajjāj ibn Muḥammad did not mention therein that he heard it from Ibn Jurayj.

وَصَحَّ أَنَّ إِبْرَاهِيمَ بْنَ الْحَسَنِ حَدَّثَ بِهِ مَرَّةً عَلَى مَا هُوَ مَعْنَاهُ عِنْدَهُ، وَمَرَّةً عَلَى مَا سَمِعَهُ - وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ حَجَّاجَ بْنَ مُحَمَّدٍ لَمْ يَذْكُرْ فِيهِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَهُ مِنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ.

L23502 We have transmitted it as a sound, connected chain through Muslim ibn al-Hajjaj who said: I am Ahmad ibn Amr ibn al-Sarh, I am Ibn Wahb. Ibn Jurayj informed me that Abu al-Zubayr reported to him, having heard Jabir ibn Abdullah say: “The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) forbade selling a heap of dates whose measured quantity is unknown in exchange for a known specified measure of dates.”[1] وَقَدْ رُوِّينَاهُ مُسْنَدًا صَحِيحًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمِ بْنِ الْحَجَّاجِ قَالَ: أَنَا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ عَمْرِو بْنِ السَّرْحِ أَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَنَّ أَبَا الزُّبَيْرِ أَخْبَرَه أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الصُّبْرَةِ مِنْ التَّمْرِ لَا يُعْلَمُ مَكِيلَتُهَا بِالْكَيْلِ الْمُسَمَّى مِنْ التَّمْرِ» .

L23503–23504 Muslim said: Ishaq ibn Ibrahim—that is, Ibn Rahawayh—also prohibited him: I, Rawh ibn Ubada, report from Ibn Jurayj, who reports from Abu al-Zubayr, that he heard Jabir ibn Abdullah say: “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited...” then he mentioned a similar prohibition, except he omitted the phrase “by the specified measure” in the hadith’s conclusion. Thus, this is the continuously transmitted authentically transmitted (sahih) chain.

قَالَ مُسْلِمٌ: وَنَاهُ أَيْضًا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ - هُوَ ابْنُ رَاهْوَيْهِ - أَنَا رَوْحُ بْنُ عُبَادَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ أَنَا أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَذَكَرَ مِثْلَهُ إِلَّا أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَقُلْ بِالْكَيْلِ الْمُسَمَّى» فِي آخِرِ الْحَدِيثِ، فَهَذَا هُوَ الْمُتَّصِلُ الصَّحِيحُ.

L23505 Through all this, it is confirmed that Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥasan either erred once and corrected another instance, or narrated it once according to his own interpretation and another time as he heard it - just as others transmitted it.

وَصَحَّ بِهَذَا كُلِّهِ أَنَّ إِبْرَاهِيمَ بْنَ الْحَسَنِ أَخْطَأَ فِيهِ مَرَّةً وَاسْتَدْرَكَ أُخْرَى، أَوْ حَدَّثَ بِهِ مَرَّةً عَلَى مَا مَعْنَاهُ عِنْدَهُ، وَمَرَّةً كَمَا سَمِعَهُ كَمَا رَوَاهُ غَيْرُهُ -

L23506 And with Allah, the Exalted, lies the granting of success. Thus, dependency on these two narrations is wholly invalid.

وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ - فَبَطَلَ التَّعَلُّقُ بِهَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ جُمْلَةً.

L23507 If they deceive with what we have narrated through the chain of Ibn Wahb from Ibn Lahīʿah from Abū al-Zubayr from Jābir, who said: “During the time of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), we would give a ṣāʿ of wheat in exchange for six ṣāʿs of dates. As for other types of food, that is disliked except like for like." This is baseless, for it comes through Ibn Lahīʿah's chain - he is rejected.

فَإِنْ مَوَّهُوا بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ ابْنِ لَهِيعَةَ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ «جَابِرٍ قَالَ: كُنَّا فِي زَمَانِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نُعْطِي الصَّاعَ مِنْ حِنْطَةٍ بِسِتَّةِ

[1] Hadith references (L23502): Sahih Muslim 1530a; Mishkat al-Masabih 2816.

أَصْوُعٍ مِنْ تَمْرٍ فَأَمَّا سِوَى ذَلِكَ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ فَيُكْرَهُ ذَلِكَ إِلَّا مِثْلٌ بِمِثْلٍ» فَهَذَا لَا شَيْءَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ لَهِيعَةَ هُوَ سَاقِطٌ.

L23508 Moreover, if it were authentic, it would be a mawqoof narration stopped at Jabir and not one attributed to the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ مَوْقُوفًا عَلَى جَابِرٍ وَلَيْسَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L23509 Moreover, it entirely contradicts the positions of the Mālikīs, Shāfiʿīs, and Ḥanafīs, for they do not prohibit differential exchange in dates when traded with items other than wheat, nor do they limit the permissibility of differential exchange to wheat traded specifically for dates, as indicated in this report.

ثُمَّ هُوَ مُخَالِفٌ لِقَوْلِ الْمَالِكِيِّينَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّينَ، وَالْحَنَفِيِّينَ جُمْلَةً؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ لَا يَمْنَعُونَ مِنْ التَّفَاضُلِ فِي التَّمْرِ مَعَ غَيْرِ الْبُرِّ، وَلَا يَقْتَصِرُونَ فِي إبَاحَةِ التَّفَاضُلِ فِي الْبُرِّ بِالتَّمْرِ خَاصَّةً، كَمَا فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ.

L23510 This is all they could possibly cite as evidence, and we have thoroughly investigated it. They mentioned, regarding this matter, narrations from those below the rank of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that which has been narrated to us via the chain of Ibn Wahb from Yunus ibn Yazīd from Ibn Shihāb al-Zuhrī: It has reached us that Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb said: "There is no harm in engaging in immediate exchange when the types of food differ"—meaning dates for wheat and dates for raisins.

هَذَا كُلُّ مَا يُمْكِنُ أَنْ يَحْتَجُّوا بِهِ فَقَدْ تَقَصَّيْنَاهُ. وَذَكَرُوا فِي ذَلِكَ عَمَّنْ دُونَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ يُونُسَ بْنِ يَزِيدَ عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ الزُّهْرِيِّ: بَلَغَنَا أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ أَنْ تَبَايَعُوا يَدًا بِيَدٍ مَا اخْتَلَفَتْ أَلْوَانُهُ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ - يُرِيدُ التَّمْرَ بِالْقَمْحِ وَالتَّمْرَ بِالزَّبِيبِ.

L23511 From the chain of Abd al-Razzaq: I, Ma'mar, narrate from al-Zuhri, from Salim ibn Abdullah, from his father, that he said: When their types of food differ, there is no harm in exchanging them hand-to-hand: wheat for dates, raisins for barley. But he disapproved of it on credit, and he disapproved of selling one type of food for another with delayed payment.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا مَعْمَرٌ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَالِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: مَا اخْتَلَفَتْ أَلْوَانُهُ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ، فَلَا بَأْسَ بِهِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، الْبُرُّ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَالزَّبِيبُ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَكَرِهَهُ نَسِيئَةً، وَكَانَ يَكْرَهُ الطَّعَامَ أَنْ يُبَاعَ شَيْءٌ مِنْهُ بِشَيْءٍ نَظْرَةً.

L23512 And through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhāl, from Ar-Rabīʿ ibn Ṣubayḥ, from ʿAṭāʾ ibn Abī Rabāḥ: He disliked purchasing fruit measured in exchange for a quantity of food on deferred payment.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا الرَّبِيعُ بْنُ صُبَيْحٍ عَنْ عَطَاءِ بْنِ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَكْرَهُ أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ شَيْئًا مِنْ الْفَاكِهَةِ مَا يُكَالُ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ الطَّعَامِ نَسِيئَةً.

L23513 Abu Muhammad said: As for the statement of Umar, its chain is disconnected. Then, even if it were authentic, a conflicting opinion from Umar has been narrated, as we will mention when discussing Abu Hanifah's view - God, the Exalted, willing.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: أَمَّا قَوْلُ عُمَرَ فَمُنْقَطِعٌ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ فَقَدْ رُوِيَ عَنْ عُمَرَ خِلَافُهُ كَمَا نَذْكُرُ فِي ذِكْرِنَا قَوْلَ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ - إنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى.

ثُمَّ لَيْسَ فِيهِ بَيَانٌ بِمَنْعِهِ مِنْ النَّظْرَةِ فِيمَا عَدَا السِّتَّةَ الْأَصْنَافِ فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهِ.

L23514–23515 Furthermore, there is no explicit statement in it prohibiting one from looking at anything other than the six categories, thus rendering their reliance on it invalid.

L23516 As for the ḥadīth of Ibn ʿUmar, there is no proof in it, though it is authentic, for it indicates dislike (karāhīyah) rather than prohibition (taḥrīm). There is no proof in anyone other than the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him. Contrary reports have been transmitted from him, as we shall mention—if Allah the Exalted wills—in our discussion of the opinions of Abū Ḥanīfah. Thus, it reverts to being a proof against them, for it contradicts their stance.

ثُمَّ كَمْ قِصَّةٍ خَالَفُوا فِيهَا عُمَرَ وَابْنَ عُمَرَ، كَتَوْرِيثِ عُمَرَ الْمُطَلَّقَةَ ثَلَاثًا فِي الْمَرَضِ - وَقَوْلِ عُمَرَ وَابْنِ عُمَرَ فِيمَنْ أَكَلَ يَظُنُّ أَنَّهُ لَيْلٌ فَإِذَا بِهِ قَدْ طَلَعَ الْفَجْرُ أَنَّ صَوْمَهُ تَامٌّ وَلَا قَضَاءَ عَلَيْهِ - وَفِي تَوْرِيثِ ذَوِي الْأَرْحَامِ - وَفِي أَنْ لَا يُقْتَلُ أَحَدٌ قَوَدًا بِمَكَّةَ - وَفِي أَنْ لَا يَحُجَّ أَحَدٌ عَلَى بَعِيرٍ جِلَالٍ - وَفِي غَيْرِ مَا قِصَّةٍ، فَكَيْفَ وَلَمْ يَأْتِ عَنْ عُمَرَ وَابْنِهِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا - وَعَنْ عَطَاءٍ هَهُنَا إلَّا الْكَرَاهَةُ فَقَطْ، لَا التَّحْرِيمُ الَّذِي يَقْدُمُونَ عَلَيْهِ بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ أَصْلًا؟ وَقَدْ حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سَعِيدِ بْنِ نَبَاتٍ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ نَصْرٍ أَنَا قَاسِمُ بْنُ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا ابْنُ وَضَّاحٍ أَنَا مُوسَى بْنُ مُعَاوِيَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ بَعْضِ أَصْحَابِهِ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: إنَّهُ لَيُعْجِبُنِي أَنْ يَكُونَ بَيْنَ الْحَلَالِ وَالْحَرَامِ سِتْرٌ مِنْ الْحَرَامِ.

L23517 Then, how many instances are there where they opposed ʿUmar and Ibn ʿUmar, such as ʿUmar's granting inheritance to a woman thrice-divorced during illness; the opinion of ʿUmar and Ibn ʿUmar regarding one who ate thinking it was still night but dawn had broken, that their fast remains valid with no making up required; their stance on granting inheritance to distant kindred; their view that no one should be executed in retaliation within Mecca; their prohibition of performing Hajj on a camel used for carrying loads; and numerous other instances. How can this be, when nothing is reported from ʿUmar, his son—may Allah be pleased with them—or ʿAṭāʾ here except mere dislike, not the prohibition they impose without any evidence whatsoever? Muḥammad ibn Saʿīd ibn Nabāt narrated to us: ʿAbdullāh ibn Naṣr narrated to us: Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh narrated to us: Ibn Waḍḍāḥ narrated to us: Mūsā ibn Muʿāwiyah narrated to us: Wakīʿ narrated to us: from Sufyān al-Thawrī from one of his companions from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: "It pleases me that there be a barrier between the lawful and the unlawful from the unlawful."

وَقَدْ جَاءَ عَنْ عُمَرَ: أَنَّهُ خَافَ أَنْ يَزِيدَ فِيمَا نَهَى عَنْهُ مِنْ الرِّبَا أَضْعَافَ الرِّبَا الْمُحَرَّمِ خَوْفًا مِنْ الْوُقُوعِ فِيهِ عَلَى مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ زُرَيْعٍ عَنْ دَاوُد بْنِ أَبِي هِنْدٍ عَنْ عَامِرٍ الشَّعْبِيِّ أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ قَامَ خَطِيبًا فَقَالَ: إنَّا وَاَللَّهِ مَا نَدْرِي لَعَلَّنَا نَأْمُرُكُمْ بِأُمُورٍ لَا تَصْلُحُ لَكُمْ، وَلَعَلَّنَا نَنْهَاكُمْ عَنْ أُمُورٍ تَصْلُحُ لَكُمْ، وَإِنَّهُ

L23518 It has been reported from Umar that he feared increasing the multiples of the prohibited usury he had forbidden might lead to falling into it, according to what was narrated to us through the chain of Al-Hajjaj ibn Al-Minhal: Yazid ibn Zurai' reported from Dawud ibn Abi Hind from Amir Al-Sha'bi that Umar ibn Al-Khattab stood to deliver a sermon and said: "By Allah, we do not know - perhaps we command you with matters unsuited to you, and perhaps we forbid you from matters suited to you. Indeed, the verses on usury were among the last revelations of the Quran, and the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—passed away before he could clarify it for us. Therefore, abandon what raises doubt for what leaves no doubt."

كَانَ مِنْ آخِرِ الْقُرْآنِ نُزُولًا لِآيَاتِ الرِّبَا، فَتُوُفِّيَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَبْلَ أَنْ يُبَيِّنَهُ لَنَا، فَدَعُوا مَا يَرِيبُكُمْ إِلَى مَا لَا يَرِيبُكُمْ.

L23519 Ali said: Far removed is Allah that His Messenger—may Allah's blessings and peace be upon him—would fail to clarify the riba for which Allah threatened the severest punishment and against which Allah the Exalted has sanctioned war. Even if he did not clarify it to Umar, he undoubtedly clarified it to others. He is not required to do more than that, nor is he duty-bound to explain everything to everyone. However, if he clarified it to those who would convey it, he has conveyed what he was obligated to convey.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: حَاشَ لِلَّهِ مِنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَمْ يُبَيِّنْ الرِّبَا الَّذِي تَوَعَّدَ فِيهِ أَشَدَّ الْوَعِيدِ، وَالَّذِي أَذِنَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِيهِ بِالْحَرْبِ، وَلَئِنْ كَانَ لَمْ يُبَيِّنْهُ لِعُمَرَ فَقَدْ بَيَّنَهُ لِغَيْرِهِ، وَلَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ أَكْثَرُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يُبَيِّنَ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ لِكُلِّ أَحَدٍ، لَكِنْ إِذَا بَيَّنَهُ لِمَنْ يُبَلِّغُهُ فَقَدْ بَلَّغَ مَا لَزِمَهُ تَبْلِيغُهُ.

L23520 From the narration of Abd al-Razzaq, via Sufyan al-Thawri, via Isa ibn al-Mughirah, via al-Sha'bi, who reported: Umar ibn al-Khattab said, "We abandoned nine-tenths of the permissible for fear of ribā."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ عِيسَى بْنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ قَالَ: قَالَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ: تَرَكْنَا تِسْعَةَ أَعْشَارِ الْحَلَالِ مَخَافَةَ الرِّبَا.

L23521–23522 Thus, any connection they might have to what we have mentioned is invalidated. It is established that their claim of having no precedent in this matter whatsoever stands, nor do we know of it from anyone before them.

فَبَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُمْ مُتَعَلَّقٌ فِي شَيْءٍ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا، وَحَصَلَ قَوْلُهُمْ لَا سَلَفَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ أَصْلًا، وَلَا نَعْرِفُهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُمْ.

L23523 They said: The Prophet—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—mentioned six types: four edible ones and two that serve as prices for commodities. So we analogized all edible matters to the edible category, yet refrained from applying analogy to monetary values at all?

وَقَالُوا: إِنَّمَا ذَكَرَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - سِتَّةَ أَصْنَافٍ: أَرْبَعَةً مَأْكُولَةً، وَاثْنَتَيْنِ هُمَا ثَمَنُ الْأَشْيَاءِ، فَقِسْنَا عَلَى الْمَأْكُولَةِ كُلَّ مَأْكُولٍ، وَلَمْ نَقِسْ عَلَى الْأَثْمَانِ شَيْئًا؟

L23524 We said: This is the first error. If analogy is invalid, it is impermissible for you to apply it to the four mentioned edible items while excluding others. If analogy is valid, it is impermissible for you to abandon gold and silver without applying analogy to them, as you did with the four edible items—with no distinction. Then apply analogy to gold and silver for every weighed substance, as Abū Ḥanīfa did, or for everything metallic. If you refuse and justify gold and silver by valuation through weight, we say: This is against you, not for you. For everything permissible to sell is a valid price for anything permissible to sell, by your consensus along with the people on this matter. We do not know from where you derived restricting valuation by weight to gold and silver, as there is no textual evidence for this, nor any statement from any of the people of Islam? This is an error of utmost outrageousness, and it binds the Shāfiʿīs and Mālikīs with a binding necessity from which there is no escape.

فَقُلْنَا: هَذَا أَوَّلُ الْخَطَأِ، إِنْ كَانَ الْقِيَاسُ بَاطِلًا فَمَا يَحِلُّ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَقِيسُوا عَلَى الْأَرْبَعَةِ الْمَأْكُولَةِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ غَيْرَهَا، وَإِنْ كَانَ الْقِيَاسُ حَقًّا فَمَا يَحِلُّ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَدَعُوا الذَّهَبَ، وَالْفِضَّةَ: دُونَ أَنْ تَقِيسُوا عَلَيْهِمَا، كَمَا فَعَلْتُمْ فِي الْأَرْبَعَةِ الْمَأْكُولَةِ وَلَا فَرْقَ، فَقِيسُوا عَلَى الذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّةِ كُلَّ مَوْزُونٍ كَمَا فَعَلَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، أَوْ كُلَّ مَعْدِنِيٍّ، فَإِنْ أَبَيْتُمْ وَعَلَّلْتُمْ الذَّهَبَ وَالْفِضَّةَ بِالتَّثْمِينِ؟ قُلْنَا: هَذَا عَلَيْكُمْ لَا لَكُمْ؛ لِأَنَّ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهُ فَهُوَ ثَمَنٌ صَحِيحٌ لِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهُ، بِإِجْمَاعِكُمْ مَعَ النَّاسِ عَلَى ذَلِكَ، وَلَا نَدْرِي مِنْ أَيْنَ وَقَعَ

لَكُمْ الِاقْتِصَارُ بِالتَّثْمِينِ عَلَى الذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةِ، وَلَا نَصَّ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَلَا قَوْلَ أَحَدٍ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْإِسْلَامِ؟ وَهَذَا خَطَأٌ فِي غَايَةِ الْفُحْشِ، وَلَازِمٌ لِلشَّافِعِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ، لُزُومًا لَا انْفِكَاكَ مِنْهُ.

L23525 Moreover, what makes your legal cause more valid than that of the Hanafis, who ascribed the four categories to volumetric measurement and gold and silver to weight—claiming that he (peace be upon him) mentioned only what is volumetrically measured or weighed? This is a matter they cannot evade. Exalted is Allah above such a thing! That there could be here a legal cause He did not clarify in His Book or on the tongue of His Messenger (peace be upon him), thereby leaving us in misguidance and an incomplete religion, relegating us to the conjectures of Abu Hanifa, Malik, and al-Shafiʿi—conjectures which are devoid of meaning. This is a matter no rational person would doubt. Praise be to Allah, Lord of the worlds.

وَأَيْضًا: فَمَا الَّذِي جَعَلَ عِلَّتَكُمْ بِأَوْلَى مِنْ عِلَّةِ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ الَّذِينَ عَلَّلُوا الْأَرْبَعَةَ الْأَصْنَافَ بِالْكَيْلِ، وَالذَّهَبَ وَالْفِضَّةَ بِالْوَزْنِ - وَقَالُوا: لَمْ يَذْكُرْ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إلَّا مَكِيلًا أَوْ مَوْزُونًا، وَهَذَا مَا لَا مُخَلِّصَ لَهُمْ مِنْهُ، وَحَاشَ لِلَّهِ أَنْ يَكُونَ هَهُنَا عِلَّةٌ لَمْ يُبَيِّنْهَا اللَّهُ فِي كِتَابِهِ، وَلَا عَلَى لِسَانِ رَسُولِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، بَلْ تَرَكَنَا فِي ضَلَالٍ وَدِينٍ غَيْرِ تَامٍّ، وَوَكَّلَنَا إلَى ظُنُونِ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، الَّتِي لَا مَعْنَى لَهَا، هَذَا أَمْرٌ لَا يَشُكُّ فِيهِ ذُو عَقْلٍ. وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ.

L23526 A group has stated that the cause of usury lies solely in measurement by volume or weight within a single category or two categories. If a commodity is measured by volume, it must be sold for its own kind in equal measure with immediate payment, where neither inequality in quantity nor deferred payment is permitted. However, it is permissible to sell it for another type of volume-measured commodity with unequal quantity, provided payment is immediate. Deferred payment remains impermissible in such cases.

If a commodity is weighed, it is permissible to sell it for its own kind in equal weight with immediate payment, where neither inequality in quantity nor deferred payment is allowed. It is also permissible to sell it for another type of weighed commodity with unequal weight, provided payment is immediate. Deferred payment remains impermissible except specifically in the case of gold and silver, for it is permissible to sell all other weighed commodities for gold or silver on deferred payment terms.

L23527–23528 Permissible is the sale of a volume-measured commodity for a weight-measured one, whether in unequal or equal quantities, as immediate or deferred payment—such as meat for wheat, honey for dates, raisins for barley, and likewise for all other things. This is the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfa and his companions.

وَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ الْمَكِيلِ بِالْمَوْزُونِ مُتَفَاضِلًا وَمُتَمَاثِلًا نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً، كَاللَّحْمِ بِالْبُرِّ، أَوْ كَالْعَسَلِ بِالتَّمْرِ، أَوْ الزَّبِيبِ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَهَكَذَا فِي كُلِّ شَيْءٍ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ وَأَصْحَابِهِ.

L23529 Some of the later scholars among them abandoned this rationale due to its invalidation against them concerning gold and silver within all weighed substances. They retreated to claiming: "The cause of usury is the existence of measured quantity or weight in what is inherently specified." Yet through this, they have added nothing but madness and falsehood by their assertion that dinars and dirhams are not specified - a stubborn denial of evident reality.

وَقَدْ رَغِبَ بَعْضُ الْمُتَأَخِّرِينَ مِنْهُمْ عَنْ هَذِهِ الْعِلَّةِ بِسَبَبِ انْتِقَاضِهَا عَلَيْهِمْ فِي الذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّةِ بِسَائِرِ الْمَوْزُونَاتِ، فَلَجَأَ إلَى أَنْ قَالَ: عِلَّةُ الرِّبَا هِيَ وُجُودُ الْكَيْلِ، أَوْ الْوَزْنِ فِيمَا يَتَعَيَّنُ، فَمَا زَادُونَا بِهَذَا إلَّا جُنُونًا وَكَذِبًا بِدَعْوَاهُمْ أَنَّ الدَّنَانِيرَ، وَالدَّرَاهِمَ: لَا تَتَعَيَّنُ، وَهَذِهِ مُكَابَرَةُ الْعِيَانِ.

L23530 Moreover, the effective cause for gold and silver in their view is precisely defined, and they permit its transfer in weighed transactions. Thus, they derived no benefit from this absurd addition in removing their contradiction.

L23531 Then they came forth with absurdities akin to what is brought by wrong-doers whose intellects are corrupt—matters we have exhaustively detailed in this work. However, among these is their contravention of the unanimously established Sunnah upheld by all who maintain that usury applies to non-delayed transactions. They permitted exchanging one date for two dates in an immediate transaction, which would logically compel them to allow handing over three grains of wheat for two grains of dates. This constitutes a departure from the certain consensus.

ثُمَّ أَتَوْا بِتَخَالِيطَ تُشْبِهُ مَا يَأْتِي بِهِ مَنْ بَغَى لِفَسَادِ عَقْلِهِ، قَدْ تَقَصَّيْنَاهَا فِي هَذَا الْمَكَانِ، إلَّا أَنَّ مِنْهَا مُخَالَفَتَهُمْ السُّنَّةَ الْمُتَّفَقَ عَلَيْهَا مِنْ كُلِّ مَنْ يَرَى الرِّبَا فِي غَيْرِ النَّسِيئَةِ، فَأَجَازُوا التَّمْرَةَ بِالتَّمْرَتَيْنِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَيَلْزَمُهُمْ أَنْ يُجِيزُوا تَسْلِيمَ ثَلَاثِ حَبَّاتٍ مِنْ قَمْحٍ فِي حَبَّتَيْنِ مِنْ تَمْرٍ، وَهَذَا خُرُوجٌ عَنْ الْإِجْمَاعِ الْمُتَيَقَّنِ.

L23532 Abu Muhammad said: They argued for their position by citing what we have reported through the chain of Muslim: I am Ibn Qa'nab from Sulayman - meaning Ibn Bilal - from Abd al-Majid ibn Suhayl ibn Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf, that he heard Sa'id ibn al-Musayyab relate that Abu Hurayrah and Abu Sa'id informed him: "The Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him - sent a man from Banu Adi al-Ansari and appointed him over Khaybar. He came with premium dates, so the Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him - asked him: 'Are all dates of Khaybar like these?' He replied: 'No, by Allah, O Messenger of Allah! We trade two sa's of al-Jam' dates for one sa' of these.' The Messenger of Allah - peace and blessings of Allah be upon him - said: 'Do not do this. Rather, exchange like for like, or sell these and buy others with its price. And similarly the measure.”’ They used this wording as evidence, specifically the phrase “and similarly the measure.”[2]

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَاحْتَجُّوا لِقَوْلِهِمْ هَذَا بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا ابْنُ قَعْنَبٍ عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ - يَعْنِي ابْنَ بِلَالٍ - عَنْ عَبْدِ الْمَجِيدِ بْنِ سُهَيْلِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ سَعِيدَ بْنَ الْمُسَيَّبِ يُحَدِّثُ أَنَّ أَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ، وَأَبَا سَعِيدٍ حَدَّثَاهُ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بَعَثَ أَخَا بَنِي عَدِيٍّ الْأَنْصَارِيَّ فَاسْتَعْمَلَهُ عَلَى خَيْبَرَ فَقَدِمَ بِتَمْرٍ جَنِيبٍ، فَقَالَ لَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: أَكُلُّ تَمْرِ خَيْبَرَ هَكَذَا؟ قَالَ: لَا، وَاَللَّهِ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إنَّا لَنَشْتَرِي الصَّاعَ بِالصَّاعَيْنِ مِنْ الْجَمْعِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى

L23533–23534 From the narration of ʿAbd al-Razzāq: Maʿmar reported from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, from Abū Salama ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn ʿAwf, from Abū Saʿīd, who said: “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—entered upon some members of his household and found with them dates of superior quality to their own. He said: ’From where are these?’ They replied: ’We exchanged two *ṣāʿ*s of our dates for one ṣāʿ of theirs.’ The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: ’It is not valid to exchange two *ṣāʿ*s for one ṣāʿ, nor two dirhams for one dirham.”’

L23535 From the path of Ibn Abi Shaybah: He said: I [narrate] from Ibn Abi Za’idah, from Muhammad ibn ’Amr ibn ’Alqamah al-Laythi, from Abu Salamah ibn ’Abd al-Rahman, from Abu Sa’id, that the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—said: “It is not permissible to exchange one dirham for two dirhams, nor one sa’ for two sa’s.” These are two authentic narrations, but they contain no valid evidence for their position in these two matters, as we shall elucidate, Allah willing.

L23536 And what we have narrated via Wakīʿ: Abū Jannāb reported from his father, from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said near this pillar (which was at that time a date palm trunk, now a pillar): ’Do not sell a dinar for two dinars, nor a dirham for two dirhams, nor a ṣāʿ for two ṣāʿs. I fear for you the ramā’—and ramā’ is ribā (usury).”’ Some narrators added: A man approached him and said: “O Messenger of Allah, what if a man sells a horse for horses or a high-bred camel for camels?” He replied: “There is no harm if it is done hand to hand.”

L23537 And according to what was narrated to us by Aḥmad ibn Muḥammad al-Ṭalamankī: Ibn Mufarrij narrated to us: Ibrāhīm ibn Aḥmad ibn Farrās narrated to us: Aḥmad ibn Muḥammad ibn Sālim al-Naysābūrī narrated to us: Isḥāq ibn Ibrāhīm (Ibn Rāhwayh) narrated to us: Rawḥ narrated to us: Ḥayyān ibn ʾUbayd Allāh - a man of verified integrity - said: "I asked Abū Mijlaz about the exchange of currency or specified commodities. He replied: ʾHand to hand. Ibn ʾAbbās did not consider it impermissible as long as the exchange was conducted immediately.ʾ Then Abū Saʿīd came to him and said: ʾDo you not fear Allah? How long will people engage in usury? Has it not reached you that Allah's Messenger - peace and blessings be upon him - said: "Dates for dates, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, gold for gold, and silver for silver - hand to hand, same substance for same substance, equal measure for equal measure. Whatever exceeds this is usury. This ruling also applies to items sold by volume-measurement or weight-measurement"?ʾ Ibn ʾAbbās told Abū Saʿīd: ʾMay Allah reward you with Paradise! You have reminded me of a matter I had forgotten. I seek Allah's forgiveness and repent.ʾ Thereafter, he prohibited such transactions."

«حَيَّانُ بْنُ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ - وَكَانَ رَجُلُ صِدْقٍ - قَالَ سَأَلْتُ أَبَا مِجْلَزٍ عَنْ الصَّرْفِ؟ فَقَالَ: يَدًا بِيَدٍ، كَانَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ لَا يَرَى بِهِ بَأْسًا مَا كَانَ مِنْهُ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، فَأَتَاهُ أَبُو سَعِيدٍ فَقَالَ لَهُ: أَلَا نَتَّقِي اللَّهَ، حَتَّى مَتَى يَأْكُلُ النَّاسُ الرِّبَا؟ أَوَمَا بَلَغَكَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: التَّمْرُ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَالْحِنْطَةُ بِالْحِنْطَةِ، وَالشَّعِيرُ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَالذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةُ بِالْفِضَّةِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، فَمَا زَادَ فَهُوَ رِبًا؟ ثُمَّ قَالَ: وَكَذَلِكَ مَا يُكَالُ وَيُوزَنُ أَيْضًا» ؟ فَقَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ لِأَبِي سَعِيدٍ: جَزَاكَ اللَّهُ الْجَنَّةَ، ذَكَّرْتَنِي أَمْرًا قَدْ كُنْتُ أُنْسِيتُهُ، فَأَنَا أَسْتَغْفِرُ اللَّهَ وَأَتُوبُ إِلَيْهِ - فَكَانَ يَنْهَى عَنْهُ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ -.

L23540 As for the ḥadīth of Ibn Abī Zāʾidah from Muḥammad ibn ʿAmr from Abū Salamah from Abī Saʿīd, it has been transmitted from Muḥammad ibn ʿAmr by narrators more precise in memorization and more reliable than Ibn Abī Zāʾidah, and they added clarification to it—as narrated to us by Aḥmad ibn Muḥammad al-Ṭalamankī: From Ibn Mufarrij, from Ibrāhīm ibn Aḥmad ibn Farrās, from Aḥmad ibn Muḥammad ibn Sālim al-Naysābūrī, from Isḥāq ibn Rāhwayh, from al-Fuḍayl ibn Mūsā and al-Naḍr ibn Shumayl, both of whom narrated: From Muḥammad ibn ʿAmr, from Abū Salamah ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān, from Abī Saʿīd al-Khudrī, who said: "Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—would provide us with dates from the collected dates. We would exchange them for superior dates while increasing the price. Thereupon Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said: ʾThis is impermissible. It is impermissible to exchange two ṣāʿs for one ṣāʿ, two dirhams for one dirham, a dinar for two dinars, or a dirham for a dirham. No excess may exist between them, as any excess constitutes usury.ʾ"

L23541 Abu Muhammad said: The statement of the Prophet - peace be upon him -

"This is not valid, this is not valid: two ṣāʿs for a ṣāʿ" refers specifically to the dates mentioned in the hadith, as no other interpretation is fundamentally possible. He - peace be upon him - initially declared "This is not valid" while indicating their action, then commenced a new grammatical construction by stating "This is not valid - two ṣāʿs for a ṣāʿ." Here, "this" serves as the subject (mubtada), while "two ṣāʿs for a ṣāʿ is not valid" constitutes the predicate (khabar). The phrase "two ṣāʿs for a ṣāʿ" functions as an accusative specifier (tamyīz). No alternative grammatical analysis is permissible, for had the Prophet - peace be upon him - said "This is not valid" then independently stated "Two ṣāʿs for a ṣāʿ is not valid" without the second verb containing a referential pronoun, it would constitute an impermissible solecism (laḥn) – a grammatical error entirely invalid in construction.

L23542 Among the categorically false assertions is that he—peace be upon him—commits grammatical errors. It is impermissible to reject the wording of a report as long as a valid interpretation exists for it. Thus, their clinging to this report is nullified. All praise is due to God, the Exalted.

L23543 As for the ḥadīth of Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib from Abū Saʿīd and Abū Hurayrah containing "and likewise the scale," they have boldly ascribed sheer falsehood to the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) by decisively claiming he (peace be upon him) intended to declare: "Unequal exchange is impermissible in every category of weighed commodities, nor is deferred payment permissible," whereas he limited himself to stating "and likewise the scale."

L23544–23546 Abu Muhammad said: The Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—was sent solely with clarity. As for ambiguity in religion and obfuscation in the Sharīʿah, Allah forbid such a thing! And there is nothing more abundant in obfuscation and ambiguity than... The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—intended to prohibit every category of items measured by volume when exchanged for something of the same kind with excess or deferred payment terms, and every category of items measured by weight when exchanged for something of the same kind with excess or deferred payment terms. He confined his explanation قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَقَوْلُه - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «لَا يَصْلُحُ، هَذَا لَا يَصْلُحُ صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ» إشَارَةٌ إلَى التَّمْرِ الْمَذْكُورِ فِي الْخَبَرِ، لَا يُمْكِنُ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ أَصْلًا، بَدَأَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - فَقَالَ: " لَا يَصْلُح " مُشِيرًا إلَى فِعْلِهِمْ، ثُمَّ ابْتَدَأَ الْكَلَامَ فَقَالَ: " هَذَا لَا يَصْلُحُ صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ " فَ " هَذَا، ابْتِدَاءٌ، وَ " لَا يَصْلُحُ صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ " جُمْلَةٌ فِي مَوْضِعِ خَبَرِ الِابْتِدَاءِ وَانْتَصَبَ " صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ " عَلَى التَّمْيِيزِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ أَصْلًا، لِأَنَّهُ لَوْ قَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: لَا يَصْلُحُ هَذَا، ثُمَّ ابْتَدَأَ الْكَلَامَ بِقَوْلِهِ: لَا يَصْلُحُ صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ، دُونَ أَنْ يَكُونَ فِي يَصْلُحُ الثَّانِيَةِ ضَمِيرٌ رَاجِعٌ إلَى مَذْكُورٍ، أَوْ مُشَارٍ إلَيْهِ لَكَانَ لَحْنًا لَا يَجُوزُ أَلْبَتَّةَ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: إنَّمَا بُعِثَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِالْبَيَانِ، وَأَمَّا بِالْإِشْكَالِ فِي الدِّينِ، وَالتَّلَبُّسِ فِي الشَّرِيعَةِ: فَمَعَاذَ اللَّهِ مِنْ هَذَا، وَلَيْسَ فِي التَّلْبِيسِ، وَالْإِشْكَالِ: أَكْثَرُ مِنْ أَنْ يُرِيدَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُحَرِّمَ كُلَّ جِنْسٍ مِمَّا يُكَالُ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ جِنْسِهِ مُتَفَاضِلًا أَوْ نَسِيئَةً، وَكُلَّ جِنْسٍ مِمَّا يُوزَنُ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ جِنْسِهِ مُتَفَاضِلًا أَوْ نَسِيئَةً، فَيَقْتَصِرُ مِنْ بَيَانِ ذَلِكَ عَلَيْنَا، وَتَفْصِيلِهِ لَنَا، عَلَى أَنْ يَقُولَ فِي التَّمْرِ الَّذِي اُشْتُرِيَ بِتَمْرٍ and detailed clarification to us by stating regarding dates purchased with a greater quantity of dates: “Do not do so; rather, exchange equal for equal, or sell this and buy with its price from that.” The same applies to weighing [transactions].[3]

L23547 Allah has never created anyone who comprehends these two categories of Divine Speech, nor has He, the Exalted, ever composed this Divine Speech upon those two superstitions.

L23548 If a person from among the people sought to argue for these two laws using this speech and expressed them in this manner, they would be mocked. Anyone who heard him would consider him nothing more than a stammerer, a libertine among the profligate, or a fool among the simpletons.

L23549 Do they not feel ashamed of these destructive scandals before Allah the Exalted—disgraceful in this worldly life? Yet we utter words by which we seek closeness to Allah the Exalted, words validated by every person of understanding, whether opponent or supporter. That is: The statement of Allah’s Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him), “And likewise the scale,” is a general pronouncement like Allah’s decree: {Establish prayer and give zakah} [Quran 2:43]. We believe in all such texts and seek their clarification through other texts. We do not advance false assumptions or deceitful claims to assert, “Allah the Exalted intended such-and-such,” or “His Messenger (peace be upon him) meant such-and-such”—when the wording does not warrant such interpretations according to linguistic norms. Therefore, we examined this matter and found the narrations of Ubada ibn al-Samit, Abu Bakrah, and Abu Hurayrah, wherein the Prophet (peace be upon him) explicitly clarified within them his intended meaning of “And likewise the scale.” His explanation (peace be upon him) in that context was: “It is impermissible to exchange gold for gold except by equal weight, nor silver for silver except by equal weight.” Thus we decisively conclude: This is indeed the intended meaning of Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him) in his statement "And likewise the scale."[4]

L23550 We testify by the testimony of Allah, the Most High, that he—peace be upon him—if he had intended anything other than this, he would have clarified and explained it clearly so that the people of Islam might comprehend it. He did not leave us to depend on Abu Hanifah's conjecture and his opinion—no opinion being more invalid than his—nor to the worthless divinations of his companions, whose sweet talk about it results only in disgrace. The Most High said: "To clarify for mankind what was sent down to them" [16:44], "He has already detailed for you what He forbade to you" [6:119]. Thus their obfuscation through this narration collapses—and all praise belongs to Allah, the Most High.[5]

وَشَهِدْنَا بِشَهَادَةِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: أَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لَوْ أَرَادَ غَيْرَ هَذَا لَبَيَّنَهُ وَوَضَّحَهُ حَتَّى يَفْهَمَهُ أَهْلُ الْإِسْلَامِ وَلَمْ يَكِلْنَا إلَى ظَنِّ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ وَرَأْيِهِ، الَّذِي لَا رَأْيَ أَسْقَطُ مِنْهُ، وَلَا إلَى كَهَانَةِ أَصْحَابِهِ الْغَثَّةِ الَّتِي حُلْوَانُهُمْ عَلَيْهَا الْخِزْيَةُ فَقَطْ، قَالَ تَعَالَى: {لِتُبَيِّنَ لِلنَّاسِ مَا نُزِّلَ إِلَيْهِمْ} [النحل: ٤٤] ، {وَقَدْ فَصَّلَ لَكُمْ مَا حَرَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ} [الأنعام: ١١٩] فَسَقَطَ تَمْوِيهُهُمْ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ - وَلِلَّهِ تَعَالَى الْحَمْدُ.

L23551–23552 What is utterly astonishing is their statement concerning what is manifestly clear from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—prohibiting exchanging fresh dates for dried dates: that he only meant those dates at the tops of palm trees. Yet this is not mentioned in any of the narrations, for that is one report and this is another.

وَالْعَجَبُ كُلُّ الْعَجَبِ مِنْ قَوْلِهِمْ فِي الْبَيِّنِ الْوَاضِحِ مِنْ نَهْيِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ: أَنَّهُ إنَّمَا أَرَادَ الَّتِي فِي رُءُوسِ النَّخْلِ - وَلَيْسَ هَذَا فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ الْأَخْبَارِ؛ لِأَنَّ ذَلِكَ خَبَرٌ وَهَذَا آخَرُ.

L23553 They approach an ambiguous statement from which no one can understand anything except what he (peace be upon him) explained elsewhere. Yet they add to it, interpret it falsely, and ascribe to his wording (peace be upon him) meanings that it does not entail in any way.

وَيَأْتُونَ إلَى مُجْمَلٍ لَا يَفْهَمُ أَحَدٌ مِنْهُ إلَّا مَا فَسَّرَهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - فِي مَكَان آخَرَ، فَيَزِيدُونَ فِيهِ وَيُفَسِّرُونَهُ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَبِمَا لَا يَقْتَضِيهِ لَفْظُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَصْلًا.

L23554 As for the ḥadīth of Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr from Abū Salama: "It is not permissible to exchange two *ṣāʿ*s for one ṣāʿ," they said: This is a general ruling encompassing all that is measured by volume (makīl).

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ عَنْ أَبِي سَلَمَةَ: لَا يَصْلُحُ صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ، فَإِنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: هَذَا عُمُومٌ لِكُلِّ مَكِيلٍ.

L23555 Abu Muhammad said: This is a report that Ma'mar either abbreviated from Yahya ibn Abi Kathir or erred in it with certainty, without ambiguity. Ibn Abi Za'ida narrated it from Muhammad ibn 'Amr, or erred in it as we previously mentioned, because this report was transmitted from Yahya ibn Abi Kathir via their own chains: Al-Awza'i, Hisham al-Dastuwa'i, and Shayban ibn Farrukh وَشَيْبَانُ بْنُ فَرُّوخَ - وَلَيْسَ هِشَامٌ، وَالْأَوْزَاعِيُّ، دُونَ مَعْمَرٍ، إِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ هِشَامٌ أَحْفَظَ مِنْهُ.

L23556 We have narrated it through the chain of Muslim: Isḥāq ibn Manṣūr reported to me, from ʿUbaydullāh ibn Mūsā, from Shaybān; and through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: Hishām ibn Abī ʿAmmār reported to me, from Yaḥyā ibn Ḥamzah, from al-Awzāʿī; and Ḥammām reported to us, from ʿAbbās ibn Aṣbagh, from Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ayman, from Bakr ibn Ḥammād, from Musaddad, from Bishr ibn al-Mufaḍḍal, from Hishām—that is, al-Dastuwāʾī—all of them transmitting from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, from Abū Salamah ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn ʿAwf, from Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī, that the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Do not exchange two ṣāʿ of dates for a single ṣāʿ, nor two ṣāʿ of wheat for a single ṣāʿ, nor two dirhams for one dirham."[6]

فَرُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ حَدَّثَنِي إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مُوسَى عَنْ شَيْبَانَ - وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا هِشَامُ بْنُ أَبِي عَمَّارٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ حَمْزَةَ أَنَا الْأَوْزَاعِيُّ - وَحَدَّثَنَا حُمَامٌ أَنَا عَبَّاسُ بْنُ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ أَيْمَنَ أَنَا بَكْرُ بْنُ حَمَّادٍ أَنَا مُسَدَّدٌ أَنَا بِشْرُ بْنُ الْمُفَضَّلِ أَنَا هِشَامٌ - هُوَ الدَّسْتُوَائِيُّ - كُلُّهُمْ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ عَنْ أَبِي سَلَمَةَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ " أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «لَا صَاعَيْ تَمْرٍ بِصَاعٍ، وَلَا صَاعَيْ حِنْطَةٍ بِصَاعٍ، وَلَا دِرْهَمَيْنِ بِدِرْهَمٍ» .

L23557 Al-Awzaʿī said in his narration from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr: Abū Salama ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān narrated to me; Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī narrated to me. And this very is the narration of Muḥammad ibn ʿAmr himself.

قَالَ الْأَوْزَاعِيُّ فِي رِوَايَتِهِ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ: حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو سَلَمَةَ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيُّ - وَهَذَا هُوَ خَبَرُ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو نَفْسُهُ.

L23558 Abu Muhammad said: Maʿmar omitted mentioning dates and wheat.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَأَسْقَطَ مَعْمَرٌ ذِكْرَ التَّمْرِ، وَالْحِنْطَةِ.

L23559–23561 Among the clear evidence of Ma'mar's undoubted error is his inclusion of a grammatical error in the Messenger of Allah's—peace be upon him—narration by attributing to him the statement: "Two ṣāʿs in exchange for one ṣāʿ is not valid." By Allah, the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—never uttered this at all. Unless he points to something, in which case the pronoun in "is not valid" would refer to that thing—especially since Al-Awzāʿī mentioned Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr's hearing from Abū Salama, and Abū Salama's hearing from Abū Saʿīd, whereas Maʿmar did not mention this. This does not impair anything in our view, unless it is a single report wherein the narrators differed. In such a case, the narration of the one who mentioned the hearing takes precedence, especially from one who cited it through tadlīs.

وَمِنْ الْبَيَانِ الْوَاضِحِ عَلَى خَطَأِ مَعْمَرٍ الَّذِي لَا شَكَّ فِيهِ: إيرَادُهُ اللَّحْنَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ بِقَوْلِهِ: لَا يَصْلُحُ صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ - وَوَاَللَّهِ مَا قَالَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَطُّ، إلَّا أَنْ يُشِيرَ إلَى شَيْءٍ، فَيَكُونُ ضَمِيرُهُ فِي " لَا يَصْلُحُ " لَا سِيَّمَا وَالْأَوْزَاعِيُّ يَذْكُرُ سَمَاعَ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ مِنْ أَبِي سَلَمَةَ، وَسَمَاعَ أَبِي سَلَمَةَ مِنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ، لَمْ يَذْكُرْ ذَلِكَ مَعْمَرٌ - وَهَذَا لَا يَكْدَحُ عِنْدَنَا شَيْئًا، إلَّا إذَا كَانَ

[6] Hadith references (L23556): Sunan an-Nasai 4556.

خَبَرًا وَاحِدًا اخْتَلَفَ فِيهِ الرُّوَاةُ، فَإِنَّ رِوَايَةَ الَّذِي ذَكَرَ السَّمَاعَ أَوْلَى، لَا سِيَّمَا مِمَّنْ ذَكَرَ بِتَدْلِيسٍ.

L23562 Furthermore, even if the wording of Ibn Abī Zā'ida and Ma'mar were valid for them—without additions from others besides these two or clarifications from anyone other than them both—they would have no proof in it, due to two reasons:

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَهُمْ لَفْظُ ابْنِ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ، وَمَعْمَرٍ، بِلَا زِيَادَةٍ مِنْ غَيْرِهِمَا، وَلَا بَيَانٍ مِنْ سِوَاهُمَا، لَمَا كَانَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ حُجَّةٌ لِوَجْهَيْنِ -:

L23563 The first [argument] is that [the text] makes no mention at all of a single kind or two kinds. Yet they permit exchanging two sa's of wheat for one sa' of dates and any two commodities that are not of the same kind—and this contradicts the general implication of the report.

أَحَدُهُمَا - أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ ذِكْرُ جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ، وَلَا جِنْسَيْنِ أَصْلًا، وَهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ صَاعَيْ حِنْطَةٍ بِصَاعِ تَمْرٍ، وَبِكُلِّ مَا لَيْسَا مِنْ جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ - وَهَذَا خِلَافُ عُمُومِ الْخَبَرِ.

L23564 If they say: "Did other reports explain this?" We said: "Similarly, other reports explained what Ma'mar summarized."

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: فَسَّرَ هَذَا أَخْبَارٌ أُخَرُ؟ قُلْنَا: وَكَذَلِكَ فَسَّرَتْ أَخْبَارٌ أُخَرُ مَا أَجْمَلَهُ مَعْمَرٌ.

L23565 The second perspective is to assert that this ruling applies to loans, not sales. Indeed, it is impermissible in loans to exchange two ṣā's for one ṣā' in any of all things. As for sale, however, there is no prohibition, for Allah the Exalted says: "And Allah has permitted sale" [Al-Baqarah: 275].[7]

وَالْوَجْهُ الثَّانِي - أَنْ يَقُولَ هَذَا فِي الْقَرْضِ لَا فِي الْبَيْعِ، نَعَمْ، لَا يَجُوزُ فِي الْقَرْضِ صَاعَانِ بِصَاعٍ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ الْأَشْيَاءِ كُلِّهَا، وَأَمَّا الْبَيْعُ فَلَا، لِأَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ} [البقرة: ٢٧٥] .

L23566 If they claim a consensus, they have lied, for they permit two *sa'*s of barley for one sa' of wheat, and people do not all permit this; rather, they differ over its permissibility.

فَإِنْ ادَّعَوْا إجْمَاعًا كَذَبُوا؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ صَاعَيْ شَعِيرٍ بِصَاعِ بُرٍّ، وَالنَّاسُ لَا يُجِيزُونَهُ كُلُّهُمْ، بَلْ يَخْتَلِفُونَ فِي إجَازَتِهِ.

L23567 Two ṣā' of chickpeas in exchange for one ṣā' of lupin beans, and there is no consensus here; thus, Mālik does not permit it.

وَصَاعَيْ حِمَّصٍ بِصَاعِ لُبْيَاءَ، وَلَا إجْمَاعَ هَهُنَا، فَمَالِكٌ لَا يُجِيزُهُ.

L23568 If they say: "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: 'If the categories differ, then sell as you wish,'" we respond: It is authentically established that he (peace be upon him) stated: "If these categories differ, then sell as you wish if [the exchange is] hand-to-hand." The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) only spoke regarding the categories he named in the hadith that mentions this wording in its conclusion. It is unlawful to attribute to him (peace be upon him) any statement founded upon a false assumption.[8]

الْأَصْنَافِ الَّتِي سَمَّى فِي الْحَدِيثِ الَّذِي ذَكَرَ هَذَا اللَّفْظَ فِي آخِرِهِ - وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُنْسَبَ إِلَيْهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - قَوْلٌ بِظَنٍّ كَاذِبٍ.

L23569–23571 It suffices here that they are in unanimous agreement with us regarding the phrase "no two ṣāʿs for a ṣāʿ" being invalid. Regarding their generality, they asserted: "In every volume-measured item of a single kind," while we maintained: "It applies to the categories textually stipulated." Thus, their claim is but a claim.

وَيَكْفِي مِنْ هَذَا أَنَّهُمْ مُجْمِعُونَ مَعَنَا عَلَى لَفْظَةِ " لَا صَاعَيْنِ بِصَاعٍ " لَيْسَتْ عَلَى عُمُومِهَا، فَقَالُوا هُمْ: فِي كُلِّ مَكِيلٍ مِنْ جِنْسٍ وَاحِدٍ، وَقُلْنَا نَحْنُ: هُوَ فِي الْأَصْنَافِ الْمَنْصُوصِ عَلَيْهَا، فَدَعْوَى كَدَعْوَى.

L23572 Our proof is the following: the validity of the text supporting our position. Their claim stands without evidence, so their reliance on this narration is nullified—and to Allah, the Exalted, belongs all praise.

وَبُرْهَانُنَا نَحْنُ -: صِحَّةُ النَّصِّ عَلَى قَوْلِنَا، وَبَقِيَ قَوْلُهُمْ بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ - وَلِلَّهِ تَعَالَى الْحَمْدُ.

L23573 As for the ḥadīth of Ibn ʿUmar, it is rejected because it is narrated from Abī Janāb—who is Yaḥyā ibn Abī Ḥayyah al-Kalbī—from whom Yaḥyā al-Qaṭṭān and ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Mahdī abandoned narrating, and he was deemed weak and noted for tadlīs (concealment in transmission). Furthermore, it is narrated from his father, who is completely unknown—thus, relying on it is invalidated. Even if it were authentic, the ruling regarding it would align with those of the other narrations we previously mentioned that contradict its generality.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فَسَاقِطٌ، لِأَنَّهُ عَنْ أَبِي جُنَابٍ - وَهُوَ يَحْيَى بْنُ أَبِي حَيَّةَ الْكَلْبِيُّ - تَرَكَ الرِّوَايَةَ عَنْهُ يَحْيَى الْقَطَّانُ، وَعَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مَهْدِيٍّ، وَضَعُفَ، وَذُكِرَ بِتَدْلِيسٍ، ثُمَّ هُوَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ وَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ جُمْلَةً - فَبَطَلَ التَّعَلُّقُ بِهِ - ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ الْقَوْلُ فِيهِ كَالْقَوْلِ فِي غَيْرِهِ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا آنِفًا مِمَّا خَالَفُوا فِيهِ عُمُومَهُ.

L23574 As for the ḥadīth of Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī, which we cited through the chain of Ḥayyān ibn ʿUbayd Allāh from Abī Mijlaz, there is no valid proof in it because its chain is disconnected, as we mentioned—Abū Mijlaz did not hear it neither from Abū Saʿīd nor from Ibn ʿAbbās. He mentioned in it that Ibn ʿAbbās repented and retracted from holding that opinion—and this is falsehood and the assertion of someone to whom a report was conveyed that they neither witnessed nor received from a trustworthy narrator.

L23575 Abu al-Jawza' narrated Ibn Abbas's retraction—as transmitted by Sulayman ibn Ali al-Rabaʿī from him, who is unidentified—and Abu al-Sahbāʾ narrated from Sulayman that Ibn Abbas disliked the retraction.

[8] Hadith references (L23568): Sunan Abi Dawud 3350; Sahih Muslim 1587c; Mishkat al-Masabih 2808.

وَرَوَى عَنْهُ طَاوُسٌ مَا يَدُلُّ عَلَى التَّوَقُّفِ.

L23576 Tāwus narrated from him something that indicates withholding judgment.

وَرَوَى الثِّقَةُ الْمُخْتَصُّ بِهِ خِلَافَ هَذَا -: كَمَا حَدَّثَنَا حُمَامٌ أَنَا عَبَّاسُ بْنُ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْمَلِكِ بْنِ أَيْمَنَ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ أَنَا أَبِي هَاشِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو بِشْرٍ - هُوَ جَعْفَرُ بْنُ أَبِي وَحْشِيَّةَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: مَا كَانَ الرِّبَا قَطُّ فِي هَاءٍ وَهَاتٍ.

L23577 A trustworthy narrator exclusively associated with him transmitted a contrary report: as narrated to us by Ḥumām, from ʿAbbās ibn Aṣbagh, from Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Malik ibn Ayman, from ʿAbdullāh ibn Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal, from my father Hāshim, from Abū Bishr - who is Jaʿfar ibn Abī Waḥshiyyah - from Saʿīd ibn Jubayr, from Ibn ʿAbbās, that he said: "Usury was never present in immediate hand-to-hand transactions (referred to in Arabic as hā' and hāt)."

وَحَلَفَ سَعِيدُ بْنُ جُبَيْرٍ: بِاللَّهِ مَا رَجَعَ عَنْهُ حَتَّى مَاتَ.

L23578 Sa'id ibn Jubayr swore by Allah that he never recanted it until his death.

ثُمَّ هُوَ أَيْضًا مِنْ رِوَايَةِ حَيَّانَ بْنِ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ - وَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ - ثُمَّ لَوْ انْسَنَدَ حَدِيثُ أَبِي مِجْلَزٍ الْمَذْكُورُ لَمَا كَانَتْ لَهُمْ فِيهِ حُجَّةٌ؛ لِأَنَّ اللَّفْظَ الَّذِي تَعَلَّقُوا بِهِ مِنْ " وَكَذَلِكَ مَا يُكَالُ وَيُوزَنُ " لَيْسَ مِنْ كَلَامِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَإِنَّمَا هُوَ مِنْ كَلَامِ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ لَوْ صَحَّ.

L23579 Moreover, it is also from the narration of Ḥayyān ibn ʿUbayd Allāh—who is obscure—, and even if the mentioned narration of Abū Mijlaz were supported by a chain of narrators, they would have no argument in it, because the wording they clung to—"and likewise what is measured and weighed"—is not from the speech of the Messenger of Allāh (peace be upon him), but rather from the speech of Abū Saʿīd, if it were authentic.

وَهُوَ أَيْضًا عَنْهُ مُنْقَطِعٌ؛ لِأَنَّ هَذَا خَبَرٌ رَوَاهُ: نَافِعٌ، وَأَبُو صَالِحٍ السَّمَّانُ، وَأَبُو الْمُتَوَكِّلِ النَّاجِي، وَسَعِيدُ بْنُ الْمُسَيَّبِ، وَعُقْبَةُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْغَافِرِ، وَأَبُو نَضْرَةَ، وَأَبُو سَلَمَةَ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ، وَسَعِيدٌ الْجُرَيْرِيُّ، وَعَطَاءُ بْنُ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ، كُلُّهُمْ عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ، وَكُلُّهُمْ ذَكَرُوا أَنَّهُمْ سَمِعُوهُ مِنْهُ، وَكُلُّهُمْ مُتَّصِلُ الْأَسَانِيدِ بِالثِّقَاتِ الْمَعْرُوفِينَ إِلَيْهِمْ، لَيْسَ مِنْهُمْ أَحَدٌ ذَكَرَ هَذَا اللَّفْظَ فِيهِ، وَهُوَ بَيِّنٌ فِي الْحَدِيثِ الْمَذْكُورِ نَفْسِهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمَّا تَمَّ كَلَامُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ أَبُو مِجْلَزٍ: ثُمَّ قَالَ فَابْتَدَأَ الْكَلَامَ الْمَذْكُورَ مِنْ ذِكْرِ " وَكَذَلِكَ كُلُّ مَا يُكَالُ وَيُوزَنُ " مَفْصُولًا عَنْ كَلَامِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

L23580–23582 The chain is also disconnected from him, as this report was narrated by Nāfiʿ, Abū Ṣāliḥ al-Sammān, Abū al-Mutawakkil al-Nājī, Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab, ʿUqbah ibn ʿAbd al-Ghāfir, and Abū Naḍrah. Abu Salamah ibn Abd al-Rahman, Sa'id al-Jurayri, and 'Ata' ibn Abi Rabah—all narrated from Abu Sa'id al-Khudri, mentioning they heard him directly. Their chains of transmission are connected to them by trustworthy, well-known narrators, with none mentioning this specific wording. This is evident from the hadith itself, for when the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—concluded his speech, Abu Mijlaz said, then he himself began the aforementioned speech starting with the mention of "and likewise everything measured and weighed"—a distinct statement separate from the speech of the Messenger of Allah. It is plausible this originated from Abu Mijlaz's speech—indeed the most evident interpretation—thus rendering it void in all respects. It is impermissible to attribute speech to the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—through false conjecture.

- وَمَا يَبْعُدُ أَنْ يَكُونَ مِنْ كَلَامِ أَبِي مِجْلَزٍ - وَهُوَ الْأَظْهَرُ - فَبَطَلَ مِنْ كُلِّ جِهَةٍ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُنْسَبَ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - كَلَامٌ بِالظَّنِّ الْكَاذِبِ.

L23583 Abu Muhammad said: Then, the entire astonishment lies in their arguing about matters wherein there is no explicit text from him, nor evidence, nor narration, and their contradicting what is therein established with certainty - clearly attributed as the saying of the Messenger of Allah, may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ ثُمَّ الْعَجَبُ كُلُّهُ مِنْ احْتِجَاجِهِمْ فِيمَا لَيْسَ فِيهِ مِنْهُ نَصٌّ وَلَا دَلِيلٌ وَلَا أَثَرٌ، وَخِلَافُهُمْ لِيَقِينِ مَا فِيهِ مَنْسُوبًا مُبَيَّنًا أَنَّهُ قَوْلُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L23584 It has been authentically established other than this report that the following is from the speech of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him): "Dates for dates, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, gold for gold, silver for silver - hand to hand; equal for equal."

وَقَدْ صَحَّ مِنْ غَيْرِ هَذَا الْخَبَرِ أَنَّهُ مِنْ كَلَامِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «التَّمْرُ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَالْحِنْطَةُ بِالْحِنْطَةِ، وَالشَّعِيرُ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَالذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةُ بِالْفِضَّةِ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ» .

L23585 They declared openly: "Yes! It is permissible to exchange non-tangible property for non-tangible property, and tangible property for non-tangible property. Yes! They declare it permissible to exchange one date for two dates or more!" After these scandals, could greater scandals exist? Does any religion remain alongside this? Or shame in the face of disgrace—or fear of the Fire? We seek refuge in Allah from misguidance and ruin.

فَقَالُوا هُمْ جِهَارًا: نَعَمْ، وَيَجُوزُ غَيْرُ عَيْنٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنٍ، وَيَجُوزُ عَيْنٌ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنٍ، نَعَمْ، يَجُوزُ تَمْرَةٌ بِتَمْرَتَيْنِ وَبِأَكْثَرَ، فَهَلْ بَعْدَ هَذِهِ الْفَضَائِحِ فَضَائِحُ؟ أَوْ يَبْقَى مَعَ هَذَا دِينٌ أَوْ حَيَاءٌ مِنْ عَارٍ أَوْ خَوْفِ نَارٍ - نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ الضَّلَالِ وَالدَّمَارِ.

L23586 Abu Muhammad said: Among what reveals the utmost clarity is that this wording—we intend "and likewise what is measured and weighed"—is definitively proven not to be from the speech of the Prophet, peace be upon him. It also nullifies their effective cause rooted in weight and measurement through sensory necessity, rational immediacy, and sound reasoning. For it constitutes sheer falsehood to assert that the Prophet, peace be upon him, established weight, measurement, and disparity in exchange as the effective cause for prohibiting usury, while the One who commissioned him, may He be exalted and glorified, knows—and the Prophet, peace be upon him, was aware, as every rational person recognizes—that rulings on traded goods differ most significantly across regions. What is weighed in one land is measured by volume in another: such as honey, oil, flour, and ghee. Oil and honey are sold by weight in Baghdad and Kufa, whereas none of these are sold in Andalusia except by volume.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَمِمَّا يَبِينُ غَايَةَ الْبَيَانِ: أَنَّ هَذَا اللَّفْظَ - نَعْنِي وَكَذَلِكَ مَا يُكَالُ وَيُوزَنُ - لَيْسَ مِنْ كَلَامِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَطْعًا بِبُرْهَانٍ وَاضِحٍ - وَهُوَ أَيْضًا مُبْطِلٌ لِعِلَّتِهِمْ بِالْوَزْنِ، وَالْكَيْلِ، مِنْ طَرِيقِ ضَرُورَةِ الْحِسِّ، وَبَدِيهَةِ الْعَقْلِ، وَصَادِقِ النَّظَرِ، فَإِنَّ مِنْ الْبَاطِلِ الْبَحْتِ أَنْ يَكُونَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - يَجْعَلُ عِلَّةَ الْحَرَامِ فِي الرِّبَا: الْوَزْنَ، وَالْكَيْلَ، وَالتَّفَاضُلَ فِيهِ، وَبَاعِثُهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ يَعْلَمُ، وَهُوَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - يَدْرِي، وَكُلُّ ذِي عَقْلٍ يَعْرِفُ: أَنَّ حُكْمَ الْمَبِيعَاتِ يَخْتَلِفُ فِي الْبِلَادِ أَشَدَّ اخْتِلَافٍ، فَمَا يُوزَنُ

فِي بَلْدَةٍ يُكَالُ فِي أُخْرَى: كَالْعَسَلِ، وَالزَّيْتِ وَالدَّقِيقِ، وَالسَّمْنِ، يُبَاعُ الزَّيْتُ وَالْعَسَلُ بِبَغْدَادَ وَالْكُوفَةِ وَزْنًا، وَلَا يُبَاعُ شَيْءٌ مِنْهَا بِالْأَنْدَلُسِ إِلَّا كَيْلًا.

L23587 Butter and flour are sold by volume in some lands, but in our land they are sold only by weight. Wild figs are sold by volume in the wild, but in Seville and Cordoba they are sold only by weight. The same applies to all other goods.

وَيُبَاعُ السَّمْنُ وَالدَّقِيقُ فِي بَعْضِ الْبِلَادِ كَيْلًا، وَلَا يُبَاعُ عِنْدَنَا إِلَّا وَزْنًا، وَالتِّينُ يُبَاعُ بَرِّيَّةً كَيْلًا، وَلَا يُبَاعُ بِإِشْبِيلِيَّةَ وَقُرْطُبَةَ إِلَّا وَزْنًا، وَكَذَلِكَ سَائِرُ الْأَشْيَاءِ.

L23588–23590 There is no way to ascertain how that was originally sold during the time of the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him. Thus, usury has become something whose nature is unknown—it cannot be avoided—nor do they recognize what is not usury to practice permissible dealings. Consequently, the forbidden and permissible in Allah's religion have become thoroughly intermingled, never to be distinguished from each other.

وَلَا سُبُلَ إِلَى أَنْ يُعْرَفَ كَيْفَ كَانَ يُبَاعُ ذَلِكَ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَصْلًا، فَحَصَلَ الرِّبَا لَا يُدْرَى مَا هُوَ حَتَّى يُجْتَنَبَ؟ وَلَا مَا لَيْسَ هُوَ فَيُسْتَعْمَلَ وَصَارَ الْحَرَامُ وَالْحَلَالُ فِي دِينِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى أَمْشَاجًا مُخْتَلِطَيْنِ لَا يُعْرَفُ هَذَا مِنْ هَذَا أَبَدًا.

L23591 All the types of sold commodities into which they introduce usury—they neither comprehend how usury enters them nor how to be safe from it! We absolve ourselves before Allah the Exalted from a religion characterized thus. Far removed! Where is this false claim in relation to the truthful words of Allah the Exalted: "This day I have perfected for you your religion" [Al-Mā'idah: 3], and the statement of Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—when he said: "O Allah, have I conveyed?" They responded: "O Allah, yes!" He said: "O Allah, bear witness!"[9]

وَحَصَلَتْ الْأَنْوَاعُ الْمَبِيعَةُ كُلُّهَا الَّتِي يُدْخِلُونَ فِيهَا الرِّبَا لَا يَدْرُونَ كَيْفَ يَدْخُلُ الرِّبَا فِيهَا؟ وَلَا كَيْفَ يَسْلَمُ مِنْهُ؟ نَبْرَأُ إِلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى مِنْ دِينٍ هَذِهِ صِفَتُهُ، هَيْهَاتَ أَيْنَ هَذَا الْقَوْلُ الْكَاذِبُ؟ مِنْ قَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى الصَّادِقِ {الْيَوْمَ أَكْمَلْتُ لَكُمْ دِينَكُمْ} [المائدة: ٣] وَمِنْ قَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «اللَّهُمَّ هَلْ بَلَّغْتُ؟ قَالُوا: اللَّهُمَّ نَعَمْ، قَالَ: اللَّهُمَّ اشْهَدْ» .

L23592 If they return to making the custom of each locality's people the basis, religion becomes a plaything. Should the inhabitants of a region wish to legalize the forbidden, they could convert all commodities they previously sold by measure to weighing, and what they sold by weighing to measure—thereby permitting what was forbidden through their own choice, an offense more harmful than disparity between two measures or two weights. What Allah wills occurs. This very matter also applies to the Malikis and Shafi'is, for when they extend usury rulings to all edibles or stored consumables, we ask them about the numerous traded types within these categories—not one or two kinds, but many dozens. By what standard do they mandate equivalence: measure or weight? Whichever they choose, they become imposers of falsehood, having no greater validity than one who advocates weighing for what they prescribe by measure, or measure for what they prescribe by weight. Where then is the deliverance? How can people engage in lawful trade? How can they avoid the usury forbidden to them? This constitutes an impermissible error for those whom Allah Almighty has facilitated for self-counsel.

فَإِنْ رَجَعُوا إِلَى أَنْ يَجْعَلُوا لِأَهْلِ كُلِّ بَلَدٍ عَادَتَهُ حَصَلَ الدِّينُ لَعِبًا إِذَا شَاءَ أَهْلُ بَلَدٍ أَنْ يَسْتَحِلُّوا الْحَرَامَ رَدُّوا كُلَّ مَا كَانُوا يَبِيعُونَهُ بِكَيْلٍ إِلَى الْوَزْنِ، وَمَا كَانُوا يَبِيعُونَهُ بِوَزْنٍ إِلَى كَيْلٍ فَحَلَّ لَهُمْ بِاخْتِيَارِهِمْ مَا كَانَ حَرَامًا أَمَسَّ مِنَ التَّفَاضُلِ بَيْنَ الْكَيْلَيْنِ، أَوْ بَيْنَ الْوَزْنَيْنِ مَا شَاءَ اللَّهُ كَانَ، وَهَذَا بِعَيْنِهِ أَيْضًا يَدْخُلُ عَلَى الْمَالِكِيِّينَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّينَ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ إِذَا أَدْخَلُوا الرِّبَا فِي الْمَأْكُولِ كُلِّهِ، أَوْ فِي الْمُدَّخَرِ الْمُقْتَاتِ: سَأَلْنَاهُمْ عَنْ الْأَصْنَافِ الْمَبِيعَةِ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، وَلَيْسَتْ صِنْفًا، وَلَا صِنْفَيْنِ، بَلْ هِيَ عَشَرَاتٌ كَثِيرَةٌ: بِأَيِّ شَيْءٍ

يُوجِبُونَ فِيهَا التَّمَاثُلَ، أَبِالْكَيْلِ أَمْ بِالْوَزْنِ؟ فَأَيًّا مَا قَالُوا صَارُوا مُتَحَكِّمِينَ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَلَمْ يَكُونُوا أَوْلَى مِنْ آخَرَ يَقُولُ بِالْوَزْنِ فِيمَا قَالُوا هُمْ فِيهِ بِالْكَيْلِ، أَوْ بِالْكَيْلِ فِيمَا قَالُوا هُمْ فِيهِ بِالْوَزْنِ، فَأَيْنَ الْمُخَلِّصُ؟ أَمْ كَيْفَ يَبِيعُ النَّاسُ مَا أُحِلَّ لَهُمْ مِنَ الْبَيْعِ؟ أَمْ كَيْفَ يَجْتَنِبُونَ مَا حَرُمَ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنَ الرِّبَا؟ وَهَذَا مِنَ الْخَطَأِ الَّذِي لَا يَحِلُّ عَلَى مَنْ يَسَّرَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى لِنَصِيحَةِ نَفْسِهِ.

L23593 They mentioned in that context from predecessors what was narrated to us through the chain of transmission of Ibn Wahb from Makhramah ibn Bukayr from his father: I heard ʻAmr ibn Shuʻayb say: ʻUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb wrote to Abū Mūsā al-Ashʻarī: "A saʻ must not be sold for two saʻs if they are of the same kind, even when exchanged hand-to-hand. If they differ in kind, there is no harm. When disagreement arises regarding a debt transaction, it becomes invalid. Every item sold by weight follows this ruling in the same manner as items measured by volume."

وَذَكَرُوا فِي ذَلِكَ عَمَّنْ تَقَدَّمَ مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ مَخْرَمَةَ بْنِ بُكَيْرٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ سَمِعْتُ عَمْرَو بْنَ شُعَيْبٍ قَالَ: كَتَبَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ إِلَى أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيِّ: أَنْ لَا يُبَاعَ الصَّاعُ بِالصَّاعَيْنِ إِذَا كَانَ مِثْلَهُ وَإِنْ كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، فَإِنْ اخْتَلَفَ فَلَا بَأْسَ، وَإِذَا اُخْتُلِفَ فِي الدَّيْنِ فَلَا يَصْلُحُ - وَكُلُّ شَيْءٍ يُوزَنُ مِثْلُ ذَلِكَ كَهَيْئَةِ الْمِكْيَالِ.

L23594 From the narration of Yahya ibn Sa'id al-Qattan: Sadaqah ibn al-Muthanna reported from his grandfather - Rabah ibn al-Harith - that 'Ammar ibn Yasir said in the Grand Mosque: "One slave is better than two slaves, one female slave better than two female slaves, one camel better than two camels, and one garment better than two garments. Whatever is exchanged hand to hand, there is no harm in it. Verily, usury lies in deferred transactions except what is measured or weighed."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانِ أَنَا صَدَقَةُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى أَنَا جَدِّي - هُوَ رَبَاحُ بْنُ الْحَارِثِ أَنَّ عَمَّارَ بْنَ يَاسِرٍ قَالَ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ الْأَكْبَرِ: الْعَبْدُ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الْعَبْدَيْنِ وَالْأَمَةُ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الْأَمَتَيْنِ، وَالْبَعِيرُ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الْبَعِيرَيْنِ، وَالثَّوْبُ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الثَّوْبَيْنِ، فَمَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ فَلَا بَأْسَ بِهِ، إِنَّمَا الرِّبَا فِي النَّسَاءِ إِلَّا مَا كِيلَ أَوْ وُزِنَ.

L23595–23597 Abu Muhammad said: Some of them added to this report: "Therefore, a category thereof must not be sold for another category." except like for like. According to the narration of Ibn Abī Shaybah: I [narrate] from ʻAbd al-Aʻlā from Maʻmar from al-Zuhrī from Sālim that Ibn ʻUmar saw no objection to exchanging measured goods hand-to-hand—one unit for two—when their types differ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَزَادَ بَعْضُهُمْ فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ: فَلَا يُبَاعُ صِنْفٌ مِنْهُ بِالصِّنْفِ الْآخَرِ إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ - وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَالِمٍ أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا فِيمَا يُكَالُ يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَاحِدًا بِاثْنَيْنِ إِذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ أَلْوَانُهُ.

L23598 And through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar from Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān from al-Nakhaʿī and a man from al-Ḥasan, they both collectively said: "Lend volume-based items in exchange for weight-based items not measured by volume, and lend weight-based items in exchange for volume-based items not measured by weight.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ النَّخَعِيِّ وَعَنْ رَجُلٍ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: سَلِّفْ مَا يُكَالُ فِيمَا يُوزَنُ وَلَا يُكَالُ، وَسَلِّفْ مَا يُوزَنُ وَلَا يُكَالُ فِيمَا يُكَالُ وَلَا يُوزَنُ.

L23599 From the narration of Abd al-Razzaq, from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Musa ibn Abi A’isha, from Ibrahim al-Nakha’i, who said: “In any sale involving goods measured by volume exchanged like for like, if they differ, then increase and add hand to hand. If it is a single commodity weighed by weight, then like for like; but if it differs, then increase and add hand to hand.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ أَبِي عَائِشَةَ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ قَالَ: مَا كَانَ مِنْ بَيْعٍ يُكَالُ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، فَإِذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ فَزِدْ وَازْدَدْ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَإِنْ كَانَ شَيْئًا وَاحِدًا يُوزَنُ فَمِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، فَإِذَا اخْتَلَفَ فَزِدْ وَازْدَدْ يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L23600 Narrated via the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq → Maʿmar → al-Zuhrī, who said: “Anything that is weighed, then it follows the same ruling as gold and silver, and anything that is measured by capacity, then it follows the same ruling as wheat and barley.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ قَالَ: كُلُّ شَيْءٍ يُوزَنُ فَهُوَ يَجْرِي مَجْرَى الذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّةِ، وَكُلُّ شَيْءٍ يُكَالُ فَهُوَ يَجْرِي مَجْرَى الْبُرِّ وَالشَّعِيرِ.

L23601 As for the narration from Maʿmar, it is interrupted, and likewise from Al-Ḥasan.

فَأَمَّا الرِّوَايَةُ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ فَمُنْقَطِعَةٌ، وَعَنْ الْحَسَنِ كَذَلِكَ.

L23602 As for the statement of ʿAmmār, it does not conform to their doctrine, but they obscured their position with it. This is because his statement—“except what is measured or weighed”—can only be interpreted in two ways: either he excluded it from deferred payment (nasi’ah) transactions that constitute usury (ribā), or he excluded it from his declaration: “There is no harm in it when it is hand-to-hand.” No third interpretation is possible. If he excluded it from deferred payment (nasi’ah) transactions that constitute usury, this explicitly contradicts their doctrine and necessitates that usury applies only to what is measured or weighed in deferred transactions. If he excluded it from his declaration about hand-to-hand transactions, this likewise contradicts their doctrine and necessitates that exchanging measured items for weighed items in immediate exchange is impermissible.

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ عَمَّارٍ: فَغَيْرُ مُوَافِقٍ لِقَوْلِهِمْ، لَكِنَّهُمْ مَوَّهُوا بِهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَخْلُو قَوْلُهُ: إلَّا مَا كِيلَ أَوْ وُزِنَ مِنْ أَنْ يَكُونَ اسْتَثْنَاهُ مِنْ النَّسَاءِ الَّذِي هُوَ رِبًا، أَوْ يَكُونَ اسْتَثْنَاهُ مِمَّا قَالَ: إنَّهُ لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ مَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَلَا سَبِيلَ إلَى وَجْهٍ ثَالِثٍ، فَإِنْ كَانَ اسْتَثْنَاهُ مِنْ النَّسَاءِ الَّذِي هُوَ رِبًا، فَهُوَ ضِدُّ مَذْهَبِهِمْ عَيْنًا، وَمُوجِبٌ أَنَّهُ لَا رِبَا إلَّا فِيمَا يُكَالُ أَوْ يُوزَنُ فِي النَّسِيئَةِ، فَإِنْ كَانَ اسْتَثْنَاهُ مِمَّا لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، فَهُوَ أَيْضًا ضِدُّ مَذْهَبِهِمْ وَمُوجِبُ: أَنَّهُ لَا يَجُوزُ مَا كِيلَ بِمَا وُزِنَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L23603 As for the increase they introduced, no kind of it may be exchanged for another kind except like for like—thus it is evidently contrary to their school in every case.

وَأَمَّا الزِّيَادَةُ الَّتِي زَادُوهَا فَلَا يُبَاعُ صِنْفٌ مِنْهُ بِالصِّنْفِ الْآخَرِ إلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ فَهُوَ ضِدُّ مَذْهَبِهِمْ عِيَانًا بِكُلِّ حَالٍ.

L23604 As for the statement of Ibn ʻUmar, it is authentically reported from him, and its contradiction is likewise authentically established, as we indicated in our discussion of Al-Shafiʻi's position. Thus, neither of his two opinions holds greater precedence over the other, despite the absence of any disapproval of disparity in exchange of measurable goods within it, nor does it align with their remaining positions. We have not found their view authentically transmitted from any predecessor except Al-Nakhaʻi and Al-Zuhri alone. Consequently, all the embellishments they contrived through the transmitted reports are rendered baseless.

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فَصَحِيحٌ عَنْهُ، وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْهُ خِلَافُهُ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا فِي ذِكْرِنَا قَوْلَ الشَّافِعِيِّ، فَلَيْسَ أَحَدُ قَوْلَيْهِ بِأَوْلَى مِنَ الْآخَرِ، مَعَ أَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ كَرَاهِيَةُ التَّفَاضُلِ فِيمَا يُكَالُ، وَلَا يُوَافِقُهُ سَائِرُ أَقْوَالِهِمْ، وَمَا وَجَدْنَا قَوْلَهُمْ يَصِحُّ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُمْ إِلَّا عَنِ النَّخَعِيِّ، وَالزُّهْرِيِّ فَقَطْ - فَبَطَلَ كُلُّ مَا مَوَّهُوا بِهِ مِنَ الْآثَارِ.

L23605 If they say: He—peace be upon him—only specified items measured by capacity and weight?

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَمْ يَنُصَّ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِلَّا عَلَى مَكِيلٍ، وَمَوْزُونٍ؟

L23606–23608 We said: What is the difference between this and one who said, "The Prophet (peace be upon him) did not explicitly stipulate except regarding an edible item or"? A price—or [what of] one who says: "The Prophet—peace be upon him—did not specify [rulings] except for stored staple provisions, minerals, and what makes food wholesome?"

قُلْنَا: مَا الْفَرْقُ بَيْنَ هَذَا وَبَيْنَ مَنْ قَالَ: لَمْ يَنُصَّ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِلَّا عَلَى مَأْكُولٍ أَوْ ثَمَنٍ - أَوْ مَنْ قَالَ: لَمْ يَنُصَّ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِلَّا عَلَى مُقْتَاتٍ مُدَّخَرٍ، وَمَعْدِنِيٍّ؟ وَمَا يَصْلُحُ بِهِ الطَّعَامُ.

L23609 Or one who says: He (peace be upon him) only specified what is subject to zakah and savory edibles - or one who says: He (peace be upon him) only specified plants, metals, and non-perishable items - thus applying riba to all that grows like aloe and similar things, while exempting it from milk and its derivatives, honey, meat, and fish? In this case, none of these assertions holds greater validity than another.

أَوْ مَنْ قَالَ: لَمْ يَنُصَّ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِلَّا عَلَى مَا يُزَكَّى وَعَلَى مَالِحِ الطَّعْمِ فَقَطْ - أَوْ مَنْ قَالَ: لَمْ يَنُصَّ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِلَّا عَلَى نَبَاتٍ، وَمَعْدِنِيٍّ، وَجَامِدٍ؟ فَأَدْخَلَ الرِّبَا فِي كُلِّ مَا يَنْبُتُ كَالصَّبِرِ وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ، وَأَسْقَطَهُ عَنِ اللَّبَنِ وَمَا يَتَصَرَّفُ مِنْهُ، وَعَنِ الْعَسَلِ، وَاللَّحْمِ، وَالسَّمَكِ، فَلَيْسَ بَعْضُ هَذِهِ الدَّعَاوَى أَوْلَى مِنْ بَعْضٍ.

L23610 All of this, if one transgresses with it what is mentioned in the text, constitutes a violation of the boundaries set by Allah the Exalted. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—never failed to clarify his intent to us. Far be it from him to abandon us regarding the gravest matters, such as usury—for which one is threatened with the Fire of Hell in the Hereafter and warfare in this world—by relegating us to these false soothsayers and baseless conjectures—darknesses, one above another. We praise Allah for granting us deliverance.

وَكُلُّ هَذَا إِذَا تَعَدَّى بِهِ مَا وَرَدَ فِيهِ النَّصُّ فَهُوَ تَعَدٍّ لِحُدُودِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، وَمَا عَجَزَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَطُّ عَنْ أَنْ يُبَيِّنَ لَنَا مُرَادَهُ، وَحَاشَ لَهُ أَنْ يَكِلَنَا فِي أَصْعَبِ الْأَشْيَاءِ مِنَ الرِّبَا الْمُتَوَعَّدِ فِيهِ بِنَارِ جَهَنَّمَ فِي الْآخِرَةِ وَالْحَرْبِ بِهِ فِي الدُّنْيَا إِلَى هَذِهِ الْكَهَانَاتِ الْكَاذِبَةِ، وَالظُّنُونِ الْآفِكَةِ، ظُلُمَاتٌ بَعْضُهَا فَوْقَ بَعْضٍ - وَنَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ عَلَى السَّلَامَةِ.

L23611 We instructed them to say: We are certain of the obligation to amputate the hand for ten dirhams, but we are not certain of the obligation to amputate it for less. We are certain of the prohibition of grape juice if it intoxicates, but we are not certain of the prohibition of what is other than it. We are certain of shortening prayers in three, but we are not certain of it in less than that. Thus, we do not affirm anything of that wherein we lack certainty.

فَهَلَّا قَالُوا هَهُنَا: نَحْنُ مُوقِنُونَ بِالرِّبَا فِي الْأَصْنَافِ الْمَنْصُوصِ عَلَيْهَا، وَلَسْنَا عَلَى يَقِينٍ مِنْهُ فِي غَيْرِهَا، فَلَا نَقُولُ بِهِ حَيْثُ لَا يَقِينَ مَعَنَا فِيهِ؟

L23612 Why don't they say here, "We are fully convinced about riba in the textually specified categories, but we lack such conviction regarding others, so we refrain from ruling on it where no certainty exists"?

وَلَوْ فَعَلُوا هَذَا هَهُنَا وَتَرَكُوا هُنَالِكَ لَوُفِّقُوا لِأَنَّهُمْ كَانُوا يَتَّبِعُونَ السُّنَنَ - وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ - ثُمَّ لَمْ يَلْبَثُوا أَنْ نَقَضُوا عِلَّتَهُمْ أَقْبَحَ نَقْضٍ، فَأَجَازُوا تَسْلِيفَ الذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةِ فِيمَا يُكَالُ، وَمَا يُوزَنُ.

L23613 If they had done this here and abandoned that there, they would have been granted success (and by Allah the Exalted is all success) for they were following the traditions. Yet it was not long before they invalidated their rationale in the most repugnant invalidation, permitting the advancing of gold and silver as payment in salam contracts for that which is measured by volume and that which is weighed.

وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ آنِيَةِ نُحَاسٍ بِآنِيَةِ نُحَاسٍ أَوْ وَزْنٍ مِنْهَا، وَلَمْ يُجِيزُوا ذَلِكَ فِي آنِيَةِ الذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةِ، وَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ سَوَاءٌ عِنْدَهُمْ فِي دُخُولِ الرِّبَا فِيهِ.

L23614 They permitted exchanging copper vessels for copper vessels or their weight [in kind], but they did not permit this for gold or silver vessels. All such cases are equal in their view concerning the presence of riba within them.

ثُمَّ أَجَازُوا بَيْعَ قَمْحٍ بِعَيْنِهِ بِقَمْحٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ، أَوْ تَمْرٍ بِعَيْنِهِ بِتَمْرٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ أَوْ شَعِيرٍ بِعَيْنِهِ بِشَعِيرٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ، فَيُقْبَضُ الَّذِي بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ ثُمَّ يَفْتَرِقَانِ قَبْلَ قَبْضِ الَّذِي بِعَيْنِهِ - وَحَرَّمُوا ذَلِكَ فِي ذَهَبٍ بِعَيْنِهِ بِذَهَبٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ، وَفِي فِضَّةٍ بِعَيْنِهَا بِفِضَّةٍ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهَا، وَلَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، لَا فِي نَصٍّ، وَلَا فِي مَعْقُولٍ، فَأَبَاحُوا الرِّبَا جِهَارًا - وَنَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ الْخِذْلَانِ - فَبَطَلَتْ عِلَّةُ هَؤُلَاءِ، وَبَطَلَ قَوْلُهُمْ يَقِينًا.

L23615–23617 They permitted the sale of physically present wheat for non-present wheat, or physically present dates for non-present dates, or physically present barley for non-present barley, stipulating that the non-present item must be received first, after which the parties must separate before the physically present item is taken. They prohibited this in the case of physically present gold for non-present gold and physically present silver for non-present silver, with no distinction between... Not a thing of that—neither in textual evidence nor rational basis—so they permitted riba openly—and we seek refuge in Allah from being forsaken—so the legal basis of these people is nullified, and their claim is invalidated with certainty.

1481 - Issue: Abu Muhammad said, "Here are certain matters mentioned by all the proponents (who explain the rationale of the hadith on usury), which include what was narrated to us through Waki''s chain: from Ismāʿīl ibn Abī Khālid, from Ḥakīm ibn Jābir, from ʿUbādah ibn al-Ṣāmit: ʾI heard the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—say: ”Gold for gold, silver for silver, measure for measure, until it culminates even in salt.“”

١٤٨١ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَهُنَا أَشْيَاءُ ذَكَرَهَا الْقَائِلُونَ - بِتَعْلِيلِ حَدِيثِ الرِّبَا - كُلُّهُمْ، وَهِيَ أَنَّهُمْ ذَكَرُوا مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ أَبِي خَالِدٍ عَنْ حَكِيمِ بْنِ جَابِرٍ «عَنْ عُبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَقُولُ: الذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةُ بِالْفِضَّةِ، وَالْكِفَّةُ بِالْكِفَّةِ، حَتَّى خَلَصَ إلَى الْمِلْحِ» .

L23619 They said: “Thus, this indicates that he—peace be upon him—mentioned something other than that.” Abu Muhammad said: “This is baseless for several reasons—the first being that this wording was solely reported by Hakim ibn Jabir, who is unknown.”

قَالُوا: فَهَذَا يَدُلُّ عَلَى أَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - ذَكَرَ غَيْرَ ذَلِكَ. قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا بَاطِلٌ لِوُجُوهٍ -: أَوَّلُهَا: أَنَّ هَذَا اللَّفْظَ لَمْ يَرْوِهِ إلَّا حَكِيمُ بْنُ جَابِرٍ - وَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ.

L23620 The second is that he excluded from this report any mention of wheat, dates, and barley, thereby nullifying their presumption that he cited types not mentioned by other narrators.

وَالثَّانِي: أَنَّهُ قَدْ أَسْقَطَ مِنْ هَذَا الْخَبَرِ ذِكْرَ الْبُرِّ، وَالتَّمْرِ وَالشَّعِيرِ -، فَبَطَلَ تَقْدِيرُهُمْ أَنَّهُ ذَكَرَ أَصْنَافًا لَمْ يَذْكُرْهَا غَيْرُهُ مِنْ الرُّوَاةِ.

L23621 The third: We narrated this report via the chain: Bakr ibn Hammad → Musaddad → Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Qaṭṭān → Ismāʿīl ibn Abī Khālid → Ḥakīm ibn Jābir → ʿUbādah ibn al-Ṣāmit → the Prophet (peace be upon him), wherein he stated: “until he specifically mentioned salt.” Thus, it became clear that he did not mention any other types besides those types.

وَالثَّالِثُ: أَنَّ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ بَكْرِ بْنِ حَمَّادٍ عَنْ مُسَدَّدٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانِ عَنْ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ أَبِي خَالِدٍ عَنْ حَكِيمِ بْنِ جَابِرٍ عَنْ عُبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَقَالَ فِيهِ: «حَتَّى خَصَّ الْمِلْحَ» فَلَاحَ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَذْكُرْ غَيْرَ تِلْكَ الْأَصْنَافِ.

L23622 The fourth is that among the certain falsehoods is [the claim] that he, peace be upon him, would mention religiously mandated laws, then their mention would cease from all people—from their first to their last—without abrogation. This contradicts Allah the Exalted’s statement: “He does not speak from whim. It is not but a revelation revealed” [An-Najm: 3-4].[10]

وَالرَّابِعُ: أَنَّ مِنْ الْبَاطِلِ الْمُتَيَقَّنِ أَنْ يَذْكُرَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - شَرَائِعَ مُفْتَرَضَةً فَيَسْقُطُ ذِكْرُهَا عَنْ جَمِيعِ النَّاسِ - أَوَّلِهِمْ عَنْ آخِرِهِمْ - مِنْ غَيْرِ نَسْخٍ، هَذَا خِلَافُ قَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَمَا يَنْطِقُ عَنِ الْهَوَى} [النجم: ٣] {إِنْ هُوَ إِلا وَحْيٌ يُوحَى} [النجم: ٤] .

Sharia would be corrupt, for indeed things from it have been lost to us. We would be obligated to do what we are incapable of and commanded to do what we have no knowledge of whatsoever. And these are delusions grave enough in their severity, and an evident falsehood.

وَلَوْ جَازَ هَذَا لَكَانَ الدِّينُ لَمْ يَكْمُلْ، وَالشَّرِيعَةُ فَاسِدَةً، قَدْ ضَاعَتْ مِنْهَا عَنَّا أَشْيَاءُ، وَلَكُنَّا مُكَلَّفِينَ مَا لَا نَقْدِرُ عَلَيْهِ، وَمَأْمُورِينَ بِمَا لَا نَدْرِيهِ أَبَدًا، وَهَذِهِ ضَلَالَاتٌ نَاهِيك بِهَا، وَبَاطِلٌ لَا خَفَاءَ بِهِ.

L23625 They mentioned what was narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Wahb from Yazīd ibn Iyāḍ from Isḥāq ibn ʿAbd Allāh from Jubayr from Mālik ibn Aws ibn al-Ḥadathān: that the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him—said, "Dates for dates, raisins for raisins, wheat for wheat, butter for butter, oil for oil, dinar for dinar, dirham for dirham—there is no increase between them."

L23626–23627 Abu Muhammad said: This is a fabricated and false ḥadīth; it is impermissible to narrate it except to expose its disgrace, for Mālik ibn Aws is not known to have heard anything from the Messenger of Allāh—peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him. Jubayr ibn Abī Ṣāliḥ is unknown—it is not known who he is; Isḥāq ibn ʿAbd Allāh (al-Farwī) is rejected; and Yazīd ibn ʿIyāḍ (Ibn Juʿdubah) is noted for lying and fabricating ḥadīths.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا حَدِيثٌ مَوْضُوعٌ مَكْذُوبٌ لَا تَحِلُّ رِوَايَتُهُ إِلَّا عَلَى بَيَانِ فَضِيحَتِهِ؛ لِأَنَّ مَالِكَ بْنَ أَوْسٍ لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ سَمَاعٌ مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -. وَجُبَيْرَ بْنَ أَبِي صَالِحٍ - مَجْهُولٌ لَا يُدْرَى مَنْ هُوَ، وَإِسْحَاقَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ - هُوَ الْفَرْوِيُّ - مَتْرُوكٌ - وَيَزِيدَ بْنَ عِيَاضٍ - هُوَ ابْنُ جعدبة مَذْكُورٌ بِالْكَذِبِ وَوَضْعِ الْأَحَادِيثِ.

L23628 Moreover, if it were valid, they would have no proof therein regarding the positing of an effective cause whatsoever; rather, it would only involve an additional mention of oil, ghee, and raisins.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُمْ فِيهِ حُجَّةٌ فِي إيجَابِ عِلَّةٍ أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا كَانَ يَكُونُ فِيهِ زِيَادَةُ ذِكْرِ الزَّيْتِ، وَالسَّمْنِ، وَالزَّبِيبِ، فَقَطْ.

L23629 Moreover, if this were valid, then the Malikis would be in opposition to it because they permit exchanging a dirham for more than its weight as a recognized practice, and the Hanafis would also be in opposition to it because they permit exchanging three dates for six dates, ten grains of wheat for thirty grains of wheat, and likewise in barley, salt, raisins, and salt. It is not permissible to prohibit what is lawful out of fear of falling into the prohibited, thus hastening to commit that sin, nor to engage in falsehood out of fear that others may fall into it.

وَأَيْضًا: فَلَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ مُخَالِفِينَ لَهُ، لِأَنَّهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ الدِّرْهَمَ بِأَوْزَنَ مِنْهُ عَلَى سَبِيلِ الْمَعْرُوفِ وَلَكَانَ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ مُخَالِفِينَ لَهُ، لِأَنَّهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ ثَلَاثَ تَمَرَاتٍ بِسِتِّ تَمَرَاتٍ، وَعَشْرَ حَبَّاتِ بُرٍّ بِثَلَاثِينَ حَبَّةَ بُرٍّ - وَكَذَلِكَ فِي الشَّعِيرِ، وَالْمِلْحِ، وَالزَّبِيبِ، وَالْمِلْحِ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ تَحْرِيمُ حَلَالٍ خَوْفَ الْوُقُوعِ فِي الْحَرَامِ، فَيَسْتَعْجِلُ مِنْ فِعْلِ ذَلِكَ الْمَعْصِيَةَ، وَالْوُقُوعُ فِي الْبَاطِلِ خَوْفَ أَنْ يَقَعَ فِيهِ غَيْرُهُ.

L23630 From the chain of Wakīʿ: I, Ibrāhīm ibn Yazīd, report from Abū al-Zubayr, from Jābir, that he disapproved exchanging two mudds of barley for one mudd of wheat as deferred payment. Ibrāhīm is abandoned and accused. This indicates karāhiyah (dislike), not taḥrīm (prohibition), and it remains unknown whether he disliked the measure or the grain?

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا إِبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ يَزِيدَ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرٍ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ مُدَّيْ ذُرَةٍ بِمُدِّ حِنْطَةٍ نَسِيئَةً - إبْرَاهِيمُ - مَتْرُوكٌ مُتَّهَمٌ - وَهَذَا كَرَاهِيَةٌ لَا تَحْرِيمٌ، وَلَا يُدْرَى هَلْ كَرِهَ الْكَيْلَ أَوْ الطَّعَامَ؟

L23631 We have mentioned every opinion narrated in this chapter from the predecessors, clarified their disagreement regarding these opinions, and that they espoused positions on this matter which are not recorded from anyone before them.

وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا كُلَّ قَوْلٍ رُوِيَ فِي هَذَا الْبَابِ عَنْ الْمُتَقَدِّمِينَ وَبَيَّنَّا خِلَافَهُمْ لَهَا، وَأَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا فِي ذَلِكَ بِأَقْوَالٍ لَا تُحْفَظُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُمْ.

L23632 The most astonishing thing is the audacity of one devoid of religion in openly asserting consensus regarding the occurrence of usury in categories beyond those explicitly specified - a blatant lie glaringly evident. By Allah, consensus has not been authenticated concerning the explicitly specified categories, so how then regarding others?

وَأَعْجَبُ شَيْءٍ مُجَاهَرَةُ مَنْ لَا دِينَ لَهُ بِدَعْوَى الْإِجْمَاعِ عَلَى وُقُوعِ الرِّبَا فِيمَا عَدَا الْأَصْنَافِ الْمَنْصُوصِ عَلَيْهَا - وَهَذَا كَذِبٌ مَفْضُوحٌ مِنْ قَرِيبٍ، وَاَللَّهِ مَا صَحَّ الْإِجْمَاعُ فِي الْأَصْنَافِ الْمَنْصُوصِ عَلَيْهَا فَكَيْفَ فِي غَيْرِهَا.

L23633 Or do not Ibn Masʿūd and Ibn ʿAbbās say: "There is no usury in what is exchanged hand-to-hand?" This was the position of ʿAṭāʾ, the disciples of Ibn ʿAbbās, and the jurists of Mecca.

أَوْ لَيْسَ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ، وَابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ يَقُولَانِ: لَا رِبَا فِيمَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ؟ وَعَلَيْهِ كَانَ عَطَاءٌ، وَأَصْحَابُ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، وَفُقَهَاءُ أَهْلِ مَكَّةَ.

L23634 It was narrated to us via the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr, from Abū Muʿāwiyah, from al-Aʿmash, from Ibrāhīm al-Taymī, from al-Ḥārith ibn Suwayd, from ʿAbd Allāh ibn Masʿūd who said: "There is no Riba in what is exchanged hand to hand, and water for water."

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ أَنَا الْأَعْمَشُ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ التَّيْمِيِّ عَنْ الْحَارِثِ بْنِ سُوَيْدٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ: لَا رِبَا فِيمَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَالْمَاءُ مِنْ الْمَاءِ.

L23635–23636 And through the chain of Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah: from Wakīʿ, from Sufyān—who is al-Thawrī—from Ibn Jurayj, from ʿAṭāʾ, who said: "There is no harm in engaging in a salam sale of what is measured in what is measured, and what is weighed in what is weighed. It is only food for food." This is the same as our position and contradicts all the statements of these [views].

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ - هُوَ الثَّوْرِيُّ - عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِأَنْ يُسَلِّمَ مَا يُكَالُ فِيمَا يُكَالُ، وَمَا يُوزَنُ فِيمَا يُوزَنُ، إنَّمَا هُوَ طَعَامٌ بِطَعَامٍ، وَهَذَا نَفْسُ قَوْلِنَا، وَمُخَالِفٌ لِجَمِيعِ قَوْلِ هَؤُلَاءِ.

L23637 It has been authentically reported from Talhah ibn Ubaydullah that he permitted selling gold for silver where one metal is taken immediately while the other's receipt is deferred to an unspecified term. They do not restrict rulings beyond the six specified categories in riba to a definitive ruling, except for seven Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—who held differing opinions, all contradicting the positions of Abu Hanifah, Malik, and Al-Shafi'i. No narration from any of these Companions—neither sound nor weak—aligns with the opinions of these latter scholars.

وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ طَلْحَةَ بْنِ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ إبَاحَةُ بَيْعِ ذَهَبٍ بِفِضَّةٍ، يُقْبَضُ أَحَدُهُمَا وَيَتَأَخَّرُ قَبْضُ الْآخَرِ إلَى أَجَلٍ غَيْرِ مُسَمًّى، وَلَا يُقَدِّرُونَ فِيمَا عَدَا السِّتَّةَ الْأَصْنَافِ فِي الرِّبَا عَلَى كَلِمَةٍ،

إِلَّا عَنْ سَبْعَةٍ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - مُخْتَلِفِينَ، كُلُّهُمْ مُخَالِفٌ لِأَقْوَالِ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَمَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، لَيْسَ عَنْ أَحَدٍ مِنْهُمْ رِوَايَةٌ تُوَافِقُ أَقْوَالَ هَؤُلَاءِ صَحِيحَةٌ وَلَا سَقِيمَةٌ.

L23638 And from approximately twelve of the Followers—who likewise differed among themselves and contradicted their own opinions—none [did so] except Ibrāhīm alone, for his position aligned with the foundational principle of Abū Ḥanīfah.

وَعَنْ نَحْوِ اثْنَيْ عَشَرَ مِنْ التَّابِعِينَ مُخْتَلِفِينَ أَيْضًا كَذَلِكَ مُخَالِفِينَ لِأَقْوَالِهِمْ إِلَّا إبْرَاهِيمُ وَحْدَهُ، فَإِنَّهُ وَافَقَ قَوْلُهُ أَصْلَ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ.

L23639 Moreover, most of the narrations we mentioned from the Companions and the Successors are weak and invalid. So who would consider such a thing as consensus except someone devoid of both faith and intellect—and with Allah, the Exalted, is all success.

وَأَيْضًا: فَأَكْثَرُ الرِّوَايَاتِ الَّتِي ذَكَرْنَا عَنْ الصَّحَابَةِ وَالتَّابِعِينَ فَوَاهِيَةٌ لَا تَصِحُّ، فَمَنْ يَجْعَلُ مِثْلَ هَذَا إجْمَاعًا إلَّا مِنْ لَا دِينَ لَهُ وَلَا عَقْلَ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23640 We found an unorthodox opinion attributed to Bishr ibn Ghiyāth al-Marīsī: that exchanging every genus of goods for a different genus is permissible—such as gold for silver, silver for gold, wheat for barley, dates for salt, and every type of these for another—and that usury does not occur except in transactions involving the same genus exclusively.

L23641 Then we do not know: does it apply to every genus in the world by analogy to the textually specified matters—this being the more evident implication of his statement—or is it restricted solely to the textually specified matters? This latter opinion contradicts what has been authentically established from the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—hence there is no basis for occupying oneself with it.

ثُمَّ لَا نَدْرِي أَعَمَّ كُلَّ جِنْسٍ فِي الْعَالَمِ قِيَاسًا عَلَى الْمَنْصُوصَاتِ، وَهُوَ الْأَظْهَرُ مِنْ قَوْلِهِ؟ أَوْ خَصَّ الْمَنْصُوصَاتِ فَقَطْ - وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ مُخَالِفٌ لِمَا صَحَّ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَلَا وَجْهَ لِلِاشْتِغَالِ بِهِ.

L23642 1482: Question:

١٤٨٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23643 Ali said: Since all these statements have been invalidated, we must present the proof for the correctness of our opinion by the aid of Allah, the Most High. It has been narrated to us through Imam Muslim's chain: Qutaybah ibn Sa'id said: I heard from Al-Layth—that is, Ibn Sa'd—who narrated from Ibn Shihāb from Mālik ibn Aws ibn al-Ḥadathān that he said: I began asking, "Who exchanges dirhams?"

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: فَإِذْ قَدْ بَطَلَتْ هَذِهِ الْأَقْوَالُ كُلُّهَا فَالْوَاجِبُ أَنْ نَذْكُرَ الْبُرْهَانَ عَلَى صِحَّةِ قَوْلِنَا بِعَوْنِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى -: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا قُتَيْبَةُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ قَالَ: أَنَا اللَّيْثُ - هُوَ ابْنُ

L23644–23645 Talha ibn Ubaydullah—who was with Umar ibn al-Khattab—said: “Show us your gold, then we will come when our servant arrives to give you your silver.” Umar ibn al-Khattab said: “No, by Allah! You must either give him his silver or return his gold. For the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: ’Silver for gold is usury unless exchanged hand to hand; wheat for wheat is usury unless exchanged hand to hand; barley for barley is usury unless exchanged hand to hand; dates for dates are usury unless exchanged hand to hand.’”[12]

فَقَالَ طَلْحَةُ بْنُ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ - وَهُوَ عِنْدَ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ -: أَرِنَا ذَهَبَكَ؟ ثُمَّ جِئْنَا إِذَا جَاءَ خَادِمُنَا نُعْطِكَ وَرِقَكَ؟ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ: كَلَّا، وَاللَّهِ لَتُعْطِيَنَّهُ وَرِقَهُ أَوْ لَتَرُدُّنَّ إِلَيْهِ ذَهَبَهُ، فَإِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «الْوَرِقُ بِالذَّهَبِ رِبًا، إِلَّا هَاءَ وَهَاءَ وَالْبُرُّ بِالْبُرِّ رِبًا، إِلَّا هَاءَ وَهَاءَ، وَالشَّعِيرُ بِالشَّعِيرِ رِبًا، إِلَّا هَاءَ وَهَاءَ، وَالتَّمْرُ بِالتَّمْرِ رِبًا، إِلَّا هَاءَ وَهَاءَ» .

L23646 In the narration transmitted by Muslim: I am Ubaydullah ibn Umar al-Qawariri; Hammad ibn Zayd narrated from Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani, from Abu Qilabah, from Abu al-Ashʿath, from ʿUbadah ibn al-Samit, who said: I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibit selling gold for gold, silver for silver, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, dates for dates, and salt for salt, except in equal measure, hand to hand. Whoever adds or receives more has engaged in usury.

L23647 And through the chain of Muslim: I, Isḥāq ibn Ibrāhīm—he is Ibn Rāhawayh—from ʿAbd al-Wahhāb ibn ʿAbd al-Majīd al-Thaqafī, from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī with a similar wording.

L23649 Abū Muḥammad said: ʻAmr ibn ʻĀṣim, an Anṣārī, is reliable and well-known. Abū al-Khalīl (Ṣāliḥ ibn Abī Maryam) is reliable. Muslim al-Makkī—he is Muslim ibn Yasār al-Khayyāṭ (the tailor), the client of ʻUthmān (may Allāh be pleased with him)—is reliable.

L23650–23651 This has also been narrated to us through authentic chains, so there is no usury except in what the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—who was commanded to clarify, specified. What is other than that is permissible, {and your Lord is never forgetful} [Maryam: 64]. And success comes only from Allah, the Most High.[13]

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا هَذَا أَيْضًا مِنْ طَرِيقٍ صِحَاحٍ فَلَا رِبَا إِلَّا فِيمَا نَصَّ عَلَيْهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْمَأْمُورُ بِالْبَيَانِ، وَمَا عَدَا ذَلِكَ فَحَلَالٌ {وَمَا كَانَ رَبُّكَ نَسِيًّا} [مريم: ٦٤] وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23652 The issue of exchanging wheat for wheat and other types of the same category, trading some for others.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْقَمْح بالقمح وَغَيْره مِنْ الصناف بَعْضهَا بِبَعْضٍ]

L23653 1483 – Issue: It is not permissible to sell wheat for wheat except like for like, measure for measure, hand to hand, kind for kind. Nor is it permissible to sell barley for barley except in the same manner.

١٤٨٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُبَاعَ قَمْحٌ بِقَمْحٍ إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ - وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُبَاعَ شَعِيرٌ بِشَعِيرٍ إِلَّا كَذَلِكَ.

L23654 It is not permissible to sell dates for dates except equally and hand-to-hand.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُبَاعَ تَمْرٌ بِتَمْرٍ إِلَّا كَذَلِكَ.

L23655 It is impermissible to sell salt for salt except in the same manner—whether mineral [salt] or what solidifies from water. All such [salt] may not be exchanged, some for some, except as we have mentioned.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُبَاعَ مِلْحٌ بِمِلْحٍ إِلَّا كَذَلِكَ، وَسَوَاءٌ مَعْدِنِيَّةٌ أَوْ مَا يَنْعَقِدُ مِنْهُ مِنْ الْمَاءِ، كُلُّ ذَلِكَ لَا يُبَاعُ بَعْضُهُ بِبَعْضٍ إِلَّا كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا.

L23656 Similarly, all types of wheat—superior, inferior, and average—are the same in the ruling we have mentioned, and likewise the types of barley.

وَكَذَلِكَ أَصْنَافُ الْقَمْحِ فَهِيَ كُلُّهَا قَمْحٌ - الْأَعْلَى، وَالْأَدْنَى، وَالْوَسَطُ: سَوَاءٌ فِيمَا قُلْنَا، وَكَذَلِكَ أَقْسَامُ الشَّعِيرِ.

[13] Qur'an references (L23651): Qur'an 19:64 (Maryam).

L23657 Similarly, the types of dates: if the receipt of either commodity is delayed, it constitutes prohibited Ribā, perpetually invalidated, governed by the rulings of usurpation (ghaṣb), whether delayed by an instant or longer. The large and small quantities of all that we have mentioned are equal in the rulings we have described.

وَكَذَلِكَ أَقْسَامُ التَّمْرِ فَإِنْ تَأَخَّرَ قَبْضُ أَحَدِ الْعَيْنَيْنِ فَهُوَ رِبًا حَرَامٌ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا، مَحْكُومٌ فِيهِ بِحُكْمِ الْغَصْبِ، سَوَاءٌ تَأَخَّرَ طَرْفَةَ عَيْنٍ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ، وَالْكَثِيرُ وَالْقَلِيلُ مِنْ كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا سَوَاءٌ فِيمَا وَصَفْنَا.

L23658 It is not permissible for anything we have mentioned of the same type to be exchanged weight for weight, weight for measure, estimated amount for estimated amount, estimated amount for measure, or estimated amount for weight, because all of this is entailed by the words of the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) which we have mentioned, its understood meaning, and its established meaning in the language with which he addressed us, and with Allah, the Most High, is success.

L23659 Abu Hanifah and Al-Shafi'i said: It is permissible to sell any portion of it without its own type - whether specified or unspecified. It is also permissible for mutual possession to be delayed from the time of contract so long as the two parties do not physically separate, even if prolonged - though this contradicts the statement of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him). We were narrated through Al-Hajjaj ibn Al-Minhal, from Yazid ibn Ibrahim, from Muhammad ibn Sirin, who said: "I was informed that Umar ibn Al-Khattab stood to deliver a sermon and proclaimed: 'Behold! O people - a dirham for a dirham, a dinar for a dinar: same type for same type, exactly equal exactly equal, like for like.'"

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ: جَائِزٌ أَنْ يُبَاعَ مِنْهَا شَيْءٌ بِغَيْرِ عَيْنِهِ بِمُعَيَّنٍ وَبِغَيْرِ مُعَيَّنٍ، وَجَائِزٌ أَنْ يَتَأَخَّرَ التَّقَابُضُ عَنْ وَقْتِ الْعَقْدِ مَا لَمْ يَفْتَرِقَا بِأَبْدَانِهِمَا وَإِنْ طَالَ ذَلِكَ - وَهَذَا خِلَافُ قَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ إبْرَاهِيمَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: نُبِّئْت أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ قَامَ يَخْطُبُ فَقَالَ: يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ أَلَا إنَّ الدِّرْهَمَ بِالدِّرْهَمِ، وَالدِّينَارَ بِالدِّينَارِ، عَيْنٌ بِعَيْنٍ، سَوَاءً سَوَاءً، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ

L23660 Thus, here is Umar (in the presence of the Companions) permitting no exchange of dirhams and dinars except like for like in kind, and he maintains that they must be exchanged in equal kind and quantity. None of the Companions were known to dissent from this ruling, yet they opposed him.

فَهَذَا عُمَرُ بِحَضْرَةِ الصَّحَابَةِ لَا يُجِيزُ فِي الدَّرَاهِمِ وَالدَّنَانِيرِ إلَّا عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، وَيَرَى أَنَّهَا تَتَعَيَّنُ، وَلَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ فِي ذَلِكَ مُخَالِفٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ: فَخَالَفُوهُ.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ كُلِّ صِنْفٍ مِمَّا بِالْأَصْنَافِ الْأُخَرِ مِنْهَا مُتَفَاضِلًا وَمُتَمَاثِلًا وَجُزَافًا]

L23661–23662 An issue: the sale of every kind from among the other kinds, whether they differ in quality, are equivalent, or are sold in bulk without precise measurement.

L23663 Issue: It is permissible to sell every type we have mentioned in exchange for other types from them—whether with excess, equal, by estimation, by weight, or by measure—in any manner you choose, provided the exchange is hand-to-hand.

مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَجَازَ بَيْعُ كُلِّ صِنْفٍ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا بِالْأَصْنَافِ الْأُخَرِ مِنْهَا، مُتَفَاضِلًا وَمُتَمَاثِلًا وَجُزَافًا، وَزْنًا وَكَيْلًا كَيْفَمَا شِئْتَ إذَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L23664 It is impermissible to delay even for the blink of an eye or longer in that matter, neither in a sale nor in a salam contract. This is the implication of the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—which we mentioned, and it is agreed upon, except for Mālik. He did not permit the sale of barley for wheat unless their measures were equivalent, measure for measure. Abū Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfiʿī, and Abū Sulaymān permitted it, as we stated.

وَلَا يَجُوزُ فِي ذَلِكَ التَّأْخِيرُ طَرْفَةَ عَيْنٍ فَأَكْثَرَ، لَا فِي بَيْعٍ وَلَا فِي سَلَمٍ، وَهَذَا مُقْتَضَى قَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا وَهُوَ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ، إلَّا مَالِكًا فَإِنَّهُ لَمْ يُجِزْ بَيْعَ الشَّعِيرِ بِالْقَمْحِ إلَّا مُتَمَاثِلًا كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ - وَأَجَازَهُ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ، كَمَا قُلْنَا.

L23665 The proof for the validity of our statement is what has been narrated to us through the chain of Muslim: Abū Kurayb → Ibn Fuḍayl (he is Muḥammad) → his father → Abū Zurʿah ibn ʿAmr ibn Jarīr → Abū Hurayrah, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said, “Dates for dates, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, salt for salt, like for like, hand to hand. Whoever increases or seeks increase has engaged in usury, except when their kinds differ.”

بُرْهَانُ صِحَّةِ قَوْلِنَا -: مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو كُرَيْبٍ أَنَا ابْنُ فُضَيْلٍ - هُوَ مُحَمَّدٌ - عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ أَبِي زُرْعَةَ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ جَرِيرٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «التَّمْرُ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَالْحِنْطَةُ بِالْحِنْطَةِ، وَالشَّعِيرُ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَالْمِلْحُ بِالْمِلْحِ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ، فَمَنْ زَادَ وَاسْتَزَادَ فَقَدْ أَرْبَى، إلَّا مَا اخْتَلَفَتْ أَلْوَانُهُ» .

L23666 Through the chain of Muslim: Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated from Waki‘, from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Khalid al-Khazzaz, from Abu al-Ash‘ath, from ‘Ubadah ibn al-Samit, who said: The Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him, said, “Gold for gold, silver for silver, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, dates for dates, and salt for salt: like for like, hand to hand, equal for equal. If these commodities differ, then sell however you wish so long as it is hand to hand.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ عَنْ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ خَالِدٍ الْحَذَّاءِ عَنْ أَبِي الْأَشْعَثِ عَنْ عُبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «الذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةُ بِالْفِضَّةِ، وَالْبُرُّ بِالْبُرِّ، وَالشَّعِيرُ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَالتَّمْرُ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَالْمِلْحُ بِالْمِلْحِ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ، سَوَاءً بِسَوَاءٍ فَإِذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ هَذِهِ الْأَصْنَافُ فَبِيعُوا كَيْفَ شِئْتُمْ إذَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ» .

L23667 We have previously discussed the matter of his explicit textual ruling—peace be upon him—on the permissibility of selling barley for wheat with a difference in quantity. No authority lies in anyone’s statement besides the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace.

L23668 Through the chain of Ahmad ibn Shuʿayb: Muhammad ibn ʿAbdillāh ibn Baziʿ narrated to us, from Yazīd, from Salamah ibn ʿAlqamah, from Muhammad ibn Sīrīn, from Muslim ibn Yasār and ʿAbdillāh ibn ʿUbayd (who is Ibn Hurmuz)—both of whom collectively stated: "'Ubādah ibn al-Ṣāmit narrated to them, saying: 'Allah's Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited selling gold for gold, silver for silver, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, dates for dates, except equivalent for equivalent, hand to hand. He commanded us to sell gold for silver, silver for gold, wheat for barley, barley for wheat, hand to hand, as we desire.'" One of the two added in his narration: "salt for salt," while the other omitted it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ بَزِيعٍ أَنَا يَزِيدُ أَنَا سَلَمَةُ بْنُ عَلْقَمَةَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ مُسْلِمِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ، وَعَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ - هُوَ ابْنُ هُرْمُزَ - قَالَا جَمِيعًا: إِنَّ عُبَادَةَ بْنَ الصَّامِتِ حَدَّثَهُمْ قَالَ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الذَّهَبِ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالْوَرِقِ بِالْوَرِقِ، وَالْبُرِّ بِالْبُرِّ، وَالشَّعِيرُ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَالتَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ، إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَأَمَرَنَا أَنْ نَبِيعَ الذَّهَبَ بِالْوَرِقِ، وَالْوَرِقَ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالْبُرَّ بِالشَّعِيرِ، وَالشَّعِيرَ بِالْبُرِّ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ كَيْفَ شِئْنَا زَادَ أَحَدُهُمَا فِي حَدِيثِهِ: الْمِلْحَ بِالْمِلْحِ، وَلَمْ يَقُلْهُ الْآخَرُ» .

L23669–23670 This is a mutawatir report narrated from the Messenger of Allah (may Allah bless him and grant him peace) by Abu Hurayrah and 'Ubadah ibn al-Samit: Abu Zur'ah ibn 'Amr ibn Jarir and Abu Hazim narrated it from Abu Hurayrah.

فَهَذَا أَثَرٌ مُتَوَاتِرٌ رَوَاهُ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَبُو هُرَيْرَةَ، وَعُبَادَةُ بْنُ الصَّامِتِ - وَرَوَاهُ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: أَبُو زُرْعَةَ بْنُ عَمْرِو بْنِ جَرِيرٍ، وَأَبُو حَازِمٍ.

L23671 And it was narrated from ʿUbādah ibn al-Ṣāmit by Abū al-Ashʿath al-Ṣanʿānī and ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUbayd. And it was narrated from Abū al-Ashʿath by Abū Qilābah and Muslim ibn Yasār.

وَرَوَاهُ عَنْ عُبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ: أَبُو الْأَشْعَثِ الصَّنْعَانِيُّ، وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ. وَرَوَاهُ عَنْ أَبِي الْأَشْعَثِ: أَبُو قِلَابَةَ، وَمُسْلِمُ بْنُ يَسَارٍ.

L23672 Abu al-Khalil and Ibn Sirin narrated it from Muslim ibn Yasar – and it was narrated from these individuals by: subsequent narrators.

وَرَوَاهُ عَنْ مُسْلِمِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ أَبُو الْخَلِيلِ، وَابْنُ سِيرِينَ -. وَرَوَاهُ عَنْ هَؤُلَاءِ: النَّاسُ.

L23673 The Malikis cited as evidence what was narrated to us through Ibn Wahb's transmission from 'Amr ibn al-Hārith: that Abū al-Naḍr related to him that Busr ibn Sa'īd related to him from Ma'mar ibn 'Abd Allāh—that he sent his servant with a ṣā' of wheat and said, "Sell it, then buy barley with it." The servant went and took a ṣā' plus an extra portion of a ṣā'. When he returned, Ma'mar said to him, "Why did you do this? Go and return it. Take only like for like, for I heard the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—say, 'Food for food must be equal measure for equal measure.'" It was said, "But it is not equivalent to it." He replied, "I fear they might be equated."

وَاحْتَجَّ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْحَارِثِ: أَنَّ أَبَا النَّضْرِ حَدَّثَهُ أَنَّ بُسْرَ بْنَ سَعِيدٍ حَدَّثَهُ عَنْ «مَعْمَرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ: أَنَّهُ أَرْسَلَ غُلَامَهُ بِصَاعِ قَمْحٍ وَقَالَ: بِعْهُ ثُمَّ اشْتَرِ بِهِ شَعِيرًا، فَذَهَبَ الْغُلَامُ فَأَخَذَ صَاعًا وَزِيَادَةَ بَعْضِ صَاعٍ، فَلَمَّا جَاءَ قَالَ لَهُ مَعْمَرٌ: لِمَ فَعَلْتَ ذَلِكَ؟ انْطَلِقْ فَرُدَّهُ، وَلَا تَأْخُذَنَّ إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ فَإِنِّي كُنْتُ أَسْمَعُ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَقُولُ الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ» قِيلَ: فَإِنَّهُ لَيْسَ مِثْلَهُ، قَالَ: إِنِّي أَخَافُ أَنْ يُضَارَعَ.

L23674 And according to what we have narrated through the chain of Mālik from Nāfi' from Sulaymān ibn Yasār, who said: 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Aswad ibn وَبِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ يَسَارٍ قَالَ: قَالَ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ الْأَسْوَدِ بْنِ عَبْدِ يَغُوثَ لِغُلَامِهِ: خُذْ مِنْ حِنْطَةِ أَهْلِكَ طَعَامًا فَابْتَعْ بِهَا شَعِيرًا، وَلَا تَأْخُذْ إِلَّا مِثْلَهُ.

'Abd Yaghūth said to his servant: "Take wheat from your family's supply as food, buy barley with it, and take only an equivalent measure."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا أَبُو دَاوُد الطَّيَالِسِيُّ عَنْ هِشَامٍ الدَّسْتُوَائِيِّ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ قَالَ: أَرْسَلَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ غُلَامًا لَهُ بِصَاعٍ مِنْ بُرٍّ يَشْتَرِي لَهُ بِهِ صَاعًا مِنْ شَعِيرٍ، وَزَجَرَهُ إِنْ زَادُوهُ أَنْ يَزْدَادَ.

L23675 From the narration of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Abu Dawud al-Tayalisi reported to us from Hisham al-Dastuwa'i, from Yahya ibn Abi Kathir, who said: "Umar ibn al-Khattab sent his servant with a _sa'_ of wheat to buy a _sa'_ of barley for him, and warned him not to accept any increase if they offered more."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا شَبَابَةُ عَنْ لَيْثٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ مِثْلُ هَذَا.

L23676 And via the route of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I from Shababah, from Layth, from Nafi', from Sulayman ibn Yasar, from Sa'd ibn Abi Waqqas—a similar one.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ أَنَّهُ بَلَغَهُ عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ مُعَيْقِيبٍ مِثْلُ هَذَا أَيْضًا - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ السُّلَمِيِّ صَحَّ عَنْهُ ذَلِكَ، وَرُوِيَ - وَلَمْ يَصِحَّ - عَنْ الْقَاسِمِ، وَسَالِمٍ، وَسَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ.

L23677–23679 And through the chain of Mālik, it was reported to him from al-Qāsim ibn Muḥammad from Muʿayqib the like of this also—and he... The statement of Abu Abd al-Rahman al-Sulami that has been authentically reported from him, and it has been narrated—but not authentically—from al-Qasim, Salim, and Sa'id ibn al-Musayyib.

وَصَحَّ عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ، وَأَبِي الزِّنَادِ، وَالْحَكَمِ بْنِ عُتَيْبَةَ، وَحَمَّادِ بْنِ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ وَاللَّيْثِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ، قَالُوا: فَهَؤُلَاءِ، عُمَرُ، وَسَعْدٌ، وَمُعَيْقِيبٌ، وَعَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ الْأَسْوَدِ، وَمَعْمَرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ: خَمْسَةٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -.

L23680 It has been authentically reported from Rabīʿah, Abū al-Zinād, al-Ḥakam ibn ʿUtaybah, Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān, and al-Layth ibn Saʿd, who said: So these—ʿUmar, Saʿd, Muʿayqīb, ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Aswad, and Maʿmar ibn ʿAbd Allāh—are five of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَجَسَرَ بَعْضُهُمْ فَقَالَ: لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُمْ مُخَالِفٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ -.

L23681 Ali said: Some of them dared and said, "No dissent from the Companions is recorded against their position."

وَجَسَرَ آخَرُ مِنْهُمْ فَادَّعَى إجْمَاعَ السَّلَفِ فِي ذَلِكَ؟

L23682 Did another from among them dare to claim the consensus of the Salaf therein?

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: مَا لَهُمْ حُجَّةٌ غَيْرُ هَذَا أَصْلًا.

L23683 Ali said: They have no argument whatsoever other than this.

L23684 As for the narration of Ma'mar, it constitutes a proof against them because they designate dates as food and permit unequal exchange of dates for wheat, thereby contradicting the hadith through their interpretation by their own acknowledgment. They possess no valid argument whatsoever in this matter, for the hadith only specifies exchanging food for food in equal measure - which we neither disagree with them on this matter nor on its permissibility. It does not state that food cannot be exchanged for food except in equal measure. Rather, this matter is entirely unaddressed in Ma'mar's narration, while being explicitly affirmed as permissible in the narration of Abu Hurairah and Ubadah from the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him). Thus their reliance on it is wholly invalidated, and it stands as a proof against them.

L23685 As for Maʿmar's statement from his personal opinion, they have no basis to rely on it, for he explicitly clarified that barley is not like wheat. However, he abandoned it as a precaution, fearing it might be treated as analogous to wheat, and not due to any obligation.

L23686 As for the chain from ʿUmar, it is disconnected, and likewise the chain from Muʿayqib is disconnected.

L23687 How many instances are there where they opposed ʿUmar, Saʿd, and a greater number of Companions—such as [the rulings on] wiping over turbans, wiping over socks, legal retaliation (qisas) for a blow or a slap, and other matters in many cases where no opponent from the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) is known therein? Yes, and with them are the established Sunnah. Indeed, those we have mentioned opposed a group of the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them):

L23688 As we have been narrated through the path of Ibn Abi Shaybah: from Yazid ibn Harun, from Sa'id ibn Abi Arubah, from Qatadah, from Muslim ibn Yasar, from Abu al-Ash'ath al-San'ani: that Ubadah ibn al-Samit said: "There is no harm in selling wheat for barley - the barley being more than it - through immediate hand-to-hand exchange, but it is invalid if deferred." This is Ubadah; he transmitted it with a chain and issued a ruling thereon.

L23689–23690 And via the narration of Ibn Abī Shaybah: From ʿAbd al-Aʿlā, from ʿUmar, فَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ مَعْمَرٍ فَهُوَ حُجَّةٌ عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ يُسَمُّونَ التَّمْرَ طَعَامًا وَيُبِيحُونَ فِيهِ التَّفَاضُلَ بِالْبُرِّ، فَقَدْ خَالَفُوا الْحَدِيثَ عَلَى تَأْوِيلِهِمْ بِإِقْرَارِهِمْ، وَلَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ أَصْلًا فِيهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ إِلَّا الطَّعَامُ بِالطَّعَامِ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَهَذَا مِمَّا لَا نُخَالِفُهُمْ فِيهِ وَفِي جَوَازِهِ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ: أَنَّ الطَّعَامَ لَا يَجُوزُ بِالطَّعَامِ إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، بَلْ هَذَا مَسْكُوتٌ عَنْهُ جُمْلَةً فِي خَبَرِ مَعْمَرٍ، وَمَنْصُوصٌ عَلَى جَوَازِهِ فِي خَبَرِ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ، وَعُبَادَةَ: عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَبَطَلَ تَعَلُّقُهُمْ بِهِ جُمْلَةً، وَعَادَ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ.

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ مَعْمَرٍ مِنْ رَأْيِهِ فَلَا مُتَعَلَّقَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ قَدْ صَرَّحَ بِأَنَّ الشَّعِيرَ لَيْسَ مِثْلَ الْقَمْحِ، لَكِنْ تَخَوَّفَ أَنْ يُضَارِعَهُ فَتَرَكَهُ احْتِيَاطًا لَا إِيجَابًا.

وَأَمَّا عَنْ عُمَرَ فَمُنْقَطِعٌ، وَكَذَلِكَ عَنْ مُعَيْقِيبٍ.

وَكَمْ قِصَّةٍ خَالَفُوا فِيهَا عُمَرَ، وَسَعْدًا، وَأَكْثَرَ مِنْ هَذَا الْعَدَدِ مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ كَالْمَسْحِ عَلَى الْعِمَامَةِ، وَعَلَى الْجَوْرَبَيْنِ، وَالْقَوَدِ مِنَ الضَّرْبَةِ، وَاللَّطْمَةِ - وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ فِي كَثِيرٍ لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُمْ فِيهِ مُخَالِفٌ مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -، نَعَمْ، وَمَعَهُمُ السُّنَنُ الثَّابِتَةُ. وَقَدْ خَالَفَ مَنْ ذَكَرْنَا طَائِفَةً مِنَ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -:

كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ هَارُونَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ أَبِي عَرُوبَةَ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ مُسْلِمِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ أَبِي الْأَشْعَثِ الصَّنْعَانِيِّ: أَنَّ عُبَادَةَ بْنَ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِبَيْعِ الْحِنْطَةِ بِالشَّعِيرِ - وَالشَّعِيرُ أَكْثَرُ مِنْهُ - يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَلَا يَصْلُحُ نَسِيئَةً - فَهَذَا عُبَادَةُ أَسْنَدَهُ وَأَفْتَى بِهِ.

from al-Zuhrī, from Sālim, from Ibn ʿUmar: He saw no harm in measuring one for two, hand to hand, provided their types differed.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ عُمَرَ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَالِمٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا فِيمَا يُكَالُ وَاحِدًا بِاثْنَيْنِ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ إذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ أَلْوَانُهُ.

L23691 Via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I [Ibn Abi Shaybah] narrate from Ibn Fudayl, from Ashʿath, from Abu al-Zubayr, from Jabir ibn ʻAbdullah, who said: "If the two kinds differ, there is no harm in an excess when exchanged hand to hand."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنُ فُضَيْلٍ عَنْ أَشْعَثَ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ: إذَا اخْتَلَفَ النَّوْعَانِ فَلَا بَأْسَ بِالْفَضْلِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L23692 These chains of transmission are more authentic than theirs, contrary to their claim—and this is the view of Ibn Masʻud and Ibn Abbas, without doubt. It is authentically reported from both of them that there is absolutely no usury in unequal exchange of the same commodity whatsoever, rather usury applies exclusively to deferred transactions.

فَهَذِهِ أَسَانِيدُ أَصَحُّ مِنْ أَسَانِيدِهِمْ بِخِلَافِ قَوْلِهِمْ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ، وَابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ بِلَا شَكٍّ: أَنَّهُ صَحَّ عَنْهُمَا أَنَّهُ لَا رِبَا فِي التَّفَاضُلِ أَصْلًا، وَإِنَّمَا الرِّبَا فِي النَّسِيئَةِ.

L23693 Through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq, from Sufyān al-Thawrī, from al-Mughīrah ibn Miqsam, from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī—that he saw no harm in two jarībs of barley in exchange for one jarīb of burr wheat.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ مِقْسَمٍ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ: أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَرَ بَأْسًا بِجَرِيبَيْنِ مِنْ شَعِيرٍ بِجَرِيبٍ مِنْ بُرٍّ.

L23694 Via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Jarir from al-Mughirah ibn Miqsam from al-Sha'bi, who said: "I asked him and Ibrahim about exchanging four jareeb of barley for two jareeb of wheat." They both responded: "There is no harm in it."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا جَرِيرٌ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ مِقْسَمٍ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ قَالَ الْمُغِيرَةُ: سَأَلْته وَإِبْرَاهِيمَ عَنْ أَرْبَعَةِ أَجْرِبَةٍ مِنْ شَعِيرٍ بِجَرِيبَيْنِ مِنْ حِنْطَةٍ؟ فَقَالَا جَمِيعًا: لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ.

L23695 Narrated through Ibn Abi Shaybah: I am 'Abd al-A'la, from Ma'mar, from al-Zuhri, that he deemed no harm in selling wheat for barley hand to hand, even if one quantity is greater than the other.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا بِبَيْعِ الْبُرِّ بِالشَّعِيرِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، أَحَدُهُمَا أَكْثَرُ مِنْ الْآخَرِ.

L23696 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Al-Fadl ibn Dukayn reported from Unays ibn Khalid al-Tamimi that he said: "I asked 'Aṭā' about exchanging barley for wheat—two units for one in a spot exchange." He replied: "There is no harm in it." Thus, it is authentically reported from these five Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—that the permissibility of exchanging unequal amounts of wheat for barley is allowed in Islamic jurisprudence, along with a group of the Successors.

L23697 This is the position of Sufyan, Abu Hanifah, al-Shafi'i, Abu Thawr, Ahmad ibn Hanbal, Ishaq, and Abu Sulayman.

وَهُوَ قَوْلُ سُفْيَانَ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَبِي ثَوْرٍ، وَأَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ، وَإِسْحَاقَ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ.

L23698 When people differ, the reference is to the Quran and the Sunnah. It has been authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah (may Allah bless him and grant him peace) that the permissibility of exchanging unequal amounts in wheat and barley is confirmed, as we have mentioned. Thus, no one's opinion holds weight against his.

وَإِذَا اخْتَلَفَ النَّاسُ فَالْمَرْدُودُ إِلَيْهِ هُوَ الْقُرْآنُ، وَالسُّنَّةُ - وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - جَوَازُ التَّفَاضُلِ فِي الْبُرِّ، وَالشَّعِيرِ، كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا، فَلَا قَوْلَ لِأَحَدٍ مَعَهُ.

L23699–23701 What is astonishing about Malik is that he considers wheat, barley, and saltum (hulled barley) as a single category here and in zakat, yet he does not permit someone who subsists on wheat to give barley or saltum for zakat al-fitr—contrary to the maxim "each person should discharge from what they consume." This is a glaring contradiction. Another point of astonishment is his combining of gold and silver in zakat while requiring the discharge of... One of them concerning the other regarding obligatory zakah - while permitting the sale of gold for silver with a differential here - constitutes a self-evident contradiction.

وَالْعَجَبُ مِنْ مَالِكٍ إِذْ يَجْعَلُ هَهُنَا وَفِي الزَّكَاةِ: الْبُرَّ وَالشَّعِيرَ وَالسَّلْتَ صِنْفًا وَاحِدًا ثُمَّ لَا يُجِيزُ لِمَنْ يَتَقَوَّتُ الْبُرَّ إِخْرَاجَ الشَّعِيرِ أَوْ السَّلْتَ فِي زَكَاةِ الْفِطْرِ، وَقَوْلُ: أَنْ يُخْرِجَ كُلُّ أَحَدٍ مِمَّا يَأْكُلُ - وَهَذَا تَنَاقُضٌ فَاحِشٌ. وَعَجَبٌ آخَرُ: وَهُوَ أَنَّهُ يَجْمَعُ بَيْنَ الذَّهَبِ، وَالْفِضَّةِ فِي الزَّكَاةِ، وَيَرَى إِخْرَاجَ أَحَدِهِمَا عَنْ الْآخَرِ فِي الزَّكَاةِ الْمَفْرُوضَةِ - وَيُجِيزُ هَهُنَا أَنْ يُبَاعَ الذَّهَبُ بِالْفِضَّةِ مُتَفَاضِلَيْنِ - وَهَذَا تَنَاقُضٌ لَا خَفَاءَ بِهِ.

L23702 No one has ever recognized—whether in sharia, language, or nature—that barley is wheat or that wheat is barley. Rather, all of that testifies they are two distinct types, like the difference between dates, raisins, and figs.

وَمَا عَلِمَ قَطُّ أَحَدٌ، لَا فِي شَرِيعَةٍ، وَلَا فِي لُغَةٍ، وَلَا فِي طَبِيعَةٍ: أَنَّ الشَّعِيرَ بُرٌّ، وَلَا أَنَّ الْبُرَّ شَعِيرٌ، بَلْ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ يَشْهَدُ أَنَّهُمَا صِنْفَانِ مُخْتَلِفَانِ كَاخْتِلَافِ التَّمْرِ، وَالزَّبِيبِ، وَالتِّينِ.

L23703 There is no disagreement among the jurists that if one swears not to eat free-threshing wheat (burr) but eats barley, or swears not to eat barley but eats free-threshing wheat—or swears not to purchase free-threshing wheat but purchases barley, or swears not to purchase barley but purchases free-threshing wheat—they do not incur oath violation.

وَلَا يَخْتَلِفُونَ فِي أَنَّ مَنْ حَلَفَ لَا يَأْكُلُ بُرًّا فَأَكَلَ شَعِيرًا - أَوْ لَا يَأْكُلُ شَعِيرًا فَأَكَلَ بُرًّا - أَوْ أَنْ لَا يَشْتَرِيَ بُرًّا فَاشْتَرَى شَعِيرًا - أَوْ أَنْ لَا يَشْتَرِيَ شَعِيرًا فَاشْتَرَى بُرًّا: فَإِنَّهُ لَا يَحْنَثُ.

L23704 These are grave contradictions that have absolutely no justification whatsoever—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor analogy. And success comes only from Allah, the Most High.

فَهَذِهِ تَنَاقُضَاتٌ فَاحِشَةٌ، لَا وَجْهَ لَهَا أَصْلًا، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23705 A Question on the Sale of Gold for Silver

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ الذَّهَبِ بِالْفِضَّةِ]

١٤٨٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23707 It is permissible to sell gold for silver, whether this involves dinars for dirhams, gold jewelry for silver, or silver fragments. Similarly, it is permissible to exchange dirhams for gold jewelry, gold ingots, or raw gold, and silver jewelry may be sold for gold jewelry, ingots, or raw gold. Gold ingots and raw gold may be exchanged for silver fragments, provided the exchange must be immediate (hand-to-hand) and in-kind (same type for same type), whether the amounts are unequal or equal—by weight for weight, estimation for estimation, or weight for estimation—without omitting any form of exchange. Deferment is impermissible in such transactions, even for the blink of an eye, whether in a sale or a salam contract.

وَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ الذَّهَبِ بِالْفِضَّةِ، سَوَاءٌ فِي ذَلِكَ الدَّنَانِيرُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ، أَوْ بِالْحُلِيِّ، أَوْ بِالنِّقَارِ، وَبِالدَّرَاهِمِ بِحُلِيِّ الذَّهَبِ وَسَبَائِكِهِ، وَتِبْرِهِ، وَالْحُلِيُّ مِنْ الْفِضَّةِ بِحُلِيِّ الذَّهَبِ وَسَبَائِكِهِ، وَسَبَائِكُ الذَّهَبِ وَتِبْرُهُ بِنِقَارِ الْفِضَّةِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَلَا بُدَّ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ وَلَا بُدَّ، مُتَفَاضِلَيْنِ وَمُتَمَاثِلَيْنِ، وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ، وَجُزَافًا بِجُزَافٍ، وَوَزْنًا بِجُزَافٍ فِي كُلِّ ذَلِكَ لَا تَحَاشٍ شَيْئًا - وَلَا يَجُوزُ التَّأْخِيرُ فِي ذَلِكَ طَرْفَةَ عَيْنٍ، لَا فِي بَيْعٍ وَلَا فِي سَلَمٍ.

L23708 Gold is sold for gold, whether it be dinars, jewelry, ingots, or raw gold, weight for weight, like for like, hand to hand. Excess in this is impermissible at all, nor is delay permissible even for the blink of an eye, neither in a sale nor in a salam.

وَيُبَاعُ الذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ سَوَاءً كَانَ دَنَانِيرَ، أَوْ حُلِيًّا، أَوْ سَبَائِكَ، أَوْ تِبْرًا، وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، لَا يَحِلُّ التَّفَاضُلُ فِي ذَلِكَ أَصْلًا، وَلَا التَّأْخِيرُ طَرْفَةَ عَيْنٍ، لَا بَيْعًا وَلَا سَلَمًا.

L23709 Silver is sold for silver—whether in the form of dirhams, jewelry, or scrap—weight for weight, like for like, hand to hand. No disparity whatsoever is permitted in this regard, nor any delay, even the blink of an eye, neither in a spot sale nor a salam contract.

وَتُبَاعُ الْفِضَّةُ بِالْفِضَّةِ، دَرَاهِمَ أَوْ حُلِيًّا أَوْ نِقَارًا، وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ التَّفَاضُلُ فِي ذَلِكَ أَصْلًا، وَلَا التَّأْخِيرُ طَرْفَةَ عَيْنٍ، لَا بَيْعًا وَلَا سَلَمًا.

L23710 The exchange of filings from one of the two [items], even if similar in type, is categorically impermissible by volume measurement. It must necessarily be done by weight. It is irrelevant whether one of the two gold items is naturally superior in quality to the other or equal to it.

وَلَا تَجُوزُ بُرَادَةُ أَحَدِهِمَا مِثْلُهَا مِنْ نَوْعِهَا كَيْلًا أَصْلًا، لَكِنْ بِوَزْنٍ وَلَا بُدَّ، وَلَا نُبَالِي كَانَ أَحَدُ الذَّهَبَيْنِ أَجْوَدَ مِنْ الْآخَرِ بِطَبْعِهِ أَوْ مِثْلَهُ.

L23711–23713 Similarly, regarding the two silvers; this is unanimously agreed upon, except what we mentioned from Ṭalḥah ibn ʿUbayd Allāh, and except the sale of silver for silver or gold for gold. For Ibn ʿAbbās, Ibn Masʿūd, and those who agreed with them permitted disparity in quantity or quality in such transactions when exchanged hand to hand. However, Abū Ḥanīfah and Al-Shāfiʿī permitted all such transactions without... They permitted delaying receipt provided they do not physically separate, as we previously cited from Umar contrary to their opinion. However, Mālik does not permit sale by approximation in exchanging dinars for dinars or dirhams for dirhams. He permits it for ornaments made from one for ornaments from the other, and allows giving a dirham for a dirham or a weight of it as an act of generosity.

هَذَا بِخِلَافِ قَوْلِهِمْ وَإِلَّا أَنَّ مَالِكًا لَا يُجِيزُ الْجُزَافَ فِي الدَّنَانِيرِ، وَلَا فِي الدَّرَاهِمِ، بَعْضُهَا بِبَعْضٍ، وَيُجِيزُهُ فِي الْمَصُوغِ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا بِالْمَصُوغِ مِنْ الْآخَرِ، وَيُجِيزُ إعْطَاءَ دِرْهَمٍ بِدِرْهَمٍ أَوْ وَزْنٍ مِنْهُ، عَلَى سَبِيلِ الْمُكَارَمَةِ.

L23714 As for this statement of Mālik, and the statements of Abū Ḥanīfah and al-Shāfiʿī, there is no evidence for any of them—neither from the Qur'ān, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor analogy, nor the saying of a companion. Rather, it contradicts the command of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—which we mentioned earlier from his instruction—peace and blessings be upon him—that we sell silver for gold however we wish, hand to hand.

فَأَمَّا قَوْلُ مَالِكٍ هَذَا، وَقَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، فَلَا حُجَّةَ لِشَيْءٍ مِنْهَا، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا مِنْ قَوْلِ صَاحِبٍ، بَلْ هُوَ خِلَافُ أَمْرِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا آنِفًا مِنْ أَمْرِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَنْ نَبِيعَ الْفِضَّةَ بِالذَّهَبِ كَيْفَ شِئْنَا يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L23715 As for the statement of Ibn Abbas, he cited the narration transmitted through Ahmad ibn Shu'ayb: "I [Ahmad] heard from Muhammad ibn Mansur, from Sufyan al-Thawri, from Amr ibn Dinar, from Abu al-Minhal, who said: 'My partner sold silver currency (warq) on credit. He came and informed me, so I said: "This is improper." He responded: "By Allah, I sold it in the market and none objected." I went to al-Bara ibn Azib and inquired? He said: "When Allah's Messenger - peace be upon him - came to Medina, we engaged in this type of sale. He declared: 'What is exchanged hand-to-hand is permissible, but deferred payment constitutes usury.' Then he instructed me: 'Approach Zayd ibn Arqam.' I went to Zayd ibn Arqam and inquired? He affirmed the same ruling.'"[14]

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، فَإِنَّهُ احْتَجَّ بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ مَنْصُورٍ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ دِينَارٍ «عَنْ أَبِي الْمِنْهَالِ قَالَ: بَاعَ شَرِيكٌ لِي وَرِقًا بِنَسِيئَةٍ فَجَاءَنِي فَأَخْبَرَنِي فَقُلْتُ: هَذَا لَا يَصْلُحُ فَقَالَ: قَدْ وَاَللَّهِ بِعْتُهُ فِي السُّوقِ وَمَا عَابَهُ عَلَيَّ أَحَدٌ، فَأَتَيْتُ الْبَرَاءَ بْنَ عَازِبٍ فَسَأَلْتُ؟ فَقَالَ: قَدِمَ عَلَيْنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْمَدِينَةَ وَنَحْنُ نَبِيعُ هَذَا الْبَيْعَ، فَقَالَ: مَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ فَلَا بَأْسَ بِهِ، وَمَا كَانَ نَسِيئَةً فَهُوَ رِبًا ثُمَّ قَالَ لِي: ائْتِ زَيْدَ بْنَ أَرْقَمَ فَأَتَيْتُ زَيْدَ بْنَ أَرْقَمَ فَسَأَلْتُهُ؟ فَقَالَ: مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ» .

L23717–23718 Via Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: He narrated to me Abū Muʿāwiyah (i.e., Muḥammad ibn Khāzim al-Ḍarīr) from al-Aʿmash, from Ibrāhīm al-Taymī, from al-Ḥārith ibn Suwayd, who said: ʿAbdullāh ibn Masʿūd said, “There is no ribā in a hand-to-hand [transaction], and water [is purified] by water.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ - هُوَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ خَازِمٍ الضَّرِيرُ - عَنْ الْأَعْمَشِ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ التَّيْمِيِّ عَنْ الْحَارِثِ بْنِ سُوَيْدٍ قَالَ: قَالَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْعُودٍ، لَا رِبَا فِي يَدٍ بِيَدٍ، وَالْمَاءِ مِنْ الْمَاءِ.

L23719 It is authentically established from Ibn Umar that he adopted the opinion of Ibn Abbas, then retracted from that opinion.

وَصَحَّ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ بِقَوْلِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، ثُمَّ رَجَعَ عَنْهُ.

L23720 And it was narrated to us through the chain of Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl that Jarīr ibn Ḥāzim said: I asked ʿAṭāʾ ibn Abī Rabāḥ regarding exchange (ṣarf). He replied: “O my son, if you find one hundred dirhams for a dirham on the spot, take it.”

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا جَرِيرُ بْنُ حَازِمٍ قَالَ: سَأَلْت عَطَاءَ بْنَ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ عَنْ الصِّرْفِ؟ فَقَالَ: يَا بُنَيَّ إنْ وَجَدْتَ مِائَةَ دِرْهَمٍ بِدِرْهَمٍ نَقْدًا فَخُذْهُ.

L23721 Abu Muhammad said: The narrations of Ubadah, Abu Hurayrah, Umar, and Abu Saʿid concerning the six categories—that each is to be traded with its own kind, and if there is an excess in weight of one over the other, it constitutes ribā—are superior in legal ruling to the narrations of Usāmah, Al-Bara’, and Zayd. It is not permissible to omit the excess, and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

L23722 The Issue of Selling Wheat, Barley, and Similar Grains in Exchange for Gold and Silver

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْقَمْح وَالشَّعِير وَغَيْرهمْ بِالذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّة]

L23723 1486 – Issue:

١٤٨٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23724 It is permissible to sell wheat, barley, dates, and salt for gold or silver, whether hand to hand or on credit. It is also permissible to deliver gold or silver for the types we mentioned in exchange for these commodities, as the textual evidence has permitted all of that. And the success is from Allah, the Exalted.

وَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ الْقَمْحِ، وَالشَّعِيرِ، وَالتَّمْرِ، وَالْمِلْحِ بِالذَّهَبِ، أَوْ بِالْفِضَّةِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَنَسِيئَةً - وَجَائِزٌ تَسْلِيمُ الذَّهَبِ أَوْ الْفِضَّةِ بِالْأَصْنَافِ الَّتِي ذَكَرْنَا؛ لِأَنَّ النَّصَّ جَاءَ بِإِبَاحَةِ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23725 The jurisprudential question regarding loans involving wheat, barley, and other such commodities.

[مَسْأَلَة القرض فِي الْقَمْح وَالشَّعِير وَغَيْرهمْ مِنْ الْأَصْنَاف]

L23726 1487 - Issue: As for loans, they are permissible in the categories we mentioned and others, and in all possessions that can be owned and lawfully transferred out of ownership. Usury does not enter into it except in one case only: stipulating more than what was lent, less than what was lent, higher quality than what was lent, or inferior quality than what was lent. This is unanimously agreed upon, being textually specified for the six categories—as we stated that it constitutes usury. For other cases, any condition not mentioned in the Book of Allah—the Exalted—is invalid. It is permissible to set a specified term or defer repayment without stipulating a term, though it remains an immediate liability due whenever the lender demands it.

١٤٨٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَأَمَّا الْقَرْضُ فَجَائِزٌ فِي الْأَصْنَافِ الَّتِي ذَكَرْنَا وَغَيْرِهَا، وَفِي كُلِّ مَا يُتَمَلَّكُ، وَيَحِلُّ إخْرَاجُهُ عَنْ الْمِلْكِ، وَلَا يَدْخُلُ الرِّبَا فِيهِ، إلَّا فِي وَجْهٍ وَاحِدٍ فَقَطْ، وَهُوَ اشْتِرَاطُ أَكْثَرَ مِمَّا أَقْرَضَ، أَوْ أَقَلَّ مِمَّا أَقْرَضَ، أَوْ أَجْوَدَ مِمَّا أَقْرَضَ، أَوْ أَدْنَى مِمَّا أَقْرَضَ، وَهَذَا مُجْمَعٌ عَلَيْهِ، وَهُوَ فِي الْأَصْنَافِ السِّتَّةِ مَنْصُوصٌ عَلَيْهِ، كَمَا أَوْرَدْنَا بِأَنَّهُ رِبًا وَهُوَ فِيمَا عَدَاهَا شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ - وَيَجُوزُ إلَى أَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى وَمُؤَخَّرًا بِغَيْرِ ذِكْرِ أَجَلٍ، لَكِنْ حَالٌّ فِي الذِّمَّةِ مَتَى طَلَبَهُ صَاحِبُهُ أَخَذَهُ.

L23727 Mālik said: He may not reclaim it until after a period during which the borrower has benefited from the loan.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: لَا يَأْخُذُهُ إلَّا بَعْدَ مُدَّةٍ يَنْتَفِعُ فِيهَا الْمُسْتَقْرِضُ بِمَا اسْتَقْرَضَ -.

L23728 And this is a mistake because it is not supported by the Quran, the Sunnah, a weak narration, analogy, nor the opinion of anyone we know before him.

وَهَذَا خَطَأٌ، لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَأْتِ بِهِ قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٌ سَقِيمَةٌ، وَلَا قِيَاسٌ، وَلَا قَوْلُ أَحَدٍ نَعْلَمُهُ قَبْلَهُ.

L23729 Moreover, it is an invalid ḥadd punishment because the benefit can only occur in an hour or more.

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّهُ حَدٌّ فَاسِدٌ، لِأَنَّ الِانْتِفَاعَ لَا يَكُونُ إلَّا فِي سَاعَةٍ فَمَا فَوْقَهَا.

L23730 Allah, the Most High, said: {Indeed, Allah commands you to render trusts to their rightful owners} [An-Nisa: 58]. A loan is a trust; thus, it is obligatory to repay it to its rightful owner whenever they demand it. And success is from Allah alone.[15]

وَقَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى {إِنَّ اللَّهَ يَأْمُرُكُمْ أَنْ تُؤَدُّوا الأَمَانَاتِ إِلَى أَهْلِهَا} [النساء: ٥٨] وَالْقَرْضُ أَمَانَةٌ فَفُرِضَ أَدَاؤُهَا إلَى صَاحِبِهَا مَتَى طَلَبَهَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

The ruling on selling gold that is alongside another material, mixed with something else, added to it, or aggregated with it, whether in the form of dinars or other forms.

L23733 Issue: If gold is accompanied by anything else—whether an item of silver or other material—whether blended with it, incorporated into it, or combined with it in the form of dinars or other forms, it is impermissible to sell it with that item or to sell it separately in exchange for gold under any circumstance—whether for more than its weight, less than it, or equal to it—until the gold becomes purely isolated, entirely alone in its purity.

مَسْأَلَةٌ: فَإِنْ كَانَ مَعَ الذَّهَبِ شَيْءٌ غَيْرُهُ - أَيَّ شَيْءٍ كَانَ مِنْ فِضَّةٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهَا -: مَمْزُوجٌ بِهِ، أَوْ مُضَافٌ فِيهِ، أَوْ مَجْمُوعٌ إلَيْهِ فِي دَنَانِيرَ، أَوْ فِي غَيْرِهَا: لَمْ يَحِلَّ بَيْعُهُ مَعَ ذَلِكَ

[15] Qur'an references (L23730): Qur'an 4:58 (An-Nisa).

الشَّيْءِ، وَلَا دُونَهُ بِذَهَبٍ أَصْلًا، لَا بِأَكْثَرَ مِنْ وَزْنِهِ وَلَا بِأَقَلَّ، وَلَا بِمِثْلِهِ، إِلَّا حَتَّى يَخْلُصَ الذَّهَبُ وَحْدَهُ خَالِصًا.

L23734 Similarly, if there is something other than silver combined with it - such as copper, gold, or other materials - whether mixed, attached, or collected with it, it is fundamentally impermissible to sell the silver with that substance using silver at all - whether they are dirhams or other than dirhams - neither more than its weight, nor less, nor equal to it, unless the silver is completely purified and isolated on its own. This ruling applies equally to all mentioned cases: the ornamented sword, the embellished Mus'haf, the ring containing a gemstone, jewelry with gemstones, gilded silver, gold coins (dinars) mixed with copper or silver, or dirhams mixed with any substance. There is fundamentally no riba in anything beyond what we have mentioned.

وَكَذَلِكَ إِنْ كَانَ مَعَ الْفِضَّةِ شَيْءٌ غَيْرُهَا: كَصُفْرٍ، أَوْ ذَهَبٍ، أَوْ غَيْرُهُمَا، مَمْزُوجٌ بِهَا، أَوْ مُلْصَقٌ مَعَهَا، أَوْ مَجْمُوعٌ إِلَيْهَا: لَمْ يَحِلَّ بَيْعُهَا مَعَ ذَلِكَ الشَّيْءِ، وَلَا دُونَهُ بِفِضَّةٍ أَصْلًا - دَرَاهِمَ كَانَتْ أَوْ غَيْرَ دَرَاهِمَ - لَا بِأَكْثَرَ مِنْ وَزْنِهَا، وَلَا بِأَقَلَّ، وَلَا بِمِثْلِ وَزْنِهَا، إِلَّا حَتَّى تَخْلُصَ الْفِضَّةُ وَحْدَهَا خَالِصَةً، سَوَاءٌ فِي كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا: السَّيْفُ الْمُحَلَّى، وَالْمُصْحَفُ الْمُحَلَّى، وَالْخَاتَمُ فِيهِ الْفَصُّ، وَالْحُلِيُّ فِيهِ الْفُصُوصُ، أَوْ الْفِضَّةُ الْمُذَهَّبَةُ، أَوْ الدَّنَانِيرُ فِيهَا خِلْطُ صُفْرٍ أَوْ فِضَّةٍ، أَوْ الدَّرَاهِمُ فِيهَا خِلْطُ مَا، وَلَا رِبَا فِي غَيْرِ مَا ذَكَرْنَا أَصْلًا.

L23735 Similarly, if wheat is mixed or combined with something else—such as foreign matter or anything else—it is impermissible to sell it with that substance included, nor to sell it for less [than its value] using originally pure wheat.

وَكَذَلِكَ إِنْ كَانَ فِي الْقَمْحِ شَيْءٌ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ مَخْلُوطٌ بِهِ، أَوْ مُضَافٌ إِلَيْهِ مِنْ دَغَلٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ: لَمْ يَجُزْ بَيْعُهُ بِذَلِكَ الشَّيْءِ، وَلَا دُونَهُ بِقَمْحٍ صَافٍ أَصْلًا.

L23736 Similarly, the ruling applies to barley—if there is something else in it or mixed with it—it is not permissible to sell it for pure barley. And in the case of dates, if there is something else in them or mixed with them, then it is not permissible to sell them for pure dates.

وَكَذَلِكَ الْقَوْلُ فِي الشَّعِيرِ - فِيهِ شَيْءٌ غَيْرُهُ أَوْ مَعَهُ شَيْءٌ غَيْرُهُ -: فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ بِشَعِيرٍ مَحْضٍ - وَفِي التَّمْرِ يَكُونُ مَعَهُ أَوْ فِيهِ شَيْءٌ غَيْرُهُ أَوْ مَعَهُ فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ بِتَمْرٍ مَحْضٍ.

L23737 Similarly, the ruling pertains to salt that contains impurities or is mixed with another substance: it is not permissible to sell it in exchange for pure salt.

وَكَذَلِكَ الْقَوْلُ فِي الْمِلْحِ يَكُونُ فِيهِ أَوْ مَعَهُ شَيْءٌ غَيْرُهُ -: فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ بِمِلْحٍ صَافٍ.

L23738 All of this applies when the effect of mixing becomes apparent in any of the matters we mentioned. As for what neither produces an effect nor shows any observable trace nor even requires scrutiny, its ruling remains equivalent to the pure, because names are designated according to the attributes through which legal boundaries are defined.

وَإِنَّمَا هَذَا كُلُّهُ إِذَا ظَهَرَ أَثَرُ الْخِلْطِ فِي شَيْءٍ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا - وَأَمَّا مَا لَمْ يُؤَثِّرْ وَلَا ظَهَرَ لَهُ فِيهِ عَيْنٌ وَلَا نَظَرٌ أَيْضًا: فَحُكْمُهُ حُكْمُ الْمَحْضِ؛ لِأَنَّ الْأَسْمَاءَ إِنَّمَا هِيَ مَوْضُوعَةٌ عَلَى حَسَبِ الصِّفَاتِ الَّتِي بِهَا تَنْتَقِلُ الْحُدُودُ.

L23739 The proof of this is: "The Prophet (may God's blessings and peace be upon him) commanded that gold and silver must not be sold for anything of their own kind except as like for like, weight for weight, and that nothing from the four categories should be sold for anything of its kind except as measure for measure, like for like." Therefore, if there is an adulterant or foreign substance in any of the mentioned types, it is impermissible to sell it for anything of its kind—whether like for like, measure for measure, or weight for weight—because it is fundamentally impossible to do so.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: «أَمَرَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ لَا يُبَاعَ الذَّهَبُ وَالْفِضَّةُ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ نَوْعِهِمَا، إلَّا عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ، وَأَنْ لَا يُبَاعَ شَيْءٌ مِنْ الْأَصْنَافِ الْأَرْبَعَةِ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ نَوْعِهِ إلَّا كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ» ، فَإِذَا كَانَ فِي أَحَدِ الْأَنْوَاعِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ خِلْطٌ أَوْ شَيْءٌ مُضَافٌ إلَيْهِ فَلَا سَبِيلَ إلَى بَيْعِهِ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ نَوْعِهِ عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، وَلَا كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ، وَلَا وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ، لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَقْدِرُ عَلَى ذَلِكَ أَصْلًا.

L23740–23741 Those who permitted this stated: If we determine its weight or measure, it becomes permissible to sell it for a greater quantity of its own kind in weight or measure, such that the weight or measure corresponds to it, with the excess exchanged for the silver grain. For example, a dinar containing a silver grain may be sold for a pure gold dinar. In this case, the pure dinar (excluding the silver grain) equates in gold quantity to the gold in the dinar containing the silver grain, while the excess gold in the pure dinar is exchanged for the silver grain.

فَقَالَ مَنْ أَجَازَ ذَلِكَ: إذَا عَلِمْنَا وَزْنَهُ أَوْ كَيْلَهُ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ نَوْعِهِ أَكْثَرَ وَزْنًا أَوْ كَيْلًا مِنْهُ، فَيَكُونُ مِقْدَارُ وَزْنِهِ بِهِ، أَوْ مِقْدَارُ كَيْلِهِ كَذَلِكَ، وَيَكُونُ الْفَضْلُ بِذَلِكَ الشَّيْءِ -: مِثَالُ ذَلِكَ: دِينَارٌ فِيهِ حَبَّةُ فِضَّةٍ فَيُبَاعُ بِدِينَارِ ذَهَبٍ صِرْفٍ، فَيَكُونُ مِنْ هَذَا الدِّينَارِ الصِّرْفِ دِينَارٌ غَيْرُ حَبَّةٍ بِإِزَاءِ الذَّهَبِ الَّذِي فِي ذَلِكَ الدِّينَارِ الَّذِي فِيهِ حَبَّةُ فِضَّةٍ، وَيَكُونُ مَا زَادَ عَلَى ذَلِكَ مِنْ ذَهَبِ هَذَا الدِّينَارِ بِالْحَبَّةِ الْفِضَّةُ.

L23742 Similarly, a dirham containing a quarter, third, or half copper is to be exchanged for a dirham of pure silver. The silver present in this dirham corresponds to an equivalent weight of silver in that other dirham, while the copper combined with this silver is equivalent to the remaining portion of silver in that other dirham. This principle applies in the same manner to the remaining four types.

L23743 Abu Muhammad said: We said: If you have freed yourselves through this intention from weighing, you have not freed yourselves from specification; for it is unclear which specific silver this dirham you sold was exchanged for in relation to the silver of the other. The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—has mandated that this is unlawful unless exchanged as specific item for specific item. How can this be when there exists an explicit textual ruling on this matter? As transmitted to us through Muslim's chain: I am Abu al-Tahir Ahmad ibn Amr ibn Sarh from Ibn Wahb, informed

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَقُلْنَا: إنْ كُنْتُمْ تَخَلَّصْتُمْ بِهَذِهِ النِّيَّةِ مِنْ الْوَزْنِ، فَلَمْ تَتَخَلَّصُوا مِنْ التَّعْيِينِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يُعْرَفُ أَيُّ فِضَّةٍ هَذَا الدِّرْهَمُ بِعْتُمْ بِفِضَّةِ ذَلِكَ الْآخَرِ؟ وَقَدْ افْتَرَضَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: أَنَّهُ لَا يَحِلُّ ذَلِكَ إلَّا عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، فَكَيْفَ وَقَدْ وَرَدَ فِي هَذَا نَصٌّ؟ كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو الطَّاهِرِ أَحْمَدُ بْنُ عَمْرِو بْنِ سَرْحٍ أَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ

The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—ordered the gold in the necklace to be separated out alone, then said to them—peace be upon him—: 'Gold is to be exchanged for gold, equal weight for equal weight.'"

أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو هَانِئٍ الْخَوْلَانِيُّ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ عَلِيَّ بْنَ رَبَاحٍ اللَّخْمِيَّ يَقُولُ: سَمِعْتُ فَضَالَةَ بْنَ عُبَيْدٍ يَقُولُ: «أَتَى رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَهُوَ بِخَيْبَرَ بِقِلَادَةٍ فِيهَا ذَهَبٌ وَخَرَزٌ وَهِيَ مِنْ الْمَغَانِمِ تُبَاعُ فَأَمَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِالذَّهَبِ الَّذِي فِي الْقِلَادَةِ فَنُزِعَ وَحْدَهُ، ثُمَّ قَالَ لَهُمْ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: الذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ» .

L23744 Through the chain of Abu Dawud: Muhammad ibn al-Ala narrated to us: Ibn al-Mubarak narrated to us from Sa'id ibn Yazid—who is Abu Shuja'—from Khalid ibn Abi 'Imran from Hanash al-San'ani from Fadalah ibn 'Ubayd al-Ansari, who said: "A necklace containing gold and beads was brought to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) during the year of Khaybar. A man bought it for nine dinars. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: 'Until you distinguish between the two.' The man said: 'I only wanted the stones.' He (peace be upon him) replied: 'No, until you distinguish between the two.' The Prophet then made him return it until he distinguished between them."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْعَلَاءِ أَنَا ابْنُ الْمُبَارَكِ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ يَزِيدَ - هُوَ أَبُو شُجَاعٍ - عَنْ خَالِدِ بْنِ أَبِي عِمْرَانَ عَنْ حَنَشٍ الصَّنْعَانِيِّ عَنْ فَضَالَةَ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ: «أَتَى رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَامَ خَيْبَرَ بِقِلَادَةٍ فِيهَا ذَهَبٌ وَخَرَزٌ ابْتَاعَهَا رَجُلٌ بِتِسْعَةِ دَنَانِيرَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: حَتَّى تُمَيِّزَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ فَقَالَ: إنَّمَا أَرَدْتُ الْحِجَارَةَ؟ فَقَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: لَا، حَتَّى تُمَيِّزَ بَيْنَهُمَا، فَرَدَّهُ حَتَّى مَيَّزَ بَيْنَهُمَا» .

L23745–23746 Thus, the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—did not consider his intention wherein his sole objective was the beads, with the gold being incidental. He did not account for whether the price was high or low due to abundance or scarcity, and he mandated distinction and balancing as essential—though there is disagreement on this matter, of which we will mention a portion, God willing. It has been narrated to us through Shu'bah: narrated by 'Umarah ibn Abi Hafsah, narrated by al-Mughirah ibn Hunayn, who heard 'Ali ibn Abi Talib—while delivering a sermon—when a man approached him and said, "O Commander of the Faithful, there are people in our land who consume usury." 'Ali asked, "How so?" The man replied, "They sell garments mixed with gold and silver in exchange for silver coins." 'Ali lowered his head and said, "No harm in it." From the narration of Sa'id ibn Mansur: narrated by Jarir ibn 'Abd al-Hamid, narrated by al-Sammak ibn Musa, narrated by Musa ibn Anas ibn Malik, narrated by his father: 'Umar gave him Khosrowani vessels combined with gold and said, "Go sell them, stipulating

L23747 And through the chain of Sa'id ibn Mansur: I [Hushaym] report from Mujalid from al-Sha'bi that Abdullah ibn Mas'ud sold scrap from the treasury - debased dirhams (zuyūf) - for dirhams of lesser weight than theirs.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ عَنْ مُجَالِدٍ عَنِ الشَّعْبِيِّ: أَنَّ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ مَسْعُودٍ بَاعَ نُفَايَةَ بَيْتِ الْمَالِ زُيُوفًا بِدَرَاهِمَ دُونَ وَزْنِهَا.

L23748 And via the transmission chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: from Sharīk ibn ʿAbd Allāh, from Ibrāhīm ibn Muhājir, from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī, who said, "Khabbāb was a metalworker, and he would sometimes purchase a sword adorned with silver."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا شَرِيكُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ بْنِ مُهَاجِرٍ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ قَالَ: كَانَ خَبَّابٌ قَيْنًا، وَكَانَ رُبَّمَا اشْتَرَى السَّيْفَ الْمُحَلَّى بِالْوَرِقِ.

L23749 Via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Abd al-Salam ibn Harb reported from Yazid al-Dālānī, from Qays ibn Muslim, from Tariq ibn Shihab, who said: "We would sell the sword adorned with silver and acquire it [in trade]."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ السَّلَامِ بْنُ حَرْبٍ عَنْ يَزِيدَ الدَّالَانِيِّ عَنْ قَيْسِ بْنِ مُسْلِمٍ عَنْ طَارِقِ بْنِ شِهَابٍ قَالَ: كُنَّا نَبِيعُ السَّيْفَ الْمُحَلَّى بِالْفِضَّةِ وَنَشْتَرِيهِ.

L23750 And through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: from Waki', from Isra'il, from ʻAbd al-Aʻla, from Saʻid ibn Jubayr, from Ibn ʻAbbas, who said: There is no harm in selling an adorned sword for dirhams.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ عَنْ إِسْرَائِيلَ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِبَيْعِ السَّيْفِ الْمُحَلَّى بِالدَّرَاهِمِ.

L23751 These individuals are: Umar, Ali, Anas, Ibn Masʿud, Tariq, Ibn Abbas, and Khabbab. However, Ali, Khabbab, Ibn Masʿud, Tariq, and Ibn Abbas did not specify conditions beyond or below the silver content. Umar adhered to the weight standard of silver and abolished the use of gold, though he permitted currency exchange (ṣarf) with the option of mutual consent after the transacting parties had parted. Anas alone considered exceeding the weight standard and permitted the option in currency exchange.

فَهَؤُلَاءِ: عُمَرُ، وَعَلِيٌّ، وَأَنَسٌ، وَابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ، وَطَارِقٌ، وَابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ، وَخَبَّابٌ، إِلَّا أَنَّ عَلِيًّا، وَخَبَّابًا، وَابْنَ مَسْعُودٍ، وَطَارِقًا، وَابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ لَمْ يَخُصُّوا بِأَكْثَرَ مِمَّا فِيهَا مِنَ الْفِضَّةِ وَلَا أَقَلَّ - وَعُمَرُ رَاعَى وَزْنَ الْفِضَّةِ وَأَلْغَى الذَّهَبَ، إِلَّا أَنَّهُ أَجَازَ الصَّرْفَ بِخِيَارِ رِضَاهُ بَعْدَ افْتِرَاقِ الْمُتَصَارِفِينَ - وَأَنَسٌ وَحْدَهُ رَاعَى أَكْثَرَ مِنَ الْوَزْنِ، وَأَجَازَ الْخِيَارَ فِي الصَّرْفِ.

L23752–23753 Among those after them, it has been narrated to us through the chain of Ahmad ibn Hanbal from Yahya ibn Abi Za'idah: Ibn Abi Ghunyah informed me, "I asked Al-Hakam ibn 'Utaybah about exchanging one thousand and sixty dirhams for one thousand dirhams and five dinars." He replied, "There is no harm in it: one thousand for one thousand, with the surplus being in dinars."

وَمِمَّنْ بَعْدَهُمْ رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ أَخْبَرَنِي ابْنُ أَبِي غُنْيَةَ سَأَلْتُ الْحَكَمَ بْنَ عُتَيْبَةَ أَلْفَ دِرْهَمٍ وَسِتِّينَ دِرْهَمًا بِأَلْفِ دِرْهَمٍ وَخَمْسَةِ دَنَانِيرَ؟ فَقَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ أَلْفٌ بِأَلْفٍ وَالْفَضْلُ بِالدَّنَانِيرِ.

L23754 From the transmission of ʿAbd al-Razzāq: Maʿmar, Sufyān al-Thawrī, and Ḥayy ibn ʿUmar. Maʿmar said: From Qatādah, from al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī. Sufyān said: From al-Mughīrah, from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī. Ḥayy said: From ʿAbd al-Karīm Abū Umayyah, from al-Shaʿbī. Then al-Ḥasan, Ibrāhīm, and al-Shaʿbī agreed, all stating: There is no harm in selling a sword adorned with ornamentation, a sword belt, or a ring—whether for more than its value, less than its value, or on credit.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا مَعْمَرٌ، وَسُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ، وَحَيُّ بْنُ عُمَرَ قَالَ مَعْمَرٌ: عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ الْبَصْرِيِّ، وَقَالَ سُفْيَانُ: عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ، وَقَالَ حَيٌّ: عَنْ عَبْدِ الْكَرِيمِ أَبِي أُمَيَّةَ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ، ثُمَّ اتَّفَقَ الْحَسَنُ، وَإِبْرَاهِيمُ، وَالشَّعْبِيُّ، قَالُوا كُلُّهُمْ: لَا بَأْسَ بِالسَّيْفِ فِيهِ الْحِلْيَةُ، وَالْمِنْطَقَةُ، وَالْخَاتَمُ أَنْ يَبْتَاعَهُ بِأَكْثَرَ مِمَّا فِيهِ أَوْ بِأَقَلَّ وَنَسِيئَةً.

L23755 From the chain of Abd al-Razzaq: Hushaym said, "I [heard] from Mughirah—I asked Ibrahim al-Nakhaʿī about a ring: 'Should I sell it with deferred payment?' He responded: 'Does it have a gemstone?' I said: 'Yes.' Then it was as though he made light of it."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ عَنْ مُغِيرَةَ سَأَلْت إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيَّ عَنْ الْخَاتَمِ أَبِيعُهُ نَسِيئَةً؟ فَقَالَ: أَفِيهِ فَصٌّ؟ فَقُلْتُ: نَعَمْ، فَكَأَنَّهُ هَوَّنَ فِيهِ.

L23756 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: He narrated from Uthman ibn Matar from Hisham—he is Ibn Hassān—and Sa'id ibn Abi Arubah. Hisham said: From Ibn Sirin, and Sa'id said: From Qatadah. Then Ibn Sirin and Qatadah concurred: There is no harm in purchasing a silver-plated sword, a silver-plated platter (khiwān), or a cup in exchange for dirhams.

L23757 Via Shu'bah's chain, Shu'bah said: I asked Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān about an adorned sword being sold for dirhams, and he said: "There is no harm in it." This was also narrated from Sulaymān ibn Mūsā and Makḥūl.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ شُعْبَةَ قَالَ: سَأَلْت حَمَّادَ بْنَ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ السَّيْفِ الْمُحَلَّى يُبَاعُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ؟ فَقَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ - وَرُوِيَ هَذَا عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ مُوسَى، وَمَكْحُولٍ أَيْضًا.

L23758 From the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym reported from Ḥuṣayn—who is Abū ʿAbd al-Raḥmān—from al-Shaʿbī that he deemed no objection to purchasing an ornamented sword through immediate payment or deferred credit, stating: "It contains iron and the hilt." We received narration via Shu'bah's chain that he questioned al-Ḥakam ibn ʿUtaybah about selling an ornamented sword for dirhams. He responded: "If the dirhams [used as currency] exceed the decorative material in quantity, there is no harm in it."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا حُصَيْنٌ - هُوَ أَبُو عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ - عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا بِالسَّيْفِ الْمُحَلَّى يُشْتَرَى نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً وَيَقُولُ: فِيهِ الْحَدِيدُ، وَالْحَمَائِلُ وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ شُعْبَةَ: أَنَّهُ سَأَلَ الْحَكَمَ بْنَ عُتَيْبَةَ عَنْ السَّيْفِ الْمُحَلَّى يُبَاعُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ؟ فَقَالَ: إنْ كَانَتْ الدَّرَاهِمُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الْحِلْيَةِ فَلَا بَأْسَ بِهِ.

L23759 A similar report was also narrated to us from al-Ḥasan and Ibrāhīm—and this is the opinion of Sufyān.

وَرُوِّينَا مِثْلَهُ أَيْضًا عَنْ الْحَسَنِ، وَإِبْرَاهِيمَ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ سُفْيَانَ.

L23760 And a third opinion has been transmitted to us from Ibrāhīm, as reported via the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: "I [Saʿīd] heard from Jarīr, who reported from Mughīrah from Ibrāhīm regarding the case when gold and silver are combined together?" He said: "They are not to be sold except by one and the same weight standard for both."

وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ قَوْلًا ثَالِثًا، كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا جَرِيرٌ عَنْ مُغِيرَةَ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ فِي الذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّةِ يَكُونَانِ جَمِيعًا؟ قَالَ: لَا يُبَاعُ إِلَّا بِوَزْنٍ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا.

L23761–23762 Abu Muhammad said: It is as though he nullifies the one. Al-Awzāʿī said: If the ornament is subsidiary and the excess is in the blade, it is permissible to sell it in kind for immediate or deferred payment.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: كَأَنَّهُ يُلْغِي الْوَاحِدَ، وَقَالَ الْأَوْزَاعِيُّ: إِذَا كَانَتْ الْحِلْيَةُ تَبَعًا، وَكَانَ الْفَضْلُ فِي النَّصْلِ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُ بِنَوْعِهِ نَقْدًا وَتَأْخِيرًا.

L23763 Malik said: If the silver of a sword ornamented with silver, or a Quran codex likewise, or a belt likewise, or a silver ring likewise, does not exceed a third of their total value when combined with the blade, sheath, carrying straps, the Quran as a whole, or the gemstone—and similarly, if women's jewelry of gold or silver combined with stones does not exceed a third of the total value or less—then selling all such items in exchange for their own kind (whether more, equal, or less in immediate currency) is permissible, but not through deferred payment. If the precious metal exceeds a third, the transaction is fundamentally impermissible.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إِنْ كَانَتْ فِضَّةُ السَّيْفِ الْمُحَلَّى بِالْفِضَّةِ، أَوْ الْمُصْحَفُ كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ الْمِنْطَقَةُ كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ خَاتَمُ الْفِضَّةِ كَذَلِكَ: يَقَعُ فِي الثُّلُثِ مِنْ قِيمَتِهَا مَعَ النَّصْلِ، وَالْغِمْدِ، وَالْحَمَائِلِ، وَمَعَ الْمُصْحَفِ، وَمَعَ الْفَصِّ، وَكَانَ حُلِيُّ النِّسَاءِ مِنْ الذَّهَبِ، أَوْ الْفِضَّةِ، يَقَعُ الْفِضَّةُ أَوْ الذَّهَبُ فِي ثُلُثِ قِيمَةِ الْجَمِيعِ مَعَ الْحِجَارَةِ فَأَقَلَّ: جَازَ بَيْعُ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ بِنَوْعِهِ أَكْثَرَ مِمَّا فِيهِ وَمِثْلِهِ، وَأَقَلَّ نَقْدًا وَلَا يَجُوزُ نَسِيئَةً، فَإِنْ كَانَتْ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الثُّلُثِ لَمْ يَجُزْ أَصْلًا.

L23764 This is a grave contradiction, because exchanging unequal values is prohibited just as delay is prohibited, with no distinction between them. Therefore, if one prohibits either of them, let them prohibit the other. And if they permit one because it is dependent, let them also permit the other, since both are dependent.

وَهَذَا تَنَاقُضٌ عَظِيمٌ، لِأَنَّ التَّفَاضُلَ حَرَامٌ كَالتَّأْخِيرِ وَلَا فَرْقَ، فَإِنْ مَنَعَ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا فَلْيَمْنَعْ مِنْ الْآخَرِ - وَإِنْ أَجَازَ أَحَدَهُمَا - لِأَنَّهُ تَبَعٌ فَلْيُجِزْ الْآخَرَ أَيْضًا، لِأَنَّهُ تَبَعٌ.

L23765 Another astonishment is his specification of one-third as the limit? No rational person has ever accepted that ten ratls of silver - being a third of the value of what they comprise - could be considered insignificant, while a dirham of silver - being half the value of what it comprises - could be deemed excessive. This constitutes profoundly corrupt reasoning, unsupported by any evidence from the Qur'an, nor the Sunnah, nor any weak narration, nor any precedent from earlier scholars that we know of, nor analogy, nor opinion with valid basis, nor precautionary principle.

وَتَحْدِيدُهُ الثُّلُثَ عَجَبٌ آخَرُ؟ وَمَا عَقَلَ قَطُّ أَحَدٌ أَنَّ وَزْنَ عَشَرَةِ أَرْطَالٍ فِضَّةً تَكُونُ ثُلُثَ قِيمَةِ مَا هِيَ فِيهِ يَكُونُ قَلِيلًا، وَوَزْنَ دِرْهَمٍ فِضَّةً يَكُونُ نِصْفَ قِيمَةِ مَا هِيَ فِيهِ يَكُونُ كَثِيرًا - وَهَذَا فَاسِدٌ مِنْ الْقَوْلِ جِدًّا، وَلَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّتِهِ، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا قَوْلِ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ نَعْلَمُهُ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ، وَلَا احْتِيَاطٍ.

L23766 He also said: It is not permissible to sell anything other than what we have mentioned that contains silver or gold in any form present within it—whether little or much—such as a knife adorned with silver or gold, a saddle similarly adorned, or anything comparable. However, if the silver or gold within it—when removed—does not amount to anything significant, then there is no harm in selling it using the same form present in it (as currency), whether through immediate payment, deferred payment, or in whatever manner he chooses.

وَقَالَ أَيْضًا: لَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ غَيْرِ مَا ذَكَرْنَا يَكُونُ فِيهِ فِضَّةٌ أَوْ ذَهَبٌ بِنَوْعِ مَا فِيهِ مِنْهُمَا - قَلَّ أَوْ كَثُرَ - كَالسِّكِّينِ الْمُحَلَّاةِ بِالْفِضَّةِ أَوْ الذَّهَبِ، وَالسَّرْجُ كَذَلِكَ، وَكُلُّ شَيْءٍ كَذَلِكَ، إلَّا أَنْ يَكُونَ مَا فِيهِ مِنْ الْفِضَّةِ أَوْ الذَّهَبِ إذَا نُزِعَ لَمْ يَجْتَمِعْ مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ لَهُ بَالٌ، فَلَا بَأْسَ حِينَئِذٍ بِبَيْعِهِ بِنَوْعِ مَا فِيهِ مِنْ ذَلِكَ نَقْدًا وَبِتَأْخِيرٍ، وَكَيْفَ شَاءَ.

L23767 Abu Muhammad said: A matter of no significance is speech that comes to nothing, while a grain of gold or silver holds significance among the poor—yes, and among merchants and most people. It is not permissible according to him or to us to increase it in weighted transactions involving usury. Then his differentiation between the sword, the Quranic codex (Mus'haf), the ring, the girdle, and women's jewelry in that context—and between the saddle, bridle, spurs, knife, and other such items—is this not utterly perplexing?

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: شَيْءٌ لَهُ بَالٌ كَلَامٌ لَا يَحْصُلُ، وَحَبَّةُ ذَهَبٍ أَوْ فِضَّةٍ لَهَا بَالٌ عِنْدَ الْمَسَاكِينِ، نَعَمْ، وَعِنْدَ التُّجَّارِ، وَعِنْدَ أَكْثَرِ النَّاسِ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ عِنْدَهُ وَلَا عِنْدَنَا تَزِيدُهَا فِي الْمُوَازَنَةِ فِيمَا فِيهِ الرِّبَا، ثُمَّ تَفْرِيقُهُ بَيْنَ السَّيْفِ، وَالْمُصْحَفِ، وَالْخَاتَمِ، وَالْمِنْطَقَةِ، وَحُلِيِّ النِّسَاءِ فِي ذَلِكَ - وَبَيْنَ السَّرْجِ وَاللِّجَامِ وَالْمَهَامِيزِ، وَالسِّكِّينِ، وَغَيْرِ ذَلِكَ عَجَبٌ جِدًّا؟

L23768 If they were to say, "Is it because the taking of what we mentioned earlier is permissible?"

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لِأَنَّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلُ مُبَاحٌ اتِّخَاذُهُ؟

L23769–23771 We said: Dinars are permissible to possess; therefore, permit selling them along with other items for gold when they constitute a third of the value. If it is less—and Malik permitted exchanging unmixed dinars for dinars adulterated with copper or silver, whether the adulteration is much or little, a third, more, or less—they are to be exchanged equally.

قُلْنَا: وَالدَّنَانِيرُ مُبَاحٌ اتِّخَاذُهَا فَأَجِيزُوا بَيْعَهَا مَعَ غَيْرِهَا بِذَهَبٍ إذَا كَانَتْ ثُلُثَ الْقِيمَةِ فَأَقَلَّ - وَأَجَازَ مَالِكٌ بَدَلَ الدَّنَانِيرِ الْمَحْضَةِ بِالدَّنَانِيرِ الْمَغْشُوشَةِ بِالصُّفْرِ، أَوْ الْفِضَّةِ - كَثُرَ الْغِشُّ أَمْ قَلَّ - كَانَ الثُّلُثُ، أَوْ أَكْثَرَ أَوْ أَقَلَّ - مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ.

L23772 Similarly, he permitted substituting debased dirhams containing copper or other substances in exchange for unalloyed silver dirhams on a like-for-like basis, whether the debasement constituted a third, exceeded it, or was less.

وَكَذَلِكَ أَجَازَ بَدَلَ الدَّرَاهِمِ الْمَغْشُوشَةِ بِالصُّفْرِ وَغَيْرِهِ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ الْفِضَّةِ الْمَحْضَةِ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ - كَانَ الْغِشُّ الثُّلُثَ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ أَوْ أَقَلَّ.

L23773 He said: If this is done under the guise of sale, it is invalid. He maintains that zakah applies to adulterated coins when their total weight - including adulterants - reaches two hundred dirhams, or when the weight of dinars reaches twenty dinars, even if the actual silver or gold content within them is less than one-tenth.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ كَانَ ذَلِكَ بِاسْمِ الْبَيْعِ لَمْ يَجُزْ، وَهُوَ يَرَى فِي الْمَغْشُوشَةِ الزَّكَاةَ إذَا بَلَغَ وَزْنُهَا بِغِشِّهَا مِائَتَيْ دِرْهَمٍ، أَوْ بَلَغَ وَزْنُ الدَّنَانِيرِ عِشْرِينَ دِينَارًا، وَإِنْ كَانَتْ الْفِضَّةُ أَوْ الذَّهَبُ فِيهِمَا أَقَلَّ مِنْ الْعُشْرِ.

L23774 This is another contradiction. And if indeed its ruling follows that of pure silver in the obligation of zakah, and it was silver, then exchanging portions of it for others is permissible, because it is a single entity and silver. But if exchanging portions of it for others is impermissible because it is neither a single entity nor silver, then zakah is not obligatory in it for that reason, altogether equal.

ثُمَّ الْفَرْقُ بَيْنَ الْبَدَلِ، وَبَيْنَ الْبَيْعِ: عَجَبٌ آخَرُ مَا سَمِعْنَاهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ وَلَا نَدْرِي مِنْ أَيْنَ قَالَهُ؟ وَلَئِنْ كَانَ لِلْبَدَلِ هُنَا غَيْرُ حُكْمِ الْبَيْعِ لَيَجُوزَنَّ الدِّينَارُ بِالدِّينَارَيْنِ عَلَى الْبَدَلِ، لَا عَلَى اسْمِ الْبَيْعِ، وَهَذِهِ عَجَائِبُ كَمَا تَسْمَعُ.

L23775 Then, the distinction between exchange and sale: another marvel—we have not heard it from anyone before him, nor do we know where he derived it. For if exchange here entails a ruling different from sale, it would indeed permit exchanging one dinar for two dinars under exchange, not under the designation of sale. These are marvels, as you can see.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: كُلُّ شَيْءٍ مُحَلًّى بِفِضَّةٍ أَوْ ذَهَبٍ فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ بِنَوْعِ مَا فِيهِ مِنْ ذَلِكَ إِذَا كَانَ الثَّمَنُ أَكْثَرَ مِمَّا فِي الْمَبِيعِ مِنَ الْفِضَّةِ أَوِ الذَّهَبِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ بِمِثْلِ مَا فِيهِ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَا بِأَقَلَّ.

L23776 Abu Hanifah said: Any item adorned with silver or gold may be sold based on the type of metal it contains, provided the price is greater than the value of the silver or gold in the item. It is not permissible to sell it for an equivalent value or less of that metal.

قَالَ: وَلَا بُدَّ مِنْ قَبْضِ مَا يَقَعُ لِلْفِضَّةِ أَوْ لِلذَّهَبِ مِنَ الثَّمَنِ قَبْلَ التَّفَرُّقِ، فَكَانَ هَذَا طَرِيفًا جِدًّا، وَمُخَالِفًا لِلسُّنَّةِ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ قَبْلُ.

L23777 He said: It is necessary to physically receive the portion of the price payable in silver or gold before the parties separate. This was an entirely unprecedented ruling and contrary to the Sunnah, as we have previously mentioned.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ فِي الدَّرَاهِمِ الْمَغْشُوشَةِ: إِنْ كَانَ الثُّلُثَانِ هُوَ الصُّفْرُ، وَكَانَتِ الْفِضَّةُ الثُّلُثَ وَلَا يَقْدِرُ عَلَى تَخْلِيصِهَا، لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَدْرِي إِنْ خَلَصَتْ أَيَبْقَى الصُّفْرُ أَمْ يَحْتَرِقُ؟ فَلَا بَأْسَ بِبَيْعِهَا بِوَزْنِ جَمِيعِهَا فِضَّةً مَحْضَةً.

L23778 Abu Hanifah said regarding adulterated dirhams: If two-thirds is copper and the silver is one-third, and he is unable to purify them because he does not know whether the copper would remain or burn if purified, then there is no harm in him selling them by their total weight as pure silver.

وَبِأَكْثَرَ مِنْ وَزْنِ جَمِيعِهَا أَيْضًا، وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهَا بِمِثْلِ الْفِضَّةِ الَّتِي فِيهَا وَلَا بِأَقَلَّ مِنْهَا.

L23779 And it is also not permissible to exchange it with more than the total weight of all of it, nor is it permissible to sell it for the equivalent amount of silver contained within it or for less than that amount.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ كَانَ نِصْفُهَا صُفْرًا أَوْ نِصْفُهَا فِضَّةً؟ فَإِنْ كَانَتِ الْفِضَّةُ هِيَ الْغَالِبَةُ: جَازَ بَيْعُهَا بِوَزْنِ جَمِيعِهَا مِنَ الْفِضَّةِ الْمَحْضَةِ، وَلَا تُبَاعُ بِأَكْثَرَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ مِنَ الْفِضَّةِ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ

L23780–23782 He said: "If half of it is [made of] brass or half is [made of] silver? If silver is the predominant [element], then it is permissible." Selling it by the total weight of all its pure silver, and it must not be sold for more than that amount of silver. If neither of the two is of greater value than the other, it becomes permissible at that point to sell it for an amount equivalent to the total weight of all its pure silver—whether greater or lesser—but only after the silver in the price exceeds the silver present in the dirhams. If the parties do not know which of the two silvers is greater—whether the silver serving as the price or the silver in the dirhams—the sale is invalid.

أَحَدُهُمَا غَالِيًا لِلْآخَرِ جَازَ بَيْعُهَا حِينَئِذٍ بِمِثْلِ وَزْنِ جَمِيعِهَا فِضَّةً مَحْضَةً، وَبِأَكْثَرَ وَبِأَقَلَّ بَعْدَ أَنْ يَكُونَ فِضَّةُ الثَّمَنِ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ الْفِضَّةِ الَّتِي فِي الدَّرَاهِمِ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَدْرِ أَيُّ الْفِضَّتَيْنِ أَكْثَرُ الَّتِي هِيَ ثَمَنٌ أَمْ الَّتِي فِي الدَّرَاهِمِ؟ فَالْبَيْعُ فَاسِدٌ.

L23783 He said: If the dirhams are two-thirds (silver) and one-third copper, it is impermissible to sell them for pure silver except like for like in equal measure - neither less nor more.

قَالَ: فَإِنْ كَانَ ثُلُثَا الدَّرَاهِمِ وَثُلُثُهَا صُفْرًا لَمْ يَجُزْ أَنْ تُبَاعَ بِالْفِضَّةِ الْمَحْضَةِ إلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، لَا بِأَقَلَّ وَلَا بِأَكْثَرَ.

L23784 These are Satanic whispers; if a child were to utter them at the outset of his understanding, one would despair of his salvation, and it would be obligatory that a mule be procured for him. We seek refuge in Allah from such tribulation, for these rulings have no foundation whatsoever—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor an unsound narration, nor analogy, nor sound opinion, nor precaution, nor have I heard of anyone before this. Allah is sufficient for us, and He is the best trustee.

L23785 The wonder is that he once saw the third here as small.

وَالْعَجَبُ: أَنَّهُ مَرَّةً رَأَى الثُّلُثَ هَهُنَا قَلِيلًا.

L23786 And once he deemed a fourth (of the belly) excessive in what is uncovered from the free woman's stomach during prayer.

وَمَرَّةً رَأَى الرُّبُعَ كَثِيرًا، فِيمَا يَنْكَشِفُ مِنْ بَطْنِ الْحُرَّةِ فِي الصَّلَاةِ.

L23787 On one occasion, he deemed the measurement of the Baghli dirham [as a standard] excessive for what is exposed of a woman's thigh or posterior.

وَمَرَّةً رَأَى مِقْدَارَ الدِّرْهَمِ الْبَغْلِيِّ كَثِيرًا فِيمَا يَنْكَشِفُ مِنْ فَخِذِهَا أَوْ دُبُرِهَا.

L23788 Once he deemed the half insufficient.

وَمَرَّةً رَأَى النِّصْفَ قَلِيلًا.

L23789 And on one occasion, he ruled that three fingers' breadth from the entire head was excessive.

وَمَرَّةً رَأَى مِقْدَارَ ثَلَاثَةِ أَصَابِعَ مِنْ جَمِيعِ الرَّأْسِ كَثِيرًا.

L23790 These are irrational absurdities and arbitrary impositions in the religion of Allah Almighty, based on falsehood.

وَهَذِهِ تَخَالِيطُ لَا تُعْقَلُ، وَتَحَكُّمٌ فِي دِينِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L23791 Abu Muhammad said: It has been reported similar to our statement from groups of the Salaf, as transmitted to us through the path of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Waki', from Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah al-Shu'aythi, from Abu Qilabah, from

Anas, who said: A letter from ʻUmar ibn al-Khattab reached us while we were in the land of Persia, stating: "Do not sell swords with silver rings in exchange for dirhams."

L23792–23794 From the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Mahdī ibn Maymūn narrated from Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn Abī Yaʿqūb. Yaḥyā al-Ṭawīl related to me, on the authority of a man from Hamdān, who said: "I asked ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib..." I said: "O Commander of the Faithful, the silver coins have become stagnant for me. May I exchange them at a premium or discount?" He replied: "That is instant usurious gain." Through the chain of Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr: I, Jarīr, report from Mughīrah ibn Miqsam from his father from a man among the oil merchants, who said: "Alī ibn Abī Ṭālib stated: 'If one of you has dirhams that remain unspent, let him buy gold with them, then use the gold to purchase whatever he wishes.'"

L23795 And through the chain of Saʻīd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym narrated from Mujālid, from Al-Shaʻbī: that ʻAbdullāh ibn Masʻūd sold scrap from the treasury—debased coins and bows—for underweight dirhams. ʻUmar prohibited him from that, saying, "Burn them until the iron or copper within them is eliminated, leaving pure silver, then sell the silver by its weight."

L23796 And through the chain of Muslim ibn al-Hajjaj: Abu al-Tahir narrated to me—on the authority of Ibn Wahb—from Amr ibn al-Harith that Amir ibn Yahya al-Ma'afiri informed them from Hanash ibn Abdullah al-San'ani: "I was with Fadalah ibn Ubaid on a military expedition when a necklace containing gold, silver, and jewels came into my possession and that of my companions. I intended to purchase it, so I asked Fadalah ibn Ubaid. He replied: 'Separate its gold and place it on one scale, then place your gold on another scale. Take only like for like, for the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—commanded.'" Then he related the hadith.

L23797 From the narration of Waki‘: I am Fudayl ibn Ghazwan, from Nafi‘, who said: Ibn ‘Umar would not sell a saddle or a sword containing silver until he removed it, then sell it weight for weight. Thus, these are: ‘Umar, ‘Ali, Ibn ‘Umar, and Fadalah ibn ‘Ubayd. Among the Followers—as narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: From ‘Abd al-A‘la ibn ‘Abd al-A‘la, from Ma‘mar, from al-Zuhri—that he disliked purchasing a sword adorned with silver and would say: “Buy it with gold immediately.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا فُضَيْلُ بْنُ غَزْوَانَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ قَالَ: كَانَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ لَا يَبِيعُ سَرْجًا وَلَا سَيْفًا فِيهِ فِضَّةٌ حَتَّى يَنْزِعَهُ ثُمَّ يَبِيعَهُ وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ: فَهَؤُلَاءِ: عُمَرُ، وَعَلِيٌّ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ، وَفَضَالَةُ بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ، وَمِنَ التَّابِعِينَ: كَمَا رُوِّينَا عَنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى بْنُ عَبْدِ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَكْرَهُ أَنْ يُشْتَرَى السَّيْفُ الْمُحَلَّى بِفِضَّةٍ، وَيَقُولُ: اشْتَرِهِ بِالذَّهَبِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L23798 And via the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: I, Ismā‘īl ibn Ibrāhīm—known as Ibn ‘Ulayyah—narrate from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī that Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn deemed the purchase of an adorned sword reprehensible unless exchanged for goods.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ هُوَ ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ سِيرِينَ: كَانَ يَكْرَهُ شِرَاءَ السَّيْفِ الْمُحَلَّى إِلَّا بِعَرَضٍ.

L23799–23800 From the chain of Sa‘īd ibn Manṣūr: From Hushaym, from Yūnus, from Ibn Sīrīn, that he used to say: If the jewelry is silver, he buys it with gold; if the jewelry is gold, he buys it with silver; and if it is both gold and silver, he does not buy it with gold or silver, but buys it with merchandise.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا يُونُسُ عَنِ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَقُولُ: إِذَا كَانَتِ الْحِلْيَةُ فِضَّةً اشْتَرَاهَا بِالذَّهَبِ، وَإِنْ كَانَتِ الْحِلْيَةُ ذَهَبًا اشْتَرَاهَا بِالْفِضَّةِ، وَإِنْ كَانَتْ ذَهَبًا وَفِضَّةً فَلَا يَشْتَرِيهَا بِذَهَبٍ وَلَا فِضَّةٍ وَاشْتَرَاهَا بِعَرَضٍ.

L23801 From the chain of Sa‘īd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym reported: I [heard] from al-Shaybānī, who is Abū Isḥāq, from al-Sha‘bī, from Shurayḥ that he was presented with a golden necklace containing gemstones. Shurayḥ said: “Separate the gold from the gemstones. Sell the gold in immediate exchange and the gemstones as you wish.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا الشَّيْبَانِيُّ هُوَ أَبُو إِسْحَاقَ عَنِ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ شُرَيْحٍ أَنَّهُ أُتِيَ بِطَوْقِ ذَهَبٍ فِيهِ جَوْهَرٌ، فَقَالَ شُرَيْحٌ: أَزِيلُوا الذَّهَبَ مِنَ الْجَوْهَرِ فَبِيعُوا الذَّهَبَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَبِيعُوا الْجَوْهَرَ كَيْفَ شِئْتُمْ.

L23802 From the transmission of Waki‘: I [Waki‘] narrate via Zakariyyā ibn Abī Zā’idah from al-Sha‘bī, who said: Shuraiḥ was asked about a golden necklace containing gemstones: “Can it be sold for gold dinars?” He replied: “Remove the gemstones first, then sell the gold for gold—weight for weight.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا زَكَرِيَّا هُوَ ابْنُ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ عَنِ الشَّعْبِيِّ قَالَ: سُئِلَ شُرَيْحٌ عَنْ طَوْقِ ذَهَبٍ فِيهِ فُصُوصٌ، أَتُبَاعُ بِدَنَانِيرَ؟ قَالَ: تُنْزَعُ الْفُصُوصُ ثُمَّ يُبَاعُ الذَّهَبُ بِالذَّهَبِ وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ

L23803 And through the chain of ‘Abd al-Razzāq from Ma‘mar, who narrated from al-Zuhrī and Qatādah - Qatādah said: From Ibn Sīrīn. Then Ibn Sīrīn and وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ، وَقَتَادَةَ، قَالَ قَتَادَةُ: عَنِ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ، ثُمَّ اتَّفَقَ ابْنُ سِيرِينَ، وَالزُّهْرِيُّ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: يُكْرَهُ أَنْ يُبَاعَ الْخَاتَمُ فِيهِ فِضَّةٌ بِالْوَرِقِ.

al-Zuhrī aligned in opinion, both stating: It is reprehensible to sell a ring containing silver in exchange for silver coins.

L23804 From the path of Hammad ibn Salama, from Hammad ibn Abi Sulayman, from Ibrahim al-Nakhaʿi: he disapproved of buying gold and silver with gold. Hammad said regarding one who intends to purchase one thousand dirhams for one hundred dinars and one dirham: he prohibited this and said, "No, but purchase one thousand dirhams excluding one dirham for one hundred dinars." All that we have stated constitutes the opinion of al-Shāfiʿī, Aḥmad, and the majority of our scholars. And success is by Allah, the Exalted.

L23805 The issue of the deferred-payment sale of gold.

L23806 1489 - Issue:

L23807 If there is gold with another item besides silver—whether attached to it or compounded in it—it is permissible to sell it as it is, along with what is with it and less than it, for dirhams hand to hand. It is not permissible to sell it on credit.

L23808 Similarly, if silver is mixed with, combined into, or present within a substance other than gold, it is permissible to sell it—either with what it is mixed with or independently of it—for immediate payment in dinars (hand-to-hand). Deferred payment is not permissible.

L23809 Similarly, wheat mixed with dates, salt, or another item: it is permissible to sell it with the other item or without it for barley in a spot transaction, but it is not permissible to sell it on credit.

L23810–23811 If barley is combined with dates, salt, or other items, it is permissible to sell either (1) the barley along with those items or (2) the items alone (without barley) in exchange for wheat, provided payment is immediate, not deferred. Similarly, if dates are combined with barley, salt, or other items, it is permissible to sell either (1) the dates along with those items or (2) the items alone (without dates) in exchange for wheat, with immediate payment, not deferred.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَكْرَهُ أَنْ يُشْتَرَى ذَهَبٌ، وَفِضَّةٌ بِذَهَبٍ، وَقَالَ حَمَّادٌ: فِيمَنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ أَلْفَ دِرْهَمٍ بِمِائَةِ دِينَارٍ وَدِرْهَمٍ؟ فَمَنَعَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَقَالَ: لَا، وَلَكِنْ اشْتَرِ أَلْفَ دِرْهَمٍ غَيْرَ دِرْهَمٍ بِمِائَةِ دِينَارٍ وَكُلُّ مَا قُلْنَا فَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ وَجُمْهُورِ أَصْحَابِنَا وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

١٤٨٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

فَإِنْ كَانَ ذَهَبٌ وَشَيْءٌ آخَرُ غَيْرُ الْفِضَّةِ مَعَهُ أَوْ مُرَكَّبًا فِيهِ جَازَ بَيْعُهُ كَمَا هُوَ مَعَ مَا هُوَ مَعَهُ وَدُونَهُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَلَا يَجُوزُ نَسِيئَةً.

وَكَذَلِكَ الْفِضَّةُ مَعَهَا شَيْءٌ آخَرُ غَيْرُ الذَّهَبِ أَوْ مُرَكَّبًا فِيهَا، أَوْ هِيَ فِيهِ: جَازَ بَيْعُهَا مَعَ مَا هِيَ مَعَهُ أَوْ دُونَهُ بِالدَّنَانِيرِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ نَسِيئَةً.

وَكَذَلِكَ الْقَمْحُ مَعَهُ تَمْرٌ أَوْ مِلْحٌ أَوْ شَيْءٌ آخَرُ: فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ مَعَ الْآخَرِ أَوْ دُونَهُ بِشَعِيرٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ نَسِيئَةً.

وَكَذَلِكَ الشَّعِيرُ مَعَهُ تَمْرٌ أَوْ مِلْحٌ أَوْ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ: فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ وَمَا مَعَهُ أَوْ دُونَهُ بِقَمْحٍ نَقْدًا، لَا نَسِيئَةً وَكَذَلِكَ التَّمْرُ مَعَهُ شَعِيرٌ أَوْ مِلْحٌ أَوْ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ: فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ مَعَهُ أَوْ دُونَهُ بِقَمْحٍ نَقْدًا، لَا نَسِيئَةً.

L23812 Similarly, if salt is alongside wheat, barley, or other such items, it is permissible to sell it for dates with immediate payment, but not for deferred payment.

وَكَذَلِكَ الْمِلْحُ مَعَهُ قَمْحٌ أَوْ شَعِيرٌ أَوْ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ: فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ بِالتَّمْرِ نَقْدًا، لَا بِنَسِيئَةٍ

L23813 The proof of that is the statement of the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—: "When these categories differ, then sell as you wish, provided the exchange is hand to hand." Thus, weighing, measuring, and equivalence in type are abolished, and only cash remains. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.[16]

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: قَوْلُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «فَإِذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ هَذِهِ الْأَصْنَافُ فَبِيعُوا كَيْفَ شِئْتُمْ إِذَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ» فَسَقَطَتْ الْمُوَازَنَةُ، وَالْمُكَايَلَةُ، وَالْمُمَاثَلَةُ، وَبَقِيَ النَّقْدُ فَقَطْ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23814 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from al-Ḥajjāj ibn Arṭāh, from Jaʿfar ibn ʿAmr ibn Ḥurayth, that his father purchased from ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib a brocade garment interwoven with gold for four thousand dirhams with women. He then burned it and extracted from it the value of twenty thousand dirhams.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ أَنَا الْحَجَّاجُ بْنُ أَرْطَاةَ عَنْ جَعْفَرِ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ حُرَيْثٍ: أَنَّ أَبَاهُ اشْتَرَى مِنْ عَلِيِّ بْنِ أَبِي طَالِبٍ دِيبَاجَةً مُلْحَمَةً بِذَهَبٍ بِأَرْبَعَةِ آلَافِ دِرْهَمٍ بِنِسَاءٍ فَأَحْرَقَهَا فَأَخْرَجَ مِنْهَا قِيمَةَ عِشْرِينَ أَلْفِ دِرْهَمٍ.

L23815 Rabi'ah permitted the sale of a sword embellished with silver in exchange for gold on credit.

وَأَجَازَ رَبِيعَةُ بَيْعَ سَيْفٍ مُحَلًّى بِفِضَّةٍ بِذَهَبٍ إلَى أَجَلٍ.

L23816 Ali said: "There is no binding proof in the words of anyone apart from the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace." This is among the matters in which the Malikis and Hanafis were inconsistent: they opposed the practice of Ali and ʿAmr ibn Ḥurayth while in the presence of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: لَا حُجَّةَ فِي قَوْلِ أَحَدٍ دُونَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَهَذَا مِمَّا تَنَاقَضَ فِيهِ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ: وَالْحَنَفِيُّونَ فَخَالَفُوا عَمَلَ عَلِيٍّ وَعَمْرِو بْنِ حُرَيْثٍ بِحَضْرَةِ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -.

L23817 The issue of selling stamped and adulterated dirhams.

[مَسْأَلَةَ بَيْعِ الدَّرَاهِمِ المنقوشة والمغشوشة]

L23818 1490. Issue:

١٤٩٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23819 As for stamped dirhams and adulterated dinars: indeed, if two parties exchange adulterated dirhams wherein the adulteration is evident for adulterated dirhams wherein the adulteration is evident, this is permissible when they conclude the sale contract - stipulating that the copper in one set is exchanged for the silver in the other, and the silver in the former for the copper in the latter. This transaction is permissible and lawful (ḥalāl), whether they exchange them with disparity, equally, by uncertain quantity for a known amount, or by uncertain quantity for uncertain quantity, because exchanging copper for silver is lawful.

وَأَمَّا الدَّرَاهِمُ الْمَنْقُوشَةُ وَالدَّنَانِيرُ الْمَغْشُوشَةُ فَإِنَّهُ إنْ تَبَايَعَ اثْنَانِ دَرَاهِمَ مَغْشُوشَةً قَدْ ظَهَرَ الْغِشُّ فِيهَا بِدَرَاهِمَ مَغْشُوشَةٍ قَدْ ظَهَرَ الْغِشُّ فِيهَا: فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ إذَا تَعَاقَدَا الْبَيْعَ، عَلَى أَنَّ الصُّفْرَ الَّذِي فِي هَذِهِ بِالْفِضَّةِ الَّتِي فِي تِلْكَ، وَالْفِضَّةَ الَّتِي فِي هَذِهِ بِالصُّفْرِ الَّذِي فِي

تِلْكَ: فَهَذَا جَائِزٌ حَلَالٌ، سَوَاءٌ تَبَايَعَا ذَلِكَ مُتَفَاضِلًا، أَوْ مُتَمَاثِلًا، أَوْ جُزَافًا بِمَعْلُومٍ، أَوْ جُزَافًا بِجُزَافٍ، لِأَنَّ الصُّفْرَ بِالْفِضَّةِ حَلَالٌ.

L23820 Similarly, if two parties exchange debased dinars for debased dinars where the adulteration in both is evident in this manner, and if they exchange the gold of this one for the silver of that one and the gold of that one for the silver of this one: this is also permissible whether exchanged equally, unequally, or without precise measurement, provided immediate cash payment is made. This is because it involves gold for silver, where unequal exchange is permissible, and immediate cash payment is obligatory. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

وَكَذَلِكَ إِنْ تَبَايَعَا دَنَانِيرَ مَغْشُوشَةً بِدَنَانِيرَ مَغْشُوشَةٍ قَدْ ظَهَرَ الْغِشُّ فِي كِلَيْهِمَا عَلَى هَذِهِ الصِّفَةِ، فَإِنْ تَبَايَعَا ذَهَبَ هَذِهِ بِفِضَّةِ تِلْكَ وَذَهَبَ تِلْكَ بِفِضَّةِ هَذِهِ: فَهَذَا أَيْضًا حَلَالٌ مُتَمَاثِلًا، وَمُتَفَاضِلًا، وَجُزَافًا نَقْدًا وَلَا بُدَّ لِأَنَّهُ ذَهَبٌ بِفِضَّةٍ، فَالتَّفَاضُلُ جَائِزٌ، وَالتَّنَاقُدُ فَرْضٌ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْقَمْح بدقيقه وسويقه وخبزه وَغَيْر ذَلِكَ]

The legal issue of selling wheat as flour, roasted meal, bread, and other similar derivatives.

L23821–23822

مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23823 Issue:

وَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ الْقَمْحِ بِدَقِيقِ الْقَمْحِ وَسَوِيقِ الْقَمْحِ وَبِخُبْزِ الْقَمْحِ وَدَقِيقِ الْقَمْحِ بِدَقِيقِهِ وَبِسَوِيقِهِ وَخُبْزِهِ، وَسَوِيقِهِ بِسَوِيقِهِ وَبِخُبْزِهِ، وَخُبْزِ الْقَمْحِ بِخُبْزِ الْقَمْحِ، مُتَفَاضِلًا كُلُّ ذَلِكَ، وَمُتَمَاثِلًا، وَجُزَافًا وَالزَّيْتُونِ بِالزَّيْتِ وَالزَّيْتُونِ، وَالزَّيْتِ بِالزَّيْتِ، وَالْعِنَبِ بِالْعِنَبِ وَبِالْعَصِيرِ، وَبِخَلِّ الْعِنَبِ بِالْخَلِّ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ وَأَنْ يُسَلَّمَ كُلُّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا بَعْضُهُ فِي بَعْضٍ.

L23824 It is permissible to sell wheat for wheat flour, wheat sawīq (roasted flour), or wheat bread; wheat flour for its flour, its sawīq, or its bread; wheat sawīq for its sawīq or its bread; and wheat bread for wheat bread—whether with excess, equivalence, or by approximation without measurement. Likewise, olives may be sold for olive oil and olives; olive oil for olive oil; grapes for grapes, grape juice, or grape vinegar; and grape vinegar for vinegar—through immediate exchange, requiring reciprocal delivery of some of it in some of it at the time of transaction.

وَكَذَلِكَ دَقِيقُ الشَّعِيرِ بِالْقَمْحِ وَبِالشَّعِيرِ وَبِدَقِيقِ الشَّعِيرِ وَبِخُبْزِهِ، وَالتِّينِ بِالتِّينِ، وَالزَّبِيبِ بِالزَّبِيبِ، وَالْأُرْزِ بِالْأُرْزِ، كَيْفَ شِئْتَ مُتَفَاضِلًا، وَمُتَمَاثِلًا؛ وَيُسَلَّمُ بَعْضُهُ فِي بَعْضٍ.

L23825 Similarly, barley flour exchanged for wheat, barley, barley flour, or its bread; figs for figs, raisins for raisins, rice for rice—whether in unequal or equal amounts, as you wish—with part exchanged for part.

وَلَا رِبَا أَلْبَتَّةَ، وَلَا حَرَامَ، إِلَّا فِي الْأَصْنَافِ السِّتَّةِ الَّتِي قَدَّمْنَا وَفِي الْعِنَبِ بِالزَّبِيبِ كَيْلًا، وَيَجُوزُ وَزْنًا كَيْفَ شِئْتَ.

L23826 And there is no ribā whatsoever, nor anything ḥarām, except in the six categories we have previously mentioned and in exchanging grapes for raisins by volume. And it is permissible by weight however you wish.

L23827 Regarding an unharvested standing crop consisting of wheat measured by volume: if the crop is neither wheat nor barley, nor has it reached the ear-forming stage, then it is permissible to sell it by measured volume for barley and by measured volume for anything else except wheat.

L23828 The Malikis permitted exchanging sawiq made from wheat for wheat with a disparity in quantity.

L23829 The Hanafis permitted exchanging wheat bread for wheat with an excess in quantity, as both originate from wheat, and there is no difference.

L23830 The proof of this is what we have previously mentioned: that there is no riba (usury) or anything forbidden except what the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—explicitly stated. The Exalted said: {Allah has permitted trade and forbidden riba (usury)} [Al-Baqarah: 275].[17]

L23831 "And the Exalted said: 'Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, except that it be trade by mutual consent from you.' [An-Nisāʾ: 29]"[18]

L23832 The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) permitted salaf in a specified measure or a specified weight, to a specified term. Allah the Exalted said: {And He has elaborated in detail what He has forbidden upon you} [al-Anʿām 6:119].[19]

L23833 It has become as clear as the sun that every trade, every sale, and every salam sale in a known measure, a known weight, or to a known term is absolutely permissible, leaving no room for doubt in that, except what Allah the Exalted has explicitly prohibited to us through the verbal articulation of His Messenger (peace be upon him).

L23834–23836 We bear witness by the testimony of Allah, the Most High, and we affirm and decisively state that Allah, the Most High, has not forbidden anything to His servants. He withheld it from them, and His Messenger, peace be upon him, did not clarify it for them, and that He, the Exalted, did not leave us - concerning what He has prohibited us - to rely upon the conjectures of Abū Ḥanīfah, Mālik, al-Shāfiʿī, or others, nor upon our own conjectures, nor upon the conjecture of anyone, nor upon claims without proof.

وَمَا وَجَدْنَا عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَ مَالِكٍ الْمَنْعَ مِنْ بَيْعِ الزَّيْتُونِ بِالزَّيْتِ ثُمَّ اتَّبَعَهُ عَلَيْهِ الشَّافِعِيُّ، وَإِنْ كَانَ لَمْ يُصَرِّحْ بِهِ، وَأَجَازَهُ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ وَأَصْحَابُهُ إِذَا كَانَ الزَّيْتُ أَكْثَرَ مِمَّا فِي الزَّيْتُونِ مِنْ الزَّيْتِ وَإِلَّا فَلَا.

L23837 We did not find anyone before Mālik who prohibited the sale of olives for oil. Then al-Shāfiʿī followed him on this prohibition, though he did not explicitly state it. And Abū Ḥanīfah and his disciples permitted it if the exchanged oil exceeded the oil producible from the olives; otherwise, not.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: هِيَ مُزَابَنَةٌ؟ قُلْنَا: قُلْتُمْ الْبَاطِلَ، قَدْ فَسَّرَ الْمُزَابَنَةَ: أَبُو سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيُّ، وَجَابِرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - وَهُمْ أَعْلَمُ النَّاسِ بِاللُّغَةِ وَبِالدِّينِ فَلَمْ يَذْكُرُوا شَيْئًا مِنْ هَذِهِ الْوُجُوهِ فِيهِ أَصْلًا

L23838 If they say, “Is this Muzabana?” We reply: “You speak falsely. It is Abu Sa’id al-Khudri, Jabir ibn Abdullah, and Ibn Umar (may Allah be pleased with them all) who interpreted Muzabana - and they are the most knowledgeable of people in language and religion - yet they did not mention any of these interpretations concerning it whatsoever.”

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: قِسْنَا ذَلِكَ عَلَى الرُّطَبِ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَالزَّبِيبِ بِالْعِنَبِ كَيْلًا؟ قُلْنَا: الْقِيَاسُ كُلُّهُ بَاطِلٌ، ثُمَّ هَذِهِ مِنْهُ عَيْنُ الْبَاطِلِ، لِأَنَّ الزَّبِيبَ هُوَ عَيْنُ الْعِنَبِ نَفْسِهِ، إلَّا أَنَّهُ يَبِسَ، وَالتَّمْرُ هُوَ عَيْنُ الرُّطَبِ إلَّا أَنَّهُ يَابِسٌ وَالزَّيْتُ هُوَ شَيْءٌ آخَرُ غَيْرُ الزَّيْتُونِ لَكِنَّهُ خَارِجٌ مِنْهُ كَخُرُوجِ اللَّبَنِ مِنْ الْغَنَمِ، وَالتَّمْرِ مِنْ النَّخْلِ، وَبَيْعُ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ بِمَا يَخْرُجُ مِنْهُ: جَائِزٌ بِلَا خِلَافٍ. فَهَذَا أَصَحُّ فِي الْقِيَاسِ لَوْ صَحَّ الْقِيَاسُ يَوْمًا مَا.

L23839 If they say: “We analogize that to fresh dates to dried dates and raisins to grapes by measured quantity?” We say: “All analogy is invalid. Moreover, this case is the epitome of invalidity in analogy, for raisins are the very substance of grapes themselves—except that they have dried—and dried dates are the very substance of fresh dates except that they are desiccated. Olive oil, however, is a distinct substance separate from olives, though extracted from them—as milk is extracted from sheep or dates from palm trees. Selling any of these in exchange for what produces them is permissible without disagreement. Thus, this would be the soundest analogy—if analogy were ever valid one day.”

وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا أَقْوَالَهُمْ الْمُخْتَلِفَةَ الْمُتَنَاقِضَةَ وَكُلُّ قَوْلٍ مِنْهَا يُكَذِّبُ قَوْلَ الْآخَرِ وَيُبْطِلُهُ، وَيَشْهَدُ عَلَيْهِ بِالْخَطَأِ، كُلُّ ذَلِكَ بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ عَلَى عَظِيمِ نِعَمِهِ عَلَيْنَا كَثِيرًا، وَهَذَا قَوْلُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ وَأَصْحَابِنَا.

L23840 We have mentioned their differing and contradictory statements, each of which refutes and invalidates the other and bears witness against it to its error—all of this without any proof. And praise be to Allah, Lord of the worlds, for His immense blessings bestowed upon us abundantly. This is the view of Abū Sulaymān and our companions.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عُبَيْدَةُ بْنُ حُمَيْدٍ عَنْ مُطَرِّفٍ هُوَ ابْنُ طَرِيفٍ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ: أَنَّهُ سُئِلَ عَنْ السَّوِيقِ بِالْحِنْطَةِ؟ فَقَالَ: إنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ رِبًا فَهُوَ رِيبَةٌ.

L23841 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I [narrate] from Ubaydah ibn Humaid, from Mutarrif ibn Tarif, from Al-Sha‘bi. He was asked about sawiq (parched wheat meal) made from wheat, and he replied: “If it is not usury, then it is suspicious.”

L23842 And through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Jarir from Layth from Mujahid, who said: "There is no harm in exchanging wheat for parched grain flour, or wheat flour for wheat and parched grain flour." He did not stipulate equivalence. We have already mentioned the statements of the Companions and those after them regarding muzābanah, rendering repetition unnecessary.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا جَرِيرٌ عَنْ لَيْثٍ عَنْ مُجَاهِدٍ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِالْحِنْطَةِ بِالسَّوِيقِ، وَالدَّقِيقِ بِالْحِنْطَةِ وَالسَّوِيقِ، فَلَمْ يَشْتَرِطْ الْمُمَاثَلَةَ، وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا أَقْوَالَ الصَّحَابَةِ وَمَنْ بَعْدَهُمْ فِي الْمُزَابَنَةِ فَأَغْنَى عَنْ تَكْرَارِهِ

L23843 The issue of exchanging dirhams for dinars or vice versa.

[مَسْأَلَةُ أَخْذِ الدَّرَاهِمِ عَنْ الدَّنَانِيرِ أَوْ الدَّنَانِيرِ عَنْ الدَّرَاهِمِ]

L23844–23846 1492- Issue:

١٤٩٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23847 If someone is owed dinars, dirhams, wheat, barley, salt, dates, or other items not subject to usury—whatever the item, without exception—whether through sale, interest-free loan, salam contract, or any other means, whether immediately due or deferred, it is impermissible for them to take from the debtor anything other than what is rightfully theirs held by the debtor, at all.

وَمَنْ كَانَ لَهُ عِنْدَ آخَرَ دَنَانِيرُ، أَوْ دَرَاهِمُ، أَوْ قَمْحٌ، أَوْ شَعِيرٌ، أَوْ مِلْحٌ، أَوْ تَمْرٌ، أَوْ غَيْرُ ذَلِكَ، مِمَّا لَا يَقَعُ فِيهِ الرِّبَا أَيُّ شَيْءٍ كَانَ لَا تَحَاشَ شَيْئًا إمَّا مِنْ بَيْعٍ، إمَّا مِنْ قَرْضٍ، أَوْ مِنْ سَلَمٍ، أَوْ مِنْ أَيِّ وَجْهٍ كَانَ ذَلِكَ لَهُ عِنْدَهُ حَالًّا كَانَ أَوْ غَيْرَ حَالٍّ فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ أَنْ يَأْخُذَ مِنْهُ شَيْئًا مِنْ غَيْرِ مَالِهِ عِنْدَهُ أَصْلًا.

L23848 If one exchanges dinars for dirhams, dirhams for dinars, barley for wheat, dirhams for non-monetary commodities, or one category for another category without exception, then in transactions where usury applies, it constitutes explicit usury; and in transactions where usury does not apply, it is utterly impermissible and amounts to wrongful appropriation of wealth.

فَإِنْ أَخَذَ دَنَانِيرَ عَنْ دَرَاهِمَ، أَوْ دَرَاهِمَ عَنْ دَنَانِيرَ، أَوْ شَعِيرًا عَنْ بُرٍّ، أَوْ دَرَاهِمَ عَنْ عَرَضٍ، أَوْ نَوْعًا عَنْ نَوْعٍ لَا تَحَاشَ شَيْئًا: فَهُوَ فِيمَا يَقَعُ فِيهِ الرِّبَا رِبًا مَحْضٌ، وَفِيمَا لَا يَقَعُ فِي الرِّبَا حَرَامٌ بَحْتٌ وَأَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L23849 All of that is invalidated, perpetually rejected, and subject to the ruling of usurpation, except when one is entirely incapable of obtaining redress. In such a case, he may take what he can feasibly recover from what is lawfully owned by him, without omitting anything, equivalent to his rightful due with no excess; this is permissible for him.

وَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ مَفْسُوخٌ مَرْدُودٌ أَبَدًا مَحْكُومٌ فِيهِ بِحُكْمِ الْغَصْبِ، إلَّا أَنْ لَا يَقْدِرَ عَلَى الِانْتِصَافِ أَلْبَتَّةَ فَيَأْخُذُ مَا أَمْكَنَهُ، مِمَّا يَحِلُّ مِلْكُهُ، لَا تَحَاشَ شَيْئًا، بِمِقْدَارِ حَقِّهِ، وَلَا مَزِيدَ، فَهَذَا حَلَالٌ لَهُ.

L23850 The evidence for this is what we previously mentioned regarding the Prophet's prohibition (peace be upon him) of gold, silver, wheat, dates, barley, and salt except like for like, hand to hand. Then he (peace be upon him)

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: مَا ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلُ مِنْ تَحْرِيمِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الذَّهَبَ، وَالْفِضَّةَ، وَالْبُرَّ، وَالتَّمْرَ، وَالشَّعِيرَ، وَالْمِلْحَ إلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، ثُمَّ قَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «فَإِذَا اخْتَلَفَتْ هَذِهِ الْأَصْنَافُ فَبِيعُوا كَيْفَ شِئْتُمْ إذَا كَانَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ»

said: “If these categories differ, then sell as you wish, provided it is hand to hand.”[20]

L23851 The transaction we have described is not a hand-to-hand exchange; rather, one of the two [items] is absent, and perhaps it has not even been extracted from its mine yet. Thus, it is prohibited by the explicit wording of his statement—upon him be peace.

L23852 Moreover, we have narrated through Muslim’s transmission: Muhammad ibn Rumh reported from Al-Layth ibn Sa‘d, from Nāfi‘, that he heard Abū Sa‘īd al-Khudrī say: “My eyes saw and my ears heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saying: ’Do not sell gold for gold, nor silver for silver, except in equal measure. Do not give an excess of one over the other, and do not sell anything deferred from it for something immediate, except through immediate exchange.’”[21]

L23853–23855 From the chain of al-Bukhārī: I am Ḥafṣ ibn ‘Umar al-Ḥawḍī. I am Shu‘bah, who was informed by Ḥabīb ibn Abī Thābit. He said: I heard Abū al-Minhāl say: I asked al-Barā’ ibn ‘Āzib and Zayd ibn Arqam about exchange. Both of them said: “The Messenger of Allāh (peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him) prohibited selling gold for silver as deferred payment.” Malik, Abu Hanifah, Al-Shafi’i in one of his two opinions, and our companions held the permissibility of taking gold in exchange for silver coins and silver coins in exchange for gold. They argued for this by citing what was narrated to us through the chain of Qasim ibn Asbagh: I am Ja‘far ibn Muhammad, I heard from Affan ibn Muslim, I heard from Hammad ibn Salamah, from Simak ibn Harb, from Sa‘id ibn Jubayr, from Ibn Umar, who said: “I asked, ’O Messenger of Allah, may I sell camels for dinars and take dirhams, or sell for dirhams and take dinars, taking one in exchange for the other?’ He replied, ’There is no objection to taking them at the day’s rate.’” وَالْعَمَلُ الَّذِي وَصَفْنَا لَيْسَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، بَلْ أَحَدُهُمَا غَائِبٌ وَلَعَلَّهُ لَمْ يَخْرُجْ مِنْ مَعْدِنِهِ بَعْدُ، فَهُوَ مُحَرَّمٌ بِنَصِّ كَلَامِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -.

وَأَيْضًا: فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ رُمْحٍ أَنَا اللَّيْثُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ «أَبَا سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيَّ يَقُولُ: أَبْصَرَتْ عَيْنَايَ وَسَمِعَتْ أُذُنَايَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَقُولُ: لَا تَبِيعُوا الذَّهَبَ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَلَا تَبِيعُوا الْوَرِقَ بِالْوَرِقِ، إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَلَا تُشِفُّوا بَعْضَهُ عَلَى بَعْضٍ، وَلَا تَبِيعُوا شَيْئًا غَائِبًا مِنْهُ بِنَاجِزٍ، إِلَّا يَدًا بِيَدٍ»

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ أَنَا حَفْصُ بْنُ عُمَرَ هُوَ الْحَوْضِيُّ أَنَا شُعْبَةُ أَخْبَرَنِي حَبِيبُ بْنُ أَبِي ثَابِتٍ قَالَ: سَمِعْتُ أَبَا الْمِنْهَالِ قَالَ: سَأَلْتُ الْبَرَاءَ بْنَ عَازِبٍ، وَزَيْدَ بْنَ أَرْقَمَ، عَنْ الصَّرْفِ؟ فَكِلَاهُمَا يَقُولُ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الذَّهَبِ بِالْوَرِقِ دَيْنًا» وَذَهَبَ مَالِكٌ، وَأَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ فِي أَحَدِ قَوْلَيْهِ، وَأَصْحَابُنَا، إلَى جَوَازِ أَخْذِ الذَّهَبِ مِنْ الْوَرِقِ، وَالْوَرِقِ مِنْ الذَّهَبِ وَاحْتَجُّوا فِي ذَلِكَ: بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ قَاسِمِ بْنِ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا جَعْفَرُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ أَنَا عَفَّانُ بْنُ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا حَمَّادُ بْنُ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ سِمَاكِ بْنِ حَرْبٍ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ عَنْ «ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: قُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَبِيعُ الْإِبِلَ بِالدَّنَانِيرِ وَآخُذُ الدَّرَاهِمَ وَأَبِيعُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ وَآخُذُ الدَّنَانِيرَ، وَآخُذُ هَذِهِ مِنْ هَذِهِ؟ فَقَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ أَنْ تَأْخُذَهَا بِسِعْرِ يَوْمِهَا»

[21] Hadith references (L23852): Sahih Muslim 1584b.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ لَا حُجَّةٌ فِيهِ، لِوُجُوهٍ: أَحَدُهَا - أَنَّ سِمَاكَ بْنَ حَرْبٍ ضَعِيفٌ يَقْبَلُ التَّلْقِينَ شَهِدَ عَلَيْهِ بِذَلِكَ شُعْبَةُ وَأَنَّهُ كَانَ يَقُولُ لَهُ: حَدَّثَكَ فُلَانٌ عَنْ فُلَانٍ؟ فَيَقُولُ: نَعَمْ، فِيمَ سُئِلَ عَنْهُ.

L23856 Abū Muḥammad said: This is a report that constitutes no legal proof, for several reasons. The first is that Simāk ibn Ḥarb is weak and susceptible to coaching, as Shuʿbah observed regarding him – for he would ask him: "Did so-and-so narrate to you from so-and-so?" and he would respond "Yes" concerning whatever he was asked about.

وَثَانِيهَا - أَنَّهُ قَدْ جَاءَ هَذَا الْخَبَرُ بِهَذَا السَّنَدِ بِبَيَانٍ غَيْرِ مَا ذَكَرُوا كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا قُتَيْبَةُ أَنَا أَبُو الْأَحْوَصِ عَنْ سِمَاكِ بْنِ حَرْبٍ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ عَنْ «ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: كُنْتُ أَبِيعُ الذَّهَبَ بِالْفِضَّةِ أَوْ الْفِضَّةَ بِالذَّهَبِ، فَأَتَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَأَخْبَرْتُهُ بِذَلِكَ؟ فَقَالَ: إذَا بَايَعْت صَاحِبَك فَلَا تُفَارِقْهُ وَبَيْنَك وَبَيْنَهُ لَبْسٌ» وَهَذَا مَعْنًى صَحِيحٌ، وَهُوَ كُلُّهُ خَبَرٌ وَاحِدٌ.

L23857 The second point is that this report has come through this chain with an explanation differing from what they mentioned, as we were narrated through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: Qutaybah from Abū al-Aḥwaṣ from Simāk ibn Ḥarb from Saʿīd ibn Jubayr from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: "I used to sell gold for silver or silver for gold. I came to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and informed him of this. He said: 'When you transact with your counterparty, do not part from him while ambiguity exists between you.'" This meaning is sound, and it is entirely a single report.[22]

وَثَالِثُهَا - أَنَّهُ لَوْ صَحَّ لَهُمْ كَمَا يُرِيدُونَ لَكَانُوا مُخَالِفِينَ لَهُ؛ لِأَنَّ فِيهِ اشْتِرَاطَ أَخْذِهَا بِسِعْرِ يَوْمِهَا، وَهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ أَخْذَهَا بِغَيْرِ سِعْرِ يَوْمِهَا، فَقَدْ اطَّرَحُوا مَا يَحْتَجُّونَ بِهِ.

L23858 The third point is that if the ruling were valid for them as they intend, they would contradict it, for their own reasoning stipulates taking it at the day's price, yet they permit taking it at a different price. Thus, they have discarded the very argument they cite.

وَمِمَّا يُبْطِلُ قَوْلَهُمْ هَهُنَا أَنَّهُ قَدْ صَحَّ النَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ، وَهَذَا أَعْظَمُ مَا يَكُونُ مِنْ الْغَرَرِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ لَا يَدْرِي أَخُلِقَ بَعْدُ أَمْ لَمْ يُخْلَقْ؟ وَلَا أَيُّ شَيْءٍ هُوَ؟ وَالْبَيْعُ لَا يَجُوزُ إلَّا فِي عَيْنٍ مُعَيَّنَةٍ بِمِثْلِهَا، وَإِلَّا فَهُوَ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَأَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَالسَّلَمُ لَا يَجُوزُ إلَّا إلَى أَجَلٍ: فَبَطَلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ هَذَا الْعَمَلُ بَيْعًا أَوْ سَلَمًا فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L23859 Among what invalidates their statement here is that the prohibition against selling gharar has been authentically established. This represents the most extreme form of gharar, for it involves selling something whose creation is uncertain - whether it has been created yet or not - and whose nature is unknown. A sale is permissible only for a specified item of equivalent value; otherwise it constitutes a sale of gharar and unjust seizure of wealth. Salam is valid only with a specified term. Thus this transaction is invalidated as being a sale or salam - it is purely unjust appropriation of wealth.

وَأَيْضًا فَإِنَّ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ إنَّمَا جَاءَ فِي الْبَيْعِ، فَمِنْ أَيْنَ أَجَازُوهُ فِي الْقَرْضِ؟ وَقَدْ فَرَّقَ بَعْضُ الْقَائِلِينَ بِهِ بَيْنَ الْقَرْضِ فِي الْبَيْعِ فِي ذَلِكَ وَاحْتَجُّوا مِنْ فِعْلِ السَّلَفِ فِي ذَلِكَ: بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا إسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ أَبِي خَالِدٍ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ عَنْ سَعِيدٍ مَوْلَى الْحَسَنِ، قَالَ: أَتَيْت ابْنَ عُمَرَ أَتَقَاضَاهُ؟ فَقَالَ لِي: إذَا خَرَجَ خَازِنُنَا أَعْطَيْنَاك، فَلَمَّا خَرَجَ بَعَثَهُ مَعِي

L23860–23862 Furthermore, this narration specifically pertains to sale, so how did they permit it in loan? Moreover, some proponents of this view have distinguished between a loan within the context of sale on that matter, citing as evidence the practice of the early predecessors in... That is due to what we have narrated through the chain of Waki': From Ismāʿīl ibn Abī Khālid, from al-

[22] Hadith references (L23857): Sunan an-Nasai 4583.

Sha‘bī, from Sa‘īd—the client of al-Hasan—who said: “I came to Ibn ‘Umar to demand payment from him. He told me: ’When our treasurer emerges, we will give you.’ When he emerged, he sent him with me to the market and said: ’If a price is established, then if he wishes to take them at their value, he takes them.’” And through the chain of al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl: From Abū ‘Awānah, from Ismā‘īl al-Suddī, from ‘Abdullāh al-Bahī, from Yasār ibn Numayr, who said: “A man owed me silver dirhams and offered me gold dinars. I said: ’I will not take them until I ask ‘Umar.’ When I asked him, he replied: ’Take them to the money-changers and present them. If they are appraised at a set rate, you may take them if you wish, or take the equivalent in your silver dirhams.’” The permissibility of this has been established as valid from al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, al-Ḥakam, Ḥammād, Sa‘īd ibn Jubayr (with differing accounts from him), Ṭāwūs, al-Zuhrī, Qatādah, and al-Qāsim ibn Muḥammad. Differing opinions are recorded from Ibrāhīm and ‘Aṭā’ regarding this matter.

إِلَى السُّوقِ وَقَالَ: إِذَا قَامَتْ عَلَى ثَمَنٍ فَإِنْ شَاءَ أَخَذَهَا بِقِيمَتِهَا أَخَذَهَا: وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا أَبُو عَوَانَةَ أَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ السُّدِّيُّ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ الْبَهِيِّ عَنْ يَسَارِ بْنِ نُمَيْرٍ قَالَ: كَانَ لِي عَلَى رَجُلٍ دَرَاهِمُ فَعَرَضَ عَلَيَّ دَنَانِيرَ فَقُلْت: لَا آخُذُهَا حَتَّى أَسْأَلَ عُمَرَ فَسَأَلْته؟ فَقَالَ: ائْتِ بِهَا الصَّيَارِفَةَ فَأَعْرِضْهَا، فَإِذَا قَامَتْ عَلَى سِعْرٍ، فَإِنْ شِئْت فَخُذْهَا، وَإِنْ شِئْت فَخُذْ مِثْلَ دَرَاهِمِك وَصَحَّتْ إبَاحَةُ ذَلِكَ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ الْبَصْرِيِّ وَالْحَكَمِ وَحَمَّادٍ، وَسَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ بِاخْتِلَافٍ عَنْهُ، وَطَاوُسٍ وَالزُّهْرِيِّ، وَقَتَادَةَ، وَالْقَاسِمِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ وَاخْتُلِفَ فِيهِ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ، وَعَطَاءٍ

L23863 Abu Muhammad said: It has been reported to us that a group of the Salaf prohibited this. It was narrated via Malik’s transmission from Nāfi‘, from Ibn ‘Umar, who said: ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb said, “Do not sell gold for silver currency where one [item] is deferred and the other is immediate.” This is authentic.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَرُوِّينَا الْمَنْعَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ عَنْ طَائِفَةٍ مِنْ السَّلَفِ: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: إنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ قَالَ: لَا تَبِيعُوا الذَّهَبَ بِالْوَرِقِ أَحَدُهُمَا غَائِبٌ وَالْآخَرُ نَاجِزٌ هَذَا صَحِيحٌ.

L23864 Narrated through the chain of Waki‘ from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Awf from Ibn Sīrīn from ‘Abdullāh ibn Mas‘ūd that he deemed it reprehensible to demand repayment of gold with silver coins or silver coins with gold.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يَكْرَهُ اقْتِضَاءَ الذَّهَبِ مِنْ الْوَرِقِ، وَالْوَرِقِ مِنْ الذَّهَبِ.

L23865 From the chain of Sa’id ibn Mansur: Hushaym al-Shaybani - he is Abu Ishaq - narrated from ’Ikrimah, from Ibn Abbas: that he disapproved of demanding gold [in exchange] for silver [for gold], and this is authentic.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا الشَّيْبَانِيُّ هُوَ أَبُو إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ: أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ اقْتِضَاءَ الذَّهَبِ مِنْ الْوَرِقِ مِنْ الذَّهَبِ وَهَذَا صَحِيحٌ.

L23866 And via the chain of Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah from Sa‘d ibn Kidām, who said: Ma‘n ibn ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn ‘Abd Allāh ibn Mas‘ūd swore to me that he found in his father’s book, written in his own handwriting, that ‘Abd Allāh ibn Mas‘ūd said: “Allah forbid that we take dirhams in exchange for dinars or dinars in exchange for dirhams.”

L23867 From the chain of Abd al-Razzaq: Sufyan ibn Uyaynah narrated from Amr ibn Dinar, who was informed by Abu al-Minhal Abd al-Rahman ibn Mut'im that Abdullah ibn Umar said to him: "The Commander of the Believers"—meaning his father—"forbade us from selling debt for cash," and this narration is of the highest authenticity.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ دِينَارٍ أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الْمِنْهَالِ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ مُطْعِمٍ أَنَّ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ قَالَ لَهُ: نَهَانَا أَمِيرُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ يَعْنِي أَبَاهُ أَنْ نَبِيعَ الدَّيْنَ بِالْعَيْنِ وَهَذَا فِي غَايَةِ الصِّحَّةِ.

L23868–23869 From the narration of Ḥammād ibn Zayd: Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī narrated to me from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, that Zaynab—the wife of Ibn Masʿūd—sold her enslaved woman either for gold or silver. The other currency type was then offered to her. ʿUmar was asked about this, and he said: "She must take the type by which she conducted the sale."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ أَنَا أَيُّوبُ السِّخْتِيَانِيُّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ: أَنَّ زَيْنَبَ امْرَأَةَ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ بَاعَتْ جَارِيَةً لَهَا إِمَّا بِذَهَبٍ وَإِمَّا بِفِضَّةٍ فَعُرِضَ عَلَيْهَا النَّوْعُ الْآخَرُ فَسُئِلَ عُمَرُ؟ فَقَالَ: لِتَأْخُذْ النَّوْعَ الَّذِي بَاعَتْ بِهِ.

L23870 Through the chain of Sa'id ibn Mansur: I am Khalid ibn Abdullah—who is At-Tahhan—from Ash-Shaybani—who is Abu Ishaq—from Muhammad ibn Zayd—from Ibn Umar concerning one who sells food for dirhams: "May he take food in exchange for dirhams?" He said: "No, until one takes possession of their dirhams." Ibn Umar did not say anything regarding the permissibility of that in non-food matters.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا خَالِدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ هُوَ الطَّحَّانُ عَنْ الشَّيْبَانِيِّ هُوَ أَبُو إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فِيمَنْ بَاعَ طَعَامًا بِدَرَاهِمَ، أَيَأْخُذُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ طَعَامًا؟ فَقَالَ: لَا، حَتَّى تَقْبِضَ دَرَاهِمَك وَلَمْ يَقُلْ ابْنُ عُمَرَ بِإِبَاحَةِ ذَلِكَ فِي غَيْرِ الطَّعَامِ.

L23871 From the path of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Ali ibn Mushir narrated from Abu Ishaq al-Shaybani, from Muhammad ibn Zayd, from Ibn Umar - regarding one who lent dirhams: "May he take food in exchange for their price?" He disapproved of it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَلِيُّ بْنُ مُسْهِرٍ عَنْ أَبِي إِسْحَاقَ الشَّيْبَانِيِّ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فِيمَنْ أَقْرَضَ دَرَاهِمَ أَيَأْخُذُ بِثَمَنِهَا طَعَامًا؟ فَكَرِهَهُ

L23872 And from the chain of Muḥammad ibn al-Muthannā: I [narrate] from Mu'ammal ibn Ismāʿīl, I [narrate] from Sufyān al-Thawrī, from al-Zubayr ibn ʿAdiyy, from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī that he disapproved of claiming dinars for dirhams or dirhams for dinars. And from the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: I [narrate] from Muḥammad ibn Bashshār, I [narrate] from Wakīʿ, I [narrate] from Mūsā ibn Nāfiʿ, from Saʿīd ibn Jubayr that he disapproved of accepting dinars for dirhams or dirhams for dinars.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْمُثَنَّى أَنَا مُؤَمَّلُ بْنُ إِسْمَاعِيلَ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ الزُّبَيْرِ بْنِ عَدِيٍّ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ اقْتِضَاءَ الدَّنَانِيرِ مِنْ الدَّرَاهِمِ، وَالدَّرَاهِمِ مِنْ الدَّنَانِيرِ، وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ بَشَّارٍ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ أَنَا مُوسَى بْنُ نَافِعٍ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ أَنْ يَأْخُذَ الدَّنَانِيرَ مِنْ الدَّرَاهِمِ وَالدَّرَاهِمَ مِنْ الدَّنَانِيرِ

L23873 And through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I [narrate] from Ibn 'Ulayyah from Yunus—the son of 'Ubayd—from Anas Ibn Sirin, who said: Abu 'Ubaydah Ibn 'Abdullah Ibn Mas'ud said to me: "Do not take gold dinars in exchange for a debt owed to you in silver dirhams, nor take silver dirhams in exchange for a debt owed in gold dinars."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا ابْنِ عُلَيَّةَ عَنْ يُونُسَ وَهُوَ ابْنُ عُبَيْدٍ عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ، قَالَ: قَالَ لِي أَبُو عُبَيْدَةَ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ: لَا تَأْخُذْ الذَّهَبَ مِنْ الْوَرِقِ يَكُونُ لَك عَلَى الرَّجُلِ وَلَا تَأْخُذَنَّ الْوَرِقَ مِنْ الذَّهَبِ

L23874 And through the report of Ibn Abī Shaybah: From Wakīʿ ibn ʿAlī ibn al-Mubārak, from Yaḥyā (Ibn Abī Kathīr), from Abū Salamah (Ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn ʿAwf) that he disliked that there be for you a loan of dirhams to another, from which you take repayment in dinars.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعُ بْنُ عَلِيِّ بْنِ الْمُبَارَكِ عَنْ يَحْيَى هُوَ ابْنُ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ عَنْ أَبِي سَلَمَةَ هُوَ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَك عِنْدَ آخَرَ قَرْضُ دَرَاهِمُ فَتَأْخُذَ مِنْهُ دَنَانِيرَ.

L23875–23877 Via Ibn Abī Shaybah's transmission: I [received from] ʿAbd al-Aʿlā ibn ʿAbd al-Aʿlā, who reported from Hishām ibn Ḥassān, from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, regarding one who was owed dirhams by another. If he took some of them and then sought to take dinars equal to their value, [Ibn Sīrīn] disapproved of it. From the transmission of Ibn Abi Shaybah: I am Marwan ibn Mu'awiyah al-Fazari reporting from Musa ibn Ubaydah. Ata, the freedman of Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz, informed me that he purchased a she-camel from Burd, the client of Said ibn al-Musayyib, for four dinars. Burd came to claim his due. I said: "I have dirhams with me, but no dinars." He responded: "I must seek Said ibn al-Musayyib's instruction," so he sought his counsel. Said told him: "Take tangible dinars from him in physical form. If he refuses, his appointment is with Allah - leave him."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى بْنُ عَبْدِ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ حَسَّانَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ فِيمَنْ كَانَتْ لَهُ عَلَى آخَرَ دَرَاهِمُ فَأَخَذَ مِنْهَا ثُمَّ أَرَادَ أَنْ يَأْخُذَ بِقِيمَتِهَا دَنَانِيرَ فَكَرِهَهُ وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا مَرْوَانُ بْنُ مُعَاوِيَةَ هُوَ الْفَزَارِيّ عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ عُبَيْدَةَ أَخْبَرَنِي عَطَاءٌ مَوْلَى عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ أَنَّهُ ابْتَاعَ مِنْ بُرْدٍ مَوْلَى سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيَّبِ نَاقَةً بِأَرْبَعَةِ دَنَانِيرَ فَجَاءَ يَلْتَمِسُ حَقَّهُ؟ فَقُلْت: عِنْدِي دَرَاهِمُ لَيْسَ عِنْدِي دَنَانِيرُ؟ فَقَالَ: حَتَّى أَسْتَأْمِرَ سَعِيدَ بْنَ الْمُسَيَّبِ فَاسْتَأْمَرَهُ؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ سَعِيدٌ: خُذْ مِنْهُ دَنَانِيرَ عَيْنًا، فَإِنْ أَبَى فَمَوْعِدُهُ اللَّهُ، دَعْهُ.

L23878 Via the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd al-Qaṭṭān narrated from Ibn Ḥarmalah, who said: "I sold camels for dirhams payable by harvest time. When the payment became due, they settled with wheat, barley, and hulled barley. I asked Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib, and he replied: 'This is invalid. Do not take anything except the dirhams.'"

L23879 These are: Umar, Ibn Abbas, Ibn Mas'ud, Ibn Umar, and Al-Nakha'ī.

فَهَؤُلَاءِ: عُمَرُ، وَابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ، وَابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ، وَابْنُ عُمَرَ، وَالنَّخَعِيُّ

L23880 Sa'id ibn Jubayr, Abu 'Ubaydah ibn 'Abdullah ibn Mas'ud, Abu Salamah ibn 'Abd al-Rahman, Ibn Sirin, and Ibn al-Musayyib.

وَسَعِيدُ بْنُ جُبَيْرٍ، وَأَبُو عُبَيْدَةَ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ، وَأَبُو سَلَمَةَ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ وَابْنُ سِيرِينَ، وَابْنُ الْمُسَيِّبِ

وَهَذَا مِمَّا تَرَكُوا فِيهِ الْقُرْآنَ فِي تَحْرِيمِهِ أَكْلَ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ لِخَبَرٍ سَاقِطٍ مُضْطَرِبٍ وَقَوْلُنَا هُوَ أَحَدُ قَوْلَيْ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَقَوْلُ ابْنِ شُبْرُمَةَ

L23881 This is among the matters in which they abandoned the Quran in its prohibition of consuming wealth unjustly due to a weak and inconsistent hadith. Our opinion is one of the two opinions of Al-Shāfiʿī and is the opinion of Ibn Shubrumah.

وَأَمَّا إذَا لَمْ يَقْدِرْ عَلَى الِانْتِصَافِ فَقَدْ قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَجَزَاءُ سَيِّئَةٍ سَيِّئَةٌ مِثْلُهَا} [الشورى: ٤٠]

L23882 And as for when one is unable to seek redress, the Exalted has said: "And the recompense for an evil deed is an evil deed equivalent to it" [al-Shūrā 40].[23]

قَالَ تَعَالَى: {فَمَنِ اعْتَدَى عَلَيْكُمْ فَاعْتَدُوا عَلَيْهِ بِمِثْلِ مَا اعْتَدَى عَلَيْكُمْ} [البقرة: ١٩٤]

L23883 Allah, the Most High, said: "So whoever transgresses against you, respond to him in the same measure as he has transgressed against you." [Al-Baqarah: 194][24]

فَهَذَا عُمُومٌ لِكُلِّ مَا أَمْكَنَ الْمَمْنُوعُ حَقُّهُ أَنْ يَنْتَصِفَ بِهِ، أَوْ بِأَنْ يُوَكِّلَ غَرِيمَهُ عَلَى بَيْعِ مَالِهِ عِنْدَهُ، وَبِأَنْ يَبْتَاعَ لَهُ مَا يُرِيدُ: فَهَذَا جَائِزٌ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L23884 This is a general principle applicable to every situation where one denied his right can either obtain his due through it, appoint his creditor as an agent to sell the debtor's assets in their possession, or have the debtor purchase for the creditor what he requires. All this is permissible, and success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع دقيق الْقَمْح]

The Jurisprudential Matter of the Sale of Wheat Flour

١٤٩٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23885

1493 - Question:

وَاسْتَدْرَكْنَا مُنَاقَضَاتٍ لَهُمْ يُعَارِضُونَ بِهَا أَنْ شَنَّعُوا عَلَيْنَا بِبَيْعِ الْقَمْحِ بِدَقِيقِهِ وَدَقِيقِ غَيْرِهِ مُتَفَاضِلًا، وَتَسْلِيمِ أَحَدِهِمَا فِي الْآخَرِ، وَكَذَلِكَ دَقِيقِ الْقَمْحِ بِدَقِيقِ الْقَمْحِ، وَبِالْخُبْزِ وَالزَّيْتِ بِالزَّيْتُونِ وَبِالزَّيْتِ، وَاللَّبَنِ بِاللَّبَنِ، وَبِالْجُبْنِ وَالسَّمْنِ وَكُلِّ شَيْءٍ، مَا عَدَا مَا وَرَدَ بِهِ النَّصُّ مِنْ السُّنَّةِ.

L23886

L23887 We have identified contradictions in their arguments which they use to oppose us, such as their condemnation of our sale of wheat for its flour and the flour of another [grain] with an excess, and the delivery of one of them within the other, and similarly wheat flour for wheat flour, bread for olives, oil for oil, milk for milk, cheese for cheese, ghee for ghee, and everything else, except what has been explicitly stipulated by the explicit textual evidence from the Sunnah.

[23] Qur'an references (L23882): Qur'an 42:40 (Ash-Shuraa).
[24] Qur'an references (L23883): Qur'an 2:194 (Al-Baqarah).

وَلَا شُنْعَةَ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ، لِأَنَّنَا لَمْ نَتَعَدَّ حُدُودَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، وَلَا حَرَّمْنَا مَا لَمْ يُحَرِّمْهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى وَلَا رَسُولُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، وَإِنَّمَا الشَّنِيعُ فِيمَا نَذْكُرُهُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: قَالَ مَالِكٌ: يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ الدَّقِيقِ مِنْ الْقَمْحِ بِالْقَمْحِ كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، قَالَ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ دَقِيقِ الْقَمْحِ بِدَقِيقِ الْقَمْحِ كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ، لَكِنْ وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ.

L23888–23890 There is no reprehensibility in any of it, for we have not transgressed the bounds of Allah the Exalted, nor have we prohibited what Allah the Exalted has not prohibited nor His Messenger—peace be upon him—has prohibited. Rather, the reprehensible lies in what we will mention, if Allah the Exalted wills. Malik said: It is permissible to sell wheat-derived flour for wheat as measure for measure, like for like, hand to hand. He said: However, wheat-derived flour may not be exchanged for wheat-derived flour as measure for measure, but rather as weight for weight, like for like.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ فَإِنْ كَانَ دَقِيقُ الْقَمْحِ نَوْعًا وَاحِدًا مَعَ الْقَمْحِ؟ فَمَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يَبِيعَ دَقِيقَ قَمْحٍ بِدَقِيقِ قَمْحٍ إِلَّا كَيْلًا بِكَيْلٍ كَمَا يَبِيعُ الدَّقِيقَ بِالْقَمْحِ، لِأَنَّهُمَا قَمْحٌ مَعًا وَإِنْ كَانَ دَقِيقُ الْقَمْحِ صِنْفًا غَيْرَ الْقَمْحِ، فَوَاجِبٌ أَنْ يُجِيزَهُ بِالْقَمْحِ مُتَفَاضِلًا، وَأَجَازَ الْقَمْحَ بِسَوِيقِ الْقَمْحِ مُتَفَاضِلًا؟ فَأَيُّ فَرْقٍ بَيْنَ دَقِيقِ قَمْحٍ وَبَيْنَ سَوِيقِ قَمْحٍ بِقَمْحٍ؟ وَأَعْجَبُ مِنْ هَذَا احْتِجَاجُهُمْ فِي ذَلِكَ: بِأَنَّ السَّوِيقَ دَخَلَتْهُ صَنْعَةٌ؟ فَقُلْنَا: فَكَانَ مَاذَا؟ وَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَقَعَ لَكُمْ الْفَرْقُ بِأَنَّهُ دَخَلَتْهُ صَنْعَةٌ؟ نَعَمْ، وَالدَّقِيقُ أَيْضًا دَخَلَتْهُ، صَنْعَةٌ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L23891 Ali said: If wheat flour is considered the same type as wheat itself, it becomes impermissible to sell wheat flour for wheat flour except through equal measure for equal measure - just as selling flour for wheat, since both are fundamentally wheat. But if wheat flour is deemed a distinct category from wheat, it would logically require permitting its exchange for wheat with quantity disparity. Yet they permit wheat to be exchanged for parched wheat flour with disparity? What difference exists between wheat flour and parched wheat flour when traded for wheat? More astonishing still is their argument in this matter: that parched flour involves processing. We countered: What consequence does this have? From what basis have you established this distinction by claiming it underwent processing? Indeed, flour too has undergone processing, with no difference whatsoever.

وَقَالُوا أَيْضًا: إنَّمَا يُرَاعَى تَقَارُبُ الْمَنَافِعِ؟ فَقُلْنَا: وَهَذَا أَيْضًا مِنْ أَيْنَ وَقَعَ لَكُمْ؟ وَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَجَبَ لَكُمْ أَنْ تُرَاعُوا تَقَارُبَ الْمَنَافِعِ؟ وَهَلْ هِيَ إلَّا دَعْوَى بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ؟ وَقَوْلٌ لَمْ تُسْبَقُوا إلَيْهِ، وَتَعْلِيلٌ فَاسِدٌ.

L23892 They also said: “Is only the proximity of benefits to be considered?” We replied: “And this too—from where did this arise for you? From where were you obligated to consider the proximity of benefits? Is it anything but a claim without evidence—a statement none preceded you in, a flawed rationale?”

وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّ الْمَنَافِعَ فِي جَمِيعِ الْمَأْكُولَاتِ وَاحِدَةٌ لَسْنَا نَقُولُ: مُتَقَارِبَةً، بَلْ شَيْءٌ وَاحِدٌ، وَهُوَ طَرْدُ الْجُوعِ، أَوْ التَّأَدُّمِ، أَوْ التَّفَكُّهُ، أَوْ التَّدَاوِي، وَلَا مَزِيدَ.

L23893 Moreover, the benefits in all foods are one—we do not say similar, but one and the same: to repel hunger, season food, delight the palate, or treat illness, and nothing more.

وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ الْحِنْطَةِ الْمَبْلُولَةِ بِالْيَابِسَةِ، وَأَجَازُوا الْحِنْطَةَ الْمَقْلِيَّةَ بِالْيَابِسَةِ وَكِلْتَاهُمَا مُخْتَلِفَةٌ مَعَ الْأُخْرَى.

L23894 They prohibited wheat moistened with the dry substance but permitted wheat fried with dry ingredients, and these two methods are distinct from one another.

L23895 They prohibited [using] flour in the dough once it had undergone processing.

وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ الدَّقِيقِ بِالْعَجِينِ وَقَدْ دَخَلَتْ الْعَجِينَ صَنْعَةٌ.

L23896 They permitted exchanging wheat for bread made from wheat with a disparity in quality.

وَأَبَاحُوا الْقَمْحَ بِالْخُبْزِ مِنْ الْقَمْحِ مُتَفَاضِلًا.

L23897 They prohibited the exchange of milk for butter entirely. Yes, and they prohibited the exchange of milk for cheese. Is cheese from milk not akin to bread from wheat? They also prohibited exchanging the milk of a sheep for a lactating sheep, except when there is no milk presently in its udder, as it has been depleted by milking.

وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ اللَّبَنِ بِالسَّمْنِ جُمْلَةً؟ نَعَمْ، وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ اللَّبَنِ بِالْجُبْنِ وَهَلْ الْجُبْنُ مِنْ اللَّبَنِ إلَّا كَالْخُبْزِ مِنْ الْقَمْحِ؟ وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ لَبَنِ شَاةٍ بِشَاةٍ لَبُونٍ، إلَّا أَنَّهُ لَا لَبَنَ الْآنَ فِي ضَرْعِهَا؛ لِأَنَّهُ قَدْ اُسْتُنْفِذَ بِالْحَلْبِ.

L23898 The jurists permitted selling date palms in exchange for dates on the condition that there are no dates within them.

وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ النَّخْلِ بِالتَّمْرِ إذَا كَانَتْ لَا تَمْرَ فِيهَا.

L23899 They argued that milk comes from the sheep's udder and that clarified butter is made from milk? So we said: Dates come from the date palm and bread is made from wheat.

وَاحْتَجُّوا بِأَنَّ اللَّبَنَ يَخْرُجُ مِنْ ضَرْعِ الشَّاةِ، وَأَنَّ السَّمْنَ يُعْمَلُ مِنْ اللَّبَنِ؟ فَقُلْنَا: وَالتَّمْرُ يَخْرُجُ مِنْ النَّخْلِ، وَالْخُبْزُ يُعْمَلُ مِنْ الْقَمْحِ.

L23900–23901 They prohibited exchanging grapes for juice but permitted it for vinegar. These are astonishing matters without parallel. If we were to examine them exhaustively, the matter would exceed manageable scope. What we have mentioned suffices, and all of it—as we mentioned—is not known from anyone before Mālik. Likewise, the prohibition against exchanging oil for olives in an immediate exchange, whether unequal or equal, is not recorded from anyone before Mālik.

وَمَنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ الْعِنَبِ بِالْعَصِيرِ، وَأَجَازُوهُ بِالْخَلِّ وَهَذِهِ عَجَائِبُ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهَا، لَوْ تَقَصَّيْنَاهَا لَا تَسَعُ الْأَمْرَ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَفِيمَا ذَكَرْنَاهُ كِفَايَةٌ، وَهُوَ كُلُّهُ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا لَا يُعْرَفُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَ مَالِكٍ، وَكَذَلِكَ لَا يُحْفَظُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَ مَالِكٍ الْمَنْعَ مِنْ بَيْعِ الزَّيْتِ بِالزَّيْتُونِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ مُتَفَاضِلًا وَمُتَمَاثِلًا.

L23902 As for the Ḥanafīs, they explicitly permitted the usury stipulated in revealed texts without reservation, legitimizing the sale of one date for two dates, while forbidding the sale of a ratl of rough black linen suitable only for caulking ships in return for a ratl of Egyptian white linen smooth as silk.

وَأَمَّا الْحَنَفِيُّونَ: فَإِنَّهُمْ أَبَاحُوا الرِّبَا الْمَنْصُوصَ عَلَيْهِ جِهَارًا فَأَحَلُّوا بَيْعَ تَمْرَةٍ بِتَمْرَتَيْنِ، وَحَرَّمُوا بَيْعَ رِطْلِ كَتَّانٍ أَسْوَدَ أَخْرَشَ لَا يَصْلُحُ إلَّا لِقُلْفَةِ الْمَرَاكِبِ بِرِطْلِ كَتَّانٍ أَبْيَضَ مِصْرِيٍّ أَمْلَسَ كَالْحَرِيرِ

L23903 Similarly, they prohibited the sale of a ratl of fine spinnable cotton for a ratl of coarse cotton not suitable except for stuffing, and they said: All cotton is a single category, and all linen is a single category.

وَكَذَلِكَ حَرَّمُوا بَيْعَ رِطْلِ قُطْنٍ طَيِّبٍ غَزْلِيٍّ بِرِطْلِ قُطْنٍ خَشِنٍ لَا يَصْلُحُ إلَّا لِلْحَشْوِ، وَقَالُوا: الْقُطْنُ كُلُّهُ صِنْفٌ وَاحِدٌ، وَالْكَتَّانُ كُلُّهُ صِنْفٌ وَاحِدٌ.

L23904 They said: As for garments made from cotton, they are of different types; unequal exchange and credit sales are permissible when exchanging some types for others. They permitted the sale of one Mervi cotton garment from Khurasan for two Mervi cotton garments from Baghdad, whether in immediate payment or credit. They said: As for cotton yarn, in all such cases it constitutes a single type, in which neither unequal exchange nor credit sales are permissible.

قَالُوا: وَأَمَّا الثِّيَابُ الْمَعْمُولَةُ مِنْ الْقُطْنِ فَأَصْنَافٌ مُخْتَلِفَةٌ يَجُوزُ فِي بَعْضِهَا بِبَعْضٍ التَّفَاضُلُ وَالنَّسِيئَةُ فَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ ثَوْبِ قُطْنٍ مَرْوِيٍّ خُرَاسَانِيٍّ بِثَوْبَيْ قُطْنٍ مَرْوِيٍّ بَغْدَادِيٍّ نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً قَالُوا: وَأَمَّا غَزْلُ الْقُطْنِ فِي كُلِّ ذَلِكَ فَصِنْفٌ وَاحِدٌ لَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِ التَّفَاضُلُ وَلَا النَّسِيئَةُ.

L23905 They said: The fat of the ram's belly is one category, while the fat of its back and the fat of the rest of its body is another category. Thus, they permitted the sale of two ritls of fat from its belly for one ritl of fat from its back in a cash payment.

قَالُوا: شَحْمُ بَطْنِ الْكَبْشِ صِنْفٌ، وَشَحْمُ ظَهْرِهِ وَشَحْمُ سَائِرِ جَسَدِهِ صِنْفٌ آخَرُ، فَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ رِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ شَحْمِ بَطْنِهِ بِرِطْلٍ مِنْ شَحْمِ ظَهْرِهِ نَقْدًا.

L23906 They said: The tail fat of the sheep is one category, and the rest of its meat is another category. Thus, it is permissible to exchange one ratl (a traditional unit of measurement) of its tail fat for two ratls of the rest of its meat.

قَالُوا: وَأَلْيَةُ الشَّاةِ صِنْفٌ، وَسَائِرُ لَحْمِهَا صِنْفٌ آخَرُ، فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ رِطْلٍ مِنْ أَلْيَتِهَا بِرِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ سَائِرِ لَحْمِهَا.

L23907 They said: It is not permissible to sell a ritl of ram's meat except for a ritl of the same meat with no excess, weight for weight in immediate payment, necessarily. And they permitted [this transaction] for two ritls of ox meat in immediate payment, necessarily.

قَالُوا: وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ رِطْلٍ مِنْ لَحْمِ كَبْشٍ إِلَّا بِرِطْلٍ مِنْ لَحْمِهِ وَلَا مَزِيدَ، وَزْنًا بِوَزْنٍ نَقْدًا، وَلَا بُدَّ وَأَجَازُوهُ بِرِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ لَحْمِ الثَّوْرِ نَقْدًا وَلَا بُدَّ.

L23908 As for the meat of geese and chickens, it is permissible to trade one ritl of each type for two ritls of the same kind. Thus, it is permitted to trade one ritl of chicken meat for two ritls of chicken meat only as an immediate payment, or for two ritls of goose meat either as an immediate payment or on deferred terms.

وَأَمَّا لَحْمُ الْإِوَزِّ، وَلَحْمُ الدَّجَاجِ، فَيَجُوزُ مِنْ كُلِّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا رِطْلٌ بِرِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ نَوْعِهِ فَأَجَازُوا رِطْلَ لَحْمِ دَجَاجٍ بِرِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ لَحْمِ دَجَاجٍ نَقْدًا أَوْ بِرِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ لَحْمِ الْإِوَزِّ نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً.

L23909–23911 They stated: The credit sale (nasi'ah) regarding all items subject to usury - such as dates, wheat, barley, and others - applies only when the term is stipulated at the time of contract. As for what involves delayed receipt until the parties separate without stipulation... If there is a delay in it, the sale is not invalidated in any way, except in gold and silver only. If the delivery is delayed in them, it constitutes ribā—whether stipulated or not.

L23912 Among the remarkable aspects of worldly matters is his permitting fresh dates in exchange for dried dates, while entirely prohibiting the exchange of flour or roasted barley meal with wheat as a whole—he did not permit such exchanges at all. Had he reversed his statement, he would have been correct.

وَمِنْ عَجَائِبِ الدُّنْيَا إِجَازَتُهُ الرُّطَبَ بِالتَّمْرِ، وَمَنْعُهُ مِنَ الدَّقِيقِ أَوِ السَّوِيقِ بِالْقَمْحِ جُمْلَةً، فَلَمْ يُجِزْهُ أَصْلًا، فَلَوْ عَكَسَ قَوْلَهُ لَأَصَابَ.

L23913 And all of these are whispers, absurdities, and contradictions—there is no evidence for them, nor are they statements preserved from anyone before him. We ask Allah for deliverance.

وَهَذِهِ كُلُّهَا وَسَاوِسُ، وَسَخَافَاتٌ، وَمُنَاقَضَاتٌ، لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَيْهَا، وَأَقْوَالٌ لَا تُحْفَظُ مِنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ وَنَسْأَلُ اللَّهَ الْعَافِيَةَ.

L23914 As for the Shāfiʿīs: they prohibited the exchange of one ratl of squill for two ratls of it, since they consider it among edible items. They permitted exchanging a dirham's weight of saffron for two dirhams' weight of it in both immediate payment and deferred payment, because it is not consumed as food according to them.

وَأَمَّا الشَّافِعِيُّونَ: فَإِنَّهُمْ مَنَعُوا مِنْ رِطْلِ سَقَمُونْيَا بِرِطْلَيْنِ مِنْ سَقَمُونْيَا؛ لِأَنَّهَا عِنْدَهُمْ مِنَ الْمَأْكُولَاتِ، وَأَبَاحُوا وَزْنَ دِرْهَمِ زَعْفَرَانٍ بِوَزْنِ دِرْهَمَيْنِ مِنْهُ نَقْدًا وَنَسِيئَةً؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَا يُؤْكَلُ عِنْدَهُمْ.

L23915 They did not permit the sale of honey purchased with its wax in its original state unless both are purified, but they permitted the sale of walnuts with their shells as they are.

وَلَمْ يُجِيزُوا بَيْعَ عَسَلٍ مُشْتَارٍ بِشَمْعِهِ كَمَا هُوَ بِعَسَلٍ مُشْتَارٍ بِشَمْعِهِ كَمَا هُوَ أَصْلًا، إِلَّا حَتَّى يُصَفَّى كِلَاهُمَا وَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ الْجَوْزِ بِقِشْرِهِ بِالْجَوْزِ بِقِشْرِهِ.

L23916 They argued that extracting honey from its comb improves it, whereas removing walnuts and almonds from their shells and extracting seeds from dates spoils them.

وَاحْتَجُّوا فِي ذَلِكَ بِأَنَّ إِخْرَاجَ الْعَسَلِ مِنْ شَمْعِهِ صَلَاحٌ لَهُ، وَإِخْرَاجَ الْجَوْزِ وَاللَّوْزِ مِنْ قِشْرِهِ، وَنَزْعَ النَّوَى مِنَ التَّمْرِ فَسَادٌ لَهُ.

L23917 Nay! There is no good in what you mentioned except like the corruption you described. There is no good in that, nor corruption in this. Were it corruption, it would not have been permissible at all, for Allah the Exalted says: {And Allah does not love corruption} [Al-Baqarah: 205].[25]

فَقُلْنَا: كَلَّا، مَا الصَّلَاحُ فِيمَا ذَكَرْتُمْ إِلَّا كَالْفَسَادِ فِيمَا وَصَفْتُمْ، وَمَا فِي ذَلِكَ صَلَاحٌ، وَلَا فِي هَذَا فَسَادٌ، وَلَوْ كَانَ فَسَادًا لَمَا حَلَّ أَصْلًا؛ لِأَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ: {وَاللَّهُ لا يُحِبُّ الْفَسَادَ} [البقرة: ٢٠٥]

L23918 These are also evident contradictions, and statements we do not know anyone to have preceded them in. Success is through Allah, the Exalted. We do not know anyone before Abū Ḥanīfah who prohibited the sale of oil for olives in a spot transaction, whether the oil content in the olives was greater, equal, or lesser.

وَهَذِهِ أَيْضًا مُنَاقَضَاتٌ ظَاهِرَةٌ، وَأَقْوَالٌ لَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا سَبَقَهُمْ إِلَيْهَا وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ وَلَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا قَبْلَ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ مَنَعَ مِنْ بَيْعِ الزَّيْتِ بِالزَّيْتُونِ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، سَوَاءٌ كَانَ أَكْثَرَ مَا فِي الزَّيْتُونِ مِنَ الزَّيْتِ، أَوْ مِثْلَهُ أَوْ أَقَلَّ.

L23919 Abū Muḥammad said: The reality, which is attested to by language, the Sharīʿah, and sensory perception, is that flour is neither wheat nor barley—neither in name, nor attribute, nor natural properties.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَالْحَقِيقَةُ الَّتِي تَشْهَدُ لَهَا اللُّغَةُ، وَالشَّرِيعَةُ، وَالْحِسُّ، فَهُوَ أَنَّ الدَّقِيقَ لَيْسَ قَمْحًا وَلَا شَعِيرًا، لَا فِي اسْمِهِ، وَلَا فِي صِفَتِهِ، وَلَا فِي طَبِيعَتِهِ.

L23920 These animals are fed flour and bread, which do not harm them; rather, they benefit them. But when fed wheat, it destroys them. Date syrup is not dates—neither linguistically, legally, nor empirically.

فَهَذِهِ الدَّوَابُّ تُطْعَمُ الدَّقِيقَ وَالْخُبْزَ فَلَا يَضُرُّهَا بَلْ يَنْفَعُهَا، وَتُطْعَمُ الْقَمْحَ فَيُهْلِكُهَا، وَالدِّبْسُ لَيْسَ تَمْرًا، لَا فِي لُغَةٍ، وَلَا فِي شَرِيعَةٍ، وَلَا فِي مُشَاهَدَةٍ.

L23922–23923 Water is not salt, for ablution is permissible with water but impermissible with salt.

وَالْمَاءُ لَيْسَ مِلْحًا، لِأَنَّهُ يَجُوزُ الْوُضُوءُ بِالْمَاءِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ بِالْمِلْحِ.

L23924 And the begetting of Allah, the Exalted, is not a thing derived from another thing, for this would necessitate that the begotten entity be equivalent to the source from which it was begotten. By contrast, we were created from dust, a nutfah, and water, yet we are neither nutfah, nor dust, nor water.

وَلَيْسَ تَوْلِيدُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى شَيْئًا مِنْ شَيْءٍ بِمُوجِبِ أَنَّ الْمُتَوَلِّدَ هُوَ الَّذِي عَنْهُ تُوُلِّدَ، فَنَحْنُ خُلِقْنَا مِنْ تُرَابٍ، وَنُطْفَةٍ، وَمَاءٍ، وَلَسْنَا نُطْفَةً، وَلَا تُرَابًا، وَلَا مَاءً.

L23925 Wine is produced from juice; it is forbidden, whereas the juice itself is permissible.

L23930 As for ornaments of gold and silver, they are gold and silver by their two names, their two attributes, and their inherent nature in the language and in the Sharia. “And whoever transgresses the limits set by Allah has certainly wronged himself.” [At-Talaq: 1][26] its equivalent, then either of them found a defect in what was purchased.

١٤٩٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23933 Whoever sells gold for gold in a permissible sale, or silver for silver likewise, or silver for gold similarly—whether minted for minted, two ornamented items, ornamented for minted, raw metal, or unminted metal—and either party discovers a defect in what was purchased of that [item] before they physically separate and before either offers the other the choice to annul the sale.

وَمَنْ بَاعَ ذَهَبًا بِذَهَبٍ بَيْعًا حَلَالًا، أَوْ فِضَّةً بِفِضَّةٍ كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ فِضَّةً بِذَهَبٍ كَذَلِكَ، مَسْكُوكًا بِمِثْلِهِ أَوْ مَصُوغَيْنِ، أَوْ مَصُوغًا بِمَسْكُوكٍ، أَوْ تِبْرًا أَوْ نَقَارًا، فَوَجَدَ أَحَدُهُمَا بِمَا اشْتَرَى مِنْ ذَلِكَ عَيْبًا قَبْلَ أَنْ يَتَفَرَّقَا بِأَبْدَانِهِمَا، وَقَبْلَ أَنْ يُخَيِّرَ أَحَدُهُمَا الْآخَرَ

L23934 He has the choice: if he wishes, he may annul the sale, or if he wishes, substitute, because the sale between them has not yet been finalized. Rather, he is initiating a new sale by mutual consent or abandoning it, as outlined earlier. And success is from Allah, the Exalted.

فَهُوَ بِالْخِيَارِ إِنْ شَاءَ فَسَخَ الْبَيْعَ، وَإِنْ شَاءَ اسْتَبْدَلَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَتِمَّ بَيْنَهُمَا بَيْعٌ بَعْدُ، فَإِنَّمَا هُوَ مُسْتَأْنِفٌ لِبَيْعٍ عَنْ تَرَاضٍ أَوْ تَارِكٌ عَلَى مَا ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلُ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

١٤٩٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23936 If the defect is found after physical separation or after the choice when the entitled party selects to complete the sale, and the defect arises from adulteration with something other than what was purchased—such as silver or copper mixed with gold, or copper or other metals mixed with silver—the entire transaction is invalidated and revoked, regardless of whether the defect is significant or minor, or the adulteration is small or substantial. This is because the adulterated item is neither what was purchased nor what the contract was based upon, as mutual agreement on it was never reached through the contract, and the parties separated before the sale attained legal validity. In transactions involving usury, only sales validated by physical separation are permissible, with no option to uphold them, because no explicit text exists regarding this matter. Success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

فَإِنْ وَجَدَ الْعَيْبَ بَعْدَ التَّفَرُّقِ بِالْأَبْدَانِ، أَوْ بَعْدَ التَّخْيِيرِ وَاخْتَارَ الْمُخَيَّرُ إِتْمَامَ الْبَيْعِ فَإِنْ كَانَ الْعَيْبُ مِنْ خَلْطٍ وَجَدَهُ مِنْ غَيْرِ مَا اشْتَرَى، لَكِنْ كَفِضَّةٍ أَوْ صُفْرٍ فِي ذَهَبٍ، أَوْ صُفْرٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ فِي فِضَّةٍ، فَالصَّفْقَةُ كُلُّهَا مَفْسُوخَةٌ، مَرْدُودَةٌ، كَثُرَتْ أَمْ قَلَّتْ، قَلَّ ذَلِكَ الْخَلْطُ أَمْ كَثُرَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ هُوَ الَّذِي اشْتَرَى، وَلَا الَّذِي عَقَدَ عَلَيْهِ الصَّفْقَةَ، فَلَيْسَ هُوَ الَّذِي تَرَاضَى بِالْعَقْدِ عَلَيْهِ وَقَدْ تَفَرَّقَا قَبْلَ صِحَّةِ الْبَيْعِ. وَلَا يَجُوزُ فِيمَا يَقَعُ فِيهِ الرِّبَا إِلَّا صِحَّةُ الْبَيْعِ بِالتَّفَرُّقِ، وَلَا خِيَارَ فِي إِمْضَائِهَا؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَأْتِ بِذَلِكَ نَصٌّ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

١٤٩٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23938–23940 Similarly, if part of what was purchased—whether lesser or greater—becomes rightfully due, or if the receipt of any portion of their mutually contracted exchange—whether lesser or greater—is delayed, the contract is void because it was not validly concluded. Whatever is not valid is void. Every contract in which the unlawful is commingled with the lawful is a void contract, because the lawful portion of it cannot be validly established except... If the forbidden is deemed valid, then anything deriving validity solely from what is invalid cannot itself be valid. Nor is it permissible to obligate someone to what they have not consented to individually, without others.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَوْ اسْتَحَقَّ بَعْضَ مَا اشْتَرَى أَقَلُّهُ أَوْ أَكْثَرُهُ، أَوْ لَوْ تَأَخَّرَ قَبْضُ شَيْءٍ مِمَّا تَبَايَعَا قَلَّ أَوْ كَثُرَ لِأَنَّ الْعَقْدَ لَمْ يَتِمَّ صَحِيحًا وَمَا لَمْ يَصِحَّ فَهُوَ فَاسِدٌ، وَكُلُّ عَقْدٍ اخْتَلَطَ الْحَرَامُ فِيهِ بِالْحَلَالِ فَهُوَ عَقْدٌ فَاسِدٌ، لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يُعْقَدْ صِحَّةُ الْحَلَالِ مِنْهُ إِلَّا بِصِحَّةِ الْحَرَامِ، وَكُلُّ مَا لَا صِحَّةَ لَهُ إِلَّا بِصِحَّةِ مَا لَا يَصِحُّ، فَلَا صِحَّةَ لَهُ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يُلْزَمَ مَا لَمْ يَرْضَ بِهِ وَحْدَهُ. دُونَ غَيْرِهِ.

١٤٩٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23942 If the defect is inherent in the purchased item itself, such as a break, or if the gold is naturally deficient in value, like reddish or greenish gold by its nature, and silver is likewise deficient in value by its nature.

فَإِنْ كَانَ الْعَيْبُ فِي نَفْسِ مَا اشْتَرَى كَكَسْرٍ، أَوْ كَانَ الذَّهَبُ نَاقِصَ الْقِيمَةِ بِطَبْعِهِ، وَالْفِضَّةُ كَذَلِكَ، كَالذَّهَبِ الْأَشْقَرِ وَالْأَخْضَرِ بِطَبْعِهِ.

L23943 If he stipulated a warranty against defects, the entire transaction is rescinded because he discovered the item differed from what he purchased, and thus it is impermissible for him to retain another's property for which no sale contract was concluded.

فَإِنْ كَانَ اشْتَرَطَ السَّلَامَةَ فَالصَّفْقَةُ كُلُّهَا مَفْسُوخَةٌ، لِأَنَّهُ وَجَدَ غَيْرَ مَا اشْتَرَى، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ مَالُ غَيْرِهِ مِمَّا لَمْ يَعْقِدْ عَلَيْهِ بَيْعًا.

L23944 If he did not stipulate soundness, he may choose either to keep the transaction as it is with no recourse for any claim, or he must annul it entirely. This is because he purchased the tangible asset through a valid contract but later found unfair pricing. When the seller consents to this unfair pricing and acknowledges its extent, it becomes permissible without any disapproval - as we previously explained.

L23945 It is not permissible for him to divide the transaction, because the sale was not mutually consented to by his counterpart except in its entirety. Thus, he has no right to anything beyond what they mutually consented to together, due to the decree of Allah the Exalted: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves unjustly except through trade stemming from mutual consent among you" [An-Nisa: 29].[27]

وَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ تَبْعِيضُ الصَّفْقَةِ، لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَتَرَاضَ الْبَيْعَ مِنْ صَاحِبِهِ إِلَّا عَلَى جَمِيعِهَا، فَلَيْسَ لَهُ غَيْرُ مَا تَرَاضِيَا بِهِ مَعًا، لِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩]

L23946 The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: "Indeed,

وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «إِنَّ دِمَاءَكُمْ وَأَمْوَالَكُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ حَرَامٌ»

[27] Qur'an references (L23945): Qur'an 4:29 (An-Nisa).

your blood and your wealth are inviolable for you."

L23947 Therefore, nothing from another's wealth is permissible for him except what is mutually consented to.

فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ مِنْ مَالِ غَيْرِهِ إِلَّا مَا تَرَاضِيَا بِهِ مَعًا.

L23948 Abu Muhammad said: This is a matter over which predecessors and successors have differed. It has been narrated to us through the chain of Al-Hajjaj ibn Minhal: I am Hafs ibn Ghiyath ibn Al-Ash'ath Al-Harrani, from Ikrimah, from Ibn Abbas, concerning one who purchases dirhams while stipulating that if any counterfeit coins are found among them, he is entitled to return them. Ibn Abbas disliked the stipulation, saying: This right belongs to him even if he does not stipulate it.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا مَكَانٌ اخْتَلَفَ فِيهِ الْخَلْفُ وَالسَّلَفُ: فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا حَفْصُ بْنُ غِيَاثِ بْنِ الْأَشْعَثِ الْحَرَّانِيُّ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ فِيمَنْ يَشْتَرِي الدَّرَاهِمَ وَيَشْتَرِطُ إِنْ كَانَ فِيهَا زَائِفٌ أَنْ يَرُدَّهُ: أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ الشَّرْطَ، وَقَالَ: ذَلِكَ لَهُ إِنْ لَمْ يَشْتَرِطْ.

L23949 Ali said: The apparent meaning of this is the annulment of the sale, for had he intended to reject only the counterfeit item alone, he would have mentioned the invalidity of its counterpart in the contract and the validity of the contract regarding the remainder of the transaction, or he would have mentioned juridical inference. Yet he did not mention anything from all of this. Thus, it is impermissible to attribute to him what he did not say, and Ibn Abbas's statement is our statement.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: ظَاهِرُ هَذَا رَدُّ الْبَيْعِ، لِأَنَّهُ لَوْ أَرَادَ رَدَّ الزَّائِفِ وَحْدَهُ لَذَكَرَ بُطْلَانَ مَا قَابَلَهُ، وَصِحَّةَ الْعَقْدِ فِي سَائِرِ الصَّفْقَةِ، أَوْ لَذَكَرَ الِاسْتِدْلَالَ، وَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ مِنْ ذَلِكَ كُلِّهِ شَيْئًا، فَلَا يَجُوزُ أَنْ يَقُولَ مَا لَمْ يَقُلْ فَقَوْلُ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ هُوَ قَوْلُنَا.

L23950 And through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhāl: Hammām, who is Ibn Yaḥyā, said: Ibn Jurayj reported that Ibn ʿUmar exchanged dinars for dirhams, but they erred in the transaction by a suttūq [sixth] of a dirham, so he disliked retaining the erroneous amount. This chain is interrupted, and we do not know of any contemporary scholar who upheld this view, nor do we know now of any other opinion from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—apart from what we have mentioned.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا هَمَّامٌ هُوَ ابْنُ يَحْيَى قَالَ: زَعَمَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ اشْتَرَى دَرَاهِمَ بِدَنَانِيرَ فَأَخْطَئُوا فِيهَا بِدِرْهَمٍ سَتُّوقٍ فَكَرِهَ أَنْ يَسْتَبْدِلَهُ وَهَذَا مُنْقَطِعٌ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا مِنْ الْحَاضِرِينَ قَالَ بِهِ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ الْآنَ عَنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - غَيْرَ مَا ذَكَرْنَا.

L23951–23952 Sufyan al-Thawri said: He may choose between replacing it and annulling the ṣarf transaction, but only for the amount he found defective. Al-Awzaʿī, al-Layth, and al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayy said: He must replace everything he found to be counterfeit, whether little or much. Ibn Ḥayy and al-Suttūq said likewise.

وَقَالَ سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ: هُوَ مُخَيَّرٌ بَيْنَ أَنْ يَسْتَبْدِلَهُ وَبَيْنَ أَنْ يَنْقُضَ الصَّرْفَ فِي مِقْدَارِ مَا وَجَدَ رَدِيئًا فَقَطْ قَالَ الْأَوْزَاعِيُّ، وَاللَّيْثُ، وَالْحَسَنُ بْنُ حَيٍّ: يَسْتَبْدِلُ كُلَّ مَا وَجَدَ زَائِفًا قَلَّ أَوْ كَثُرَ قَالَ ابْنُ حَيٍّ وَالسَّتُّوقُ كَذَلِكَ.

L23953 Ali said: As-sattūq (debased currency) is that which is adulterated with قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: السَّتُّوقُ هُوَ الْمَغْشُوشُ بِشَيْءٍ غَيْرِهِ، مِثْلُ أَنْ يَكُونَ الدِّرْهَمُ كُلُّهُ رَصَاصًا، أَوْ يَكُونَ الدِّينَارُ كُلُّهُ فِضَّةً أَوْ نُحَاسًا.

foreign substances, such as a dirham (silver coin) being entirely made of lead, or a dinar (gold coin) being entirely composed of silver or copper.

وَالزَّائِفُ الرَّدِيءُ مِنْ طَبْعِهِ الَّذِي فِيهِ غِشٌّ

L23954 The counterfeit and inferior item, by its very nature, involves fraud.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: إنْ وُجِدَ بَعْدَ التَّفَرُّقِ نِصْفُ الْجَمِيعِ فَأَكْثَرَ زُيُوفًا فَلَيْسَ لَهُ أَنْ يَسْتَبْدِلَ أَلْبَتَّةَ، لَكِنْ إنْ رَدَّ الزُّيُوفَ بَطَلَ الصَّرْفُ فِي مِقْدَارِهَا مِنْ الصَّفْقَةِ وَصَحَّ فِيمَا سِوَاهَا.

L23955 Abu Hanifa said: If half of the total or more is found to be defective coins after the parties have separated, he has no right whatsoever to replace them. However, if he returns the defective coins, the ṣarf [exchange of monetary commodities] becomes nullified to the extent of their amount in the transaction while remaining valid for the remainder.

L23956 The apparent meaning of his statement is that he has the right not to return it. If he found it to be less than half, he may retain it, and he may replace only what he found to be counterfeit. He must not part with the counterparty until he takes possession of the substituted item. If he parted with him before taking possession, the exchange becomes nullified for what he has not acquired—even if it is a dirham or more—but remains valid for what he has acquired, even if it is a dirham or less.

فَإِنْ كَانَ الَّذِي وَجَدَ سُتُّوقًا انْتَقَضَ الصَّرْفُ فَقَطْ لَوْ لَمْ يَكُنْ إلَّا دِرْهَمًا وَاحِدًا فَأَكْثَرَ وَصَحَّ فِي بَاقِي الصَّفْقَةِ وَيَكُونُ هُوَ وَالْبَائِعُ شَرِيكَيْنِ فِي الدِّينَارِ الَّذِي انْتَقَضَ الصَّرْفُ فِي بَعْضِهِ.

L23957 If the exchange conducted at the suq is invalidated only—even if involving a single dirham or more—while the remainder of the transaction remains valid, then the buyer and seller become partners in the dinar in which copper was partially invalidated.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: لَيْتَ شِعْرِي، أَيُّ بَعْضٍ مِنْهُ انْتَقَضَ فِيهِ الصَّرْفُ، وَأَيُّ بَعْضٍ، مِنْهُ صَحَّ فِيهِ الصَّرْفُ هَذَا الْمَجْهُولُ وَالْغَرَرُ بِعَيْنِهِ، وَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ: أَنَّهُ حَدَّ مَا يَسْتَبْدِلُهُ مِمَّا لَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِ الِاسْتِبْدَالُ بِالثُّلُثِ وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ لَا نَعْلَمُهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ، وَتَقْسِيمٌ فِي غَايَةِ الْفَسَادِ بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ، وَحُكْمُ الْحَرَامِ وَالْحَلَالِ فِي الْكَثِيرِ وَالْقَلِيلِ مِنْهُمَا سَوَاءٌ، إلَّا أَنْ يَأْتِيَ قُرْآنٌ أَوْ

L23958 Abū Muḥammad said: Would that I knew: Which portion of it invalidates the currency exchange (ṣarf), and which portion validates it? This unknown matter and gharar (prohibited uncertainty) are precisely one and the same. It is reported from him that he limited substitution in matters where substitution is impermissible to a third. This is an opinion we have not known from anyone before him—a division at the height of corruption without proof. The rulings of prohibition and permissibility apply equally to their abundance and scarcity unless a Quranic verse or Sunnah establishes a distinction or specification, in which case hearing and obedience are required.

سُنَّةٌ بِفَرْقٍ وَتَحْدِيدٍ فَالسَّمْعُ وَالطَّاعَةُ وَقَالَ أَبُو يُوسُفَ، وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ: يَسْتَبْدِلُ مَا وَجَدَ زَائِدًا أَوْ سُتُّوقًا، قَلَّ أَوْ كَثُرَ.

Abū Yūsuf and Muḥammad ibn al-Ḥasan said: One may substitute whatever excess or defective items are found, whether little or much.

L23959 قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: هَذَا بَاطِلٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ يَصِيرُ ذَهَبًا بِفِضَّةٍ، أَوْ بِذَهَبٍ، أَوْ فِضَّةٍ بِفِضَّةٍ غَيْرَ يَدٍ بِيَدٍ، وَهَذَا الرِّبَا الْمَحْضُ وَقَالَ زُفَرُ: يُنْتَقَضُ الصَّرْفُ وَلَا بُدَّ فِيمَا وَجَدَ قَلَّ أَوْ كَثُرَ وَيَصِحُّ فِي السَّالِمِ قَلَّ أَوْ كَثُرَ.

Ali said: This is invalid because it involves exchanging gold for silver, gold for gold, or silver for silver without a hand-to-hand transaction - and this constitutes pure usury. Zufar said: The currency exchange is rendered void, and this applies unavoidably to any quantity present, whether small or large, while it remains valid in the salam transaction regardless of quantity, whether small or large.

L23960–23962 قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: هَذَا تَبْعِيضُ صَفْقَةٍ لَمْ يَقَعْ الْعَقْدُ قَطُّ عَلَى بَعْضِهَا دُونَ بَعْضٍ، فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إنْ وَجَدَ سُتُّوقًا أَوْ زَائِفًا فَإِنْ كَانَ دِرْهَمًا أَوْ أَكْثَرَ مَا لَمْ يَتَجَاوَزْ صَرْفَ دِينَارٍ انْتَقَضَ الصَّرْفُ فِي دِينَارٍ وَاحِدٍ، وَصَحَّ سَائِرُ الصَّفْقَةِ، فَإِنْ وَجَدَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ مَا يَكُونُ صَرْفُهُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ دِينَارٍ أَوْ دِينَارَيْنِ أَوْ دَنَانِيرَ: انْتَقَضَ الصَّرْفُ فِيمَا قَابَلَ مَا وَجَدَهُ فَإِنْ شَرَعَ الِانْتِقَاضُ فِي دِينَارٍ انْتَقَضَ ذَلِكَ الدِّينَارُ.

Ali said: This pertains to the partialization of a transaction where the contract was never concluded on any part without the others; therefore, it constitutes unjust consumption of wealth. Wealth acquired unlawfully, and Mālik said: If one found debased or counterfeit currency, and if it amounted to a dirham or more without exceeding the exchange value of one dinar, the exchange is invalidated for one dinar while the remainder of the transaction remains valid. If he found among them coins whose exchange value exceeds a dinar, two dinars, or more, the exchange is invalidated in the portion corresponding to what he discovered. If the invalidation begins with a dinar, that specific dinar is invalidated.

L23963 قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: لَيْتَ شِعْرِي أَيُّ دِينَارٍ هُوَ الَّذِي يُنْتَقَضُ، أَيُّهَا هُوَ الَّذِي لَا يُنْتَقَضُ؟ هَذَا بَيْعُ الْغَرَرِ، وَالْمَجْهُولِ وَأَكْلُ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

Ali said: Would that I knew which dinar is invalidated and which is not? This is the sale of gharar (excessive uncertainty), the sale of the unknown, and the unlawful consumption of wealth.

L23964 ثُمَّ عَجَبٌ آخَرُ وَهُوَ إجَازَتُهُ بَعْضَ الصَّفْقَةِ دُونَ بَعْضِهَا وَإِبْطَالُهُ صَرْفَ جَمِيعِ الدِّينَارِ الَّذِي شَرَعَ الِانْتِقَاضُ فِي بَعْضِهِ وَهَذَا تَنَاقُضٌ ظَاهِرٌ، وَكِلَاهُمَا تَبْعِيضٌ لِمَا لَمْ يَتَرَاضَيَا بِتَبْعِيضِهِ فِي الْعَقْدِ، وَقَوْلٌ لَا نَعْلَمُهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ.

Then another point of astonishment is his approval of part of the transaction while excluding another part, and his nullification of the currency exchange (ṣarf) of the entire dinar for which he commenced the annulment concerning a portion of it. This constitutes an evident contradiction, as both scenarios involve dividing something the parties did not mutually agree to divide in the contract - a statement not known to have been attributed to anyone before him.

L23965 Al-Shāfiʿī holds two opinions: one is that the entire monetary exchange (ṣarf) is nullified, and the second is that it is replaced, as maintained by Al-Layth, Al-Awzāʿī, and Al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayy. This is among the matters in which they opposed the opinion of two Companions, with no dissent from the other Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—recorded against their position.

وَلِلشَّافِعِيِّ قَوْلَانِ أَحَدُهُمَا: أَنَّ الصَّرْفَ كُلَّهُ يُنْتَقَضُ، وَالثَّانِي: أَنَّهُ يُسْتَبْدَلُ، كَقَوْلِ اللَّيْثِ وَالْأَوْزَاعِيِّ، وَالْحَسَنِ بْنِ حَيٍّ وَهَذَا مِمَّا خَالَفُوا فِيهِ قَوْلَ صَاحِبَيْنِ، لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُمَا مُخَالِفٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -.

L23966 The ruling on exchanging dates for dates of superior or inferior quality compared to them.

١٤٩٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L23968 Among the purely lawful transactions is the sale of two _mudds_ of dates—one being of the highest quality and the other of the lowest quality—in exchange for two _mudds_ of dates that are either better than both, worse than both, below the good of the two and above the lowest quality of the two, equal to one of them, or some being good and others lowest quality. All these cases are treated the same, and all are permissible.

وَمِنْ الْحَلَالِ الْمَحْضِ بَيْعُ مُدَّيْنِ مِنْ تَمْرٍ أَحَدُهُمَا جَيِّدٌ غَايَةً، وَالْآخَرُ رَدِيءٌ غَايَةً: بِمُدَّيْنِ مِنْ تَمْرٍ أَجْوَدَ مِنْهُمَا، أَوْ أَدْنَى مِنْهُمَا، أَوْ دُونَ الْجَيِّدِ مِنْهُمَا، وَفَوْقَ الرَّدِيءِ مِنْهُمَا، أَوْ مِثْلَ أَحَدِهِمَا، أَوْ بَعْضُهُمَا جَيِّدٌ وَالْبَعْضُ رَدِيءٌ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ سَوَاءٌ وَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ جَائِزٌ.

L23969 The same ruling applies to dinars exchanged for dinars, dirhams for dirhams, wheat for wheat, barley for barley, and salt for salt, with no distinction. This is based on the Prophet's permission (peace and blessings be upon him) for exchanging each category we have mentioned with its own kind, equal for equal, measured by capacity for wheat, barley, dates, and salt, and weighed for gold and silver.

وَكَذَلِكَ الْقَوْلُ فِي دَنَانِيرَ بِدَنَانِيرَ، وَفِي دَرَاهِمَ بِدَرَاهِمَ، وَقَمْحٍ بِقَمْحٍ، وَفِي شَعِيرٍ بِشَعِيرٍ، وَفِي مِلْحٍ بِمِلْحٍ وَلَا فَرْقَ، لِإِبَاحَةِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - كُلَّ صِنْفٍ مِمَّا ذَكَرْنَا بِصِنْفِهِ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، فِي الْمُكَايَلَةِ، فِي الْقَمْحِ، وَالشَّعِيرِ، وَالتَّمْرِ وَالْمِلْحِ وَالْمُوَازَنَةِ فِي الذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّةِ.

L23970–23972 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Muslim: I am Al-Qa'nabi, I am Sulayman ibn Bilal, from Abd al-Majid ibn Suhayl ibn Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf, that he heard Sa'id ibn al-Musayyab relate: Abu Huraira and Abu Sa'id al-Khudri narrated to him that the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) dispatched a man from Banu Adi al-Ansari and appointed him as governor of Khaybar. He arrived with Janiyb dates, so the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) asked him: "Are all the dates of Khaybar like these?" He replied: "No, by Allah, O..." "O Messenger of Allah, indeed we buy one ṣāʿ [of grain] for two ṣāʿs of common grain." The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said to me: "Do not do that. Instead, exchange like for like, or sell this [grain] and use its price to buy the other. The same applies to weighing."[28]

مِنْ الْجَمْعِ، فَقَالَ لِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: لَا تَفْعَلُوا، وَلَكِنْ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، أَوْ بِيعُوا هَذَا وَاشْتَرُوا بِثَمَنِهِ مِنْ هَذَا وَكَذَلِكَ الْمِيزَانُ»

L23973 He (peace be upon him) explicitly permitted the sale of the selected portion of dates (al-Janīb) - being entirely choice dates - for the mixed aggregate (al-Jamʿ) of dates, which combines good, poor, and average qualities.

فَأَبَاحَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - نَصًّا: بَيْعَ الْجَنِيبِ مِنْ التَّمْرِ وَهُوَ الْمُتَخَيَّرُ كُلُّهُ بِالْجَمْعِ مِنْ التَّمْرِ وَهُوَ الَّذِي جَمَعَ جَيِّدًا وَرَدِيئًا وَوَسَطًا.

L23974 Some people prohibited others from exchanging two mudds of dates (one of good quality and the other inferior) for two mudds of medium-quality dates that are lower in quality than the good ones and superior to the inferior ones.

مَنَعَ بَعْضُ النَّاسِ مِنْ مُدَّيْنِ مِنْ تَمْرٍ أَحَدُهُمَا جَيِّدٌ وَالْآخَرُ رَدِيءٌ بِمُدَّيْنِ مِنْ تَمْرٍ مُتَوَسِّطَيْنِ أَدْنَى مِنْ الْجَيِّدِ وَأَجْوَدَ مِنْ الرَّدِيءِ.

L23975 They argued as evidence that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prescribed equivalence in kind and quantity when exchanging dates for dates.

وَاحْتَجُّوا فِي ذَلِكَ بِأَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَوْجَبَ الْمُمَاثَلَةَ فِي التَّمْرِ بِالتَّمْرِ.

L23976 Abu Muhammad said: There is no proof for them in this matter, because they agree with us regarding the permissibility of exchanging a saʿ of inferior-quality dates with a saʿ of good-quality dates, and it is not equivalent. Thus, it is established that the Prophet—may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him—intended equivalence in measure or weight only, and this is something unanimously agreed upon.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِي هَذَا؛ لِأَنَّهُمْ مُوَافِقُونَ لَنَا فِي جَوَازِ صَاعٍ بِصَاعِ تَمْرٍ رَدِيءٍ بِصَاعِ تَمْرٍ جَيِّدٍ وَلَيْسَ مِثْلَهُ فَصَحَّ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إنَّمَا أَرَادَ الْمُمَاثَلَةَ فِي الْكَيْلِ أَوْ فِي الْوَزْنِ فَقَطْ وَهَذَا مَا لَا خِلَافَ فِيهِ مِنْ أَحَدٍ.

L23977 They argued using authentic hadiths concerning janiyb (premium dates) and jamʿ (dates on the cluster), such as: "Sell the jamʿ (dates on the cluster) and use its price to purchase janiyb (premium dates)." This provides no valid evidence for their position, for the authentic report we mentioned adds a legal ruling beyond those reports, and it is impermissible to disregard this supplement of justice.

وَاحْتَجُّوا بِأَحَادِيثَ صِحَاحٍ فِي الْجَنِيبِ بِالْجَمْعِ فِيهَا: «بِيعُوا الْجَمْعَ وَاشْتَرُوا بِثَمَنِهِ مِنْ الْجَنِيبِ» وَهَذَا لَا حُجَّةَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ؛ لِأَنَّ الْخَبَرَ الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا زَائِدٌ عَلَى تِلْكَ الْأَخْبَارِ حُكْمًا، وَلَا يَحِلُّ تَرْكُ زِيَادَةِ الْعَدْلِ.

L23978 The crux of their argument is that they stated: The seller's acceptance here pertains to the two items—one being good and the other inferior—by giving more than a mudd from the standard measure for the good one and less than a mudd from the standard measure for the inferior one, thereby resulting in an unequal exchange.

وَعُمْدَةُ حُجَّتِهِمْ أَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: إنَّمَا رَضِيَ الْبَائِعُ هَهُنَا لِلْمُدَّيْنِ: اللَّذَيْنِ أَحَدُهُمَا جَيِّدٌ وَالْآخَرُ رَدِيءٌ، بِأَنْ يُعْطِيَ الْجَيِّدَ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ مُدٍّ مِنْ الْمُتَوَسِّطِ، وَأَنْ يُعْطِيَ الْأَرْدَأَ بِأَقَلَّ مِنْ مُدٍّ مِنْ الْمُتَوَسِّطِ: فَحَصَلَ التَّفَاضُلُ.

[28] Hadith references (L23970): Sahih Muslim 1593a.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا فِي غَايَةِ الْفَسَادِ، لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ كَمَا قَالُوا، وَحَتَّى لَوْ أَنَّهُ أَرَادَ ذَلِكَ لَكَانَ عَمَلُهُ مُخَالِفًا لِإِرَادَتِهِ، فَحَصَلُوا عَلَى التَّكَهُّنِ، وَالظَّنِّ الْكَاذِبِ وَإِنَّمَا يُرَاعَى فِي الدِّينِ الْكَلَامُ وَالْعَمَلُ، فَإِذَا جَاءَ كَمَا أَمَرَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى وَرَسُولُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - فَمَا نُبَالِي بِمَا فِي قُلُوبِهِمَا، قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «لَمْ أُبْعَثْ لِأَشُقَّ عَنْ قُلُوبِ النَّاسِ»

L23979 Abu Muhammad said: This is utterly invalid, for it is not as they claimed. Even if he intended that, his actions would contradict his intention, so they resorted to conjecture and false supposition. In religion, only speech and action are considered. If it conforms to what Allah the Exalted and His Messenger—peace be upon him—have commanded, we do not judge what lies in the hearts of both. The Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—said: "I was not sent to scrutinize the hearts of people."

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: فَقَدْ قَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «الْأَعْمَالُ بِالنِّيَّاتِ» .

L23980 If they say: Indeed, he (peace be upon him) said, "Actions are judged by intentions."

قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، وَلَكِنَّ مَنْ لَكُمْ بِأَنَّ هَذَيْنِ نَوَيَا مَا ذَكَرْتُمْ، وَهَذَا مِنْكُمْ ظَنُّ سُوءٍ بِمُسْلِمٍ لَمْ يُخْبِرْكُمْ بِذَلِكَ عَنْ نَفْسِهِ، وَلَيْسَ فِي الظُّلْمِ أَكْثَرُ مِنْ أَنْ تُفْسِدُوا صَفْقَةَ مُسْلِمٍ بِتَوَهُّمِكُمْ: أَنَّهُ أَرَادَ الْبَاطِلَ، وَهُوَ لَمْ يُخْبِرْكُمْ ذَلِكَ فَقَطْ عَنْ نَفْسِهِ، وَلَا ظَهَرَ مِنْ فِعْلِهِ إِلَّا الْحَلَالُ الْمُطْلَقُ.

L23981–23983 We said: Yes, but how can you be certain these two intended what you mentioned? This is an evil assumption you harbor toward a Muslim. He did not inform you of that about himself, and there is no greater wrongdoing than you invalidating a Muslim's transaction through your presumption: that he intended invalid intent—while he did not inform you of that specific point about himself, and nothing appeared from his action except absolute permissibility.

وَيَلْزَمُكُمْ عَلَى هَذَا إِذَا رَأَيْتُمْ مَنْ يَشْتَرِي تَمْرًا أَوْ تِينًا أَوْ عِنَبًا أَنْ تَفْسَخُوا صَفْقَتَهُ وَتَقُولُوا لَهُ: إِنَّمَا تَنْوِي فِيهِ عَمَلَ الْخَمْرِ مِنْهُ، وَمَنْ اشْتَرَى ثَوْبًا أَنْ تَفْسَخُوهُ وَتَقُولُوا: إِنَّمَا تُرِيدُ تَلْبَسُهُ فِي الْمَعَاصِي.

L23984 Based on this, it becomes incumbent upon you that if you see someone purchasing dates, figs, or grapes, you must rescind his transaction and say to him: "You only intend through this purchase to make wine from it." And if someone buys a garment, you must rescind his transaction and say: "You only intend to wear it in sinful acts."

وَمَنْ اشْتَرَى سَيْفًا أَنْ تَفْسَخُوا وَتَقُولُوا: إِنَّمَا تُرِيدُ بِهِ قَتْلَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ، وَهَذَا هَوَسٌ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهُ، وَلَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ شَيْءٍ مِنْ هَذَا وَبَيْنَ مَا أَفْسَدْتُمْ بِهِ الْمَسْأَلَةَ الْمُتَقَدِّمَةَ.

L23985 And whoever buys a sword so that you may invalidate [the transaction] and say, "You only intend to kill Muslims with it," this is an obsession without equal. There is no difference between any aspect of this and what you corrupted through the previous matter.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا حَمَّادُ بْنُ زَيْدٍ أَنَا أَيُّوبُ السِّخْتِيَانِيُّ قَالَ: كَانَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سِيرِينَ يَأْتِي بِالدَّرَاهِمِ السُّودِ الْجِيَادِ، وَبِالنُّفَايَةِ: يَأْخُذُ بِوَزْنِهَا غَلَّةً.

L23986 It was narrated to us via Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhāl → Ḥammād ibn Zayd → Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, who said: "Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn would bring excellent black dirhams along with scrap coins, taking a gain based on their weight."

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: السُّودُ أَجْوَدُ مِنْ الْغَلَّةِ، وَالنُّفَايَةُ أَدْنَى مِنْ الْغَلَّةِ وَهَذَا نَفْسُ مَسْأَلَتِنَا.

L23987 Ali said: Black dates are of greater value than the yield, while waste is of lesser value than the yield. This is the same as our issue.

L23988 A legal issue involving a person who exchanged his final dinars for dirhams and was unable to fulfill his intention.

1499 - Issue:

Whoever exchanges another's dinars for dirhams and cannot fulfill his intention, then borrows from his lenders or others what he needs to complete his exchange—this is permissible, provided it is not due to a condition stipulated in the transaction, for neither the Quran nor the Sunnah prohibits this.

An issue where one sold some of the last dinars for dirhams, then bought dinars from him with those dirhams.

1500. Issue:

And whoever sells dinars acquired from another in exchange for dirhams, then once the sale is concluded between them by physical separation or exercising the option [to annul], buys from him or from another with those dirhams—whether the same dinars, others, fewer or more—all of that is permissible as long as it is not based on a condition. This is because such transactions are valid contracts, and there exists an explicit textual ruling affirming their validity. As for the condition, it is forbidden, for it is a condition not found in the Book of Allah Almighty, and thus invalid.

Some people prohibited this and said, "He sold dinars for dinars with a disparity." We responded: This is false, and he never did anything of the sort. Rather, these are two separate transactions. But tell us: Is it permissible for him to exchange the dinars after a month or a year for those dirhams and dinars without any stipulation? They answered: Yes. We said to them: Then you have permitted both disparity and deferred payment while prohibiting spot exchange. This is an unparalleled contradiction. It is authentically reported from the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—as we mentioned earlier, that he commanded the sale of collected dates for goods, then to use the proceeds to purchase superior dates. Yet this is precisely the very practice they prohibited.

[مَسْأَلَة صارف آخر دَنَانِير بِدَرَاهِم فعجز عَنْ تَمَام مُرَاده]

١٤٩٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَمَنْ صَارَفَ آخَرَ دَنَانِيرَ بِدَرَاهِم فَعَجَزَ عَنْ تَمَامِ مُرَادِهِ فَاسْتَقْرَضَ مِنْ مَصَارِفِه، أَوْ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ مَا أَتَمَّ بِهِ صَرْفَهُ فَحَسَنٌ، مَا لَمْ يَكُنْ عَنْ شَرْطٍ فِي الصَّفْقَةِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَمْنَعْ مِنْ هَذَا قُرْآنٌ، وَلَا سُنَّةٌ.

[مَسْأَلَة بَاعَ مِنْ آخر دَنَانِير بِدَرَاهِم ثُمَّ اشْتَرَى مِنْهُ بتلك الدَّرَاهِم دَنَانِير]

١٥٠٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَمَنْ بَاعَ مِنْ آخَرَ دَنَانِيرَ بِدَرَاهِمَ فَلَمَّا تَمَّ الْبَيْعُ بَيْنَهُمَا بِالتَّفَرُّقِ أَوْ التَّخَيُّرِ اشْتَرَى مِنْهُ، أَوْ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ بِتِلْكَ الدَّرَاهِمِ دَنَانِيرَ تِلْكَ، أَوْ غَيْرَهَا أَقَلَّ أَوْ أَكْثَرَ فَكُلُّ ذَلِكَ حَلَالٌ مَا لَمْ يَكُنْ عَنْ شَرْطٍ، لِأَنَّ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ عَقْدٌ صَحِيحٌ، وَعَمَلٌ مَنْصُوصٌ عَلَى جَوَازِهِ، وَأَمَّا الشَّرْطُ فَحَرَامٌ، لِأَنَّهُ شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ.

وَمَنَعَ مِنْ هَذَا قَوْمٌ وَقَالُوا: إنَّهُ بَاعَ مِنْهُ دَنَانِيرَ بِدَنَانِيرَ مُتَفَاضِلَةً؟ فَقُلْنَا: هَذَا كَذِبٌ، وَمَا فَعَلَ قَطُّ شَيْئًا مِنْ ذَلِكَ، بَلْ هُمَا صَفْقَتَانِ، وَلَكِنْ أَخْبِرُونَا: هَلْ لَهُ أَنْ يُصَارِفَهُ بَعْدَ شَهْرٍ أَوْ سَنَةٍ بِتِلْكَ الدَّرَاهِمِ وَتِلْكَ الدَّنَانِيرِ عَنْ غَيْرِ شَرْطٍ؟ فَمِنْ قَوْلِهِمْ: نَعَمْ؟ فَقُلْنَا لَهُمْ: فَأَجَزْتُمْ التَّفَاضُلَ وَالنَّسِيئَةَ مَعًا وَمَنَعْتُمْ مِنْ النَّقْدِ، هَذَا عَجَبٌ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهُ وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا آنِفًا الْأَمْرُ بِبَيْعِ التَّمْرِ الْجَمْعِ بِسِلْعَةٍ ثُمَّ يُبْتَاعُ بِالسِّلْعَةِ جَنِيبًا مِنْ التَّمْرِ وَهَذَا هُوَ الَّذِي مَنَعُوا نَفْسَهُ.

L23995–23996 Through the chain of al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl: I, Yazīd ibn Ibrāhīm al-Tustarī, narrated from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, who said: ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb delivered a sermon and said: “Listen! A dirham for a dirham and a dinar for a dinar—kind for kind, equal for equal, like for like.” ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn ʿAwf said to him: “Are you debasing our coins so that we give the inferior [currency] and take the superior?” ʿUmar replied: “No. Rather, purchase merchandise with them. When you take possession of it as your own, sell it and discount whatever you wish, then take any cash you desire.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ هُوَ التُّسْتَرِيُّ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: خَطَبَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ فَقَالَ: أَلَا إِنَّ الدِّرْهَمَ بِالدِّرْهَمِ وَالدِّينَارَ بِالدِّينَارِ، عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ، سَوَاءً بِسَوَاءٍ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، فَقَالَ لَهُ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ عَوْفٍ: تُزَيِّفُ عَلَيْنَا أَوْرَاقَنَا فَنُعْطِي الْخَبِيثَ وَنَأْخُذُ الطَّيِّبَ؟ قَالَ عُمَرُ: لَا، وَلَكِنْ ابْتَعْ بِهَا عَرَضًا، فَإِذَا قَبَضْتَهُ وَكَانَ لَكَ فَبِعْهُ وَاهْضِمْ مَا شِئْتَ، وَخُذْ أَيَّ نَقْدٍ شِئْتَ.

L23997 So here is Umar, in the presence of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—with none among them opposing him, commanding that dirhams or dinars be sold in exchange for a commodity, then selling the commodity for whatever he wishes after purchasing it, without stipulating “from someone other than the one from whom the commodity was purchased.”

فَهَذَا عُمَرُ بِحَضْرَةِ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - لَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُ مِنْهُمْ يَأْمُرُ بِبَيْعِ الدَّرَاهِمِ أَوْ الدَّنَانِيرِ بِسِلْعَةٍ، ثُمَّ يَبِيعُهَا بِمَا شَاءَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ إثْرَ ابْتِيَاعِهِ لِلْعَرَضِ وَلَمْ يَقُلْ مِنْ غَيْرِ مَنْ تُبْتَاعُ مِنْهُ الْعَرَضُ.

L23998 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: I, Hushaym, narrate from Sulaymān ibn Bashīr, who said: Al-Aswad ibn Yazīd gave me dirhams and told me, “Buy dinars for me with these, then buy dirhams for me with the dinars at such-and-such rate.” I sold them to a man and took possession of the dinars. I inquired in the market until I ascertained the current rate, then returned to my buyer and sold the dinars to him for the dirhams I intended. When I mentioned this to Al-Aswad ibn Yazīd, he saw no harm in it.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ: أَعْطَانِي الْأَسْوَدُ بْنُ يَزِيدَ دَرَاهِمَ وَقَالَ لِي: اشْتَرِ لِي بِهَا دَنَانِيرَ، ثُمَّ اشْتَرِ لِي بِالدَّنَانِيرِ دَرَاهِمَ كَذَا وَكَذَا، قَالَ: فَبِعْتُهَا مِنْ رَجُلٍ فَقَبَضْت الدَّنَانِيرَ، وَطَلَبْت فِي السُّوقِ حَتَّى عَرَفْت السِّعْرَ، فَرَجَعْت إلَى بَيْعَتِي فَبِعْتُهَا مِنْهُ بِالدَّرَاهِمِ الَّتِي أَرَدْت؟ فَذَكَرْت ذَلِكَ لِلْأَسْوَدِ بْنِ يَزِيدَ، فَلَمْ يَرَ بِهِ بَأْسًا.

L23999 Abu Muhammad said: Ibn Sirin disliked it, and it has been narrated to us from Umar ibn al-Khattab that he said: “Riba applies only to one who intends to increase and defer payment.” It was narrated to us via Abd al-Razzaq from Sufyan al-Thawri from Yunus ibn Ubayd from Ibn Sirin from Umar.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَكَرِهَهُ ابْنُ سِيرِينَ وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: إنَّمَا الرِّبَا عَلَى مَنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يُرْبِيَ وَيُنْسِئَ وَرُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ عَنْ يُونُسَ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ عُمَرَ.

L24000 Ali said: Among the marvels of their arguments here is their claim: "He only intended riba as dirhams exchanged for more than them," so he contrived exchanging them for dinars, then exchanging the dinars back for dirhams? I said: May Allah bless him - what a scrupulous man, fearful of standing before his Lord! {For those who fear standing before their Lord are two gardens} (55:46). He intended riba but abandoned it and turned to lawful means. This man is most virtuous, and his action is excellent - may we not be deprived of him! Yet you have transformed recognized good into evil? Is this not like one who intended to commit adultery with a woman but refrained, instead marrying her if she were free or purchasing her if she were a slave to have relations? As for this, it is good and obedience to Allah Almighty.[1]

L24001 ## The ruling on mutually agreed deferral in the sale of gold for gold and the remaining three categories [silver, dates, and wheat].

L24002 Question 1501: A mutual contractual promise in exchanging gold for gold or silver, silver for silver, and all other transactions involving the four ribawi categories (gold, silver, wheat, barley, etc.) - exchanging portions of one category for another - is permissible, whether the parties subsequently formalize the sale or not, because a contractual promise does not constitute a sale.

L24003–24004 Similarly, negotiated sale (musāwama) is also permissible whether the two parties have transacted or not, because no prohibition has been issued regarding any of that. Every single thing forbidden to us has been explicitly detailed by name. Allah, the Most High, said: "And He has detailed for you what He has forbidden to you" [Al-An'am: 119].[2]

L24005 Everything that has not been explicitly prohibited for us is permissible by the explicit text of the Quran, for in religion there is nothing except the obligatory, the forbidden, or the permissible. As for the obligatory, it is commanded to be performed in the Quran and the Sunnah; as for the forbidden, it is specified by name in the Quran and the Sunnah; and what lies beyond these two categories is neither obligatory nor forbidden—thus by necessity, it is permissible, since no fourth category exists. And success [in understanding this] is from Allah, the Exalted.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَمِنْ عَجَائِبِ حُجَجِهِمْ هُنَا أَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: إِنَّمَا أَرَادَ بِالرِّبَا دَرَاهِمَ بِأَكْثَرَ مِنْهَا، فَتَخَيَّلَ بِأَنْ صَرْفَهَا بِدَنَانِيرَ، ثُمَّ صَرْفَ الدَّنَانِيرِ بِدَرَاهِمَ؟ فَقُلْت بَارَكَ اللَّهُ فِيهِ مِنْ وَرِعٍ، خَائِفٍ لِمَقَامِ رَبِّهِ {وَلِمَنْ خَافَ مَقَامَ رَبِّهِ جَنَّتَانِ} [الرحمن: ٤٦] أَرَادَ الرِّبَا فَتَرَكَهُ وَهَرَبَ عَنْهُ إلَى الْحَلَالِ، هَذَا فَاضِلٌ جِدًّا وَعَمَلٌ جَيِّدٌ لَا عَدِمْنَاهُ، فَنَرَاكُمْ جَعَلْتُمْ الْمَعْرُوفَ مُنْكَرًا؟ وَهَلْ هَذَا إلَّا كَمَنْ أَرَادَ الزِّنَى بِامْرَأَةٍ فَلَمْ يَفْعَلْ، لَكِنْ تَزَوَّجَهَا، أَوْ اشْتَرَاهَا إنْ كَانَتْ أَمَةً فَوَطِئَهَا، أَمَّا هَذَا فَحَسَنٌ مُطِيعٌ لِلَّهِ تَعَالَى

فَكُلُّ مَا لَمْ يُفَصَّلْ لَنَا تَحْرِيمُهُ فَهُوَ حَلَالٌ بِنَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ، إذْ لَيْسَ فِي الدِّينِ إلَّا فَرْضٌ أَوْ حَرَامٌ أَوْ حَلَالٌ، فَالْفَرْضُ مَأْمُورٌ بِهِ فِي الْقُرْآنِ وَالسُّنَّةِ، وَالْحَرَامُ مُفَصَّلٌ بِاسْمِهِ فِي الْقُرْآنِ وَالسُّنَّةِ، وَمَا عَدَا هَذَيْنِ فَلَيْسَ فَرْضًا وَلَا حَرَامًا فَهُوَ بِالضَّرُورَةِ: حَلَالٌ إذْ لَيْسَ هُنَالِكَ قِسْمٌ رَابِعٌ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقِ.

The issue of exchanging dirhams by their weights.

1502. Question:

It is not permissible to exchange dirhams for dirhams of greater weight, neither through approved practice nor otherwise—and this is the reprehensible, not the approved—because it contradicts what has been transmitted from the Prophet (peace be upon him), Abū Bakr, ʿUmar, and Ibn ʿUmar. We previously mentioned this regarding ʿUmar in the presence of the Companions (may Allāh be pleased with them), and it represents the consensus of the people. Mālik permitted this practice, but we know of no one before him who agreed with him among those who maintained that usury applies to minted coins.

The legal question regarding selling gold or silver utensils prior to their dismantling.

1503 - Issue:

It is not permissible to sell gold or silver vessels except after breaking them, due to the authenticity of the Prophet's prohibition—peace and blessings be upon him—against them, as we mentioned in Kitāb al-Ṭahārah. Since owning them is forbidden, selling them is likewise prohibited, for this constitutes consuming wealth unlawfully.

Divine facilitation lies with Allah, the Exalted.

The Question of Selling Half a Dirham as a Specific Object

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع نصف درهم بِعَيْنِهِ]

١٥٠٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L24015 It is permissible for a person to purchase half of a specific dirham, half of specific dirhams, half of a dinar similarly, or half of specific dinars as jointly owned. This involves exchanging silver for gold or gold for silver, provided both parties agree to keep the items with one of them or a third party.

وَجَائِزٌ أَنْ يَبْتَاعَ الْمَرْءُ نِصْفَ دِرْهَمٍ بِعَيْنِهِ، أَوْ نِصْفَ دَرَاهِمَ بِأَعْيَانِهَا، أَوْ نِصْفَ دِينَارٍ كَذَلِكَ، أَوْ نِصْفَ دَنَانِيرَ بِأَعْيَانِهَا مُشَاعًا: يَبْتَاعُ الْفِضَّةَ بِالذَّهَبِ، وَالذَّهَبَ بِالْفِضَّةِ، وَيَتَّفِقَانِ عَلَى إِقْرَارِهَا عِنْدَ أَحَدِهِمَا أَوْ عِنْدَ أَجْنَبِيٍّ.

L24016 It is not permissible at all to exchange gold for gold fundamentally, nor silver for silver fundamentally, because it becomes a specific item for a non-specific item, and this is only lawful as a specific item for a specific item according to what we have presented. As for exchanging gold for silver in shared form, no textual prohibition has been established regarding it, {Nor is your Lord forgetful} [Maryam: 64].[3]

وَلَا يَجُوزُ فِي ذَلِكَ ذَهَبٍ بِذَهَبٍ أَصْلًا، وَلَا فِضَّةٍ بِفِضَّةٍ أَصْلًا، لِأَنَّهُ يَصِيرُ عَيْنًا بِغَيْرِ عَيْنٍ، وَهَذَا لَا يَحِلُّ إِلَّا عَيْنًا بِعَيْنٍ عَلَى مَا قَدَّمْنَا وَأَمَّا الذَّهَبُ بِالْفِضَّةِ مُشَاعًا، فَلَمْ يَأْتِ بِالنَّهْيِ عَنْهُ نَصٌّ {وَمَا كَانَ رَبُّكَ نَسِيًّا} [مريم: ٦٤]

The issue of selling for a dinar except a dirham.

L24017

[مَسْأَلَة الْبَيْع بِدِينَارٍ إِلَّا درهما]

L24018 1505. Issue: It is not permissible to sell [an item] for a dinar except [in exchange] for a dirham. If such a sale occurs, it is invalid and annulled, because it constitutes the removal of the dirham's value from the dinar, rendering the exception uncertain, since the sale is for a dinar except the value of a dirham from it.

١٥٠٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعٌ بِدِينَارٍ إِلَّا دِرْهَمًا، فَإِنْ وَقَعَ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ مَفْسُوخٌ، لِأَنَّهُ إِخْرَاجُ لَقِيمَةِ الدِّرْهَمِ مِنْ الدِّينَارِ، فَصَارَ اسْتِثْنَاءً مَجْهُولًا، إِذْ بَاعَ بِدِينَارٍ إِلَّا قِيمَةَ دِرْهَمٍ مِنْهُ.

L24019–24020 If the value of the dirham is known to both parties, the transaction remains invalid, for they stipulated the removal of the specific dirham itself from the dinar. This is absurd, as the dirham is not a constituent part of the dinar that could be separated from it. Thus, the transaction is invalid in every case. Our position aligns with the views of ʻAṭā', al-Nakhaʻī, and Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, whereas Abū Salamah ibn ʻAbd al-Raḥmān deemed it permissible. Success comes solely from Allah, the Exalted.

فَإِنْ كَانَتْ قِيمَةُ الدِّرْهَمِ مَعْلُومَةً عِنْدَهُمَا فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ أَيْضًا، لِأَنَّهُمَا شَرَطَا إِخْرَاجَ الدِّرْهَمِ بِعَيْنِهِ مِنْ الدِّينَارِ، وَهَذَا مُحَالٌ، لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ هُوَ بَعْضٌ لِلدِّينَارِ فَيَخْرُجُ مِنْهُ، فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ بِكُلِّ حَالٍ وَقَوْلُنَا هُوَ قَوْلُ عَطَاءٍ، وَالنَّخَعِيِّ وَمُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ وَأَجَازَهُ أَبُو سَلَمَةَ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ

Issue regarding the sale of categories governed by riba rules between an enslaved person and their master, and between a Muslim and a non-Muslim.

L24021

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْأَصْنَاف الربوية بَيْن الْعَبْد وسيده وَبَيْن الْمُسْلِم والكافر]

L24022 1506 - Issue:

١٥٠٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

[3] Qur'an references (L24016): Qur'an 19:64 (Maryam).

وَالرِّبَا فِي كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا بَيْنَ الْعَبْدِ وَسَيِّدِهِ كَمَا هُوَ بَيْنَ الْأَجْنَبِيَّيْنِ، وَبَيْنَ الْمُسْلِمِ وَالذِّمِّيِّ، وَبَيْنَ الْمُسْلِمِ وَالْحَرْبِيِّ، وَبَيْنَ الذِّمِّيَّيْنِ كَمَا هُوَ بَيْنَ الْمُسْلِمَيْنِ، وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L24023 Usury applies in all the aforementioned cases between a slave and his master, just as it applies between two strangers, between a Muslim and a dhimmi, between a Muslim and a harbi, and between two dhimmis just as it applies between two Muslims, there being no distinction.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ قَاسِمِ بْنِ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا بَكْرُ بْنُ حَمَّادٍ أَنَا مُسَدَّدٌ أَنَا حَفْصُ بْنُ غِيَاثٍ عَنْ أَبِي الْعَوَّامِ الْبَصْرِيِّ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ كَانَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ يَبِيعُ مِنْ غِلْمَانِهِ النَّخْلَ السَّنَتَيْنِ وَالثَّلَاثَ، فَبَعَثَ إِلَيْهِ جَابِرُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ: أَمَا عَلِمْت نَهْيَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ هَذَا؟ فَقَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ: بَلَى، وَلَكِنْ لَيْسَ بَيْنَ الْعَبْدِ وَبَيْنَ سَيِّدِهِ رِبًا

L24024 It was narrated to us through the chain of Qasim ibn Asbagh → Bakr ibn Hammad → Musaddad → Hafs ibn Ghiyath, from Abu al-Awwam al-Basri, from Ata: Ibn Abbas would sell palm trees [for delivery] in two or three years to his male slaves. Jabir ibn Abdullah sent him a message: "Do you not know the Messenger of Allah's prohibition (peace be upon him) against this?" Ibn Abbas replied: "Indeed [I know], but there is no ribā between the slave and his master."

وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الْحَسَنِ وَجَابِرِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ وَالنَّخَعِيِّ وَالشَّعْبِيِّ وَسُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ وَعُثْمَانَ الْبَتِّيِّ، وَالْحَسَنِ بْنِ حَيٍّ، وَاللَّيْثِ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ.

L24025 This is the position of al-Ḥasan, Jābir ibn Zayd, al-Nakhaʿī, al-Shaʿbī, Sufyān al-Thawrī, ʿUthmān al-Battī, al-Ḥasan ibn Ḥayy, al-Layth, Abū Ḥanīfah, and al-Shāfiʿī.

وَإِنَّمَا قَالَهُ هَؤُلَاءِ عَلَى أَصْلِهِمْ الَّذِي قَدْ تَقَدَّمَ إفْسَادُنَا لَهُ مِنْ أَنَّ الْعَبْدَ لَا يَمْلِكُ، وَذَكَرْنَا أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ يَرَى الْعَبْدَ يَمْلِكُ، وَهَذَا جَابِرٌ قَدْ أَنْكَرَ ذَلِكَ عَلَى ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ.

L24026 They only said this based on their principle—which we have refuted—that a slave does not own. We mentioned that Ibn Umar holds the view that a slave does own, and Jabir, however, denied that against Ibn Abbas.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا إبْرَاهِيمُ عَنْ أَبِي إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ شَدَّادٍ، قَالَ: مَرَّ الْحُسَيْنُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا - بِرَاعٍ فَأَهْدَى الرَّاعِي إلَيْهِ شَاةً؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ الْحُسَيْنُ: حُرٌّ أَنْتَ أَمْ مَمْلُوكٌ؟ فَقَالَ: مَمْلُوكٌ، فَرَدَّهَا الْحُسَيْنُ عَلَيْهِ؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ الْمَمْلُوكُ: إنَّهَا لِي، فَقَبِلَهَا مِنْهُ، ثُمَّ اشْتَرَاهُ وَاشْتَرَى الْغَنَمَ، فَأَعْتَقَهُ، وَجَعَلَ الْغَنَمَ لَهُ.

L24027 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Ishaq ibn Mansur narrated to us, Ibrahim narrated from Abu Ishaq from Abdullah ibn Shaddad, who said: Al-Husayn ibn Ali—may Allah be pleased with them both—passed by a shepherd, and the shepherd offered him a sheep. Al-Husayn asked him: "Are you free or a slave?" He replied: "A slave." Al-Husayn then returned the sheep to him. The slave said: "It is mine," so Al-Husayn accepted it from him. He then purchased the slave and purchased the sheep, freed him, and gave him the sheep.

فَهَذَا الْحُسَيْنُ تَقَبَّلَ هَدِيَّةَ الْمَمْلُوكِ إذَا أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّهَا لَهُ وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِيمَا سَلَفَ مِنْ كِتَابِنَا هَذَا وَهُوَ الْحُجَّةُ الْبَالِغَةُ لَا مَنْ سِوَاهُ

L24028 Thus, al-Husayn accepted the slave's gift when he informed him that it belonged to him. We have mentioned a similar account from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—in the preceding sections of this book. He is the conclusive proof, not anyone besides him. When Allah the Exalted prohibited usury and threatened punishment for it, He did not single out a slave from a free person. {And your Lord is not forgetful} [Maryam: 64].[4]

وَإِذَا حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى الرِّبَا وَتَوَعَّدَ فِيهِ فَمَا خَصَّ عَبْدًا مِنْ حُرٍّ {وَمَا كَانَ رَبُّكَ نَسِيًّا} [مريم: ٦٤]

L24029 What is perplexing is that Al-Shafi'i and Abu Hanifa do not permit a person to sell his own property to himself. Yet if the slave's property [is deemed to] belong to his master, they have contradicted their own foundational principle and permitted him [the slave] to sell his own property to himself.

وَالْعَجَبُ: أَنَّ الشَّافِعِيَّ، وَأَبَا حَنِيفَةَ: لَا يُجِيزَانِ أَنْ يَبِيعَ الْمَرْءُ مَالَ نَفْسِهِ مِنْ نَفْسِهِ، فَإِنْ كَانَ مَالُ الْعَبْدِ لِسَيِّدِهِ فَقَدْ نَقَضُوا أَصْلَهُمْ، وَأَجَازُوا لَهُ بَيْعَ مَالِ نَفْسِهِ مِنْ نَفْسِهِ.

L24030–24031 If the slave's property does not belong to the master unless he sells or seizes it, they have openly sanctioned usury.

وَإِنْ كَانَ مَالُ الْعَبْدِ لَيْسَ لِلسَّيِّدِ مَا لَمْ يَبِعْهُ أَوْ يَنْتَزِعْهُ: فَقَدْ أَجَازُوا الرِّبَا صُرَاحًا.

L24032 As for the disbelievers, Allah the Exalted says: "Whoever seeks a religion other than Islam, it will never be accepted from him" [Āl 'Imrān 3:85].[5]

وَأَمَّا الْكُفَّارُ: فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ: {وَمَنْ يَبْتَغِ غَيْرَ الإِسْلامِ دِينًا فَلَنْ يُقْبَلَ مِنْهُ} [آل عمران: ٨٥]

L24033 Allah says: "Until there is no persecution, and all sovereignty is entirely for Allah." [8:39][6]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {حَتَّى لا تَكُونَ فِتْنَةٌ وَيَكُونَ الدِّينُ كُلُّهُ لِلَّهِ} [الأنفال: ٣٩]

L24034 And He, the Most High, said: "And that you judge between them by what Allah has revealed" [Al-Ma'idah: 49].[7]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَأَنِ احْكُمْ بَيْنَهُمْ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ} [المائدة: ٤٩]

L24035 Thus, it is established that whatever is forbidden to us is forbidden to them. We ask those who oppose us: Does Islam impose its religion upon them and forbid them from the opposition they adhere to? Are they upon falsehood or not? If they say Islam does not impose its religion upon them, nor forbid them from the opposition they adhere to, and that they are not upon falsehood—then they have disbelieved without doubt.

فَصَحَّ أَنَّ كُلَّ مَا حُرِّمَ عَلَيْنَا فَهُوَ حَرَامٌ عَلَيْهِمْ، وَنَسْأَلُ مَنْ خَالَفَنَا: أَيُلْزِمُهُمْ دِينَ الْإِسْلَامِ وَيُحَرِّمُ عَلَيْهِمْ مَا هُمْ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ خِلَافِهِ؟ وَهَلْ هُمْ عَلَى بَاطِلٍ أَمْ لَا؟ فَإِنْ قَالُوا: لَا يُلْزِمُهُمْ دِينَ الْإِسْلَامِ، وَلَا يُحَرِّمُ عَلَيْهِمْ مَا هُمْ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ خِلَافِهِ، وَأَنَّهُمْ لَيْسُوا عَلَى بَاطِلٍ: كَفَرُوا بِلَا مِرْيَةٍ.

L24036 And if they say: "The religion of Islam is binding upon them, and what they practice contrary to it is forbidden for them, while they are upon falsehood?" They have spoken the truth and returned to our position. Consequently, it becomes obligatory upon him to invalidate falsehood and nullify the forbidden, so he is guided by God's guidance Almighty; or he must confess upon himself that he implements rulings through falsehood and permits the forbidden. All this we have cited from him.

وَإِنْ قَالُوا: يَلْزَمُهُمْ دِينُ الْإِسْلَامِ وَحَرَامٌ عَلَيْهِمْ مَا هُمْ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ خِلَافِهِ، وَهُمْ عَلَى بَاطِلٍ؟ قَالُوا الْحَقَّ وَرَجَعُوا إِلَى قَوْلِنَا، وَلَزِمَهُ إِبْطَالُ الْبَاطِلِ، وَفَسْخُ الْحَرَامِ، فَيَهْتَدِي بِهَدْيِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، أَوْ الْإِقْرَارُ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ بِأَنَّهُ يُنَفِّذُ الْحُكْمَ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَيُجِيزُ الْحَرَامَ، وَمَا أَوْرَدْنَا مِنْهُ كُلَّ هَذَا.

[5] Qur'an references (L24032): Qur'an 3:85 (Ali 'Imran).
[6] Qur'an references (L24033): Qur'an 8:39 (Al-Anfal).

L24037 If they say: "How severe is the disbelief they adhere to!" We respond: "The disbelief they follow cannot be openly proclaimed, as the scriptural ruling forbids compelling them to prayer, zakah, fasting, or Hajj."

L24038 Similarly, He has commanded that we judge between them by what Allah has revealed, so it is impermissible to abandon either of the two texts for the other, and with Allah, the Most High, is the success.

L24039 Abu Hanifah said: There is no harm in usury between a Muslim and a non-Muslim from a hostile territory, and this is an extremely grave matter.

L24040 ## The Issue of Selling Meat of the Live Animal

L24041 1507 – Issue.

L24042 It is permissible to sell meat for an animal, whether they are of the same kind or different kinds. Similarly, it is permissible to sell meat for meat, whether of the same kind or different kinds, whether differing or equal.

L24043 Similarly, it is permissible to deliver meat in exchange for meat.

L24044–24046 The exchange of animals as meat—such as exchanging the meat of one ram for that of another, whether of differing quality or identical—must be exchanged hand to hand. And to a term, likewise with meat from another species – such as transferring a ram in exchange for ratls of its meat or another type deferred to a term – all of that is permissible and lawful.

L24047 Allah, the Exalted, said: "He has permitted trade and forbidden usury." [Al-Baqarah: 275][8]

L24048 And He, the Exalted, said: "He has explained in detail what He has forbidden

[8] Qur'an references (L24047): Qur'an 2:275 (Al-Baqarah).

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: مَا هُمْ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ الْكُفْرِ أَشَدُّ؟ قُلْنَا: إنَّ الَّذِي هُمْ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ الْكُفْرِ لَا يُفْسَحُ لَهُمْ فِي إعْلَانِهِ، وَقَدْ جَاءَ النَّصُّ بِأَنْ لَا نَجْبُرَهُمْ عَلَى الصَّلَاةِ، وَالزَّكَاةِ، وَالصِّيَامِ، وَالْحَجِّ.

وَكَذَلِكَ جَاءَ بِأَنْ نَحْكُمَ بَيْنَهُمْ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ تَرْكُ أَحَدِ النَّصَّيْنِ لِلْآخَرِ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِالرِّبَا بَيْنَ الْمُسْلِمِ، وَالْحَرْبِيِّ وَهَذَا عَظِيمٌ جِدًّا.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع اللَّحْم بِالْحَيَوَانِ]

١٥٠٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُ اللَّحْمِ بِالْحَيَوَانِ مِنْ نَوْعٍ وَاحِدٍ كَانَا أَوْ مِنْ نَوْعَيْنِ وَكَذَلِكَ يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ اللَّحْمِ بِاللَّحْمِ مِنْ نَوْعٍ وَاحِدٍ أَوْ مِنْ نَوْعَيْنِ مُتَفَاضِلًا، وَمُتَمَاثِلًا.

وَجَائِزٌ تَسْلِيمُ اللَّحْمِ فِي اللَّحْمِ كَذَلِكَ.

وَتَسْلِيمُ الْحَيَوَانِ فِي اللَّحْمِ، كَلَحْمِ كَبْشٍ بِلَحْمِ كَبْشٍ مُتَفَاضِلًا وَمُتَمَاثِلًا، يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَإِلَى أَجَلٍ وَكَذَلِكَ بِاللَّحْمِ مِنْ غَيْرِ نَوْعِهِ أَيْضًا وَكَتَسْلِيمِ كَبْشٍ فِي أَرْطَالِ لَحْمِ كَبْشٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ إلَى أَجَلٍ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ جَائِزٌ حَلَالٌ.

قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ وَحَرَّمَ الرِّبَا} [البقرة: ٢٧٥]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَقَدْ فَصَّلَ لَكُمْ مَا حَرَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ} [الأنعام: ١١٩] to you" [Al-An'am: 119].[9]

فَهَذَا كُلُّهُ بَيْعٌ لَمْ يُفَصَّلْ تَحْرِيمُهُ.

L24049 Thus, all of this is a sale whose prohibition has not been detailed.

وَأَمَّا اللَّحْمُ بِاللَّحْمِ فَلَمْ يَأْتِ نَهْيٌ عَنْهُ أَصْلًا، لَا صَحِيحٌ وَلَا سَقِيمٌ مِنْ أَثَرٍ.

L24050 As for meat exchanged for meat, no prohibition against it has come at all—neither a sound nor a weak narration from any report.

وَأَمَّا اللَّحْمُ بِالْحَيَوَانِ فَجَاءَ فِيهِ أَثَرٌ لَا يَصِحُّ.

L24051 As for the meat of the animal, there is a report concerning it that is not authentic.

وَهَذَا كُلُّهُ قَوْلُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ وَأَصْحَابِنَا. وَرُوِيَ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ وَهُوَ قَوْلُ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ

L24052 All of this is the opinion of Abū Sulaymān and our companions. It has been narrated from Ibn ʿAbbās, and it is the opinion of Sufyān al-Thawrī.

وَاخْتَلَفَ الْحَاضِرُونَ عَلَى فِرَقٍ: فَطَائِفَةٌ مَنَعَتْ مِنْ بَيْعِ اللَّحْمِ بِالْحَيَوَانِ جُمْلَةً، أَيَّ لَحْمٍ كَانَ لَا تَحَاشَ شَيْئًا، بِأَيِّ حَيَوَانٍ كَانَ لَا تَحَاشَ شَيْئًا، حَتَّى مَنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِ الْعَبْدِ بِاللَّحْمِ.

L24053 The attendees were divided into factions: one faction categorically prohibited the sale of meat for animals—regardless of the type of meat or animal, without distinction—to the extent that they even prohibited the sale of a slave for meat.

وَهَذَا قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَاخْتَلَفَ قَوْلُهُ فِي اللَّحْمِ بِاللَّحْمِ فَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ: أَنْ يُجْمَعَ لُحُومُ الْحَيَوَانِ كُلِّهَا طَائِرَةً وَوَحْشِيَّةً، وَالْأَنْعَامِ، كُلِّهَا صِنْفٌ وَاحِدٌ.

L24054 This is the opinion of Al-Shafi'i, and he held differing views regarding meat exchanged for meat. It is reported from him that all meats of animals—including birds, wild animals, and domesticated grazing animals—all of them constitute a single category.

وَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ: أَنَّ لَحْمَ كُلِّ نَوْعٍ صِنْفٌ عَلَى حِيَالِهِ، وَلَمْ يَخْتَلِفْ عَنْهُ فِي أَنَّهُ لَا يُبَاعُ لَحْمٌ بِلَحْمٍ أَصْلًا حَتَّى يَتَنَاهَى جَفَافُهُ وَيَبَسُهُ؟ فَعَلَى أَحَدِ قَوْلَيْهِ: لَا يُبَاعُ قَدِيدُ غَنَمٍ بِقَدِيدِ إِبِلٍ، أَوْ بِقَدِيدِ دَجَاجٍ، أَوْ إِوَزٍّ أَوْ مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَعَلَى الْقَوْلِ الثَّانِي: أَنَّهُ لَا يُبَاعُ قَدِيدُ غَنَمٍ بِقَدِيدِ غَنَمٍ، إِلَّا يَدًا بِيَدٍ، مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، وَجَائِزٌ أَنْ يُبَاعَ بِقَدِيدِ الْبَقَرِ مُتَفَاضِلًا يَدًا بِيَدٍ.

L24055 It has been narrated from him that the meat of each type constitutes a distinct category, with no disagreement reported from him that meat should not be sold for meat at all until it is completely dry. According to one of his two positions: cured sheep meat must not be traded for cured camel meat, cured chicken, goose, or like for like. According to the second position: cured sheep meat must not be exchanged for cured sheep meat except hand-to-hand and like for like, though it is permissible to trade it for cured cow meat with a difference in quantity, provided the exchange is immediate.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: جَائِزٌ بَيْعُ اللَّحْمِ بِالْحَيَوَانِ عَلَى كُلِّ حَالٍ، جَائِزٌ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ، كَقَوْلِنَا سَوَاءً بِسَوَاءٍ.

L24056 Abu Hanifah said: It is permissible to sell meat in exchange for an animal under all circumstances; all of that is permissible, as we say, like for like.

[9] Qur'an references (L24048): Qur'an 6:119 (Al-An'am).

وَقَالَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ: جَائِزٌ بَيْعُ لَحْمِ شَاةٍ بِشَاةٍ حَيَّةً، إِذَا كَانَ اللَّحْمُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ لَحْمِ الشَّاةِ الْحَيَّةِ، فَإِنْ كَانَ مِثْلَهُ أَوْ أَقَلَّ لَمْ يَجُزْ، وَأَجَازَ بَيْعَ شَاةٍ بِبَقَرَةٍ حَيَّةً كَيْفَ شَاءُوا.

L24057 Muhammad ibn al-Hasan said: It is permissible to sell the meat of a slaughtered sheep for a live sheep, provided the slaughtered meat is greater in quantity than the meat of the live sheep [if it were slaughtered]. If it is equal to or less than it, it is not valid. He also permitted selling a sheep for a live cow, according to whatever terms they mutually agree upon.

وَأَجَازَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَأَصْحَابُهُ بَيْعَ لَحْمِ شَاةٍ بِلَحْمِ شَاةٍ مُتَمَاثِلًا نَقْدًا وَلَا بُدَّ، وَكَذَلِكَ لَحْمُ كُلِّ صِنْفٍ بِلَحْمٍ مِنْ صِنْفِهِ وَأَبَاحُوا التَّفَاضُلَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ فِي كُلِّ لَحْمٍ بِلَحْمٍ مِنْ غَيْرِ صِنْفِهِ، وَالْبَقَرُ عِنْدَهُمْ صِنْفٌ، وَالْغَنَمُ صِنْفٌ آخَرُ، وَالْإِبِلُ صِنْفٌ ثَالِثٌ وَكَذَلِكَ كُلُّ حَيَوَانٍ فِي صِنْفِهِ، إِلَّا الْحِيتَانُ فَإِنَّهَا كُلَّهَا عِنْدَهُ صِنْفٌ وَاحِدٌ، وَإِلَّا لُحُومُ الطَّيْرِ، فَرَأَوْا بَيْعَ بَعْضِهَا بِبَعْضٍ مُتَفَاضِلًا يَدًا بِيَدٍ، لَا نَسِيئَةً، كَلَحْمِ دَجَاجٍ بِلَحْمِ دَجَاجٍ، أَوْ بِلَحْمِ صَيْدٍ، أَوْ غَيْرِ ذَلِكَ.

L24058–24060 Abu Hanifah and his companions permitted the sale of sheep meat for sheep meat provided they are identical, paid immediately without exception, and similarly. The meat of each category is exchanged with meat of its own kind. They permitted unequal exchange hand-to-hand when exchanging any meat for meat from a different category. According to their classification, cows constitute one category, sheep another category, camels a third category, and similarly every animal belongs to its own category - except fish, which he considers all varieties to form a single category, and except poultry meat. They ruled that exchanging some poultry meat for other poultry meat with disparity is permissible hand-to-hand (not on credit), such as chicken meat for chicken meat, or exchanging poultry meat for game meat, or other types.

وَرَأَى شَحْمَ الْبَطْنِ مِنْ كُلِّ حَيَوَانٍ صِنْفًا غَيْرَ لَحْمِهِ، وَغَيْرَ شَحْمِ ظَهْرِهِ.

L24061 He considered the abdominal fat of every animal to be a distinct category separate from its meat and the fat of its back.

وَرَأَى الْأَلْيَةَ صِنْفًا آخَرَ غَيْرَ اللَّحْمِ وَالشَّحْمِ.

L24062 The Ḥanafī school regarded the alyah as a separate category excluded from meat and fat.

وَهَذِهِ وَسَاوِسُ لَا نَظِيرَ لَهَا، وَأَقْوَالٌ لَا تُعْقَلُ، وَلَا تُعْلَمُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ.

L24063 These are unparalleled whispers, and statements that cannot be comprehended, nor have they been known from anyone before him.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: ذَوَاتُ الْأَرْبَعِ كُلُّهَا صِنْفٌ وَاحِدٌ: الْبَقَرُ، وَالْغَنَمُ، وَالْإِبِلُ، وَالْأَرَانِبُ، وَالْأَيَايِلُ، وَحُمُرُ الْوَحْشِ، وَكُلُّ ذِي أَرْبَعٍ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَحْمُ شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا بِحَيٍّ مِنْهَا فَلَمْ يَجُزْ بَيْعُ لَحْمِ أَرْنَبٍ حَيٍّ بِلَحْمِ جَمَلٍ أَصْلًا، وَلَا لَحْمِ جَمَلٍ بِلَحْمِ كَبْشٍ، إِلَّا مِثْلًا بِمِثْلٍ، يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَكَذَلِكَ سَائِرُ ذَوَاتِ الْأَرْبَعِ.

L24064 Mālik said: All four-legged animals constitute a single category: cattle, sheep, camels, rabbits, deer, wild donkeys, and every quadruped. It is impermissible to exchange the meat of any of them for a live animal of the same category. Therefore, selling slaughtered rabbit meat for a live camel is fundamentally invalid, nor camel meat for ram meat—unless [the exchange is] like for like, hand to hand. This ruling applies uniformly to all four-legged animals.

L24065 He considered all birds as a single category: chickens, pigeons, ostriches, geese, partridges, sandgrouse, and others. Thus, the meat of any bird remains impermissible in exchange for a live bird of the same category, even if it is of a different type. He permitted exchanging the meat of one bird for another of equal value through immediate exchange, but prohibited disparity in value. Consequently, he disallowed unequal exchange between chicken meat and bustard meat (different species), applying this ruling uniformly to all birds in the category.

وَرَأَى الطَّيْرَ كُلَّهُ صِنْفًا وَاحِدًا: الدَّجَاجُ، وَالْحَمَامُ، وَالنَّعَامُ، وَالْإِوَزُّ، وَالْحَجَلُ، وَالْقَطَا، وَغَيْرُ ذَلِكَ فَلَمْ يَجُزْ أَيْضًا لَحْمُ شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا بِحَيٍّ مِنْهَا وَإِنْ كَانَ مِنْ غَيْرِ نَوْعِهِ وَأَجَازَ فِي لَحْمِ بَعْضِهَا بِبَعْضٍ: التَّمَاثُلَ يَدًا بِيَدٍ، وَمَنَعَ مِنْ التَّفَاضُلِ، فَلَمْ يُجِزْ التَّفَاضُلَ فِي لَحْمِ دَجَاجٍ بِلَحْمِ حُبَارَى وَهَكَذَا فِي كُلِّ شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا.

L24066 He observed all sea creatures as a single kind, similarly.

وَرَأَى الْحِيتَانَ كُلَّهَا صِنْفًا وَاحِدًا كَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا.

L24067 He considered the locust an independent fourth category, despite having hunted birds sufficient to fulfill his obligation during the sacred state of Iḥrām.

وَرَأَى الْجَرَادَ صِنْفًا رَابِعًا عَلَى حِيَالِهِ، هَذَا وَهُوَ عِنْدَهُ صَيْدٌ مِنْ الطَّيْرِ يُجْزِيهِ الْمُحَرَّمَ.

L24068 He prohibited uncooked dried meat exchanged for roasted meat and prohibited both when exchanged for fresh raw meat. He permitted all items from these three types in exchange for cooked meat of their own kind—whether differing in quantity or equal—through immediate spot exchange. He permitted meat cooked using honey to be exchanged for meat cooked using milk when equal in measure, but prohibited disparity in quantity between them.

L24069 He permitted exchanging a slaughtered sheep for a slaughtered sheep after careful scrutiny, and this contradicts its foundational principle.

وَأَجَازَ شَاةً مَذْبُوحَةً بِشَاةٍ مَذْبُوحَةٍ عَلَى التَّحَرِّي وَهَذَا ضِدُّ أَصْلِهِ.

L24070 These are statements of utmost corruption, and we know of no one who uttered them before him. Were we to scrutinize their verbosity here and his contradictions, it would become exceedingly lengthy, and this suffices for whoever seeks self-improvement.

وَهَذِهِ أَقْوَالٌ فِي غَايَةِ الْفَسَادِ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ أَحَدًا قَالَهَا قَبْلَهُ وَلَوْ تَقَصَّيْنَا تَطْوِيلَهُمْ هَهُنَا وَتَنَاقُضَهُ، لَطَالَ جِدًّا وَفِي هَذَا كِفَايَةٌ لِمَنْ نَصَحَ نَفْسَهُ.

L24071–24072 Abū Muḥammad said: The Shāfiʿīs cited as evidence what we have narrated via the chain of Mālik, from Zayd ibn Aslam, from Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib—"The Messenger of Allāh (peace be upon him) prohibited the sale/exchange of live animals for meat."

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَاحْتَجَّ الشَّافِعِيُّونَ بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِك عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَسْلَمَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْحَيَوَانِ بِاللَّحْمِ» .

L24073 And through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Al-Minhāl: ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUmar An-Numayrī narrated to us from Yūnus ibn Yazīd Al-Aylī from Az-Zuhrī, who said: I heard Saʿīd ibn Al-Musayyab say, "The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) forbade buying a living animal for a dead one." Az-Zuhrī said: "Thus, it is not valid to do so with a live ewe."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ النُّمَيْرِيُّ عَنْ يُونُسَ بْنِ يَزِيدَ الْأَيْلِيِّ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ قَالَ: سَمِعْت سَعِيدَ بْنَ الْمُسَيِّبِ يَقُولُ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُبْتَاعَ الْحَيُّ بِالْمَيِّتِ» قَالَ الزُّهْرِيُّ: فَلَا يَصْلُحُ بِشَاةٍ حَيَّةٍ.

L24074 From the narration of Abd al-Razzaq, from Ibrahim ibn Abi Yahya, from Salih, the client of al-Taw'ama, from Ibn Abbas: A man intended to sell a part of camel meat for a sheep? Abu Bakr al-Siddiq said: "This is not permissible."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ بْنِ أَبِي يَحْيَى عَنْ صَالِحٍ مَوْلَى التَّوْأَمَةِ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ: أَنَّ رَجُلًا أَرَادَ أَنْ يَبِيعَ جُزْءًا مِنْ لَحْمِ بَعِيرٍ بِشَاةٍ؟ فَقَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ الصِّدِّيقُ: لَا يَصْلُحُ هَذَا.

L24075 It has been authentically reported from Sa'id ibn al-Musayyab that it is impermissible to sell a live animal for a ritually slaughtered one, and that it is impermissible to exchange a camel for a specified number of sheep if he intends to slaughter the camel.

وَصَحَّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ: أَنْ لَا يُبَاعَ حَيٌّ بِمَذْبُوحٍ، وَأَنَّهُ لَا يَجُوزُ بَعِيرٍ بِغَنَمٍ مَعْدُودَةٍ إنْ كَانَ يُرِيدُ الْبَعِيرَ لِيَنْحَرَهُ.

L24076 And he said: Among the forms of maysir (gambling) in the pre-Islamic era was exchanging meat for a sheep.

وَقَالَ: كَانَ مِنْ مَيْسِرِ أَهْلِ الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ بَيْعُ اللَّحْمِ بِالشَّاةِ.

L24077 Abu al-Zinad said: I witnessed people prohibiting the exchange of meat for live animals and writing this prohibition in the contractual agreements of workers during the time of Aban ibn Uthman and Hisham ibn Isma'il. Ibn Abi al-Zinad mentioned this practice from the Seven Jurists, stating that they regarded it with utmost gravity and permitted no leniency in its observance.

وَقَالَ أَبُو الزِّنَادِ: أَدْرَكْت النَّاسَ يَنْهَوْنَ عَنْ بَيْعِ اللَّحْمِ بِالْحَيَوَانِ وَيَكْتُبُونَهُ فِي عُهُودِ الْعُمَّالِ فِي زَمَنِ أَبَانَ بْنِ عُثْمَانَ، وَهِشَامِ بْنِ إسْمَاعِيلَ وَذَكَرَهُ ابْنُ أَبِي الزِّنَادِ عَنْ الْفُقَهَاءِ السَّبْعَةِ، وَأَنَّهُمْ كَانُوا يُعَظِّمُونَ ذَلِكَ وَلَا يَتَرَخَّصُونَ فِيهِ.

L24078 Abu Muhammad said: As for the report concerning this matter, it is a _mursal_ and was never supported by any chain of transmission. It is astonishing that al-Shāfiʿī - who affirmed the impermissibility of relying on the _mursal_ - should then rely on it here.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: أَمَّا الْخَبَرُ فِي ذَلِكَ فَمُرْسَلٌ لَمْ يُسْنَدْ قَطُّ، وَالْعَجَبُ مِنْ قَوْلِ الشَّافِعِيِّ: إنَّ الْمُرْسَلَ لَا يَجُوزُ الْأَخْذُ بِهِ، ثُمَّ أَخَذَ هَهُنَا بِالْمُرْسَلِ.

L24079 Then another point of amazement concerning the Hanafis—who assert that the mursal is equivalent to the musnad—is that they contradicted this very mursal, even though there is no stronger mursal among the marasil than this one. And this is among the matters in which the Hanafis opposed the majority of scholars.

ثُمَّ عَجَبٌ آخَرُ مِنْ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ الْقَائِلِينَ: الْمُرْسَلُ كَالْمُسْنَدِ، ثُمَّ خَالَفُوا هَذَا الْمُرْسَلَ الَّذِي لَيْسَ فِي الْمَرَاسِيلِ أَقْوَى مِنْهُ وَهَذَا مِمَّا خَالَفَ فِيهِ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ جُمْهُورَ الْعُلَمَاءِ.

L24080 Then the Malikis: a third astonishment, for they cited this report as evidence while giving the false impression of adhering to it, though they opposed it by permitting bird meat with sheep. This contradicts the report and instead aligns with al-Shāfiʿī's position.

ثُمَّ الْمَالِكِيُّونَ: فَعَجَبٌ ثَالِثٌ، لِأَنَّهُمْ احْتَجُّوا بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ، وَأَوْهَمُوا أَنَّهُمْ أَخَذُوا بِهِ، وَهُمْ قَدْ خَالَفُوهُ، لِأَنَّهُمْ أَبَاحُوا لَحْمَ الطَّيْرِ بِالْغَنَمِ، وَهَذَا خِلَافُ الْخَبَرِ وَإِنَّمَا هُوَ مُوَافِقٌ لِقَوْلِ الشَّافِعِيِّ.

L24081–24083 Mālik also differed here from what was transmitted from the Seven Fuqaha of Medina and the practice of the governors in Medina. This difference greatly magnifies the weight of their opinion when it aligns with theirs, and they argued using the narration of Abū Bakr—which is transmitted through Ibrāhīm ibn Abī Yaḥyā. The first to decree that his narrations not be accepted was Mālik, and then those from Ṣāliḥ—the freed slave of al-Tawʾamah. The first to weaken his narrations was Mālik. By Allah! By the Muslims! When trustworthy narrators relate a report contradicting their opinions, they devise false pretexts to reject it. Yet when one whom they testify is a liar narrates what aligns with their views, they cite it as proof. What religion could endure this? If the Shāfiʿīs argue: "The interrupted narrations of Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab are authoritative, unlike others," we respond: "Is this now considered authoritative?" Behold what we have transmitted through Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr: Ḥafṣ ibn Maysarah reported from Ibn Ḥarmalah from Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab, who said: "The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited selling livestock for the colostrum of sheep. Adhere to this, or you have indeed made a mockery. Fear Allah!"

وَقَدْ خَالَفَ مَالِكٌ أَيْضًا هَهُنَا مَا رُوِيَ عَنْ الْفُقَهَاءِ السَّبْعَةِ، وَعَمَلِ الْوُلَاةِ بِالْمَدِينَةِ، وَهَذَا يُعَظِّمُهُ جِدًّا إذَا وَافَقَ رَأْيَهُمْ وَاحْتَجُّوا بِخَبَرِ أَبِي بَكْرٍ وَهُوَ مِنْ رِوَايَةِ ابْنِ أَبِي يَحْيَى إبْرَاهِيمَ، وَأَوَّلُ مَنْ أَمَرَ أَنْ لَا تُؤْخَذَ رِوَايَتُهُ فَمَالِكٌ، ثُمَّ عَنْ صَالِحٍ مَوْلَى التَّوْأَمَةِ، وَأَوَّلُ مَنْ ضَعَّفَهُ فَمَالِكٌ فَيَا لِلَّهِ وَيَا لِلْمُسْلِمِينَ إذَا رَوَى الثِّقَاتُ خَبَرًا يُخَالِفُ رَأْيَهُمْ تَحَيَّلُوا بِالْأَبَاطِيلِ فِي رَدِّهِ، وَإِذَا رَوَى مَنْ يَشْهَدُونَ عَلَيْهِ بِالْكَذِبِ مَا يُوَافِقُهُمْ احْتَجُّوا بِهِ، فَأَيُّ دِينٍ يَبْقَى مَعَ هَذَا؟ فَإِنْ قَالَ الشَّافِعِيُّونَ: مَرَاسِيلُ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ حُجَّةٌ بِخِلَافِ غَيْرِهِ؟ قُلْنَا لَهُمْ: السَّاعَةُ صَارَتْ حُجَّةً؟ فَدُونَكُمْ مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا حَفْصُ بْنُ مَيْسَرَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ حَرْمَلَةَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ، قَالَ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُبَاعَ الْحَيَوَانُ بِالْمَفَاطِيمِ مِنْ الْغَنَمِ فَقُولُوا بِهِ، وَإِلَّا فَقَدْ تَلَاعَبْتُمْ، وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ» .

L24084 Narrations with additional details have also been reported regarding this. It has been reported to us through the chain of Ḥammād ibn Salamah, who narrated to us from ʿAbd al-Karīm ibn Yazīd ibn Ṭalq: A man slaughtered a male camel and began selling limbs in exchange for sheep, pregnant she-camels, or on credit. Ibn ʿUmar disapproved of this practice.

وَقَدْ رُوِيَتْ فِي هَذِهِ آثَارٌ أَيْضًا بِزِيَادَةٍ، فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ الْكَرِيمِ بْنُ يَزِيدَ بْنِ طَلْقٍ: أَنَّ رَجُلًا نَحَرَ جَزُورًا فَجَعَلَ يَبِيعُ الْعُضْوَ بِالشَّاةِ، وَبِالْقَلُوصِ، إلَى أَجَلٍ فَكَرِهَ ذَلِكَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ.

L24085 From the narration of Wakīʿ: I [Isrāʾīl] report from ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿIṣmah, who said: I heard Ibn ʿAbbās being asked about someone who purchased a limb from a camel that had been ritually slaughtered in exchange for the leg of a young she-goat, with the condition imposed on the she-goat's owner to suckle it until it is weaned. Ibn ʿAbbās replied: "It is not permissible."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ أَنَا إسْرَائِيلُ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عِصْمَةَ سَمِعْت ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ وَسُئِلَ عَمَّنْ اشْتَرَى عُضْوًا مِنْ جَزُورٍ قَدْ نُحِرَتْ بِرِجْلِ عِنَاقٍ وَشُرِطَ عَلَى صَاحِبِهَا أَنْ يُرْضِعَهَا حَتَّى تُفْطَمَ؟ فَقَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ: لَا يَصْلُحُ.

L24086 Abū Muḥammad said: This is a condition not found in the Book of God, the Exalted, so it is invalid.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ.

L24087 It was narrated to us through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq: I, Ma'mar, [narrate] from Yahya ibn Abi Kathir, from a man, from Ibn Abbas, who said: "There is no harm in selling meat in exchange for a sheep."

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا مَعْمَرٌ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ عَنْ رَجُلٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ أَنْ يُبَاعَ اللَّحْمُ بِالشَّاةِ.

L24088 If it is said: "Is this from a man?" We respond: The narration of Abu Bakr from Ibn Abi Yahya is not more reliable than someone about whom silence was maintained, whoever he may be.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: هَذَا عَنْ رَجُلٍ؟ قُلْنَا: وَخَبَرُ أَبِي بَكْرٍ عَنْ ابْنِ أَبِي يَحْيَى وَلَيْسَ بِأَوْثَقَ مِمَّنْ سَكَتَ عَنْهُ كَائِنًا مَنْ كَانَ.

L24089 And via the chain of Abd al-Razzaq from Sufyan al-Thawri: There is no harm in a sheep standing with the slaughtered [animal].

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ: لَا بَأْسَ بِالشَّاةِ الْقَائِمَةِ بِالْمَذْبُوحَةِ.

L24090 The issue of selling an item prior to taking possession of it.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الشَّيْء قَبْل قبضه]

L24091 1508. Question:

١٥٠٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L24092 Whoever purchases any item—whatever it may be among permissible commodities to sell, except wheat—it is unlawful for him to sell it until he takes possession. Possession occurs when he freely accesses it without any barrier between himself and the item. If no barrier exists for any period, however brief or prolonged, and later a barrier arises through usurpation or other means, it becomes lawful for him to sell it, for he has already taken possession. He may gift it, lease it, assign it as a dower, lend it, transfer it, or give it as charity before taking possession by freely accessing it.

وَمَنْ ابْتَاعَ شَيْئًا أَيَّ شَيْءٍ كَانَ مِمَّا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ، حَاشَ الْقَمْحَ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَهُ، وَقَبْضُهُ لَهُ: هُوَ أَنْ يُطْلِقَ يَدَهُ عَلَيْهِ بِأَنْ لَا يُحَالَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَحُلْ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ مُدَّةٌ مَا قَلَّتْ أَمْ كَثُرَتْ ثُمَّ حِيلَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ بِغَصْبٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ: حَلَّ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ قَدْ قَبَضَهُ، وَلَهُ أَنْ يَهَبَهُ، وَأَنْ يُؤَاجِرَ بِهِ، وَأَنْ يُصْدِقَهُ، وَأَنْ يُقْرِضَهُ، وَأَنْ يُسَلِّمَهُ، وَأَنْ يَتَصَدَّقَ بِهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقْبِضَهُ، وَقَبْلَ أَنْ تُطْلَقَ يَدُهُ عَلَيْهِ.

L24093–24094 If he owns anything—whatever it may be—that is permissible to sell through means other than a sale contract, such as inheritance, a gift, a loan, a dower, charity, a salam contract, compensation, or other such means, it is permissible for him to sell it before taking possession of it and to dispose of it by assigning it as a dower, gifting it, or giving it in charity, except for wheat.

فَإِنْ مَلَكَ شَيْئًا مَا أَيَّ شَيْءٍ كَانَ مِمَّا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ بِغَيْرِ الْبَيْعِ، لَكِنْ بِمِيرَاثٍ أَوْ هِبَةٍ، أَوْ قَرْضٍ، أَوْ صَدَاقٍ، أَوْ صَدَقَةٍ، أَوْ سَلَمٍ، أَوْ أَرْشٍ، أَوْ غَيْرِ ذَلِكَ: جَازَ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقْبِضَهُ، وَأَنْ يَتَصَرَّفَ فِيهِ بِالْإِصْدَاقِ، وَالْهِبَةِ، وَالصَّدَقَةِ، حَاشَ الْقَمْحَ.

L24095 As for wheat: regardless of how he acquired it—whether via purchase, gift, charity, dower, lease, blood money, salam contract, interest-free loan, or other means—it is not lawful for him to sell it until he takes possession of it, as previously stated, so that no intermediary is placed between him and it.

وَأَمَّا الْقَمْحُ: فَإِنَّهُ بِأَيِّ وَجْهٍ مَلَكَهُ مِنْ: بَيْعٍ، أَوْ هِبَةٍ، أَوْ صَدَقَةٍ، أَوْ صَدَاقٍ، أَوْ إِجَارَةٍ، أَوْ أَرْشٍ، أَوْ سَلَمٍ أَوْ قَرْضٍ، أَوْ غَيْرِ ذَلِكَ: فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَهُ، كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا بِأَنْ لَا يُحَالَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ.

L24096 If he purchased wheat exclusively in a juzaf sale (bulk sale without measurement), it is not permissible for him to sell it until he takes possession as we mentioned, and until he relocates it away from its original location to another place, whether adjacent or distant.

فَإِنْ كَانَ اشْتَرَى الْقَمْحَ خَاصَّةً جُزَافًا، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَهُ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا، وَحَتَّى يَنْقُلَهُ وَلَا بُدَّ عَنْ مَوْضِعِهِ الَّذِي هُوَ فِيهِ إِلَى مَكَانٍ آخَرَ قَرِيبٍ مُلَاصِقٍ أَوْ بَعِيدٍ.

L24097 If he purchased wheat specifically by measure, it is not permissible for him to sell it until he has measured it. Once measured, it becomes permissible for him to sell it even if he did not move it from its place.

فَإِنْ كَانَ اشْتَرَى الْقَمْحَ خَاصَّةً بِكَيْلٍ لَمْ يَحِلَّ لَهُ أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ حَتَّى يَكْتَالَهُ، فَإِذَا اكْتَالَهُ حَلَّ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَنْقُلْهُ عَنْ مَوْضِعِهِ.

L24098 It is not permissible for him to trust the seller's measurement of the wheat, even if the seller measures it for himself in his presence while he observes and witnesses it. The buyer must measure it himself. It is permissible for him, in all that we have mentioned, to gift, give as ṣadaqah, lease, settle, give as ṣadaqah, or lend it before measuring it and before transferring it in bulk, whether it was purchased in bulk or by measure. These rulings do not apply at all to anything other than wheat.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ تَصْدِيقُ الْبَائِعِ فِي كَيْلِهِ وَحَتَّى لَوْ اكْتَالَهُ الْبَائِعُ لِنَفْسِهِ بِحَضْرَتِهِ وَهُوَ يَرَاهُ وَيُشَاهِدُهُ وَلَا بُدَّ مِنْ أَنْ يَكْتَالَ الْمُشْتَرِي لِنَفْسِهِ، وَجَائِزٌ لَهُ فِي كُلِّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا أَنْ يَهَبَهُ، وَأَنْ يَصْدُقَهُ، وَأَنْ يُؤَاجِرَ بِهِ، وَأَنْ يُصَالِحَ، وَأَنْ يَتَصَدَّقَ بِهِ، وَأَنْ يُقْرِضَهُ قَبْلَ، أَنْ يَكْتَالَهُ، وَقَبْلَ أَنْ يَنْقُلَهُ جُزَافًا اشْتَرَاهُ أَوْ بِكَيْلٍ وَلَيْسَتْ هَذِهِ الْأَحْكَامُ فِي غَيْرِ الْقَمْحِ أَصْلًا.

L24099 The evidence for this is what was narrated to us through the chain of Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh: Aḥmad ibn Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated to us on the authority of Ubayy, who narrated to us on the authority of Ḥayyān ibn Hilāl, who narrated to us on the authority of Hammām ibn Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, reporting from Yaʿlā ibn Ḥakīm, who narrated to him from Yūsuf ibn Māhak, who narrated to him from Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām, that he said: "O Messenger of Allah, I am a man who engages in these transactions. What is permissible for me from them, and what is forbidden among them?" He replied: "O my nephew, when you purchase a commodity, do not sell it until you have taken possession of it."

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ قَاسِمِ بْنِ أَصْبَغَ أَنَا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ زُهَيْرِ بْنِ حَرْبٍ نا أُبَيٌّ أَنَا حَيَّانُ بْنُ هِلَالٍ أَنَا هَمَّامُ بْنُ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ: أَنَّ يَعْلَى بْنَ حَكِيمٍ حَدَّثَهُ: أَنَّ يُوسُفَ بْنَ مَاهَكَ حَدَّثَهُ: أَنَّ «حَكِيمَ بْنَ حِزَامٍ حَدَّثَهُ: أَنَّهُ قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، إِنِّي رَجُلٌ أَشْتَرِي هَذِهِ الْبُيُوعَ، فَمَا يَحِلُّ لِي مِنْهَا مِمَّا يَحْرُمُ عَلَيَّ؟ قَالَ: يَا ابْنَ أَخِي إِذَا ابْتَعْتَ بَيْعًا فَلَا تَبِعْهُ حَتَّى تَقْبِضَهُ»

L24100 This is a generality encompassing every sale and purchase, a specification for both from matters that are neither sales nor purchases, and an answer from him (peace be upon him) when he was asked about what is permissible from what is forbidden.

فَهَذَا عُمُومٌ لِكُلِّ بَيْعٍ، وَلِكُلِّ ابْتِيَاعٍ، وَتَخْصِيصٌ لَهُمَا مِمَّا لَيْسَا بَيْعًا وَلَا ابْتِيَاعًا، وَجَوَابٌ مِنْهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - إِذْ سُئِلَ عَمَّا يَحِلُّ مِمَّا يَحْرُمُ.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَإِنَّ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ مُضْطَرِبٌ.

L24101 If it is said, "But indeed this narration is conflicting..."

لِأَنَّكُمْ رَوَيْتُمُوهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ خَالِدِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ الْهُجَيْمِيِّ عَنْ هِشَامٍ الدَّسْتُوَائِيِّ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ، قَالَ: حَدَّثَنِي رَجُلٌ مِنْ إِخْوَانِنَا حَدَّثَنِي يُوسُفُ بْنُ مَاهَكَ: أَنَّ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عِصْمَةَ الْجُشَمِيَّ حَدَّثَهُ: أَنَّ حَكِيمَ بْنَ حِزَامٍ حَدَّثَهُ نَذْكُرُ هَذَا الْخَبَرَ وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عِصْمَةَ مَتْرُوكٌ؟

L24102 Because you have narrated it through the chain of Khālid ibn al-Ḥārith al-Hujaymī from Hishām al-Dastawā'ī from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, who said: A man from our brethren narrated to me: Yūsuf ibn Māhak narrated to me that ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿIṣmah al-Jushamī narrated to him that Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām narrated to him. Do we cite this report while ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿIṣmah is abandoned?

قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، إِلَّا أَنَّ هَمَّامَ بْنَ يَحْيَى رَوَاهُ كَمَا أَوْرَدْنَا قَبْلُ عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ أَبِي كَثِيرٍ فَسَمَّى ذَلِكَ الرَّجُلَ مِنْ الَّذِي لَمْ يُسَمِّهِ هِشَامٌ، وَذَكَرَ أَنَّهُ يَعْلَى بْنُ حَكِيمٍ وَيَعْلَى ثِقَةٌ وَذَكَرَ فِيهِ: أَنَّ يُوسُفَ سَمِعَهُ مِنْ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ وَهَذَا صَحِيحٌ فَإِذَا سَمِعَهُ مِنْ حَكِيمٍ فَلَا يَضُرُّهُ أَنْ يَسْمَعَهُ أَيْضًا مِنْ غَيْرِ حَكِيمٍ عَنْ حَكِيمٍ، فَصَارَ حَدِيثُ خَالِدِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ لَغْوًا كَانَ أَوْ لَمْ يَكُنْ بِمَنْزِلَةٍ وَاحِدَةٍ.

L24103–24104 We said: Yes, except that Hammām ibn Yaḥyā narrated it as we previously mentioned from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, identifying the man whom Hishām left unnamed. He stated that he was Yaʿlā ibn Ḥakīm—and Yaʿlā is trustworthy—and mentioned in it that Yūsuf heard it from Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām, and this is authentic. Thus, if he heard it from Ḥakīm, it does not detract from its authenticity to also hear it from someone other than Ḥakīm narrating from Ḥakīm. Consequently, the ḥadīth of Khālid ibn al-Ḥārith becomes invalid, whether it existed or not, as they are of one status.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَقَدْ رُوِيَتْ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ دِينَارٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنْ ابْتَاعَ طَعَامًا فَلَا يَبِعْهُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَهُ»

L24105 If it is said: It has been narrated through Mālik from ʿAbd Allāh ibn Dīnār from Ibn ʿUmar that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said: "Whoever purchases food must not sell it until he takes possession of it."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ أَنَا عَمْرُو بْنُ دِينَارٍ عَنْ طَاوُسٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَمَّا الَّذِي نَهَى عَنْهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُبَاعَ حَتَّى يُقْبَضَ فَهُوَ الطَّعَامُ، قَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ بِرَأْيِهِ: وَلَا أَحْسَبُ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ إِلَّا مِثْلَهُ؟ قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، هَذَانِ صَحِيحَانِ: إِلَّا أَنَّهُمَا بَعْضُ مَا فِي حَدِيثِ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ فَحَدِيثُ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ دَخَلَ فِيهِ: الطَّعَامُ وَغَيْرُ الطَّعَامِ، فَهُوَ أَعَمُّ، فَلَا يَجُوزُ تَرْكُهُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ فِيهِ حُكْمًا لَيْسَ فِي خَبَرِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، وَابْنِ عُمَرَ.

L24106 From the path of Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah: I am ʿAmr ibn Dīnār from Ṭāwūs from Ibn ʿAbbās: "As for what the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—prohibited from being sold until it is taken possession of, it is food." Ibn ʿAbbās said according to his opinion: "I do not deem anything except to be like it." We said: "Yes." Both of these are authentic, though they form part of the ḥadīth of Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām. The ḥadīth of Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām includes food and non-food, making it more comprehensive. Thus, it is not permissible to disregard it, because it includes a ruling absent from the narrations of Ibn ʿAbbās and Ibn ʿUmar.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: قَدْ صَحَّ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - مَا رَوَيْتُمْ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي زِيَادُ بْنُ أَيُّوبَ أَنَا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا أَبُو بِشْرٍ هُوَ ابْنُ أَبِي وَحْشِيَّةَ عَنْ يُوسُفَ بْنِ مَاهَكَ «عَنْ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ قُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ يَسْأَلُنِي الْمَرْءُ الْبَيْعَ لَيْسَ عِنْدِي مَا أَبِيعُهُ مِنْهُ ثُمَّ أَبْتَاعُ لَهُ مِنَ السُّوقِ؟ فَقَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: لَا تَبْتَعْ مَا لَيْسَ عِنْدَكَ» قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، وَبِهِ نَقُولُ هُوَ بَيِّنٌ كَمَا تَسْمَعُ، إِنَّمَا نَهْيٌ عَنْ بَيْعِ مَا لَيْسَ فِي مِلْكٍ كَمَا فِي الْخَبَرِ نَصًّا، وَإِلَّا فَكُلُّ مَا يَمْلِكُهُ الْمَرْءُ فَهُوَ عِنْدَهُ وَلَوْ أَنَّهُ بِالْهِنْدِ يَقُولُ: عِنْدِي ضَيْعَةٌ سَرِيَّةٌ، وَعِنْدِي فَرَسٌ فَارَّةٌ وَسَوَاءٌ عِنْدَنَا كَانَ مَغْصُوبًا أَوْ لَمْ يَكُنْ، وَهُوَ عِنْدَ صَاحِبِهِ، أَيْ فِي مِلْكِهِ وَلَهُ.

L24107–24109 If it is said, “You have narrated through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb—Ziyād ibn Ayyūb informed me: Hushaym narrated to us, from Abū Bishr, Ibn Abī Waḥshiyyah, from Yūsuf ibn Māhak, from Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām, who said: ‘I asked, “O Messenger of Allah, a man asks me to sell him something I do not possess. Should I then purchase it for him from the market?”’ He—peace be upon him—responded, ‘Do not sell what you do not possess.’”—this has been authentically reported from the Prophet, may Allah bless him and grant him peace. We said: Yes, and by this we affirm its evident clarity. The prohibition pertains solely to selling what is not owned, as explicitly stated in the hadith. Otherwise, everything a person owns remains in his possession even if he were in India. He may say: “I possess a hidden estate,” or “I possess a runaway horse,” and it makes no difference to us whether the item is usurped or not, for it remains with its owner—that is, within his ownership and rightfully his.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَإِنَّكُمْ رَوَيْتُمْ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا زُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ أَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ هُوَ ابْنُ عُلَيَّةَ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ حَدَّثَنِي عَمْرُو بْنُ شُعَيْبٍ حَدَّثَنِي أَبِي عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ حَتَّى ذَكَرَ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «لَا يَحِلُّ سَلَفٌ وَبَيْعٌ وَلَا شَرْطَانِ فِي بَيْعٍ وَلَا رِبْحُ مَا لَمْ يَضْمَنْ وَلَا بَيْعُ مَا لَيْسَ عِنْدَكَ»

L24110 If it is said: You have narrated through the chain of Abū Dāwūd—Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb → Ismāʿīl ibn ʿUlayyah → Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī, who narrated: “‘Amr ibn Shuʿayb reported to me, my father reported to me, from his father, from his grandfather”—until reaching ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ, who said: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: “It is not permissible to combine a loan and a sale, nor stipulate two conditions in one sale, nor profit for what one has not guaranteed, nor to sell what you do not possess.”[10]

قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، هَذَا صَحِيحٌ، وَبِهِ نَأْخُذُ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ لِعَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ حَدِيثًا مُسْنَدًا إِلَّا هَذَا وَحْدَهُ، وَآخَرُ فِي الْهِبَاتِ رَوَاهُ عَنْ طَاوُسٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، وَابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فِي الْمَنْعِ مِنَ الرُّجُوعِ فِي الْهِبَاتِ إِلَّا الْوَالِدَ فِيمَا أَعْطَى وَلَدَهُ وَلَيْسَ فِي هَذَا الْخَبَرِ إِلَّا الَّذِي فِي حَدِيثِ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ مِنَ النَّهْيِ عَنْ بَيْعِ مَا لَيْسَ لَكَ فَقَطْ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24111 We said: Yes, this is sound, and we adopt it. We know of no hadith with a complete chain transmitted by ‘Amr ibn Shu‘ayb except this one alone, and another regarding gifts which he narrated from Tāwūs from Ibn ‘Abbās and Ibn ‘Umar from the Prophet (peace be upon him) concerning the prohibition of retracting gifts except for a parent regarding what they have given their child. There is nothing in this report except what is in the hadith of Ḥakīm ibn Ḥizām regarding the prohibition of selling what you do not own – only this. Success comes from Allah, the Most High.

وَمِمَّنْ قَالَ بِقَوْلِنَا فِي هَذَا: ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ كَمَا أَوْرَدْنَاهُ.

L24112 Among those who have adopted our position on this matter is Ibn Abbas, [10] Hadith references (L24110): Jami at-Tirmidhi 1234; Mishkat al-Masabih 2870.

as we have mentioned.

L24113 Just as it has been narrated to us through the chain of transmission from ʿAbd al-Razzāq, from Ibn Jurayj, who reported: Abū al-Zubayr informed me that he heard Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh saying: Do not conclude a sale until you take possession of it.

وَكَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ: لَا تَبِعْ بَيْعًا حَتَّى تَقْبِضَهُ.

L24114–24116 Abd al-Razzaq reported from Maʿmar, from Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani, who said: Abd al-Rahman ibn Awf and al-Zubayr asked Umar, "Debased coins are being presented to us. Should we give the inferior ones and take the pure ones?" He replied, "Do not do that." But proceed to al-Baqīʿ and sell your silver coins for a garment or goods. Once you have received it and it is yours, then sell it, and he mentioned the hadith.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ قَالَ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ عَوْفٍ وَالزُّبَيْرُ لِعُمَرَ: إِنَّهُ تُزَيَّفُ عَلَيْنَا أَوْرَاقٌ فَنُعْطِي الْخَبِيثَ وَنَأْخُذُ الطَّيِّبَ؟ قَالَ: فَلَا تَفْعَلُوا، وَلَكِنْ انْطَلِقْ إِلَى الْبَقِيعِ فَبِعْ وَرِقَكَ بِثَوْبٍ أَوْ عَرَضٍ، فَإِذَا قَبَضْتَ وَكَانَ لَك فَبِعْهُ وَذَكَرَ الْخَبَرَ.

L24117 Thus, Umar states this and clarifies that possession is that which makes the thing belong to a person, and our view in this matter aligns with the position of Al-Ḥasan and Ibn Shubrumah.

فَهَذَا عُمَرُ يَقُولُ بِذَلِكَ، وَيُبَيِّنُ أَنَّ الْقَبْضَ هُوَ الَّذِي يَكُونُ الشَّيْءُ لِلْمَرْءِ وَقَوْلُنَا فِي هَذَا كَقَوْلِ الْحَسَنِ، وَابْنِ شُبْرُمَةَ

L24118 Some scholars held the view that this ruling applies specifically to food, meaning that it cannot be sold before taking possession. Others maintained that it pertains exclusively to what requires measuring by volume or weighing, as narrated through Yahya ibn Saʿid al-Qattān: Saʿid ibn Abi ʿArūbah narrated from Qatādah, from ʿAbd Rabbihi, from Abī ʿIyāḍ, from ʿUthmān ibn ʿAffān: "There is no objection if a man enters into a sale and resells it before taking possession, except for what requires measuring by volume or weighing."

وَذَهَبَ قَوْمٌ إِلَى أَنَّ هَذَا الْحُكْمَ إِنَّمَا هُوَ فِي الطَّعَامِ فَقَطْ يَعْنِي أَنْ لَا يُبَاعَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُقْبَضَ وَذَهَبَ آخَرُونَ إِلَى أَنَّهُ فِيمَا يُكَالُ أَوْ يُوزَنُ فَقَطْ: كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ يَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ الْقَطَّانِ أَنَا سَعِيدُ بْنُ أَبِي عَرُوبَةَ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ عَبْدِ رَبِّهِ عَنْ أَبِي عِيَاضٍ عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ عَفَّانَ: لَا بَأْسَ إِذَا اشْتَرَى الرَّجُلُ الْبَيْعَ أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقْبِضَهُ مَا خَلَا الْكَيْلَ وَالْوَزْنَ.

L24119 And through the narration of Ḥammād ibn Salamah from Qatādah from Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab: that he saw no objection to a man purchasing an item not quantified by measuring or weighing, then selling it before taking possession of it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ قَتَادَةَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ لَا يَرَى بَأْسًا أَنْ يَبْتَاعَ الرَّجُلُ بَيْعًا لَا يُكَالُ وَلَا يُوزَنُ أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقْبِضَهُ.

L24120 From the narration of Abd al-Razzaq, from Ma'mar, from Ayyub, from Ibn Sirin, who said: There is no harm in purchasing something not measured by volume or weight with cash payment, then selling it before taking possession of it. This is the view of al-Hakam, Ibrahim, and Hammad ibn Abi Sulayman; al-Nakha'i mentioned it from those he met.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ عَنْ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِأَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ شَيْئًا لَا يُكَالُ وَلَا يُوزَنُ بِنَقْدٍ ثُمَّ يَبِيعَهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقْبِضَهُ وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الْحَكَمِ وَإِبْرَاهِيمَ، وَحَمَّادِ بْنِ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ وَذَكَرَهُ النَّخَعِيُّ عَمَّنْ لَقِيَ.

L24121 And 'Aṭā' said: It is permissible to sell anything before taking possession.

وَقَالَ عَطَاءٌ: جَائِزٌ بَيْعُ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقْبِضَ.

L24122 Abu Hanifah said: Anything owned through a contract—which is nullified upon the item's destruction—is not permissible to sell before taking possession, such as sale and lease contracts, except for real estate, which may be sold before taking possession.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: كُلُّ مَا مُلِكَ بِعَقْدٍ يُنْتَقَضُ الْعَقْدُ بِهَلَاكِهِ، فَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ قَبْضِهِ: كَالْبَيْعِ، وَالْإِجَارَةِ، إِلَّا الْعَقَارَ: فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ قَبْضِهِ.

L24123 He said: Any property owned by virtue of a contract that is not invalidated by its perishing may be sold before taking possession, such as the dower, stipulated reward, khulʿ divorce, and similar cases. This is an opinion that, to our knowledge, no one before him has held.

قَالَ: وَكُلُّ مَا مُلِكَ بِعَقْدٍ لَا يُنْتَقَضُ الْعَقْدُ بِهَلَاكِهِ: فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ قَبْضِهِ كَالصَّدَاقِ، وَالْجُعْلِ، وَالْخُلْعِ، وَنَحْوِهِ وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ لَا نَعْلَمُهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ.

L24124–24126 Malik said: Anything edible and water—it is impermissible to sell them before taking possession. Except for these two, selling before possession is permissible. On another occasion, he said: Only edible items. As for water, its sale is permissible before possession. In both statements, he included crops like white radish, carrots, and chard, [asking]: "Should none of these be sold before taking possession?" We replied: "No one consumes this [produce] at all, yet you objected to this [ruling]!" Regarding al-Shāfiʿī's inclusion of saqamūniyā among edible substances, they said: "Does it yield from itself what is eaten?" We responded: "If a tree yields what is eaten from it, then prohibit the sale of saqamūniyā before taking possession!" They ceased, and we do not know that this entire opinion of theirs is attributed to anyone before them.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: كُلُّ مَا يُؤْكَلُ وَالْمَاءُ: فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُقْبَضَ وَمَا عَدَا هَذَيْنِ فَجَائِزٌ بَيْعُهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُقْبَضَ وَقَالَ مَرَّةً أُخْرَى: كُلُّ مَا يُؤْكَلُ فَقَطْ، وَأَمَّا الْمَاءُ: فَبَيْعُهُ جَائِزٌ قَبْلَ قَبْضِهِ وَجَعَلَ فِي كِلَا قَوْلَيْهِ: زَرِيعَةَ الْفُجْلِ الْأَبْيَضِ، وَزَرِيعَةَ الْجَزَرِ، وَزَرِيعَةَ السَّلْقِ: لَا يُبَاعُ شَيْءٌ مِنْهَا قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ؟ فَقُلْنَا: هَذَا لَا يَأْكُلُهُ أَحَدٌ أَصْلًا، وَهَذَا الَّذِي أَنْكَرْتُمْ عَلَى الشَّافِعِيِّ فِي إِدْخَالِهِ السَّقَمُونْيَا فِيمَا يُؤْكَلُ؟ فَقَالُوا: إِنَّهُ يُخْرِجُ مِنْهَا مَا يُؤْكَلُ؟ فَقُلْنَا: وَالشَّجَرُ يَخْرُجُ مِنْهَا مَا يُؤْكَلُ فَامْنَعُوا مِنْ بَيْعِهَا قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ، فَانْقَطَعُوا وَمَا نَعْلَمُ قَوْلَهُمْ هَذَا كُلَّهُ كَمَا هُوَ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُمْ.

L24127 Here, the Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs opposed every opinion narrated from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—on this matter. As for al-Shāfiʿī, he prohibited the sale of property acquired through sale, marriage, or khulʿ before taking possession at all. This is an unsound opinion without any evidence.

وَخَالَفَ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ، وَالْمَالِكِيُّونَ هَهُنَا كُلَّ قَوْلٍ رُوِيَ عَنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - وَأَمَّا الشَّافِعِيُّ: فَلَمْ يُجِزْ بَيْعَ مَا مُلِكَ بِبَيْعٍ، أَوْ نِكَاحٍ أَوْ خُلْعٍ، قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ أَصْلًا وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ فَاسِدٌ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ.

L24128 If they say: "We have analogized marriage and khulʿ to sale," we respond: "All analogy is invalid. Moreover, even were analogy valid, this analogy itself would embody invalidity, for marriage is permissible without any mention of a bridal gift whatsoever, whereas sale is impermissible without a specified price. Marriage does not confer ownership of anything through a bridal gift at all, and khulʿ is likewise, in contrast to sale. Thus, the invalidity of this argument becomes evident. Success is from Allah, the Exalted."

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: قِسْنَا النِّكَاحَ وَالْخُلْعَ عَلَى الْبَيْعِ؟ قُلْنَا: الْقِيَاسُ كُلُّهُ بَاطِلٌ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ هَذَا مِنْهُ عَيْنَ الْبَاطِلِ، لِأَنَّ النِّكَاحَ يَجُوزُ بِلَا مَهْرٍ يُذْكَرُ أَصْلًا، وَلَا يَجُوزُ الْبَيْعُ بِلَا ثَمَنٍ يُذْكَرُ، وَالنِّكَاحُ لَمْ يُمْلَكْ بِصَدَاقٍ رَقَبَةَ شَيْءٍ أَصْلًا، وَالْخُلْعُ كَذَلِكَ، بِخِلَافِ الْبَيْعِ فَظَهَرَ فَسَادُ هَذَا الْقَوْلِ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24129 As for the ruling on wheat: [it is] what we previously mentioned in the connected discourse from Ibn Abbas' narration about the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—that the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—prohibited selling until taking possession applies specifically to food. This specifies a ruling for food in sale exclusively while establishing its general applicability through any means of ownership.

أَمَّا حُكْمُ الْقَمْحِ: فَالَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا قَبْلَ هَذَا فِي الْكَلَامِ الْمُتَّصِلِ بِهَذَا مِنْ حَدِيثِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَمَّا الَّذِي نَهَى عَنْهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُبَاعَ حَتَّى يُقْبَضَ فَهُوَ الطَّعَامُ، فَهَذَا تَخْصِيصٌ لِلطَّعَامِ فِي الْبَيْعِ خَاصَّةً وَعُمُومٌ لَهُ بِأَيِّ وَجْهٍ مُلِكَ.

L24130 If it is asked: "On what basis have you specified wheat with that ruling to the exclusion of other foods?" We say: Because the term "food" in the language in which the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—addressed us is applied exclusively to wheat, and it is only applied to other things through annexation.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: مِنْ أَيْنَ خَصَّصْتُمْ الْقَمْحَ بِذَلِكَ دُونَ سَائِرِ الطَّعَامِ؟ قُلْنَا: لِأَنَّ اسْمَ الطَّعَامِ فِي اللُّغَةِ الَّتِي بِهَا خَاطَبَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لَا يُطْلَقُ هَذَا إلَّا عَلَى الْقَمْحِ وَحْدَهُ، وَإِنَّمَا يُطْلَقُ عَلَى غَيْرِهِ بِإِضَافَةٍ.

L24131 The Almighty has said: {The food of those who were given the Scripture is lawful for you, and your food is lawful for them} [Al-Mā'idah: 5]. Thus, He, Exalted and Majestic, meant slaughtered animals—not what they eat—for they eat carrion, blood, and pork, and none of that has ever been permissible for us.[11]

وَقَدْ قَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَطَعَامُ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ حِلٌّ لَكُمْ وَطَعَامُكُمْ حِلٌّ لَهُمْ} [المائدة: ٥] فَأَرَادَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ الذَّبَائِحَ لَا مَا يَأْكُلُونَ فَإِنَّهُمْ يَأْكُلُونَ الْمَيْتَةَ، وَالدَّمَ، وَالْخِنْزِيرَ، وَلَمْ يَحِلَّ لَنَا شَيْءٌ مِنْ ذَلِكَ قَطُّ.

[11] Qur'an references (L24131): Qur'an 5:5 (Al-Ma'idah).

وَقَالَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: {إِنَّ اللَّهَ مُبْتَلِيكُمْ بِنَهَرٍ فَمَنْ شَرِبَ مِنْهُ فَلَيْسَ مِنِّي وَمَنْ لَمْ يَطْعَمْهُ فَإِنَّهُ مِنِّي} [البقرة: ٢٤٩] فَذَكَرَ تَعَالَى الطُّعْمَ فِي الْمَاءِ بِإِضَافَةٍ، وَلَا يُسَمَّى الْمَاءُ طَعَامًا.

L24132 Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, said: “Indeed, Allah will test you with a river. Whoever drinks from it is not of me, and whoever does not taste it, he is with me” [Al-Baqarah 2:249]. He, the Exalted, mentioned the tasting in water through metaphorical attribution, yet water is not called food.[12]

وَقَالَ لَقِيطُ بْنُ مَعْمَرٍ الْإِيَادِيُّ جَاهِلِيٌّ فَصِيحٌ فِي شِعْرٍ لَهُ مَشْهُورٌ:

L24133–24134 Laqīṭ ibn Maʿmar al-Iyādī—an eloquent pre-Islamic poet with renowned poetry—

لَا يَطْعَمُ النَّوْمَ إِلَّا رَيْثَ يَبْعَثُهُ ... هَمٌّ يَكَادُ جَوَاهُ يَحْطِمُ الضِّلَعَا

L24135 He does not taste sleep except until a worry—whose core nearly shatters his ribs—awakens him...

فَأَضَافَ الطُّعْمَ إِلَى النَّوْمِ وَالنَّوْمُ لَيْسَ طَعَامًا بِلَا شَكٍّ.

L24136 He attributed taste to sleep, and sleep is undoubtedly not taste.

وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا قَوْلَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَعْمَرٍ وَكَانَ طَعَامُنَا يَوْمَئِذٍ الشَّعِيرَ، فَذَكَرَ الطَّعَامَ فِي الشَّعِيرِ فِي إِضَافَةٍ لَا بِإِطْلَاقٍ.

L24137 We mentioned the statement of Abdullah ibn Ma’mar, and our food at that time was barley. Ibn Ma’mar mentioned the food concerning barley in a genitive construct (iḍāfa), not in an absolute form.

وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَوْلَهُ: كُنَّا نُخْرِجُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - صَدَقَةَ الْفِطْرِ: صَاعًا مِنْ طَعَامٍ، صَاعًا مِنْ شَعِيرٍ، صَاعًا مِنْ تَمْرٍ، صَاعًا مِنْ أَقِطٍ فَلَمْ يُطْلِقِ الطَّعَامَ إِلَّا عَلَى الْقَمْحِ وَحْدَهُ.

L24138 We have mentioned through the narration of Abū Saʿīd al-Khudrī his statement: “During the time of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), we used to give Sadaqat al-Fitr as one saʿa of food—specifically wheat—one saʿa of barley, one saʿa of dates, one saʿa of dried curd.” Yet the term “food” here referred solely to wheat.

لَا عَلَى الشَّعِيرِ وَلَا غَيْرِهِ.

L24139 It does not apply to barley or to anything else.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: عَرَضَ عَلَيَّ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ زَيْتًا لَهُ؟ فَقُلْت لَهُ: إنَّ أَصْحَابَ الزَّيْتِ قَلَّمَا يَسْتَوْفُونَ حَتَّى يَبِيعُونَ، فَقَالَ: إنَّمَا سُمِّيَ الطَّعَامُ أَيْ إنَّمَا أَمَرَ بِالْبَيْعِ بَعْدَ الِاسْتِيفَاءِ فِي الطَّعَامِ فَلَمْ يَرَ الزَّيْتَ طَعَامًا.

L24140 It was narrated to us via Al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl: Yazīd ibn Ibrāhīm narrated to us: Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn said: ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUtbah ibn Masʿūd presented his oil to me. I said to him: “Oil owners seldom complete their transactions until they sell.” He replied: “The term ’food’ was explicitly designated—meaning the command to sell applies only after full acquisition regarding food—so he did not consider oil to be food.”

وَأَبُو سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيُّ وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ: حُجَّتَانِ فِي اللُّغَةِ قَاطِعَتَانِ، لَا سِيَّمَا وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ هُذَلِيٌّ قَبِيلَةٌ مُجَاوِرَةٌ لِلْحَرَمِ فَلُغَتُهُمْ لُغَةُ قُرَيْشٍ.

L24141 Abu Sa’id al-Khudri and Abdullah ibn Utbah ibn Mas’ud: two decisive linguistic proofs; especially since Abdullah is a Hudhali - a member of a tribe neighboring the Haram - and thus their dialect is the dialect of Quraysh.

[12] Qur’an references (L24132): Qur’an 2:249 (Al-Baqarah).

L24142 And among those who upheld our view—that “food” in its general meaning refers solely to wheat—was Abū Thawr.

وَمِمَّنْ قَالَ بِقَوْلِنَا: إِنَّ الطَّعَامَ بِإِطْلَاقٍ إِنَّمَا هُوَ الْقَمْحُ وَحْدَهُ: أَبُو ثَوْرٍ

L24143 As for wheat purchased without precise measurement, it is not permissible to sell it until it is taken possession of and removed from its location. This is based on what we have narrated through the transmission of al-Bukhārī: From Isḥāq ibn Rāhawayh, from al-Walīd ibn Muslim, from al-Awzāʿī, from al-Zuhrī, from Sālim ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUmar, from his father—may Allah be pleased with him—who said: “I saw those who bought food without precise measurement being struck during the era of Allah’s Messenger—peace and blessings be upon him—if they sold it before taking it to their dwellings.”

وَأَمَّا الْقَمْحُ يُشْتَرَى جُزَافًا فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ حَتَّى يُقْبَضَ وَيُنْقَلَ عَنْ مَوْضِعِهِ: فَلِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْبُخَارِيِّ أَنَا إِسْحَاقُ هُوَ ابْنُ رَاهْوَيْهِ أَنَا الْوَلِيدُ بْنُ مُسْلِمٍ عَنِ الْأَوْزَاعِيِّ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ «عَنْ سَالِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ - قَالَ: رَأَيْتُ الَّذِينَ يَشْتَرُونَ الطَّعَامَ مُجَازَفَةً يُضْرَبُونَ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَبِيعُوهُ حَتَّى يُؤْوُوهُ إِلَى رِحَالِهِمْ» .

L24144–24146 And we have narrated it through the chain of Muslim: Muhammad ibn Abdullah ibn Numayr reported: My father reported to me, from Abdullah ibn Umar, from Nafiʾ, from Ibn Umar, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: “Whoever purchases food must not sell it until he has taken full possession of it.” He said, “We used to buy food from caravan travelers without weighing it, but the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) forbade us from selling it until we took possession of it.”

وَرُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ نُمَيْرٍ أَنَا أَبِي أَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنِ اشْتَرَى طَعَامًا فَلَا يَبِعْهُ حَتَّى يَسْتَوْفِيَهُ قَالَ وَكُنَّا نَشْتَرِي الطَّعَامَ مِنَ الرُّكْبَانِ جُزَافًا فَنَهَانَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ نَبِيعَهُ حَتَّى نَنْقُلَهُ مِنْ مَكَانِهِ»

L24147 And through the chain of Muslim: I am Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah, from ʿAbd al-Aʿlā, from Maʿmar, from al-Zuhrī, from Sālim ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUmar, from Ibn ʿUmar: That during the time of the Messenger of Allāh (may Allah’s peace and blessings be upon him), they were punished if they purchased food in bulk and then sold it in the same place before moving it.[13]

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا عَبْدُ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَالِمِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ «عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: أَنَّهُمْ كَانُوا يُضْرَبُونَ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إِذَا اشْتَرَوْا طَعَامًا جُزَافًا أَنْ يَبِيعُوهُ فِي مَكَانِهِ حَتَّى يُحَوِّلُوهُ» .

L24148 Abu Muhammad said: It is inconceivable for anyone other than him—peace be upon him—to enforce upon the Muslims in Medina a law they are commanded to follow in the markets without his knowledge whatsoever. Thus, it is established that this constitutes a grave transgression for which no concession is permitted.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَلَا يُمْكِنُ أَنْ يَكُونَ غَيْرُهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - يَضْرِبُ الْمُسْلِمِينَ بِالْمَدِينَةِ عَلَى شَرِيعَةٍ يُؤْمَرُونَ بِهَا فِي الْأَسْوَاقِ بِغَيْرِ عِلْمِهِ أَصْلًا فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ جُرْمٌ كَبِيرٌ لَا يُرَخَّصُ فِيهِ.

L24149 If it is said: “In some of what you have narrated, [the wording] is ’until they shelter him in their encampments’?” We respond: Yes, and any place he is relocated to becomes his encampment, provided it is permissible to relocate him there.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: إِنَّ فِي بَعْضِ مَا رَوَيْتُمْ “ حَتَّى يُؤْوُوهُ إِلَى رِحَالِهِمْ ”؟ قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ، وَكُلُّ مَكَانٍ رَحَّلَهُ إِلَيْهِ فَهُوَ رَحْلٌ لَهُ إِذَا كَانَ مُبَاحًا لَهُ أَنْ يُرَحِّلَهُ إِلَيْهِ.

[13] Hadith references (L24147): Sahih Muslim 1527c.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَقَدْ رَوَيْتُمْ هَذَا الْحَدِيثَ عَنْ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ فَلَمْ يَذْكُرْ فِيهِ الْجُزَافَ؟ قُلْنَا: عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ إِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ فَوْقَ مَالِكٍ، وَإِلَّا فَلَيْسَ هُوَ دُونَهُ أَصْلًا وَقَدْ رَوَاهُ عَنْ نَافِعٍ فَذَكَرَ فِيهِ الْجُزَافَ.

L24150 If it is said: You have narrated this ḥadīth from Mālik, from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar—yet Mālik did not mention the approximation sale (al-juzāf) in his transmission? We respond: Even if ʿUbayd Allāh ibn ʿUmar is not ranked above Mālik in reliability, he is certainly not beneath him in status. For ʿUbayd Allāh narrated it from Nāfiʿ and explicitly mentioned the approximation sale in his transmission.

وَرَوَاهُ الزُّهْرِيُّ عَنْ سَالِمٍ كَمَا أَوْرَدْنَا فَذَكَرَ فِيهِ الْجُزَافَ وَهُوَ خَبَرٌ وَاحِدٌ بِلَا شَكٍّ.

L24151 Az-Zuhri also narrated it from Salim as we have cited, and he mentioned the juzāf (approximation-based sale) within it, and this is unquestionably a solitary report (khabar wāḥid).

وَجُمْهُورُ الرُّوَاةِ عَنْ مَالِكٍ لِهَذَا الْحَدِيثِ فِي الْمُوَطَّأِ وَغَيْرِهِ ذَكَرُوا فِيهِ عَنْهُ الْجُزَافَ، كَمَا ذَكَرَهُ عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ عَنْ نَافِعٍ، وَالزُّهْرِيُّ عَنْ سَالِمٍ، وَإِنَّمَا أَسْقَطَ ذِكْرَ الْجُزَافِ: الْقَعْنَبِيُّ، وَيَحْيَى، فَقَطْ فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُمَا وَهُمَا فِيهِ بِلَا شَكٍّ، لِأَنَّهُ يَتَعَيَّنُ خَبَرُ وَاحِدٍ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24152 The majority of narrators from Mālik regarding this ḥadīth in the Muwaṭṭaʾ and other works mentioned juzāf in it, just as ʿUbayd Allāh narrated from Nāfiʿ and al-Zuhrī from Sālim. Only al-Qaʿnabī and Yaḥyā omitted the mention of juzāf. Thus, it was established that their omission in this matter is undoubtedly sound, as it is restricted to a solitary report. With Allāh, the Exalted, lies success.

وَإِنَّمَا كَانَ يَصِحُّ الْأَخْذُ بِرِوَايَةِ الْقَعْنَبِيِّ، وَيَحْيَى، لَوْ أَمْكَنَ أَنْ يَكُونَا خَبَرَيْنِ اثْنَيْنِ عَنْ مُوَطَّئَيْنِ مُخْتَلِفَيْنِ وَقَوْلُنَا هَهُنَا هُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَلَمْ يَقُلْ بِهِ مَالِكٌ، وَلَا نَعْلَمُ لِمُقَلِّدِهِ وَلَا لَهُ حُجَّةً أَصْلًا وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24153–24155 The validity of adopting the narrations of Al-Qaʿnabī and Yaḥyā would only apply if they could be two reports from two different transmitters of the Muwatta. Our view here is the position of Al-Shāfiʿī and Abū Sulaymān. Mālik did not hold this view, and we are unaware of any evidence for it from him or his emulator at all. And all divine enablement is from Allah, the Exalted.

وَأَمَّا الْقَمْحُ يَبْتَاعُهُ الْمَرْءُ بِكَيْلٍ فَلَا يَحِلُّ لَهُ بَيْعُهُ حَتَّى يَكْتَالَهُ لِنَفْسِهِ، ثُمَّ يَكْتَالُهُ الَّذِي يَبِيعُ مِنْهُ وَلَا بُدَّ سَوَاءٌ حَضَرَا كِلَاهُمَا كَيْلَهُ قَبْلَ ذَلِكَ أَوْ لَمْ يَحْضُرَا، فَلِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ عَبْدِ الْخَالِقِ الْبَزَّارِ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحِيمِ أَنَا مُسْلِمٌ هُوَ ابْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ أَنَا مَخْلَدُ بْنُ الْحُسَيْنِ الْأَزْدِيُّ عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ حَسَّانَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ

L24156 As for wheat that a person purchases by measure, it is not lawful for him to sell it until he measures it for himself. Then the seller must measure it again, regardless of whether both parties were present during the initial measurement or not. This is based on what we have transmitted through the chain of Ahmad ibn ʿAmr ibn ʿAbd al-Khāliq al-Bazzār: I heard from Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥīm, who heard from Muslim ibn Ibrāhīm, who heard from Makhlad ibn al-Ḥusayn al-Azdī, from Hishām ibn Ḥassān, from Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn, from Abū Hurayrah, who said: “The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) prohibited the sale of food until two sa‘ measures have been duly measured, whereby the surplus belongs to the owner and the deficit rests upon the seller.”

«نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الطَّعَامِ حَتَّى يَجْرِيَ فِيهِ الصَّاعَانِ، فَيَكُونُ لِصَاحِبِهِ الزِّيَادَةُ وَعَلَيْهِ النُّقْصَانُ» .

L24157 We have narrated it through the chain of Abū Bakr ibn Abī Shaybah who said: I [heard from] Sharīq, from Ibn Abī Laylā, from Muḥammad ibn Bayān, from Ibn ‘Umar, that he was asked about one who purchased food while having witnessed its measurement. He said: “No, until the two *sa‘*s have been applied to it.”

وَرُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي بَكْرِ بْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا شَرِيكٌ عَنْ ابْنِ أَبِي لَيْلَى عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ بَيَانٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ سُئِلَ عَمَّنْ اشْتَرَى الطَّعَامَ وَقَدْ شَهِدَ كَيْلَهُ؟ قَالَ: لَا، حَتَّى يَجْرِيَ فِيهِ الصَّاعَانِ.

L24158 Narrated via Ibn Abi Shaybah: Muhammad ibn Fudayl reported from Mutarrif (who is the son of Tarif): I said to Al-Sha’bi: “If I witness food being measured as it is portioned and then purchase it, do I take it by its measured quantity?” He replied: “With every transaction comes a measuring.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ فُضَيْلٍ عَنْ مُطَرِّفٍ هُوَ ابْنُ طَرِيفٍ قُلْت لِلشَّعْبِيِّ: أَكُونُ شَاهِدَ الطَّعَامِ وَهُوَ يُكَالُ فَأَشْتَرِيهِ، آخُذُهُ بِكَيْلِهِ؟ فَقَالَ: مَعَ كُلِّ صَفْقَةٍ كَيْلَةٌ

L24159 From the narration of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Marwan narrates from Ziyad, the freed slave of the family of Sa‘d, who said: I asked Sa‘id ibn al-Musayyib, “A man purchased food and then measured it. Is it permissible for me to buy it based on his measurement?” He replied: “No, until it is measured in your presence.” It is authentically reported from him that he said regarding this matter: “This is riba.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا مَرْوَانُ عَنْ زِيَادٍ مَوْلَى آلِ سَعْدٍ قُلْت لِسَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ: رَجُلٌ ابْتَاعَ طَعَامًا فَاكْتَالَهُ، أَيَصْلُحُ لِي أَنْ اشْتَرِيهِ بِكَيْلِ الرَّجُلِ؟ قَالَ: لَا، حَتَّى يُكَالَ بَيْنَ يَدَيْك وَصَحَّ عَنْهُ أَنَّهُ قَالَ فِيهِ: هَذَا رِبًا.

L24160 And from the narration of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Zayd ibn al-Hubab reported from Sawadah ibn Hayyan, who said: I heard Muhammad ibn Sirin being asked about two men, one of whom purchased food while the other was with him. He said: “Did you witness the sale and the taking possession?” The man said: “Take profit from me and give it to me.” He replied: “No, until the two sa‘ measures have been applied to it, so that the surplus would belong to you and the shortfall would be your liability.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا زَيْدُ بْنُ الْحُبَابِ عَنْ سَوَادَةَ بْنِ حَيَّانَ سَمِعْت مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ سِيرِينَ سُئِلَ عَنْ رَجُلَيْنِ اشْتَرَى أَحَدُهُمَا طَعَامًا وَالْآخَرُ مَعَهُ؟ فَقَالَ: قَدْ شَهِدْت الْبَيْعَ وَالْقَبْضَ؟ فَقَالَ: خُذْ مِنِّي رِبْحًا وَأَعْطِنِيهِ فَقَالَ: لَا، حَتَّى يَجْرِيَ فِيهِ الصَّاعَانِ، فَتَكُونُ لَك زِيَادَتُهُ وَعَلَيْك نُقْصَانُهُ.

L24161 Narrated via Ibn Abī Shaybah: From Waki‘, via ‘Umar Abī Ḥafṣ, who said: I heard Al-Ḥasan Al-Baṣrī being asked about someone who buys food while watching it be measured. What is the ruling? He replied: No, until he measures it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ عَنْ عُمَرَ أَبِي حَفْصٍ قَالَ: سَمِعْت الْحَسَنَ الْبَصْرِيَّ وَسُئِلَ عَمَّنْ اشْتَرَى طَعَامًا مَا وَهُوَ يَنْظُرُ إلَى كَيْلِهِ؟ قَالَ: لَا، حَتَّى يَكِيلَهُ.

L24162–24164 Through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq, from Ma’mar, from al-Zuhri, from Sa’id ibn al-Musayyib, who said: In the year that passed, whoever purchases food or fat by measure must measure it before selling it. When he sells it... It is also measured by volume when sold by measure, and this is the opinion of Ata ibn Abi Rabah, Abu Hanifah, al-Shafi'i, Ahmad ibn Hanbal, Ishaq, and Abu Sulayman.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ قَالَ: فِي السَّنَةِ الَّتِي مَضَتْ: إنَّ مَنْ ابْتَاعَ طَعَامًا أَوْ وَدَكًا كَيْلًا أَنْ يَكْتَالَهُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ، فَإِذَا بَاعَهُ اُكْتِيلَ مِنْهُ أَيْضًا إذَا بَاعَهُ كَيْلًا وَهُوَ قَوْلُ عَطَاءِ بْنِ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ بْنِ حَنْبَلٍ، وَإِسْحَاقَ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ.

L24165 Malik said: When a sale is made with immediate payment, there is no harm in trusting the seller's stated measurement without measuring it, but this is disliked in deferred payment. This is an opinion not known from anyone before him. He opposed in this matter a scholar (from earlier authorities) who had no known opposition from them, and contradicted the majority of scholars. We know of no valid proof for his opinion at all - neither from Quranic text, nor Sunnah, nor weak narration, nor analogy, nor any rationally plausible juristic reasoning.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إذَا بِيعَ بِالنَّقْدِ فَلَا بَأْسَ بِأَنْ يُصَدِّقَ الْبَائِعَ فِي كَيْلِهِ وَلَا يَكْتَالُهُ وَيُكْرَهُ ذَلِكَ فِي الدَّيْنِ وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ لَا نَعْلَمُهُ عَنْ أَحَدٍ قَبْلَهُ، وَخَالَفَ فِيهِ صَاحِبًا لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ مِنْهُمْ، وَخَالَفَ فِيهِ جُمْهُورَ الْعُلَمَاءِ، وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لِقَوْلِهِ حُجَّةً أَصْلًا، لَا مِنْ نَصِّ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ، وَلَا رَأْيٍ لَهُ وَجْهٌ.

L24166 If it is said: You have narrated through the chain of Abū Dāwūd from Muḥammad ibn ʿAwf al-Ṭāʾī—from Aḥmad ibn Khālid al-Wahbī—Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq narrated to us from Abī al-Zinād from ʿUbayd ibn Ḥunayn from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: "I purchased oil in the market, and when the sale became binding, a man met me offering a good profit for it. I intended to confirm the transaction, but a man behind me seized my arm. I turned and found Zayd ibn Thābit, who said: 'Do not sell it where you bought it until you take possession of it at your premises, for the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—forbade selling goods where they are purchased until merchants transfer them to their own premises.'"? We respond: This was narrated by Aḥmad ibn Khālid al-Wahbī, who is unknown. By Allah, even if it were authenticated by our criteria, we would hasten to act upon it. We praise Allah for the abundance He has enabled us to achieve in this regard.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: فَقَدْ رَوَيْتُمْ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ الطَّائِيِّ أَنَا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ خَالِدٍ الْوَهْبِيُّ أَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ أَبِي الزِّنَادِ عَنْ عُبَيْدِ بْنِ حُنَيْنٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ: «ابْتَعْتُ زَيْتًا فِي السُّوقِ فَلَمَّا اسْتَوْجَبْتُهُ لَقِيَنِي رَجُلٌ أَعْطَانِي بِهِ رِبْحًا حَسَنًا فَأَرَدْتُ أَنْ أَضْرِبَ عَلَى يَدِي، فَأَخَذَ رَجُلٌ مِنْ خَلْفِي بِذِرَاعِي فَالْتَفَتُّ فَإِذَا زَيْدُ بْنُ ثَابِتٍ فَقَالَ: لَا تَبِعْهُ حَيْثُ ابْتَعْتَهُ حَتَّى تَحُوزَهُ إلَى رَحْلِكَ؟ فَإِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى أَنْ تُبَاعَ السِّلَعُ حَيْثُ تُبْتَاعَ حَتَّى تَحُوزَهَا التُّجَّارُ إلَى رِحَالِهِمْ» ؟ قُلْنَا: هَذَا رَوَاهُ أَحْمَدُ بْنُ خَالِدٍ الْوَهْبِيُّ وَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ وَبِاَللَّهِ لَوْ صَحَّ عِنْدَنَا لَسَارَعْنَا إلَى الْأَخْذِ بِهِ نَحْمَدُ اللَّهَ عَلَى مَا يَسَّرَنَا لَهُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ كَثِيرًا.

L24167 In all these matters we have mentioned, whoever acts contrary to them has irrevocably invalidated. If the report had reached him, he would be flogged as the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) commanded.

وَكُلُّ مَا ذَكَرْنَا فِي هَذِهِ الْمَسَائِلِ فَمَنْ فَعَلَ خِلَافَ ذَلِكَ فُسِخَ أَبَدًا، فَإِنْ كَانَ قَدْ بَلَغَهُ الْخَبَرَ ضُرِبَ كَمَا أَمَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L24168 And Ibn Umar narrated that the Prophet, peace be upon him, said: "Whoever performs a deed not in accordance with our command, it is rejected."

L24169 The issue of partnership (sharikah), mutual dissolution (iqalah), and cost-price sale (tawliyah); all are newly initiated sale transactions.

L24170 1509 - Issue:

L24171 Partnership, rescission by mutual consent, and resale at cost are all commenced transactions; none of them are permissible except what is permissible in all other sales, without exception. This is the position of Al-Shāfiʿī and our school's scholars regarding partnership and resale at cost.

L24172–24174 They said: Mutual rescission is the revocation of a sale and is not itself a sale. Rabiʿah and Malik said: Every case where it is not permissible [...] The sale before taking possession or before measuring by volume is permissible in cases of partnership, resale at cost, and cancellation by mutual consent before taking possession or measuring. This has been narrated from al-Ḥasan specifically regarding resale at cost.

L24175 They cited as evidence what we have narrated through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq, who said: Ibn Jurayj reported to me that Rabīʿah ibn Abī ʿAbd al-Raḥmān informed him that the Messenger of Allah—peace be upon him—narrated a well-known ḥadīth in Medina: "Whoever purchases food must not sell it until he takes possession of it and completes its full receipt, unless he enters into a partnership over it, resells it at cost price, or accepts it."

L24176 Malik said: The scholars unanimously held that there is no objection to partnership, mutual rescission (iqālah), and resale at cost (tawliyah) in food and other matters - meaning before taking possession. Abu Muhammad said: We know of no narrations about this except those reported solely through Rabi'ah and Tawus. As for Abu Muhammad's attribution to Al-Hasan regarding tawliyah, a contradictory position from Al-Hasan himself has been transmitted.

L24177 Ali said: As for the narration of Rabiʿah, it is mursal, and there is no proof

وَرَوَاهُ ابْنُ عُمَرَ قَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «مَنْ عَمِلَ عَمَلًا لَيْسَ عَلَيْهِ أَمْرُنَا فَهُوَ رَدٌّ»

[مَسْأَلَة الشَّرِكَة وَالْإِقَالَة والتولية كُلّهَا بُيُوع مُبْتَدَأَة]

١٥٠٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَالشَّرِكَةُ، وَالْإِقَالَةُ، وَالتَّوْلِيَةُ: كُلُّهَا بُيُوعٌ مُبْتَدَأَةٌ لَا يَجُوزُ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا إلَّا مَا يَجُوزُ فِي سَائِرِ الْبُيُوعِ لَا تَحَاشَ، شَيْئًا وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَصْحَابِنَا فِي الشَّرِكَةِ، وَالتَّوْلِيَةِ.

وَقَالُوا: الْإِقَالَةُ فَسْخُ بَيْعٍ، وَلَيْسَتْ بَيْعًا، وَقَالَ رَبِيعَةُ، وَمَالِكٌ: كُلُّ مَا لَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِ الْبَيْعُ قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ أَوْ قَبْلَ الِاكْتِيَالِ فَإِنَّهُ لَا بَأْسَ فِيهِ بِالشَّرِكَةِ، وَالتَّوْلِيَةِ، وَالْإِقَالَةِ قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ، وَقَبْلَ الِاكْتِيَالِ وَرُوِيَ هَذَا عَنْ الْحَسَنِ فِي التَّوْلِيَةِ فَقَطْ.

وَاحْتَجُّوا بِمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ، قَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي رَبِيعَةُ بْنُ أَبِي عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ حَدِيثًا مُسْتَفَاضًا فِي الْمَدِينَةِ «مَنْ ابْتَاعَ طَعَامًا فَلَا يَبِعْهُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَهُ وَيَسْتَوْفِيَهُ، إلَّا أَنْ يُشْرِكَ فِيهِ أَوْ يُوَلِّيَهُ أَوْ يَقْبَلَهُ» .

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إنَّ أَهْلَ الْعِلْمِ اجْتَمَعَ رَأْيُهُمْ عَلَى أَنَّهُ لَا بَأْسَ بِالشَّرِكَةِ، وَالْإِقَالَةِ، وَالتَّوْلِيَةِ فِي الطَّعَامِ وَغَيْرِهِ يَعْنِي قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَمَا نَعْلَمُ رُوِيَ هَذَا إلَّا عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ، وَعَنْ طَاوُسٍ فَقَطْ - وَقَوْلُهُ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ فِي التَّوْلِيَةِ قَدْ جَاءَ عَنْهُ خِلَافُهَا.

in a mursal narration. Had it been supported by an isnād, we would have quickly accepted it. If its widespread transmission had originated from an authentic source, al-Zuhrī would have been more likely to know that than Rabiʿah, for there is a vast difference between them in this matter. Moreover, al-Zuhrī contradicts him in that.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: أَمَّا خَبَرُ رَبِيعَةَ فَمُرْسَلٌ وَلَا حُجَّةَ فِي مُرْسَلٍ، وَلَوْ اسْتَنَدَ لَسَارَعْنَا إِلَى الْأَخْذِ بِهِ، وَلَوْ كَانَتْ اسْتِفَاضَتُهُ عَنْ أَصْلٍ صَحِيحٍ لَكَانَ الزُّهْرِيُّ أَوْلَى بِأَنْ يَعْرِفَ ذَلِكَ مِنْ رَبِيعَةَ، فَبَيْنَهُمَا فِي هَذَا الْبَابِ بَوْنٌ بَعِيدٌ، وَالزُّهْرِيُّ مُخَالِفٌ لَهُ فِي ذَلِكَ.

L24178 It was narrated to us through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq from Maʿmar from al-Zuhrī, who said: "Tawliya is a sale in food and other items." And through him (ʿAbd al-Razzāq) to Maʿmar from Ayyūb al-Sikhtiyānī, who said: Ibn Sīrīn said: "There is no tawliya until it is taken possession of and measured."

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ قَالَ: التَّوْلِيَةُ بَيْعٌ فِي الطَّعَامِ وَغَيْرِهِ وَبِهِ إِلَى مَعْمَرٍ عَنْ أَيُّوبَ السِّخْتِيَانِيِّ قَالَ: قَالَ ابْنُ سِيرِينَ: لَا تَوْلِيَةَ حَتَّى يُقْبَضَ وَيُكَالَ.

L24179 From the narration chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn al-Minhāl: Ar-Rabīʿ ibn Ṣubayḥ reported: I asked Al-Ḥasan about a man who purchases food then transfers it to the man (before taking possession). He said: "He may not transfer it until he takes possession of it." ʿAbd al-Malik ibn ash-Shaʿshaʿ said to him: "O Abā Saʿīd, do you state this by your opinion?" He replied: "I do not state it by my opinion, but rather we received it from our predecessors and our companions."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا الرَّبِيعُ بْنُ صُبَيْحٍ قَالَ: سَأَلْت الْحَسَنَ عَنْ الرَّجُلِ يَشْتَرِي الطَّعَامَ فَيُوَلِّيهِ الرَّجُلَ؟ قَالَ: لَيْسَ لَهُ أَنْ يُوَلِّيَهُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَهُ؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ عَبْدُ الْمَلِكِ بْنُ الشَّعْشَاعِ: يَا أَبَا سَعِيدٍ أَبِرَأْيِك تَقُولُهُ؟ قَالَ: لَا أَقُولُهُ بِرَأْيِي، وَلَكِنَّا أَخَذْنَاهُ عَنْ سَلَفِنَا، وَأَصْحَابِنَا

L24180–24182 Ali said: Al-Hasan's predecessors were the Companions - may Allah be pleased with them. He encountered over five hundred Companions, fought in expeditions alongside hundreds of them, and his companions were the senior Followers. If someone were to advance a claim of consensus here, it would be more valid than the consensus mentioned by Malik without doubt, through the chain of... From ʿAbd al-Razzāq, from Sufyān al-Thawrī, from Zakariyyā ibn Abī Zāʾidah and Fiṭr ibn Khalīfah. Zakariyyā reported from al-Shaʿbī, while Fiṭr reported from al-Ḥakam. Then al-Shaʿbī and al-Ḥakam concurred that tawlīyah (sale at cost price) constitutes a valid sale. Sufyān said: We hold that partnership is governed by the rules of sale, and one does not form a partnership until taking possession. Such were the rulings of the Companions and the Successors, as evident here.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: سَلَفُ الْحَسَنِ هُمْ الصَّحَابَةُ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -، أَدْرَكَ مِنْهُمْ خَمْسَمِائَةِ صَاحِبٍ وَأَكْثَرَ، وَغَزَا مَعَ مِئِينَ مِنْهُمْ وَأَصْحَابُهُ هُمْ أَكَابِرُ التَّابِعِينَ، فَلَوْ أَقْدَمَ امْرُؤٌ عَلَى دَعْوَى الْإِجْمَاعِ هَهُنَا لَكَانَ أَصَحَّ مِنْ الْإِجْمَاعِ الَّذِي ذَكَرَهُ مَالِكٌ بِلَا شَكٍّ وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ زَكَرِيَّا بْنِ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ وَفِطْرِ بْنِ خَلِيفَةَ، قَالَ زَكَرِيَّا عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ، وَقَالَ فِطْرٌ: عَنْ الْحَكَمِ، ثُمَّ اتَّفَقَ الشَّعْبِيُّ، وَالْحَكَمُ: عَلَى أَنَّ التَّوْلِيَةَ بَيْعٌ، قَالَ سُفْيَانُ: وَنَحْنُ نَقُولُ: وَالشَّرِكَةُ بَيْعٌ، وَلَا يُشْرِكُ حَتَّى يَقْبِضَ فَهَؤُلَاءِ الصَّحَابَةُ، وَالتَّابِعُونَ كَمَا تَرَى.

L24183 Abu Muhammad said: Partnership and tawliyah are nothing but the transfer of a person's ownership of a specific item for which his ownership is valid, or a portion of a specific item for which his ownership is valid, to another's ownership for a stipulated price. This is the sale itself. This description belongs solely to sale, and no sale can fundamentally exist except with this description. Thus, it is established that both are valid sales, and they do not disagree with us that only what is permissible in a sale applies to these two - except in what we have mentioned here alone. This amounts to a specification without proof.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: الشَّرِكَةُ، وَالتَّوْلِيَةُ، إنَّمَا هُوَ نَقْلُ مِلْكِ الْمَرْءِ عَيْنًا مَا صَحَّ مِلْكُهُ لَهَا، أَوْ بَعْضَ عَيْنٍ مَا صَحَّ مِلْكُهُ لَهَا إلَى مِلْكِ غَيْرِهِ بِثَمَنٍ مُسَمًّى وَهَذَا هُوَ الْبَيْعُ نَفْسُهُ، لَيْسَتْ هَذِهِ

L24184 As for the Ḥanafīs: they uphold the mursal report, yet they violated their principle here by disregarding the mursal report of Rabīʿah that we mentioned. We do not know that the Mālikīs used any proof beyond what we have mentioned, except that some of them argued: "Are partnership, resale at cost, and mutual rescission not customary norms?" We responded: "What of it? Sale too is a customary norm, and we have never observed customary norms that permit unlawful matters. Were this the case, they would be reprehensible rather than customary."

L24185 And we will discuss, if Allah, the Exalted, wills, the matter of mutual cancellation subsequent to this issue in a separate issue. There is no might nor power except with Allah, the Most High, the Almighty.

L24186 The issue of whether mutual rescission (iqālah) in a sale constitutes annulment (fasakh).

L24187 1510. Issue:

L24188–24190 As for rescission (iqālah, mutual dissolution of a contract), it has been authentically established from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that he encouraged its practice. It has been narrated to us through Abū Dāwūd's chain: Yaḥyā ibn Maʿīn from Ḥafṣ ibn Ghīyāth, from al-Aʿmash, from Abū Ṣāliḥ, from Abū Hurayrah, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—stated, "Whoever grants rescission to a regretful person, Allah will forgive his misstep." Abu Hanifah, Al-Shafi'i, and Abu Sulayman said: It is not a sale, but rather the annulment of a sale.

L24191 Abu Yusuf said: After taking possession, it is a sale; before taking possession, it is the rescission of a sale.

L24192 It was narrated from Mālik that it is a sale.

الصِّفَةُ أَلْبَتَّةَ إِلَّا لِلْبَيْعِ، وَلَا يَكُونُ بَيْعٌ أَصْلًا إِلَّا بِهَذِهِ الصِّفَةِ فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُمَا بَيْعٌ صَحِيحٌ، وَهُمْ لَا يُخَالِفُونَنَا فِي أَنَّهُ لَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِمَا إِلَّا مَا يَجُوزُ فِي الْبَيْعِ، إِلَّا فِيمَا ذَكَرْنَا هَهُنَا فَقَطْ وَهَذَا تَخْصِيصٌ بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ.

وَأَمَّا الْحَنَفِيُّونَ: فَإِنَّهُمْ يَقُولُونَ بِالْمُرْسَلِ وَنَقَضُوا هَهُنَا أَصْلَهُمْ، فَتَرَكُوا مُرْسَلَ رَبِيعَةَ الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَاهُ وَمَا نَعْلَمُ الْمَالِكِيِّينَ احْتَجُّوا بِغَيْرِ مَا ذَكَرْنَا إِلَّا أَنَّ بَعْضَهُمْ قَالَ: الشَّرِكَةُ، وَالتَّوْلِيَةُ، وَالْإِقَالَةُ مَعْرُوفٌ؟ فَقُلْنَا: فَكَانَ مَاذَا؟ وَالْبَيْعُ أَيْضًا مَعْرُوفٌ، وَمَا عَهِدْنَا الْمَعْرُوفَ تُبَاحُ فِيهِ مُحَرَّمَاتٌ، وَلَوْ كَانَ ذَلِكَ لَكَانَ مُنْكَرًا لَا مَعْرُوفًا.

وَسَنَتَكَلَّمُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِي الْإِقَالَةِ إِثْرَ هَذِهِ الْمَسْأَلَةِ فِي مَسْأَلَةٍ مُفْرَدَةٍ وَلَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ الْعَلِيِّ الْعَظِيمِ.

[مَسْأَلَةُ الْإِقَالَةِ بَيْعٌ أَمْ فَسْخٌ]

١٥١٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَأَمَّا الْإِقَالَةُ فَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الْحَضُّ عَلَيْهَا: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد أَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ مَعِينٍ أَنَا حَفْصٌ هُوَ ابْنُ غِيَاثٍ عَنْ الْأَعْمَشِ عَنْ أَبِي صَالِحٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «مَنْ أَقَالَ نَادِمًا أَقَالَهُ اللَّهُ عَثْرَتَهُ» وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ، وَالشَّافِعِيُّ، وَأَبُو سُلَيْمَانَ: لَيْسَتْ بَيْعًا، إِنَّمَا هِيَ فَسْخُ بَيْعٍ.

وَقَالَ أَبُو يُوسُفَ: هِيَ بَعْدَ الْقَبْضِ بَيْعٌ، وَقَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ فَسْخُ بَيْعٍ.

وَرُوِيَ عَنْ مَالِكٍ: أَنَّهَا بَيْعٌ.

L24193 It has been narrated from him that which indicates this is an annulment of the sale. As for Abū Yūsuf's categorization, it is an unsubstantiated claim and a classification devoid of evidence; anything of this nature is invalid.

وَرُوِيَ عَنْهُ مَا يَدُلُّ عَلَى أَنَّهَا فَسْخُ بَيْعٍ: فَأَمَّا تَقْسِيمُ أَبِي يُوسُفَ فَدَعْوَى بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ، وَتَقْسِيمٌ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ، وَمَا كَانَ هَكَذَا فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ.

L24194 As for those who said it is not a sale, they cited as evidence that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) named it "iqālah," and Muslims followed him in this matter. He (peace be upon him) did not designate it as a sale, and the act of naming in matters of religion must be taken exclusively from him (peace be upon him). Thus, it is not permissible to call it a sale, since he (peace be upon him) did not assign it this name.

وَأَمَّا مَنْ قَالَ: لَيْسَتْ بَيْعًا، فَإِنَّهُمْ احْتَجُّوا: أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - سَمَّاهَا بِاسْمِ الْإِقَالَةِ، وَاتَّبَعَهُ الْمُسْلِمُونَ عَلَى ذَلِكَ، وَلَمْ يُسَمِّهَا - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - بَيْعًا، وَالتَّسْمِيَةُ فِي الدِّينِ لَا تُؤْخَذُ إِلَّا عَنْهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، فَلَا يَجُوزُ أَنْ تُسَمَّى بَيْعًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لَمْ يُسَمِّهَا هَذَا الِاسْمَ.

L24195 They said: A consensus has indeed been established on the permissibility of mutual revocation in the salam contract, and a sale before taking possession is not permissible. Thus, it is confirmed that it does not constitute a sale. We know of no argument they have other than these two.

L24196 Abu Muhammad said: Their argument invoking the Prophet's naming—peace be upon him—is valid. However, we do not concede that he—peace be upon him—termed as iqalah the act of one who sells to another, then annuls the transaction by having the purchased item returned while the seller takes back the price. Nor did he—peace be upon him—designate this as a sale. They will never find this in any narration, sound or unsound. As for this mursal report transmitted via Rabi'ah's chain: if we wished to cite it as proof that iqalah is a sale, we would do so, for it contains the prohibition against selling before taking possession—except in partnership transactions, transfer of rights, or rescission. This clearly indicates that these are sales excluded from the general category of sales.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: احْتِجَاجُهُمْ بِالتَّسْمِيَةِ مِنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَقَوْلُهُمْ حَقٌّ، إِلَّا أَنَّنَا لَا نُسَلِّمُ لَهُمْ أَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - سَمَّى إقَالَةً: فِعْلَ مَنْ بَاعَ مِنْ آخَرَ بَيْعًا ثُمَّ اسْتَقَالَهُ فِيهِ، فَرَدَّ إلَيْهِ مَا ابْتَاعَ مِنْهُ وَأَخَذَ ثَمَنَهُ مِنْهُ، وَأَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - لَمْ يُسَمِّ ذَلِكَ بَيْعًا، وَلَا يَجِدُونَ هَذَا أَبَدًا، لَا فِي رِوَايَةٍ صَحِيحَةٍ، وَلَا سَقِيمَةٍ وَهَذَا الْخَبَرُ الْمُرْسَلُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ رَبِيعَةَ لَوْ شِئْنَا أَنْ نَسْتَدِلَّ مِنْهُ بِأَنَّ الْإِقَالَةَ بَيْعٌ لَفَعَلْنَا؛ لِأَنَّهُ فِيهِ النَّهْيُ عَنْ الْبَيْعِ قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ إلَّا مَنْ أَشْرَكَ، أَوْ وَلَّى، أَوْ أَقَالَ فَهَذَا ظَاهِرٌ أَنَّهَا بُيُوعٌ مُسْتَثْنَاةٌ مِنْ جُمْلَةِ الْبُيُوعِ.

L24197 As for the authentic report we mentioned, it only encourages rescission. Rescission applies not to sales but rather to gifts and similar matters.

وَأَمَّا الْخَبَرُ الصَّحِيحُ الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا فَإِنَّمَا فِيهِ الْحَضُّ عَلَى الْإِقَالَةِ فَقَطْ، وَالْإِقَالَةُ تَكُونُ فِي غَيْرِ الْبَيْعِ، لَكِنْ فِي الْهِبَةِ، وَنَحْوِ ذَلِكَ.

وَلَا فِيهِ أَيْضًا أَنَّ الْإِقَالَةَ لَا تُسَمَّى بَيْعًا، وَلَا لَهَا حُكْمُ الْبَيْعِ فَبَطَلَ مَا صَدَّرُوا بِهِ مِنْ هَذَا الِاحْتِجَاجِ الصَّحِيحِ أَصْلُهُ الْمَوْضُوعَ فِي غَيْرِ مَوْضِعِهِ.

L24198 Nor does the text therein state that rescission is termed a sale or carries the legal ruling of a sale. Thus, their use of this valid argument—whose valid basis is applied out of context—is rendered void.

وَأَمَّا دَعْوَاهُمْ الْإِجْمَاعَ عَلَى جَوَازِ الْإِقَالَةِ فِي السَّلَمِ قَبْلَ الْقَبْضِ فَبَاطِلٌ، وَإِقْدَامٌ عَلَى الدَّعْوَى عَلَى الْأُمَّةِ، وَمَا وَقَعَ الْإِجْمَاعُ قَطُّ عَلَى جَوَازِ السَّلَمِ، فَكَيْفَ عَلَى الْإِقَالَةِ فِيهِ.

L24199 As for their claim of consensus on the permissibility of rescission in a salam contract prior to taking possession, it is baseless and constitutes a presumptuous assertion against the Ummah. Consensus has never occurred regarding the permissibility of salam itself—how then could it exist concerning rescission within it?

L24200–24202 It has been narrated to us from Abdullah ibn Amr, Abdullah ibn ʿUmar, al-Hasan, and Jabir ibn Zayd. And Shuraih, Al-Sha'bi, Al-Nakhai, Ibn al-Musayyib, Abdullah ibn Ma'qil, Tawus, Muhammad ibn Ali ibn al-Hasan, Abu Salama ibn Abd al-Rahman, Mujahid, Sa'id ibn Jubayr, Salim ibn Abdullah, Al-Qasim ibn Muhammad, and Amr ibn al-Harith—the brother of Umm al-Mu'minin Juwayriyah—all prohibited taking part of a salam contract and mutual cancellation in part of it. So where is the consensus? Would that I knew—do you affirm that all the Companions, from the first to the last, [agreed] until they became certain of their unanimous agreement on this? Or do you affirm that all the scholars among the Tabi'in from the outermost regions of Khurasan to Andalusia and all lands between them did likewise?

L24203 Then, even if this were valid for them—though it is eternally invalid—no two Muslims dispute that among the jinn are those who kept company with Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) and believed in him. Whoever denies this is a denier, for rejecting the Quran. Thus, those jinn have a share of the right to reverence, the obligation of honor, and the status of knowledge and religion that belongs to all other Companions (may Allah be pleased with them). This is beyond doubt for any Muslim. So who among them has consensus on this? May Allah have mercy on Ahmad ibn Hanbal, for he spoke truthfully when he said: "Whoever claims consensus has lied. What informs him? Perhaps people differed." Let him instead say: "I know of no disagreement." These are the reports of al-Marisi and al-Asamm.

L24204 Abū Muḥammad said: The claim of consensus is not permissible except in two cases. The first: that which is established with certainty—through their authentic transmission—that all the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) recognized it, acknowledged it, and affirmed it. The second: matters where opposition renders one a disbeliever (kāfir), such as the testimony that there is no deity but Allah and that Muḥammad is the Messenger of Allah; fasting in Ramadan; Hajj to the House (Kaaba); belief in the Quran; the five prayers; the general obligation of zakah; ritual purification for prayer and from major impurity; the prohibition of carrion, pork, and blood; and whatever belongs exclusively to this category.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: لَا تَحِلُّ دَعْوَى الْإِجْمَاعِ إِلَّا فِي مَوْضِعَيْنِ: أَحَدُهُمَا: مَا تُيُقِّنَ أَنَّ جَمِيعَ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - عَرَفُوهُ بِنَقْلٍ صَحِيحٍ عَنْهُمْ وَأَقَرُّوا بِهِ وَالثَّانِي: مَا يَكُونُ مَنْ خَالَفَهُ كَافِرًا خَارِجًا عَنْ الْإِسْلَامِ، كَشَهَادَةِ أَنْ لَا إلَهَ إلَّا اللَّهُ، وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ، وَصِيَامِ رَمَضَانَ، وَحَجِّ الْبَيْتِ، وَالْإِيمَانِ بِالْقُرْآنِ، وَالصَّلَوَاتِ الْخَمْسِ، وَجُمْلَةِ الزَّكَاةِ، وَالطَّهَارَةِ لِلصَّلَاةِ، وَمِنْ الْجَنَابَةِ، وَتَحْرِيمِ الْمَيْتَةِ، وَالْخِنْزِيرِ، وَالدَّمِ، وَمَا كَانَ مِنْ هَذَا الصِّنْفِ فَقَطْ.

L24205 Furthermore, if their claimed consensus regarding the permissibility of rescission in salam contracts were valid, it would constitute a sale transaction excluded by consensus from the general category of sales. How then [can this hold], when there exists an authentic report from Ibn ʿAbbās indicating the prohibition of rescission in salam?

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَهُمْ مَا ادَّعَوْهُ مِنْ الْإِجْمَاعِ عَلَى جَوَازِ الْإِقَالَةِ فِي السَّلَمِ لَكَانَ بَيْعًا مُسْتَثْنًى بِالْإِجْمَاعِ مِنْ جُمْلَةِ الْبُيُوعِ، فَكَيْفَ وَقَدْ صَحَّ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ مَا يَدُلُّ عَلَى الْمَنْعِ مِنْ الْإِقَالَةِ فِي السَّلَمِ.

L24206 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr, Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah, from ʿAmr ibn Dīnār, from Ṭāwūs, from Ibn ʿAbbās, who said: If you lend something for a term, specify the term. When that term arrives and you do not find what you lent, take goods of lower value and do not profit twice. He did not issue a fatwa regarding cancellation.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا سُفْيَانُ هُوَ ابْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ دِينَارٍ عَنْ طَاوُسٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ: إذَا أَسْلَفْت فِي شَيْءٍ إلَى أَجَلٍ فَسَمِّي فَجَاءَ ذَلِكَ الْأَجَلُ وَلَمْ تَجِدْ الَّذِي أَسْلَفْت فِيهِ: فَخُذْ عَرَضًا بِأَنْقَصَ وَلَا تَرْبَحْ مَرَّتَيْنِ وَلَمْ يُفْتِ بِالْإِقَالَةِ.

L24207–24208 Ali said: Rescission is not permissible in a salam contract because it constitutes selling what you do not possess, a sale involving gharar (undue uncertainty), selling what has not been received, and an unidentified sale where the specific item is unknown globally. This amounts to unlawful consumption of wealth, as no textual evidence exists to validate it and thereby exempt it from these prohibited categories. The ruling for one who cannot obtain what was advanced in the contract is to wait until it is found or to accept retribution and an agreed-upon penalty corresponding to the value owed to him, in accordance with Allah's decree: "For sacred violations, there is lawful retribution" [2:194]. The inviolability of wealth is a sacred inviolability that must not be violated, and retribution must be exacted for its infringement. If the creditor wishes to act benevolently, he may absolve the debtor entirely,

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَلَا تَجُوزُ الْإِقَالَةُ فِي السَّلَمِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ مَا لَيْسَ عِنْدَكَ، وَبَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَبَيْعُ مَا لَمْ يُقْبَضْ، وَبَيْعٌ مَجْهُولٌ لَا يَدْرِي أَيَّمَا فِي الْعَالَمِ هُوَ؟ وَهَذَا هُوَ أَكْلُ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ، إذْ لَمْ يَأْتِ بِجَوَازِهِ نَصٌّ فَيَسْتَثْنِيهِ مِنْ جُمْلَةِ هَذِهِ الْمُحَرَّمَاتِ، فَإِنَّمَا الْحُكْمُ فِيمَنْ لَمْ يَجِدْ مَا أَسْلَفَ فِيهِ أَنْ يَصْبِرَ حَتَّى يُوجَدَ، أَوْ يَأْخُذَ مِنْهُ قِصَاصًا وَمُعَاقَبَةً مَا اتَّفَقَا عَلَيْهِ وَتَرَاضَيَا بِهِ: قِيمَةَ مَا وَجَبَ لَهُ عِنْدَهُ، لِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى: {وَالْحُرُمَاتُ قِصَاصٌ} [البقرة: ١٩٤] وَحَرِيمَةُ الْمَالِ حُرْمَةٌ مُحَرَّمَةٌ يَجِبُ أَنْ يُقْتَصَّ مِنْهَا، فَإِنْ أَرَادَ الْإِحْسَانَ إلَيْهِ فَلَهُ أَنْ يُبْرِئَهُ مِنْ كُلِّ مَا لَهُ عِنْدَهُ، أَوْ يَأْخُذَ بَعْضَ مَا لَهُ عِنْدَهُ، أَوْ يُبْرِئَهُ مِمَّا شَاءَ مِنْهُ وَيَتَصَدَّقَ بِهِ

accept partial repayment, forgive any portion he chooses and donate it to him as charity - just as the Messenger of Allah instructed regarding the insolvent debtor when he said: “Give him charity.” He then added: “Take what you find, for you have no right beyond that.”[14]

L24209 We have mentioned it with its Isnād in Judicial Insolvency and Natural Calamities in this book of ours.

L24210 Abu Muhammad said: Since all the evidence they presented has been invalidated, let us affirm our corrected position with the help of God Almighty. We declare—and through His exalted support we are strengthened—that if iqālah constituted annulment of a sale, it would only be permissible by returning the actual price itself, not with something else, and this is necessary as Ibn Sīrīn said. As we have narrated through the chain of Al-Ḥajjāj ibn Minhal: Ar-Rabīʿ ibn Ḥabīb reported: “We used to frequent the Sawad region where harvested grain lay in heaps. We would purchase a kurr measure for such and such an amount, paying our money in advance. When the workers permitted threshing, some sellers fulfilled our stipulated quantity while others claimed their grain had diminished, requesting us to reclaim a portion of our principal corresponding to the shortfall. I asked Al-Ḥasan about this, and he disapproved unless either the full stipulated quantity was delivered or we reclaimed all our money entirely. I asked Ibn Sīrīn, who responded: ’If your dirhams are in their original form, there is no harm.’ I asked ʿAṭāʾ, who said: ’I perceive you have shown leniency and done good to him.’”

L24211–24213 Abu Muhammad said: This is the description of annulment. Then we return and say: Indeed, sale constitutes a valid contract established by the Quran, the Sunnah, and the certain and conclusive consensus from all... A Muslim existing on the earth’s surface - whether already present or yet to come - when he is established as such with certainty, not through false claims, it becomes impermissible to invalidate a contract validated by Allah the Exalted in His Book and through His Messenger’s pronouncements (peace be upon him) except by another textual ruling. No textual permission exists for annulling contracts through instant mutual consent except in cases where

عَلَيْه، كَمَا «أَمَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ فِي الْمُفْلِسِ إِذْ قَالَ: تَصَدَّقُوا عَلَيْهِ» ثُمَّ قَالَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -: «خُذُوا مَا وَجَدْتُمْ وَلَيْسَ لَكُمْ إِلَّا ذَلِكَ»

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَإِذَا بَطَلَ كُلُّ مَا احْتَجُّوا بِهِ فَلْنَقُلْ عَلَى تَصْحِيحِ قَوْلِنَا بِعَوْنِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، فَنَقُولُ، وَبِهِ تَعَالَى نَتَأَيَّدُ: إِنَّ الْإِقَالَةَ لَوْ كَانَتْ فَسْخَ بَيْعٍ لَمَا جَازَتْ إِلَّا بِرَدِّ عَيْنِ الثَّمَنِ نَفْسِهِ لَا بِغَيْرِهِ وَلَا بُدَّ لَهُ كَمَا قَالَ ابْنُ سِيرِينَ، كَمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ الْحَجَّاجِ بْنِ الْمِنْهَالِ أَنَا الرَّبِيعُ بْنُ حَبِيبٍ: كُنَّا نَخْتَلِفُ إِلَى السَّوَادِ فِي الطَّعَامِ وَهُوَ أَكْدَاسٌ قَدْ حُصِدَ فَنَشْتَرِيهِ مِنْهُمْ الْكُرَّ بِكَذَا وَكَذَا، وَنَنْقُدُ أَمْوَالَنَا، فَإِذَا أَذِنَ لَهُمْ الْعُمَّالُ فِي الدِّرَاسِ، فَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَفِي لَنَا بِمَا سُمِّيَ لَنَا، وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَزْعُمُ أَنَّهُ نَقَصَ طَعَامُهُ فَيَطْلُبُ إِلَيْنَا أَنْ نَرْتَجِعَ بِقَدْرِ مَا نَقَصَ رُءُوسُ أَمْوَالِنَا، فَسَأَلْت الْحَسَنَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ؟ فَكَرِهَهُ إِلَّا أَنْ يُسْتَوْفَى مَا سُمِّيَ لَنَا، أَوْ نَرْتَجِعَ أَمْوَالَنَا كُلَّهَا، وَسَأَلْت ابْنَ سِيرِينَ؟ فَقَالَ: إِنْ كَانَتْ دَرَاهِمُك بِأَعْيَانِهَا فَلَا بَأْسَ، وَسَأَلْت عَطَاءً؟ فَقَالَ: مَا أَرَاك إِلَّا قَدْ رَفَقْت وَأَحْسَنْت إِلَيْهِ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: هَذِهِ صِفَةُ الْفَسْخِ، ثُمَّ نَرْجِعُ فَنَقُولُ: إِنَّ الْبَيْعَ عَقْدٌ صَحِيحٌ بِالْقُرْآنِ، وَالسُّنَنِ، وَالْإِجْمَاعِ الْمُتَيَقَّنِ الْمَقْطُوعِ بِهِ مِنْ كُلِّ مُسْلِمٍ عَلَى أَدِيمِ الْأَرْضِ كَانَ أَوْ هُوَ كَائِنٌ فَإِذْ هُوَ كَذَلِكَ بِالْيَقِينِ لَا بِالدَّعَاوَى الْكَاذِبَةِ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ فَسْخُ عَقْدٍ صَحَّحَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِي كِتَابِهِ، وَعَلَى لِسَانِ رَسُولِهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إِلَّا بِنَصٍّ آخَرَ، وَلَا نَصَّ فِي جَوَازِ فَسْخِهِ مُطَارَفَةً بِتَرَاضِيهِمَا، إِلَّا فِيمَا جَاءَ نَصٌّ بِفَسْخِهِ، كَالشُّفْعَةِ، وَمَا فِيهِ الْخِيَارُ بِالنَّصِّ، فَإِذْ ذَلِكَ كَذَلِك، وَلَمْ يَكُنْ بَيْنَ مَنْ أَجَازَ الْفَسْخَ نَصٌّ أَصْلًا فَقَدْ صَحَّ: أَنَّ

specific texts authorize dissolution, such as pre-emption rights or contractual options established by textual evidence. When this reality is confirmed, and no textual basis exists whatsoever among those permitting annulment, it becomes established that mutual rescission (iqālah) constitutes a sale among sales through mutual consent. What is permissible in sales transactions remains permissible in it, and what is prohibited in sales remains prohibited in it.

الْإِقَالَةَ بَيْعٌ مِنْ الْبُيُوعِ بِتَرَاضِيهِمَا، يَجُوزُ فِيهَا مَا يَجُوزُ فِي الْبُيُوعِ، وَيَحْرُمُ فِيهَا مَا يَحْرُمُ فِي الْبُيُوعِ.

L24214 And whoever holds that iqālah (mutual rescission) constitutes the dissolution of a sale is obligated not to permit it beyond what the sale was concluded upon, because the increase—since it was not a sale—constitutes usurpation of wealth wrongfully.

وَمَنْ رَأَى أَنَّ الْإِقَالَةَ فَسْخُ بَيْعٍ لَزِمَهُ أَنْ لَا يُجِيزَهَا بِأَكْثَرَ مِمَّا وَقَعَ بِهِ الْبَيْعُ، لِأَنَّ الزِّيَادَةَ إذْ لَمْ تَكُنْ بَيْعًا فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L24215 As for those who deem it a sale, they permit amending it by increasing, decreasing, or substituting the original terms—whether through immediate payment, deferred liability, or term-based deferment in cases where such periods are permissible. This is the position we uphold, and success is from Allah, the Exalted.

وَأَمَّا مَنْ رَآهَا بَيْعًا فَإِنَّهُ يُجِيزُهَا بِأَكْثَرَ مِمَّا وَقَعَ بِهِ الْبَيْعُ أَوَّلًا، وَبِأَقَلَّ، وَبِغَيْرِ مَا وَقَعَ بِهِ الْبَيْعُ، وَحَالًّا، وَفِي الذِّمَّةِ، وَإِلَى أَجَلٍ فِيمَا يَجُوزُ فِيهِ الْأَجَلُ، وَبِهَذَا نَأْخُذُ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع دِين يَكُون لِإِنْسَانٍ عَلَى غَيْره]

L24216 The issue of selling a debt (deen) owed to an individual by another.

L24217 1511 - Issue:

١٥١١ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L24218 It is not permissible to sell a debt owed to a person by another—whether the sale is for cash, another debt, in kind, or goods—regardless of whether the debt is evidenced by proof, acknowledged by admission, or not. All such transactions are invalid.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ دَيْنٍ يَكُونُ لِإِنْسَانٍ عَلَى غَيْرِهِ، لَا بِنَقْدٍ، وَلَا بِدَيْنٍ، لَا بِعَيْنٍ، وَلَا بِعَرَضٍ، كَانَ بِبَيِّنَةٍ أَوْ مُقِرًّا بِهِ أَوْ لَمْ يَكُنْ: كُلُّ ذَلِكَ بَاطِلٌ.

L24219 The method for one seeking what is lawful is to purchase on credit from whomever he wishes whatever he wishes—from items whose sale is permissible. When the sale is concluded by the parties' separation or the expiry of the right to retract, he then transfers the debt for the price to the one indebted to him. This is valid.

وَوَجْهُ الْعَمَلِ فِي ذَلِكَ لِمَنْ أَرَادَ الْحَلَالَ: أَنْ يَبْتَاعَ فِي ذِمَّتِهِ مِمَّنْ شَاءَ مَا شَاءَ، مِمَّا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُهُ، ثُمَّ إذَا تَمَّ الْبَيْعُ بِالتَّفَرُّقِ أَوْ التَّخَيُّرِ، ثُمَّ يُحِيلُهُ بِالثَّمَنِ عَلَى الَّذِي لَهُ عِنْدَهُ الدَّيْنُ، فَهَذَا حَسَنٌ.

L24220 The proof of this is that it is an unspecified sale where the specific item is unknown, and this is wrongful consumption of wealth - and it is the statement of Al-Shafi'i.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: أَنَّهُ بَيْعٌ مَجْهُولٌ، وَمَا لَا يَدْرِي عَيْنَهُ، وَهَذَا هُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ.

L24221 It was narrated to us via Waki‘, who narrated from Zakariyyā ibn Abī Zā’idah, who said: Al-Sha‘bī was asked about one who purchased a promissory note acknowledging three dinars in exchange for a garment. He replied: “It is invalid.” Waki‘ added: Sufyān narrated to us from ‘Abdullāh ibn Abī al-Safar, from al-Sha‘bī, who said: “It constitutes gharar.”

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ نا زَكَرِيَّا بْنُ أَبِي زَائِدَةَ قَالَ: سُئِلَ الشَّعْبِيُّ عَمَّنْ اشْتَرَى صَكًّا فِيهِ ثَلَاثَةُ دَنَانِيرَ بِثَوْبٍ؟ قَالَ: لَا يَصْلُحُ، قَالَ وَكِيعٌ: وَحَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي السَّفَرِ عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ قَالَ: هُوَ غَرَرٌ.

L24222 Mālik said: If he acknowledges the debt owed, it is permissible to sell it for a commodity in cash. If he does not acknowledge it, selling it is impermissible—whether there is evidence against him or not—because it constitutes a contentious sale.

وَقَالَ مَالِكٌ: إنْ كَانَ مُقِرًّا بِمَا عَلَيْهِ جَازَ بَيْعُهُ بِعَرَضٍ نَقْدًا، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ مُقِرًّا لَمْ يَجُزْ بَيْعُهُ كَانَتْ عَلَيْهِ بَيِّنَةٌ أَوْ لَمْ تَكُنْ لِأَنَّهُ شِرَاءُ خُصُومَةٍ.

L24223 Ali said: This is of no consequence, for even if he acknowledges it today, he may deny it tomorrow. Thus, the matter reverts to requiring proof despite his acknowledgment, enabling him to acquire a pretext for litigation unjustly without valid basis.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَا لَا شَيْءَ؛ لِأَنَّهُ وَإِنْ أَقَرَّ الْيَوْمَ فَيُمْكِنُ أَنْ يُنْكِرَ غَدًا، فَيَرْجِعُ الْأَمْرُ إلَى الْبَيِّنَةِ بِإِقْرَارِهِ، فَيَحْصُلُ عَلَى شِرَاءِ خُصُومَةٍ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L24224–24225 Those who permitted it cited as evidence what we reported through ʿAbd al-Razzāq’s chain: Al-Aslamī informed me that ʿAbd Allāh ibn Abī Bakr reported from ʿUmar ibn ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz that “the Messenger of God—peace and blessings be upon him—established the right of preemption concerning debt. This pertains to a man owed a debt by another man: if the debtor sells [the item], the creditor has the prior right to it.”

وَاحْتَجَّ الْمُجِيزُونَ لَهُ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ نا الْأَسْلَمِيُّ أَخْبَرَنِي عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ أَبِي بَكْرٍ عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَضَى بِالشُّفْعَةِ فِي الدَّيْنِ وَهُوَ الرَّجُلُ يَكُونُ لَهُ الدَّيْنُ عَلَى رَجُلٍ فَيَبِيعُهُ فَيَكُونُ صَاحِبُ الدَّيْنِ أَحَقَّ بِهِ»

L24226 Abd al-Razzaq said: Ma’mar narrated to us from a man of Quraysh that Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz ruled regarding a mukatab who purchased what was owed from him with a commodity. He decreed that the mukatab had the foremost right to himself, then said: “The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated: ’Whoever purchases a debt owed by a man, the original creditor has a greater right if he repays the same amount paid by his companion.’”

قَالَ عَبْدُ الرَّزَّاقِ: وَحَدَّثَنَا مَعْمَرٌ عَنْ رَجُلٍ مِنْ قُرَيْشٍ أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ قَضَى فِي مُكَاتَبٍ اشْتَرَى مَا عَلَيْهِ بِعَرَضٍ فَجَعَلَ الْمُكَاتَبَ أَوْلَى بِنَفْسِهِ، ثُمَّ قَالَ: إنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «مَنْ ابْتَاعَ دَيْنًا عَلَى رَجُلٍ فَصَاحِبُ الدَّيْنِ أَوْلَى إذَا أَدَّى مِثْلَ الَّذِي أَدَّى صَاحِبُهُ»

L24227 Through the chain of ʿAbd al-Razzāq: Ibn Jurayj reported to us, Abū al-Zubayr reported to us that he heard Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh ask about one who has a debt and uses it to purchase a male slave. Jābir said: “There is no harm in it.”

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ نا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ نا أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَسْأَلُ عَمَّنْ لَهُ دَيْنٌ فَابْتَاعَ بِهِ غُلَامًا؟ قَالَ: لَا بَأْسَ بِهِ.

L24228 Abu Muhammad said: The two narrations of Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz are mursal. One of them is from al-Aslami - who is Ibrahim ibn Abi Yahya, an abandoned transmitter accused of unreliability. The other is likewise from an unnamed narrator, and there is no valid proof in anyone other than the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him).

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: حَدِيثَا عُمَرَ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ مُرْسَلَانِ: أَحَدُهُمَا: عَنْ الْأَسْلَمِيِّ وَهُوَ إبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ أَبِي يَحْيَى وَهُوَ مَتْرُوكٌ مُتَّهَمٌ. وَالْآخَرُ أَيْضًا: عَمَّنْ لَمْ يُسَمَّ وَلَا حُجَّةَ فِي أَحَدٍ دُونَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L24229 And this is among the matters in which the Shāfiʿīs upheld the position of a scholar (ṣāḥib) for whom no dissenting opponent from among them is known.

وَهَذَا مِمَّا تَرَكَ فِيهِ الشَّافِعِيُّونَ صَاحِبًا لَا يُعْرَفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفٌ مِنْهُمْ.

L24230 There is no valid proof for the Mālikīs in these two reports nor in the report of Jābir, for none of them specify that it was established through mere confession without evidence. Thus, they contravene the general purport of the report, and with Allah, the Exalted, is success.

وَلَا حُجَّةَ لِلْمَالِكِيِّينَ فِي هَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ، وَلَا فِي خَبَرِ جَابِرٍ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا: أَنَّهُ كَانَ بِإِقْرَارٍ دُونَ بَيِّنَةٍ فَهُمْ مُخَالِفُونَ لِعُمُومِ الْخَبَرِ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24231 The Issue of the Sale of Water

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْمَاء]

L24232 1512 – Question:

١٥١٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L24233 It is not permissible to sell water in any manner—neither from an irrigation channel, river, spring, or well; nor water in a well, nor in a reservoir, nor water collected in a water-skin, nor in a vessel. However, whoever sells their share of the element of water, or a specified portion thereof, or sells the entire well or a specified part of it, or sells the entire irrigation channel or a specified portion thereof: this is permissible, and the water becomes his lawful sale.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الْمَاءِ بِوَجْهٍ مِنْ الْوُجُوهِ لَا فِي سَاقِيَةٍ وَلَا مِنْ نَهْرٍ أَوْ مِنْ عَيْنٍ وَلَا مِنْ بِئْرٍ، وَلَا فِي بِئْرٍ، وَلَا فِي صِهْرِيجٍ، وَلَا مَجْمُوعًا فِي قِرْبَةٍ، وَلَا فِي إنَاءٍ، لَكِنْ مَنْ بَاعَ حِصَّتَهُ مِنْ عُنْصُرِ الْمَاءِ، وَمِنْ جُزْءٍ مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا، أَوْ بَاعَ الْبِئْرَ كُلَّهَا أَوْ جُزْءًا مُسَمًّى مِنْهَا، أَوْ بَاعَ السَّاقِيَةَ كُلَّهَا أَوْ الْجُزْءَ الْمُسَمَّى مِنْهَا: جَازَ ذَلِكَ، وَكَانَ الْمَاءُ بَيْعًا لَهُ.

L24234 No one owns flowing water except for as long as it remains within his irrigation channel and river. Once it leaves both, his ownership over it ceases from him, and it becomes the property of whoever's land it enters, and this rule applies perpetually.

وَلَا يَمْلِكُ أَحَدٌ الْمَاءَ الْجَارِيَ إلَّا مَا دَامَ فِي سَاقِيَتِهِ وَنَهْرِهِ، فَإِذَا فَارَقَهُمَا بَطَلَ مِلْكُهُ عَنْهُ، وَصَارَ لِمَنْ صَارَ فِي أَرْضِهِ وَهَكَذَا أَبَدًا.

L24235–24237 Whoever is compelled to use water for irrigation or their need, it is obligatory that conveyance to them be ensured, or [...] If the water is poured into his vessel at his disposal under a rental contract exclusively, the same applies to one whose livelihood depends on water. It is obligatory that he also be treated strictly on the basis of pouring or fetching it under these same terms alone.

وَمَنْ مَلَكَ بِئْرًا بِحَفْرٍ فَهُوَ أَحَقُّ بِمَائِهَا مَا دَامَ مُحْتَاجًا إِلَيْهِ، فَإِنْ فَضَلَ عَنْهُ مَا لَا يَحْتَاجُ إِلَيْهِ لَمْ يَحِلَّ لَهُ مَنْعُهُ عَمَّنْ يَحْتَاجُ إِلَيْهِ، وَكَذَلِكَ فَضْلُ النَّهْرِ، وَالسَّاقِيَةِ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L24238 Whoever owns a well by digging it has the greater right to its water as long as he is in need of it. If there is surplus beyond his needs, it is not permissible for him to prevent others in need from using it. The same applies to surplus from rivers and irrigation channels, with no distinction.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ عُثْمَانَ النَّوْفَلِيُّ نا أَبُو عَاصِمٍ الضَّحَّاكُ بْنُ مَخْلَدٍ نا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي زِيَادُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي هِلَالُ بْنُ أُسَامَةَ أَنَّ أَبَا سَلَمَةَ بْنَ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ أَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ يَقُولُ " قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «لَا يُبَاعُ فَضْلُ الْمَاءِ لِيُبَاعَ بِهِ الْكَلَأُ»

L24239 The evidence for this is what we have narrated through the chain of Muslim: Ahmad ibn Uthman al-Nawfali narrated to us, Abu Asim al-Dahhak ibn Makhlad narrated to us, Ibn Jurayj narrated to us: Ziyad ibn Sa'd informed me: Hilal ibn Usamah informed me that Abu Salamah ibn Abd al-Rahman informed him that he heard Abu Hurayrah say: "Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: 'Do not sell excess water so that pasture may be sold through it.'"

L24240 Hummam narrated to us: Abbas ibn Asbagh narrated to us: Muhammad ibn Abd al-Malik ibn Ayman narrated to us: Ahmad ibn Zuhayr ibn Harb narrated to us: My father reported from Sufyan ibn Uyaynah, from Amr ibn Dinar: Abu al-Minhal informed him that Iyas ibn Abd, al-Muzani, said to a man: "Do not sell water, for the Messenger of Allah (may Allah bless him and grant him peace) prohibited the sale of water."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ دِينَارٍ عَنْ أَبِي الْمِنْهَالِ قَالَ: سَمِعَ «إِيَاسَ بْنَ عَبْدٍ الْمُزَنِيَّ وَرَأَى أُنَاسًا يَبِيعُونَ الْمَاءَ فَقَالَ: لَا تَبِيعُوا الْمَاءَ، فَإِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - يَنْهَى أَنْ يُبَاعَ الْمَاءُ» .

L24241 Through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah reported to us from ʿAmr ibn Dīnār from Abū al-Minhāl, who said: "Iyas ibn ʿAbd al-Muzanī heard [the Prophet] and saw people selling water. He said: 'Do not sell water, for I heard the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—forbid the sale of water.'" وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا يَزِيدُ بْنُ هَارُونَ نا ابْنُ إِسْحَاقَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ أُمِّهِ عَمْرَةَ بِنْتِ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ قَالَتْ: «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يُمْنَعَ نَقْعُ الْبِئْرِ» يَعْنِي الْمَاءَ هَكَذَا فِي الْحَدِيثِ تَفْسِيرُهُ.

L24242 From the transmission of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Yazeed ibn Harun narrated to us, Ibn Ishaq narrated to us, from Muhammad ibn Abd al-Rahman, from his mother Amrah bint Abd al-Rahman, from Aisha, the Mother of the Believers, who said: "The Messenger of Allah—may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him—forbade that the stirred-up water of the well be withheld," meaning the water—this is how the explanation is given in the hadith.

L24243 And we have also transmitted it as a musnad (with a connected chain) through the route of Jābir.

وَرُوِّينَاهُ أَيْضًا مُسْنَدًا مِنْ طَرِيقِ جَابِرٍ.

L24244 These are four of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—and this is a mutawātir transmission; opposing it is impermissible.

فَهَؤُلَاءِ أَرْبَعَةٌ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ -، فَهُوَ نَقْلٌ تَوَاتَرَ، وَلَا تَحِلُّ مُخَالَفَتُهُ.

L24245–24246 As for the one who held that opinion, we have previously mentioned him as derived from the legal opinions of Iyas ibn ʿAbd.

وَأَمَّا مَنْ قَالَ بِذَلِكَ فَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ آنِفًا عَنْ إيَاسِ بْنِ عَبْدٍ مِنْ فُتْيَاهُ.

L24247 And through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah: Wakiʿ narrated to us, al-Masʿūdī—who is Abū ʿUmays—narrated to us from ʿImrān ibn ʿUmayr, who said: "My neighbor withheld the excess of his water from me, so I asked ʿUbayd Allāh ibn ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUtbah ibn Masʿūd. He replied: 'I heard Abū Hurayrah say: It is not lawful to sell the excess water.'"

L24248 From the transmission of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Yahyā ibn Ādam reported to us from Zuhayr, from Abū al-Zubayr, from ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb, from his father, from his grandfather: A young servant of theirs sold excess water they had from a spring for twenty thousand. ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ said to him: "Do not sell it, for its sale is not lawful."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا يَحْيَى بْنُ آدَمَ نا زُهَيْرٌ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ: أَنَّ غُلَامًا لَهُمْ بَاعَ فَضْلَ مَاءٍ لَهُمْ مِنْ عَيْنٍ بِعِشْرِينَ أَلْفًا، فَقَالَ لَهُ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ: لَا تَبِعْهُ فَإِنَّهُ لَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ.

L24249 From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah, who narrated to us from Yahyā ibn Zakariyyā ibn Abī Zā'idah, from Yahyā ibn Saʿīd al-Anṣārī, from al-Qāsim ibn Muḥammad ibn Abī Bakr that he said: The sale of surplus water is deemed reprehensible. Thus, Iyās ibn ʿAbd, Abū Hurayrah, and ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAmr prohibit the sale of water entirely, with no dissenting opinion from the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—and two of the Successors: al-Qāsim and ʿUbaydullāh ibn ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUtbah.

L24250 It has been reported to us that the permissibility of selling water in vessels and selling water for drinking purposes is narrated from ʿAṭā', Abū Ḥanīfah, and al-Shāfiʿī. Similarly, the permissibility of such sales is established, while from Mālik [it is narrated] regarding selling water for drinking. From Masrūq [comes the report] permitting the setting of a price for water in bulk. No one's argument holds proof against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him).

L24251 An additional proof for the prohibition of selling drinking water is that Allah the Exalted says: “He sends down from the sky water and causes it to flow through the earth as springs” [Az-Zumar 39:21]. The prohibition of selling ambiguous items (gharar) has been established because it involves excessive uncertainty and risk. Therefore, selling drinking water is impermissible because one does not know whether it is in the sky or not. This constitutes unjust consumption of wealth. Furthermore, water reaches springs, rivers, and wells through channels and passages in the earth that are distant and lie outside the ownership of the one who excavated them. Thus, one is selling what they do not yet own, and this is invalid and prohibited. And success comes only from Allah, the Exalted.[15]

وَبُرْهَانٌ زَائِدٌ عَلَى تَحْرِيمِ بَيْعِ مَاءِ الشُّرْبِ: وَهُوَ أَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ: {أَنْزَلَ مِنَ السَّمَاءِ مَاءً فَسَلَكَهُ يَنَابِيعَ فِي الأَرْضِ} [الزمر: ٢١] وَقَدْ صَحَّ النَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ الْمَجْهُولِ، لِأَنَّهُ غَرَرٌ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الشُّرْبِ، لِأَنَّهُ لَا يَدْرِي أَفِي السَّمَاءِ هُوَ أَمْ لَا؟ فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّهُ إِنَّمَا يَأْتِي إِلَى الْعَيْنِ، وَالنَّهْرِ، وَالْبِئْرِ: مِنْ خُرُوقٍ، وَمَنَافِسَ فِي الْأَرْضِ بَعِيدَةٍ هِيَ فِي غَيْرِ مِلْكِ صَاحِبِ الْمُفَجِّرِ، فَإِنَّمَا يَبِيعُ مَا لَمْ يَمْلِكْ بَعْدُ، وَهَذَا بَاطِلٌ مُحَرَّمٌ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

The Issue of the Sale of Khamr

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعِ الْخَمْرِ]

L24253 Issue 1513:

١٥١٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L24254 The sale of wine is not permissible, neither to a believer nor to a disbeliever, nor the sale of pigs, nor their hair, nor anything from them, nor the sale of a cross, nor an idol, nor carrion, nor blood except musk alone, for its sale and ownership are permissible. Whoever sells any of the prohibited items we have mentioned, the sale is perpetually annulled.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الْخَمْرِ، لَا لِمُؤْمِنٍ، وَلَا لِكَافِرٍ، وَلَا بَيْعُ الْخَنَازِيرِ كَذَلِكَ، وَلَا شُعُورِهَا، وَلَا شَيْءٍ مِنْهَا، وَلَا بَيْعُ صَلِيبٍ، وَلَا صَنَمٍ، وَلَا مَيْتَةٍ، وَلَا دَمٍ إِلَّا الْمِسْكَ وَحْدَهُ، فَهُوَ حَلَالٌ بَيْعُهُ وَمِلْكُهُ، فَمَنْ بَاعَ مِنَ الْمُحَرَّمِ الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا شَيْئًا فُسِخَ أَبَدًا.

L24255–24257 And it has been narrated to us via Muslim: Abu Kurayb narrated to us, Abu Mu‘awiyah narrated to us, from Muslim, who is Abu al-Duha. Narrated by Masruq from Aisha, the Mother of the Believers: “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—went to the Prophet’s Mosque and prohibited trading in wine.”[16]

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا أَبُو كُرَيْبٍ نا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ عَنْ مُسْلِمٍ هُوَ أَبُو الضُّحَى عَنْ مَسْرُوقٍ عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ «خَرَجَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إِلَى الْمَسْجِدِ فَحَرَّمَ التِّجَارَةَ فِي الْخَمْرِ» .

L24258 Narrated by Jabir ibn ’Abdullah and conveyed through Qutaybah ibn Sa’id to Muslim: From Layth ibn Sa’d, from Yazid ibn Habib, from ’Ata’ ibn Abi Rabah: “I heard Allah’s Messenger - peace and blessings be upon him - during the Year of Conquest in Mecca proclaiming: ’Allah, the Almighty and Majestic, and His Messenger have prohibited the sale of intoxicants, carrion, وَبِهِ إِلَى مُسْلِمٍ: أَنَا قُتَيْبَةُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ أَنَا لَيْثٌ هُوَ ابْنُ سَعْدٍ عَنْ يَزِيدَ بْنِ حَبِيبٍ عَنْ عَطَاءِ بْنِ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، " أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَامَ الْفَتْحِ وَهُوَ بِمَكَّةَ يَقُولُ: «إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ وَرَسُولَهُ حَرَّمَ بَيْعَ الْخَمْرِ وَالْمَيْتَةِ، وَالْخِنْزِيرِ، وَالْأَصْنَامِ، فَقِيلَ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَرَأَيْتَ شُحُومَ الْمَيْتَةِ فَإِنَّهُ يُطْلَى بِهَا السُّفُنُ، وَيُدْهَنُ بِهَا

[15] Qur’an references (L24251): Qur’an 39:21 (Az-Zumar).
[16] Hadith references (L24255): Sahih Muslim 1580b.

swine, and idols.' It was said: 'O Messenger of Allah, what do you say about the fat of carrion? For ships are caulked with it, hides are greased with it, and people use it for lamps.' He responded: 'No, it is forbidden. May Allah fight the Jews! When Allah prohibited them from consuming its fats, they processed it then sold it and consumed its price.'"[17]

الْجُلُودُ وَيَسْتَصْبِحُ بِهَا النَّاسُ قَالَ: لَا، هُوَ حَرَامٌ، قَاتَلَ اللَّهُ الْيَهُودَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَمَّا حَرَّمَ عَلَيْهِمْ شُحُومَهَا أَجْمَلُوهُ ثُمَّ بَاعُوهُ فَأَكَلُوا ثَمَنَهُ» .

L24259 Abū Muḥammad said: Certain people have misrepresented this report to corroborate qiyas, yet it contains no basis for qiyas whatsoever. Rather, it demonstrates that divine commands are general in scope, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) informed that Allah the Exalted had forbidden animal fats to the Jews, yet they deemed their sale permissible. He vehemently condemned them for restricting the prohibition and failing to apply it generally.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: مَوَّهَ قَوْمٌ بِهَذَا الْخَبَرِ فِي تَصْحِيحِ الْقِيَاسِ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ لِلْقِيَاسِ أَثَرٌ، لَكِنْ فِيهِ: أَنَّ الْأَوَامِرَ عَلَى الْعُمُومِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - أَخْبَرَ: أَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى حَرَّمَ الشُّحُومَ عَلَى الْيَهُودِ فَاسْتَحَلُّوا بَيْعَهَا، فَأَنْكَرَ ذَلِكَ عَلَيْهِمْ أَشَدَّ الْإِنْكَارِ، إِذْ خَصُّوا التَّحْرِيمَ وَلَمْ يَحْمِلُوهُ عَلَى عُمُومِهِ.

L24260 Thus, it is validated that when something is prohibited, its ownership, sale, transactions involving it, and consumption are forbidden under the generality of its prohibition, unless there appears a text specifying any aspect thereof, in which case it is to be strictly adhered to.

فَصَحَّ بِهَذَا أَنَّهُ مَتَى حُرِّمَ شَيْءٌ فَحَرَامٌ مِلْكُهُ، وَبَيْعُهُ، وَالتَّصَرُّفُ فِيهِ، وَأَكْلُهُ عَلَى عُمُومِ تَحْرِيمِهِ، إِلَّا أَنْ يَأْتِيَ نَصٌّ بِتَخْصِيصِ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ فَيُوقَفُ عِنْدَهُ.

L24261 And Allah the Exalted has forbidden swine, intoxicants, carrion, and blood. Thus, He has forbidden ownership of any of that, drinking it, benefiting from it, and selling it.

وَقَدْ حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: الْخِنْزِيرَ، وَالْخَمْرَ، وَالْمَيْتَةَ، وَالدَّمَ، فَحَرَّمَ مِلْكَ كُلِّ ذَلِكَ، وَشُرْبَهُ، وَالِانْتِفَاعَ بِهِ، وَبَيْعَهُ.

L24262 And indeed, Allah, the Exalted, has decreed the religion of Islam as obligatory upon every human and jinn.

وَقَدْ أَوْجَبَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى دِينَ الْإِسْلَامِ عَلَى كُلِّ إِنْسٍ وَجِنٍّ.

L24263 Allah, the Exalted, said: {And judge between them by what Allah has revealed} [Al-Ma'idah 5:49].[18]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَأَنِ احْكُمْ بَيْنَهُمْ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ} [المائدة: ٤٩]

L24264 Allah, the Most High, said: "And whoever seeks a religion other than Islam—it will never be accepted from him" [Āl ʿImrān: 85].[19]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَمَنْ يَبْتَغِ غَيْرَ الْإِسْلَامِ دِينًا فَلَنْ يُقْبَلَ مِنْهُ} [آل عمران: ٨٥]

L24265 And He, the Exalted, said: "Fight them until there is no persecution and religion is wholly for Allah" [Al-Anfal: 39].[20]

وَقَالَ تَعَالَى: {وَقَاتِلُوهُمْ حَتَّى لا تَكُونَ فِتْنَةٌ وَيَكُونَ الدِّينُ كُلُّهُ لِلَّهِ} [الأنفال: ٣٩]

[17] Hadith references (L24258): Sunan Abi Dawud 3486.
[18] Qur'an references (L24263): Qur'an 5:49 (Al-Ma'idah).
[19] Qur'an references (L24264): Qur'an 3:85 (Ali 'Imran).
[20] Qur'an references (L24265): Qur'an 8:39 (Al-Anfal).

فَوَجَبَ الْحُكْمُ عَلَى الْيَهُودِ، وَالنَّصَارَى، وَالْمَجُوس: بِحُكْمِ الْإِسْلَامِ، أَحَبُّوا أَمْ كَرِهُوا.

L24266 Thus, the ruling of Islam is obligatory upon the Jews, Christians, and Zoroastrians, in accordance with its judgment, whether they love or hate.

وَمَنْ أَجَازَ لَهُمْ بَيْعَ الْخَمْرِ ظَاهِرًا وَشِرَاءَهَا كَذَلِكَ، وَتَمَلُّكَهَا عَلَانِيَةً، وَتَمَلُّكَ الْخَنَازِيرِ كَذَلِكَ، لِأَنَّهُمْ مِنْ دِينِهِمْ بِزَعْمِهِ، وَصَدَّقَهُمْ فِي ذَلِكَ: لَزِمَهُ أَنْ يَتْرُكَهُمْ أَنْ يُقِيمُوا شَرَائِعَهُمْ فِي بَيْعِ مَنْ زَنَى مِنْ النَّصَارَى الْأَحْرَارِ، وَخِصَاءِ الْقِسِّيسِ إذَا زَنَى، وَقَتْلِ مَنْ يَرَوْنَ قَتْلَهُ وَهُمْ لَا يَفْعَلُونَ ذَلِكَ فَظَهَرَ تَنَاقُضُهُمْ.

L24267–24268 Whoever permits them to openly sell and purchase wine, to publicly own it, and to similarly own pigs—claiming these acts originate from their religion and accepting their assertion—would thereby be obliged to let them enforce their legal rulings, such as selling free Christians who commit adultery, castrating priests who commit adultery, and executing those they deem deserving of death even though they themselves do not carry out such killings. Thus their contradiction becomes evident.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: إذَا أَمَرَ الْمُسْلِمُ نَصْرَانِيًّا بِأَنْ يَشْتَرِيَ لَهُ خَمْرًا: جَازَ ذَلِكَ وَهَذِهِ مِنْ شُنَعِهِ الَّتِي نَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْ مِثْلِهَا.

L24269 And Abu Hanifah said: If a Muslim commands a Christian to buy wine for him, that is permissible. Yet this is among his detestable rulings - from such things we seek refuge in Allah.

وَأَمَّا الْمِسْكُ: فَقَدْ صَحَّ «عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - التَّطَيُّبُ بِالْمِسْكِ وَتَفْضِيلُهُ عَلَى الطِّيبِ» وَأَيْضًا: فَقَدْ سَقَطَ عَنْهُ اسْمُ الدَّمِ وَصِفَاتِهِ وَحْدَهُ، فَلَيْسَ دَمًا، وَالْأَحْكَامُ إنَّمَا هِيَ عَلَى الْأَسْمَاءِ، وَالْأَسْمَاءُ إنَّمَا هِيَ عَلَى الصِّفَاتِ، وَالْحُدُودِ.

L24270 As for musk: it is authentically established from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that he used musk as perfume and preferred it over other perfumes. Moreover, musk alone has been divested of the name and attributes of blood; thus, it is not blood. Legal rulings are based on names, names derive from attributes, and attributes derive from defined legal parameters.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي عُبَيْدٍ أَنَا مَرْوَانُ بْنُ مُعَاوِيَةَ أَنَا عُمَرُ الْمُكْتِبُ أَنَا حِزَامٌ عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ بْنِ زَكَا أَوْ زَكَّارٍ قَالَ: نَظَرَ عَلِيُّ بْنُ أَبِي طَالِبٍ إلَى زُرَارَةَ فَقَالَ: مَا هَذِهِ الْقَرْيَةُ؟ قَالُوا: قَرْيَةٌ تُدْعَى زُرَارَةَ يُلْحَمُ فِيهَا، وَيُبَاعُ فِيهَا الْخَمْرُ؟ قَالَ: أَيْنَ الطَّرِيقُ إلَيْهَا؟ قَالُوا: بَابُ الْجِسْرِ، قَالُوا: يَا أَمِيرَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ نَأْخُذُ لَك سَفِينَةً؟ قَالَ: لَا، تِلْكَ شَجَرَةٌ، وَلَا حَاجَةَ لَنَا فِي الشَّجَرَةِ، انْطَلِقُوا بِنَا إلَى بَابِ الْجِسْرِ، فَقَامَ يَمْشِي حَتَّى أَتَاهَا، فَقَالَ عَلِيٌّ بِالنِّيرَانِ أَضْرِمُوهَا فِيهَا، فَاحْتَرَقَتْ.

L24271 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Abū ʾUbayd, from Marwān ibn Muʾāwiyah, from ʾUmar the Scribe, from Ḥizām, from Rabīʾah ibn Zakā or Zakār, who said: ʾAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib gazed toward Zurārah and asked, “What is this village?” They replied, “It is a village called Zurārah where meat is preserved and wine is sold.” He inquired, “Where is the path to it?” They said, “The Bridge Gate.” They asked, “O Commander of the Faithful, shall we procure a boat for you?” He responded, “No. That is merely wood, and we have no need for wood. Take us to the Bridge Gate.” He then rose and walked until he reached it. He commanded, “Bring me firebrands to kindle within it!” They set the fires ablaze, and it burned down.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي عُبَيْدٍ نا هِشَامٌ وَمَرْوَانُ بْنُ مُعَاوِيَةَ الْفَزَارِيّ عَنْ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ أَبِي خَالِدٍ عَنْ الْحَارِثِ بْنِ شُبَيْلٍ عَنْ أَبِي عَمْرٍو الشَّيْبَانِيِّ، قَالَ: بَلَغَ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ أَنَّ رَجُلًا

L24272 From the chain of Abu ʻUbayd, from Hishām and Marwān ibn Muʻāwiyah al-Fazārī, from Ismāʻīl ibn Abī Khālid, from al-Ḥārith ibn Shubayl, from Abu ʻAmr al-Shaybānī, who said: It reached ʻUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb that a man from the people of al-Sawād had amassed wealth through intoxicant trade. He wrote: “Destroy every possession of his that you are able to seize, expel all his livestock, and let no one whatsoever shelter anything belonging to him.”

L24273 This is the ruling of Ali and Umar in the presence of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—regarding one who sells wine to the polytheists. No dissenter against this ruling is known among the Companions, yet others opposed them both.

L24274 The issue of selling and keeping a dog.

L24275 Issue 1514:

L24276 The sale of dogs is fundamentally unlawful in any form—neither a hunting dog, nor a herding dog, nor any other type. If compelled by necessity to acquire one and unable to find someone who will give it to him, he may purchase it. This becomes permissible for the buyer but remains prohibited for the seller. The buyer may reclaim the payment from the seller whenever able, like paying bribes to repel oppression, ransoming captives, or appeasing a tyrant. No distinction applies.

L24277–24278 It is fundamentally impermissible to keep a dog except for livestock, hunting, crops, or a wall—and the term “wall” applies only to an orchard or the wall of a house.

L24279 It is also impermissible to kill dogs. Whoever kills one must compensate with its equivalent or with mutually agreed compensation, except for the pitch-black dog or the black dog with two spots—regardless of where these two spots are located. If the spots grow so large that Arabic linguistic convention no longer describes them as “two spots” but rather as “two patches,” killing it becomes impermissible. Therefore, owning such a dog is fundamentally impermissible for any of the cases we have mentioned, and killing it is obligatory wherever found.

L24280 The evidence for this is what we have reported through the chain of Muslim: Isḥāq ibn Ibrāhīm—that is, Ibn Rāhwayh—reported to us; al-Walīd ibn مِنْ أَهْلِ السَّوَادِ أَثْرَى فِي تِجَارَةِ الْخَمْرِ، فَكَتَبَ: أَنْ اكْسِرُوا كُلَّ شَيْءٍ قَدَرْتُمْ لَهُ عَلَيْهِ، وَسَيِّرُوا كُلَّ مَاشِيَةٍ لَهُ، وَلَا يُؤْوِيَنَّ أَحَدٌ لَهُ شَيْئًا.

فَهَذَا حُكْمُ عَلِيٍّ، وَعُمَرَ، بِحَضْرَةِ الصَّحَابَةِ - رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ - فِيمَنْ بَاعَ الْخَمْرَ مِنْ الْمُشْرِكِينَ وَلَا مُخَالِفَ لَهُ يُعْرَفُ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ نخَالَفُوهُمَا.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْكَلْب واقتنائه]

١٥١٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ كَلْبٍ أَصْلًا، لَا كَلْبَ صَيْدٍ وَلَا كَلْبَ مَاشِيَةٍ، وَلَا غَيْرَهُمَا، فَإِنْ اُضْطُرَّ إلَيْهِ وَلَمْ يَجِدْ مَنْ يُعْطِيه إيَّاهُ فَلَهُ ابْتِيَاعُهُ، وَهُوَ حَلَالٌ لِلْمُشْتَرِي حَرَامٌ عَلَى الْبَائِعِ يَنْتَزِعُ مِنْهُ الثَّمَنَ مَتَى قَدَرَ عَلَيْهِ، كَالرِّشْوَةِ فِي دَفْعِ الظُّلْمِ، وَفِدَاءِ الْأَسِيرِ، وَمُصَانَعَةِ الظَّالِمِ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

Muslim reported to us from al-Awzāʿī from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr. Ibrāhīm ibn Qāriẓ narrated to me from al-Sā’ib ibn Yazīd. Rāfiʿ ibn Khadīj narrated to me from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—who said: “The price of a dog is impure, the fee of a prostitute is impure, and the earnings of a cupper are impure.” These two narrators are consecutive in the chain.[21]

L24281 From the narration of Mālik from Ibn Shihāb from Abū Bakr ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Ḥārith ibn Hishām from Abū Masʿūd al-Anṣārī that the Messenger of Allāh (peace be upon him) prohibited the price of a dog, the fee of a prostitute, and the payment of a fortune-teller.[22]

L24282 And it has also been authenticated through the chains of Abū Hurayrah, Jābir, and Abū Juḥayfah.

L24283 This is a transmission of such incontrovertible authority that it is impermissible to disregard it or oppose it.

L24284 It has been narrated to us via the transmission of Ahmad ibn Shuʿayb: Al-Ḥasan ibn Aḥmad ibn Shabīb reported to us: Muḥammad ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Numayr reported to us: Asbāṭ reported to us: Al-Aʿmash reported from ʿAṭā’ ibn Abī Rabāḥ, who said: Abū Hurayrah said: “Four are among illicit earnings: the stud’s fee, the price of a dog, the earnings of a prostitute, and the cupper’s earnings.”

L24285 We transmitted it from Jābir as well.

L24286–24287 From the path of Ibn Abi Shaybah, who narrated to us Waki‘ from Isra’il from ‘Abd al-Karim from Qays ibn Habtar from Ibn ‘Abbas, who attributed it to the Prophet: “The price of a dog, the earnings of a prostitute, and the price of wine are forbidden.” The least that can be said about it is that it is Ibn ‘Abbas’s own statement.

From the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Ibn Idris reported to us from Ash'ath, from Ibn Sirin, who said: The most impure earnings are the earnings of the flute player and the price of a dog.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا ابْنُ إِدْرِيسَ عَنْ أَشْعَثَ عَنِ ابْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ: أَخْبَثُ الْكَسْبِ كَسْبُ الزَّمَّارَةِ، وَثَمَنُ الْكَلْبِ.

Az-zammārah refers to the female fornicator; I heard Abū ʿUbaydah state this.

الزَّمَّارَةُ: الزَّانِيَةُ، سَمِعْت أَبَا عُبَيْدَةَ يَقُولُ ذَلِكَ.

Via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Yunus ibn Muhammad narrated to us, Shariq narrated from Abu Farwah, who said: I heard ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Laylā say, "I do not care whether I acquire the proceeds from selling a dog or a pig."

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا يُونُسُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ نا شَرِيكٌ عَنْ أَبِي فَرْوَةَ سَمِعْت عَبْدَ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنَ أَبِي لَيْلَى يَقُولُ: مَا أُبَالِي ثَمَنَ كَلْبٍ أَكَلْتُ، أَوْ ثَمَنَ خِنْزِيرٍ.

Through the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah, Ibn Idrīs reported to us from Shuʿbah: I heard al-Ḥakam and Ḥammād ibn Abī Sulaymān both disapproving of the price of a dog. No sound disagreement with their view is established from any of the Companions. This is the position of Mālik, al-Shāfiʿī, Aḥmad, Abu Sulaymān, Abu Thawr, and others.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا ابْنُ إِدْرِيسَ عَنْ شُعْبَةَ سَمِعْت الْحَكَمَ، وَحَمَّادَ بْنَ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ يَكْرَهَانِ ثَمَنَ الْكَلْبِ وَلَا يَصِحُّ خِلَافُهُمَا عَنْ أَحَدٍ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ وَهُوَ قَوْلُ مَالِكٍ، وَالشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَحْمَدَ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَبِي ثَوْرٍ، وَغَيْرِهِمْ.

The Ḥanafīs opposed the Sunnah in this matter, permitting the sale of dogs and the retention of money earned from their sale.

وَخَالَفَ الْحَنَفِيُّونَ السُّنَنَ فِي ذَلِكَ، وَأَبَاحُوا بَيْعَ الْكِلَابِ، وَأَكْلَ أَثْمَانِهَا.

They argued for this by citing what was transmitted to us through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb, who said: Ibrāhīm ibn al-Ḥasan ibn Aḥmad al-Miṣīṣī informed me; Ḥajjāj ibn Muḥammad reported to us from Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from Abū al-Zubayr, from Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh: "The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—prohibited the price of a cat and a dog, except for a dog used for hunting."[23]

وَاحْتَجُّوا فِي ذَلِكَ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ، قَالَ: أَخْبَرَنِي إِبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ بْنِ أَحْمَدَ الْمِصِّيصِيُّ نا حَجَّاجُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ «أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ ثَمَنِ السِّنَّوْرِ وَالْكَلْبِ إِلَّا كَلْبَ صَيْدٍ»

And according to what was transmitted to us through the chain of Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh: Muḥammad ibn Ismāʿīl narrated to us, Ibn Abī Maryam narrated to us, Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb narrated to us, Al-Muthannā ibn Al-Ṣabbāḥ narrated to me from ʿAṭāʾ ibn Abī Rabāḥ from Abū Hurayrah from the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him), who said: "The price of a dog is unlawful gain except for a hunting dog."

وَبِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ قَاسِمِ بْنِ أَصْبَغَ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ إِسْمَاعِيلَ نا ابْنُ أَبِي مَرْيَمَ نا يَحْيَى بْنُ أَيُّوبَ حَدَّثَنِي الْمُثَنَّى بْنُ الصَّبَّاحِ عَنْ عَطَاءِ بْنِ أَبِي رَبَاحٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ «ثَمَنُ الْكَلْبِ سُحْتٌ إِلَّا كَلْبَ صَيْدٍ»

And what we have narrated through the chain of Ibn Wahb from someone who informed him from Ibn Shihāb from Abū Bakr from the Prophet—may the peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—who said: "Three things constitute unlawful wealth: the payment to the fortune-teller, the dowry of the adulteress, and the price of the vicious dog."

[23] Hadith references (L24293): Sunan an-Nasai 4295.

وَمَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَمَّنْ أَخْبَرَهُ عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرٍ عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «ثَلَاثٌ هُنَّ سُحْتٌ: حُلْوَانُ الْكَاهِنِ، وَمَهْرُ الزَّانِيَةِ، وَثَمَنُ الْكَلْبِ الْعَقُورِ»

L24296–24297 Through the chain of Ibn Wahb, from Ash-Shimr ibn Numayr, from Husayn ibn Abdullah ibn Ḍumayrah, from his father, from his grandfather, from Ali ibn Abi Talib, that the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) forbade the price of a biting dog.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ وَهْبٍ عَنْ الشِّمْرِ بْنِ نُمَيْرٍ عَنْ حُسَيْنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ ضُمَيْرَةَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ عَنْ عَلِيِّ بْنِ أَبِي طَالِبٍ «أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - نَهَى عَنْ ثَمَنِ الْكَلْبِ الْعَقُورِ» .

L24298 Abu Muhammad said: As for these two ahadith of Ibn Wahb, they are too weak to be considered except by one ignorant of hadith or an arrogant denier who knows the truth but defiantly rejects it. For Ḥusayn ibn ʿAbdullāh is at the peak of unreliability and rejection by unanimous agreement of the scholars of narration, while the other hadith has a broken chain at two points.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: أَمَّا حَدِيثَا ابْنِ وَهْبٍ هَذَانِ فَأَسْقَطُ مِنْ أَنْ يُشْتَغَلَ بِهِمَا إلَّا جَاهِلٌ بِالْحَدِيثِ، أَوْ مُكَابِرٌ يَعْلَمُ الْحَقَّ فَيُولِيهِ ظَهْرَهُ، لِأَنَّ حُسَيْنَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ فِي غَايَةِ السُّقُوطِ وَالِاطِّرَاحِ بِاتِّفَاقِ أَهْلِ النَّقْلِ، وَالْآخَرَ مُنْقَطِعٌ فِي مَوْضِعَيْنِ.

L24299 Then, if these two [hadiths] were authentic, they would not serve as a valid argument for them regarding the two, for they contain nothing but the prohibition against the price of the vicious dog alone—and this is correct—and they do not permit the price of other dogs. Moreover, the mass-transmitted narrations we previously cited, which include additional rulings beyond these two, render it impermissible to discard them.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّا لَمَا كَانَ لَهُمْ فِيهِمَا حُجَّةٌ، لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِمَا إلَّا النَّهْيُ عَنْ ثَمَنِ الْكَلْبِ الْعَقُورِ فَقَطْ وَهَذَا حَقٌّ، وَلَيْسَ فِيهِ إبَاحَةُ ثَمَنِ مَا سِوَاهُ مِنْ الْكِلَابِ وَجَاءَتْ الْآثَارُ الْمُتَوَاتِرَةُ الَّتِي قَدَّمْنَا بِزِيَادَةٍ عَلَى هَذَيْنِ لَا يَحِلُّ تَرْكُهَا.

L24300 As for the ḥadīth of Abū Hurayrah, it is utterly unreliable because it contains Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb and al-Muthannā ibn al-Ṣabbāḥ - both being extremely weak narrators. Mālik formally testified that Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb was a liar, and Aḥmad discredited his reliability.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: فَفِي غَايَةِ السُّقُوطِ لِأَنَّ فِيهِ يَحْيَى بْنَ أَيُّوبَ، وَالْمُثَنَّى بْنَ الصَّبَّاحِ، وَهُمَا ضَعِيفَانِ جِدًّا قَدْ شَهِدَ مَالِكٌ عَلَى يَحْيَى بْنِ أَيُّوبَ بِالْكَذِبِ، وَجَرَحَهُ أَحْمَدُ

L24301 As for the Muthannā: so Aḥmad discredited it because the ḥadīth was weak, Yaḥyā rejected it, and ʿAbd al-Raḥmān rejected it.

وَأَمَّا الْمُثَنَّى: فَجَرَّحَهُ بِضَعْفِ الْحَدِيثِ أَحْمَدُ، وَتَرَكَهُ يَحْيَى، وَعَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ

L24302 Moreover, if it were valid, it would constitute evidence against them, for it only exempts the hunting dog. Yet they permit what is prohibited therein: the price of the agricultural dog, the livestock dog, and all other dogs - thereby violating its stipulations.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ إلَّا اسْتِثْنَاءَ كَلْبِ الصَّيْدِ فَقَطْ، وَهُمْ يُبِيحُونَ مَا حُرِّمَ فِيهِ مِنْ ثَمَنِ كَلْبِ الزَّرْعِ، وَكَلْبِ الْمَاشِيَةِ، وَسَائِرِ الْكِلَابِ فَهُمْ مُخَالِفُونَ لِمَا فِيهِ.

وَأَمَّا حَدِيثُ جَابِرٍ: فَإِنَّهُ مِنْ رِوَايَةِ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْهُ، وَلَمْ يَسْمَعْهُ مِنْهُ بِإِقْرَارِ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ، حَدَّثَنِي يُوسُفُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ النَّمَرِيُّ نا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ وَمُحَمَّدُ بْنُ يُوسُفَ الْأَزْدِيُّ نا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ أَحْمَدَ الْعُقَيْلِيُّ نا زَكَرِيَّا بْنُ يَحْيَى الْحَلْوَانِيُّ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سَعِيدِ بْنِ أَبِي مَرْيَمَ نا أَبِي نا اللَّيْثُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ، قَالَ: إِنَّ أَبَا الزُّبَيْرِ دَفَعَ إِلَيَّ كِتَابَيْنِ، فَقُلْت فِي نَفْسِي: لَوْ سَأَلْته أَسَمِعَ هَذَا كُلَّهُ مِنْ جَابِرٍ؟ فَرَجَعْت إِلَيْهِ فَقُلْت: هَذَا كُلُّهُ سَمِعْته مِنْ جَابِرٍ؟ فَقَالَ: مِنْهُ مَا سَمِعْته، وَمِنْهُ مَا حَدَّثْت عَنْهُ، فَقُلْت لَهُ: أَعْلِمْ لِي عَلَى مَا سَمِعْتَ؟ فَأَعْلَمَ لِي عَلَى هَذَا الَّذِي عِنْدِي.

L24303 As for the ḥadīth of Jābir: It is transmitted through the narration of Abū al-Zubayr from him, and he did not hear it directly from him by Abū al-Zubayr's own admission. Yūsuf ibn ʿAbd Allāh al-Namarī narrated to me: ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUmar and Muḥammad ibn Yūsuf al-Azdī narrated to us: Isḥāq ibn Aḥmad al-ʿUqaylī narrated to us: Zakariyyā ibn Yaḥyā al-Ḥalwānī narrated to us: Muḥammad ibn Saʿīd ibn Abī Maryam narrated to us: My father narrated to us: al-Layth ibn Saʿd narrated to us, saying: Abū al-Zubayr handed me two books. I thought to myself: "If I ask him, 'Did you hear all of this from Jābir?'" So I returned to him and asked: "Did you hear all of this from Jābir?" He replied: "Some of it I heard from him, and some of it I transmitted on his authority." I said to him: "Mark for me what you heard directly." He then marked the one that is in my possession.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: فَكُلُّ حَدِيثٍ لَمْ يَقُلْ فِيهِ أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ: أَنَّهُ سَمِعَهُ مِنْ جَابِرٍ، أَوْ حَدَّثَهُ بِهِ جَابِرٌ أَوْ لَمْ يَرْوِهِ اللَّيْثُ عَنْهُ عَنْ جَابِرٍ فَلَمْ يَسْمَعْهُ مِنْ جَابِرٍ بِإِقْرَارِهِ.

L24304 Abu Muhammad said: Every hadith in which Abu al-Zubayr did not explicitly state that he heard it from Jabir, or that Jabir narrated it to him, or which al-Layth did not transmit through him, from Jabir – then by Abu al-Zubayr's own admission, he did not hear it from Jabir.

وَهَذَا الْحَدِيثُ لَمْ يَذْكُرْ فِيهِ أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ سَمَاعًا مِنْ جَابِرٍ، وَلَا هُوَ مِمَّا عِنْدَ اللَّيْثِ فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ لَمْ يَسْمَعْهُ مِنْ جَابِرٍ، فَخَصَلَ مُنْقَطِعًا.

L24305 In this ḥadīth, Abū al-Zubayr did not mention having heard it from Jābir, nor is it among what is documented with al-Layth. Thus, it is established that he did not hear it from Jābir, resulting in a disconnected chain.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانُوا مُخَالِفِينَ لَهُ، لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ فِيهِ إبَاحَةُ ثَمَنِ شَيْءٍ مِنْ الْكِلَابِ غَيْرَ كَلْبِ الصَّيْدِ، وَالنَّهْيِ عَنْ ثَمَنِ سَائِرِهَا وَهُمْ يُبِيحُونَ أَثْمَانَ سَائِرِ الْكِلَابِ الْمُتَّخَذَةِ لِغَيْرِ الصَّيْدِ: فَبَطَلَ كُلُّ مَا تَعَلَّقُوا بِهِ مِنْ الْآثَارِ.

L24306–24307 Then, if it were authentic, they would be opposing it, because it does not permit the price of any dogs except hunting dogs and prohibits the price of all others, while they permit the prices of other dogs kept for non-hunting purposes. Thus, all the textual evidences they relied on are nullified.

وَأَمَّا النَّظَرُ فَإِنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: كَانَ النَّهْيُ عَنْ ثَمَنِهَا حِينَ الْأَمْرِ بِقَتْلِهَا، فَلَمَّا حُرِّمَ قَتْلُهَا وَأُبِيحَ اتِّخَاذُ بَعْضِهَا انْتَسَخَ النَّهْيُ عَنْ ثَمَنِ مَا أُبِيحَ اتِّخَاذُهُ مِنْهَا.

L24308 As for the legal consideration, they stated: The prohibition against its sale price existed when killing them was commanded. When killing them was prohibited and keeping some of them became permissible, the prohibition on the sale price of those permitted to be kept was abrogated.

L24309 Abu Muhammad said: This is a pure falsehood against Allah, the Exalted, and against His Messenger (peace be upon him), for it is a report of falsehood and what no textual evidence has ever established—a claim without proof.

The abrogation of one matter does not necessitate the abrogation of another, nor does permitting the acquisition of something permit its sale. These are the people who allow raising silkworms and honeybees yet prohibit their sale due to misguidance and opposition to the truth. Acquiring mothers of the children (ummahāt al-awlād, enslaved women who bore their masters' children) is permissible, but selling them is not. Thus, the invalidity of this argument is evident.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا كَذِبٌ بَحْتٌ عَلَى اللهِ تَعَالَى، وَعَلَى رَسُولِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ -، لِأَنَّهُ إِخْبَارٌ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَبِمَا لَمْ يَأْتِ بِهِ قَطُّ نَصٌّ، وَدَعْوَى بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ، وَلَيْسَ نَسْخُ شَيْءٍ بِمُوجِبِ نَسْخِ شَيْءٍ آخَرَ، وَلَيْسَ إِبَاحَةُ اتِّخَاذِ شَيْءٍ بِمُبِيحٍ لِبَيْعِهِ، فَهَؤُلَاءِ هُمْ الْقَوْمُ الْمُبِيحُونَ اتِّخَاذَ دُودِ الْقَزِّ، وَنَحْلِ الْعَسَلِ، وَلَا يُحِلُّونَ ثَمَنَهُمَا إضْلَالًا وَخِلَافًا لِلْحَقِّ، وَاتِّخَاذُ أُمَّهَاتِ الْأَوْلَادِ حِلٌّ، وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُنَّ: فَظَهَرَ فَسَادُ هَذَا الِاحْتِجَاجِ.

L24310 They said: The price of the dog and the earnings of the cupper were prohibited. When the prohibition on the cupper's earnings was abrogated, was the prohibition on the dog's price also abrogated? Abu Muhammad said: This is a lie like the previous one, corrupt speech, and a baseless claim.

وَقَالُوا: حُرِّمَ ثَمَنُ الْكَلْبِ، وَكَسْبُ الْحَجَّامِ، فَلَمَّا نُسِخَ تَحْرِيمُ كَسْبِ الْحَجَّامِ نُسِخَ تَحْرِيمُ ثَمَنِ الْكَلْبِ؟ قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: وَهَذَا كَذِبٌ كَالَّذِي قَبْلَهُ، وَكَلَامٌ فَاسِدٌ، وَدَعْوَى بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ.

L24311 They are also required that the prohibition on the illicit payment of the fornicatress be abrogated as well, since it was mentioned alongside those two. Then, who bears responsibility for abrogating the prohibition on the cupper's earnings when they occur in the prohibited manner.

وَيَلْزَمُهُمْ أَيْضًا: أَنْ يُنْسَخَ أَيْضًا تَحْرِيمُ مَهْرِ الزَّانِيَةِ، لِأَنَّهُ ذُكِرَ مَعَهُمَا، ثُمَّ مَنْ لَهُمْ بِنَسْخِ تَحْرِيمِ كَسْبِ الْحَجَّامِ إذَا وَقَعَ عَلَى الْوَجْهِ الْمَنْهِيِّ عَنْهُ.

L24312 Thus, the invalidity of their statement became entirely clear, and this is one of the issues they opposed regarding the mass-transmitted traditions and the two Companions, whom none of the Companions may validly contradict.

فَوَضَحَ فَسَادُ قَوْلِهِمْ جُمْلَةً، وَهَذَا مِمَّا خَالَفُوا فِيهِ الْآثَارَ الْمُتَوَاتِرَةَ، وَصَاحِبَيْنِ لَا يَصِحُّ خِلَافُهُمَا عَنْ أَحَدٍ مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ.

L24313 If they mention the ruling of ʿUthmān and ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAmr regarding the valuation of a vicious dog, we say: This is not a disagreement, for it is neither a sale nor a price. It is merely compensation of property for property destruction alone, and there is no price for a deceased person at all.

فَإِنْ ذَكَرُوا قَضَاءَ عُثْمَانَ وَعَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو بِقِيمَةِ الْكَلْبِ الْعَقُورِ؟ قُلْنَا: لَيْسَ هَذَا خِلَافًا، لِأَنَّهُ لَيْسَ بَيْعًا، وَلَا ثَمَنًا، إنَّمَا هُوَ قِصَاصُ مَالٍ عَنْ فَسَادِ مَالٍ فَقَطْ، وَلَا ثَمَنَ لِمَيِّتٍ أَصْلًا.

L24314 It has been narrated to us via Ibn Abi Shaybah's chain: Waki' reported from Hammad ibn Salamah, from Abū al-Zubayr - from Jābir and Abū al-Muhazzim from Abū Hurayrah - that both of them disapproved of selling dogs except a hunting dog, and they disapproved of selling cats. Abū al-Muhazzim is a very weak narrator, and others have disagreed with them regarding the permissibility of selling cats, as you can see.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ أَنَا وَكِيعٌ عَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرٍ، وَأَبِي الْمُهَزِّمِ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ: أَنَّهُمَا كَرِهَا ثَمَنَ الْكَلْبِ إلَّا كَلْبَ صَيْدٍ، وَكَرِهَا ثَمَنَ الْهِرِّ وَأَبُو الْمُهَزِّمِ ضَعِيفٌ جِدًّا، وَقَدْ خَالَفُوهُمَا فِي ثَمَنِ الْهِرِّ كَمَا تَرَى.

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا إِبَاحَةَ ثَمَنِ الْكَلْبِ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ، وَيَحْيَى بْنِ سَعِيدٍ، وَرَبِيعَةَ، وَعَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ إِبَاحَةَ ثَمَنِ كَلْبِ الصَّيْدِ، وَلَا حُجَّةَ فِي أَحَدٍ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -.

L24315–24316 It has been narrated to us that the permissibility of the price of dogs is affirmed by ʿAṭāʾ, Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd, and Rabīʿah, and from Ibrāhīm the permissibility of the price of hunting dogs. No one's argument holds validity against the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him).

وَأَمَّا مَنْ احْتَاجَ إِلَيْهِ، فَقَدْ قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى: {وَلا تَنْسَوُا الْفَضْلَ بَيْنَكُمْ} [البقرة: ٢٣٧] فَمَا لَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُهُ، وَتَحِلُّ هِبَتُهُ، فَإِمْسَاكُ مَنْ عِنْدَهُ مِنْهُ فَضْلٌ عَنْ حَاجَتِهِ ذَلِكَ: الْفَضْلُ عَمَّنْ هُوَ مُضْطَرٌّ إِلَيْهِ ظُلْمٌ لَهُ.

L24317 As for one in need of it, Allah the Exalted has said: "Do not neglect graciousness between yourselves" [Al-Baqarah: 237]. Therefore, withholding surplus - of what is impermissible to sell but permissible to gift - by one who possesses it beyond his need constitutes a denial of that graciousness to one compelled by necessity to require it, and this constitutes injustice against him.[24]

وَقَدْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - «الْمُسْلِمُ أَخُو الْمُسْلِمِ لَا يَظْلِمُهُ وَلَا يُسْلِمُهُ» وَالظُّلْمُ وَاجِبٌ أَنْ يُمْنَعَ مِنْهُ وَبِاللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ

L24318 The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said, "A Muslim is the brother of a Muslim: he does not wrong him nor forsake him." It is obligatory to prevent him from oppression, and with Allah, the Exalted, is success.

وَأَمَّا اتِّخَاذُهَا: فَإِنَّنَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ حَدَّثَنِي إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ مَنْصُورٍ أَنَا رَوْحُ بْنُ عُبَادَةَ نا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ: أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ: «أَمَرَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِقَتْلِ الْكِلَابِ ثُمَّ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ عَنْ قَتْلِهَا، وَقَالَ: عَلَيْكُمْ بِالْأَسْوَدِ الْبَهِيمِ ذِي النُّقْطَتَيْنِ فَإِنَّهُ شَيْطَانٌ» .

L24319 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Muslim: Isḥāq ibn Manṣūr narrated to me, Rawḥ ibn ʿUbādah narrated to us from Ibn Jurayj, who narrated to me that Abū al-Zubayr reported hearing Jābir ibn ʿAbdullāh say: "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) commanded us to kill dogs, then the Messenger of Allah prohibited their killing, and said: 'You must target the completely jet-black dog with two spots, for it is a devil.'"

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ أَحْمَدَ بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ أَنَا عِمْرَانُ بْنُ مُوسَى نا يَزِيدُ بْنُ زُرَيْعٍ أَنَا يُونُسُ بْنُ عُبَيْدٍ عَنْ الْحَسَنِ الْبَصْرِيِّ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مُغَفَّلٍ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: «لَوْلَا أَنَّ الْكِلَابَ أُمَّةٌ مِنْ الْأُمَمِ لَأَمَرْتُ بِقَتْلِهَا، فَاقْتُلُوا مِنْهَا الْأَسْوَدَ الْبَهِيمَ، وَأَيُّمَا قَوْمٍ اتَّخَذُوا كَلْبًا لَيْسَ بِكَلْبِ حَرْثٍ، أَوْ صَيْدٍ، أَوْ مَاشِيَةٍ، فَإِنَّهُ يُنْقَصُ مِنْ أَجْرِهِ كُلَّ يَوْمٍ قِيرَاطٌ» .

L24320 Through the chain of Aḥmad ibn Shuʿayb: From ʿImrān ibn Mūsā, from Yazīd ibn Zurayʿ, from Yūnus ibn ʿUbayd, from al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, from ʿAbdullāh ibn Mughaffal, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—said, "If dogs were not a nation among the nations, I would have ordered their killing. So kill every jet-black one among them. And any people who keep a dog that is not a dog for farming, hunting, or livestock—then a qīrāṭ will be subtracted from their reward daily."[25]

[25] Hadith references (L24320): Sunan an-Nasai 4280.

L24321–24323 And via the transmission of Muslim: Harmalah narrated to us, Ibn Wahb narrated to us, Yunus informed me from Ibn Shihāb from Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyab from Abū Hurayrah from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), who said: “Whoever keeps a dog that is not [a dog for...] [text incomplete].” “No game, nor grazing animals, nor land, because two qirāṭān will be deducted from his reward daily.» And the dwelling is included in the category of land because it is land.”[26]

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ حَدَّثَنَا حَرْمَلَةُ حَدَّثَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ أَخْبَرَنِي يُونُسُ عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ الْمُسَيِّبِ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «مَنْ اقْتَنَى كَلْبًا لَيْسَ بِكَلْبِ صَيْدٍ، وَلَا مَاشِيَةٍ، وَلَا أَرْضٍ، فَإِنَّهُ يُنْقَصُ مِنْ أَجْرِهِ قِيرَاطَانِ كُلَّ يَوْمٍ» وَتَدْخُلُ الدَّارُ فِي جُمْلَةِ الْأَرْضِ؛ لِأَنَّهَا أَرْضٌ.

L24324 So these hadiths contain the text of what we have said.

فَهَذِهِ الْأَحَادِيثُ فِيهَا نَصُّ مَا قُلْنَا.

L24325 And it has been transmitted to us from Ibrāhīm al-Nakhaʿī: “We were commanded to kill the black dog,” and we have mentioned this with its chain of transmission in the “Book of Hunting” of this compilation of ours. And success is from Allāh, the Exalted.

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا عَنْ إبْرَاهِيمَ النَّخَعِيِّ أُمِرْنَا بِقَتْلِ الْكَلْبِ الْأَسْوَدِ، وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ بِإِسْنَادِهِ فِي " كِتَابِ الصَّيْدِ " مِنْ دِيوَانِنَا هَذَا وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24326 The Juridical Question of Selling Cats and Bequeathing Them

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْهِرّ والوصية بِهِ]

L24327 1515 – Legal Question:

١٥١٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

L24328 It is not permissible to sell cats. If someone is compelled to acquire one due to harm from mice, it becomes obligatory. Whoever possesses surplus cats beyond their need must give from them what suffices to repel harm, through which Allah the Exalted wards it off from him - just as we stated regarding one compelled to use a dog, with no distinction between the two.

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الْهِرِّ فَمَنْ اُضْطُرَّ إلَيْهِ لِأَذَى الْفَأْرِ فَوَاجِبٌ وَعَلَى مَنْ عِنْدَهُ مِنْهَا فَضْلٌ عَنْ حَاجَتِهِ أَنْ يُعْطِيَهُ مِنْهَا مَا يَدْفَعُ بِهِ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَنْهُ الضَّرَرَ: كَمَا قُلْنَا فِيمَنْ اُضْطُرَّ إلَى الْكَلْبِ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L24329 The proof of that is what has been narrated to us through the chain of Muslim: Salamah ibn Shabīb reported to me; he said: Al-Ḥasan ibn Aʿyan narrated to us; Maʿqil narrated to us from Abū al-Zubayr, who said: I asked Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh about the sale of a dog and a cat. He said: “The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) prohibited that.”

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: مَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ حَدَّثَنِي سَلَمَةُ بْنُ شَبِيبٍ قَالَ: نا الْحَسَنُ بْنُ أَعْيَنَ نا مَعْقِلٌ عَنْ «أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ قَالَ: سَأَلْتُ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ ثَمَنِ الْكَلْبِ وَالسِّنَّوْرِ؟ فَقَالَ: زَجَرَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -» .

L24330 Abu Muhammad said: Rebuke is the strongest form of prohibition.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: الزَّجْرُ أَشَدُّ النَّهْيِ.

L24331 It was narrated to us through the chain of Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh, from Muḥam-

[26] Hadith references (L24321): Sunan an-Nasai 4290; Sahih Muslim 1575a; Riyad as-Salihin 1689.

mad ibn Waḍḍāḥ, from Muḥammad ibn Ādam, from ʿAbdullāh ibn al-Mubārak, from Ḥammād ibn Salamah, from Abī al-Zubayr, from Jābir ibn ʿAbdillāh that he considered the price of dogs and cats disliked.

وَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ قَاسِمِ بْنِ أَصْبَغَ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ وَضَّاحٍ نا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ آدَمَ نا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ الْمُبَارَكِ نا حَمَّادُ بْنُ سَلَمَةَ عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ ثَمَنَ الْكَلْبِ وَالسِّنَّوْرِ.

L24332 Therefore, this is the legal opinion of Jabir concerning what was narrated, and we do not know of any opposer to him among the Companions.

فَهَذِهِ فُتْيَا جَابِرٍ لِمَا رُوِيَ وَلَا نَعْرِفُ لَهُ مُخَالِفًا مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ.

L24333 And through the chain of Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr, Abū al-Aḥwaṣ reported to us from Layth, from Ṭāwus and Mujāhid, that they both deemed it reprehensible to benefit from the skins of wildcats or profit from their sale.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا أَبُو الْأَحْوَصِ عَنْ لَيْثٍ عَنْ طَاوُسٍ، وَمُجَاهِدٍ أَنَّهُمَا كَرِهَا أَنْ يُسْتَمْتَعَ بِمُسُوكِ السَّنَانِيرِ، وَأَثْمَانِهَا.

L24334 From the chain of Ibn Abī Shaybah, he narrated to us: Ḥafs—Ibn Ghiyāth—from Layth, from Ṭāwūs and Mujāhid, that they both disliked selling cats, receiving payment for them, and eating their meat. This is the position of Abū Sulaymān and all our fellow scholars.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ ابْنِ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ نا حَفْصٌ هُوَ ابْنُ غِيَاثٍ عَنْ لَيْثٍ عَنْ طَاوُسٍ، وَمُجَاهِدٍ أَنَّهُمَا كَرِهَا بَيْعَ الْهِرِّ، وَثَمَنَهُ، وَأَكْلَهُ وَهُوَ قَوْلُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَجَمِيعِ أَصْحَابِنَا.

L24335–24337 Some of those who possess no knowledge nor piety to restrain him from lying have claimed that Ibn Abbas and Abu Hurairah both reported from the Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—the permissibility of selling cats. Abū Muḥammad said: We do not know this to have any basis from a weak chain recognized by transmission scholars. As for an authentic one, we affirm that anyone who claims such a thing is entirely lying.

وَزَعَمَ بَعْضُ مَنْ لَا عِلْمَ لَهُ، وَلَا وَرَعَ يَزْجُرُهُ عَنْ الْكَذِبِ: أَنَّ ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ، وَأَبَا هُرَيْرَةَ: رَوَيَا «عَنْ النَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - إبَاحَةَ ثَمَنِ الْهِرِّ» قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا لَا نَعْلَمُهُ أَصْلًا مِنْ طَرِيقٍ وَاهِيَةٍ تُعْرَفُ عِنْدَ أَهْلِ النَّقْلِ، وَأَمَّا صَحِيحَةٍ فَنَقْطَعُ بِكَذِبِ مَنْ ادَّعَى ذَلِكَ جُمْلَةً.

L24338 As for the ruling in the ḥadīth, it remains as long as Iblīs and his followers are present on earth.

وَأَمَّا الْوَضْعُ فِي الْحَدِيثِ فَبَاقٍ مَا دَامَ إبْلِيسُ وَأَتْبَاعُهُ فِي الْأَرْضِ.

L24339 Then, even if it had been valid for them, they would have no argument in it, for it would have conformed to the established principle without doubt. There is no uncertainty that when he—peace be upon him—prohibited its price, the prior permissibility was invalidated and abrogated with definitive certainty, leaving no room for doubt. Whoever claims the abrogated ruling has returned has lied, fabricated, spoken falsely, and followed what he has no knowledge of. Far be it from Allah that what He abrogated should return, without any subsequent clarification establishing Allah's conclusive proof regarding what He abrogated and what remained binding upon those of His servants commanded thereby.

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَهُمْ لَمَا كَانَ لَهُمْ فِيهِ حُجَّةٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ كَانَ يَكُونُ مُوَافِقًا لِمَعْهُودِ الْأَصْلِ بِلَا شَكٍّ، وَلَا مِرْيَةَ فِي أَنَّ حِينَ زَجْرِهِ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - عَنْ ثَمَنِهِ بَطَلَتْ الْإِبَاحَةُ السَّالِفَةُ، وَنُسِخَتْ بِيَقِينٍ لَا مَجَالَ لِلشَّكِّ فِيهِ، فَمَنْ ادَّعَى أَنَّ الْمَنْسُوخَ قَدْ عَادَ فَقَدْ كَذَبَ وَافْتَرَى وَأَفَكَ وَقَفَا مَا لَا عِلْمَ لَهُ بِهِ، وَحَاشَ لِلَّهِ أَنْ يَعُودَ مَا نَسَخَ، ثُمَّ لَا يَأْتِي بَيَانٌ بِذَلِكَ تَقُومُ بِهِ حُجَّةُ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فِيمَا نَسَخَ وَفِيمَا بَقِيَ عَلَى الْمَأْمُورِينَ بِذَلِكَ مِنْ عِبَادِهِ.

L24340 Far be it! The religion of Allah, the Exalted and Majestic, is more exalted and more secure than that.

L24341 Those who permit it said: Since consensus has been established on the obligation to include cats and dogs—whose ownership is permissible—in inheritance, bequest, and ownership, their sale is permissible.

L24342 Abu Muhammad said: This is among the matters wherein they have openly proclaimed falsehood and contradicted their own foundational principles. The first of these is that it constitutes a claim without evidence. Moreover, they permit the inclusion of bees, silkworms, and dogs in inheritance and wills according to their view, yet they do not permit the sale of any such thing.

L24343 They permit bequeathing what has not yet been produced from the fruit of palm trees and others, and incorporate it into the inheritance shares.

L24344 They do not permit the sale of any of that, so their negligence became evident, and with Allah, the Most High, is success.

L24345 The issue of selling on the condition that you make a profit for me of one dirham per dinar, nor on the condition that I share a profit with you of such-and-such in the transaction.

L24346 1516 - Issue:

L24347 It is impermissible to sell on the condition that you give me a profit of one dirham per dinar, nor on the condition that I profit with you in it by such and such dirhams. If such a sale occurs, it is perpetually invalid.

L24348 If they contracted the sale without this condition, but the seller informed him that he acquired the commodity for such-and-such amount and that he does not profit with the buyer in it beyond such-and-such amount, then the sale has occurred as valid. If the buyer finds that he lied in what he stated, this does not harm the sale in any way, nor does it grant any right of recourse هَيْهَاتَ دِينُ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ أَعَزُّ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَأَحْرَزُ.

وَقَالَ الْمُبِيحُونَ لَهُ: لَمَّا صَحَّ الْإِجْمَاعُ عَلَى وُجُوبِ دُخُولِ الْهِرِّ، وَالْكَلْبِ الْمُبَاحِ اتِّخَاذُهُ فِي الْمِيرَاثِ، وَالْوَصِيَّةِ، وَالْمِلْكِ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُمَا.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: وَهَذَا مِمَّا جَاهَرُوا فِيهِ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَبِخِلَافِ أُصُولِهِمْ: أَوَّلُ ذَلِكَ: أَنَّهُ دَعْوَى بِلَا بُرْهَانٍ ثُمَّ إنَّهُمْ يُجِيزُونَ دُخُولَ النَّحْلِ، وَدُودِ الْحَرِيرِ فِي الْمِيرَاثِ، وَالْوَصِيَّةِ، وَكَذَلِكَ الْكَلْبِ عِنْدَهُمْ، وَلَا يُجِيزُونَ بَيْعَ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ.

وَيُجِيزُونَ الْوَصِيَّةَ بِمَا لَمْ يُخْلَقْ بَعْدُ مِنْ ثَمَرِ النَّخْلِ وَغَيْرِهَا، وَيُدْخِلُونَهُ فِي الْمِيرَاثِ.

وَلَا يُجِيزُونَ بَيْعَ شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ، فَظَهَرَ تَخَاذُلُهُمْ وَبِاَللَّهِ تَعَالَى التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَةُ الْبَيْعِ عَلَى أَنْ تربحني للدينار درهما وَلَا عَلَى أني أربح معك فِيهِ كَذَا]

١٥١٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَلَا يَحِلُّ الْبَيْعُ عَلَى أَنْ تُرْبِحَنِي لِلدِّينَارِ دِرْهَمًا، وَلَا عَلَى أَنِّي أَرْبَحُ مَعَك فِيهِ كَذَا وَكَذَا دِرْهَمًا، فَإِنْ وَقَعَ فَهُوَ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا.

فَلَوْ تَعَاقَدَا الْبَيْعَ دُونَ هَذَا الشَّرْطِ، لَكِنْ أَخْبَرَهُ الْبَائِعُ بِأَنَّهُ اشْتَرَى السِّلْعَةَ بِكَذَا وَكَذَا، وَأَنَّهُ لَا يَرْبَحُ مَعَهُ فِيهَا إلَّا كَذَا وَكَذَا فَقَدْ وَقَعَ الْبَيْعُ صَحِيحًا، فَإِنْ وَجَدَهُ قَدْ كَذَبَ فِيمَا whatsoever, except in cases of a defect in it or manifest unfair pricing as is the case with all sales. The liar is sinful solely for his lie.

قَالَ لَمْ يَضُرَّ ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعَ شَيْئًا، وَلَا رُجُوعَ لَهُ بِشَيْءٍ أَصْلًا، إِلَّا مِنْ عَيْبٍ فِيهِ، أَوْ غَبْنٍ ظَاهِرٍ كَسَائِرِ الْبُيُوعِ، وَالْكَاذِبُ آثِمٌ فِي كَذِبِهِ فَقَطْ.

L24349–24351 The proof of this is that a sale contingent on you making me a profit of such-and-such is a condition not found in the Book of Allah Almighty, thus it is invalid, and the contract containing it is invalid. Moreover, it is a sale with an unknown price, because the two parties contracted the sale on the basis that it [...] He profits with it a dirham per dinar. If the purchase was a dinar excluding a quarter, the purchase is based on that, and the profit is a dirham excluding a quarter of a dirham. This is the prohibited sale of gharar (uncertainty) which the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) forbade – a sale for a price whose amount is not known.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ: أَنَّ الْبَيْعَ عَلَى أَنْ تُرْبِحَنِي كَذَا شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ وَالْعَقْدُ بِهِ بَاطِلٌ وَأَيْضًا: فَإِنَّهُ بَيْعٌ بِثَمَنٍ مَجْهُولٍ، لِأَنَّهُمَا إِنَّمَا تَعَاقَدَا الْبَيْعَ عَلَى أَنَّهُ يُرْبَحُ مَعَهُ لِلدِّينَارِ دِرْهَمًا، فَإِنْ كَانَ شِرَاؤُهُ دِينَارًا غَيْرَ رُبُعٍ كَانَ الشِّرَاءُ بِذَلِكَ، وَالرِّبْحُ دِرْهَمًا غَيْرَ رُبُعِ دِرْهَمٍ فَهَذَا بَيْعُ الْغَرَرِ الَّذِي نَهَى عَنْهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - وَالْبَيْعُ بِثَمَنٍ لَا يَدْرِي مِقْدَارَهُ.

L24352 If the sale is free of this condition, it has validly occurred as Allah the Exalted has commanded. The seller's lie constitutes disobedience to Allah the Exalted, but the sale is not contingent upon it. Rather, it is like his fornication if he were to fornicate, or his drinking if he were to consume wine—there being no difference.

فَإِذَا سَلِمَ الْبَيْعُ مِنْ هَذَا الشَّرْطِ فَقَدْ وَقَعَ صَحِيحًا كَمَا أَمَرَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى، وَكِذْبَةُ الْبَائِعِ مَعْصِيَةٌ لِلَّهِ تَعَالَى لَيْسَتْ مَعْقُودًا عَلَيْهَا الْبَيْعُ، لَكِنْ كَزِنَاهُ لَوْ زَنَى، أَوْ شُرْبِهِ لَوْ شَرِبَ الْخَمْرَ وَلَا فَرْقَ.

L24353 It was narrated to us through the chain of Waki', who narrated on the authority of Sufyān al-Thawrī, from 'Abd al-A'lā, from Sa'īd ibn Jubayr, from Ibn 'Abbās that he disliked the sale called "dah davāzdah"—a Persian phrase meaning "I will give you twelve for ten"—which is the sale of murābaḥah.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ نا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ عَبْدِ الْأَعْلَى عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ جُبَيْرٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ كَرِهَ بَيْعَ " دَه دوازده " مَعْنَاهُ أُرْبِحُك لِلْعَشَرَةِ اثْنَيْ عَشَرَ وَهُوَ بَيْعُ الْمُرَابَحَةِ

L24354 It has been reported to us from Ibn Abbas that he explicitly stated: "This constitutes usury."

وَرُوِّينَا عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: هُوَ رِبًا.

L24355 And via the chain of Waki' and 'Abd al-Razzaq, both narrated jointly: From Sufyan al-Thawri, from 'Ammar al-Duhni, from Ibn Abi Nu'm, from Ibn 'Umar, who said: The sale of "dah duwazdah" (ten for twelve) is riba.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ، وَعَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ، قَالَا جَمِيعًا: أَنَا سُفْيَانُ الثَّوْرِيُّ عَنْ عَمَّارٍ الدُّهْنِيِّ عَنِ ابْنِ أَبِي نُعْمٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ: بَيْعُ " دَه دوازده " رِبًا.

L24356 Ikrimah said: It is unlawful (ḥarām). Al-Ḥasan disliked it (karhiha), and Masrūq disliked it (karhiha), with Masrūq adding: "No, I would rather buy it for such-and-such or sell it for such-and-such."

وَقَالَ عِكْرِمَةُ: هُوَ حَرَامٌ وَكَرِهَهُ الْحَسَنُ وَكَرِهَهُ مَسْرُوقٌ وَقَالَ: بَلْ أَشْتَرِيهِ بِكَذَا أَوْ أَبِيعُهُ بِكَذَا.

L24357 It has been narrated to us from Ibn Mas'ud that he permitted it provided وَرُوِّينَا عَنِ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّهُ أَجَازَهُ إِذَا لَمْ يَأْخُذْ لِلنَّفَقَةِ رِبْحًا.

no profit was charged beyond covering the sustenance costs.

L24358 Ibn al-Musayyib and Shurayh permitted it. Ibn Sīrīn said: “There is no harm in ten to twelve (dah davāzdah),” and the expense for clothing should be calculated.

L24359 For those who permit it, there exists excessive prolongation regarding one who buys on deferred terms and sells for cash, one who purchases amidst currency fluctuation and sells during market stagnation; what is not legally accounted for as valid rent for stretching and folding services; the dyer’s fee, the cloth-bleacher’s wage; what is provided as sustenance to crafts; the broker’s fee; when an error is alleged or falsehood exposed—all of this being corrupt legal reasoning.

L24360 However, we say: Whoever is tested in trade in a land where purchasing occurs only in this manner should state, “I incurred such and such [cost],” according to his expenditure on it, or say, “I bought it for such and such,” without calculating any expenses in that amount. Then he should say, “However, I do not sell it at my purchasing price; you seek to acquire it from me through a sale for such and such. If not, then abandon it.” This constitutes a valid sale with no defect involved.

L24361–24363 It has been narrated to us through the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Jarīr—who is Ibn ʿAbd al-Ḥamīd—from Abi Sinān, from ʿAbdullāh ibn al-Ḥārith, who said: “A man passed by a group among whom was the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—carrying a garment, so the man said to him...” Some of them asked, “For how much did you purchase it?” He answered him, then said, “You have lied,” while the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—was among them. The man retracted and said, “O Messenger of Allah, I bought it for such-and-such amount—less than what I had claimed.” The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—told him, “Give the excess as charity.” They hold that the Mursal (narrative with interrupted chain) is treated like the Musnad (authenticated narrative with complete chain), yet they contradicted this Mursal because the Prophet neither invalidated the sale nor reduced any portion of the profit.

The issue of selling based on a numbering system, or enticing someone by what is numbered on his commodity.

1517: Question:

It is impermissible to sell based on a marked price, nor to entice anyone through the markings on their merchandise. Rather, one must negotiate the price, clearly state the markup above the value of what is being sold, and say: "If you are content with this, proceed; otherwise, leave it."

The issue of two sales in one sale.

1518 – Issue:

It is unlawful to conclude two sales in one sale, such as: "I sell you my goods for two dinars, provided you give me such-and-such dirhams for them."

Or like one who purchases a commodity priced at a hundred dirhams on the condition that he pays in dinars - each dinar being exchanged for a number of dirhams. Similar to: "I sell you this commodity of mine for two dinars in cash or three dinars on credit."

I am selling you this commodity of mine for [specific terms], on the binding condition that you sell me this commodity of yours for [specific terms].

Therefore, all of this is forbidden, perpetually nullified, and subject to the ruling of usurpation.

The proof of that is what has been narrated to us via Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh, from Aḥmad ibn Zuhayr, from Yaḥyā ibn Maʿīn, from Hushaym, from Yūnus ibn ʿUbayd, from Nāfiʿ, from Ibn ʿUmar, who said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) prohibited two sales in one sale.[27]

[27] Hadith references (L24373): Sunan an-Nasai 4632; Jami at-Tirmidhi 1231; Mishkat al-Masabih 2868.

وَرُوِّينَا عَنْ الشَّعْبِيِّ، وَمُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَلِيٍّ: أَنَّهُمَا كَرِهَا ذَلِكَ وَمَا نَعْلَمُ لِلْمَالِكِيِّينَ حُجَّةً إلَّا أَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا: الْبَيْعَةُ الْأُولَى لَغْوٌ فَهَذَا الِاحْتِجَاجُ أَفْسَدُ مِنْ الْقَوْلِ الَّذِي احْتَجُّوا لَهُ بِهِ، وَأَفْقَرُ إلَى حُجَّةٍ؛ لِأَنَّهُ دَعْوَى مُجَرَّدَةٌ، عَلَى أَنَّهُمْ أَتَوْا بِعَظَائِمَ طَرْدًا مِنْهُمْ لِهَذَا الْأَصْلِ الْفَاسِدِ: فَأَجَازُوا بَيْعَ هَذِهِ السِّلْعَةِ بِخِنْزِيرٍ، أَوْ بِقِسْطِ خَمْرٍ، عَلَى أَنْ يَأْخُذُوا بِالْخِنْزِيرِ، أَوْ الْخَمْرِ: دِينَارَيْنِ وَهَذِهِ عَظِيمَةٌ تَمْلَأُ الْفَمَ، وَيَكْفِي ذِكْرُهَا عَنْ تَكَلُّفِ الرَّدِّ عَلَيْهِمْ، وَمَا الدِّيَانَةُ كُلُّهَا إلَّا بِأَسْمَائِهَا وَأَعْمَالِهَا، لَا بِأَحَدِ الْأَمْرَيْنِ دُونَ الْآخَرِ.

L24374 And it has been related to us from al-Sha'bī and Muḥammad ibn 'Alī that they both disapproved of that. We know of no evidence for the Mālikīs except their statement: "The initial pledge is invalid." This argument is more corrupt than the position they sought to justify with it, and more lacking in evidence, as it constitutes an unsubstantiated claim. Indeed, they committed grave sins in their repudiation of this corrupt principle by permitting the sale of this commodity for a pig or a portion of wine, on the condition that they then take two dinars in exchange for the pig or wine. This is a monstrous act that leaves one aghast—its mere mention suffices without laborious refutation. For religion in its entirety is nothing but its declarations and its deeds, not one of these aspects without the other.

وَنَحْنُ نَجِدُ الْمُسْتَقْرِضَ يَقُولُ: أَقْرِضْنِي دِينَارَيْنِ عَلَى أَنْ أَرُدَّ لَك دِينَارَيْنِ إلَى شَهْرٍ لَكَانَ قَوْلًا حَسَنًا، وَعَمَلًا صَحِيحًا، فَلَوْ قَالَ لَهُ يَعْنِي دِينَارَيْنِ بِدِينَارَيْنِ إلَى شَهْرٍ لَكَانَ قَوْلًا خَبِيثًا، وَعَمَلًا فَاسِدًا، حَرَامًا، وَالْعَمَلُ وَاحِدٌ وَالصِّفَةُ وَاحِدَةٌ وَمَا فَرَّقَ بَيْنَهُمَا إلَّا اللَّفْظُ.

L24375–24376 We find the borrower saying: "Lend me two dinars on the condition that I repay you two dinars after a month," and this would be a commendable statement and a valid action. But if he were to say: "meaning: two dinars for two dinars after a month," it would be a sinful statement, an invalid and prohibited action. The action and its description are the same, and nothing distinguishes between them except the wording.

وَلَوْ قَالَ امْرُؤٌ لِآخَرَ: أَبِحْنِي وَطْءَ ابْنَتِك بِدِينَارٍ مَا شِئْت؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ: نَعَمْ لَكَانَ قَوْلًا حَرَامًا: وَزِنًا مُجَرَّدًا، فَلَوْ قَالَ لَهُ: زَوِّجْنِيهَا بِدِينَارٍ، لَكَانَ قَوْلًا صَحِيحًا، وَعَمَلًا صَحِيحًا، وَالصِّفَةُ وَاحِدَةٌ، وَالْعَمَلُ وَاحِدٌ، وَإِنَّمَا فَرَّقَ بَيْنَهُمَا الِاسْمُ.

L24377 If a man were to say to another, "Permit me to have intercourse with your daughter for a dinar whenever you wish," and the latter responds, "Yes," this would constitute a forbidden statement—sheer fornication. But if he were to say to him, "Marry her to me for a dinar," it would be a valid statement and a valid act. The essence is the same, the act is the same, and only the name distinguishes between them.

وَقَوْلُهُمْ هَذَا جَمَعَ وُجُوهًا مِنْ الْبَلَاءِ، وَأَنْوَاعًا مِنْ الْحَرَامِ: مِنْهَا: تَعَدِّي حُدُودِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، وَشَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، وَبَيْعَتَيْنِ فِي بَيْعَةٍ، وَبَيْعُ مَا لَا يَحِلُّ وَابْتِيَاعُهُ مَعًا، وَبَيْعُ غَائِبٍ بِنَاجِزٍ فِيمَا يَقَعُ فِيهِ الرِّبَا وَبَيْعُ الْغَرَرِ وَنَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْ مِثْلِ هَذَا.

L24378 And their statement combines aspects of calamity and types of prohibition: among them are transgressing the limits ordained by Allah the Exalted, stipulating a condition not found in the Book of Allah the Exalted, two sales in one transaction, selling what is unlawful and buying it in the same transaction, selling deferred goods for immediate payment in contexts where usury applies, the sale involving gharar (uncertainty), and we seek refuge with Allah from the likes of this.

L24379 If it is said: You state regarding what we have reported through the chain of Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah—reported to us by Yahya ibn Abi Za'ida, reported from Muhammad ibn ʻAmr ibn ʻAlqamah, reported from Abu Salama, reported from Abu Hurayrah, who said: The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said, "Whoever combines two transactions in one sale, he must take the lesser of the two prices—otherwise it is usury." Shuraih upheld this ruling, as reported to us by Hammam—reported from ʻAyyash ibn Asbagh, reported from Muhammad ibn ʻAbd al-Malik ibn Ayman, reported from ʻAbdullah ibn Ahmad ibn Hanbal, reported from al-Aʻla, reported from Hammad, reported from Qatadah, Ayyub al-Sikhtiyani, Yunus ibn ʻUbayd, and Hisham ibn Hassan—all of whom reported from Muhammad ibn Sirin. He said: Two conditions in a sale: "I will sell to you [something] with a term of one month for ten; if you retain it for a month, then you take ten." Shuraih said: "The lesser of the two prices and the more distant of the two terms—otherwise it is usury." ʻAbdullah said: So I asked my father, "What about this?" He replied: "This is a voidable sale."[28]

L24380 Abu Muhammad said: He means that if you detain him for another month, you will take another ten.

L24381–24383 Abu Muhammad said: We say: This is an authentic report, except that it aligns with the established original principle. Indeed, usury, two transactions in one contract, and stipulations in sales—all of those were not unlawful in the absolute sense until they were entirely prohibited. When all that we mentioned was forbidden, the initial permissibility was undoubtedly abrogated. Therefore, this report is unquestionably abrogated. Since it is undoubtedly prohibited to engage in two sales within a single transaction, both must be invalidated together, as they constitute a prohibited act. And success comes only from Allah, the Exalted.

L24387 Ali said: This is a corrupt opinion; there is no evidence for its validity—neither from the Quran, nor the Sunnah, nor a weak narration, nor the statement of a Companion, nor analogy.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: وَهَذَا قَوْلٌ فَاسِدٌ لَا دَلِيلَ عَلَى صِحَّتِهِ، لَا مِنْ قُرْآنٍ، وَلَا مِنْ سُنَّةٍ، وَلَا رِوَايَةٍ سَقِيمَةٍ، وَلَا قَوْلِ صَاحِبٍ، وَلَا قِيَاسٍ.

L24388 "Among the astonishing claims is their argument for this position by stating: 'The basis of the transaction is its intended purpose and aim?' We countered them: 'What then? On what basis does this establish what you have mentioned as obligatory? This is nothing but your own assertion, which you then invoke as evidence for itself.' Thus, this argument is thereby invalidated."

وَمِنْ الْعَجَائِبِ احْتِجَاجُهُمْ لِذَلِكَ بِأَنْ قَالُوا: إنَّ وَجْهَ الصَّفْقَةِ هُوَ الْمُرَادُ وَالْمَقْصُودُ؟ فَقُلْنَا لَهُمْ: فَكَانَ مَاذَا؟ وَمِنْ أَيْنَ وَجَبَ بِذَلِكَ مَا ذَكَرْتُمْ؟ وَمَا هُوَ إلَّا قَوْلُكُمْ احْتَجَجْتُمْ لَهُ بِقَوْلِكُمْ، فَسَقَطَ هَذَا الْقَوْلُ.

L24390 Abu Muhammad said: We found this opinion invalidated by the words of Allah Almighty: "Do not consume your properties among yourselves unjustly except through mutual consent in a transaction" [Surah An-Nisa' 4:29]. These two parties did not mutually consent to portions of the transaction while excluding others, but rather consented to its entirety. Whoever obliges them to part of the transaction without the other part has imposed what they did not mutually accept at the contract's formation, thereby opposing Allah's command and ruling in favor of unjust wealth consumption - which is forbidden by the Quran. If they now agree to this, we do not prohibit them, but only through a new contract with their joint consent, for the original agreement was never established as such.[29] قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَوَجَدْنَا هَذَا الْقَوْلَ يُبْطِلُهُ قَوْلُ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] فَهَذَانِ لَمْ يَتَرَاضَيَا بِبَعْضِ الصَّفْقَةِ دُونَ بَعْضٍ، وَإِنَّمَا تَرَاضَيَا بِجَمِيعِهَا، فَمَنْ أَلْزَمَهُمَا بَعْضَهَا دُونَ بَعْضٍ فَقَدْ أَلْزَمَهُمَا مَا لَمْ يَتَرَاضَيَا بِهِ حِينَ الْعَقْدِ، فَخَالَفَ أَمْرَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، وَحَكَمَ بِأَكْلِ الْمَالِ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَهُوَ حَرَامٌ بِالْقُرْآنِ، فَإِنْ تَرَاضَيَا الْآنَ بِذَلِكَ لَمْ نَمْنَعْهُمَا، وَلَكِنْ بِعَقْدٍ مُجَرَّدٍ بِرِضَاهُمَا مَعًا، لِأَنَّ الْعَقْدَ الْأَوَّلَ لَمْ يَقَعْ هَكَذَا.

L24393–24395 1520 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell a free person. The evidence for this is what was transmitted to us via the chain of transmission cited by Al-Bukhari: Bishr ibn Marḥūm narrated to us, Yaḥyā ibn Sulaym narrated to us, from Ismāʿīl ibn Umayyah, from Saʿīd ibn Abī Saʿīd al-Maqburī, from Abū Hurayrah, from the Prophet—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—who said: Allah, the Almighty, said: "Three types of people I will oppose on the Day of Resurrection: a man who swears a pledge by My name then betrays it; a man who sells a free person into slavery and consumes its price; and a man who hires a worker, takes full advantage of his labor, yet does not give him his wage."[30]

L24396 Ali said: "There is ancient and ongoing disagreement on this matter. We will present—God Almighty willing—what He has facilitated for presentation, so claimants of consensus in matters more obscure than this may know they are false: It was narrated to us through Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā, who reported from 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Mahdī and Mu'ādh ibn Hishām al-Dastuwā'ī. 'Abd al-Raḥmān stated: 'Hammām ibn Yaḥyā reported to us,' while Mu'ādh said: 'My father reported to us.' Then Hishām and Hammām concurred. Both transmitted from Qatādah, from 'Abd Allāh ibn Buraydah: 'A man sold himself, and 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb ruled him a slave as he had declared himself, designating his price for God Almighty's cause.' This is Hammām's wording. As for Hishām's version: 'He acknowledged himself to a man until he sold him.' Both narrations align in other respects, and the meaning is necessarily unified in both wordings."

L24397 Via the chain of Ibn Abi Shaybah: Shariq narrated from Jabir, from ʿĀmir al-Shaʿbī, from ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib, who said: "If someone confesses to his own enslavement, he is an enslaved person."

Ali said: This is the judgment of Umar and Ali in the presence of the Companions—may Allah be pleased with them—with none among them objecting to them in that matter. If they denounce this, we say: O these people, there is no blame on you, for by Allah, you have asserted things more denounceable and severe than this, in this very matter itself.

Do the Ḥanafīs not assert: If a Ḥasanī, a Ḥusaynī, an ʿAbbāsī, a Manāfī, or a Qurayshite apostatizes and flees to the land of war, then if his child is born, they are enslaved, and if they embrace Islam, they would be Slaves, and that if a Qurayshi woman apostatizes and joins the abode of war, she is captured and reduced to slavery. If she embraces Islam, she becomes a lawful slave whose intimacy becomes permissible through rightful possession. If she does not embrace Islam, she is left in her disbelief. Is it permissible for a Jew or Christian to enslave her? Is it not Ibn al-Qasim, Malik's companion, who states: If the people of war demand a truce while holding Muslim captives—free Muslim men and freeborn women—they are left as their slaves, or they take ownership of them and trade them? Fie on these two opinions—how vile! Which is more abhorrent: that they did not follow the rulings of Umar and Ali—may Allah be pleased with them? Abu Muhammad said: Anyone who gains freedom through manumission, by being born to a free father from his enslaved woman, by a free woman's pregnancy with him, or by an enslaved woman's manumission while pregnant with him—provided the manumitter did not exclude him—has attained freedom. This freedom cannot be nullified for him nor for any descendant of his, male or female, through the lineage we described, forever. Not through his apostasy or hers, nor through capture, nor through the apostasy of his father, grandfather (however distant), grandmother (however distant), nor through any ancestor's joining the abode of war—male or female—nor through his own joining, nor through acknowledgment of enslavement, debt, self-sale, nor under any circumstance. For neither the Quran nor the Sunnah mandates this. There is a report that free persons were sold for debt in early Islam until Allah the Exalted revealed: {If someone is in hardship, grant them respite until ease} [Al-Baqarah: 280]. Success comes from Allah the Exalted.[31]

Legal case regarding the sale of a female slave who became pregnant by her master.

1521 – Issue:

It is not permissible to sell a female slave who has become pregnant by her master, according to what Yūsuf ibn ʿAbd Allāh narrated to us from ʿAbd al-Wārith ibn Sufyān from Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh from Muṣʿab ibn Saʿīd from ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAmr al-Raqqī from ʿAbd al-Karīm al-Jazarī from ʿIkrimah from Ibn ʿAbbās, who said: "When Māriyah gave birth to Ibrāhīm, the Messenger of Allāh (peace be upon him) said: 'Her child emancipated her.'" This is a report with a ṣaḥīḥ chain, and the legal proof based on it is established.

If it is said: What is established from Ibn Abbas is the opinion permitting the sale of ummahāt al-awlād (mothers of offspring), and this report derives from his narration—would he have abandoned a transmitted ruling except due to its weakness in his assessment and in favor of what he deemed stronger in evidence? We respond: We—O assembly of Zahiris—are not opposed by such chaff of speech, nor is this objection raised against us except by those deficient in intellect. For proof in our school rests upon transmitted narrations, not opinion-based reasoning. Only those clinging to [opinion-based reasoning] employ this [argument] when confronted with established prophetic traditions.

L24409–24410 And he contradicts it among the Hanafis and Malikis—those who show no concern for contradiction in that matter, acting one way at this time and another way at that time—who feel no hesitation in claiming consensus here, then proceed to designate Ibn Mas'ud, Zayd ibn Thabit, Ali ibn Abi Talib, and Ibn Abbas as opponents of the consensus. This characterizes their knowledge of the Sunnah, and this demonstrates their understanding of consensus. Allah suffices us, and He is the finest Trustee.

L24411 1521 – Issue:

L24412 Abu Muhammad said: If the master's semen is deposited in the vagina of his female slave, her status is pending observation. If it remains until it becomes a formed entity discernible as a child, selling her is prohibited from the moment the semen was deposited in her vagina, and her sale is invalidated if she was sold. But if it exits her before becoming a formed entity discernible as a child, selling her is never prohibited.

L24413 The proof for the validity of this opinion is that if prohibiting the sale of the female slave in the aforementioned circumstance were not incumbent, then selling her would be permissible. If selling her were permissible, it would be lawful for her purchaser to have sexual relations with her before the semen could result in a child, and this contradicts the aforementioned explicit text.

L24414 Similarly, the ruling concerning the deceased following the presence of his semen in his wife's vagina is that his status remains contingent. If the child is born alive, we ascertain that his inheritance right is established due to his father's death. If the child is stillborn, we ascertain that no inheritance right ever accrues to him. For were it otherwise, a right to inheritance would have arisen for him that others had already lawfully claimed. And success comes only from Allah, the Exalted.

The Issue of the Sale of Air

L24415

L24416 Question 1522:

وَهُوَ مُخَالِفٌ لَهَا مِنْ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ، الَّذِينَ لَا يُبَالُونَ بِالتَّنَاقُضِ فِي ذَلِكَ، مَرَّةً هَكَذَا وَمَرَّةً هَكَذَا، وَالَّذِينَ لَا يُبَالُونَ بِأَنْ يَدَّعُوا هَهُنَا الْإِجْمَاعَ ثُمَّ لَا يُبَالُونَ بِأَنْ يَجْعَلُوا: ابْنَ مَسْعُودٍ، وَزَيْدَ بْنَ ثَابِتٍ وَعَلِيَّ بْنَ أَبِي طَالِبٍ، وَابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ، مُخَالِفِينَ لِلْإِجْمَاعِ فَهَذِهِ صِفَةُ عِلْمِهِمْ بِالسُّنَنِ، وَهَذَا مِقْدَارُ عِلْمِهِمْ بِالْإِجْمَاعِ وَحَسْبُنَا اللَّهُ وَنِعْمَ الْوَكِيلُ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: إذَا وَقَعَ مَنِيُّ السَّيِّدِ فِي فَرْجِ أَمَتِهِ فَأَمْرُهَا مُتَرَقَّبٌ، فَإِنْ بَقِيَ حَتَّى يَصِيرَ خَلْقًا يَتَبَيَّنُ أَنَّهُ وَلَدٌ فَهِيَ حَرَامٌ بَيْعُهَا مِنْ حِينِ سُقُوطِ الْمَنِيِّ فِي فَرْجِهَا وَيُفْسَخُ بَيْعُهَا إنْ بِيعَتْ، وَإِنْ خَرَجَ عَنْهَا قَبْلَ أَنْ يَصِيرَ خَلْقًا يَتَبَيَّنُ أَنَّهُ وَلَدٌ، فَلَمْ يَحْرُمْ بَيْعُهَا قَطُّ.

وَبُرْهَانُ صِحَّةِ هَذَا الْقَوْلِ: أَنَّهُ لَوْ لَمْ يُسْتَحَقَّ الْمَنْعُ مِنْ الْبَيْعِ فِي الْحَالِ الَّتِي ذَكَرْنَا لَكَانَ بَيْعُهَا حَلَالًا، لَوْ كَانَ بَيْعُهَا حَلَالًا لَحَلَّ فَرْجُهَا لِمُشْتَرِيهَا قَبْلَ أَنْ يَصِيرَ الْمَنِيُّ وَلَدًا وَهَذَا خِلَافُ النَّصِّ الْمَذْكُورِ.

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ الْهَوَاءِ]

١٥٢٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ:

وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الْهَوَاءِ أَصْلًا، كَمَنْ بَاعَ مَا عَلَى سَقْفِهِ وَجُدْرَانِهِ لِلْبِنَاءِ عَلَى ذَلِكَ، فَهَذَا بَاطِلٌ مَرْدُودٌ أَبَدًا؛ لِأَنَّ الْهَوَاءَ لَا يَسْتَقِرُّ فَيُضْبَطُ بِمِلْكٍ أَبَدًا، وَإِنَّمَا هُوَ مُتَمَوِّجٌ يَمْضِي مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ وَيَأْتِي آخَرُ أَبَدًا، فَكَانَ يَكُونُ بَيْعُهُ أَكْلَ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَاعَ مَا لَا يَمْلِكُ، وَلَا يَقْدِرُ عَلَى إمْسَاكِهِ، فَهُوَ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَبَيْعُ مَا لَا يَمْلِكُ، وَبَيْعُ مَجْهُولٍ.

L24417 The sale of air is fundamentally impermissible, such as one selling what is above their roof and walls for construction upon it. This transaction is permanently void and rejected because air does not settle and cannot be permanently controlled as property. Rather, it is in constant motion, with something ceaselessly departing and others arriving endlessly. Selling it would thus constitute wrongful consumption of wealth, as one sells what they neither own nor have the ability to retain. It is a sale involving gharar, a sale of what is not owned, and a sale of an unknown entity.

فَإِنْ قِيلَ: إنَّمَا بِيعَ الْمَكَانُ لَا الْهَوَاءُ؟ قُلْنَا: لَيْسَ هُنَاكَ مَكَانٌ أَصْلًا غَيْرَ الْهَوَاءِ، فَلَوْ كَانَ مَا قُلْتُمْ لَكَانَ لَمْ يَبِعْ شَيْئًا أَصْلًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ عَدَمٌ، فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ حَقًّا.

L24418 If it is said: "Only the place was sold, not the space?" We reply: "There is no place at all except space. If your claim were valid, nothing would have been sold whatsoever, for it is non-existent. Thus, it is unequivocally an illegitimate usurpation of property."

فَإِنَّ قِيلَ: إنَّمَا بَاعَ سَطْحَ سَقْفِهِ وَجُدْرَانِهِ؟

L24419 If it is said: "Did he sell only the flat roof and walls?"

قُلْنَا: هَذَا بَاطِلٌ وَهُوَ أَيْضًا شَرْطٌ لَيْسَ فِي كِتَابِ اللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ شَرَطَ لَهُ أَنْ يَهْدِمَ شَيْئًا مِنْ سَقْفِهِ، وَلَا مِنْ رُءُوسِ جُدْرَانِهِ، وَهَذَا شَرْطٌ لَمْ يَأْتِ النَّصُّ بِإِبَاحَتِهِ فَهُوَ بَاطِلٌ حَرَامٌ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا - وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا هَذَا الْقَوْلَ عَنْ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ فِي " كِتَابِ الْقِسْمَةِ " وَأَنَّهُ لَا يَحِلُّ أَلْبَتَّةَ أَنْ يَمْلِكَ أَحَدٌ شَيْئًا وَيَمْلِكُ غَيْرُهُ الْعُلُوَّ الَّذِي عَلَيْهِ - وَمَنْ بَاعَ سَقْفَهُ فَقَطْ فَحَلَالٌ، وَيُؤْخَذُ الْمُشْتَرِي بِإِزَالَةِ مَا اشْتَرَى عَنْ مَكَانِ مِلْكِهِ لِغَيْرِهِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24420–24421 We said: This is invalid, and it is also a condition not found in the Book of Allah—Exalted be He—thus it is invalid. For he stipulated that one must demolish part of his ceiling but not the tops of his walls, and this is a condition not sanctioned by textual evidence as permissible. Therefore, it is invalid, prohibited, and perpetually nullified. This opinion has been transmitted to us from Al-Shāfiʿī, and we have mentioned it in The Book of Division, affirming that it is entirely impermissible for one to own something while another owns the upper structure above it. If someone sells only his ceiling, it is permissible, but the buyer is required to remove what he purchased from the place owned by another. And success is from Allah—Exalted be He.

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعِ مَنْ لَا يَعْقِلُ لِسُكْرٍ أَوْ جُنُونٍ]

The Issue of the Sale by One Who Lacks Reason Due to Intoxication or Insanity

١٥٢٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ مَنْ لَا يَعْقِلُ لِسُكْرٍ، أَوْ جُنُونٍ، وَلَا يَلْزَمُهُمَا؛ لِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ - تَعَالَى -: {لا تَقْرَبُوا الصَّلاةَ وَأَنْتُمْ سُكَارَى حَتَّى تَعْلَمُوا مَا تَقُولُونَ} [النساء: ٤٣] .

L24422 Issue 1523: A sale conducted by a person lacking mental capacity due to intoxication or insanity is invalid, and such transactions are not legally binding. This is based on Allah's statement, the Exalted: "Do not approach prayer while you are intoxicated until you know what you are saying" [Quran 4:43].[32]

L24424 The Exalted and Majestic has borne witness that the intoxicated person does not comprehend what he utters, and a sale is a verbal declaration or its equivalent for those incapable of speech due to a defect such as muteness or an oral impairment. Thus, one who does not understand what he says—has he not engaged in any sale or purchase? Some deemed it permissible, but we know of no evidence whatsoever for their position beyond their assertion that such a person disobeyed God—Exalted and Majestic—and brought this state upon himself. We responded: "Indeed, he is liable to the hadd punishment in this world and the Fire in the Hereafter unless God—Exalted—forgives him. Yet this does not necessitate imposing an additional legal obligation beyond what God—Exalted—has decreed." They do not dispute that if an intoxicated person were to act recklessly, fall, and break his leg, he would be granted the concession to pray seated, like the one who sustained that injury in the cause of God—Exalted—with no distinction.

L24425 Similarly, tayammum is permitted when one has wounds that prevent wudu and ghusl – and this is a crude contradiction – and success comes from Allah, the Most High.

L24426 They assert that someone who intentionally consumes marking nuts and consequently loses his mental capacity is subject to the same legal ruling as an insane person who did not induce that state upon himself in matters of sale, divorce, and other such legal acts. What distinction then exists between the two cases? As for the insane person, there is no disagreement with us on this matter.

L24427 If they say: And who knows that he is intoxicated? We say: And who knows that he is insane? Perhaps he has feigned foolishness. The ruling applies only to one in whom both states are confirmed through direct observation. It has been authentically reported from the Prophet—peace be upon him—that he said: "The pen is lifted from three: the insane until he regains his senses, the child until he reaches puberty..."

[32] Qur'an references (L24423): Qur'an 4:43 (An-Nisa).

The Issue of the Sale by One Who Has Not Reached It.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْعُ مَنْ لَمْ يَبْلُغْ]

Issue: The sale by one who has not reached puberty is invalid, except for what is indispensable for him out of necessity—such as food for his consumption, clothing to shield himself from cold and heat, and what falls under this category—provided the people of his community neglect him and fail to provide for him.

مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ مَنْ لَمْ يَبْلُغْ، إلَّا فِيمَا لَا بُدَّ لَهُ مِنْهُ ضَرُورَةً، كَطَعَامٍ لِأَكْلِهِ، وَثَوْبٍ يَطْرُدُ بِهِ عَنْ نَفْسِهِ الْبَرْدَ وَالْحَرَّ، وَمَا جَرَى هَذَا الْمَجْرَى إذَا أَغْفَلَهُ أَهْلُ مَحَلَّتِهِ وَضَيَّعُوهُ.

The proof of that is the statement of the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—which we mentioned. If the people of his locality neglect it and he purchases what we mentioned through his due right, he has conformed to the obligation. It is incumbent upon the people of his locality to enforce it, and it is impermissible for anyone to reject the due right. His contract at that point—if the one who concluded it is authorized in the matter—becomes a valid contract. If he is unauthorized in the matter, then as we mentioned, it is an action conforming to the due right, and thus it is impermissible to reject it. Success comes from Allah, the Most High.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: قَوْلُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - الَّذِي ذَكَرْنَا، فَإِذَا ضَيَّعَهُ أَهْلُ مَحَلَّتِهِ فَاشْتَرَى مَا ذَكَرْنَا بِحَقِّهِ، فَقَدْ وَافَقَ الْوَاجِبَ، وَعَلَى أَهْلِ مَحَلَّتِهِ إمْضَاؤُهُ، فَلَا يَحِلُّ لِأَحَدٍ رَدُّ الْحَقِّ وَتَكُونُ مُبَايَعَتُهُ حِينَئِذٍ إنْ كَانَ جَائِزَ الْأَمْرِ هُوَ الَّذِي عَقَدَ ذَلِكَ الْعَقْدَ عَلَيْهِ، فَهُوَ عَقْدٌ صَحِيحٌ، فَإِنْ كَانَ أَيْضًا غَيْرَ جَائِزِ الْأَمْرِ فَهُوَ كَمَا ذَكَرْنَا عَمَلٌ وَافَقَ الْحَقَّ الْوَاجِبَ فَلَا يَجُوزُ رَدُّهُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

As for the sale by one who has not reached legal maturity on behalf of another by the latter's command, and his purchasing for him by his command, it is valid and permissible. This is because his hand (agency) and contract are none other than the hand and contract of the commander, thus it is permissible. And success comes only from Allah, the Most High.

وَأَمَّا بَيْعُ مَنْ لَمْ يَبْلُغْ لِغَيْرِهِ بِأَمْرِ ذَلِكَ الْآخَرِ، وَابْتِيَاعُهُ لَهُ بِأَمْرِهِ فَهُوَ نَافِذٌ جَائِزٌ، لِأَنَّ يَدَهُ وَعَقْدَهُ إنَّمَا هُمَا يَدُ الْآمِرِ وَعَقْدُهُ فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ، وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

Legal issue concerning the transaction of half of this house from this side.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع نصف هَذِهِ الدَّار مِنْ هَذِهِ الجهة]

1525. Issue: It is not permissible to sell half of this house, nor this garment, this land, or this piece of wood from this side. Similarly, selling a third of it, a quarter of it, or any such portion is impermissible. However, if the exact limits of each of those is known, it becomes permissible, because if not known, it would constitute the sale of an undefined object. The sale of an undefined object is impermissible, as mutual consent cannot occur over something undefined. And with Allah, the Most High, is success.

١٥٢٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ نِصْفِ هَذِهِ الدَّارِ، وَلَا هَذَا الثَّوْبِ أَوْ هَذِهِ الْأَرْضِ، أَوْ هَذِهِ الْخَشَبَةِ مِنْ هَذِهِ الْجِهَةِ، وَكَذَلِكَ ثُلُثُهَا أَوْ رُبُعُهَا أَوْ نَحْوُ ذَلِكَ، فَلَوْ عُلِمَ مُنْتَهَى كُلِّ ذَلِكَ جَازَ، لِأَنَّهُ مَا لَمْ يُعْلَمْ بَيْعُ مَجْهُولٍ، وَبَيْعُ الْمَجْهُولِ لَا يَجُوزُ، لِأَنَّ التَّرَاضِيَ لَا يَقَعُ عَلَى مَجْهُولٍ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

The issue of selling a property, house, or land that has no right of way to it.

L24436 1526 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell a residence, house, or land that has no legal access to it, as this constitutes squandering of property. Nor is it permissible to compel [the seller] to grant access that was not sold. However, if the property is connected to the buyer's own property, such a sale is permissible, since he can reach what he purchased, thus preventing squandering. If the buyer's property is later rightfully claimed [by another], this purchase becomes invalid, as the sale was invalid due to having absolutely no access to it.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْعُ دَارٍ أَوْ بَيْتٍ أَوْ أَرْضٍ لَا طَرِيقَ إِلَيْهَا]

١٥٢٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: لَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ دَارٍ أَوْ بَيْتٍ أَوْ أَرْضٍ لَا طَرِيقَ إِلَيْهَا لِأَنَّهُ إِضَاعَةٌ لِلْمَالِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ أَنْ يُلْزَمَ طَرِيقًا لَمْ يَبِعْهُ، فَلَوْ كَانَ ذَلِكَ مُتَّصِلًا بِمَالِ الْمُشْتَرِي جَازَ ذَلِكَ الْبَيْعُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ يَصِلُ إِلَى مَا اشْتَرَى فَلَا تَضْيِيعَ، فَلَوْ اُسْتُحِقَّ مَالُ الْمُشْتَرِي بَطَلَ هَذَا الشِّرَاءُ؛ لِأَنَّهُ وَقَعَ فَاسِدًا إِذَا كَانَ لَا طَرِيقَ لَهُ إِلَيْهِ أَلْبَتَّةَ.

L24437 Issue concerning the sale of an unspecified bulk quantity on the basis that each ṣāʿ thereof is [priced] at one dirham.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع جُمْلَة مَجْهُولَة الْقَدْر عَلَى أَنْ كُلّ صَاعٌ مِنْهَا بدرهم]

L24438 1527 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell an indeterminate aggregate whose total measure is unspecified at a rate of one dirham per ṣāʿ, one dirham per raṭl, one dirham per dhirāʿ, one dirham per base unit, or a specified rate per item thereof – and likewise for all measures and numerical quantities. However, if both parties mutually know the aggregate's total quantity in terms of number, volume, weight, or dhirāʿ measurement, and they know the due price stipulated for that quantity, then it becomes permissible. If the entire aggregate is sold as-is without any increment, this is permissible.

١٥٢٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ جُمْلَةٍ مَجْهُولَةِ الْقَدْرِ عَلَى أَنَّ كُلَّ صَاعٍ مِنْهَا بِدِرْهَمٍ، أَوْ كُلَّ رَطْلٍ مِنْهَا بِدِرْهَمٍ، أَوْ كُلَّ ذِرَاعٍ مِنْهَا بِدِرْهَمٍ، أَوْ كُلَّ أَصْلٍ مِنْهَا، أَوْ كُلَّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهَا بِكَذَا وَكَذَا - وَهَكَذَا فِي جَمِيعِ الْمَقَادِيرِ وَالْأَعْدَادِ، فَإِنْ عَلِمَا جَمِيعًا مِقْدَارَ مَا فِيهَا مِنَ الْعَدَدِ، أَوِ الْكَيْلِ، أَوِ الْوَزْنِ أَوِ الذَّرْعِ، وَعَلِمَا قَدْرَ الثَّمَنِ الْوَاجِبِ فِي ذَلِكَ: جَازَ ذَلِكَ، فَإِنْ بِيعَتِ الْجُمْلَةُ كَمَا هِيَ وَلَا مَزِيدَ، فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ.

L24439–24440 Similarly, if a bulk sale is made on the condition that it contains a specified volume, weight, cubits, or number, the transaction is permissible. If the item conforms to the stipulated terms, the sale is valid; otherwise, it is invalid.

وَكَذَلِكَ لَوْ بِيعَتْ جُمْلَةٌ عَلَى أَنَّ فِيهَا كَذَا وَكَذَا مِنَ الْكَيْلِ، أَوْ مِنَ الْوَزْنِ، أَوْ مِنَ الذَّرْعِ، أَوْ مِنَ الْعَدَدِ، فَهُوَ جَائِزٌ - فَإِنْ وُجِدَتْ كَذَلِكَ صَحَّ الْبَيْعُ، وَإِلَّا فَهُوَ مَرْدُودٌ.

L24441 The proof of that is: selling them by stipulating that every specified measure of volume among them is for such-and-such, every weight for such-and-such, every cubit for such-and-such, or every single unit for such-and-such constitutes a sale with an unknown price. The seller does not know what is due to him, nor does the buyer know what is incumbent upon him at the time the contract is concluded.

بُرْهَانُ ذَلِكَ -: أَنَّ بَيْعَهَا عَلَى أَنَّ كُلَّ كَيْلٍ مَذْكُورٍ مِنْهَا بِكَذَا، أَوْ كُلَّ وَزْنٍ بِكَذَا، أَوْ كُلَّ ذَرْعٍ بِكَذَا، أَوْ كُلَّ وَاحِدٍ بِكَذَا، بَيْعٌ بِثَمَنٍ مَجْهُولٍ لَا يَدْرِي الْبَائِعُ مَا يَجِبُ لَهُ، وَلَا الْمُشْتَرِي مَا يَجِبُ عَلَيْهِ حَالَ الْعَقْدِ.

L24442 Allah the Exalted has said: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves unjustly except through trade by mutual consent." [An-Nisa: 29] Mutual consent is only possible in a transaction with clear terms; otherwise, it is consuming wealth invalidly and a sale of gharar (speculative risk).[33]

وَقَدْ قَالَ اللَّهُ - تَعَالَى -: {لا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ} [النساء: ٢٩] وَالتَّرَاضِي لَا يُمْكِنُ إِلَّا فِي مَعْلُومٍ فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ، وَبَيْعُ غَرَرٍ.

L24443 The prohibition of gharar (uncertainty) in sales is firmly established. If all such uncertainty is resolved to the extent that both parties jointly possess full knowledge of it, and this occurs after the contract, it is illogical for the contract to be void at its inception yet valid afterward when they had neither mutually agreed to it nor committed to its terms. If both parties jointly knew the extent of that at the time of the contract, it constitutes a valid consensual agreement free from gharar.

وَقَدْ صَحَّ النَّهْيُ عَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ، فَإِذَا خَرَجَ كُلُّ ذَلِكَ إِلَى حَدِّ الْعِلْمِ مِنْهُمَا مَعًا، وَكَانَ ذَلِكَ بَعْدَ الْعَقْدِ، فَمِنَ الْبَاطِلِ أَنْ يَبْطُلَ الْعَقْدُ حِينَ عَقْدِهِ، وَيَصِحَّ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ حِينَ لَمْ يَتَعَاقَدَاهُ، وَلَا الْتَزَمَاهُ، فَإِذَا عَلِمَا جَمِيعًا قَدْرَ ذَلِكَ عِنْدَ الْعَقْدِ فَهُوَ تَرَاضٍ صَحِيحٌ لَا غَرَرَ فِيهِ.

L24444 If the lot is sold in this manner, it is the sale of a visible item encompassed by a known price, constituting a valid mutual agreement free from uncertainty. If the lot is sold for a specified price on the condition that it contains specific attributes, this is a sale based on description, which is valid if the item is found as stipulated in the contract. Otherwise, if what is found differs from what was contracted upon, then no contract was ever concluded for the actual item obtained, and this constitutes unjust consumption of wealth through false means.

فَإِنْ بِيعَتْ الْجُمْلَةُ هَكَذَا فَهُوَ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مَرْئِيٍّ مُحَاطٍ بِثَمَنٍ مَعْرُوفٍ، فَهُوَ تَرَاضٍ صَحِيحٌ لَا غَرَرَ فِيهِ، فَإِنْ بِيعَتْ الْجُمْلَةُ بِثَمَنٍ مَعْلُومٍ عَلَى أَنَّ فِيهَا كَذَا وَكَذَا، فَهَذَا بَيْعٌ بِصِفَةٍ، وَهُوَ صَحِيحٌ إِنْ وُجِدَ كَمَا عُقِدَ عَلَيْهِ، وَإِلَّا فَإِنَّمَا وُجِدَ غَيْرُ مَا عُقِدَ عَلَيْهِ، فَلَمْ يُعْقَدْ قَطُّ عَلَى الَّذِي وُجِدَ، فَهُوَ أَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L24445 We have been narrated through the chain of Abd al-Razzaq from Sufyan al-Thawri, who said: If you say, "I will buy from you whatever is in this house, whatever the amount, with each unit [priced] at so much for so much," then it is a disliked sale.

رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ عَبْدِ الرَّزَّاقِ عَنْ سُفْيَانَ الثَّوْرِيِّ قَالَ: إذَا قُلْت: أَبْتَاعُ مِنْك مَا فِي هَذَا الْبَيْتِ مَا بَلَغَ، كُلُّ جُزْءٍ كَذَا بِكَذَا، فَهُوَ بَيْعٌ مَكْرُوهٌ.

L24446 Abu Hanifah said: If he sells this heap at one qafīz for a dirham, he is bound to provide only one qafīz for one dirham. Muhammad ibn al-Hasan said: He must provide all of it—every qafīz for a dirham. These are two unsound opinions for the reasons we have stated. And success comes only from Allah—the Exalted.

وَقَالَ أَبُو حَنِيفَةَ: إذَا بَاعَ هَذِهِ الصُّبْرَةَ قَفِيزًا بِدِرْهَمٍ لَمْ يَلْزَمْهُ مِنْهَا إلَّا قَفِيزٌ وَاحِدٌ بِدِرْهَمٍ فَقَطْ - وَقَالَ مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْحَسَنِ: يَلْزَمُهُ كُلُّهَا كُلُّ قَفِيزٍ بِدِرْهَمٍ - وَهَذَانِ رَأْيَانِ فَاسِدَانِ، لِمَا ذَكَرْنَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24447 An issue regarding the sale of patronage and its gifting.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ الْوَلَاءِ وَهِبَتُهُ]

[33] Qur'an references (L24442): Qur'an 4:29 (An-Nisa).

L24448 1528 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell al-walā’ or gift it. This is based on what has been reported to us through the narrations of Shu‘bah, ‘Ubayd Allāh ibn ‘Umar, Mālik, and Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah—all of them narrating from ‘Abd Allāh ibn Dīnār, from Ibn ‘Umar, who said: “The Messenger of Allāh, peace and blessings be upon him, prohibited the sale of al-walā’ and gifting it.”

L24449–24450 The Ummah has differed on this matter, and we will mention it, Allah willing—the Exalted—in the section on “Manumission” within this volume of ours. There is no might nor power except with Allah, the Most High, the Almighty, and no argument holds against the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him.

L24451 ## The Legal Question Regarding the Sale of One Who Was Coerced into the Sale.

L24452 Issue 1529: It is impermissible to sell the property of someone coerced into selling, and such a sale is invalid according to the statement of Allah’s Messenger (peace be upon him): “Allah has pardoned my Ummah for errors, forgetfulness, and what they are compelled to do,” and the Almighty’s words: “Do not consume your wealth among yourselves unjustly, unless it be through trade by mutual consent” (4:29). Thus, it is established that every sale not based on mutual consent is invalid, except a sale mandated by textual ruling—such as selling on behalf of one obligated to fulfill a right who is either absent or refuses to ensure fairness. This is because the obligated party is commanded to fulfill the right due to the claimant, and we are commanded to enforce this obligation.[34]

L24453 And by preventing him from delay (in payment), which is injustice, and since there is no way to prevent injustice except by selling some of his property, we are commanded to sell it.

L24454 If the judge were to rule for the creditor by permitting the rightful claimant to recover their due from the property of the defaulting or absent debtor, and the creditor subsequently sells it by judicial order to secure the amount owed,

The Issue of the One Compelled to Sell

[مَسْأَلَةُ الْمُضْطَرِّ إِلَى الْبَيْعِ]

L24456 1530 - Issue: As for the one compelled to sell—such as one who starves and fears death, thus selling to sustain himself and his family; or one obligated to ransom himself or a close relative from the abode of war; or one coerced by a tyrant into surrendering wealth through pressure (without direct compulsion to sell, but merely forced to pay an unjust liability), thereby selling to fulfill this obligation—people have differed regarding this. We narrate through the chain of Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr: Hushaym informed us from Ṣāliḥ ibn Rustum from a Tamīmī shaykh who said: 'Alī addressed us—or said: 'Alī said: "There will come upon people a time of biting hardship when the affluent cling greedily to their wealth without divine command. Allah says: {And do not neglect [your] favor among yourselves} [2:237]. The wicked will rise, the virtuous will be humiliated, and the compelled will engage in sales—and indeed Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) forbade the sale by the compelled, the sale involving uncertainty (gharar), and the sale of fruit before it becomes edible."[35]

١٥٣٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَأَمَّا الْمُضْطَرُّ إِلَى الْبَيْعِ، كَمَنْ جَاعَ وَخَشِيَ الْمَوْتَ فَبَاعَ فِيمَا يُحْيِي بِهِ نَفْسَهُ وَأَهْلَهُ، وَكَمَنْ لَزِمَهُ فِدَاءُ نَفْسِهِ أَوْ حَمِيمِهِ مِنْ دَارِ الْحَرْبِ أَوْ كَمَنْ أَكْرَهَهُ ظَالِمٌ عَلَى غُرْمِ مَالِهِ بِالضَّغْطِ وَلَمْ يُكْرِهْهُ عَلَى الْبَيْعِ، لَكِنْ أَلْزَمَهُ الْمَالَ فَقَطْ، فَبَاعَ فِي أَدَاءِ مَا أُكْرِهَ عَلَيْهِ بِغَيْرِ حَقٍّ؟ فَقَدْ اخْتَلَفَ النَّاسُ فِي هَذَا -: فَرُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا هُشَيْمٌ أَنَا صَالِحُ بْنُ رُسْتُمَ نا شَيْخٌ مِنْ بَنِي تَمِيمٍ قَالَ: خَطَبَنَا عَلِيٌّ، أَوْ قَالَ: قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: " سَيَأْتِي عَلَى النَّاسِ زَمَانٌ عَضُوضٌ يَعَضُّ الْمُوسِرُ عَلَى مَا فِي يَدَيْهِ، وَلَمْ يُؤْمَرْ بِذَلِكَ، قَالَ {وَلا تَنْسَوُا الْفَضْلَ بَيْنَكُمْ} [البقرة: ٢٣٧] وَيَنْهَدُ الْأَشْرَارُ، وَيُسْتَذَلُّ الْأَخْيَارُ، وَيُبَايِعُ الْمُضْطَرُّونَ وَقَدْ «نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - عَنْ بَيْعِ الْمُضْطَرِّ، وَعَنْ بَيْعِ الْغَرَرِ، وَعَنْ بَيْعِ الثَّمَرِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُطْعَمَ» .

L24457–24458 And from him to Hushaym from Kawthar ibn Hakim from Makhul, he said: It reached me from Hudhayfah that he narrated from the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—that he said: "After your time will come a voracious era where the wealthy will bite greedily upon what is in their hands without being commanded to withhold it. Allah the Exalted said: 'Whatever you spend of anything, He will replace it, and He is the Best of Providers.' [Saba': 39] The worst of Allah's creation will rise to exploit every person in distress. كُلُّ مُضْطَرٍّ، أَلَا إِنَّ بَيْعَ الْمُضْطَرِّينَ حَرَامٌ، الْمُسْلِمُ أَخُو الْمُسْلِمِ، لَا يَظْلِمُهُ، وَلَا يَخُونُهُ، وَإِنْ كَانَ عِنْدَكَ خَيْرٌ فَعُدْ بِهِ عَلَى أَخِيكَ وَلَا تَزِدْهُ هَلَاكًا إِلَى هَلَاكِهِ» .

L24459 Abu Muhammad said: If these two reports had been authenticated, we would have hastened to act upon them. However, they are both mursal (reports with incomplete chains), and it is not permissible to issue rulings in matters of religion based on mursal reports.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: لَوْ اسْتَنَدَ هَذَانِ الْخَبَرَانِ لَقُلْنَا بِهِمَا مُسَارِعِينَ، لَكِنَّهُمَا مُرْسَلَانِ، وَلَا يَجُوزُ الْقَوْلُ فِي الدِّينِ بِالْمُرْسَلِ.

L24460 The rejection of the established Sunnah via a narration from a shaykh of Banu Kinānah necessitated—given his claim that "the mursal is equivalent to the musnad in the view of the Ḥanafīs and Mālikīs"—that a shaykh from Banu Tamīm and a shaykh from Banu Kinānah narrate these two reports. This narration is more plausible and explicit, being traced through ʿAlī back to the Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings of Allah be upon him—and also through Ḥudhayfah. Yet they are a people of inconsistency.

وَلَقَدْ كَانَ يَلْزَمُ مِنْ رَدِّ السُّنَنِ الثَّابِتَةِ بِرِوَايَةِ شَيْخٍ مِنْ بَنِي كِنَانَةَ، وَيَقُولُ: الْمُرْسَلُ كَالْمُسْنَدِ مِنْ الْحَنَفِيِّينَ، وَالْمَالِكِيِّينَ أَنْ يَقُولَ بِهَذَيْنِ الْخَبَرَيْنِ شَيْخٌ مِنْ بَنِي تَمِيمٍ، وَشَيْخٌ مِنْ بَنِي كِنَانَةَ، وَهَذِهِ الرِّوَايَةُ أَمْكَنُ وَأَوْضَحُ، ثُمَّ هِيَ عَنْ عَلِيٍّ، وَعَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - ثُمَّ عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ، وَلَكِنَّهُمْ قَوْمٌ مُضْطَرِبُونَ.

L24461 Abu Muhammad said: Since these two reports are not valid, let us seek this ruling from other sources. We found that anyone who buys sustenance for himself and his family for food and clothing is undoubtedly compelled by necessity to purchase it. If the transaction of this compelled person were invalid, then the sale by everyone who does not obtain sustenance from his own property would also be invalid—and this is undeniably false, as established through necessary transmission from the masses. The Prophet—peace and blessings be upon him—purchased sa's of barley for his family's sustenance and died—peace be upon him—while his armor was pledged as collateral for its price. Thus, it is confirmed that the sale by one compelled to obtain sustenance for himself and his family, and the sale of what he buys to procure sustenance, is a valid and binding transaction. It is also a sale by mutual consent, as no one compelled him to it, and thus it is valid by the explicit injunction of the Quran.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّد: فَإِذَا لَمْ يَصِحَّ هَذَانِ الْخَبَرَانِ فَلْنَطْلُبْ هَذَا الْحُكْمَ مِنْ غَيْرِهِمَا -: فَوَجَدْنَا كُلَّ مَنْ يَبْتَاعُ قُوتَ نَفْسِهِ وَأَهْلِهِ لِلْأَكْلِ وَاللِّبَاسِ فَإِنَّهُ مُضْطَرٌّ إلَى ابْتِيَاعِهِ بِلَا شَكٍّ، فَلَوْ بَطَلَ ابْتِيَاعُ هَذَا الْمُضْطَرِّ لَبَطَلَ بَيْعُ كُلِّ مَنْ لَا يُصِيبُ الْقُوتَ مِنْ ضَيْعَتِهِ - وَهَذَا بَاطِلٌ بِلَا خِلَافٍ، وَبِضَرُورَةِ النَّقْلِ مِنْ الْكَوَافِّ وَقَدْ ابْتَاعَ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَصْوُعًا مِنْ شَعِيرٍ لِقُوتِ أَهْلِهِ، وَمَاتَ - عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ - وَدِرْعُهُ مَرْهُونَةٌ فِي ثَمَنِهَا فَصَحَّ أَنَّ بَيْعَ الْمُضْطَرِّ إلَى قُوتِهِ وَقُوتِ أَهْلِهِ، وَبَيْعَهُ مَا يَبْتَاعُ بِهِ الْقُوتَ بَيْعٌ صَحِيحٌ لَازِمٌ، فَهُوَ أَيْضًا بَيْعُ تَرَاضٍ لَمْ يُجْبِرْهُ أَحَدٌ عَلَيْهِ، فَهُوَ صَحِيحٌ بِنَصِّ الْقُرْآنِ.

L24462 Then we examined the case of those who sell property to ransom themselves or their close relatives from the grasp of a disbeliever or the oppression of an oppressor. We found that neither the disbeliever nor the oppressor compelled the ransom payer (fādi) of the captive, nor the captive themselves, nor those pressured to sell their property to rescue themselves or those they sought to rescue. Rather, they solely compelled them to hand over wealth. Even if the two parties had brought both of them money through a loan or means other than sale, the disbeliever and oppressor would not have compelled the two to sell. Thus, it is validly established that this constitutes a consensual sale.

ثُمَّ نَظَرْنَا فِيمَنْ بَاعَ فِي إنْقَاذِ نَفْسِهِ، أَوْ حَمِيمِهِ، مِنْ يَدِ كَافِرٍ أَوْ ظُلْمِ ظَالِمٍ -: فَوَجَدْنَا الْكَافِرَ وَالظَّالِمَ لَمْ يُكْرِهَا فَادِيَ الْأَسِيرِ، وَلَا الْأَسِيرَ، وَلَا الْمَضْغُوطَ عَلَى بَيْعِ مَا بَاعُوا فِي

L24463–24465 It is obligatory for one who is wrongfully pursued to defend himself and to rectify the evil that has befallen him. That he should not surrender his property unjustly. Thus, it is established that his sale remains valid and binding upon him, while the coerced surrender of property in such a case constitutes an invalid transaction that does not obligate him. The property therefore remains within his ownership, as would be ruled in his favor whenever feasible. He may reclaim it from the oppressor or the disbelieving ḥarbī (enemy combatant) whenever possible—whether by retrieving it from spoils before distribution or after distribution, from the possession of any holder: a Muslim, a Dhimmi, or even from the possession of that disbeliever himself should he become a Dhimmi or embrace Islam permanently. This applies if he identifies the specific property, for it remains his as before. The disbeliever is not held liable for compensation, as the ḥarbī who becomes a Dhimmi or embraces Islam bears no accountability for prior acts of oppression or killing.

L24466 As for the unjust Muslim, he remains perpetually accountable for it—whether through equivalent restitution, its like, or its value—regardless of being a Kharijite, combatant, rebel, ruler, or usurper, for he seized it unlawfully. Allah the Exalted says: “So whoever transgresses against you, retaliate against him in the same measure as his transgression” [Al-Baqarah: 194].[37]

L24467 ## Jurisprudential Ruling on the Sale of Animals

L24468 1531. Issue: The sale of animals is not permissible except for a legally valid benefit, whether for consumption, riding, use in hunting, or medicinal purposes.

[37] Qur’an references (L24466): Qur’an 2:194 (Al-Baqarah).

اسْتِنْقَاذَ أَنْفُسِهِمْ، أَوْ مَنْ يَسْعَوْنَ لِاسْتِنْقَاذِهِ وَإِنَّمَا أَكْرَهُوهُمْ عَلَى إِعْطَاءِ الْمَالِ فَقَطْ، وَلَوْ أَنَّهُمْ أَتَوْهُمَا بِمَالٍ مِنْ قَرْضٍ، أَوْ مِنْ غَيْرِ الْبَيْعِ مَا أَلْزَمُوهُمَا الْبَيْعَ - فَصَحَّ أَنَّهُ بَيْعُ تَرَاضٍ.

وَأَمَّا الْمُسْلِمُ الظَّالِمُ فَيَتْبَعُهُ بِهِ أَبَدًا، أَوْ بِمِثْلِهِ، أَوْ قِيمَتِهِ، سَوَاءٌ كَانَ خَارِجِيًّا أَوْ مُحَارِبًا، أَوْ بَاغِيًا، أَوْ سُلْطَانًا، أَوْ مُتَغَلِّبًا؛ لِأَنَّهُ أَخَذَ مِنْهُ بِغَيْرِ حَقٍّ، وَاللَّهُ - تَعَالَى - يَقُولُ: {فَمَنِ اعْتَدَى عَلَيْكُمْ فَاعْتَدُوا عَلَيْهِ بِمِثْلِ مَا اعْتَدَى عَلَيْكُمْ} [البقرة: ١٩٤] .

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع الْحَيَوَان]

١٥٣١ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الْحَيَوَانِ إِلَّا لِمَنْفَعَةٍ، إِمَّا لِأَكْلٍ، وَإِمَّا لِرُكُوبٍ، وَإِمَّا لِصَيْدٍ، وَإِمَّا لِدَوَاءٍ.

L24469 If it has no benefit for any of those things, then its sale is not permissible, nor is ownership permissible, because it constitutes a squandering of wealth by the buyer and wrongful consumption of wealth by the seller.

L24470 If there is benefit in it for any of the matters we have mentioned, or other than those, its sale is permissible because it is a sale based on mutual consent. "And Allah has permitted sale" [al-Baqarah 2:275], and it does not constitute squandering wealth or consuming wealth unlawfully. And with Allah, the Exalted, is success alone.[38]

L24471 ## The issue of sale without specifying the price.

L24472 1532 - Issue: A sale is not valid without a specified price, such as selling based on what the price reaches in the market, what someone else purchased it for, or the market valuation. All such transactions are void because they involve uncertainty (gharar) and unlawful consumption of wealth, as mutual consent is not validly established in such cases. Mutual consent is only valid when the amount is known. One party might agree assuming it will reach some price, but if it exceeds [the price], the buyer would not consent, and if it is less, the seller would not consent.

L24473 Among the marvels of this world is Abū Ḥanīfa's ruling: Whoever sells with stipulated profit, sells by swearing upon the Kaaba, or sells without any price does not gain ownership through physical possession. Similarly, if one sells in exchange for a dead animal or blood, the same ruling applies.

L24474 It is not permissible for the buyer to emancipate the slave—even if he takes possession of him with the seller's permission. But if he sells the slave for an unspecified price, or sells him for wine or a pig, and takes possession of him with the seller's permission, then emancipates him, the emancipation is permissible for him.

L24475–24476 Ali said: "There is nothing in madness more than this speech—and we seek refuge in Allah from misguidance."

[38] Qur'an references (L24470): Qur'an 2:275 (Al-Baqarah).

[مَسْأَلَة الْبَيْع مِنْ غَيْر تَسْمِيَة الثَّمَن]

١٥٣٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَصِحُّ الْبَيْعُ بِغَيْرِ ثَمَنٍ مُسَمًّى، كَمَنْ بَاعَ بِمَا يَبْلُغُ فِي السُّوقِ، أَوْ بِمَا اشْتَرَى فُلَانٌ، أَوْ بِالْقِيمَةِ، فَهَذَا كُلُّهُ بَاطِلٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَأَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَصِحَّ فِيهِ التَّرَاضِي، وَلَا يَكُونُ التَّرَاضِي إلَّا بِمَعْلُومِ الْمِقْدَارِ، وَقَدْ يَرْضَى؛ لِأَنَّهُ يَظُنُّ أَنَّهُ يَبْلُغُ ثَمَنًا مَا فَإِنْ بَلَغَ أَكْثَرَ لَمْ يَرْضَ الْمُشْتَرِي، وَإِنْ بَلَغَ أَقَلَّ لَمْ يَرْضَ الْبَائِعُ.

وَمِنْ عَجَائِبِ الدُّنْيَا قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ: مَنْ بَاعَ بِالرِّبْحِ، أَوْ بِالْكَعْبَةِ، أَوْ بِلَا ثَمَنٍ، فَإِنَّهُ لَا يَمْلِكُهُ بِالْقَبْضِ، فَإِنْ بَاعَ بِالْمَيْتَةِ، أَوْ بِالدَّمِ فَكَذَلِكَ أَيْضًا.

وَلَا يَجُوزُ عِتْقُهُ لَهُ - وَإِنْ قَبَضَهُ بِإِذْنِ بَائِعِهِ - فَإِنْ بَاعَهُ بِثَمَنٍ لَمْ يُسَمِّيَاهُ، أَوْ بَاعَهُ بِخَمْرٍ، أَوْ خِنْزِيرٍ فَقَبَضَهُ بِإِذْنِ بَائِعِهِ فَأَعْتَقَهُ: جَازَ عِتْقُهُ لَهُ.

قَالَ عَلِيٌّ: مَا فِي الْجُنُونِ أَكْثَرُ مِنْ هَذَا الْكَلَامِ - وَنَعُوذُ بِاَللَّهِ مِنْ الضَّلَالِ.

If he were to say: “Indeed, among the people are those who possess wine and swine”—they being the disbelievers, namely the Christians—we would respond: “They indeed also possess carrion and blood likewise, and the Magians likewise do the same, with no distinction—and success is from Allah, the Most High.”

فَإِنْ قَالَ: إنَّ فِي النَّاسِ مَنْ يَتَمَلَّكُ الْخَمْرَ، وَالْخِنْزِيرَ - وَهُمْ الْكُفَّارُ مِنْ النَّصَارَى - قُلْنَا: إنَّهُمْ يَتَمَلَّكُونَ أَيْضًا الْمَيْتَةَ، وَالدَّمَ كَذَلِكَ، وَالْمَجُوسُ أَيْضًا كَذَلِكَ وَلَا فَرْقَ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

The Legal Ruling on the Sale of the Dice

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ النَّرْدِ]

1533 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell backgammon due to what we have transmitted via the chain of Mālik from Mūsā ibn Maysarah from Saʿīd ibn Abī Hind from Abū Mūsā al-Ashʿarī: “The Messenger of Allah—peace and blessings be upon him—said: ’Whoever plays with backgammon has disobeyed Allah and His Messenger. It is prohibited; its ownership is forbidden, and its sale is forbidden.’”

١٥٣٣ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ النَّرْدِ، لِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ مَيْسَرَةَ عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ أَبِي هِنْدٍ عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيِّ " أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «مَنْ لَعِبَ بِالنَّرْدِ فَقَدْ عَصَى اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ فَهِيَ مُحَرَّمَةٌ فَمُلْكُهَا حَرَامٌ، وَبَيْعُهَا حَرَامٌ» .

It has been narrated to us from Mālik from Nāfiʿ from Ibn ʿUmar that whenever he found any member of his household playing backgammon, he would strike him and destroy it.

وَقَدْ رُوِّينَا عَنْ مَالِكٍ عَنْ نَافِعٍ عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ: أَنَّهُ كَانَ إذَا أَخَذَ أَحَدًا مِنْ أَهْلِهِ يَلْعَبُ بِالنَّرْدِ ضَرَبَهُ وَكَسَرَهَا.

On the authority of Malik from Alqamah from his mother from Aisha, the Mother of the Believers: She learned that a family residing in her house possessed a backgammon board. She sent them a message: “If you do not remove it, I will most assuredly expel you from my house,” and she rebuked them for it.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ عَلْقَمَةَ عَنْ أُمِّهِ عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أُمِّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ: أَنَّهَا بَلَغَهَا أَنَّ أَهْلَ بَيْتٍ فِي دَارِهَا كَانُوا سُكَّانًا فِيهَا أَنَّ عِنْدَهُمْ نَرْدًا فَأَرْسَلَتْ إلَيْهِمْ لَئِنْ لَمْ تُخْرِجُوهَا لَأُخْرِجَنَّكُمْ مِنْ دَارِي، وَأَنْكَرَتْ عَلَيْهِمْ.

The issue of selling two commodities by a single person for one price.

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعِ اثْنَانِ سِلْعَتَيْنِ لَهُمَا مِنْ إنْسَان وَاحِد بِثَمَنٍ وَاحِد]

1534 – Issue: It is impermissible for two individuals to sell two distinct commodities—neither of which has co-owners from a single person—for a single price. This is because such a sale is based on conflated valuation, and neither seller knows what will happen to their commodity at the time of concluding the contract. Thus, it constitutes a sale involving gharar and wrongful consumption of wealth.

١٥٣٤ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ أَنْ يَبِيعَ اثْنَانِ سِلْعَتَيْنِ مُتَمَيِّزَتَيْنِ لَهُمَا لَيْسَا فِيهِمَا شَرِيكَيْنِ مِنْ إنْسَانٍ وَاحِدٍ بِثَمَنٍ وَاحِدٍ؛ لِأَنَّ هَذَا بَيْعٌ بِالْقِيمَةِ، وَلَا يَدْرِي كُلُّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا مَا يَقَعُ لِسِلْعَتِهِ حِينَ الْعَقْدِ، فَهُوَ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَأَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

L24484 As for the sale between two partners or multiple partners—whether from a single party or multiple parties—or the purchase by two or more buyers from a single seller or two partners: this is permissible, for each share has a known price and a specified limit. And success is granted by Allah, the Most High.

وَأَمَّا بَيْعُ الشَّرِيكَيْنِ، أَوْ الشُّرَكَاءِ مِنْ وَاحِدٍ، أَوْ مِنْ أَكْثَرَ، أَوْ ابْتِيَاعُ اثْنَيْنِ فَصَاعِدًا، مِنْ وَاحِدٍ، أَوْ مِنْ شَرِيكَيْنِ: فَحَلَالٌ، لِأَنَّ حِصَّةَ كُلِّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهَا مَعْلُومَةُ الثَّمَنِ، مَحْدُودَتُهُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

Legal Issue on Ascertaining the Price

[مَسْأَلَة تبين الثَّمَن]

L24485

L24486 1535 – Issue: If someone is in a region where various types of currency circulate, it is impermissible to sell without specifying which currency type the price is in. If the two parties do not clarify that, the sale is annulled and rejected—as it occurs without mutual agreement on the price. Moreover, it constitutes a sale involving gharar. And success is from Allah, the Most High.

١٥٣٥ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَمَنْ كَانَ فِي بَلَدٍ تَجْرِي فِيهِ سِكَكٌ كَثِيرَةٌ شَتَّى، فَلَا يَحِلُّ الْبَيْعُ إلَّا بِبَيَانٍ مِنْ أَيِّ سِكَّةٍ يَكُونُ الثَّمَنُ، وَإِنْ لَمْ يُبَيِّنَا ذَلِكَ -: فَهُوَ بَيْعٌ مَفْسُوخٌ، مَرْدُودٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ وَقَعَ عَنْ غَيْرِ تَرَاضٍ بِالثَّمَنِ، وَهُوَ أَيْضًا بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

The issue of selling the mukātab's kitābah (written manumission contract), where the mukātab is a bondsperson under a contractual freedom agreement.

[مَسْأَلَةٌ بَيْعُ كِتَابَةِ الْمُكَاتَبِ]

L24487

L24488 1536 - Issue: It is not permissible to sell the kitābah of the mukātab, nor the service of the mudabbar. This is the view held by al-Shāfiʿī, Abū Sulaymān, and Abū Ḥanīfah.

١٥٣٦ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ كِتَابَةِ الْمُكَاتَبِ، وَلَا خِدْمَةُ الْمُدَبَّرِ، وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ.

L24489–24490 Mālik permitted both cases: as for the mudabbar, [freedom is granted] only by the master himself, and as for the mukatab, [it is granted] by the master himself and others. Al-Zuhrī and Ibn al-Musayyib permitted the sale of both collectively.

وَأَجَازَ مَالِكٌ كِلَا الْأَمْرَيْنِ: أَمَّا الْمُدَبَّرُ فَمِنْ نَفْسِهِ فَقَطْ، وَأَمَّا الْمُكَاتَبُ فَمِنْ نَفْسِهِ وَمِنْ غَيْرِهِ، وَأَجَازَ بَيْعَهُمَا جُمْلَةً: الزُّهْرِيُّ، وَابْنُ الْمُسَيِّبِ.

L24491 We have been narrated a statement similar to that of Mālik, from ʿAṭāʾ and Ibn Sīrīn, because the mukātab's obligation is established solely through the fulfillment of installments and is not binding prior to that. Thus, whoever sells the obligation has sold what he does not yet possess, and does not know whether it will become binding [for the buyer] or not. Furthermore, it is not a specified entity: the seller cannot identify which specific item he sells from the category of goods transacted, nor does the buyer know what he acquires.

وَرُوِّينَا مِثْلَ قَوْلِ مَالِكٍ عَنْ عَطَاءٍ، وَابْنِ سِيرِينَ؛ لِأَنَّ كِتَابَةَ الْمُكَاتَبِ إنَّمَا تَجِبُ بِالنُّجُومِ، وَلَا تَجِبُ قَبْلَ ذَلِكَ، فَمَنْ بَاعَهَا فَقَدْ بَاعَ مَا لَا يَمْلِكُ بَعْدُ، وَلَا يَدْرِي أَيَجِبُ لَهُ أَمْ لَا؟ وَأَيْضًا: فَلَيْسَتْ عَيْنًا مُعَيَّنَةً، فَلَا يَدْرِي الْبَائِعُ أَيَّ شَيْءٍ بَاعَ مِنْ نَوْعِ مَا بَاعَ، وَلَا يَدْرِي الْمُشْتَرِي مَا اشْتَرَى، فَهُوَ بَيْعُ غَرَرٍ، وَمَجْهُولُ الْعَيْنِ، وَأَكْلُ مَالٍ بِالْبَاطِلِ.

This constitutes a sale involving gharar (speculative risk), an indeterminate asset, and illegitimate consumption of wealth.

L24492 If it is said: "It has been reported from Jābir that he permitted its sale?" We reply: How many narratives reported from Jābir have you contradicted? Among them are his statement – which we have cited – that nothing purchased, whatever it may be, should be sold until it is received; his statement: "The ʿUmrah is obligatory"; his statement: "No one should enter the state of consecration (ihram) for Hajj before the months of Hajj"; and his statement: "The price of a cat is not permissible."

L24493 And there are many other matters where no opposing view is known from the Companions, may Allah be pleased with them, regarding such issues. Now it is considered a proof, but not in those cases? Truly, this is astonishing! There is no proof in the statement of anyone apart from the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings be upon him. Our position is the position of Al-Shāfiʿī.

L24494 As for the service of a mudabbar (a slave promised freedom upon the master's death), selling it is manifestly corrupt and invalid, for one cannot know how long he will serve—he might serve fifty years, die tomorrow, within an hour, or be freed in the same manner. This is pure prohibition, wrongful appropriation of wealth, a sale involving gharar (uncertainty), a sale of what is not a concrete asset, and a sale of what does not yet exist. It combines every form of detriment.

L24495 If it is asked: "You have narrated through the chain of Muḥammad ibn ʿAlī ibn al-Ḥusayn that the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) sold the labor of the mudabbar"—has this [same report] been narrated to us through the chain of Shuʿbah from al-Ḥakam from Abū Jaʿfar Muḥammad ibn ʿAlī ibn al-Ḥusayn?

L24496–24497 We said: This is a mursal narration, and a mursal narration does not constitute a valid proof. Likewise, the sale of the servitude of an enslaved servant is impermissible in principle, due to what we mentioned regarding the servitude of a mudabbar (a slave designated for eventual freedom), as there is no difference between them. And success is by Allah, the Exalted.

L24498 A jurisprudential issue concerning the sale of liquid ghee into which a mouse falls.

L24499 Issue 1537: It is impermissible to sell liquid clarified butter into which a mouse, alive or dead, has fallen, due to the instruction of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) to discard it. We have mentioned this in the "Book of Purification" within this book of ours and in the "Book of Lawful and Unlawful Foods," rendering its repetition unnecessary.

[مَسْأَلَةُ بَيْعُ السَّمْنِ الْمَائِعِ يَقَعُ فِيهِ الْفَأْرُ]

١٥٣٧ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ السَّمْنِ الْمَائِعِ يَقَعُ فِيهِ الْفَأْرُ حَيًّا أَوْ مَيِّتًا لِأَمْرِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - بِهَرْقِهِ وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ فِي " كِتَابِ الطَّهَارَةِ " مِنْ دِيوَانِنَا هَذَا وَفِي " كِتَابِ مَا يَحِلُّ أَكْلُهُ وَمَا يَحْرُمُ " فَأَغْنَى عَنْ إعَادَتِهِ.

فَإِنْ كَانَ جَامِدًا أَوْ وَقَعَ فِيهِ مَيْتَةٌ غَيْرُ الْفَأْرِ أَوْ نَجَاسَةٌ فَلَمْ تُغَيِّرْ لَوْنَهُ، وَلَا طَعْمَهُ وَلَا رِيحَهُ، أَوْ وَقَعَ الْفَأْرُ الْمَيِّتُ أَوْ الْحَيُّ، أَوْ أَيُّ نَجَاسَةٍ، أَوْ أَيُّ مَيْتَةٍ كَانَتْ فِي مَائِعٍ غَيْرِ السَّمْنِ، فَلَمْ تُغَيِّرْ طَعْمًا وَلَا لَوْنًا وَلَا رِيحًا: فَبَيْعُهُ حَلَالٌ، وَأَكْلُهُ حَلَالٌ؛ لِأَنَّهُ لَمْ يَمْنَعْ مِنْ ذَلِكَ نَصٌّ.

L24500 If it is solid or a dead animal other than a mouse or an impurity falls into it without altering its color, taste, and smell; or if the dead mouse or the live mouse, any impurity, or any dead animal falls into a liquid other than ghee without altering its taste, color, and smell, then its sale and consumption are permissible, because there is no explicit scriptural prohibition against it.

وَقَدْ قَالَ اللَّهُ - تَعَالَى -: {وَقَدْ فَصَّلَ لَكُمْ مَا حَرَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ} [الأنعام: ١١٩] .

L24501 Allah—Exalted is He—has said: “He has explained in detail what He has forbidden for you” (Surah Al-An’am 6:119).[1]

وَقَالَ - تَعَالَى -: {وَمَا كَانَ رَبُّكَ نَسِيًّا} [مريم: ٦٤] وَهَذَا قَوْلُ أَصْحَابِنَا، وَقَدْ ذَكَرْنَاهُ عَنْ بَعْضِ السَّلَفِ فِي الْكُتُبِ الْمَذْكُورَةِ، فَإِنْ تَغَيَّرَ طَعْمُهُ أَوْ لَوْنُهُ أَوْ رِيحُهُ: جَازَ بَيْعُهُ أَيْضًا، كَمَا يُبَاعُ الثَّوْبُ النَّجِسُ.

L24502 And He - the Most High - said: {And your Lord is not forgetful} [Maryam: 64]. This is the position of our scholars, and we have cited it on the authority of some of the Salaf in the aforementioned books. If its taste, color, or odor changes, its sale becomes permissible as well, just as an impure garment may be sold.[2] وَقَدْ قُلْنَا: إنَّ الطَّاهِرَ لَا يُنَجَّسُ بِمُلَاقَاتِهِ النَّجِسَ وَلَوْ أَمْكَنَنَا أَنْ نَفْصِلَهُ مِنْ الْحَرَامِ لَحَلَّ أَكْلُهُ، وَلَمْ يَمْنَعْ مِنْ الِانْتِفَاعِ بِهِ فِي غَيْرِ الْأَكْلِ نَصٌّ فَهُوَ مُبَاحٌ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24503 We have stated: Indeed, what is pure does not become impure through contact with an impure substance. Even if we could separate it from what is unlawful, its consumption would become permissible. Since there is no textual evidence prohibiting benefiting from it in non-consumptive uses, it is permissible. And with Allah, the Most High, is success.

وَهَذَا قَوْلُ أَبِي حَنِيفَةَ، يَعْنِي مَا تَغَيَّرَ لَوْنُهُ أَوْ طَعْمُهُ أَوْ رِيحُهُ مِنْ الْمَائِعَاتِ الَّتِي حَلَّتْهَا النَّجَاسَاتُ، لِأَنَّهُ إنَّمَا يُبَاعُ الشَّيْءُ الَّذِي حَلَّتْهُ النَّجَاسَةُ لَا النَّجَاسَةُ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24504 This is the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah, meaning: [the ruling applies to] liquids whose color, taste, or smell has changed due to ritually impure substances that have dissolved into them. This is because only the liquid into which the impure substance has dissolved is sold, not the impure substance itself. And success is attained only through Allah, the Most High.

The Issue of the Sale of Images

١٥٣٨ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ الصُّوَرِ إلَّا لِلَعِبِ الصِّبَايَا فَقَطْ، فَإِنَّ اتِّخَاذَهَا لَهُنَّ حَلَالٌ حَسَنٌ، وَمَا جَازَ مِلْكُهُ جَازَ بَيْعُهُ إلَّا أَنْ يَخُصَّ شَيْئًا مِنْ ذَلِكَ نَصٌّ فَيُوقَفُ عِنْدَهُ.

L24507 Allah, the Most High, said: “And Allah has permitted trade.” [Al-Baqarah: 275][3]

L24509–24511 Similarly, it is not permissible to create images except for what constitutes a flat design on a garment—due to what we have narrated through the chain of Muslim: Isḥāq ibn Ibrāhīm (Ibn Rāhawayh) narrated to us from Sufyān ibn ʿUyaynah, from al-Zuhrī, from... The angels do not enter a house in which there is a dog or an image.[5]

وَكَذَلِكَ لَا يَحِلُّ اتِّخَاذُ الصُّوَرِ إلَّا مَا كَانَ رَقْمًا فِي ثَوْبٍ -: لِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ مُسْلِمٍ نا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إبْرَاهِيمَ - هُوَ ابْنُ رَاهْوَيْهِ - عَنْ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ عَنْ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ عُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُتْبَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ عَنْ أَبِي طَلْحَةَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - قَالَ: «لَا تَدْخُلُ الْمَلَائِكَةُ بَيْتًا فِيهِ كَلْبٌ وَلَا صُورَةٌ» .

Abu Talha ordered a rug beneath him to be removed. Sahl asked: “Why did you remove it?” He replied: “Because it contained images, and the Messenger of Allah stated the ruling you know.” Sahl said: “Did he not exclude mere patterns?” He said: “Yes, but it is purer for my soul.”

L24513 Abu Muhammad said: It is forbidden for us to repel the angels from our homes, for they are the messengers of Allah—the Exalted and Majestic—and one is brought near to Him—the Exalted and Majestic—through closeness to them.

(peace be upon him). My female companions would come to me, and they would shy away from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), so he would discreetly allow them to approach me." Thus, it became obligatory to exclude dolls for young girls from the entirety of what was prohibited regarding images.

L24515 As for crosses, the ruling differs, and it is impermissible to leave them in garments or other items - based on what was reported to us through the chain of Qāsim ibn Aṣbagh, from Bakr ibn Ḥammād, from Musaddad, from Yaḥyā—Ibn Saʿīd al-Qaṭṭān—from Hishām al-Dastuwāʾī, from Yaḥyā ibn Abī Kathīr, from ʿImrān ibn Ḥiṭṭān, from ʿĀʾishah, Mother of the Believers: "The Messenger of Allah—may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him—did not leave any garment in his house containing cross-shaped patterns without unravelling it."

L24516–24518 It has been authentically established from the Messenger of Allah—may Allah bless him and grant him peace—that he disliked the curtain on which images were hung, so a part of it was fashioned for him instead. a cushion, and he did not disapprove of it. Thus, it is established that images in curtains are disliked but not prohibited, and as for images in cushions and items other than curtains, they are not disliked in their use.

The Issue of Sale on the Day of Friday

L24520 Issue 1539: It is impermissible to sell from when the sun passes the meridian on Friday until the completion of the two sermons and the prayer. This prohibition applies equally to believers, disbelievers, women, and the sick. As for those who attend the Friday prayer, the prohibition lasts until their prayer is fully concluded. Every sale occurring during the specified time is nullified. This is Mālik's view. Al-Shāfiʿī and Abū Ḥanīfa, however, permit selling during that time.

L24521 As for marriage, the Salam contract, Ijarah (leasing), and all other contracts—they are permissible at that time for everyone. This is the opinion of al-Shāfiʿī and Abū Ḥanīfah, while Mālik did not permit them.

[مَسْأَلَةَ الْبَيْعِ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ]

١٥٣٩ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ الْبَيْعُ مُذْ تَزُولُ الشَّمْسُ مِنْ يَوْمِ الْجُمُعَةِ إلَى مِقْدَارِ تَمَامِ الْخُطْبَتَيْنِ وَالصَّلَاةِ، لَا لِمُؤْمِنٍ، وَلَا لِكَافِرٍ، وَلَا لِامْرَأَةٍ، وَلَا لِمَرِيضٍ، وَأَمَّا مَنْ شَهِدَ الْجُمُعَةَ فَإِلَى أَنْ تَتِمَّ صَلَاتُهُمْ لِلْجُمُعَةِ، وَكُلُّ بَيْعٍ وَقَعَ فِي الْوَقْتِ الْمَذْكُورِ فَهُوَ مَفْسُوخٌ - وَهَذَا قَوْلُ مَالِكٍ - وَأَجَازَ الْبَيْعَ فِي الْوَقْتِ الْمَذْكُورِ: الشَّافِعِيُّ، وَأَبُو حَنِيفَةَ.

وَأَمَّا النِّكَاحُ، وَالسَّلَمُ وَالْإِجَارَةُ، وَسَائِرُ الْعُقُودِ - فَجَائِزَةٌ كُلُّهَا فِي ذَلِكَ الْوَقْتِ لِكُلِّ أَحَدٍ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ الشَّافِعِيِّ، وَأَبِي حَنِيفَةَ - وَلَمْ يُجِزْهَا مَالِكٌ.

L24523 وَلِقَوْلِهِ - تَعَالَى -: {وَقَاتِلُوهُمْ حَتَّى لا تَكُونَ فِتْنَةٌ وَيَكُونَ الدِّينُ كُلُّهُ لِلَّهِ} [الأنفال: ٣٩] وَأَمَّا إِدْخَالُ مَالِكٍ النِّكَاحَ، وَالْإِجَارَةَ فِي ذَلِكَ، فَخَطَأٌ ظَاهِرٌ، لِأَنَّ اللَّهَ - تَعَالَى - إِنَّمَا نَهَى عَنِ الْبَيْعِ، وَلَوْ أَرَادَ النَّهْيَ عَنِ النِّكَاحِ، وَالْإِجَارَةِ لَمَا عَجَزَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ، وَلَا كَتَمَنَا مَا أَلْزَمَنَا {وَمَا كَانَ رَبُّكَ نَسِيًّا} [مريم: ٦٤] وَتَعَدِّي حُدُودِ اللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - لَا يَحِلُّ.

L24524 وَلَوْ كَانَ الْقِيَاسُ حَقًّا لَكَانَ هَذَا مِنْهُ بَاطِلًا، لِأَنَّ الْقِيَاسَ عِنْدَ الْقَائِلِينَ بِهِ إِنَّمَا هُوَ أَنْ يُقَاسَ الشَّيْءُ عَلَى نَظِيرِهِ، وَلَيْسَ الْبَيْعُ نَظِيرَ النِّكَاحِ، لِأَنَّهُ يَجُوزُ بِلَا ذِكْرِ مَهْرٍ.

L24525 وَلَا يَجُوزُ الْبَيْعُ بِغَيْرِ ذِكْرِ ثَمَنٍ، وَالْمُتَنَاكِحَانِ لَا يَمْلِكُ أَحَدُهُمَا الْآخَرَ، وَلَا فِي النِّكَاحِ نَقْلُ مِلْكٍ، وَالْبَيْعُ نَقْلُ مِلْكٍ.

L24522 Proof for the validity of our position: the words of Allah—Exalted is He—: {O you who believe, when the call is proclaimed for the prayer on the Day of Congregation, hasten to the remembrance of Allah and leave off trade. That is better for you, if you but knew} [Al-Jumu'ah: 9] {Then when the prayer is concluded, disperse freely in the land and seek Allah's bounty} [Al-Jumu'ah: 10]. These are two prescribed obligations: hastening to the remembrance of Allah—Exalted is He—and abandoning trade. If one of them is waived due to a scriptural text pertaining to it—such as for the sick, those in fear, a woman, or the excused—the other remains obligatory, as neither the Quran nor the Sunnah necessitates its waiver. It is obligatory to compel disbelievers to adhere to these rulings likewise, due to the words of Allah—Exalted is He—: {And judge between them by what Allah has revealed} [Al-Ma'idah: 49].[6]

L24523 And due to His - the Most High's - statement: {And fight them until there is no discord and the religion, all of it, is for Allah} [Al-Anfal: 39]. As for Malik's inclusion of marriage and leasing in that, it is a clear error; because Allah - the Most High - only prohibited selling, and if He had intended to prohibit marriage and leasing, He would not have failed to do so, nor would we hide what He has enjoined upon us. {And your Lord is not forgetful} [Maryam: 64]. Transgressing the limits set by Allah - the Most High - is not permissible.[7]

L24524 If analogy were valid, this case would be invalid under it, because analogy—according to its proponents—is the comparison of a thing to its counterpart. Sale is not the counterpart of marriage, since the latter is permissible without mentioning a mahr.

L24525 It is not permissible to conduct a sale without mentioning the price. The two parties to the marriage do not own one another—neither of them owns the other—nor is there a transfer of ownership in marriage, whereas a sale is a transfer of ownership.

[6] Qur'an references (L24522): Qur'an 62:9 (Al-Jumu'ah); Qur'an 62:10 (Al-Jumu'ah); Qur'an 5:49 (Al-Ma'idah).

[7] Qur'an references (L24523): Qur'an 8:39 (Al-Anfal); Qur'an 19:64 (Maryam).

L24526–24527 As for leasing, it is exclusively a compensatory contract for usufructs not yet created by God, the Exalted. Selling what has not yet been created is invalid. A free person may lease himself, but it is unlawful for him to sell himself. Thus, there is no resemblance between leasing and marriage, or between leasing and sale.

L24528 If the prohibition of sale is rationalized by what distracts from prayer, this leads to adopting the opinion of Abū Ḥanīfah and al-Shāfiʿī, obliging him to permit sales that involve no distraction from prayer. According to those who uphold this view, no analogy is valid except when based on an effective legal cause; if no cause is established, the analogy becomes invalid. We know of no precedent from the Salaf for this opinion.

L24529 As for the permissibility according to Abū Ḥanīfah and Al-Shāfiʿī of conducting sales during the mentioned time, this contravenes the command of Allah (Exalted is He). We know of no argument whatsoever for their position beyond their claim that the prohibition merely relates to being preoccupied [with worldly matters] instead of hastening to the prayer. Indeed, were a person to sell during the prayer itself, the sale would still be valid.

L24530 Abu Muhammad said: These two statements are utterly invalid. As for their claim that Allah only intended by this the preoccupation away from striving, it is an assertion of utmost gravity. I wish I knew who informed them of this while they hear Allah—exalted is He—say: “And that you ascribe to Allah what you do not know” [Al-Baqarah 2:169].[8]

L24531 If Allah—Exalted is He—had intended what they claimed, He would not have prohibited us from selling absolutely, nor would He have been unable to clarify His intent in that matter. There is neither here a necessity compelling this understanding nor any definitive text. Thus, it is sheer falsehood—a false claim devoid of any proof.

L24532 As for their statement: “If one were to sell during prayer, the sale would be permissible”—this is a feeble deception, for when the worshipper begins speaking during bargaining, their prayer becomes invalid, rendering them no longer engaged in prayer. Thus, the invalidity of their argument becomes wholly evident.

وَأَمَّا قَوْلُهُمْ: لَوْ بَاعَ فِي الصَّلَاةِ لَجَازَ الْبَيْعُ: فَتَمْوِيهٌ بَارِدٌ، لِأَنَّ الْمُصَلِّيَ بِأَوَّلِ أَخْذِهِ فِي الْكَلَامِ فِي الْمُسَاوَمَةِ بَطَلَتْ صَلَاتُهُ فَصَارَ غَيْرَ مُصَلٍّ - فَظَهَرَ فَسَادُ احْتِجَاجِهِمْ جُمْلَةً.

L24533 If they say: “Is this merely a recommended act?” We reply: “What is your proof for that? How can God—Exalted is He—command: ’Do,’ yet they claim: ’Its meaning is: Do not do if you wish’? Or how can God—Exalted is He—prohibit: ’Do not do,’ yet they assert: ’Its meaning is: Do if you wish’? This is nullification of fundamental truths, the essence of disobedience, and distortion of the words from their rightful contexts.”

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: هَذَا نَدْبٌ؟ قُلْنَا: مَا دَلِيلُكُمْ عَلَى ذَلِكَ، وَكَيْفَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ - تَعَالَى -: افْعَلْ، فَيَقُولُونَ: مَعْنَاهُ - لَا تَفْعَلْ إنْ شِئْت؟ أَمْ كَيْفَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ - تَعَالَى -: لَا تَفْعَلْ، فَيَقُولُونَ: مَعْنَاهُ: افْعَلْ إنْ شِئْت؟ وَهَذَا إبْطَالُ الْحَقَائِقِ، وَنَفْسُ الْمَعْصِيَةِ، وَتَحْرِيفٌ لِلْكَلِمِ عَنْ مَوَاضِعِهِ.

L24534–24536 If they say, “We have found commands and prohibitions whose meaning is recommendation?” We say, “Yes, by another explicit text that clarified that.” Likewise, we have found verses [with rulings] abrogated by another explicit text, and [those rulings] were no longer obligatory. To claim that a verse is abrogated based on this, or that it indicates a commendable act—whoever does so has nullified whatever he desires without proof. It was narrated to us through the chain of Ismāʿīl ibn Isḥāq al-Qāḍī: from Muḥammad ibn Abī Bakr—al-Muqaddamī—from Sulaymān ibn Dāwūd, from Sulaymān ibn Muʿādh, from Simāk, from ʿIkrimah, from Ibn ʿAbbās, who said: “Engaging in trade becomes invalid on Friday when the prayer call is proclaimed. Once the prayer concludes, then buy and sell.” We know of no opposition to this ruling among the Companions.

فَإِنْ قَالُوا: قَدْ وَجَدْنَا أَوَامِرَ وَنَوَاهِيَ مَعْنَاهَا: النَّدْبُ؟ قُلْنَا: نَعَمْ بِنَصٍّ آخَرَ بَيَّنَ ذَلِكَ وَكَذَلِكَ وَجَدْنَا آيَاتٍ مَنْسُوخَاتٍ بِنَصٍّ آخَرَ وَلَمْ يَجِبْ بِذَلِكَ حَمْلُ آيَةٍ عَلَى أَنَّهَا مَنْسُوخَةٌ، وَلَا عَلَى أَنَّهَا نَدْبٌ، وَمَنْ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ فَقَدْ أَبْطَلَ مَا شَاءَ بِلَا دَلِيلٍ -: رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ إسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ إسْحَاقَ الْقَاضِي - نَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ أَبِي بَكْرٍ - هُوَ الْمُقَدَّمِيُّ - نا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ دَاوُد نا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ مُعَاذٍ نا سِمَاكٌ عَنْ عِكْرِمَةَ عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ: لَا يَصْلُحُ الْبَيْعُ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ حِينَ يُنَادَى لِلصَّلَاةِ، فَإِذَا قُضِيَتْ فَاشْتَرِ وَبِعْ وَلَا نَعْلَمُ لَهُ مُخَالِفًا مِنْ الصَّحَابَةِ.

L24537 From Hammad ibn Zayd from al-Walid ibn Abi Hisham from Abd al-Rahman ibn al-Qasim ibn Muhammad from his father that he invalidated a sale that occurred between some women and a perfumer after the Jumuʿah adhan.

وَعَنْ حَمَّادِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ عَنْ الْوَلِيدِ بْنِ أَبِي هِشَامٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ أَنَّهُ فَسَخَ بَيْعًا وَقَعَ بَيْنَ نِسَاءٍ وَبَيْنَ عَطَّارٍ بَعْدَ النِّدَاءِ لِلْجُمُعَةِ.

L24538 1540. Issue: If a person has only enough time remaining to enter into the prayer with the takbīr (saying “Allāhu Akbar”), has not yet prayed, is mindful of the prayer, and aware of the remaining time, then anything they engage in at that moment—such as a sale or other transactions—is invalid and annulled permanently. This is based on the statement of the Messenger of Allāh (peace and blessings of Allāh be upon him): “Whoever performs an action not in accordance with our command, it is invalid.” During that time, selling and other acts are prohibited for them, as they are commanded to enter into the prayer. If they were unaware of that, all their actions during that time would be permissible, because the time for prayer remains perpetually extended for the forgetful person.[9]

١٥٤٠ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَمَنْ لَمْ يَبْقَ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ وَقْتِ الصَّلَاةِ إلَّا مِقْدَارَ الدُّخُولِ فِي الصَّلَاةِ بِالتَّكْبِيرِ، وَهُوَ لَمْ يُصَلِّ بَعْدُ، وَهُوَ ذَاكِرٌ لِلصَّلَاةِ، عَارِفٌ بِمَا بَقِيَ عَلَيْهِ مِنْ الْوَقْتِ، فَكُلُّ شَيْءٍ فَعَلَهُ حِينَئِذٍ مِنْ بَيْعٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ: بَاطِلٌ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا، لِقَوْلِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ

L24539 As for one who was heedless and concluded the prayer before its completion, any sales or other dealings he executed are entirely invalid, for he was aware of the prohibition against such acts while remaining in prayer. However, he is pardoned for forgetfulness. He merely presumed he had sold when no sale occurred, having altered the transaction which Allah—the Exalted—had made lawful for him. Thus, it remains impermissible—and with Allah, the Most High, lies all success.

L24540 A legal inquiry into whether a co-owner can be compelled to sell their share jointly with another co-owner.

L24541 Issue 1541: It is not permissible to compel anyone to sell jointly with his partner—neither that which is divisible nor that which is indivisible—nor to force him to resist his partner so that one of them sells to the other. However, whichever of the two partners or partners wishes to sell his share may do so. Whoever refuses cannot be compelled. If a judge or anyone else compels him to do so, his ruling is perpetually annulled, and the matter is judged according to the legal ruling on usurpation.

L24542 The proof of this is the words of Allah, the Exalted: "Do not consume your wealth among yourselves wrongfully, unless it be trade by mutual consent" [An-Nisa: 29].[10]

L24543–24544 And whoever is compelled to sell their right without consenting to it, it is not permissible for them, for it contradicts the command of Allah—the Exalted—as it constitutes wrongful consumption of wealth, except where Allah—the Exalted—has commanded the sale even without consent, such as in pre-emption, or rulings applicable to the absent person, the minor, and the wrongdoer.

L24545 Those who argue for compelling a co-owner to sell alongside their partner have relied on a narration citing: "No harm and no reciprocation of harm." However, this narration has never been authenticated; it is only transmitted as a mursal report or through a chain containing Isḥāq ibn Yaḥyā—who is unknown. Even if it were authentic, it would stand as evidence against their position, for the greatest harm and injury is what they perpetrate by forcing a person to sell his property without his consent and without God, Exalted is He, having imposed such an obligation. God, Exalted is He, has never permitted favoring one co-owner's satisfaction by provoking his partner's displeasure regarding his very own property. This is blatant tyranny and manifest injustice.

وَاحْتَجَّ الْقَائِلُونَ بِإِجْبَارِ الشَّرِيكِ عَلَى الْبَيْعِ مَعَ شَرِيكِهِ بِخَبَرٍ رُوِيَ فِيهِ «لَا ضَرَرَ وَلَا ضِرَارَ» وَهَذَا خَبَرٌ لَمْ يَصِحَّ قَطُّ، إِنَّمَا جَاءَ مُرْسَلًا، أَوْ مِنْ طَرِيقٍ فِيهَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ يَحْيَى - وَهُوَ مَجْهُولٌ - ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ؛ لِأَنَّ أَعْظَمَ الضِّرَارِ وَالضَّرَرِ: هُوَ الَّذِي فَعَلُوهُ مِنْ إِجْبَارِهِمْ إِنْسَانًا عَلَى بَيْعِ مَالِهِ بِغَيْرِ رِضَاهُ، وَبِغَيْرِ أَنْ يُوجِبَ اللَّهُ - تَعَالَى - عَلَيْهِ ذَلِكَ، وَمَا أَبَاحَ اللَّهُ - تَعَالَى - قَطُّ أَنْ يُرَاعَى رِضَا أَحَدِ الشَّرِيكَيْنِ بِإِسْخَاطِ شَرِيكِهِ فِي مَالِهِ نَفْسِهِ، وَهَذَا هُوَ الْجَوْرُ وَالظُّلْمُ الصُّرَاحُ.

L24546 There is no difference between one partner being permitted to demand: "My partner must sell with me so I may ensure a fair price within my share," and the other partner being permitted to demand: "My partner must be prevented from selling his share, for this harms my own share." Both scenarios constitute aggression and injustice. However, the truth is that each retains autonomy over their share: whoever wishes may sell their portion, and whoever chooses may keep theirs.

وَلَا فَرْقَ بَيْنَ أَنْ يُجَابَ أَحَدُ الشَّرِيكَيْنِ إِلَى قَوْلِهِ: لَا بُدَّ أَنْ يَبِيعَ شَرِيكِي مَعِي لِأَسْتَجْزِلَ الثَّمَنَ فِي حِصَّتِي، وَبَيْنَ أَنْ يُجَابَ الْآخَرُ إِلَى قَوْلِهِ: لَا بُدَّ أَنْ يُمْنَعَ شَرِيكِي مَعَ بَيْعِ حِصَّتِهِ؛ لِأَنَّ فِي ذَلِكَ ضَرَرًا عَلَيَّ فِي حِصَّتِي، وَكِلَا الْأَمْرَيْنِ عُدْوَانٌ وَظُلْمٌ، لَكِنَّ الْحَقَّ أَنَّ كِلَيْهِمَا مُمَكَّنٌ مِنْ حِصَّتِهِ، مَنْ شَاءَ بَاعَ حِصَّتَهُ وَمَنْ شَاءَ أَمْسَكَ حِصَّتَهُ.

L24547 They embellished that with what has been narrated to us through the chain of Waki': Abu Bishr narrated to us from Ibn Abi Najih from Mujahid: "A palm tree belonging to a man was located in another's garden. The garden owner asked him to let him buy it from him, but he refused. The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: 'No harm [is allowed] in Islam.'" This is a mursal narration.

وَقَدْ مَوَّهُوا فِي ذَلِكَ بِمَا رُوِّينَا مِنْ طَرِيقِ وَكِيعٍ نا أَبُو بِشْرٍ عَنِ ابْنِ أَبِي نَجِيحٍ عَنْ مُجَاهِدٍ: «أَنَّ نَخْلَةً كَانَتْ لِإِنْسَانٍ فِي حَائِطِ آخَرَ، فَسَأَلَهُ أَنْ يَشْتَرِيَهَا مِنْهُ، فَأَبَى، فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -: لَا ضَرَرَ فِي الْإِسْلَامِ» وَهَذَا مُرْسَلٌ.

L24548 Furthermore, were it valid, it would be an argument against them, for we say to them: "Yes, this prevents compelling the other partner to purchase from their partner when they do not wish to do so, or to sell to him or others when they do not wish to do so—these two constitute manifest harm."

ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانَ حُجَّةً عَلَيْهِمْ، لِأَنَّا نَقُولُ لَهُمْ نَعَمْ، وَهَذَا مَنْعٌ مِنْ أَنْ يُجْبَرَ الْآخَرُ عَلَى الشِّرَاءِ مِنْ شَرِيكِهِ، وَهُوَ لَا يُرِيدُ ذَلِكَ، أَوْ عَلَى الْبَيْعِ مِنْهُ أَوْ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ، وَهُوَ لَا يُرِيدُ ذَلِكَ -: فَهَذَانِ ضَرَرٌ ظَاهِرٌ.

L24549–24551 They also mentioned what we have reported through the chain of transmission of Abū Dāwūd, from Sulaymān ibn Dāwūd al-ʿAtakī, from Ḥammād, who informed us. Wasil, the freed slave of Abu Uyaynah, said: I heard Muhammad ibn Ali narrating from Samurah ibn Jundub that he owned a cluster of palm trees within the walled garden of a man from the Ansar. The Ansari man said: "He lived there with his family. Samurah would enter his palm trees, causing harm to him. He pleaded with him to sell it or transfer its ownership, but he refused." When this matter was mentioned to the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be upon him, he urged Samurah: "Sell it to him," but he refused. He then said: "Transfer its ownership," but he still refused. The Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be upon him, said: "Then gift it to him, and you will have such-and-such reward," enticing him with a promise. When he refused again, the Prophet declared: "You are causing harm." Thereupon the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings of Allah be upon him, instructed the Ansari man: "Go and uproot his palm trees."

وَذَكَرُوا أَيْضًا: مَا رُوِّينَاهُ مِنْ طَرِيقِ أَبِي دَاوُد نا سُلَيْمَانُ بْنُ دَاوُد الْعَتَكِيُّ نا حَمَّادٌ نا وَاصِلٌ مَوْلَى أَبِي عُيَيْنَةَ قَالَ: سَمِعْت مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ عَلِيٍّ يُحَدِّثُ عَنْ سَمُرَةَ بْنِ جُنْدُبٍ: «أَنَّهُ كَانَتْ لَهُ عَضُدٌ مِنْ نَخْلٍ فِي حَائِطِ رَجُلٍ مِنْ الْأَنْصَارِ قَالَ: وَمَعَ الرَّجُلِ أَهْلُهُ فَكَانَ سَمُرَةُ يَدْخُلُ إلَى نَخْلِهِ فَيَتَأَذَّى بِهِ، فَطَلَبَ إلَيْهِ أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ أَوْ يُنَاقِلَهُ فَأَبَى فَذَكَرَ ذَلِكَ لِلنَّبِيِّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - فَطَلَبَ إلَيْهِ النَّبِيُّ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - أَنْ يَبِيعَهُ، فَأَبَى، فَطَلَبَ إلَيْهِ يُنَاقِلُهُ، فَأَبَى قَالَ: فَهَبْهُ لَهُ وَلَك كَذَا وَكَذَا أَمْرًا رَغَّبَهُ فِيهِ، فَأَبَى، فَقَالَ: أَنْتَ مُضَارٌّ، فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ - صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ - لِلْأَنْصَارِيِّ: اذْهَبْ فَاقْلَعْ نَخْلَهُ» .

L24552 Abu Muhammad said: This is disconnected because Muhammad ibn Ali did not hear from Samurah. Even if it were authentic, they would contradict him in two matters: One - they do not compel anyone other than a co-owner to sell from his neighbor or to sell alongside him, while this hadith opposes that.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا مُنْقَطِعٌ، لِأَنَّ مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ عَلِيٍّ لَا سَمَاعَ لَهُ مِنْ سَمُرَةَ، ثُمَّ لَوْ صَحَّ لَكَانُوا مُخَالِفِينَ لَهُ فِي مَوْضِعَيْنِ -: أَحَدُهُمَا - أَنَّهُمْ لَا يُجْبِرُونَ غَيْرَ الشَّرِيكِ عَلَى الْبَيْعِ مِنْ جَارِهِ، وَلَا عَلَى الْبَيْعِ مَعَهُ، وَفِي هَذَا الْحَدِيثِ خِلَافُ ذَلِكَ.

L24553 The second is the uprooting of his date palms—a ruling they do not endorse—and all success comes from Allah, the Exalted.

وَالثَّانِي - قَلْعُ نَخْلِهِ - وَهُمْ لَا يَقُولُونَ بِهَذَا - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

L24554 The issue of selling war spoils taken by Muslims from the abode of war to people of the dhimma.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْع مَا غَنِمَهُ الْمُسْلِمُونَ مِنْ دَارِ الْحَرْبِ لِأَهْلِ الذِّمَّةِ]

L24555 1542. Issue: It is not permissible to sell what the Muslims have seized as spoils of war from the abode of war to the People of the Dhimma—whether slaves or other spoils—and this is the position of Umar ibn al-Khattab, as stated in "the Book of Jihad."

١٥٤٢ - مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَجُوزُ بَيْعُ مَا غَنِمَهُ الْمُسْلِمُونَ مِنْ دَارِ الْحَرْبِ لِأَهْلِ الذِّمَّةِ لَا مِنْ رَقِيقٍ وَلَا مِنْ غَيْرِهِ - وَهُوَ قَوْلُ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ عَلَى مَا ذَكَرْنَا فِي " كِتَابِ الْجِهَادِ ".

L24556 From the narration chain of Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr: Jarīr reported to us from al-Mughīrah ibn Miqsam from Umm Mūsā, who said: 'Alī ibn Abī Ṭālib came across vessels interlaced with gold from the Persians' utensils. He intended to break them and distribute the pieces among the Muslims. Some village chiefs said: "If you break these, you'll destroy their value. Shall we offer you a higher price for them?" 'Alī responded: "It is not for me to return a possession Allah has stripped from you." He then broke the vessels and distributed the fragments among the people.

وَمِنْ طَرِيقِ سَعِيدِ بْنِ مَنْصُورٍ نا جَرِيرٌ عَنْ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ مِقْسَمٍ عَنْ أُمِّ مُوسَى قَالَتْ: أَتَى عَلِيُّ بْنُ أَبِي طَالِبٍ بِآنِيَةٍ مُخَوَّصَةٍ بِالذَّهَبِ مِنْ آنِيَةِ الْعَجَمِ فَأَرَادَ أَنْ يَكْسِرَهَا وَيُقَسِّمَهَا

L24557 Abu Muhammad said: This is a form of humiliation, and every humiliation must be imposed upon them.

L24558 As for slaves, there is another consideration: that the invitation to Islam is obligatory under all circumstances. Among the supportive factors for embracing Islam is the male and female disbelievers being under the ownership of a Muslim, while among the factors that distance them from Islam is their being under a disbeliever who fortifies their insight into disbelief. And with Allah, the Most High, lies all success.

L24559–24560 Issue: Selling an item to one whom it is certain will disobey God by means of it or in its use.

L24561 Issue: It is not permissible to sell anything to one whom it is certain will use it to disobey Allah—whether by means of it or in it—and such a sale is perpetually invalid.

L24562 Like the sale of anything made into _nabidh_ or pressed by one about whom it is certain that he will make it into _khamr_.

L24563 And like the sale of defective dirhams by one about whom it is certain that he conceals [fraud] with them.

L24564 And like selling slave boys to someone conclusively known to make them commit sinful acts or castrate them, and like selling a slave to someone conclusively known to misuse his ownership rights.

L24565 Or like the sale of weapons or horses to someone who is certain to attack with them against the Muslims.

L24566 Or like selling silk to someone from whom it is certain that he will wear it, and similarly in every matter, due to the saying of Allah (Exalted is He): {And cooperate in righteousness and piety, and do not cooperate in sin and transgression} [Al-Mā'idah: 2]. The transactions we have mentioned clearly بَيْنَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ فَقَالَ نَاسٌ مِنْ الدَّهَاقِينَ: إنْ كَسَرْت هَذِهِ كَسَرْت ثَمَنَهَا، وَنَحْنُ نُغْلِي لَك بِهَا؟ فَقَالَ عَلِيٌّ: لَمْ أَكُنْ لِأَرُدَّ لَكُمْ مِلْكًا نَزَعَهُ اللَّهُ مِنْكُمْ، فَكَسَرَهَا وَقَسَّمَهَا بَيْنَ النَّاسِ.

قَالَ أَبُو مُحَمَّدٍ: هَذَا مِنْ الصَّغَارِ، وَكُلُّ صَغَارٍ فَوَاجِبٌ حَمْلُهُ عَلَيْهِمْ.

وَأَمَّا الرَّقِيقُ: فَفِيهِ وَجْهٌ آخَرُ، وَهُوَ أَنَّ الدُّعَاءَ إلَى الْإِسْلَامِ وَاجِبٌ بِكُلِّ حَالٍ، وَمِنْ الْأَسْبَابِ الْمُعِينَةِ عَلَى الْإِسْلَامِ كَوْنُ الْكَافِرِ وَالْكَافِرَةِ فِي مِلْكِ الْمُسْلِمِ، وَمِنْ الْأَسْبَابِ الْمُبْعِدَةِ عَنْ الْإِسْلَامِ كَوْنُهُمَا عِنْدَ كَافِرٍ يُقَوِّي بَصَائِرَهُمَا فِي الْكُفْرِ - وَبِاَللَّهِ - تَعَالَى - التَّوْفِيقُ.

[مَسْأَلَة بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يَعْصِي اللَّهَ بِهِ أَوْ فِيهِ]

مَسْأَلَةٌ: وَلَا يَحِلُّ بَيْعُ شَيْءٍ مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يَعْصِي اللَّهَ بِهِ أَوْ فِيهِ، وَهُوَ مَفْسُوخٌ أَبَدًا.

وَكَبَيْعِ الدَّرَاهِمِ الرَّدِيئَةِ مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يُدَلِّسُ بِهَا.

وَكَبَيْعِ الْغِلْمَانِ مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يَفْسُقُ بِهِمْ أَوْ يُخْصِيهِمْ، وَكَبَيْعِ الْمَمْلُوكِ مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يُسِيءُ مَلَكَتَهُ.

أَوْ كَبَيْعِ السِّلَاحِ أَوْ الْخَيْلِ: مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يَعْدُو بِهَا عَلَى الْمُسْلِمِينَ.

involve cooperation in sin and transgression without prolongation, and annulling them constitutes cooperation in righteousness and piety.[11]

أَوْ كَبَيْعِ الْحَرِيرِ مِمَّنْ يُوقَنُ أَنَّهُ يَلْبَسُهُ، وَهَكَذَا فِي كُلِّ شَيْءٍ؛ لِقَوْلِ اللَّهِ - تَعَالَى -: {وَتَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَى وَلا تَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الإِثْمِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ} [المائدة: ٢] ، وَالْبُيُوعُ الَّتِي ذَكَرْنَا تَعَاوُنٌ ظَاهِرٌ عَلَى الْإِثْمِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ بِلَا تَطْوِيلٍ، وَفَسْخُهَا تَعَاوُنٌ عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَى.

L24567 If he is not certain of any of that, the sale is valid because he did not aid in sin. If the buyer thereafter disobeys Allah, the Exalted, it is upon him. We have been narrated via the chain of Wakīʿ, from Sufyān al-Thawrī, from Ibn Jarīr, from ʿAṭāʾ, who said: "Do not sell it to one who would make it into wine."
